In the beginning, God created heaven and earth. {1:2} But the earth was empty and unoccupied, and darkneses were over the face of the abyss; and so the Spirit of God was brought over the waters. {1:3} And God said, “Let there be light.” And light became. {1:4} And God saw the light, that it was good; and so he divided the light from the darkneses. {1:5} And he called the light, ‘Day,’ and the darkneses, ‘Night.’ And it became evening and morning, one day. {1:6} God also said, “Let there be a firmament in the midst of the waters, and let it divide waters from waters.” {1:7} And God made a firmament, and he divided the waters that were under the firmament, from those that were above the firmament. And so it became. {1:8} And God called the firmament ‘Heaven.’ And it became evening and morning, the second day. {1:9} Truly God said: “Let the waters that are under heaven be gathered together into one place; and let the dry land appear.” And so it became. {1:10} And God called the dry land, ‘Earth,’ and he called the gathering of the waters, ‘Seas.’ And God saw that it was good. {1:11} And he said, “Let the land spring forth green plants, both those producing seed, and fruit-bearing trees, producing fruit according to their kind, whose seed is within itself, over all the earth.” And so it became. {1:12} And the land brought forth green plants, both those producing seed, according to their kind, and trees producing fruit, with each having its own way of sowing, according to its species. And God saw that it was good. {1:13} And it became evening and the morning, the third day. {1:14} Then God said: “Let there be lights in the firmament of heaven. And let them divide day from night, and let them become signs, both of the seasons, and of the days and years. {1:15} Let them shine in the firmament of heaven and illuminate the earth.” And so it became. {1:16} And God made two great lights: a greater light, to rule over the day, and a lesser light, to rule over the night, along with the stars. {1:17} And he set them in the firmament of heaven, to give light over all the earth, {1:18} and to rule over the day as well as the night, and to divide light from darkness. And God saw that it was good. {1:19} And it became evening and morning, the fourth day. {1:20} And then God said, “Let the waters produce animals with a living soul, and flying creatures above the earth, under the firmament of heaven.” {1:21} And God created the great sea creatures, and everything with a living soul and the ability to move that the waters produced, according to their species, and all the flying creatures, according to their kind. And God saw that it was good. {1:22} And he blessed them, saying: “Increase and multiply, and fill the waters of the sea. And let the birds be multiplied above the land.” {1:23} And it became evening and morning, the fifth day. {1:24} God also said, “Let the land produce living souls in their kind: cattle, and animals, and wild beasts of the earth, according to their species.” And so it became. {1:25} And God made the wild beasts of the earth according to their species, and the cattle, and every animal on the land, according to its kind. And God saw that it was good. {1:26} And he said: “Let us make Man to our image and likeness. And let him rule over the fish of the sea, and the flying creatures of the air, and the wild beasts, and the entire earth, and every animal that moves on the earth.” {1:27} And God created man to his own image; to the image of God he created him; male and female, he created them. {1:28} And God blessed them, and he said, “Increase and multiply, and fill the earth, and subdue it, and have dominion over the fish of the sea, and the flying creatures of the air, and over every living thing that moves upon the earth.” {1:29} And God said: “Behold, I have given you every seed-bearing plant upon the earth, and all the trees that have in themselves the ability to sow their own kind, to be food for you, {1:30} and for all the animals of the land, and for all the flying things of the air, and for everything that moves upon the earth and in which there is a living soul, so that they may have these on which to feed.” And so it became. {1:31} And God saw everything that he had made. And they were very good. And it became evening and morning, the sixth day.

And so the heavens and the earth were completed, with all their adornment. {2:2} And on the seventh day, God fulfilled his work, which he had made. And on the seventh day he rested from all his work, which he had accomplished. {2:3} And he blessed the seventh day and sanctified it. For in it, he had ceased from all his work: the work whereby God created whatever he should make. {2:4} These are the generations of heaven and earth, when they were created, in the day when the Lord God made heaven and earth, {2:5} and every sapling of the field, before it would rise up in the land, and every wild plant, before it would germinate. For the Lord God had not brought rain upon the earth, and there was no man to work the land. {2:6} But a fountain ascended from the earth, irrigating the entire surface of the land. {2:7} And then the Lord God formed man from the clay of the earth, and he breathed into his face the breath of life, and man became a living soul. {2:8} Now the Lord God had planted a Paradise of enjoyment from the beginning. In it, he placed the man whom he had formed. {2:9} And from the soil the Lord God produced every tree that was beautiful to behold and pleasant to eat. And even the tree of life was in the midst of Paradise, and the tree of the knowledge of good and evil. {2:10} And a river went forth from the place of enjoyment so as to irrigate Paradise, which is divided from there into four heads. {2:11} The name of one is the Phison; it is that which runs through all the land of Hevilath, where gold is born; {2:12} and the gold of that land is the finest. In that place is bdellium and the onyx stone. {2:13} And the name of the second river is the Gehon; it is that which runs through the land of Egypt. {2:14} Truly, the name of the third river is the Tigris; it advances opposite the Assyrians. But the fourth river, it is the Euphrates. {2:15} Thus, the Lord God brought the man, and put him into the Paradise of enjoyment, so that it would be attended and preserved by him. {2:16} And he instructed him, saying: “From every tree of Paradise, you shall eat. {2:17} But from the tree of the knowledge of good and evil, you shall not eat. For in whatever day you will eat from it, you will die a death.” {2:18} The Lord God also said: “It is not good for the man to be alone. Let us make a helper for him similar to himself.”
[Genesis 3] {3:1} However, the serpent was more crafty than any of the creatures of the earth that the Lord God had made. And he said to the woman, “Why has God instructed you, that you should not eat from every tree of Paradise?” {3:2} The woman responded to him: “From the fruit of the trees which are in Paradise, we eat. {3:3} Yet truly, from the fruit of the tree which is in the middle of Paradise, God has instructed us that we should not eat, and that we should not touch it, lest perhaps we may die.” {3:4} Then the serpent said to the woman: “By no means will you die a death. {3:5} For God knows that, on whatever day you will eat from it, your eyes will be opened; and you will be like gods, knowing good and evil.” {3:6} And so the woman saw that the tree was good to eat, and beautiful to the eyes, and delightful to consider. And she took from its fruit, and she ate. {3:7} And the eyes of them both were opened. And when they realized themselves to be naked, they joined together fig leaves and made coverings for themselves. {3:8} And when they had heard the voice of the Lord God taking a walk in Paradise in the afternoon breeze, Adam and his wife hid themselves from the Lord God through the trees. {3:9} And the Lord God called Adam and said to him: “Where are you?” {3:10} And he said, “I heard your voice in the land, and I was afraid, because I was naked, and so I hid myself.” {3:11} He said to him, “Then who told you that you were naked, if you have not eaten of the tree from which I instructed you that you should not eat?” {3:12} And Adam said, “The woman, whom you gave to me as a companion, gave to me from the tree, and I ate.” {3:13} And the Lord God said to the woman, “Why have you done this?” And she responded, “The serpent deceived me, and I ate.” {3:14} And the Lord God said to the serpent: “Because you have done this, you are cursed among all living things, even the wild beasts of the earth. Upon your breast shall you travel, and the ground shall you eat, all the days of your life. {3:15} I will put enmities between you and the woman, between your offspring and her offspring. She will crush your head, and you will lie in wait for her heel.” {3:16} To the woman, he also said: “I will multiply your labors and your conceptions. In pain shall you give birth to sons, and you shall be under your husband’s power, and he shall have dominion over you.” {3:17} Yet truly, to Adam, he said: “Because you have listened to the voice of your wife, and have eaten of the tree, from which I instructed you that you should not eat, cursed is the land that you work. In hardship shall you eat from it, all the days of your life. {3:18} Thorns and thistles shall it produce for you, and you shall eat the plants of the earth. {3:19} By the sweat of your face shall you eat bread, until you return to the earth from which you were taken. For dust you are, and unto dust you shall return.” {3:20} And Adam called the name of his wife, ‘Eve,’ because she was the mother of all the living. {3:21} The Lord God also made for Adam and his wife garments from skins, and he clothed them. {3:22} And he said: “Behold, Adam has become like one of us, knowing good and evil. Therefore, now perhaps he may put forth his hand and also take from the tree of life, and eat, and live in eternity.” {3:23} And so the Lord God sent him away from the Paradise of enjoyment, in order to work the earth from which he was taken. {3:24} And he cast out Adam. And in front of the Paradise of enjoyment, he placed the Cherubim with a flaming sword, turning together, to guard the way to the tree of life.

[Genesis 4] {4:1} Truly, Adam knew his wife Eve, who conceived and gave birth to Cain, saying, “I have obtained a man through God.” {4:2} And again she gave birth to his brother Abel. But Abel was a pastor of sheep, and Cain was a farmer. {4:3} Then it happened, after many days, that Cain offered gifts to the Lord, from the fruits of the earth. {4:4} Abel likewise offered from the firstborn of his flock, and from their fat. And the Lord looked with favor on Abel and his gifts. {4:5} Yet in truth, he did not look with favor on Cain and his gifts. And Cain was vehemently angry, and his countenance fell. {4:6} And the Lord said to him: “Why are you angry? And why is your face fallen? {4:7} If you behave well, will you not receive? But if you behave badly, will not sin at once be present at the door? And so its desire will be in you, and you will be dominated by it.” {4:8} And Cain said to his brother Abel, “Let us go outside.” And when they were in the field, Cain rose up against his brother Abel, and he put him to death. {4:9} And the Lord said to Cain, “Where is your brother Abel?” And he responded: “I do not know. Am I my brother’s keeper?” {4:10} And he said to him: “What have you done? The voice of your brother’s blood cries out to me from the land. {4:11} Now, therefore, you will be cursed upon the land, which opened its mouth and received the blood of your brother at your hand. {4:12} When you work it, it will not give you its fruit; a vagrant and a fugitive shall you be upon the land.” {4:13} And Cain said to the Lord: “My iniquity is too great to deserve kindness.” {4:14} Behold, you have cast me out this day before the face of the earth, and from your face I will be hidden; and I will be a vagrant and a fugitive on the earth. Therefore, anyone who finds me will kill me.” {4:15} And the Lord said to him: “By no means will it be so; rather, whoever would kill Cain, will be punished sevenfold.” And the Lord placed a seal upon Cain, so that anyone who found him would not put him to death. {4:16} And so Cain, departing from the face of the Lord, lived as a fugitive on the earth, toward the eastern region of Eden. {4:17} Then Cain knew his wife, and she conceived and gave birth to Enoch. And he built a city, and he called its name by the name of his son, Enoch. {4:18} Thereafter, Enoch conceived Irad, and Irad conceived Mahujael, and Mahujael conceived Mathusael, and Mathusael conceived Lamech. {4:19} Lamech took two wives: the name of one was Adah, and the name of the other was Zillah. {4:20} And Adah conceived Jabel, who was the father of those who live in tents and are shepherds. {4:21} And the name of his brother was Jubal; he was the father of those who sing to the harp and the organ. {4:22} Zillah also conceived Tubalcain, who was a hammerer and artisan in every work of brass and iron. In fact, the sister of Tubalcain was Noema. {4:23} And Lamech said, “Listen to my voice, you wives of Lamech, pay attention to my speech. For I have killed a man to my own harm, and an adolescent to my own bruising. {4:24} Sevenfold vengeance will be given for Cain, but for Lamech, seventy-seven times.” {4:25} Adam also knew his wife again, and she gave birth to a son, and she called his name Seth, saying, “God has given me another offspring, in place of Abel, whom Cain killed.” {4:26} But to Seth also was born a son, whom he called Enos. This one began to invoke the name of the Lord.

[Genesis 5] {5:1} This is the book of the lineage of Adam. In the day that God created man, he made him to the likeness of God. {5:2} He created them, male and female; and he blessed them. And he called their name Adam, in the day when they were created. {5:3} Then Adam lived for one hundred and thirty years. And then he conceived a son in his own image and likeness, and he called his name Seth. {5:4} And after he conceived Seth, the days of Adam that passed were eight hundred years. And he conceived sons and daughters. {5:5} And all the time that passed while Adam lived was nine hundred and thirty years, and then he died. {5:6} Seth likewise lived for one hundred and five years, and then he conceived Enos. {5:7} And after he conceived Enos, Seth lived for eight hundred and seven years, and he conceived sons and daughters. {5:8} And all the days of Seth that passed were nine hundred and twelve years, and then he died. {5:9} In truth, Enos lived ninety years, and then he conceived Cainan. {5:10} After his birth, he lived eight hundred and fifteen years, and he conceived sons and daughters. {5:11} And all the days of Enos that passed were nine hundred and five years, and then he died. {5:12} Likewise, Cainan lived seventy years, and then he conceived Mahalalel. {5:13} And after he conceived Mahalalel, Cainan lived for eight hundred and forty years, and he conceived sons and daughters. {5:14} And all the days of Cainan that passed were nine hundred and ten years, and then he died. {5:15} And Mahalalel lived sixty-five years, and then he conceived Jared. {5:16} And after he conceived Jared, Mahalalel lived for eight hundred and thirty years, and he conceived sons and daughters. {5:17} And all the days of Mahalalel that passed were eight hundred and ninety-five years, and then he died. {5:18} And Jared lived for one hundred and sixty-two years, and then he conceived Enoch. {5:19} And after he conceived Enoch, Jared lived for eight hundred years, and he conceived sons and daughters. {5:20} And all the days of Jared that passed were nine hundred and sixty-two years, and then he died. {5:21} Now Enoch lived for sixty-five years, and then he conceived Methuselah. {5:22} And Enoch walked with God. And after he conceived Methuselah, he lived for three hundred years, and he conceived sons and daughters. {5:23} And all the days of Enoch that passed were three hundred and sixty-five years. {5:24} And he walked with God, and then he was seen no more, because God took him. {5:25} Likewise, Methuselah lived for one hundred and eighty-seven years, and then he conceived Lamech. {5:26} And after he conceived Lamech, Methuselah lived for seven hundred and eighty-two years, and he conceived sons and daughters. {5:27} And all the days of Methuselah that passed were nine hundred and sixty-nine years, and then he died. {5:28} Then Lamech lived for one hundred and eighty-two years, and he conceived a son. {5:29} And he called his name Noah, saying, “This one will console us from the works and hardships of our hands, in the land that the Lord has cursed.” {5:30} And after he conceived Noah, Lamech lived for five hundred and ninety-five years, and he conceived sons and daughters. {5:31} And all the days of Lamech that passed were seven hundred and seventy-seven years, and then he died. In truth, when Noah was five hundred years old, he conceived Shem, Ham, and Japheth.
wives of your sons with you. {6:19} And from every living thing of all that is flesh, you shall lead pairs into the ark, so that they may survive with you: from the male sex and the female; {6:20} from birds, according to their kind, and from beasts, in their kind, and from among all animals on earth, according to their kind; pairs from each shall enter with you, so that they may be able to live. {6:21} Therefore, you shall take with you from all the foods that are able to be eaten, and you shall carry these with you. And these shall be used as food, some for you, and the rest for them." {6:22} And so Noah did all things just as God had instructed him.

[Genesis 7] {7:1} And the Lord said to him: “Enter the ark, you and all your house. For I have seen you to be just in my sight, within this generation. {7:2} From all the clean animals, take seven and seven, the male and the female. Yet truly, from animals that are unclean, take two and two, the male and the female. {7:3} But also from the birds of the air, take seven and seven, the male and the female, so that offsprings may be saved upon the face of the whole earth. {7:4} For from that point, and after seven days, I will rain upon the earth for forty days and forty nights. And I will wipe away every substance that I have made, from the surface of the earth.” {7:5} Therefore, Noah did all things just as the Lord had commanded him. {7:6} And he was six hundred years old when the waters of the great flood inundated the earth. {7:7} And Noah entered into the ark, and his sons, his wife, and the wives of his sons with him, because of the waters of the great flood. {7:8} And from the animals both clean and unclean, and from the birds, and from everything that moves upon the earth, two by two they were brought into the ark to Noah, male and female, just as the Lord had instructed Noah. {7:9} And when seven days had passed, the waters of the great flood inundated the earth. {7:10} And the ark rested in the seventh month, on the twenty-seventh day of the month, upon the mountains of Armenia. {7:11} In the six hundredth year of the life of Noah, in the second month, in the seventeenth day of the month, all the fountains of the great flood were opened. And rain came upon the earth for forty days and forty nights. {7:12} And rain came upon the earth for forty days and forty nights. {7:13} On the very same day, Noah and his sons, Shem, Ham, and Japheth, and his wife and the three wives of his sons with them, entered the ark. {7:14} They and every animal according to its kind, and all the cattle in their kind, and everything that moves upon the earth in their kind, and every flying thing according to its kind, all the birds and all that can fly, {7:15} entered the ark to Noah, two by two out of all that is flesh, in which there was the breath of life. {7:16} And those that entered went in male and female, from all that is flesh, just as God had instructed him. And then the Lord closed him in from the outside. {7:17} And the great flood occurred for forty days upon the earth. And the waters were increased, and they lifted the ark high above the land. {7:18} For they overflowed greatly, and they filled everything on the surface of the earth. And then the ark was carried across the waters. {7:19} And the waters prevailed beyond measure across the earth. And all the lofty mountains under the whole heaven were covered. {7:20} The water was fifteen cubits higher than the mountains which it covered. {7:21} And all flesh was consumed which moved upon the earth: flying things, animals, wild beasts, and all moving things that crawl upon the ground. And all men, {7:22} and everything in which there is the breath of life on earth, died. {7:23} And he wiped away all substance that was upon the earth, from man to animal, the crawling things just as much as the flying things of the air. And they were wiped away from the earth. But only Noah remained, and those who were with him in the ark. {7:24} And the waters possessed the earth for one hundred and fifty days.
{9:2} And let the fear and trembling of you be upon all the animals of the earth, and upon all the birds of the air, along with all that moves across the earth. All the fish of the sea have been delivered into your hand. {9:3} And everything that moves and lives will be food for you. Just as with the edible plants, I have delivered them all to you, {9:4} except that flesh with blood you shall not eat. {9:5} For I will examine the blood of your lives at the hand of every beast. So also, at the hand of mankind, at the hand of each man and his brother, I will examine the life of mankind. {9:6} Whoever will shed human blood, his blood will be poured out. For man was indeed made to the image of God. {9:7} But as for you: increase and multiply, and go forth upon the earth and fulfill it.” {9:8} To Noah and to his sons with him, God also said this: {9:9} “Behold, I will establish my covenant with you, and with your offspring after you, {9:10} and with every living soul that is with you: as much with the birds as with the cattle and all the animals of the earth that have gone forth from the ark, and with all the wild beasts of the earth. {9:11} I will establish my covenant with you, and no longer will all that is flesh be put to death by the waters of a great flood, and, henceforth, there will not be a great flood to utterly destroy the earth.” {9:12} And God said: “This is the sign of the pact that I grant between me and you, and to every living soul that is with you, for perpetual generations. {9:13} I will place my arc in the clouds, and it will be the sign of the pact between myself and the earth. {9:14} And when I obscure the sky with clouds, my arc will appear in the clouds. {9:15} And I will remember my covenant with you, and with every living soul that enlivens flesh. And there will no longer be waters from a great flood to wipe away all that is flesh. {9:16} And the arc will be in the clouds, and I will see it, and I will remember the everlasting covenant that was enacted between God and every living soul of all that is flesh upon the earth.” {9:17} And God said to Noah, “This will be the sign of the covenant that I have established between myself and all that is flesh upon the earth.” {9:18} And so the sons of Noah, who came out of the ark, were Shem, Ham, and Japheth. Now Ham himself is the father of Canaan. {9:19} These three are the sons of Noah. And from these all the family of mankind was spread over the whole earth. {9:20} And Noah, a good farmer, began to cultivate the land, and he planted a vineyard. {9:21} And by drinking its wine, he became inebriated and was naked in his tent. {9:22} Because of this, when Ham, the father of Canaan, had indeed seen the privates of his father to be naked, he reported it to his two brothers outside. {9:23} And truly, Shem and Japheth put a cloak upon their arms, and, advancing backwards, covered the privates of their father. And their faces were turned away, so that they did not see their father’s manhood. {9:24} Then Noah,awakening from the wine, when he had learned what his younger son had done to him, {9:25} he said, “Cursed be Canaan, a servant of servants will he be to his brothers.” {9:26} And he said: “Blessed be the Lord God of Shem, let Canaan be his servant. {9:27} May God enlarge Japheth, and may he live in the tents of Shem, and let Canaan be his servant.” {9:28} And after the great flood, Noah lived for three hundred and fifty years. {9:29} And all his days were completed in nine hundred and fifty years, and then he died.

[Genesis 10] {10:1} These are the generations of the sons of Noah: Shem, Ham, and Japheth, and of the sons who were born to them after the great flood. {10:2} The sons of Japheth were Gomer, and Magog, and Madai, and Javan, and Tubal, and Meshech, and Tiras. {10:3} And then the sons of Gomer were Ashkenaz, and Riphath, and Togarmah. {10:4} And the sons of Javan were Elishah, and Tarshish, Kittim, and Rodanim. {10:5} The islands of the Gentiles were divided by these into their regions, each one according to his tongue, and their families in their nations. {10:6} And the Sons of Ham were Cush, and Mizraim, and Put, and Canaan. {10:7} And the sons of Cush were Seba, and Havilah, and Sabtah, and Raamah, and Sabteca. The sons of Raamah were Sheba and Dadan. {10:8} And then Cush conceived Nimrod; he began to be powerful on the earth. {10:9} And he was an able hunter before the Lord. From this, a proverb came forth: ‘Just like Nimrod, an able hunter before the Lord.’ {10:10} And so, the beginning of his kingdom was Babylon, and Erech, and Accad, and Chalanne, in the land of Shinar. {10:11} From that land, Assur came forth, and he built Nineveh, and the streets of the city, and Calah, {10:12} and also Resen, between Nineveh and Calah. This is a great city. {10:13} And truly, Mizraim conceived Ludim, and Anamim, and Lehabim, Naphtuhim, {10:14} and Pathrusim, and Casluhim, from whom came forth the Philistines and the Caphtorim. {10:15} Then Canaan conceived Sidon his firstborn, the Hittite, {10:16} and the Jebusite, and the Amorite, the Girgasite, {10:17} the Hivite, and the Arkaite: the Sinite, {10:18} and the Arvadian, the Samarite, and the Hamathite. And after this, the peoples of the Canaanites became widespread. {10:19} And the borders of Chanaan went, as one travels, from Sidon to Gerar, even to Gaza, until one enters Sodom and Gomorrah, and from Admah and Zeboim, even to Lesa. {10:20} These are the sons of Ham in their kindred, and tongues, and generations, and lands, and nations. {10:21} Likewise, from Shem, the father of all the sons of Heber, the elder brother of Japheth, sons were born. {10:22} The sons of Shem were Elam, and Asshur, and Arphaxad, and Lud, and Aram. {10:23} The sons of Aram were Uz, and Hul, and Gether, and Mash. {10:24} But truly, Arphaxad conceived Shelah, from whom was born Eber. {10:25} And to Eber were born two sons: the name of the one was Peleg, for in his days the earth became divided, and his brother’s name was Joktan. {10:26} This Joktan conceived Almodad, and Sheleph, and Hazarmaveth, Jerah, {10:27} and Hadoram, and Uzal and Diklah. {10:28} And the sons of Javan were Elishah, and Tarshish, Kittim, and Rodanim. {10:29} The sons of Japheth were Gomer, and Magog, and Madai, and Javan, and Tubal, and Meshech, and Tiras. {10:30} And the sons of Ham were Cush, and Mizraim, and Put, and Canaan. {10:31} These are the generations of the sons of Noah: Shem, Ham, and Japheth, and of the sons who were born to them after the great flood. {10:32} And the sons of Japheth were Gomer, and Magog, and Madai, and Javan, and Tubal, and Meshech, and Tiras. {10:33} And then the sons of Gomer were Ashkenaz, and Riphath, and Togarmah. {10:34} And the sons of Javan were Elishah, and Tarshish, Kittim, and Rodanim. {10:35} The islands of the Gentiles were divided by these into their regions, each one according to his tongue, and their families in their nations. {10:36} And the Sons of Ham were Cush, and Mizraim, and Put, and Canaan. {10:37} And the sons of Cush were Seba, and Havilah, and Sabtah, and Raamah, and Sabteca. The sons of Raamah were Sheba and Dadan. {10:38} And then Cush conceived Nimrod; he began to be powerful on the earth. {10:39} And he was an able hunter before the Lord. From this, a proverb came forth: ‘Just like Nimrod, an able hunter before the Lord.’ {10:40} And so, the beginning of his kingdom was Babylon, and Erech, and Accad, and Chalanne, in the land of Shinar. {10:41} From that land, Assur came forth, and he built Nineveh, and the streets of the city, and Calah, {10:42} and also Resen, between Nineveh and Calah. This is a great city. {10:43} And truly, Mizraim conceived Ludim, and Anamim, and Lehabim, Naphtuhim, {10:44} and Pathrusim, and Casluhim, from whom came forth the Philistines and the Caphtorim. {10:45} Then Canaan conceived Sidon his firstborn, the Hittite, {10:46} and the Jebusite, and the Amorite, the Girgasite, {10:47} the Hivite, and the Arkaite: the Sinite, {10:48} and the Arvadian, the Samarite, and the Hamathite. And after this, the peoples of the Canaanites became widespread. {10:49} And the borders of Chanaan went, as one travels, from Sidon to Gerar, even to Gaza, until one enters Sodom and Gomorrah, and from Admah and Zeboim, even to Lesa. {10:50} These are the sons of Ham in their kindred, and tongues, and generations, and lands, and nations. {10:51} Likewise, from Shem, the father of all the sons of Heber, the elder brother of Japheth, sons were born. {10:52} The sons of Shem were Elam, and Asshur, and Arphaxad, and Lud, and Aram. {10:53} The sons of Aram were Uz, and Hul, and Gether, and Mash. {10:54} But truly, Arphaxad conceived Shelah, from whom was born Eber. {10:55} And to Eber were born two sons: the name of the one was Peleg, for in his days the earth became divided, and his brother’s name was Joktan. {10:56} This Joktan conceived Almodad, and Sheleph, and Hazarmaveth, Jerah, {10:57} and Hadoram, and Uzal and Diklah. {10:58} And the sons of Javan were Elishah, and Tarshish, Kittim, and Rodanim. {10:59} The islands of the Gentiles were divided by these into their regions, each one according to his tongue, and their families in their nations. {10:60} And the Sons of Ham were Cush, and Mizraim, and Put, and Canaan. {10:61} These are the generations of the sons of Noah: Shem, Ham, and Japheth, and of the sons who were born to them after the great flood.
{11:4} And they said: “Come, let us make a city and a tower, so that its height may reach to heaven. And let us make our name famous before we are divided into all the lands.”
{11:5} Then the Lord descended to see the city and the tower, which the sons of Adam were building. {11:6} And he said: “Behold, the people are united, and all have one tongue. And since they have begun to do this, they will not desist from their plans, until they have completed their work.
{11:7} Therefore, come, let us descend, and in that place confound their tongue, so that they may not listen, each one to the voice of his neighbor.” {11:8} And so the Lord divided them from that place into all the lands, and they ceased to build the city. {11:9} And for this reason, its name was called ‘Babel,’ because in that place the language of the whole earth became confused. And from then on, the Lord scattered them across the face of every region. {11:10} These are the generations of Shem. Shem was one hundred years old when he conceived Arphaxad, two years after the great flood.
{11:11} And after he conceived Arphaxad, Shem lived for five hundred years, and he conceived sons and daughters.
{11:12} Next, Arphaxad lived for thirty-five years, and then he conceived Shelah. {11:13} And after he conceived Shelah, Arphaxad lived for three hundred and three years, and he conceived sons and daughters. {11:14} Likewise, Shelah lived for thirty years, and then he conceived Eber. {11:15} And after he conceived Eber, Shelah lived for four hundred and three years, and he conceived sons and daughters. {11:16} Then Eber lived for thirty-four years, and he conceived Peleg.
{11:17} And after he conceived Peleg, Eber lived for forty years and thirty years, and he conceived sons and daughters. {11:18} Likewise, Peleg lived for thirty years, and then he conceived Reu. {11:19} And after he conceived Reu, Peleg lived for two hundred and nine years, and he conceived sons and daughters. {11:20} Then Reu lived for thirty-two years, and then he conceived Serug.
{11:21} Likewise, after he conceived Serug, Reu lived for two hundred and seven years, and he conceived sons and daughters. {11:22} In truth, Serug lived for thirty years, and then he conceived Nahor. {11:23} And after he conceived Nahor, Serug lived for two hundred years, and he conceived sons and daughters. {11:24} And so Nahor lived for twenty-nine years, and then he conceived Terah. {11:25} And after he conceived Terah, Nahor lived for one hundred and nineteen years, and he conceived sons and daughters. {11:26} And Terah lived for seventy years, and then he conceived Abram, Nahor, and Haran. {11:27} And these are the generations of Terah. Terah conceived Abram, Nahor, and Haran. Next Haran conceived Lot. {11:28} And Haran died before his father Terah, in the land of his nativity, in Ur of the Chaldeans. {11:29} Then Abram and Nahor took wives. The name of Abram’s wife was Sarai. And the name of Nahor’s wife was Milcah, the daughter of Haran, the father of Milcah, and the father of Ischak.

[Genesis 12] {12:1} Then the Lord said to Abram: “Depart from your land, and from your kindred, and from your father’s house, and come into the land that I will show you. {12:2} And I will make of you a great nation, and I will bless you and magnify your name, and you will be blessed. {12:3} I will bless those who bless you, and curse those who curse you, and in you all the families of the earth will be blessed.” {12:4} And so Abram departed just as the Lord had instructed him, and Lot went with him. Abram was seventy-five years old when he departed from Haran. {12:5} And he took his wife Sarai, and Lot, the son of his brother, and all the substance which they had come to possess, and the lives which they had acquired in Haran, and they departed in order to go to the land of Canaan. And when they arrived in it, {12:6} Abram passed through the land even to the place of Shechem, as far as the famous steep valley. Now at that time, the Canaanite was in the land. {12:7} Then the Lord appeared to Abram, and he said to him, “To your offspring, I will give this land.” And there he built an altar to the Lord, who had appeared to him. {12:8} And passing on from there to a mountain, which was opposite the east of Bethel, he pitched his tent there, having Bethel to the west, and Hai on the east. He also built an altar there to the Lord, and he called upon his name. {12:9} And Abram traveled, going out and continuing further on, toward the south. {12:10} But a famine occurred in the land. And Abram descended to Egypt, to sojourn there. For famine prevailed over the land.
{12:11} And when he was close to entering Egypt, he said to his wife Sarai: “I know you to be a beautiful woman. {12:12} And when the Egyptians see you, they will say, ‘She is my wife.’ And they will put me to death, and retain you. {12:13} Therefore, beg you to say that you are my sister, so that it may be well with me because of you, and so that my soul may live by your favor.” {12:14} And so, when Abram had arrived in Egypt, the Egyptians saw that the woman was exceedingly beautiful. {12:15} And the princes reported it to Pharaoh, and they praised her to him. And the woman was inducted into the house of Pharaoh. {12:16} In truth, they treated Abram well because of her. And he had sheep and oxen and male donkeys, and men servants, and women servants, and female donkeys, and camels.

[Genesis 13] {13:1} Therefore, Abram ascended from Egypt, and he and his wife, and all that he had, and Lot with him, toward the southern region. {13:2} But he was very wealthy by the possession of gold and silver. {13:3} And he returned by the way that he came, from the meridian into Bethel, all the way to the place where before he had pitched his tent, between Bethel and Hai. {13:4} There, at the place of the altar he had made before, he again called upon the name of the Lord.

[Genesis 12] {12:1} Then the Lord said to Abram: “Depart from your land, and from your kindred, and from your father’s house, and come into the land that I will show you. {12:2} And I will make of you a great nation, and I will bless you and magnify your name, and you will be blessed. {12:3} I will bless those who bless you, and curse those who curse you, and in you all the families of the earth will be blessed.” {12:4} And so Abram departed just as the Lord had instructed him, and Lot went with him. Abram was seventy-five years old when he departed from Haran. {12:5} And he took his wife Sarai, and Lot, the son of his brother, and all the substance which they had come to possess, and the lives which they had acquired in Haran, and they departed in order to go to the land of Canaan. And when they arrived in it, {12:6} Abram passed through the land even to the place of Shechem, as far as the famous steep valley. Now at that time, the Canaanite was in the land. {12:7} Then the Lord appeared to Abram, and he said to him, “To your offspring, I will give this land.” And there he built an altar to the Lord, who had appeared to him. {12:8} And passing on from there to a mountain, which was opposite the east of Bethel, he pitched his tent there, having Bethel to the west, and Hai on the east. He also built an altar there to the Lord, and he called upon his name. {12:9} And Abram traveled, going out and continuing further on, toward the south. {12:10} But a famine occurred in the land. And Abram descended to Egypt, to sojourn there. For famine prevailed over the land.
{12:11} And when he was close to entering Egypt, he said to his wife Sarai: “I know you to be a beautiful woman. {12:12} And when the Egyptians see you, they will say, ‘She is his wife.’ And they will put me to death, and retain you. {12:13} Therefore, beg you to say that you are my sister, so that it may be well with me because of you, and so that my soul may live by your favor.” {12:14} And so, when Abram had arrived in Egypt, the Egyptians saw that the woman was exceedingly beautiful. {12:15} And the princes reported it to Pharaoh, and they praised her to him. And the woman was inducted into the house of Pharaoh. {12:16} In truth, they treated Abram well because of her. And he had sheep and oxen and male donkeys, and men servants, and women servants, and female donkeys, and camels. {12:17} But the Lord scourged Pharaoh and his house with great wounds because of Sarai, the wife of Abram. {12:18} And Pharaoh called Abram, and he said to him: “What is this that you have done to me? Why did you not tell me she was your wife? {12:19} For what reason did you claim her to be your sister, so that I would take her to me as a wife? Now therefore, behold your mate, receive her and go.” {12:20} And Pharaoh instructed his men about Abram. And they led him away with his wife and all that he had.

[Genesis 13] {13:1} Therefore, Abram ascended from Egypt, and he and his wife, and all that he had, and Lot with him, toward the southern region. {13:2} But he was very wealthy by the possession of gold and silver. {13:3} And he returned by the way that he came, from the meridian into Bethel, all the way to the place where before he had pitched his tent, between Bethel and Hai. {13:4} There, at the place of the altar he had made before, he again called upon the name of the Lord. {13:5} But Lot also, who was with Abram, had flocks of sheep, and cattle, and tents. {13:6} Neither was the land able to contain them, so that they might dwell together.
Indeed, their substance was so great that they could not live in common. (13:7) And then there also arose a conflict between the shepherds of Abram and of Lot. Now at that time the Canaanite and the Perizzite lived in that land. (13:8) Therefore, Abram said to Lot: “I ask you, let there be no quarrel between me and you, and between my shepherds and your shepherds. For we are brothers. (13:9) Behold, the entire land is before your eyes. Withdraw from me, I beg you. If you will go to the left, I will take the right. If you choose the right, I will pass to the left.” (13:10) And so Lot, lifting up his eyes, saw all the region around the Jordan, which was thoroughly irrigated, before the Lord overthrew Sodom and Gomorrah. It was like the Paradise of the Lord, and it was like Egypt, approaching toward Zoar. (13:11) And Lot chose for himself the region around the Jordan, and he withdrew by way of the east. And they were divided, one brother from the other. (13:12) Abram dwelt in the land of Canaan. In truth, Lot stayed in the towns that were around the Jordan, and he lived in Sodom. (13:13) But the men of Sodom were very wicked, and they were sinners before the Lord beyond measure. (13:14) And the Lord said to Abram, after Lot was divided from him: “Lift up your eyes, and gaze out from the place where you are now, to the north and to the meridian, to the east and to the west. (13:15) All the land that you see, I will give to you, and to your offspring ever forever. (13:16) And I will make your offspring like the dust of the earth. If any man is able to number the dust of the earth, he will be able to number your offspring as well. (13:17) Arise and walk through the land in its length, and breadth. For I will give it to you.” (13:18) Therefore, moving his tent, Abram went and dwelt by the steep valley of Mamre, which is in Hebron. And he built an altar there to the Lord.

[Genesis 14] (14:1) Now it happened in that time that Amraphel, king of Shinar, and Arioch, king of Pontus, and Chedorlaomer, king of the Elamites, and Tidal, king of the Nations, (14:2) went to war against Bera, king of Sodom, and against Birsha, king of Gomorrah, and against Shinab, king of Admah, and against Shemeber, king of Zeboiim, and against the king of Bela, that is Zoar. (14:3) All these came together in the wooded valley, which is now the Sea of Salt. (14:4) For they had served Chedorlaomer for twelve years, and in the thirteenth year they withdrew from him. (14:5) Therefore, in the fourteenth year, Chedorlaomer arrived, and the kings who were with him. And they struck the Rephaim at Ashteroth of the two horns, and the Zuzim with them, and the Emim at Shaveh-Kiriathaim. (14:6) and the Horreans in the mountains of Seir, even to the plains of Paran, which is in wilderness. (14:7) And they returned and arrived at the fountain of Mishpat, which is Kadesh. And they struck the entire region of the Amalekites, and the Amorites who dwelt in Hazazzontamar. (14:8) And the king of Sodom, and the king of Gomorrah, and the king of Admah, and the king of Zeboiim, and indeed the king of Bela, which is Zoar, went forth. And they directed their point against them in the wooded valley, (14:9) namely, against Chedorlaomer, king of the Elamites, and Tidal, king of the Nations, and Amraphel, king of Shinar, and Arioch, king of Pontus: four kings against five. (14:10) Now the wooded valley had many pits of bitumen. And so the king of Sodom and the king of Gomorrah turned back and they fell there. And those who remained, fled to the mountain. (14:11) Then they took all the substance of the Sodomites and the Gomorrahites, and all that pertained to food, and they went away, (14:12) along with both Lot, the son of Abram’s brother, who lived in Sodom, and his substance. (14:13) And behold, one who had escaped reported it to Abram the Hebrew, who lived in the steep valley of Mamre the Amorite, who was the brother of Eshcol, and the brother of Aner. For these had formed an agreement with Abram. (14:14) When Abram had heard this, namely, that his brother Lot had been taken captive, he numbered three hundred and eighteen of his own armed men and he went in pursuit all the way to Dan. (14:15) And dividing his company, he rushed upon them in the night. And he struck them and pursued them as far as Hobah, which is on the left hand of Damascus. (14:16) And he brought back all the substance, and Lot his brother, with his substance, likewise the women and the people. (14:17) Then the king of Sodom went out to meet him, after he returned from the slaughter at Chedorlaomer, and the kings who were with him at the valley of Shaveh, which is the valley of the king. (14:18) Then in truth, Melchizedek, the king of Salem, brought forth bread and wine, for he was a priest of the Most High God; (14:19) he blessed him, and he said: “Blessed be Abram by the Most High God, who created heaven and earth. (14:20) And blessed be the Most High God, through whose protection the enemies are in your hands.” And he gave him tithes from everything. (14:21) Then the king of Sodom said to Abram, “Give me these souls, and take the rest for yourself.” (14:22) And he responded to him: “I lift up my hand to the Lord God, the Most High, the Possessor of heaven and earth, (14:23) that from one thread within a blanket, even to a single shoelace, I will not take anything from that which is yours, lest you say, ‘I have enriched Abram,’ (14:24) except that which the young men have eaten, and the shares for the men who came with me: Aner, Eshcol, and Mamre. These will take their shares.”

[Genesis 15] (15:1) And so, these things having been transacted, the word of the Lord came to Abram by a vision, saying: “Do not be afraid, Abram, I am your protector, and your reward is exceedingly great.” (15:2) And Abram said: “Lord God, what will you give to me? I may go without children. And the son of the steward of my house is this Eliezer of Damascus.” (15:3) And Abram added: “Yet to me you have not given offspring. And behold, my servant born in my house will be my heir.” (15:4) And immediately the word of the Lord came to him, saying: “This one will not be your heir. But he who will come from your loins, the same will you have for your heir.” (15:5) And he brought him outside, and he said to him, “Take in the heavens, and number the stars, if you can.” And he said to him, “So also will your offspring be.” (15:6) Abram believed God, and it was reputed to him unto justice. (15:7) And he said to him, “I am the Lord who led you away from Ur of the Chaldeans, so as to give you this land, and so that you would possess it.” (15:8) But he said, “Lord God, in what way may I be able to know that I will possess it?” (15:9) And the Lord responded by saying: “Take for me a cow of three years, and a she-goat of three years, and a ram of three years, also a turtle-dove and a pigeon.” (15:10) Taking all these, he divided them through the middle, and placed both parts opposite one another. But the birds he did not divide. (15:11) And birds descended upon the carcasses, but Abram drove them away. {15:12} And when the sun was setting, a deep sleep fell upon Abram, and a dread, great and dark, invaded him. {15:13} And it was said to him: "Know beforehand that your future offspring will be sojourners in a land not their own, and they will subjugate them in servitude and afflict them for four hundred years. {15:14} Yet truly, I will judge the nation that they will serve, and after this they will depart with great substance. {15:15} But you will go to your fathers in peace and be buried at a good old age. {15:16} But in the fourth generation, they will return here. For the iniquities of the Amorites are not yet completed, even to this present time." {15:17} Then, when the sun had set, there came a dark mist, and there appeared a smoking furnace and a lamp of fire passing between those divisions. {15:18} On that day, God formed a covenant with Abram, saying: "To your offspring I will give this land, from the river of Egypt, even to the great river Euphrates: {15:19} the land of the Kenites and the Kenizzites, the Kadmonites {15:20} and the Hittites, and the Perizzites, likewise the Rephaim, {15:21} and the Amorites, and the Canaanites, and the Girgashites, and the Jebusites."

[Genesis 16] {16:1} Now Sarai, the wife of Abram, had not conceived children. But, having an Egyptian handmaid named Hagar, {16:2} she said to her husband: "Behold, the Lord has closed me, lest I give birth. Enter to my handmaid, so that perhaps I may receive sons of her at least." And when she saw that she had conceived, she despised her mistress. {16:3} And Abram agreed to her supplication, {16:4} and he entered to her. But when she saw that she had conceived, she despaired of her. {16:5} And Sarai said to Abram: "You have acted unfairly against me. I gave my handmaid to you, who, when she saw that she had conceived, held me in contempt. May the Lord judge between me and you." {16:6} Abram responded to her by saying, "Behold, your handmaid is in your hand to treat as it pleases you." And so, when Sarai afflicted her, she took flight. {16:7} And when the Angel of the Lord had found her near the fountain of water in the wilderness, which is on the way to Shur in the desert, {16:8} he said to her: "Hagar, handmaid of Sarai, where have you come from? And where will you go?" And she answered, "I flee from the face of Sarai, my mistress." {16:9} And the Angel of the Lord said to her, "Return to your mistress, and humble yourself under her hand." {16:10} And again he said, "I will multiply your offspring continuously, and they will not be numbered because of their multitude." {16:11} But thereafter he said: "Behold, you have conceived, and you will give birth to a son. And you shall call his name Ishmael, because the Lord has heard your affliction. {16:12} He will be a wild man. His hand will be against all, and all hands will be against him. And he will pitch his tents away from the region of all his brothers." {16:13} Then she called upon the name of the Lord who had spoken to her: "You are the God who has seen me." For she said, "Certainly, here I have seen the back of the one who sees me." {16:14} Because of this, she called that well: 'The well of the one who lives and who sees me.' The same is between Kadesh and Bered. {16:15} And Hagar gave birth to a son for Abram, who called his name Ishmael. {16:16} Abram was eighty-six years old when Hagar gave birth to Ishmael for him.

[Genesis 17] {17:1} In truth, after he began to be ninety-nine years of age, the Lord appeared to him. And he said to him: "I am the Almighty God. Walk in my sight and become complete. {17:2} And I will set my covenant between me and you. And I will multiply you very exceedingly." {17:3} Abram fell prone on his face. {17:4} And God said to him: "I AM, and my covenant is with you, and you will be the father of many nations. {17:5} No longer will your name be called Abram. But you will be called Abraham, for I have established you as the father of many nations. {17:6} And I will cause you to increase very greatly, and I will set you among the nations, and kings will come forth from you. {17:7} And I will establish my covenant between me and you, and with your offspring after you in their generations, by a perpetual covenant: to be God to you and to your offspring after you. {17:8} And I will give to you and to your offspring, the land of your sojourn, all the land of Canaan, as an eternal possession, and I will be their God." {17:9} Again God said to Abraham: "And you therefore shall keep my covenant, and your offspring after you in their generations. {17:10} This is my covenant, which you shall observe, between me and you, and your offspring after you: All the males among you shall be circumcised. {17:11} And you shall circumcise the flesh of your foreskin, so that it may be a sign of the covenant between me and you. {17:12} An infant of eight days will be circumcised among you, every male in your generations. So also servants born to you, as well as those bought, shall be circumcised, even those who are not of your stock. {17:13} And my covenant shall be with your flesh as an eternal covenant. {17:14} The male, the flesh of whose foreskin will not be circumcised, that soul shall be eliminated from his people. For he has made my covenant void." {17:15} God said also to Abraham: "Your wife Sarai, you shall not call Sarai, but Sarah. {17:16} And I will bless her, and from her I will give you a son, whom I will bless, and he will be among the nations, and the kings of the peoples will rise from him." {17:17} Abraham fell on his face, and he laughed, saying in his heart: "Do you think a son can be born to a one hundred year old man? And will Sarah give birth at the age of ninety?" {17:18} And he said to God, "If only Ishmael would live in your sight." {17:19} And God said to Abraham: "Your wife Sarah shall give birth to a son, and you shall call his name Isaac, and I will establish my covenant with him as a perpetual covenant, and with his offspring after him. {17:20} Likewise, concerning Ishmael, I have heard you. Behold, I will bless and enlarge him, and I will multiply him greatly. He will produce twelve leaders, and I will make him into a great nation. {17:21} Yet in truth, I will establish my covenant with Isaac, to whom Sarah will give birth for you at this time next year." {17:22} And when he had finished speaking with him, God ascended from Abraham. {17:23} Then Abraham took his son Ishmael, and all who were born in his house, and all whom he had bought, every male among the men of his house, and he circumcised the flesh of their foreskin promptly, the very same day, just as God had instructed him. {17:24} Abraham was ninety-nine years old when he circumcised the flesh of his foreskin. {17:25} And his son Ishmael had completed thirteen years at the time of his circumcision. {17:26} On the very same day, Abraham was circumcised with his son Ishmael. {17:27} And all the men of his house, those born in his house, as well as those who were bought, even the foreigners, were circumcised with him.

[Genesis 18] {18:1} Then the Lord appeared to him, in the steep valley of Mamre, when he was sitting at the door of his tent, in the very heat of the day. {18:2} And when he had lifted up his eyes, there appeared to him three men, standing near him. When he had seen them, he ran to meet them from the door of his tent, and he reverenced them on the ground. {18:3} And he said: “If I, O Lord, have found grace in your eyes, do not pass by your servant.” {18:4} But I will bring a little water, and you may wash your feet and rest under the tree. {18:5} And I will set out a meal of bread, so that you may strengthen your heart; after this you will pass on. It is for this reason that you have turned aside to your servant.” And they said, “Do as you have spoken.” {18:6} Abraham hurried into the tent to Sarah, and he said to her, “Quickly, mix together three measures of the finest wheat flour and make loaves baked under the ashes.” {18:7} In truth, he himself ran to the herd, and he took a calf from there, very tender and very good, and he gave it to a servant, who hurried and boiled it. {18:8} Likewise, he took butter and milk, and the calf which he had boiled, and he placed it before them. Yet truly, he himself stood near them under the tree. {18:9} And when they had eaten, they said to him, “Where is Sarah your wife?” He answered, “Behold, she is in the tent.” {18:10} And he said to him, “When returning, I will come to you at this time, with life as a companion, and your wife Sarah will have a son.” Hearing this, Sarah laughed behind the door of the tent. {18:11} Now they were both old, and in an advanced state of life, and it had ceased to be with Sarah after the manner of women. {18:12} And she laughed secretly, saying, “After I have grown old, and my lord is elderly, shall I give myself to the work of delight?” {18:13} Then the Lord said to Abraham: “Why did Sarah laugh, saying: ‘After I have grown old, and my lord is elderly, shall I give myself to the work of delight?’” {18:14} Then the Lord said to Abraham: “Why did Sarah laugh, saying: ‘After I have grown old, and my lord is elderly, shall I give myself to the work of delight?’” {18:15} Then the Lord said to Abraham: “Why did Sarah laugh, saying: ‘After I have grown old, and my lord is elderly, shall I give myself to the work of delight?’” {18:16} Then the Lord said to Abraham: “Why did Sarah laugh, saying: ‘After I have grown old, and my lord is elderly, shall I give myself to the work of delight?’” {18:17} Then the Lord said to Abraham: “Why did Sarah laugh, saying: ‘After I have grown old, and my lord is elderly, shall I give myself to the work of delight?’” {18:18} Then the Lord said to Abraham: “Why did Sarah laugh, saying: ‘After I have grown old, and my lord is elderly, shall I give myself to the work of delight?’” {18:19} Then the Lord said to Abraham: “Why did Sarah laugh, saying: ‘After I have grown old, and my lord is elderly, shall I give myself to the work of delight?’” {18:20} Then the Lord said to Abraham: “Why did Sarah laugh, saying: ‘After I have grown old, and my lord is elderly, shall I give myself to the work of delight?’” {18:21} Then the Lord said to Abraham: “Why did Sarah laugh, saying: ‘After I have grown old, and my lord is elderly, shall I give myself to the work of delight?’” {18:22} Then the Lord said to Abraham: “Why did Sarah laugh, saying: ‘After I have grown old, and my lord is elderly, shall I give myself to the work of delight?’” {18:23} Then the Lord said to Abraham: “Why did Sarah laugh, saying: ‘After I have grown old, and my lord is elderly, shall I give myself to the work of delight?’” {18:24} Then the Lord said to Abraham: “Why did Sarah laugh, saying: ‘After I have grown old, and my lord is elderly, shall I give myself to the work of delight?’” {18:25} Then the Lord said to Abraham: “Why did Sarah laugh, saying: ‘After I have grown old, and my lord is elderly, shall I give myself to the work of delight?’” {18:26} Then the Lord said to Abraham: “Why did Sarah laugh, saying: ‘After I have grown old, and my lord is elderly, shall I give myself to the work of delight?’” {18:27} Then the Lord said to Abraham: “Why did Sarah laugh, saying: ‘After I have grown old, and my lord is elderly, shall I give myself to the work of delight?’” {18:28} Then the Lord said to Abraham: “Why did Sarah laugh, saying: ‘After I have grown old, and my lord is elderly, shall I give myself to the work of delight?’” {18:29} Then the Lord said to Abraham: “Why did Sarah laugh, saying: ‘After I have grown old, and my lord is elderly, shall I give myself to the work of delight?’” {18:30} Then the Lord said to Abraham: “Why did Sarah laugh, saying: ‘After I have grown old, and my lord is elderly, shall I give myself to the work of delight?’” {18:31} Then the Lord said to Abraham: “Why did Sarah laugh, saying: ‘After I have grown old, and my lord is elderly, shall I give myself to the work of delight?’” {18:32} Then the Lord said to Abraham: “Why did Sarah laugh, saying: ‘After I have grown old, and my lord is elderly, shall I give myself to the work of delight?’” {18:33} Then the Lord said to Abraham: “Why did Sarah laugh, saying: ‘After I have grown old, and my lord is elderly, shall I give myself to the work of delight?’” {18:34} Then the Lord said to Abraham: “Why did Sarah laugh, saying: ‘After I have grown old, and my lord is elderly, shall I give myself to the work of delight?’” {18:35} Then the Lord said to Abraham: “Why did Sarah laugh, saying: ‘After I have grown old, and my lord is elderly, shall I give myself to the work of delight?’” {18:36} Then the Lord said to Abraham: “Why did Sarah laugh, saying: ‘After I have grown old, and my lord is elderly, shall I give myself to the work of delight?’” {18:37} Then the Lord said to Abraham: “Why did Sarah laugh, saying: ‘After I have grown old, and my lord is elderly, shall I give myself to the work of delight?’”
Depart from this place. For the Lord will destroy this city.” And it seemed to them that he was speaking playfully. {19:15} And when it was morning, the Angels compelled him, saying, “Arise, take your wife, and the two daughters that you have, lest you also should perish amid the wickedness of the city.” {19:16} And, since he ignored them, they took his hand, and the hand of his wife, as well as that of his two daughters, because the Lord was sparing him. {19:17} And they brought him out, and placed him beyond the city. And there they spoke to him, saying: “Save your life. Do not look back. Neither should you stay in the entire surrounding region. But save yourself in the mountain, lest you also should perish.” {19:18} And Lot said to them: “I beg you, my lord, {19:19} though your servant has found grace before you, and you have magnified your mercy, which you have shown to me in saving my life, I cannot be saved on the mountain, lest perhaps some misfortune take hold of me and I die. {19:20} There is a certain city nearby, to which I can flee; it is a little one, and I will be saved in it. Is it not a modest one, and will not my soul live?” {19:21} And he said to him: “Behold, even now, I have heard your petitions about this, not to overturn the city on behalf of which you have spoken. {19:22} Hurry and be saved there. For I cannot do anything until you enter there.” For this reason, the name of that city is called Zoar. {19:23} The sun had risen over the land, and Lot had entered into Zoar. {19:24} Therefore, the Lord rained upon Sodom and Gomorrah sulphur and fire, from the Lord, out of heaven. {19:25} And he overthrew these cities, and all the surrounding region: all the inhabitants of the cities, and everything that springs from the land. {19:26} And his wife, looking behind herself, was turned into a statue of salt. {19:27} Then Abraham, rising up in the morning, in the place where he had stood before with the Lord, {19:28} looked out toward Sodom and Gomorrah, and the entire land of that region. And he saw embers rising up from the land like smoke from a furnace. {19:29} For when God overthrew the cities of that region, remembering Abraham, he freed Lot from the overthrow of the cities, in which he had dwelt. {19:30} And Lot ascended from Zoar, and he stayed on the mountain, and likewise his two daughters with him, (for he was afraid to stay in Zoar) and he dwelt in a cave, he and his two daughters with him. {19:31} And the elder said to the younger: “Our father is old, and no man remains in the land who can enter to us according to the custom of the whole world. {19:32} Come, let us inebriate him with wine, and let us sleep with him, so that we may be able to preserve offspring from our father.” {19:33} And so they gave their father wine to drink that night. And the elder went in, and she slept with her father. But he did not perceive it, neither when his daughter lay down, nor when she rose up. {19:34} Likewise, the next day, the elder said to the younger: “Behold, yesterday I slept with my father, let us give him wine to drink yet again this night, and you will sleep with him, so that we may save offspring from our father.” {19:35} And then they gave their father wine to drink that night also, and the younger daughter went in, and slept with him. And not even then did he perceive when she lay down, or when she rose up. {19:36} Therefore, the two daughters of Lot conceived by their father. {19:37} And the elder gave birth to a son, and she called his name Moab. He is the father of the Moabites, even to the present day. {19:38} Likewise, the younger gave birth to a son, and she called his name Ammon, that is, ‘the son of my people.’ He is the father of the Ammonites, even today.

[Genesis 20] {20:1} Abraham advanced from there into the southern land, and he lived between Kadesh and Shur. And he sojourned in Gerar. {20:2} And he said about his wife Sarah: “She is my sister.” Therefore, Abimelech, the king of Gerar, sent for her and took her. {20:3} Then God came to Abimelech through a dream in the night, and he said to him: “Lo, you shall die because of the woman that you have taken. For she has a husband.” {20:4} In truth, Abimelech had not touched her, and so he said: “Lord, would you put to death a people, ignorant and just? {20:5} Did he not say to me, ‘She is my sister,’ and did she not say, ‘He is my brother?’ In the sincerity of my heart and the purity of my hands, I have done this.” {20:6} And God said to him: “And I know that you have acted with a sincere heart. And therefore I kept you from sinning against me, and I did not release you to touch her. {20:7} Now therefore, return his wife to the man, for he is a prophet. And he will pray for you, and you will live. But if you are not willing to return her, know this: you shall die a death, you and all that is yours.” {20:8} And immediately Abimelech, rising up in the night, called all his servants. And he spoke all these words in their hearing, and all the men were very afraid. {20:9} Then Abimelech called also for Abraham, and he said to him: “What have you done to us? How have we sinned against you, so that you would bring so great a sin upon me and upon my kingdom? You have done to us what you ought not to have done.” {20:10} And remonstrating him again, he said, “What did you see, so that you would do this?” {20:11} Abraham responded: “I thought to myself, saying: Perhaps there is no fear of God in this place. And they will put me to death because of my wife. {20:12} Yet, in another way, she is also truly my sister, the daughter of my father, and not the daughter of my mother, and I took her as a wife. {20:13} Then, after God led me out of my father’s house, I said to her: ‘You will show this mercy to me. In every place, to which we will travel, you will say that I am your brother.’ ” {20:14} Therefore, Abimelech took sheep and oxen, and men servants and women servants, and he gave them to Abraham. And he returned his wife Sarah to him. {20:15} And he said, “The land is in your sight. Dwell wherever it will please you.” {20:16} Then to Sarah he said: “Behold, I have given your brother one thousand silver coins. This will be for you as a veil for your eyes, to all who are with you and wherever you will travel. And so, remember that you were taken.” {20:17} Then when Abraham prayed, God healed Abimelech and his wife, and his handmaids, and they gave birth. {20:18} For the Lord had closed every womb of the house of Abimelech, because of Sarah, the wife of Abraham.

[Genesis 21] {21:1} Then the Lord visited Sarah, just as he had promised; and he fulfilled what he had spoken. {21:2} And she conceived and gave birth to a son in her old age, at the time that God had foretold to her. {21:3} And Abraham called the name of his son, whom Sarah bore for him, Isaac. {21:4} And he circumcised him on the eighth day, just as God had instructed him, {21:5} when he was one hundred years old. Indeed, at this stage of his father’s life, Isaac was born. {21:6} And Sarah said: “God has brought laughter to me. Whoever will hear of it will laugh with me.”
{21:7} And again, she said: “Hearing this, who would believe Abraham, that Sarah breast-fed a son, to whom she gave birth, despite being elderly?” {21:8} And the boy grew and was weaned. And Abraham made a great feast on the day of his weaning. {21:9} And when Sarah had seen the son of Hagar the Egyptian playing with her son Isaac, she said to Abraham: {21:10} “Cast out this woman servant and her son. For the son of a woman servant will not be heir with my son Isaac.” {21:11} Abraham took this grievously, for the sake of his son. {21:12} And God said to him: “Let it not seem harsh to you concerning the boy and your woman servant. In all that Sarah has said to you, listen to her voice. For your offspring will be invoked in Isaac. {21:13} Yet I will also make the son of the woman servant into a great nation, for he is your offspring.” {21:14} And so Abraham arose in the morning, and taking bread and a skin of water, he placed it upon her shoulder, and he handed over the boy, and he released her. And when she had departed, she wandered in the wilderness of Beersheba. {21:15} And when the water in the skin had been consumed, she set aside the boy, under one of the trees that were there. {21:16} And she moved away and sat in a distant area, as far as a bow can reach. For she said, “I shall not see the boy die.” And so, sitting opposite her, he lifted up his voice and wept. {21:17} But God heard the voice of the boy. And an Angel of God called to Hagar from heaven, saying: “What are you doing, Hagar? Do not be afraid. For God has heeded the voice of the boy, from the place where he is. {21:18} Rise up. Take the boy and hold him by the hand. For I will make of him a great nation.” {21:19} And God opened her eyes. And seeing a well of water, she went and filled the skin, and she gave the boy to drink. {21:20} And God was with him. And he grew, and he stayed in the wilderness, and he became a young man, an archer. {21:21} And he lived in the desert of Paran, and his mother took a wife for him from the land of Egypt. {21:22} At the same time, Abimelech and Phicol, the leader of his army, said to Abraham: “God is with you in everything that you do. {21:23} Therefore, swear by God that you will do no harm to me, and to my posterity, and to my stock. But according to the mercy that I have done to you, you will do to me and to the land, to which you have turned as a newcomer.” {21:24} And Abraham said, “I will swear.” {21:25} And he reproved Abimelech because of a well of water, which his servants had taken away by force. {21:26} And Abimelech responded, “I do not know who did this thing, but you also did not reveal it to me, nor have I heard of it, before today.” {21:27} And so Abraham took sheep and oxen, and he gave them to Abimelech. And both of them struck a pact. {21:28} And Abraham set aside seven female lambs from the flock. {21:29} Abimelech said to him, “What purpose have these seven female lambs, which you have caused to stand separately?” {21:30} But he said, “You will receive seven female lambs from my hand, so that they may be a testimony for me, that I dug this well.” {21:31} For this reason, that place was called Beersheba, because there both of them did swear. {21:32} And they initiated a pact on behalf of the well of oath. {21:33} Then Abimelech and Phicol, the leader of his army, rose up, and they returned to the land of the Palestinians. In truth, Abraham planted a grove in Beersheba, and there he called upon the name of the Lord God Eternal. {21:34} And he was a settler in the land of the Palestinians for many days.

{Genesis 22} {22:1} After these things occurred, God tested Abraham, and he said to him, “Abraham, Abraham.” And he answered, “Here I am.” {22:2} He said to him: “Take your only begotten son Isaac, whom you love, and go into the land of vision. And there you shall offer him as a holocaust upon one of the mountains, which I will show to you.” {22:3} And so Abraham, getting up in the night, harnessed his donkey, taking with him two youths, and his son Isaac. And when he had cut wood for the holocaust, he traveled toward the place, as God had instructed him. {22:4} Then, on the third day, lifting up his eyes, he saw the place at a distance. {22:5} And he said to his servants: “Wait here with the donkey. I and the boy will hurry further ahead to that place. After we have worshipped, will return to you.” {22:6} He also took the wood for the holocaust, and he imposed it upon his son Isaac. And he himself carried in his hands fire and a sword. And as the two continued on together, {22:7} Isaac said to his father, “My father.” And he answered, “What do you want, son?” “Behold,” he said, “fire and wood. Where is the victim for the holocaust?” {22:8} But Abraham said, “God himself will provide the victim for the holocaust, my son.” Thus they continued on together. {22:9} And they came to the place that God had shown to him. There he built an altar, and he set the wood in order upon it. And when he had bound his son Isaac, he laid him on the altar upon the pile of wood. {22:10} And he reached out his hand and took hold of the sword, in order to sacrifice his son. {22:11} And behold, an Angel of the Lord called out from heaven, saying, “Abraham, Abraham.” And he answered, “Here I am.” {22:12} And he said to him, “Do not extend your hand over the boy, and do not do anything to him. Now I know that you fear God, since you have not spared your only begotten son for my sake.” {22:13} Abraham lifted up his eyes, and he saw behind his back a ram among the thorns, caught by the horns, which he took and offered as a holocaust, instead of his son. {22:14} And he called the name of that place: ‘The Lord Sees.’ Thus, even to this day, it is said: ‘On the mountain, the Lord will see.’ {22:15} Then the Angel of the Lord called out to Abraham a second time from heaven, saying: {22:16} “By my own self, I have sworn, says the Lord. Because you have done this thing, and have not spared your only begotten son for my sake, {22:17} I will bless you, and I will multiply your offspring like the stars of heaven, and like the sand which is on the seashore. Your offspring will possess the gates of their enemies. {22:18} And in your offspring, all the nations of the earth will be blessed, because you obeyed my voice.” {22:19} Abraham returned to his servants, and they went to Beersheba together, and he lived there. {22:20} After these things occurred, it was reported to Abraham that Milcah, likewise, had borne sons for his brother Nahor: {22:21} Uz, the firstborn, and Buz, his brother, and Kemuel, the father of the Syrians, {22:22} and Chedorlaomer, the king of Elam, and Chedorlaomer, the king of Elam, took the cities of the Plain, and they went to Beersheba together, and he lived there. {22:23} As for Milcah, the sister of Nahor, she bore children and a daughter: {22:24} And in truth, his concubine, named Reumah, bore Tebah, and Maacah.

{Genesis 23} {23:1} Now Sarah lived for one hundred and twenty-seven years. {23:2} And she died in the city of Arba, which is Hebron, in the land of Canaan. And Abraham came to mourn and weep for her. {23:3} And when he had risen up from the funeral duties, he spoke to the sons of Heth, saying: {23:4} “I am a newcomer and a sojourner among you. Give me the right of a sepulcher among you, so that I may bury my dead.” {23:5} The sons of Heth responded by saying: {23:6} “Hear us, O lord, you are a leader of God among us. Bury your dead in our chosen sepulchers. And no man shall be able to prohibit you from burying your dead within your memorial.” {23:7} Abraham arose, and he reverenced the people of the land, namely, the sons of Heth. {23:8} And he said to them: “If it pleases your soul that I should bury my dead, hear me, and intercede on my behalf with Ephron, the son of Zohar, {23:9} so that he may give me the double cave, which he has at the far end of his field. He may transfer it to me for as much money as it is worth in your sight, for the possession of a sepulcher.” {23:10} Now Ephron dwelt in the midst of the sons of Heth. And Ephron responded to Abraham in the hearing of everyone who was entering at the gate of his city, saying: {23:11} “Let it never be so, my lord, but you should pay greater heed to what I say. The field I will transfer to you, and the cave that is in it. In the presence of the sons of my people, bury your dead.” {23:12} Abraham reverenced in the sight of the people of the land. {23:13} And he spoke to Ephron, standing in the midst of the people: “I ask you to hear me. I will give you money for the field. Take it, and so I will bury my dead in it.” {23:14} And Ephron responded: “My lord, hear me. {23:15} The land that you request is worth four hundred shekels of silver. This is the price between me and you. But how much is this? Bury your dead.” {23:16} And when Abraham had heard this, he weighed out the money that Ephron had requested, in the hearing of the sons of Heth, four hundred shekels of silver, of the approved public currency. {23:17} And having confirmed that the field, in which there was a double cave overlooking Mamre, formerly belonged to Ephron, both it and the sepulcher, and all its trees, with all its surrounding limits, {23:18} Abraham took it as a possession, in the sight of the sons of Heth and of everyone who was entering at the gate of his city. {23:19} So then, Abraham buried his wife Sarah in the double cave of the field that overlooked Mamre. This is Hebron in the land of Canaan. {23:20} And the field was confirmed to Abraham, with the cave that was in it, as a memorial possession before the sons of Heth.

[Genesis 24] {24:1} Now Abraham was old and of many days. And the Lord had blessed him in all things. {24:2} And he said to the elder servant of his house, who was in charge of all that he had: “Place your hand under my thigh, {24:3} so that I may make you swear by the Lord, the God of heaven and earth, that you will not take a wife for my son from the daughters of the Canaanites, among whom I live. {24:4} But that you will proceed to my land and kindred, and from there take a wife for my son Isaac.” {24:5} The servant responded, “If the woman is not willing to come with me into this land, must I lead your son back to the place from which you departed?” {24:6} And Abraham said: “Beware that you never lead my son back to that place. {24:7} The Lord God of heaven, who took me from my father’s house, and from the land of my nativity, who spoke to me and swore to me, saying, ‘To your offspring I will give this land,’ himself will send his Angel before you, and you will take from there a wife for my son. {24:8} But if the woman is not willing to follow you, you will not be held by the oath. Only do not lead my son back to that place.” {24:9} Therefore, the servant placed his hand under the thigh of Abraham, his lord, and he swore to him on his word. {24:10} And he took ten camels from his lord’s herd, and he went forth, carrying with him things from all of his goods. And he set out, and continued on, to the city of Nahor, in Mesopotamia. {24:11} And when he had made the camels lie down outside of the town, near a well of water, in the evening, at the time when women are accustomed to go out to draw water, he said: {24:12} “O Lord, the God of my lord Abraham, meet with me today, I beg you, and show mercy to my lord Abraham. {24:13} Behold, I stand near the fountain of water, and the daughters of the inhabitants of this city will go forth to draw water. {24:14} Therefore, the girl to whom I will say, ‘Tip your pitcher, so that I may drink,’ and she will respond, ‘Drink. In fact, I will give your camels a drink also,’ the same one is she whom you have prepared for your servant Isaac. And by this, I will understand that you have shown mercy to my lord.” {24:15} But he had not yet completed these words within himself, when, behold, Rebekah went out, the daughter of Bethuel, son of Milcah, the wife of Nahor, the brother of Abraham, having a pitcher on her shoulder. {24:16} She was an exceedingly elegant girl, and a most beautiful virgin, and unknown by man. And she descended to the spring, and she filled her pitcher, and then was returning. {24:17} And the servant ran to meet her, and he said, “Provide me with a little water to drink from your pitcher.” {24:18} And she responded, “Drink, my lord.” And she quickly brought down the pitcher on her arm, and she gave him a drink. {24:19} And after he drank, she added, “In fact, I will draw water for your camels also, until they all drink.” {24:20} And pouring out the pitcher into the troughs, she ran back to the well to draw water; and having drawn, she gave it to all the camels. {24:21} But he was contemplating her silently, wanting to know whether the Lord had caused his journey to prosper or not. {24:22} Then, after the camels drank, the man took out gold earrings, weighing two shekels, and the same number of bracelets, ten shekels in weight. {24:23} And he said to her: “Whose daughter are you? Tell me, is there any place in your father’s house to lodge?” {24:24} She responded, “I am the daughter of Bethuel, the son of Milcah, to whom she gave birth for Nahor.” {24:25} And she continued, saying, “There is very much straw and hay with us, and a spacious place to stay.” {24:26} The man bowed himself down, and he adored the Lord, {24:27} saying, “Blessed be the Lord, the God of my lord Abraham, who has not taken away his mercy and truth from my lord, and who has led me on a direct journey to the house of the brother of my lord.” {24:28} And so the girl ran, and she reported all that she had heard in the house of her mother. {24:29} Now Rebekah had a brother, named Laban, who went out quickly to the man, where the spring was. {24:30} And when he had seen the earrings and bracelets in his sister’s hands, and he had heard all the words being repeated, “This is what the man spoke to me,” he came to the man who stood by the camels and near the spring of water, {24:31} and he said to him: “Enter, O blessed of the Lord. Why do you stand outside? I have prepared the house, and a place for the camels.” {24:32} And he brought him into his guest quarters. And he unharnessed the camels, and he distributed straw and hay, and water to wash his feet and that of the men who arrived with him. {24:33} And bread was set out in his sight. But he said, “I will not eat, until I have spoken my words.” He answered him, “Speak.” {24:34} Then he said: “I am the servant of Abraham. {24:35} And the Lord has blessed my lord greatly, and he has become great. And he has given him sheep and oxen, silver and gold, men servants and women servants, camels and donkeys. {24:36} And Sarah, the wife of my lord, has given birth to a son for my lord in her old age, and he has given him all that he had. {24:37} And my lord made me swear, saying: ‘You shall not take a wife for my son from the Canaanites, in whose land I dwell. {24:38} But you shall travel to my father’s house, and you shall take a wife of my own kindred for my son.’ {24:39} But truly, I answered my lord, ‘What if the woman is not willing to come with me?’ {24:40} ‘The Lord,’ he said, ‘in whose sight I walk, will send his Angel with you, and he will direct your way. And you shall take a wife for my son from my own kindred and from my father’s house. {24:41} But you will be innocent of my curse, if, when you will arrive at my close relatives, they will not grant this to you.’ {24:42} And so, today I arrived at the well of water, and I said: ‘O Lord, the God of my lord Abraham, if you have directed my way, in which I now walk, {24:43} behold, I stand next to the well of water, and the virgin, who will go forth to draw water, will hear from me, “Give me a little water to drink from your pitcher.” {24:44} And she will say to me, “You drink, and I will also draw for your camels.” Let the same be the woman, whom the Lord has prepared for the son of my lord.’ {24:45} And while I thought over these things silently within myself, Rebekah appeared, arriving with a pitcher, which she carried on her shoulder. And she descended to the spring and drew water. And I said to her, ‘Give me a little to drink.’ {24:46} And she quickly let down the pitcher from her arm, and said to me, ‘You drink, and to your camels I will also distribute drinking water.’ I drank, and she watered the camels. {24:47} And I questioned her, saying, ‘Whose daughter are you?’ And she responded, ‘I am the daughter of Bethuel, the son of Nahor, whom Milcah bore to him.’ And so, I hung the earrings on her, to adorn her face, and I put the bracelets on her hands. {24:48} And falling prostrate, I adored the Lord, blessing the Lord, the God of my lord Abraham. {24:49} And falling down to the ground, he adored the Lord, acknowledging the Lord, the God of his lord Abraham. {24:50} And Laban and Bethuel responded: “A word has proceeded from the Lord. We are not able to speak anything else to you, beyond what pleases him. {24:51} Lo, Rebekah is in your sight. Take her and continue on, and let her be the wife of the son of your lord, just as the Lord has spoken.” {24:52} When Abraham’s servant had heard this, falling down to the ground, he adored the Lord. {24:53} And bringing forth vessels of silver and gold, as well as garments, he gave them to Rebekah as a tribute. Likewise, he offered gifts to her brothers and her mother. {24:54} And a banquet began, and they feasted and drank together, and they lodged there. And rising up in the morning, the servant said, “Release me, so that I may go to my lord.” {24:55} And her brothers and mother responded, “Let the girl remain for at least ten days with us, and after that, she will continue on.” {24:56} “Do not be willing,” he said, “to delay me, for the Lord has directed my way. Release me, so that I may journey to my lord.” {24:57} And they said, “Let us call the girl, and ask her will.” {24:58} And when, having been called, she arrived, they wanted to know, “Will you go with this man?” And she said, “I will go.” {24:59} Therefore, they released her and her nurse, and the servant of Abraham and his companions, {24:60} wishing prosperity for their sister, by saying: “You are our sister. May you increase to thousands of thousands. And may your offspring possess the gates of their enemies.” {24:61} And so, Rebekah and her maids, riding upon camels, followed the man, who quickly returned to his lord. {24:62} Then, at the same time, Isaac was walking along the way that leads to the well, whose name is: ‘of the One who lives and who sees.’ For he dwelt in the southern land. {24:63} And he had gone out to meditate in the field, as daylight was now declining. And when he had lifted up his eyes, he saw camels advancing from afar. {24:64} Likewise, Rebekah, having seen Isaac, descended from the camel. {24:65} And she said to the servant, “Who is that man who advances to meet us through the field?” And he said to her, “That is my lord.” And so, quickly taking up her cloak, she covered herself. {24:66} Then the servant explained to Isaac all that he had done. {24:67} And he led her into the tent of Sarah his mother, and he accepted her as wife. And he loved her so very much, that it tempered the sorrow which befell him at his mother’s death.
Havilah as far as Shur, which overlooks Egypt as it approaches the Assyrians. He passed away in the sight of all his brothers. {25:19} Likewise, these are the generations of Isaac, the son of Abraham. Abraham conceived Isaac, {25:20} who, when he was forty years old, took Rebekah, the sister of Laban, the daughter of Bethuel the Syrian from Mesopotamia, as a wife. {25:21} And Isaac beseeched the Lord on behalf of his wife, because she was barren. And he heard him, and he gave conception to Rebekah. {25:22} But the little ones struggled in her womb. So she said, “If it was to be so with me, what need was there to conceive?” And she went to consult the Lord. {25:23} And responding, he said, “Two nations are in your womb, and two peoples will be divided out of your womb, and one people will overcome the other people, and the elder will serve the younger.” {25:24} Now the time had arrived to give birth, and behold, twins were discovered in her womb. {25:25} He who departed first was red, and entirely hairy like a pelt; and his name was called Esau. At once the other departed and he held his brother’s foot in his hand; and because of this he was called Jacob. {25:26} Isaac was sixty years old when the little ones were born to him. {25:27} And as adults, Esau became a knowledgeable hunter and a man of agriculture, but Jacob, a simple man, dwelt in tents. {25:28} Isaac was fond of Esau, because he was fed from his hunting; and Rebekah loved Jacob. {25:29} Then Jacob boiled a small meal. Esau, when he had arrived weary from the field, {25:30} said to him, “Give me this red stew, for I am very tired.” For this reason, his name was called Edom. {25:31} Jacob said to him, “Sell me your right of the firstborn.” {25:32} He answered, “Lo, I am dying, what will the right of the firstborn provide for me?” {25:33} Jacob said, “So then, swear to me.” Esau swore to him, and he sold his right of the firstborn. {25:34} And so, taking bread and the food of lentils, he ate, and he drank, and he went away, giving little weight to having sold the right of the firstborn.

[Genesis 26] {26:1} Then, when a famine arose over the land, after that barrenness which had happened in the days of Abraham, Isaac went to Abimelech, king of the Palestinians, in Gerar. {26:2} And the Lord appeared to him, and he said: “Do not descend into Egypt, but rest in the land that I will show you. {26:3} And sojourn in it, and I will be with you, and I will bless you. For to you and to your offspring I will give all these regions, completing the oath that I promised to Abraham your father. {26:4} And I will multiply your offspring like the stars of heaven. And I will give to your posterity all these regions. And in your offspring all the nations of the earth will be blessed, {26:5} because Abraham obeyed my voice, and kept my precepts and commandments, and observed the ceremonies and the laws.” {26:6} And so Isaac remained in Gerar. {26:7} And when he was questioned by the men of that place about his wife, he answered, “She is my sister.” For he was afraid to confess her to be his mate, thinking that perhaps they would put him to death because of her beauty. {26:8} And when very many days had passed, and he had remained in the same place, Abimelech, king of the Palestinians, gazing through a window, saw him being playful with Rebekah, his wife. {26:9} And summoning him, he said: “It is clear that she is your wife. Why did you falsely claim her to be your sister?” He answered, “I was afraid, lest I might die because of her.” {26:10} And Abimelech said: “Why have you burdened us? Someone from the people could have lain with your wife, and you would have brought a great sin upon us.” And he instructed all the people, saying, {26:11} “Whoever will touch the wife of this man will die a death.” {26:12} Then Isaac sowed in that land, and he found, in that same year, one hundredfold. And the Lord blessed him. {26:13} And the man was enriched, and he continued prospering as well as increasing, until he became very great. {26:14} Likewise, he had possessions of sheep and of herds, and a very large family. Because of this, the Palestinians envied him, {26:15} so, at that time, they obstructed all the wells that the servants of his father Abraham had dug, filling them with soil. {26:16} It reached a point where Abimelech himself said to Isaac, “Move away from us, for you have become very much more powerful than we.” {26:17} And departing, he then went toward the torrent of Gerar, and he dwelt there. {26:18} Again, he dug up other wells, which the servants of his father Abraham had dug, and which, after his death, the Philistines had formerly obstructed. And he called them by the same names that his father had called them before. {26:19} And they dug in the torrent, and they found living water. {26:20} But in that place also the shepherds of Gerar argued against the shepherds of Isaac, by saying, “It is our water.” For this reason, he called the name of the well, because of what had happened, ‘Calumny.’ {26:21} Then they dug up yet another one. And over that one also they fought, and he called it, ‘Enmity.’ {26:22} Advancing from there, he dug another well, over which they did not contend. And so he called its name, ‘Latitude,’ saying, “Now the Lord has expanded us and caused us to increase across the land.” {26:23} Then he ascended from that place into Beersheba, {26:24} where the Lord appeared to him on the same night, saying: “I am the God of Abraham your father. Do not be afraid, for I am with you. I will bless you, and I will multiply your offspring because of my servant Abraham.” {26:25} And so he built an altar there. And he invoked the name of the Lord, and he stretched out his tent. And he instructed his servants to dig a well. {26:26} When Abimelech, and Ahuzzath, his friend, and Phicol, the leader of the military, had arrived from Gerar to that place, {26:27} Isaac said to them, “Why have you come to me, a man whom you hate, and whom you have expelled from among you?” {26:28} And they responded: “We saw that the Lord is with you, and therefore we said: Let there be an oath between us, and let us initiate a pact, {26:29} so that you may not do us any kind of harm, just as we have touched nothing of yours, and have not caused any injury to you, but with peace we released you, augmented by the blessing of the Lord.” {26:30} Therefore, he made them a feast, and after the food and drink, {26:31} arising in the morning, they swore to one another. And Isaac sent them away peacefully to their own place. {26:32} Then, behold, on the same day the servants of Isaac came, reporting to him about a well which they had dug, and saying: “We have found water.” {26:33} Therefore, he called it, ‘Abundance.’ And the name of the city was established as ‘Beersheba,’ even to the present day. {26:34} In truth, at forty years of age, Esau took wives: Judith, the daughter of Beeri, the Hittite, and Basemath, the daughter of Elon, of the same place. {26:35} And they both offended the mind of Isaac and Rebekah.
[Genesis 27]  [27:1] Now Isaac was old, and his eyes were cloudy, and so he was not able to see. And he called his elder son Esau, and he said to him, “My son?” And he responded, “Here I am.” [27:2] His father said to him: “You see that I am old, and I do not know the day of my death. [27:3] Take your weapons, the quiver and the bow, and go out. And when you have taken something by hunting, [27:4] make from it a small meal for me, just as you know I like, and bring it, so that I may eat and my soul may bless you before I die.” [27:5] And when Rebekah had heard this, and he had gone out into the field to fulfill his father’s order, [27:6] she said to her son Jacob: “I heard your father speaking with your brother Esau, and saying to him, [27:7] ‘Bring to me from your hunting, and make me foods, so that I may eat and bless you in the sight of the Lord before I die.’” [27:8] Therefore, now my son, agree to my counsel, [27:9] and go straight to the flock, and bring me two of the best young goats, so that from them I may make meat for your father, such as he willingly eats. [27:10] Then, when you have brought these in and he has eaten, he may bless you before he dies.” [27:11] He answered her: “You know that my brother Esau is a hairy man, and I am smooth. [27:12] If my father should lay hands on me and perceive it, I am afraid lest he think me willing to mock him, and I will bring a curse upon myself, instead of a blessing.” [27:13] And his mother said to him: “Let this curse be upon me, my son. Yet listen to my voice, and go directly to bring what I said.” [27:14] He went out, and he brought, and he gave to his mother. She prepared the meats, just as she knew his father liked. [27:15] And she clothed him with the very fine garments of Esau, which she had at home with her. [27:16] And she encircled his hands with little pelts from the young goats, and she covered his bare neck. [27:17] And she gave him the small meal, and she handed him the bread that she had baked. [27:18] When he had carried these in, he said, “My father!” And he answered, “I am listening. Who are you, my son?” [27:19] And Jacob said: “I am Esau, your firstborn. I have done as you instructed me. Arise; sit and eat from my hunting, so that your soul may bless me.” [27:20] And again Isaac said to his son, “How were you able to find it so quickly, my son?” He answered, “It was the will of God, so that what I sought met with me quickly.” [27:21] And Isaac said, “Come here, so that I may touch you, my son, and may prove whether you are my son Esau, or not.” [27:22] He approached his father, and when he had felt him, Isaac said: “The voice indeed is the voice of Jacob. But the hands are the hands of Esau.” [27:23] And he did not recognize him, because his hairy hands made him seem similar to the elder one. Therefore, blessing him, [27:24] he said, “Are you my son Esau?” He answered, “I am.” [27:25] Then he said, “Bring me the foods from your hunting, my son, so that my soul may bless you.” And when he had eaten what was offered, he also brought forth wine for him. And after he finished it, [27:26] he said to him, “Come to me and give me a kiss, my son.” [27:27] He approached and kissed him. And immediately he perceived the fragrance of his garments. And so, blessing him, he said: “Behold, the smell of my son is like the smell of a plentiful field, which the Lord has blessed.” [27:28] May God give to you, from the dew of heaven and from the fatness of the earth, an abundance of grain and wine. [27:29] And may the peoples serve you, and may the tribes reverence you. May you be the lord of your brothers, and may your mother’s sons bow down before you. Whoever curses you, may he be cursed, and whoever blesses you, may he be filled with blessings.” [27:30] Scarcely had Isaac completed his words, and Jacob departed, when Esau arrived. [27:31] And he brought his father foods cooked from his hunting, saying, “Arise, my father, and eat from your son’s hunting, so that your soul may bless me.” [27:32] And Isaac said to him, “But who are you?” And he answered, “I am your firstborn son, Esau.” [27:33] Isaac became frightened and very astonished. And wondering beyond what can be believed, he said: “Then who is he that a while ago brought me the prey from his hunting, from which I ate, before you arrived? And I blessed him, and he will be blessed.” [27:34] Esau, having heard his father’s words, roared out with a great outcry. And, being confounded, he said, “But bless me also, my father.” [27:35] And he said, “Your twin came deceitfully, and he received your blessing.” [27:36] But he responded: “Justly is his name called Jacob. For he has supplanted me yet another time. My birthright he took away before, and now, this second time, he has stolen my blessing.” And again, he said to his father, “Have you not reserved a blessing for me also?” [27:37] Isaac answered: “I have appointed him as your lord, and I have subjugated all his brothers as his servants. I have reinforced him with grain and wine, and after this, my son, what more shall I do for you?” [27:38] And Esau said to him: “Have you only one blessing, father? I beg you, bless me also.” And when he wept with a loud wail, [27:39] Isaac was moved, and he said to him: “In the fatness of the earth, and in the dew of heaven from above, will your blessing dwell with him quickly. But the time will arrive when you will shake off and release his yoke from your neck.” [27:40] Therefore, Esau always hated Jacob, for the blessing with which his father had blessed him. And he said in his heart, “The days will arrive for the mourning of my father, and I will kill my brother Jacob.” [27:41] These things were reported to Rebekah. And sending and calling for her son Jacob, she said to him, “Behold, your brother Esau is threatening to kill you. [27:42] Therefore, now my son, listen to my voice. Rise up and flee to my brother Laban, in Haran.” [27:43] And you will dwell with him for a few days, until the fury of your brother subsides, [27:44] and his indignation ceases, and he forgets the things that you have done to him. After this, I will send for you and bring you from there to here. Why should I be bereaved of both my sons in one day?” [27:45] And Rebekah said to Isaac, “I am weary of my life because of the daughters of Heth. If Jacob accepts a wife from the stock of this land, I would not be willing to live.”

[Genesis 28]  [28:1] And so Isaac called for Jacob, and he blessed him, and he instructed him, saying: “Do not be willing to accept a mate from the family of Canaan. [28:2] But go, and journey to Mesopotamia of Syria, to the house of Bethuel, your mother’s father, and there accept for a wife from the family of Canaan. [28:3] And may God almighty bless you, and may he cause you to increase and also to multiply, so that you may be influential among the people. [28:4] And may he give the blessings of Abraham to you, and to your offspring after you, so that you may possess the land of your sojourning, which he promised to your grandfather.” [28:5] And when Isaac had dismissed him, setting out, he went to Mesopotamia of Syria, to Laban, the son of Bethuel, the Syrian, the brother to Rebekah, his mother. {28:6} But Esau, seeing that his father had blessed Jacob and had sent him into Mesopotamia of Syria, to take a wife from there, and that, after the blessing, he had instructed him, saying: 'You shall not accept a wife from the daughters of Canaan,' {28:7} and that Jacob, obeying his parents, had gone into Syria, {28:8} having evidence also that his father did not look with favor upon the daughters of Canaan, {28:9} he went to Ishmael, and he took as a wife, beside those he had before, Mahalath, the daughter of Ishmael, Abraham's son, the sister of Nebaioth. {28:10} Meanwhile Jacob, having departed from Beersheba, continued on to Haran. {28:11} And when he had arrived at a certain place, where he would rest after the setting of the sun, he took some of the stones that lay there, and placing them under his head, he slept in the same place. {28:12} And he saw in his sleep: a ladder standing upon the earth, with its top touching heaven, also, the Angels of God ascending and descending by it, {28:13} and the Lord, leaning upon the ladder, saying to him: "I am the Lord, the God of Abraham your father, and the God of Isaac. The land, in which you sleep, I will give to you and to your offspring. {28:14} And your offspring will be like the dust of the earth. You will spread abroad to the West, and to the East, and to the North, and to the Meridian. And in you and in your offspring, all the tribes of the earth shall be blessed. {28:15} And I will be your guardian wherever you will journey, and I will bring you back into this land. Neither will I dismiss you, until I have accomplished all that I have said." {28:16} And when Jacob had awakened from sleep, he said, "Truly, the Lord is in this place, and I did not know it." {28:17} And being terrified, he said: "How terrible this place is! This is nothing other than the house of God and the gateway of heaven." {28:18} Therefore, Jacob, arising in the morning, took the stone which he had placed under his head, and he set it up as monument, pouring oil over it. {28:19} And he called the name of the city, 'Bethel,' which before was called Luz. {28:20} And then he made a vow, saying: "If God will be with me, and will guard me along the way by which I walk, and will give me bread to eat and clothing to wear, {28:21} and if I will return prosperously to my father's house, then the Lord will be my God, {28:22} and this stone, which I have set up as a monument, will be called 'the House of God.' And from all the things that you will give to me, I will offer tithes to you."

[Genesis 29] {29:1} And so Jacob, setting out, arrived in the eastern land. {29:2} And he saw a well in a field, and also three flocks of sheep reclining near it. For the animals were watered from it, and its mouth was closed with a great stone. {29:3} And the custom was, when all the sheep were gathered together, to roll away the stone. And when the flocks had been refreshed, they placed it over the mouth of the well again. {29:4} And he said to the shepherds, "Brothers, where are you from?" And they answered, "From Haran." {29:5} And questioning them, he said, "Do you know Laban, the son of Nahor?" They said, "We know him." {29:6} He said, "Is he well?" "He is very well," they said. "And behold, his daughter Rachel approaches with her flock." {29:7} And Jacob said, "There is still much daylight remaining, and it is not time to return the flocks to the sheepfold. Give the sheep to drink first, and then lead them back to pasture." {29:8} They responded, "We cannot, until all the animals are gathered together and we remove the stone from the mouth of the well, so that we may water the flocks." {29:9} They were still speaking, and behold, Rachel arrived with her father's sheep; for she pastured the flock. {29:10} When Jacob had seen her, and he realized that she was his maternal first cousin, and that these were the sheep of his uncle Laban, he removed the stone which closed the well. {29:11} And having watered the flock, he kissed her. And lifting up his voice, he wept. {29:12} And he revealed to her that he was a brother of her father, and the son of Rebekah. And so, hurrying, she announced it to her father. {29:13} And when he had heard that Jacob, his sister's son, had arrived, he ran to meet him. And embracing him, and kissing him heartily, he brought him into his house. But when he had heard the reasons for his journey, {29:14} he responded, "You are my bone and my flesh." And after the days of one month were completed, {29:15} he said to him: "Though you are my brother, will you serve me for nothing? Tell me what wages you would accept." {29:16} In truth, he had two daughters: the name of the elder was Leah; and truly the younger was called Rachel. {29:17} But while Leah was blear-eyed, Rachel had an elegant appearance and was attractive to behold. {29:18} And Jacob, loving her, said, "I will serve you for seven years, for your younger daughter Rachel." {29:19} Laban responded, "It is better that I give her to you than to another man; remain with me." {29:20} Therefore, Jacob served for seven years for Rachel. And these seemed like only a few days, because of the greatness of love. {29:21} And he said to Laban, "Give my wife to me. For now the time has been fulfilled, so that I may go in to her." {29:22} And he, having called a great crowd of his friends to the feast, agreed to the marriage. {29:23} And at night, he brought in his daughter Leah to him, {29:24} giving his daughter a handmaid named Zilpah. After Jacob had gone in to her, according to custom, when morning had arrived, he saw Leah. {29:25} And he said to his father-in-law, "What is it that you intended to do? Did I not serve you for Rachel? Why have you deceived me?" {29:26} Laban responded, "It is not the practice in this place to give the younger in marriage first. {29:27} Complete a week of days with this mating. And then I will give this one to you also, for the service that you will provide to me for another seven years." {29:28} He agreed to his pleading. And after the week had passed, he took Rachel as a wife. {29:29} To her, the father had given Bilhah as her servant. {29:30} And, having at last obtained the marriage he desired, he preferred the love of the latter before the former, and he served with him another seven years. {29:31} But the Lord, seeing that he despised Leah, opened her womb, but her sister remained barren. {29:32} Having conceived, she gave birth to a son, and she called his name Reuben, saying: "The Lord saw my humiliation; now my husband will love me." {29:33} And again she conceived and bore a son, and she said, "Because the Lord heard that I was treated with contempt, he has also given this one to me." And she called his name Simeon. {29:34} And she conceived a third time, and she gave birth to another son, and she said: "Now likewise my husband will unite with me, because I have borne him three sons." And because of this, she called his name Levi. {29:35} A fourth time she conceived and bore a son, and she said, "Only now will I confess to the Lord."
And for this reason, she called him Judah. And she ceased from child-bearing.

[Genesis 30] {30:1} Then Rachel, discerning that she was infertile, envied her sister, and so she said to her husband, “Give me children, otherwise I will die.” {30:2} Jacob, being angry, responded to her, “Am I in the place of God, who has deprived you of the fruit of your womb?” {30:3} But she said: “I have a handmaid Bilhah. Go in to her, so that she may give birth upon my knees, and I may have sons by her.” {30:4} And she gave him Bilhah in marriage. {30:5} And when her husband had gone in to her, she conceived and bore a son. {30:6} And Rachel said, “The Lord has judged for me, and he has heeded my voice, giving me a son.” And because of this, she called his name Dan. {30:7} And conceiving again, Bilhah bore another, {30:8} about whom Rachel said, “God has compared me with my sister, and I have prevailed.” And she called him Naphtali. {30:9} Leah, perceiving that she had desisted from child-bearing, delivered Zilpah, her handmaid, to her husband. {30:10} And she, after having borne a son with difficulty, {30:11} said: “Happiness!” And for this reason, she called his name Gad. {30:12} Likewise, Zilpah bore another. {30:13} And Leah said, “This one is for my happiness. Indeed, women will call me blessed.” Because of this, she called him Asher. {30:14} Then Reuben, going out into the field at the time of the wheat harvest, found mandrakes. These he brought to his mother Leah. And Rachel said, “Give me a portion of your son’s mandrakes.” {30:15} She responded, “Does it seem like such a small matter to you, that you have usurped from me my husband, unless you will also take my son’s mandrakes?” Rachel said, “He will sleep with you this night because of your son’s mandrakes.” {30:16} And when Jacob returned from the field in the evening, Leah went out to meet him, and she said, “You will enter to me, because I have hired you for the reward of my son’s mandrakes.” And he slept with her that night. {30:17} And God heard her prayers. And she conceived and bore a fifth son. {30:18} And she said, “God has given a reward to me, because I gave my handmaid to my husband.” And she called his name Issachar. {30:19} Conceiving again, Leah bore a sixth son. {30:20} And she said: “God has endowed me with a good dowry. And now, at this turn, my husband will be with me, because I have conceived six sons for him.” And therefore she called his name Zebulun. {30:21} After him, she bore a daughter, named Dinah. {30:22} The Lord, likewise remembering Rachel, heeded her and opened her womb. {30:23} And she conceived and bore a son, saying, “God has taken away my reproach.” {30:24} And she called his name Joseph, saying, “The Lord has added to me another son.” {30:25} But when Joseph was born, Jacob said to his father-in-law: “Release me, so that I may return to my native country and to my land.” {30:26} Give me my wives, and my children, for whom I have served you, so that I may depart. You know the servitude with which I have served you.” {30:27} Laban said to him: “May I find grace in your sight. I have learned by experience that God has blessed me because of you. {30:28} Choose your wages, which I will give you.” {30:29} But he responded: “You know how I have served you, and how great your possession became in my hands. {30:30} You had little before I came to you, and now you have achieved riches. And the Lord has blessed you since my arrival. It is just, therefore, that at sometime I also should provide for my own house.” {30:31} And Laban said, “What shall I give to you?” But he said, “I want nothing. But if you will do what I ask, I will feed and guard your sheep again. {30:32} Go around through all your flocks and separate all the sheep of variegated or spotted fleece; and whatever will be darkened or blemished or variegated, as much among the sheep as among the goats, will be my wages. {30:33} And my justice will answer on my behalf tomorrow, when the time of settlement arrives before you. And all that is not variegated or blemished or darkened, as much among the sheep as among the goats, these will prove me to be a thief.” {30:34} And Laban said, “I hold favor for this request.” {30:35} And on that day he separated the she-goats, and the sheep, and the he-goats, and the rams with variegations or with blemishes. But every one of the flock which was of one color, that is, of white or of black fleece, he delivered into the hands of his sons. {30:36} And he established a distance of three days journey between himself and his son-in-law, who pastured the remainder of his flock. {30:37} Then Jacob, taking green branches of poplar, and almond, and sycamore trees, debarked them in part. And when the bark was pulled off, in the parts that were stripped, there appeared whiteness, yet the parts that were left whole, remained green. And so, in this way the color was made variegated. {30:38} And he placed them in the troughs, where the water was poured out, so that when the flocks had arrived to drink, they would have the branches before their eyes, and in their sight they might conceive. {30:39} And it happened that, in the very heat of joining together, the sheep looked upon the branches, and they bore the blemished and the variegated, those speckled with diverse color. {30:40} And Jacob divided the flock, and he set the branches in the troughs before the eyes of the rams. Now whatever was white or black belonged to Laban, but, in truth, the others belonged to Jacob, for the flocks were dispersed among one another. {30:41} Therefore, when the first to arrive were climbing on the ewes, Jacob placed the branches in the troughs of water before the eyes of the rams and the sheep, so that they might conceive while they were gazing upon them. {30:42} Yet when the late arrivals and the last to conceive were let in, he did not place these. And so those that arrived late became Laban’s, and those that arrived first became Jacob’s. {30:43} And the man was enriched beyond limit, and he had many flocks, women servants and men servants, camels and donkeys.

[Genesis 31] {31:1} But afterwards, he heard the words of the sons of Laban, saying, “Jacob has taken all that was our father’s, and being enlarged by his ability, he has become famous.” {31:2} Likewise, he observed that Laban’s face was not the same toward him as it was yesterday and the day before. {31:3} Most importantly, the Lord was saying to him, “Return to the land of your fathers and to your generation, and I will be with you.” {31:4} He sent and called for Rachel and Leah, in the field where he pastured the flocks, {31:5} and he said to them: “I see that your father’s face is not the same toward me as it was yesterday and the day before. But the God of my father has been with me. {31:6} And you know that I have served your father with all my strength. {31:7} Even so, your father has circumvented me, and he has changed my wages ten times. And yet God has not permitted him to harm me. {31:8} Whenever he said, hid the idols under the camel's bedding, and she sat upon Leah, and of both the handmaids, did not find them. And
of yours that you will find with me, take it away." Now when accuse me of theft, with whomever you will find your gods, away your daughters by violence. {31:32} But, since you out, unknown to you, because I feared that you might take have you stolen my gods?" {31:31} Jacob answered: "I set songs, and timbrels, and lyres? {31:28} You have not me, though I might have led you forward with gladness, and daughters like captives of the sword? {31:27} Why would you acted this way, departing from me in secret, with my brothers, had overtaken him, he set his tent at the same place in a dream, God saying to him, "Beware that you not speak taking his brothers with him, he pursued him for seven days.
And he overtook him at Mount Gilead. {31:24} And he saw
in a dream, God saying to him, "Beware that you not speak anything harsh against Jacob." {31:25} And now Jacob had pitched his tent at the mountain. And when he, with his brothers, had overtaken him, he set his tent at the same place at Mount Gilead. {31:26} And he said to Jacob: "Why have you acted this way, departing from me in secret, with my daughters like captives of the sword? {31:27} Why would you want to flee without my knowledge and without telling me, though I might have led you forward with gladness, and
songs, and timbrels, and lyres? {31:28} You have not permitted me to kiss my sons and daughters. You have acted foolishly. And now, indeed, {31:29} my hand has power to repay you with harm. But the God of your father said to me yesterday, 'Beware that you not speak anything stern against Jacob.' {31:30} It may be that you desired to go to your own, and that you longed for the house of your father. But why have you stolen my gods?" {31:31} Jacob answered: "I set out, unknown to you, because I feared that you might take away your daughters by violence. {31:32} But, since you
accuse me of theft, with whomever you will find your gods, let him be slain in the sight of our brothers. Search; anything of yours that you will find with me, take it away." Now when he said this, he did not know that Rachel had stolen the idols.
{31:33} And so Laban, entering the tent of Jacob, and of
when he had entered the tent of Rachel, {31:34} she quickly hid the idols under the camel's bedding, and she sat upon them. And when he had searched the entire tent and found nothing, {31:35} she said: "Do not be angry, my lord, that I am unable to rise up in your sight, because it has now happened to me according to the custom of women." So his careful search was thwarted. {31:36} And Jacob, being inflated, said with contention: "For which fault of mine, or for what sin of mine, have you become so enraged against me {31:37} and searched all the items of my house? What have you found from all the substance of your house? Place it here before my brothers, and your brothers, and let them judge between me and you. {31:38} For what reason have I been with you for twenty years? Your ewes and she-goats were not barren; the rams of your flocks I did not consume. {31:39} Neither did I reveal to you what was seized by the wild beast. I replaced all that was damaged. Whatever was lost by theft, you collected it from me. {31:40} Day and night, I was burned by heat and by frost, and sleep fled from my eyes. {31:41} And in this way, for twenty years, I have served you in your house: fourteen for your daughters, and six for your flocks. You have also changed my wages ten times.
{31:42} If the God of my father Abraham and the fear of Isaac had not been close to me, perhaps by now you would have sent me away naked. But God looked kindly on my affliction and the labor of my hands, and he rebuked you yesterday." {31:43} Laban answered him: "My daughters and sons, and your flocks, and all that you discern are mine.
What can I do to my sons and grandchildren? {31:44} Come, therefore, let us enter into a pact, so that it may be a testimony between me and you." {31:45} And so Jacob took a stone, and he set it up as a memorial. {31:46} And he said to his brothers, "Bring stones." And they, gathering together stones, made a tomb, and they ate upon it. {31:47} And Laban called it, 'Tomb of Witness,' and Jacob, 'Pile of Testimony;' each of them according to the fitness of his own language. {31:48} And Laban said: "This tomb will be a witness between me and you this day." (And for this reason, its name has been called Gilead, that is, 'Tomb of Witness.') {31:49} "May the Lord consider and judge between us, when we will have withdrawn from one another. {31:50} If you afflict my daughters, and if you bring in other wives over them, no one is a witness of our words except God, who understands beforehand." {31:51} And again he said to Jacob. "Lo, this tomb and the stone that I have set up between me and you, {31:52} will be a witness. This tomb," I say, "and the stone, they are for testimony, in case either I cross beyond it going toward you, or you cross beyond it thinking to harm me. {31:53} May the God of Abraham, and the God of Nahor, the God of their father, judge between us." Therefore, Jacob swore by the fear of his father Isaac.
{31:54} And after he had immolated sacrifices on the mountain, he called his brothers to eat bread. And when they had eaten, they lodged there. {31:55} In truth, Laban rose up in the night, and he kissed his sons and daughters, and he blessed them. And he returned to his place.

[Genesis 32] {32:1} Likewise, Jacob continued on the journey that he had begun. And the Angels of God met him.
{32:2} When he had seen them, he said, "These are the Encampments of God." And he called the name of that place Mahanaim, that is, 'Encampments.' {32:3} Then he also sent messengers before him to his brother Esau, in the land of Seir, in the region of Edom. {32:4} And he instructed them, saying:
responded, “Why do you ask my name?” And he blessed him much more will you prevail against men?” {32:29} Jacob said to him, “Your name will not be called Jacob, you will not release you, unless you bless me.” {32:27} Therefore he said to him, “Your strength was too much for me from the morning. {32:25} And when he saw that he would not be able to overcome him, he touched the nerve of his thigh, and it was obstructed. {32:24} he crossed over the ford of Jabbok. {32:23} And having remained alone. And behold, a man wrestled with him until morning. {32:22} And when he had arisen early, he took his two wives, and the flocks, and the sheep, and the oxen, and the camels, into two companies, {32:21} And so the gifts went before them, which follow you?” {32:20} you shall respond: “Your servant Jacob’s. He has sent them as a gift to my lord Esau. And he is able to overcome him, he touched the nerve of his thigh, and it was obstructed. {32:19} Similarly, he gave orders to the second, and the third, and to all who followed the flocks, saying: “Speak these same words to Esau, when you find him. {32:18} he remained alone. And behold, a man wrestled with him until morning. {32:27} Therefore he said, “What is your name?” He answered, “Jacob.” {32:26} And he said to him, “Release me, for now the dawn ascends.” He responded, “I will not release you, unless you bless me.” {32:25} And when he saw that he would not be able to overcome him, he touched the nerve of his thigh, and immediately it withered. {32:24} And when he had arisen early, he took his two wives, and the same number of handmaids, with his eleven sons, and he crossed over the ford of Jabbok. {32:23} And having delivered over all the things that belonged to him, {32:22} And when he had arisen early, he took his two wives, and the same number of handmaids, with his eleven sons, and he crossed over the ford of Jabbok. {32:21} And so the gifts went before him, but he himself lodged that night in the camp. {32:20} And you will add: ‘You r servant Jacob himself also follows after us, for he said: “I will appease him with the gifts which I have brought to you, and which God, who bestows all things, has given as a gift to me, and which God, who bestows all things, has given as a gift to me.” Accepting it in the same place. {32:30} And Jacob called the name of the place Peniel, saying, “I have seen God face to face, and my soul has been saved.” {32:31} And immediately the sun rose upon him, after he had crossed beyond Peniel. Yet in truth, he limped on his foot. {32:32} For this reason, the sons of Israel, even to the present day, do not eat the nerve that withered in Jacob’s thigh, because he touched the nerve of his thigh and it was obstructed.

[Genesis 33] {33:1} Then Jacob, lifting up his eyes, saw Esau arriving, and with him four hundred men. And he divided the sons of Leah and Rachel, and of both the handmaids. {33:2} And he placed the two handmaids and their children at the beginning. Truly, Leah and her sons were in the second place. Then Rachel and Joseph were last. {33:3} And advancing, he reverenced prostrate on the ground seven times, until his brother approached. {33:4} And so Esau ran to meet his brother, and he embraced him. And drawing him by his neck and kissing him, he wept. {33:5} And lifting up his eyes, he saw the women and their little ones, and he said: “What do these want for themselves?” and “Are they related to you?” He responded, “These are the little ones that God has given as a gift to me, your servant.” {33:6} Then the handmaids and their sons approached and bowed down. {33:7} Likewise Leah, with her sons, came near. And when they had reverenced similarly, last of all, Joseph and Rachel reverenced. {33:8} And Esau said, “What are these companies that I have been meeting?” He responded, “So may I find favor before my lord.” (33:9) But he said, “I have plenty, my brother; let these be for yourself.” (33:10) And Jacob said: “I beg you, let it not be so. But if I have found favor in your eyes, receive a small present from my hands. For I have looked upon your face as I would look upon the countenance of God. Be gracious to me, {33:11} Likewise Jacob said: “Your truth, which you have fulfilled to your servant. With my lord in Seir.” {33:12} And Jacob said: “My lord, you know that I have with me tender little ones, and sheep, and cows with young. If I cause these to labor too much in walking, all the flocks will die in one day. {33:13} May it please my lord to let us go on together, and I will accompany you on your journey.” {33:14} And Jacob said: “My lord, you know that I have with me tender little ones, and sheep, and cows with young. If I cause these to labor too much in walking, all the flocks will die in one day. {33:15} May it please my lord to let us go on together, and I will accompany you on your journey.” {33:16} And so Esau returned that day, by the way that he had arrived, to Seir. {33:17} And Jacob went to Succoth, where, having built a house and pitched tents, he called the name of that place Succoth, that is, ‘Tents.’ {33:18} And he crossed over to Salem, a city of the Shechemites, which is in the land of Canaan, after he returned from Mesopotamia of Syria. And he lived near the town. {33:19} And he bought the part of the field in which he had pitched his tents from the sons of Hamor, the father of Shechem, for one hundred lambs. {33:20} And erecting an altar there, he invoked upon it the most strong God of Israel.
Shechem, the son of Hamor the Hivite, the leader of that land, had seen her, he fell in love with her. And so he seized her and slept with her, overwhelming the virgin by force. {34:3} And his soul was closely bound to her, and, since she was sorrowful, he soothed her with flattery. {34:4} And going on to Hamor, his father, he said, "Obtain this girl for me as a mate." {34:5} But when Jacob had heard this, since his sons were absent and he was occupied in pasturing the cattle, he remained silent until they came back. {34:6} Then, when Hamor, the father of Shechem, had gone out to speak to Jacob, {34:7} behold, his sons arrived from the field. And hearing what had happened, they were very angry, because he had done a filthy thing in Israel and, in violating a daughter of Jacob, had perpetrated an unlawful act. {34:8} And so Hamor spoke to them: "The soul of my son Shechem has become attached to your daughter. Give her to him as a wife. {34:9} And let us celebrate marriages with one another. Give us your daughters, and receive our daughters. {34:10} And live with us. The land is in your power: cultivate, trade, and possess it." {34:11} And Shechem even said to her father and to her brothers: "May I find favor in your sight, and whatever you will appoint, I will give. {34:12} Increase the dowry, and request gifts, and I will freely bestow what you will ask. Only give me this girl as a wife." {34:13} The sons of Jacob answered Shechem and his father with deceit, being enraged at the raped of their sister: {34:14} "We are not able to do what you ask, nor to give our sister to an uncircumcised man. For us, this is unlawful and abominable. {34:15} But we may succeed in this, so as to be allied with you, if you are willing to become like us, and if all the male sex among you will be circumcised. {34:16} Then we will mutually give and receive your daughters as well as ours; and we will live with you, and we will become one people. {34:17} But if you will not be circumcised, we will take our daughter and withdraw." {34:18} Their offer pleased Hamor and his son Shechem. {34:19} Neither did the young man cause any delay; in fact he immediately fulfilled what was requested. For he loved the girl very much, and he was well-known throughout his father's house. {34:20} And entering at the gate of the city, they spoke to the people: {34:21} "These men are peaceful, and they want to live among us. Let them trade in the land and cultivate it, for, being spacious and broad, it is in need of cultivation. We will receive their daughters as wives, and we will give them ours. {34:22} There is one thing that prevents so great a good: whether we will circumcise our males, imitating the ritual of their nation. {34:23} And their substance, and cattle, and all that they possess, will be ours, if only we will acquiesce to this, and so, in living together, will form one people." {34:24} And they all agreed to circumcise every one of the males. {34:25} And behold, on the third day, when the pain of the wound was greatest, two of the sons of Jacob, Simeon and Levi, the brothers of Dinah, boldly entered the city with swords. And they put to death all of the males. {34:26} They killed Hamor and Shechem together, taking their sister Dinah from the house of Shechem. {34:27} And when they had departed, the other sons of Jacob rushed over the slain, and they plundered the city in vengeance for the rape. {34:28} Taking their sheep, and herds, and donkeys, and laying waste to everything else that was in their houses and in their fields, {34:29} they also took their little ones and their wives captive. {34:30} When they had boldly completed these acts, Jacob said to Simeon and Levi: "You have troubled me, and you have made me hateful to the Canaanites and the Perizzites, the inhabitants of this land. We are few. They, gathering themselves together, may strike me down, and then both I and my house will be wiped away." {34:31} They responded, "Should they abuse our sister like a prostitute?"

[Genesis 35] {35:1} About this time, God said to Jacob, "Arise and go up to Bethel, and live there, and make an altar to God, who appeared to you when you fled from your brother Esau." {35:2} In truth, Jacob, having called together all his house, said: "Cast away the foreign gods that are in your midst and be cleansed, and also change your garments. {35:3} Arise, and let us go up to Bethel, so that we may make an altar there to God, who heeded me in the day of my tribulation, and who accompanied me on my journey."

{35:4} Therefore, they gave him all the foreign gods which they had, and the earrings which were in their ears. And then he buried them under the terebinth tree, which is beyond the city of Shechem. {35:5} And when they had set out, the terror of God invaded all the surrounding cities, and they dared not pursue them as they withdrew. {35:6} And so, Jacob arrived at Luz, which is in the land of Canaan, also named Bethel: he and all the people with him. {35:7} And he built an altar there, and he called the name of that place, 'House of God.' For there God appeared to him when he fled from his brother. {35:8} About the same time, Deborah, the nurse of Rebekah, died, and she was buried at the base of Bethel, under an oak tree. And the name of that place was called, 'Oak of Weeping.' {35:9} Then God appeared again to Jacob, after he returned from Mesopotamia of Syria, and he blessed him, {35:10} saying: "You will no longer be called Jacob, for your name shall be Israel." And he called him Israel. {35:11} And he said to him: "I am Almighty God: increase and multiply. Tribes and peoples of nations will be from you, and kings will go forth from your loins. {35:12} And the land that I gave to Abraham and Isaac, I will give to you, and to your offspring after you."

{35:13} And he withdrew from him. {35:14} In truth, he set up a monument of stone, in the place where God had spoken to him, pouring out libations over it, and pouring oil, {35:15} and he called the name of that place, 'Bethel.' {35:16} Then, departing from there, he arrived in springtime at the land that leads to Ephrath. And there, when Rachel was giving birth, {35:17} because it was a difficult birth, she began to be in danger. And the midwife said to her, "Do not be afraid, for you will have this son also." {35:18} Then, when her life was departing because of the pain, and death was now imminent, she called the name of her son Benoni, that is, the son of my pain. Yet truly, his father called him Benjamin, that is, the son of the right hand. {35:19} And so Rachel died, and she was buried in the way that leads to Ephrath: this place is Bethlehem. {35:20} And Jacob erected a monument over her sepulcher. This is the monument to Rachel's tomb, even to the present day. {35:21} Departing from there, he pitched his tent beyond the Tower of the Flock. {35:22} And when he was living in that region, Reuben went out, and he slept with Bilhah the concubine of his father, which was not such a small matter as to be hidden from him. Now the sons of Jacob were twelve. {35:23} The sons of Leah: Reuben the first born, and Simeon, and Levi, and Judah, and Issachar, and Zebulun. 35:24 The sons of Rachel: Joseph and Benjamin. 35:25 The sons of Bilhah, handmaid of Rachel: Dan and Naphtali. 35:26 The sons of Zilpah, handmaid of Leah: Gad and Asher. These are the sons of Jacob, who were born to him in Mesopotamia of Syria. 35:27 And then he went to his father Isaac in Mamre, the city of Arba: this place is Hebron, where Abraham and Isaac sojourned. 35:28 And the days of Isaac were completed: one hundred and eighty years. 35:29 And being consumed by old age, he died. And he was placed with his people, being old and full of days. And his sons, Esau and Jacob, buried him.

[Genesis 36] 36:1 Now these are the generations of Esau, who is Edom. 36:2 Esau took wives from the daughters of Canaan: Adah the daughter of Elon the Hittite, and Oholibamah the daughter of Anah, the daughter of Zibeon, sister of Nebaioth. 36:4 Then Adah bore Eliphaz. Basemath conceived Reuel. 36:5 Oholibamah conceived Jeush, and Jalam, and Korah. These are the sons of Esau, who were born to him in the land of Canaan. 36:6 Then Esau took his wives, and sons, and daughters, and every soul of his house, and his substance, and cattle, and whatever he was able to obtain in the land of Canaan, and he went into another region, withdrawing from his brother Jacob. 36:7 For they were very wealthy and were not able to live together. Neither was the land of their sojourn able to sustain them, because of the multitude of their flocks. 36:8 And Esau lived at mount Seir: he is Edom. 36:9 So these are the generations of Esau, the father of Edom, at mount Seir, and his borders. 36:10 And these are the names of his sons: Eliphaz the son of Adah, the wife of Esau, likewise Reuel, the son of Basemath, his wife. 36:11 And Eliphaz had sons: Teman, Omar, Zepho, and Gatam, and Kenez. 36:12 Now Timna was the concubine of Eliphaz, the son of Esau. And she bore him Amalek. These are the sons of Adah, the wife of Esau. 36:13 And the sons of Reuel were Nahath and Zerah, Shammah and Mizzah. These are the sons of Basemath, the wife of Esau. 36:14 Likewise, these were the sons of Oholibamah, the daughter of Anah, the daughter of Zibeon, the wife of Esau, whom she bore to him: Jeush, and Jalam, and Korah. 36:15 These were leaders of the sons of Esau, the sons of Eliphaz, the firstborn of Esau: leader Teman, leader Omar, leader Zepho, leader Kenez, 36:16 leader Korah, leader Gatam, leader Amalek. These are the sons of Eliphaz, in the land of Edom, and these the sons of Adah. 36:17 Likewise, these are the sons of Reuel, the son of Esau: leader Nahath, leader Zerah, leader Shammah, leader Mizzah. And these were the leaders of Reuel, in the land of Edom. These are the sons of Basemath, the wife of Esau. 36:18 Now these are the sons of Oholibamah, the wife of Esau: leader Jeush, leader Jalam, leader Korah. These were the leaders of Oholibamah, the daughter of Anah and the wife of Esau. 36:19 These are the sons of Esau, and these were their leaders: this is Edom. 36:20 These are the sons of Seir, the Horite, the inhabitants of the land: Lotan, and Shobal, and Zibeon, and Anah, 36:21 and Dishon, and Ezer, and Dishan. These were the leaders of the Horites, the sons of Seir, in the land of Edom. 36:22 Now Lotan produced sons: Horih and Heman. But the sister of Lotan was Timna. 36:23 And these are the sons of Shobal: Alvan, and Manahath, and Ebal, and Shepho, and Onam. 36:24 And these are the sons of Zibeon: Aiah and Anah. This is the Anah who found the hot springs in the wilderness, when he was pasturing the donkeys of his father Zibeon. 36:25 And he had a son Dishon, and a daughter Oholibamah. 36:26 And these are the sons of Dishon: Hemdan, and Esheban, and Ithran, and Cheran. 36:27 Likewise, these are the sons of Ezer: Bilhan, and Zavaan, and Akan. 36:28 Then Dishan had sons: Uz and Aran. 36:29 These were the leaders of the Horites: leader Lotan, leader Shobal, leader Zibeon, leader Anah, 36:30 leader Dishon, leader Ezer, leader Digan. These were leaders of the Horites who ruled in the land of Seir. 36:31 Now before the sons of Israel had a king, the kings who ruled in the land of Edom were these: 36:32 Bela the son of Beor, and the name of his city was Dinhabah. 36:33 Then Bela died, and Jobab, the son of Zerah from Bozrah, reigned in his place. 36:34 And when Jobab was dead, Husham of the land of the Temanites reigned in his place. 36:35 Likewise, this one having died, Hadad the son of Bedad reigned in his place. He struck down Midian in the region of Moab. And the name of his city was Avith. 36:36 And when Adad was dead, Salmah of Masrekah reigned in his place. 36:37 Likewise, this one being dead, Shaul of the river Rehoboth, reigned in his place. 36:38 And when he also had passed away, Baal-hanan, the son of Achbor, succeeded to the kingdom. 36:39 Likewise, this one being dead, Hadar reigned in his place; and the name of his city was Pau. And his wife was called Mehetabel, the daughter of Matred, daughter of Mezahab. 36:40 Therefore, these were the names of the leaders of Esau, by their families, and places, and in their vocabulary: leader Timna, leader Alphah, leader Jetheth, 36:41 leader Oholibamah, leader Elah, leader Pinon, 36:42 leader Kanez, leader Teman, leader Mibzar, 36:43 leader Magdiel, leader Iram. These were the leaders of Edom living in the land of their rule: this is Esau, the father of Idumea.
brothers, his father rebuked him, and he said: “What does it mean to you, this dream that you have seen? Should I, and your mother, and your brothers reverence you upon the earth?” {37:11} Therefore, his brothers were envious of him. Yet truly, his father considered the matter silently. {37:12} And while his brothers were lodging at Shechem, pasturing their father’s flocks, {37:13} Israel said to him: “Your brothers are pasturing the sheep at Shechem. Come, I will send you to them.” And when he answered, {37:14} “I am ready,” he said to him, “Go, and see if everything is prospering with your brothers and the cattle, and report to me what is happening.” So, having been sent from the valley of Hebron, he arrived at Shechem. {37:15} And a man found him wandering in a field, and he asked him what he was seeking. {37:16} So he responded: “I seek my brothers. Tell me where they pasture the flocks.” {37:17} And the man said to him: “They have withdrawn from this place. But I heard them saying, ‘Let us go to Dothan.’” Therefore, Joseph continued on after his brothers, and he found them at Dothan. {37:18} And, when they had seen him from afar, before he approached them, they decided to kill him. {37:19} And they said one to another: “Behold, the dreamer approaches. {37:20} Come, let us kill him and cast him into the old cistern. And let us say: ‘an evil wild beast has devoured him.’ And then it will become apparent what his dreams will do for him.” {37:21} But Reuben, on hearing this, strove to rescue him from their hands, and he said: {37:22} “Do not take away his life, nor shed blood. But throw him into this cistern, which is in the wilderness, and so keep your hands harmless.” But he said this, wanting to rescue him from their hands, so as to return him to his father. {37:23} And so, as soon as he came to his brothers, they very quickly stripped him of his tunic, which was ankle-length and woven of many colors, {37:24} and they cast him into an old cistern, which held no water. {37:25} And sitting down to eat bread, they saw some Ishmaelites, travelers coming from Gilead, with their camels, carrying spices, and resin, and oil of myrrh into Egypt. {37:26} Therefore, Judah said to his brothers: “What will it profit us, if we kill our brother and conceal his blood? {37:27} It is better that he be sold to the Ishmaelites, and then our hands will not be defiled. For he is our brother and our flesh.” His brothers agreed to his words. {37:28} And when the Midianite merchants were passing by, they drew him from the cistern, and they sold him to the Ishmaelites for twenty pieces of silver. And these led him into Egypt. {37:29} And Reuben, returning to the cistern, did not find the boy. {37:30} And rending his garments, he went to his brothers and said, “The boy is not present, and so where shall I go?” {37:31} Then they took his tunic, and they dipped it in the blood of a young goat, which they had killed, {37:32} sending those who carried it to their father, and they said: “We found this. See whether it is the tunic of your son or not.” {37:33} And when the father acknowledged it, he said: “It is the tunic of my son. An evil wild beast has eaten him; a beast has devoured Joseph.” {37:34} And tearing his garments, he was clothed in haircloth, mourning his son for a long time. {37:35} Then, when all of his sons gathered together to ease their father’s sorrow, he was not willing to accept consolation, but he said: “I will descend in mourning to my son in the underworld.” And while he persevered in weeping, {37:36} the Midianites in Egypt sold Joseph to Potiphar, a eunuch of Pharaoh, instructor of the soldiers.

[Genesis 38] {38:1} About the same time, Judah, descending from his brothers, turned toward an Adullamite man, named Hirah. {38:2} And he saw there the daughter of a man called Shua, of Canaan. And taking her as a wife, he entered to her. {38:3} And she conceived and bore a son, and she called his name Er. {38:4} And conceiving offspring again, having given birth to a son, she called him Onan. {38:5} Likewise, she bore a third, whom she called Shelah, after whose birth, she ceased to bear any more. {38:6} Then Judah gave a wife to his first born Er, whose name was Tamar. {38:7} And it also happened that Er, the first born of Judah, was wicked in the sight of the Lord and was killed by him. {38:8} Therefore, Judah said to his son Onan: “Enter to the wife of your brother, and associate with her, so that you may raise offspring to your brother.” {38:9} He, knowing that the sons to be born would not be his, when he entered to the wife of his brother, he spilled his seed on the ground, lest children should be born in his brother’s name. {38:10} And for this reason, the Lord struck him down, because he did a detestable thing. {38:11} Because of this matter, Judah said to his daughter-in-law Tamar, “Be a widow in your father’s house, until my son Shelah grows up.” For he was afraid, lest he also might die, just as his brothers did. She went away, and she lived in her father’s house. {38:12} Then, after many days had passed, the daughter of Shua, the wife of Judah, died. And when he accepted consolation after his mourning, he went up to the shearsers of his sheep at Timnah, he and Hirah, the herdsman of the Adullamite flock. {38:13} And it was reported to Tamar that her father-in-law had gone up to Timnah to shear the sheep. {38:14} And storing away the garments of her widowhood, she took up a veil. And changing her clothing, she sat at the crossroad that leads to Timnah, because Shelah had grown up, and she had not received him as a husband. {38:15} And when Judah saw her, he thought her to be a harlot. For she had covered her face, lest she be recognized. {38:16} And entering to her, he said, “Permit me to join with you.” For he did not know her to be his daughter-in-law. And she responded, “What will you give to me, to enjoy me as a concubine?” {38:17} He said, “I will send you a young goat from the flock.” And again, she said, “I will allow what you want, if you give me a pledge, until you may send what you promise.” {38:18} Judah said, “What do you want to be given for a pledge?” She responded, “Your ring and bracelet, and the staff that you hold in your hand.” Thereupon, the woman, from one sexual encounter, conceived. {38:19} And she arose and went away. And storing away the garments that she had taken up, she was clothed in the garments of her widowhood. {38:20} Then Judah sent a young goat by his shepherd, the Adullamite, so that he might receive the pledge that he had given to the woman. But, when he had not found her, {38:21} he questioned the men of that place: “Where is the woman who sat at the crossroad?” And they all responded, “There has been no harlot in this place.” {38:22} He returned to Judah, and he said to him: “I did not find her. Moreover, the men of that place told me that a prostitute had never sat there.” {38:23} Judah said: “Let her hold herself to blame. Certainly, she is not able to accuse us of a lie. I sent the young goat that I had promised, and you did not find her.” {38:24} And behold, after three months, they reported to Judah, saying, “Tamar, your daughter-in-law, has committed fornication and her abdomen appears to be enlarged.” And Judah said, “Produce her, so that she may be burned.” (38:25) But when she was led out to the punishment, she sent to her father-in-law, saying: “I conceived by the man to whom these things belong. Recognize whose ring, and bracelet, and staff this is.” (38:26) But he, acknowledging the gifts, said: “She is more just than I am. For I did not deliver her to my son Shelah.” However, he knew her no more. (38:27) Then, at the moment of birth, there appeared twins in the womb. And so, in the very delivery of the infants, one put forth a hand, on which the midwife tied a scarlet thread, saying, (38:28) “This one will go out first.” (38:29) But in truth, drawing back his hand, the other came out. And the woman said, “Why is this partition divided for you?” And for this reason, she called his name Perez. (38:30) After this, his brother came out, on whose hand was the scarlet thread. And she called him Zerah.

[Genesis 39] (39:1) Meanwhile, Joseph was led into Egypt. And Putiphar, a eunuch of Pharaoh, a leader of the army, an Egyptian man, purchased him from the hand of the Ishmaelites, by whom he was brought. (39:2) And the Lord was with him, and he was a man who prospered in everything that he did. And he lived in the house of his lord, (39:3) who knew very well that the Lord was with him, and that all the things that were done by him were directed by his hand. (39:4) And Joseph found favor in the sight of his lord, and he ministered to him. And, having been placed in charge of everything by him, he governed the house that was entrusted to him and all the things that had been delivered to him. (39:5) And the Lord blessed the house of the Egyptian, because of Joseph, and he multiplied all his substance, as much in the buildings, as in the fields. (39:6) Neither did he know anything other than the bread that he ate. Now Joseph was beautiful in form, and stately in appearance. (39:7) And so, after many days, his mistress cast her eyes on Joseph, and she said, “Sleep with me.” (39:8) And without consenting at all to the wicked act, he said to her: “Behold, my lord has delivered all things to me, and he does not know what he has in his own house. (39:9) Neither is there anything which is not in my power, or that he has not delivered to me, except you, for you are his wife. How then can I do this evil act and sin against my God?” (39:10) With such words as these, throughout each day, the woman was pestering the young man, and he was refusing the adultery. (39:11) Then it happened, on a certain day, that Joseph entered the house, and he was doing something, without any witnesses. (39:12) And she, grasping the hem of his garment, said, “Sleep with me.” But he, leaving behind the cloak in her hand, fled and went outside. (39:13) And when the woman saw the garment in her hands and herself being treated with disrespect, (39:14) she called to herself the men of her house, and she said to them: “Lo, he has brought in a Hebrew man to abuse us. He entered toward me, in order to join with me; and when I had shouted out, (39:15) and he had heard my voice, he left behind the cloak that I held, and he fled outside.” (39:16) As a proof, therefore, of her fidelity, she retained the cloak, and she showed it to her husband, when he returned home. (39:17) And she said: “The Hebrew servant, whom you have brought in to me, approached me to abuse me. (39:18) And when he had heard me cry out, he left behind the cloak that I held, and he fled outside.” (39:19) His lord, upon hearing these things, and having excessive trust in the words of his mate, was very angry. (39:20) And he delivered Joseph into prison, where the prisoners of the king were kept, and he was enclosed in that place. (39:21) But the Lord was with Joseph, and, having mercy on him, he gave him favor in the sight of the leader of the prison, (39:22) who delivered into his hand all the prisoners who were held in custody. And whatever was done, was under him. (39:23) Neither did he himself know anything, having entrusted all things to him. For the Lord was with him, and he directed everything that he did.

[Genesis 40] (40:1) While these things were going on, it happened that two eunuchs, the cupbearer of the king of Egypt, and the miller of grain, offended their lord. (40:2) And Pharaoh, being angry with them, (now the one was in charge of the cupbearers, the other of the millers of grain) (40:3) sent them to the prison of the leader of the military, in which Joseph also was a prisoner. (40:4) But the keeper of the prison delivered them to Joseph, who ministered to them also. Some little time passed by, while they were held in custody. (40:5) And they both saw a similar dream on one night, whose interpretations should be related to one another. (40:6) And when Joseph had entered to them in the morning, and had seen them sad, (40:7) he consulted them, saying, “Why is your expression sadder today than usual?” (40:8) They responded, “We have seen a dream, and there is no one to interpret it for us.” And Joseph said to them, “Doesn’t interpretation belong to God? Recount for me what you have seen.” (40:9) The chief cupbearer explained his dream first. “I saw before me a vine, (40:10) on which were three shoots, which grew little by little into buds, and, after the flowers, it matured into grapes. (40:11) And the cup of Pharaoh was in my hand. Therefore, I took the grapes, and I pressed them into the cup that I held, and I handed the cup to Pharaoh.” (40:12) Joseph responded: “This is the interpretation of the dream. The three shoots are the next three days, (40:13) after which Pharaoh will remember your service, and he will restore you to your former position. And you will give him the cup according to your office, as you were accustomed to do before. (40:14) Only remember me, when it will be well with you, and do me this mercy, to suggest to Pharaoh to lead me out of this prison. (40:15) For I have been stolen from the land of the Hebrews, and here, innocently, I was cast into the pit.” (40:16) The chief miller of grain, seeing that he had wisely unraveled the dream, said: “I also saw a dream: that I had three baskets of meal above my head, (40:17) and in one basket, which was the highest, I carried all foods that are made by the art of baking, and the birds ate from it.” (40:18) Joseph responded: “This is the interpretation of the dream. The three baskets are the next three days, (40:19) after which Pharaoh will carry away your head, and also suspend you from a cross, and the birds will tear your flesh.” (40:20) The third day thereafter was the birthday of Pharaoh. And making a great feast for his servants, he remembered, during the banquet, the chief cupbearer and the chief miller of grain. (40:21) And he restored the one to his place, to present him the cup; (40:22) the other he hanged on a gallows, and thus the truth of the interpreter of dreams was proven. (40:23) And although he advanced with so much prosperity, the chief cupbearer forgot his interpreter of dreams.
After two years, Pharaoh saw a dream. He thought himself to be standing above a river, from which ascended seven cows, exceedingly beautiful and stout. And they pastured in marshy places. Likewise, another seven emerged from the river, filthy and thoroughly emaciated. And they pastured on the same bank of the river, in green places. And they devoured those whose appearance and condition of body was so wonderful. Pharaoh, having been awakened, slept again, and he saw another dream. Seven ears of grain sprang up on one stalk, full and well-formed. Likewise, other ears of grain, of the same number, rose up, thin and struck with blight, devouring all the beauty of the first. Pharaoh, when he awakened after his rest, and when morning arrived, being terrified with fear, sent to all the interpreters of Egypt and to all of the wise men. And when they were summoned, he explained to them his dream; but there was no one who could interpret it. Then at last the chief cupbearer, remembering, said, “I confess my sin. The king, being angry with his servants, ordered me and the chief miller of grain to be forced into the prison of the leader of the military. There, in one night, both of us saw a dream presaging the future. In that place, there was a Hebrew, a servant of the same commander of the military, to whom we explained our dreams. Whatever we heard was proven afterwards by the event of the matter. For I was restored to my office, and he was suspended on a cross.” Immediately, by the king’s authority, Joseph was led out of prison, and they shaved him. And changing his apparel, they presented him to him. And he said to him, “I have seen dreams, and there is no one who can unfold them. I have heard that you are very wise at interpreting these.” Joseph responded, “Apart from me, God will respond favorably to Pharaoh.” Therefore, Pharaoh explained what he had seen: “I thought myself to be standing on the bank of a river, and seven cows climbed up from the river, exceedingly beautiful and full of flesh. And they grazed in a pasture of a marshy greenery. And behold, there followed after these, another seven cows, with such deformity and emaciation as I had never seen in the land of Egypt. These devoured and consumed the first, giving no indication of being full. But they remained in the same state of emaciation and squalor. Awakening, but being weighed down into sleep again, I saw a dream. Seven ears of grain sprang up on one stalk, full and very beautiful. Likewise, another seven, thin and struck with blight, rose up from the stalk. And they devoured the beauty of the first. I explained this dream to the interpreters, and there is no one who can unfold it.” Joseph responded: “The dream of the king is one. What God will do, he has revealed to Pharaoh. The seven beautiful cows, and the seven full ears of grain, are seven years of abundance. And so the force of the dreams is understood to be the same. Likewise, the seven thin and emaciated cows, which ascended after them, and the seven thin ears of grain, which were struck with the burning wind, are seven approaching years of famine. These will be fulfilled in this order. Behold, there will arise seven years of great fertility throughout the entire land of Egypt. After this, there will follow another seven years, of such great barrenness that all the former abundance will be delivered into oblivion. For the famine will consume all the land, and the greatness of this destitution will cause the greatness of the abundance to be lost. Now, as to what you saw the second time, it is a dream pertaining to the same thing. It is an indication of its firmness, because the word of God shall be done, and it shall be completed swiftly. Now therefore, let the king provide a wise and industrious man, and place him over the land of Egypt so that he may appoint overseers throughout all the regions. And let a fifth part of the fruits, throughout the seven fertile years that have already begun to occur, be gathered into storehouses. And let all the grain be stored away, under the power of Pharaoh, and let it be kept in the cities. And it let be prepared for the future famine of seven years, which will oppress Egypt, and then the land will not be consumed by destitution.” The counsel pleased Pharaoh and all his ministers. And he said to them, “Would we be able to find another such man, who is full of the Spirit of God?” Therefore, he said to Joseph: “Because God has revealed to you all that you have said, would I be able to find anyone wiser and as much like you? You will be over my house, and to the authority of your mouth, all the people will show obedience. Only in one way, in the throne of the kingdom, will I go before you.” And again, Pharaoh said to Joseph, “Behold, I have appointed you over the entire land of Egypt.” And he took the ring from his own hand, and he gave it into his hand. And he clothed him with a robe of fine linen, and he placed a necklace of gold around his neck. And he caused him to ascend upon his second swift chariot, with the herald proclaiming that everyone should bend their knee before him, and that they should know that he was governor over the entire land of Egypt. Likewise, the king said to Joseph: “I am Pharaoh: apart from your authority, no one will move hand or foot in all the land of Egypt.” And he changed his name and called him, in the Egyptian tongue: ‘Savior of the world.’ And he gave him as a wife, Asenath, the daughter of Potiphera, priest of Heliopolis. And so Joseph went out into the land of Egypt. (Now he was thirty years old when he stood in the sight of king Pharaoh.) And he traveled throughout the regions of Egypt. And the fertility of the seven years arrived. And when the grain fields were reduced to sheaves, these were gathered into the storehouses of Egypt. And now all the abundance of grain was stored away in every city. And there was such a great abundance of wheat that it was comparable to the sands of the sea, and its bounty exceeded all measure. Then, before the famine arrived, Joseph had two sons born, whom Asenath, the daughter of Potiphera, priest of Heliopolis, bore for him. And he called the name of the firstborn Manasseh, saying, “God has caused me to forget all my labors and the house of my father.” Likewise, he named the second Ephraim, saying, “God has caused me to increase in the land of my poverty.” And so, when the seven years of fertility that occurred in Egypt had passed, the seven years of destitution, which Joseph had predicted, began to arrive. And the famine prevailed throughout the whole world, but there was bread in all the land of Egypt. And being hungry, the people cried out to Pharaoh, asking for provisions. And he said to them: “Go to Joseph. And do whatever he will tell... you." {41:56} Then the famine increased daily in all the land. And Joseph opened all of the storehouses and sold to the Egyptians. For the famine had oppressed them also. {41:57} And all the provinces came to Egypt, to buy food and to temper the misfortune of their destitution.

[Genesis 42] {42:1} Then Jacob, hearing that food was being sold in Egypt, said to his sons: “Why are you negligent? {42:2} I have heard that wheat is being sold in Egypt. Go down and buy necessities for us, so that we may be able to live, and not be consumed by destitution.” {42:3} And so, when ten brothers of Joseph went down to buy grain in Egypt, {42:4} Benjamin was kept at home by Jacob, who said to his brothers, “Lest perhaps he may suffer harm on the journey.” {42:5} And they entered into the land of Egypt with the others who traveled to buy. For the famine was in the land of Canaan. {42:6} And Joseph was governor in the land of Egypt, and grain was sold under his direction to the people. And when his brothers had reverenced him {42:7} and he had recognized them, he spoke harshly, as if to foreigners, questioning them: “Where did you come from?” And they responded, “From the land of Canaan, to buy necessary provisions.” {42:8} And although he knew his brothers, he was not known by them. {42:9} And remembering the dreams, which he had seen in another time, he said to them: “You are scouts. You have come in order to see which parts of the land are weaker.” {42:10} And they said: “It is not so, my lord. But your servants have arrived in order to buy food. {42:11} We are all sons of one man. We have come in peace, nor do any of your subjects devise evil.” {42:12} And he answered them: “It is otherwise. You have come to examine the unguarded parts of this land.” {42:13} But they said: “We, your servants, are twelve brothers, the sons of one man in the land of Canaan. The youngest is with our father; the other is not living.” {42:14} He said: “This is just as I have said. You are scouts. {42:15} I will now continue to put you to the test. By the health of Pharaoh, you will not depart from here, until your youngest brother arrives. {42:16} Send one of you and bring him. But you will be in chains, until what you have said is proven to be either true or false. Otherwise, by the health of Pharaoh, you are scouts.” {42:17} Therefore, he delivered them into custody for three days. {42:18} Then, on the third day, he brought them out of prison, and he said: “Do as I have said, and you will live. For I fear God. {42:19} If you are peaceful, let one of your brothers be bound in prison. Then you may go away and carry the grain that you have bought to your houses. {42:20} And bring your youngest brother to me, so that I may be able to test your words, and you may not die.” They did as he had said, {42:21} and they spoke to one another: “We deserve to suffer these things, because we have sinned against our brother, seeing the anguish of his soul, when he begged us and we would not listen. For that reason, this tribulation has come upon us.” {42:22} And Reuben, one of them, said: “Did not I say to you, ‘Do not sin against the boy,’ and you would not listen to me? See, his blood is exacted.” {42:23} But they did not know that Joseph understood, because he was speaking to them through an interpreter. {42:24} And he turned himself away briefly and wept. And returning, he spoke to them. {42:25} And taking Simeon, and binding him in their presence, he ordered his ministers to fill their sacks with wheat, and to replace each one’s money in their sacks, and to give them, in addition, provisions for the way. And they did so. {42:26} Then, having loaded their donkeys with the grain, they set out. {42:27} And one of them, opening a sack to give his beast of burden fodder at the inn, looked upon the money at the sack’s mouth, {42:28} and he said to his brothers: “My money has returned to me. See, it is held in the sack.” And they were astonished and troubled, and they said to one another, “What is this that God has done to us?” {42:29} And they went to their father Jacob in the land of Canaan, and they explained to him all the things that had befallen them, saying: {42:30} “The lord of the land spoke harshly to us, and he considered us to be scouts of the province. {42:31} And we answered him: ‘We are peaceful, and we do not intend any treachery. {42:32} We are twelve brothers conceived of one father. One is not living; the youngest is with our father in the land of Canaan.’ {42:33} And he said to us: ‘Thus will I prove that you are peaceful. Release one of your brothers to me, and take necessary provisions for your houses, and go away, {42:34} and bring your youngest brother to me, so that I may know that you are not scouts. And this one, who is held in chains, you may be able to receive again. And thereafter, you shall have permission to buy what you want.’ ” {42:35} Having said this, when they poured out their grain, each found his money tied to the mouth of his sack. And all were terrified together. {42:36} Their father Jacob said, “You have caused me to be without children. Joseph is not living, Simeon is held in chains, and Benjamin you would carry away. All these evils have fallen back upon me.” {42:37} And Reuben answered him, “Put my two sons to death, if I do not lead him back to you. Deliver him into my hand, and I will restore him to you.” {42:38} But he said: “My son will not go down with you. His brother is dead, and he is left alone. If any adversity will befall him in the land to which you travel, you would lead my grey hairs down with sorrow to the grave.”

[Genesis 43] {43:1} Meanwhile, the famine pressed heavily on all the land. {43:2} And having consumed the provisions that they had brought out of Egypt, Jacob said to his sons, “Return and buy us a little food.” {43:3} Judah answered: “The man himself declared to us, under the attestation of an oath, saying: ‘You will not see my face, unless you bring your youngest brother with you.’ ” {43:4} If therefore you are willing to send him with us, we will travel together, and we will buy necessities for you. {43:5} But if you are not willing, we will not go. For the man, as we have often said, declared to us, saying: ‘You will not see my face without your youngest brother.’ ” {43:6} Israel said to them, “You have done this for my misery, in that you revealed to him that you also had another brother.” {43:7} But they responded: “The man questioned us in order, concerning our family: whether our father lived, if we had a brother. And we answered him respectively, according to what he demanded. How could we know that he would say, ‘Bring your brother with you?’ ” {43:8} Likewise, Judah said to his father: “Send the boy with me, so that we may set out and be able to live, lest we and our little ones should die. {43:9} I accept the boy; require him at my hand. Unless I lead him back and restore him to you, I will be guilty of a sin against you for all time. {43:10} If a delay had not intervened, by now we would have returned here a second time.” {43:11} Therefore, their father Israel said to them: “If it is necessary to do so, then do what you will. Take, in your vessels, from the best fruits of the land, and carry down gifts to the man: a little resin, and honey, and storax ointment, oil of myrrh, turpentine, and almonds. {43:12} Also, take with you double the money, and carry back what you found in your sacks, lest perhaps it was done in error. {43:13} But also take your brother, and go to the man. {43:14} Then may my Almighty God cause him to be pleased by you. And send your brother, whom he holds, back with you, along with this one, Benjamin. But as for me, without my children, I will be like one who is bereaved.” {43:15} Therefore, the men took the gifts, and double the money, and Benjamin. And they went down into Egypt, and they stood in the presence of Joseph. {43:16} And when he had seen them and Benjamin together, he instructed the steward of his house, saying: “Lead the men into the house, and kill victims, and prepare a feast, because they will be eating with me at midday.” {43:17} He did what he had been ordered to do, and he brought the men into the house. {43:18} And there, being terrified, they said one to another: “Because of the money, which we carried back the first time in our sacks, we have been brought in, so that he may unleash a false accusation against us, and by violence subjugate both us and our donkeys into servitude.” {43:19} For this reason, approaching the steward of the house at his door, {43:20} they said: “We beg you, lord, to hear us. We came down once before to buy food. {43:21} And having bought it, when we arrived at the inn, we opened our sacks and found the money in the mouths of the sacks, which we now have carried back in the same amount. {43:22} But we have also brought other silver, so that we may buy those things that are necessary for us. It is not on our conscience who had placed it in our bags.” {43:23} But he responded: “Peace be with you. Do not be afraid. Your God, and the God of your father, has given you the treasure in your sacks. As for the money that you gave to me, I held it as a test.” And he led Simeon out to them. {43:24} And having led them into the house, he brought water, and they washed their feet, and he gave fodder to their donkeys. {43:25} But they also prepared the gifts, until Joseph entered at midday. For they had heard that they would eat bread there. {43:26} And so Joseph entered his house, and they offered him the gifts, holding them in their hands. And they reverenced prone on the ground. {43:27} But he, gently greeting them again, questioned them, saying: “Is your father, the old man about whom you spoke to me, in good health? Is he still alive?” {43:28} And they answered: “Your servant, our father, is safe; he is still alive.” And bowing, they reverenced him. {43:29} Then Joseph, lifting up his eyes, saw Benjamin, his brother of the same womb, and he said, “Is this your little brother, about whom you spoke to me?” And again, he said, “May God be compassionate to you, my son.” {43:30} And he hurried out, because his heart had been moved over his brother, and tears gushed out. And going into his chamber, he wept. {43:31} And when he had washed his face, coming out again, he composed himself, and he said, “Set out bread.” {43:32} And when it was set out, separately for Joseph, and separately for his brothers, likewise separately for the Egyptians, who ate at the same time, (for it is unlawful for Egyptians to eat with Hebrews, and they consider feasting in this way to be profane) {43:33} they sat before him, the firstborn according to his birthright, and the youngest according to his state of life. And they wondered exceedingly, {43:34} taking the portions that they received from him. And the greater portion went to Benjamin, so much so that it exceeded five parts. And they drank and became inebriated along with him.

Genesis 44 {44:1} Then Joseph instructed the steward of his house, saying: “Fill their sacks with grain, as much as they are able to hold. And place each one’s money at the top of the sack. {44:2} But place my silver bowl, and the price that he gave for the wheat, in the mouth of the sack of the youngest.” And so it was done. {44:3} And when morning arose, they were sent away with their donkeys. {44:4} And now they had departed from the city and had set out a short distance. Then Joseph, sending for the steward of his house, said: “Rise up and pursue the men. And when you have overtaken them, say: ‘Why have you returned evil for good? {44:5} The cup that you have stolen, it is that from which my lord drinks, and in which he is accustomed to discern signs. You have done a very sinful thing.’ ” {44:6} He did as he had been ordered. And having overtaken them, he spoke to them according to the order. {44:7} And they responded: “Why does our lord speak in this way, as though your servants had committed such a shameful act? {44:8} The money, which we found at the top of our sacks, we carried back to you from the land of Canaan. So in what way does it follow that we would steal, from the house of your lord, gold or silver? {44:9} Whichever of your servants will be found to have what you seek, may he die, and we shall be the servants of your lord.” {44:10} And he said to them: “Let it be according to your verdict. With whomever it will be found, let him be my servant, but you will be unharmed.” {44:11} And so, they quickly placed their sacks down to the ground, and each one was opened. {44:12} And when he had searched, beginning with the oldest, all the way to the youngest, he found the cup in Benjamin’s sack. {44:13} But they, tearing their garments and burdening their donkeys again, returned to the town. {44:14} And Judah, first among his brothers, entered to Joseph (for he had not yet departed from the place) and together they all fell down before him to the ground. {44:15} And he said to them: “Why would you choose to act in this way? Could you be ignorant that there is no one like me in the knowledge of discerning signs?” {44:16} And Judah said to him, “What could we answer to my lord? And what would we be able to say, or to justly claim? God has discovered the iniquity of your servants. See, we have all become servants to my lord, both we, and he with whom the cup was found.” {44:17} Joseph responded: “Far be it from me that I should act in this way. He who stole the cup, he will be my servant. But you may go away free to your father.” {44:18} Then Judah, approaching closer, said confidently: “I beg you, my lord, let your servant speak a word in your ears, and do not be angry with your servant. For you are next to Pharaoh. {44:19} My lord, you questioned your servants before: ‘Do you have a father or a brother?’ {44:20} And we answered you, my lord: ‘There is our father, an old man, and a young boy, who was born in his old age. His brother of the same womb has died, and he alone is left to his mother and father, who truly love him tenderly.’ {44:21} And you said to your servants, ‘Bring him to me, and I will set my eyes on him.’ {44:22} We suggested to my lord: ‘The boy is not able to leave his father. For if he sends him away, he will die.’ {44:23} And you said to your servants: ‘Unless your youngest brother arrives with you, you will not see my face any more.’ {44:24} Therefore, when we had gone up to your servant our father, we explained to him all that my lord had spoken. {44:25} And our father said: ‘Return and buy us a little wheat.’ {44:26} And we said to him: ‘We cannot go. If our youngest brother descends with us, we will set out together. Otherwise, in his absence, we do not dare to see the face of the man.’ {44:27} To which he responded: ‘You know that my wife conceived twice by me. {44:28} One went out, and you said, “A beast devoured him.” And since then, he has not appeared. {44:29} If you take this one also, and anything happens to him on the way, you will lead my grey hairs down with grief to the grave.’ {44:30} Therefore, if I would have gone to your servant, our father, with the boy not present, (though his life depends upon the life of him) {44:31} and if he were to see that he is not with us, he would die, and your servants will lead his grey hairs down with sorrow to the grave. {44:32} Let me be your very own servant, for I accepted this one into my trust, and I promised, saying: ‘Unless I lead him back, I will be guilty of a sin against my father for all time.’ {44:33} And so I, your servant, will remain in place of the boy, in ministry to my lord, and then let the boy go up with his brothers. {44:34} For I cannot return to my father without the boy, lest I appear as a witness to the calamity that will oppress my father.”

[Genesis 45] {45:1} Joseph was unable to restrain himself any longer, standing before so many. Therefore, he instructed that all should go outside, and that no stranger should be among them as they recognized one another. {45:2} And he lifted up his voice with weeping, which the Egyptians heard, along with the entire house of Pharaoh. {45:3} And he said to his brothers: “I am Joseph. Is my father still alive?” His brothers were unable to respond, being terrified by a very great fear. {45:4} And he said to them mildly, “Approach toward me.” And when they had approached close by, he said: “I am Joseph, your brother, whom you sold into Egypt. {45:5} Do not be afraid, and let it not seem to you to be a hardship that you sold me into these regions. For God sent me before you into Egypt for your salvation. {45:6} For it is two years since the famine began to be upon the land, and five years more remain, in which there can be neither plowing, nor reaping. {45:7} And God sent me ahead, so that you may be preserved upon the earth, and so that you would be able to have food in order to live. {45:8} I was sent here, not by your counsel, but by the will of God. He has caused me to be like a father to Pharaoh, and to be the lord of his entire house, as well as governor throughout all the land of Egypt. {45:9} Hurry, and go up to my father, and say to him: ‘Your son Joseph commands this: God has caused me to be lord of the entire land of Egypt. Come down to me, do not delay, {45:10} and you will live in the land of Goshen. And you will be next to me, you and your sons and the sons of your sons, your sheep and your herds, and all that you possess. {45:11} And there I will pasture you, (for there are still five years of famine remaining) lest both you and your house perish, along with all that you possess.’ {45:12} Behold, your eyes and the eyes of my brother Benjamin can see that it is my mouth speaking to you. {45:13} You will report to my father about all my glory, and about all that you have seen in Egypt. Hurry, and bring him to me.” {45:14} And then falling upon the neck of his brother Benjamin, he embraced him and wept. And likewise, Benjamin wept at the same time on his neck. {45:15} And Joseph kissed all his brothers, and he cried over each one. After this, they were emboldened to speak to him. {45:16} And it was overheard, and the news spread by word throughout the king’s court. The brothers of Joseph had arrived, and Pharaoh was gladdened along with all his family. {45:17} And he told Joseph that he should command his brothers, saying: “ ‘Burden your beasts, and go into the land of Canaan,’ {45:18} and take from there your father and kindred, and come to me. And I will give you all the good things of Egypt, so that you may eat from the marrow of the land.’ ” {45:19} “And you may even instruct that they take wagons from the land of Egypt, in order to transport their little ones as well as their wives. And say: ‘Take your father, and come quickly, as soon as possible. {45:20} You need not give up anything from your household, for all the riches of Egypt will be yours.’ ” {45:21} And the sons of Israel did just as they were commanded. And Joseph gave them wagons, according to the command of Pharaoh, and provisions for the journey. {45:22} Likewise, he ordered two robes for each of them to be brought. Yet truly, to Benjamin he gave three hundred pieces of silver along with five of the best robes. {45:23} And he sent just as much money and clothing to his father, adding also ten male donkeys, with which to transport all the riches of Egypt, and as many female donkeys, carrying wheat and bread for the journey. {45:24} Thus he sent away his brothers, and as they set out he said, “Do not become angry on the way.” {45:25} And they ascended out of Egypt, and they arrived in the land of Canaan, to their father Jacob. {45:26} And they reported to him, saying: “Your son Joseph is alive, and he is ruler throughout all the land of Egypt. When Jacob heard this, he was stirred up, as if from a deep sleep, yet he did not believe them. {45:27} To the contrary, they explained the entire matter in order. And when he had seen the wagons, and all that he had sent, his spirit revived, {45:28} and he said: “It is enough for me, if my son Joseph is still alive. I will go and see him before I die.”

[Genesis 46] {46:1} And Israel, setting out with all that he had, arrived at the Well of the Oath. And sacrificing victims there to the God of his father Isaac, {46:2} he heard him, by a vision in the night, calling him, and saying to him: “Jacob, Jacob.” And he answered him, “Behold, here I am.” {46:3} God said to him: “I am the most strong God of your father. Do not be afraid. Descend into Egypt, for there I will make of you a great nation. {46:4} I will descend with you to that place, and I will lead you back from there, returning. Also, Joseph will place his hands over your eyes. {46:5} Then Jacob rose up from the Well of the Oath. And his sons took him, with their little ones and wives, in the wagons that Pharaoh had sent to carry the old man, {46:6} along with all that he possessed in the land of Canaan. And he arrived in Egypt with all his offspring: {46:7} his sons and his grandsons, his daughters and all his progeny together. {46:8} Now these are the names of the sons of Israel, who entered into Egypt, he with his children. The firstborn is Reuben. {46:9} The sons of Reuben: Hanoch and Pallu, and Hezron and Carmi. {46:10} The sons of Simeon: Jemuel and Jamin and Ohad, and Jachin and Zohar, and Shaul, the son of a Canaanite woman. {46:11} The sons of Levi: Gershon and Kohath, and Merari. {46:12} The sons of Judah: Er and Onan, and Shelah, and Perez and Zerah. Now Er and Onan died in the land of Canaan. And sons were born to Perez: Hezron and Hamul. {46:13} The sons of Issachar: Tola and Puvah, and Job and Shimron. {46:14} The sons of Zebulun: Sered and Elon and Jahleel. {46:15} These are the sons of Leah, whom she bore, along with his daughter Dinah, in Mesopotamia of Syria. All the souls of her sons and daughters are thirty-three. {46:16} The sons of Gad: Ziphion and Haggi, and Shuni and Ezbon, and Eri and Arodi, and Areli. {46:17} The sons of Asher: Imnah and Jesua, and Jessui and Beriah, and also their sister Sarah. The sons of Beria: Heber and Malchiel. {46:18} These are the sons of Zilpah, whom Laban gave to his daughter Leah. And these she bore to Jacob: sixteen souls. {46:19} The sons of Rachel, the wife of Jacob: Joseph and Benjamin. {46:20} And sons were born to Joseph in the land of Egypt, whom Asenath, the daughter of Potiphera, priest of Heliopolis, bore for him: Manasseh and Ephraim. {46:21} The sons of Benjamin: Bela and Becher, and Aschbel and Gera, and Naaman and Ehi, and Rosh and Moppim, and Huppim and Ard. {46:22} These are the sons of Rachel, whom she bore to Jacob: all these souls are fourteen. {46:23} The sons of Dan: Hushim. {46:24} The sons of Naphtali: Jahzeel and Guni, and Jezer and Shillem. {46:25} These are the sons of Bilhah, whom Laban gave to his daughter Rachel, and these she bore to Jacob: all these souls are seven. {46:26} All the souls who went into Egypt with Jacob and who went out from his thigh, besides the wives of his sons, were sixty-six. {46:27} Now the sons of Joseph, who were born to him in the land of Egypt, were two souls. All the souls of the house of Jacob, who went into Egypt, were seventy. {46:28} Then he sent Judah ahead of himself, to Joseph, in order to report to him, and so that he would meet him in Goshen. {46:29} And when he had arrived there, Joseph harnessed his chariot, and he went up to meet his father at the same place. And seeing him, he fell upon his neck, and, amid embraces, he wept. {46:30} And the father said to Joseph, "Now I will die happy, because I have seen your face, and I am leaving you behind alive."

And he said to his brothers and to all his father's house: "I will go up and report to Pharaoh, and I will say to him: 'My brothers, and my father's house, who were in the land of Canaan, have come to me. And these honorable men are pastors of sheep, and they have the task of feeding the flock. Their cattle, and herds, and all that they were able to hold, they have brought with them.' And when he will call you and will say, 'What is your work?' You will respond, 'Your servants are pastors of honor, from our infancy even to the present time, both we and our fathers.' Now you will say this so that you may be able to live in the land of Goshen, because the Egyptians detest all pastors of sheep."

[Genesis 47] {47:1} And so Joseph entered and reported to Pharaoh, saying: "My father and brothers, their sheep and herds, and everything that they possess, have arrived from the land of Canaan. And behold, they stand together in the land of Goshen." {47:2} Likewise, he stood in the sight of the king five men, the last of his brothers. {47:3} And he questioned them, "What do you have for work?" They responded: "Your servants are pastors of sheep, both we and our fathers. {47:4} We came to sojourn in your land, because there is no grass for the flocks of your servants, the famine being very grievous in the land of Canaan. And we petition you that you may order us, your servants, to be in the land of Goshen." {47:5} And so the king said to Joseph: "Your father and brothers have come to you. {47:6} The land of Egypt is in your sight. Cause them to live in the best place, and deliver to them the land of Goshen. And if you know there to be industrious men among them, appoint these as foremen over my cattle." {47:7} After this, Joseph brought in his father to the king, and he stood him in his sight. He blessed him, {47:8} and he questioned him: "How many are the days of your years?" {47:9} He responded, "The days of my sojourn are one hundred and thirty years, few and unworthy, and they do not reach even to the days of the sojourning of my fathers." {47:10} And blessing the king, he went outside. {47:11} Truly, Joseph gave his father and brothers a possession in Egypt, in the best place of the land, in Rameses, as Pharaoh had instructed. {47:12} And he fed them, along with all his father's house, providing portions of food to each one. {47:13} For in the whole world there was a lack of bread, and a famine had oppressed the land, most of all Egypt and Canaan, {47:14} from which he gathered together all the money for the grain that they bought, and he took it into the treasury of the king. {47:15} And when the buyers had run out of money, all Egypt came to Joseph, saying: "Give us bread. Why should we die in your sight, lacking money?" {47:16} And he responded to them: "Bring me your cattle, and I will give food to you in exchange for them, if you do not have money." {47:17} And when they had brought them, he gave them food for their horses, and sheep, and oxen, and donkeys. And he sustained them in that year in exchange for their cattle. {47:18} Likewise, they came the second year, and they said to him: "We will not conceal from our lord that our money is gone; likewise our cattle are gone. Neither are you unaware that we have nothing left but our bodies and our land. {47:19} Therefore, why should you watch us die? Both we and our land will be yours. Buy us into royal servitude, but provide seed, lest by the dying off of cultivators the land be reduced to a wilderness." {47:20} Therefore, Joseph bought all the land of Egypt, each one selling his possessions because of the magnitude of the famine. And he subjected it to Pharaoh, {47:21} along with all of its people, from the newest borders of Egypt, even to its furthest limits, {47:22} except the land of the priests, which had been delivered to them by the king. To these also a portion of food was supplied out of the public storehouses, and, for this reason, they were not compelled to sell their possessions. {47:23} Therefore, Joseph said to the people: "So, as you discern, both you and your lands are possessed by Pharaoh; take seed and sow the fields, {47:24} so that you may be able to have grain. One fifth part you will give to the king; the remaining four I permit to you, as seed and as food for your families and children. {47:25} And they responded: "Our health is in your hand; only let our lord look kindly upon us, and we will serve the king with gladness." {47:26} From that time, even to the present day, in the entire land of Egypt, the fifth part is turned over to the kings, and it has become like a law, except in the land of the priests, which was free from this condition. {47:27} And so, Israel lived in Egypt, that is, in the land of Goshen, and he possessed it.
And he increased and was multiplied exceedingly. [47:28] And he lived in it seventeen years. And all the days of his life that passed were one hundred and forty-seven years. [47:29] And when he discerned that the day of his death was approaching, he called his son Joseph, and he said to him: “If I have found favor in your sight, place your hand under my thigh. And you shall show me mercy and truth, not to bury me in Egypt. [47:30] But I shall sleep with my fathers, and you will carry me from this land and bury me in the sepulcher of my ancestors.” And Joseph answered him, “I will do what you have ordered.” [47:31] And he said, “Then swear it to me.” And as he was swearing, Israel adored God, turning to the head of his resting place.

[Genesis 48] [48:1] After these things were done, it was reported to Joseph that his father was sick. And taking his two sons Manasseh and Ephraim, he went directly to him. [48:2] And it was told to the old man, “Behold, your son Joseph is coming to you.” And being strengthened, he sat up in bed. [48:3] And when he had entered to him, he said: “Almighty God appeared to me at Luz, which is in the land of Canaan, and he blessed me. [48:4] And he said: ‘I will increase and multiply you, and I will make you influential among the people. And I will give this land to you, and to your offspring after you, as an everlasting possession.’ [48:5] Therefore, your two sons, who were born to you in the land of Egypt before I came here to you, will be mine. Ephraim and Manasseh will be treated by me just like Reuben and Simeon. [48:6] But the remainder, whom you will conceive after them, will be yours, and they will be called by the name of their brothers among their possessions. [48:7] As for me, when I came from Mesopotamia, Rachel died in the land of Canaan, and he blessed me. [48:8] And he said: ‘I will increase and multiply you, and I will make you influential among the people. And I will give this land to you, and to your offspring after you, as an everlasting possession.’ [48:9] He responded, “They are my sons, whom God gave to me as a gift in this place.” “Bring them to me,” he said, “so that I may bless them.” [48:10] For Israel’s eyes were clouded by reason of his great age, and he was unable to see clearly. And when they were placed up against him, he kissed and embraced them. [48:11] And he said to his son: “I have not been cheated out of seeing you. Moreover, God has shown me your offspring.” [48:12] And when Joseph had taken them from his father’s lap, he reverenced prone on the ground. [48:13] And he placed Ephraim on his right, that is, towards the left hand of Israel. Yet truly Manasseh was on his left, namely, towards his father’s right hand. And he placed them both up against him. [48:14] And he, extending his right hand, placed it over the head of Ephraim, the younger brother, but the left hand was on the head of Manasseh, who was the elder, so that his hands were crossed. [48:15] And Jacob blessed the sons of Joseph, and he said: “God, in whose sight my fathers Abraham and Isaac walked, God who pastured me from my youth until the present day, the Angel, who rescues me from all evils: bless these boys. And let my name be invoked over them, and also the names of my fathers, Abraham and Isaac. And may they increase into a multitude across the earth.” [48:17] But Joseph, seeing that his father had placed his right hand over the head of Ephraim, took it gravely. And grasping his father’s hand, he tried to lift it from Ephraim’s head and transfer it onto the head of Manasseh. [48:18] And he said to his father: “It should not have come to pass this way, father. For this one is the firstborn. Place your right hand over his head.” [48:19] But refusing, he said: “I know, my son, I know. And this one, indeed, will be among the people and will be multiplied. But his younger brother will be greater than he. And his offspring will increase among the nations.” [48:20] And he blessed them at that time, saying: “In you, Israel will be blessed, and it will be said: ‘May God treat you like Ephraim, and like Manasseh.’ ” And he established Ephraim before Manasseh. [48:21] And he said to his son Joseph: “See, I am dying, and God will be with you, and he will lead you back to the land of your fathers. [48:22] I give you one part beyond that of your brothers, which I took from the hand of the Amorite with my sword and my bow.”

[Genesis 49] [49:1] Then Jacob called his sons, and he said to them: “Gather together, so that I may announce what will happen to you in the last days. [49:2] Gather together and listen, O sons of Jacob. Listen to Israel, your father. [49:3] Reuben, my firstborn, you are my strength and the beginning of my sorrow: first in gifts, greater in authority. [49:4] You are being poured out like water, may you not increase. For you climbed onto your father’s bed, and you defiled his resting place. [49:5] The brothers Simeon and Levi: vessels of iniquity waging war. [49:6] Let not my soul go by their counsel, nor my glory be within their meeting. For in their fury they killed a man, and in their self-will they undermined a wall. [49:7] Cursed be their fury, because it was obstinate, and their indignation, because it was harsh. I will divide them in Jacob, and I will scatter them in Israel. [49:8] Judah, your brothers will praise you. Your hand will be at the necks of your enemies; the sons of your father will reverence you. [49:9] Judah is a lion’s young. You have gone up to the prey, my son. While resting, you have lain like a lion. And just like a lioness, who would rouse him? [49:10] The scepter from Judah and the leader from his thigh will not be taken away, until he who will be sent arrives, and he will be the expectation of Gentiles. [49:11] Tying his young colt to the vineyard, and his donkey, O my son, to the vine, he will wash his robe in wine, and his cloak in the blood of the grape. [49:12] His eyes are more beautiful than wine, and his teeth whiter than milk. [49:13] Zebulun will live at the seashore and by the outpost of ships, reaching as far as Sidon. [49:14] Issachar will be a strong donkey, reeling between the borders. [49:15] He saw that rest would be good, and that the land was excellent. And so he bent his shoulder to carry, and he became a servant under tribute. [49:16] Dan will judge his people just like any other tribe in Israel. [49:17] Let Dan be a snake in the way, a viper in the path, biting the hooves of horses, so that his rider may fall backward. [49:18] I will wait for your salvation, O Lord. [49:19] Gad, being girded, will fight before him. And he himself will be girded backward. [49:20] Asher: his bread will be fat, and he will provide delicacies to the kings. [49:21] Naphtali is a stag sent forth, offering words of eloquent beauty. [49:22] Joseph is a growing son, a growing son and stately to behold; the daughters run back and forth on the wall. [49:23] But those who held darts, provoked him, and they contend with him, and they envied him. [49:24] His bow sits in strength, and the bands of his arms and hands have been let loose by the hands of the mighty one of Jacob. From there he went forth as a pastor, the stone of Israel. {49:25} The God of your father will be your helper, and the Almighty will bless you with the blessings of heaven above, with the blessings of the abyss that lies beneath, with the blessings of the breasts and of the womb. {49:26} The blessings of your father are strengthened by the blessings of his fathers, until the desire of the hills of eternity shall arrive. May they be at the head of Joseph, and at the summit of the Nazarite, among his brothers. {49:27} Benjamin is a ravenous wolf, in the morning he will eat the prey, and in the evening he will divide the spoil." {49:28} All these are the twelve tribes of Israel. These things their father spoke to them, and he blessed each one with their proper blessings. {49:29} And he instructed them, saying: "I am being gathered to my people. Bury me with my fathers in the double cave, which is in the field of Ephron the Hittite, {49:30} opposite Mamre, in the land of Canaan, which Abraham bought, along with its field, from Ephron the Hittite, as a possession for burial. {49:31} There they buried him, with his wife Sarah." And there Isaac was buried with his wife Rebekah. There also Leah lies preserved. {49:32} And having finished these commands by which he instructed his sons, he drew his feet onto the bed, and he passed away. And he was gathered to his people.

[Genesis 50] {50:1} Joseph, realizing this, fell upon his father's face, weeping and kissing him. {50:2} And he instructed his servant physicians to embalm his father with aromatics. {50:3} And while they were fulfilling his orders, forty days passed. For this was the method of embalming dead bodies. And Egypt wept for him for seventy days. {50:4} And when the time for mourning was fulfilled, Joseph spoke to the family of Pharaoh: "If I have found favor in your sight, speak to the ears of Pharaoh. {50:5} For my father made me swear, saying: 'See, I am dying. You shall bury me in my sepulcher which I dug for myself in the land of Canaan.' Therefore, I shall go up and bury my father, and then return." {50:6} And Pharaoh said to him, "Go up and bury your father, just as he made you swear." {50:7} So as he went up, all the elders of the house of Pharaoh went with him, along with every patriarch in the land of Egypt, {50:8} and the house of Joseph with his brothers, except their little ones and flocks and also the herds, which they left behind in the land of Goshen. {50:9} Likewise, he had in his company chariots and horsemen. And it became a crowd without restraint. {50:10} And they arrived at the threshing place of Atad, which is situated beyond the Jordan. There they spent seven full days celebrating the funeral rites with a great and vehement lamentation. {50:11} And when the inhabitants of the land of Canaan had seen this, they said, "This is a great Lamentation for the Egyptians." And for this reason, the name of that place was called, "The Lamentation of Egypt." {50:12} And so, the sons of Jacob did just as he had instructed them. {50:13} And carrying him into the land of Canaan, they buried him in the double cave, which Abraham had bought along with its field, from Ephron the Hittite, as a possession for burial, opposite Mamre. {50:14} And Joseph returned into Egypt with his brothers and all those of his company, having buried his father. {50:15} Now that he was dead, his brothers were afraid, and they said to one another: "Perhaps now he may remember the injury that he suffered and requite us for all the evil that we did to him." {50:16} So they sent a message to him, saying: "Your father instructed us before he died, {50:17} that we should say these words to you from him: 'I beg you to forget the wickedness of your brothers, and the sin and malice that they practiced against you.' Likewise, we petition you to release the servants of the God of your father from this iniquity." Hearing this, Joseph wept. {50:18} And his brothers went to him. And reverencing prostrate on the ground, they said, "We are your servants." {50:19} And he answered them: "Do not be afraid. Are we able to resist the will of God? {50:20} You devised evil against me. But God turned it into good, so that he might exalt me, just as you presently discern, and so that he might bring about the salvation of many peoples. {50:21} Do not be afraid. I will pasture you and your little ones." And he consoled them, and he spoke mildly and leniently. {50:22} And he lived in Egypt with all his father's house; and he survived for one hundred and ten years. And he saw the sons of Ephraim to the third generation. Likewise, the sons of Machir, the son of Manasseh, were born onto Joseph's knees. {50:23} After these things happened, he said to his brothers: "God will visit you after my death, and he will make you ascend from this land into the land which he swore to Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob." {50:24} And when he had made them swear and had said, "God will visit you; carry my bones with you from this place," {50:25} he died, having completed one hundred and ten years of his life. And having been embalmed with aromatics, he was laid to rest in a coffin in Egypt.

 The Book of Exodus **

[Exodus 1] {1:1} These are the names of the sons of Israel, who went into Egypt with Jacob. They entered, each one with his house: {1:2} Reuben, Simeon, Levi, Judah, {1:3} Issachar, Zebulun, and Benjamin, {1:4} Dan and Naphtali, Gad and Asher. {1:5} Therefore, all the souls of those who went forth from Jacob's thigh were seventy. Now Joseph was in Egypt. {1:6} When he had died, along with all of his brothers and all of that generation, {1:7} the sons of Israel increased, and they multiplied like seedlings. And having been strengthened exceedingly, they filled the land. {1:8} Meanwhile, there arose a new king over Egypt, who was ignorant of Joseph. {1:9} And he said to his people: "Behold, the people of the sons of Israel are many, and they are stronger than we are. {1:10} Come, let us wisely oppress them, lest they multiply; and if any war should advance against us, they might depart from the land." {1:11} And so he set over them masters of the works, in order to afflict them with burdens. And they built for Pharaoh the cities of the tabernacles: Pithom and Raamses. {1:12} And the more they oppressed them, so much more did they multiply and increase. {1:13} And the Egyptians hated the sons of Israel, and they afflicted them and mocked them. {1:14} And they led their life directly into bitterness, with hard work in clay and brick, and with all kinds of servitude, so that they were being overwhelmed with the works of the land. {1:15} Then the king of Egypt spoke to the midwives of the Hebrews, (one of whom one was called Shiprah, another Puah) {1:16} instructing them: "When you will act as a midwife to the Hebrew women, and the time of delivery has arrived: if it is male, put it to death; if it is female, retain it.” {1:17} But the midwives feared God, and so they did not act according to the precept of the king of Egypt, but they kept the males safe. {1:18} And summoning them, the king said, “What did you intend to do, so that you would save the boys?” {1:19} They responded: “The Hebrew women are not like the Egyptian women. For they themselves have the wisdom of a midwife, and so they give birth before we can come to them.” {1:20} Therefore, God acted favorably toward the midwives. And the people increased, and they were strengthened exceedingly. {1:21} And because the midwives feared God, he built houses for them. {1:22} Therefore, Pharaoh instructed all his people, saying: “Whatever will be born of the male sex, cast it into the river; whatever will be born of the female sex, retain it.”

[Exodus 2] {2:1} After these things, a man from the house of Levi went out, and he took a wife from his own stock. {2:2} And she conceived and bore a son. And seeing him to be handsome, she hid him for three months. {2:3} And when she was no longer able to hide him, she took a small basket woven of bulrushes, and she smeared it with pitch as well as tar. And she placed the little infant inside, and she laid him in the sedges by the bank of the river. {2:4} His sister was standing at a distance and was wondering what would happen. {2:5} Then, behold, the daughter of Pharaoh descended to wash in the river. And her maids walked along the edge of the cove. And when she had seen the small basket among the papyruses, she sent one of her servants for it. And when it was brought, {2:6} she opened it; and realizing that within it was a little one crying, she took pity on him, and she said: “This is one of the infants of the Hebrews.” {2:7} And the sister of the boy said to her: “If you wish, I will go and call to you a Hebrew woman, who will be able nurse the infant.” {2:8} She responded, “Go.” The maid went directly and called her mother. {2:9} And the daughter of Pharaoh said to her: “Take this boy and nurse him for me. I will give you your wages.” The woman took and nursed the boy. And when he was mature, she delivered him to the daughter of Pharaoh. {2:10} And she adopted him in place of a son, and she called his name Moses, saying, “Because I took him from the water.” {2:11} In those days, after Moses had grown up, he went out to his brothers. And he saw their affliction and an Egyptian man striking a certain one of the Hebrews, his brothers. {2:12} And when he had looked around this way and that, and had seen no one nearby, he struck down the Egyptian and hid him in the sand. {2:13} And going out the next day, he spotted two Hebrews quarrelling violently. And he said to him who was causing the injury, “Why do you strike your neighbor?” {2:14} But he responded: “Who appointed you as leader and judge over us? Do you want to kill me, just as yesterday you killed the Egyptian?” Moses was afraid, and he said, “How has this word become known?” {2:15} And Pharaoh heard this talk, and he sought to kill Moses. But fleeing from his sight, he stayed in the land of Midian, and he sat down next to a well. {2:16} Now there was a priest of Midian with seven daughters, who came to draw water. And having filled the troughs, they desired to water their father’s flocks. {2:17} The shepherds overcame them and drove them away. And Moses rose up, and defending the girls, he watered their sheep. {2:18} And when they had returned to their father, Reuel, he said to them, “Why have you arrived sooner than usual?” {2:19} They responded: “A man of Egypt freed us from the hands of the shepherds. Moreover, he also drew water with us and gave the sheep to drink.” {2:20} But he said: “Where is he? Why have you dismissed the man? Call him, so that he may eat bread.” {2:21} Therefore, Moses swore that he would live with him. And he accepted his daughter Zipporah as a wife. {2:22} And she bore a son to him, whom he called Gershom, meaning, “I have been a newcomer in a foreign land.” In truth, she bore another, whom he called Eliezer, saying, “For the God of my father, my helper, has rescued me from the hand of Pharaoh.” {2:23} In truth, after a long time, the king of Egypt was dead. And the sons of Israel, groaning, cried out because of the works. And their cry ascended to God from the works. {2:24} And he heard their groaning, and he also remembered the covenant which he formed with Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob. {2:25} And the Lord looked with favor on the sons of Israel, and he knew them.

[Exodus 3] {3:1} Now Moses was pasturing the sheep of his father-in-law Jethro, a priest of Midian. And when he had driven the flock into the interior of the desert, he came to the mountain of God, Horeb. {3:2} And the Lord appeared to him in a flame of fire from the midst of a bush. And he saw that the bush was burning and was not burnt. {3:3} Therefore, Moses said, “I will go and see this great sight, why the bush is not burnt.” {3:4} Then the Lord, discerning that he proceeded on to see it, called to him from the midst of the bush, and he said, “Moses, Moses.” And he responded, “Here I am.” {3:5} And he said: “Lest you should approach here, remove the shoes from your feet. For the place on which you stand is holy ground.” {3:6} And he said, “I am the God of your father: the God of Abraham, the God of Isaac, and the God of Jacob.” Moses hid his face, for he dared not look directly at God. {3:7} And the Lord said to him: “I have seen the affliction of my people in Egypt, and I have heard their outcry because of the harshness of those who are over the works. {3:8} And knowing their sorrow, I have descended in order to free them from the hands of the Egyptians, and to lead them from that land into a good and spacious land, into a land which flows with milk and honey, to the places of the Canaanite, and Hittite, and Amorite, and Perizzite, and Hivite, and Jebusite. {3:9} And so, the outcry of the sons of Israel has come to me. And I have seen their affliction, with which they are oppressed by the Egyptians. {3:10} But come, and I will send you to Pharaoh, so that you may lead my people, the sons of Israel, out of Egypt.” {3:11} And Moses said to God, “Who am I that I should go to Pharaoh and that I should lead the sons of Israel out of Egypt?” {3:12} And he said to him: “I will be with you. And you will have this as a sign that I have sent you: When you will have brought my people out of Egypt, you will offer sacrifice to God upon this mountain.” {3:13} Moses said to God: “Behold, I will go to the sons of Israel, and I will say to them, ‘The God of your fathers has sent me to you.’ If they say to me, ‘What is his name?’ What shall I say to them?” {3:14} God said to Moses, “I AM WHO AM.” He said: “Thus shall you say to the sons of Israel: ‘HE WHO IS has sent me to you.’ ” {3:15} And God said again to Moses: “Thus shall you say to the sons of Israel: ‘The Lord God of your fathers, the God of Abraham, the God of Isaac, and the...
God of Jacob, has sent me to you.’ This is the name for me in eternity, and this is my memorial from generation to generation. {3:16} Go and gather together the elders of Israel, and you shall say to them: ‘The Lord God of your fathers, the God of Abraham, the God of Isaac, and the God of Jacob, has appeared to me, saying: When visiting, I have visited you, and I have seen all that has befallen you in Egypt. {3:17} And I have spoken in order to lead you out of the affliction of Egypt, into the land of the Canaanite, and Hittite, and Amorite, and Perizzite, and Jebusite, into a land flowing with milk and honey.’ {3:18} And they shall hear your voice. And you shall enter, you and the elders of Israel, to the king of Egypt, and you shall say to him: ‘The Lord God of the Hebrews has called us. We shall go three days’ journey into the wilderness, in order to offer sacrifice to the Lord our God.’ {3:19} But I know that the king of Egypt will not release you, unless you go out by a powerful hand. {3:20} For I will extend my hand, and I will strike Egypt with all my wonders that I will do in the midst of them. After these things, he will release you. {3:21} And I will grant favor to this people in the sight of the Egyptians. And so, when you go forth, you shall not go out empty. {3:22} But every woman shall ask of her neighbor and of her hostess vessels of silver and of gold, as well as garments. And you shall set them upon your sons and daughters, and you shall despoil Egypt.”

[Exodus 4] {4:1} Responding, Moses said, “They will not believe me, and they will not listen to my voice, but they will say: ‘The Lord has not appeared to you.’ ” {4:2} Therefore, he said to him, “What is that you hold in your hand?” He answered, “A staff.” {4:3} And the Lord said, “Cast it down upon the ground.” He cast it down, and it was turned into a snake, so that Moses fled away. {4:4} And the Lord said, “Reach out your hand, and take hold of its tail.” He reached out his hand and took hold, and it was turned into a staff. {4:5} “So may they believe,” he said, “that the Lord God of their fathers, the God of Abraham, the God of Isaac, and the God of Jacob, has appeared to you.” {4:6} And the Lord said again, “Put your hand into your bosom.” And when he had put it into his bosom, he brought it out leprous, resembling snow. {4:7} “Put your hand back,” he said, “into your bosom.” He put it back and brought it out again, and it was like the rest of his flesh. {4:8} “If they will not believe you,” he said, “and will not listen to the sermon of the first sign, then they will believe the word of the subsequent sign. {4:9} But if they will not believe even these two signs, and they will not listen to your voice: take from the water of the river, and pour it upon the dry land, and whatever you will have drawn from the river will be turned into blood.” {4:10} Moses said: “I beg you, O Lord, I was not eloquent yesterday or the day before. And from the time that you have spoken to your servant, I have a greater impediment and slowness of tongue.” {4:11} The Lord said to him: “Who made the mouth of man? And who has formed the mute and the deaf, the seeing and the blind? Was it not I? {4:12} Go on, therefore, and I will be in your mouth. And I will teach you what you shall say.” {4:13} But he said, “I beg you, O Lord, send whomever else you would send.” {4:14} The Lord, being angry at Moses, said: “Aaron the Levite is your brother. I know that he is eloquent. Behold, he is going out to meet you, and seeing you, he will rejoice in heart. {4:15} Speak to him, and put my words in his mouth. And I will be in your mouth and in his mouth, and I will reveal to you what you must do. {4:16} He will speak for you to the people, and he will be your mouth. But you will be with him in those things that pertain to God. {4:17} Also, take this staff into your hand; with it you will accomplish the signs.” {4:18} Moses went forth, and he returned to Jethro, his father in law, and he said to him, “I shall go and return to my brothers in Egypt, so that I may see if they are still alive.” And Jethro said to him, “Go in peace.” {4:19} And so the Lord said to Moses in Midian: “Go, and return to Egypt. For all those who sought your life have died.” {4:20} Therefore, Moses took his wife and his sons, and he placed them upon a donkey, and he returned into Egypt, carrying the staff of God in his hand. {4:21} And the Lord said to him, as he was returning to Egypt: “See that you accomplish, in the sight of Pharaoh, all the wonders that I have placed in your hand. I will harden his heart, and he will not release the people. {4:22} And you shall say to him: ‘Thus says the Lord: Israel is my firstborn son. {4:23} I have said to you: Release my son, so that he may serve me. And you were not willing to release him. Behold, I will put to death your firstborn son.’ ” {4:24} And while he was on the journey, at an inn, the Lord met him, and he was willing to kill him. {4:25} For this reason, Zipporah took a very sharp stone, and she circumcised the foreskin of her son, and she touched his feet, and she said, “You are a bloody spouse to me.” {4:26} And he released him, after she had said, “You are a bloody spouse,” because of the circumcision. {4:27} Then the Lord said to Aaron, “Go into the desert to meet Moses.” And he went directly to meet him on the mountain of God, and he kissed him. {4:28} And Moses explained to Aaron all the words of the Lord, by which he had sent him, and the signs which he had commanded. {4:29} And they arrived at the same time, and they gathered together all the elders of the sons of Israel. {4:30} And Aaron spoke all the words which the Lord had said to Moses. And he accomplished the signs in the sight of the people. {4:31} and the people believed. And they heard that the Lord had visited the sons of Israel, and that he had looked with favor upon their affliction. And falling prostrate, they worshiped.

[Exodus 5] {5:1} After these things, Moses and Aaron entered, and they said to Pharaoh: “Thus says the Lord God of Israel: Release my people, so that they may sacrifice to me in the desert.” {5:2} But he responded: “Who is the Lord, that I should listen to his voice and release Israel? I do not know the Lord, and I will not release Israel.” {5:3} And they said: “The God of the Hebrews has called us, so that we may go three days’ journey into the wilderness and sacrifice to the Lord our God. Otherwise, a pestilence or the sword may befall us.” {5:4} The king of Egypt said to them: “Why do you, Moses and Aaron, distract the people from their works? Go back to your burdens.” {5:5} And Pharaoh said: “The people of the land are many. You see that the turmoil has increased: how much more if you give them rest from the works?” {5:6} Therefore, on the same day, he instructed the overseers of the works, and the taskmasters of the people, saying: {5:7} “You shall no longer give chaff to the people to form bricks, as before. But they may go and gather straw. {5:8} And you shall impose upon them the same quota of bricks that they made before. Neither will you lessen anything, for they are idle, and therefore they cry out, saying: ‘We shall go and sacrifice to our God.’ {5:9} They shall be oppressed with works, and these shall occupy them, so that they may not agree to lying words.” {5:10} And so the overseers of the works and the taskmasters went out and said to the people: “Thus says Pharaoh: I give you no chaff. {5:11} Go, and collect it wherever you are able to find it. Neither will anything of your work be diminished.” {5:12} And the people were dispersed through all the land of Egypt, in order to gather straw. {5:13} Likewise, the overseers of the works pressured them, saying: “Complete your work each day, just as you were accustomed to do before, when straw was given to you.” {5:14} And those who were first in the works of the sons of Israel were scourged by Pharaoh’s taskmasters, saying: “Why have you not filled the quota of bricks, neither yesterday, nor today, just as before?” {5:15} And the first among the sons of Israel came, and they cried out to Pharaoh, saying: “Why do act against your servants in this way? {5:16} Straw is not given to us, and yet the same amount of bricks is commanded. So we, your servants, are cut up by scourging, and injustice is done against your people.” {5:17} And he said: “You are idle. And for this reason you say, ‘We shall go and sacrifice to the Lord.’ {5:18} Therefore, go and work. Straw will not be given to you, and you will return the customary number of bricks.” {5:19} And the first among the sons of Israel saw themselves in a crisis, because it was said to them, “Nothing at all will be lessened from the bricks throughout each day.” {5:20} And they met with Moses and Aaron, who stood opposite them as they departed from Pharaoh. {5:21} And they said to them: “May the Lord see and judge, because you have caused our odor to become foul before Pharaoh and his servants, and you have provided him with a sword, in order to kill us.” {5:22} And Moses returned to the Lord, and he said: “Lord, why have you afflicted this people? Why have you sent me? {5:23} For from the time that I entered to Pharaoh, so as to speak in your name, he has afflicted your people. And you have not freed them.”

[Exodus 6] {6:1} And the Lord said to Moses: “Now you will see what I shall do to Pharaoh. For through a strong hand he will release them, and by a mighty hand he will cast them from his land.” {6:2} And the Lord spoke to Moses, saying: “I am the Lord, {6:3} who appeared to Abraham, to Isaac, and to Jacob as Almighty God. And I did not reveal to them my name: ADONAI. {6:4} And I formed a covenant with them, in order to give them the land of Canaan, the land of their sojourning, in which they were newcomers. {6:5} I have heard the groaning of the sons of Israel, with which the Egyptians have oppressed them. And I have remembered my covenant. {6:6} For this reason, say to the sons of Israel: I am the Lord who will lead you away from the work house of the Egyptians, and rescue you from servitude, and also redeem you with an exalted arm and great judgments. {6:7} And I will take you to myself as my people, and I will be your God. And you will know that I am the Lord your God, who led you away from the work house of the Egyptians, {6:8} and who brought you into the land, over which I lifted up my hand in order to grant it to Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob. And I will grant it to you as a possession. I am the Lord.” {6:9} And so, Moses explained all these things to the sons of Israel, who did not agree with him, because of their anguish of spirit and very difficult work. {6:10} And the Lord spoke to Moses, saying: {6:11} “Enter and speak to Pharaoh, king of Egypt, so that he may release the sons of Israel from his land.” {6:12} Moses responded in the sight the Lord: “Behold, the sons of Israel do not listen to me. And how will Pharaoh listen to me, especially since I am of uncircumcised lips?” {6:13} And the Lord spoke to Moses and Aaron, and he gave them a commandment for the sons of Israel, and for Pharaoh, the king of Egypt, that they should lead the sons of Israel away from the land of Egypt. {6:14} These are the leaders of the houses by their families. The sons of Reuben, the firstborn of Israel: Hanoch and Pallu, Hezron and Carmi. {6:15} These are the kindred of Reuben. The sons of Simeon: Jemuel and Jamin, and Ohad, and Jachin, and Zohar, and Shaul, the son of a Canaanite women. These are the progeny of Simeon. {6:16} And these are the names of the sons of Levi by their kindred: Gershon, and Kohath, and Merari. Now the years of the life of Levi were one hundred and thirty-seven. {6:17} The sons of Gershon: Libni and Shimei, by their kindred. {6:18} The sons of Kohath: Amram, and Izhar, and Hebron and Uzziel. Likewise, the years of the life of Kohath were one hundred and thirty-three. {6:19} The sons of Merari: Mahli and Mushhe. These are the kindred of Levi by their families. {6:20} Now Amram took as a wife Jochebed, his paternal aunt, who bore for him Aaron and Moses. And the years of the life of Amram were one hundred and thirty-seven. {6:21} Likewise, the sons of Izhar: Korah, and Nepheg, and Zichri. {6:22} Likewise, the sons of Uzzziel: Mishael, and Elzaphan, and Sithri. {6:23} Now Aaron took as a wife Elisabeth, the daughter of Amminadab, sister of Nahshon, who bore for him Nadab, and Abihu, and Eleazar, and Ithamar. {6:24} Likewise, the sons of Korah: Assir, and Elkanah, and Abiasaph. These are the kindred of the Korahites. {6:25} And truly Eleazar, the son of Aaron, took a wife from the daughters of Putiel. And she bore him Phinehas. These are the heads of the Levitical families by their kindred. {6:26} These are Aaron and Moses, whom the Lord instructed to lead the sons of Israel away from the land of Egypt by their companies. {6:27} These are those who speak to Pharaoh, king of Egypt, in order to lead the sons of Israel out of Egypt. These are Moses and Aaron, {6:28} in the day when the Lord spoke to Moses in the land of Egypt. {6:29} And the Lord spoke to Moses, saying: “I am the Lord. Speak to Pharaoh, king of Egypt, all that I speak to you.” {6:30} And Moses said in the sight of the Lord: “Lo, I am of uncircumcised lips, how will Pharaoh listen to me?”

[Exodus 7] {7:1} And the Lord said to Moses: “Behold, I have appointed you as the god of Pharaoh. And Aaron, your brother, will be your prophet. {7:2} You will speak to him all that I command you. And he will speak to Pharaoh, so that he may release the sons of Israel from his land. {7:3} But I will harden his heart, and I will multiply my signs and wonders in the land of Egypt, {7:4} and he will not listen to you. And I will send my hand over Egypt, and I will lead my army and my people, the sons of Israel, from the land of Egypt, through very great judgments. {7:5} And the Egyptians will know that I am the Lord, who has extended my hand over Egypt, and who has led the sons of Israel from their midst.” {7:6} And so, Moses and Aaron did just as the Lord had instructed. And so it was done. {7:7} Now Moses was eighty years old, and Aaron eighty-three, when they spoke to Pharaoh. {7:8} And the Lord said to Moses and Aaron: {7:9} "When Pharaoh will say to you, 'Show signs,' you shall say to Aaron, 'Take your staff, and cast it down before Pharaoh, and it will be turned into a snake.' " {7:10} And so Moses and Aaron entered to Pharaoh, and they did just as the Lord had commanded. And Aaron took the staff in the sight of Pharaoh and his servants, and it was turned into a snake. {7:11} Then Pharaoh called the wise men and the sorcerers. And they also, by Egyptian incantations and certain secrets, did similarly. {7:12} And each one cast down their staffs, and they were turned into serpents. But the staff of Aaron devoured their staffs. {7:13} And the heart of Pharaoh was hardened, and he did not listen to them, just as the Lord had instructed. {7:14} Then the Lord said to Moses: "The heart of Pharaoh has been hardened; he is not willing to release the people. {7:15} Go to him in the morning; behold, he will go out to the waters. And you will stand to meet him above the bank of the river. And you will take, in your hand, the staff that was turned into a serpent. {7:16} And you will say to him: 'The Lord God of the Hebrews sent me to you, saying: Release my people in order to sacrifice to me. {7:17} For from the day that I came to speak to you through all your gods. For there is no one like the Lord our God. {8:10} And he responded, "Tomorrow." Then he said, "I will act according to your word, so that you may know that there is no one like the Lord our God. {8:11} And the Lord said to Moses: "Arise at first light, and say to Pharaoh: 'Thus says the Lord: Release my people so that they may sacrifice to me in the land of Goshen, where my people are, so that they may remain only in the river.' " {8:12} And Moses and Aaron departed from Pharaoh. And Moses cried out to the Lord on behalf of the promise that he had made to Pharaoh concerning the frogs. {8:13} And the Lord acted according to the word of Moses. And the frogs died out of the houses, and out of the villages, and out of the fields. {8:14} And they gathered them together into immense piles, and the land was polluted. {8:15} Then Pharaoh, seeing that relief had been provided, hardened his own heart, and he did not listen to them, just as the Lord had instructed. {8:16} And the Lord said to Moses: "Say to Aaron: 'Extend your staff and strike the earth, and let there be stinging insects throughout the entire land of Egypt.' " {8:17} And they did so. And Aaron extended his hand, holding the staff, and he struck the dust of the earth, and there came stinging insects upon men and upon beasts. All the dust of the earth was turned into stinging insects through all the land of Egypt. {8:18} And the sorcerers, with their incantations, did similarly, in order to bring forth stinging insects, but they were not able. And there were stinging insects, as much on men as on beasts. {8:19} And the sorcerers said to Pharaoh: "This is the finger of God." And the heart of Pharaoh was hardened, and he did not listen to them, just as the Lord had instructed. {8:20} The Lord also said to Moses: "Arise at first light, and stand in the sight of Pharaoh, for he will go out to the waters. And you will say to him: 'Thus says the Lord: Release my people to sacrifice to me.' " {8:21} But if you will not release them, behold, I will send upon you, and upon your servants, and from your people, and so that they may remain only in the river." {8:22} And in that day, I will cause a miracle in the land of Goshen, where my people are, so that flies will not be there. And you will know that I am the Lord in the midst of the earth. {8:23} And I will set a division between my people and your people. Tomorrow this sign will be." {8:24} And the Lord did so. And there came very grievous flies into the houses of Pharaoh and of his servants, and into all the land of Egypt. And the land was polluted, in this way, by the flies. {8:25} And Pharaoh called Moses and Aaron, and he said to them, "Go and sacrifice to your God in this land." {8:26} And Moses said: "It cannot be so. For we will immolate the abominations of the Egyptians to the Lord our God. For if we slaughter those things which the Egyptians worship, in their presence, they will stone us. [8:27] We will sojourn three days' journey into the wilderness. And we will sacrifice to the Lord our God, just as he has instructed us.” [8:28] And Pharaoh said: “I will release you in order to sacrifice to the Lord your God in the desert. Yet you may only go so far. Petition for me.” [8:29] And Moses said: “After departing from you, I will pray to the Lord. And the flies will withdraw from Pharaoh, and from his servants, and from his people, tomorrow. Yet do not be willing to deceive any longer, so that you would not release the people to sacrifice to the Lord.” [8:30] And Moses, departing from Pharaoh, prayed to the Lord. [8:31] And he acted according to his word. And he took away the flies from Pharaoh, and from his servants, and from his people. There was not even one left behind. [8:32] And the heart of Pharaoh was hardened, so that, even at this turn, he would not release the people.

[Exodus 9] [9:1] Then the Lord said to Moses: “Enter to Pharaoh, and say to him: ‘Thus says the Lord God of the Hebrews: Release my people, to sacrifice to me. [9:2] But if you still refuse, and you retain them, [9:3] behold, my hand will be over your fields. And a very grievous pestilence will be upon the horses, and the donkeys, and the camels, and the oxen, and the sheep. [9:4] And the Lord will cause a miracle between the possessions of Israel and the possessions of the Egyptians, so that nothing at all will perish from those things which belong to the sons of Israel.’” [9:5] And the Lord appointed a time, saying: “Tomorrow, the Lord will accomplish this word in the land.” [9:6] Therefore, the Lord accomplished this word the next day. And all the animals of the Egyptians died. Yet truly, of the animals of the sons of Israel, nothing at all perished. [9:7] And Pharaoh sent to see; neither was there anywhere dead of those things that Israel possessed. And the heart of Pharaoh was hardened, and he did not release the people. [9:8] And the Lord said to Moses and to Aaron: “Take handfuls of ashes from the oven, and let Moses sprinkle it into the air, in the sight of Pharaoh. [9:9] And let there be dust upon all the land of Egypt. For there will be sores and swelling pustules on men and on beasts, throughout the entire land of Egypt.” [9:10] And they took ashes from the oven, and they stood in the sight of Pharaoh, and Moses sprinkled it in the air. And there came sores with swelling pustules on men and on beasts. [9:11] Neither could the sorcerers stand in the sight of Moses, because of the sores that were on them and on all the land of Egypt. [9:12] And the Lord hardened the heart of Pharaoh, and he did not listen to them, just as the Lord said to Moses. [9:13] And the Lord said to Moses: “Rise up in the morning, and stand in the sight of Pharaoh, and you will see him: ‘Thus says the Lord God of the Hebrews: Release my people to sacrifice to me. [9:14] For at this turn, I will send all my plagues upon your heart, and upon your servants, and upon your people. So may you know that there is no one like me in all the earth. [9:15] For now, extending my hand, I shall strike you and your people with pestilence, and you will perish from the earth. [9:16] But it was for this reason that I appointed you, so that I may reveal my strength by you, and so that my name may be described throughout all the earth. [9:17] Do you still retain my people, and are you still unwilling to release them? [9:18] So then, tomorrow, at this same hour, I will rain down exceedingly great hail, such as has not been in Egypt from the day that it was founded, even until this present time. [9:19] Therefore, send immediately and gather together your cattle, and all that you have in the field. For men and beasts, and all things that will be found outside, not gathered in from the fields, and on which the hail will fall, shall die.” [9:20] He who feared the word of the Lord among the servants of Pharaoh caused his servants and cattle to flee together into the houses. [9:21] But he who neglected the word of the Lord released his servants and cattle into the fields. [9:22] And the Lord said to Moses: “Extend your hand into the sky, so that there may be hail in the entire land of Egypt, on men, and on beasts, and on every plant of the field in the land of Egypt.” [9:23] And Moses extended his staff into the sky, and the Lord sent thunder and hail, and also lightning dashing across the earth. And the Lord rained down hail upon the land of Egypt. [9:24] And the hail and intermingled fire drove on together. And it was of such magnitude as had never before been seen in the entire land of Egypt, from the time when that nation was formed. [9:25] And the hail struck, throughout all the land of Egypt, everything that was in the fields, from man even to beast. And the hail struck down every plant of the field, and it broke every tree of the region. [9:26] Only in the land of Goshen, where the sons of Israel were, did the hail not fall. [9:27] And Pharaoh sent and called Moses and Aaron, saying to them: “I have sinned even until now. The Lord is just. I and my people are impious. [9:28] Pray to the Lord, so that the thundering of God and the hail may cease, so that I may release you, and so that you may by no means remain here any longer.” [9:29] Moses said: “When I have departed from the city, I will extend my hands to the Lord, and the thunders will cease, and the hail will not be, so that you may know that the earth belongs to the Lord. [9:30] But I know that both you and your servants do not yet fear the Lord God.” [9:31] And so, the flax and the barley were damaged, because the barley was growing, and the flax was already developing grains. [9:32] But the wheat and the spelt were not damaged, because they were late. [9:33] And Moses, departing from Pharaoh out of the city, reached out his hands toward the Lord. And the thunders and hail ceased, neither did there drop any more rain upon the land. [9:34] Then Pharaoh, seeing that the rain, and the hail, and the thunders had ceased, added to his sin. [9:35] And his heart was weighed down, along with that of his servants, and it was hardened exceedingly. Neither did he release the sons of Israel, just as the Lord had instructed by the hand of Moses.

[Exodus 10] [10:1] And the Lord said to Moses: “Enter to Pharaoh. For I have hardened his heart, and that of his servants, so that I may accomplish these, my signs, in him, [10:2] and so that you may describe to the ears of your sons and your grandsons how often I opposed the Egyptians and wrought my signs among them, and so that you may know that I am the Lord.” [10:3] Therefore, Moses and Aaron entered to Pharaoh, and they said to him: “Thus says the Lord God of the Hebrews: How long will you be unwilling to be subject to me? Release my people to sacrifice to me. [10:4] But if you resist, and you are unwilling to release them, behold, tomorrow I will bring locusts into your borders. [10:5] And they shall cover the face of the earth, lest any part of it be seen. Yes, and what remains from the hail shall be eaten. For they will gnaw away all the trees that spring up in the fields. {10:6} And they will fill your houses, and those of your servants and of all the Egyptians: so many as your fathers and ancestors have not seen, from the time that they rose up over the earth, even until this present day." And he turned himself away, and he departed from Pharaoh. {10:7} Then the servants of Pharaoh said to him: "How long must we endure this scandal? Release the men, in order to sacrifice to the Lord their God. Do you not see that Egypt is perishing?" {10:8} And they called back Moses and Aaron to Pharaoh, who said to them: "Go, sacrifice to the Lord your God. Who are they who would go?" {10:9} Moses said: "We will travel with our little ones and our elderly, with our sons and daughters, with our sheep and herds. For it is a solemnity of the Lord our God." {10:10} And Pharaoh responded: "So let the Lord be with you. But if I were to release you and your little ones, who would doubt that you intend some great wickedness? {10:11} It will not be so. However, go only with the men, and sacrifice to the Lord. For this, too, is what you yourselves requested." And immediately they were cast out from the sight of Pharaoh. {10:12} Then the Lord said to Moses: "Extend your hand over the land of Egypt, toward the locusts, so that they may rise up over it, and devour every plant which remains from the hail." {10:13} And Moses extended his staff over the land of Egypt. And the Lord brought a burning wind all that day and night. And when morning came, the burning wind lifted up the locusts. {10:14} And they ascended over the entire land of Egypt. And they settled into all the parts of the Egyptians: innumerable, such as had not been before that time, nor ever would be thereafter. {10:15} And they covered the entire face of the land, laying waste to all things. And the plants of the land were devoured, along with whatever fruits were on the trees, which the hail had left behind. And nothing at all of the greenery remained on the trees or on the plants of the earth in all of Egypt. {10:16} For this reason, Pharaoh hurriedly called Moses and Aaron, and he said to them: "I have sinned against the Lord your God, and against you. {10:17} But now, release me from my sin even this time, and petition the Lord your God, so that he may take this death away from me." {10:18} And Moses, departing from the sight of Pharaoh, prayed to the Lord. {10:19} And he caused a very strong wind to blow from the west, and, seizing the locusts, it cast them into the Red Sea. There remained not so much as one in all the parts of Egypt. {10:20} And the Lord hardened the heart of Pharaoh; neither did he release the sons of Israel. {10:21} Then the Lord said to Moses: "Extend your hand into the sky. And let there be a darkness over the land of Egypt, so dense that they may be able to feel it." {10:22} And Moses extended his hand into the sky. And there came a horrible darkness in the entire land of Egypt for three days. {10:23} No one saw his brother, nor moved himself out of the place where he was. But wherever the sons of Israel were living, there was light. {10:24} And Pharaoh called Moses and Aaron, and he said to them: "Go, sacrifice to the Lord. Only let your sheep and herds remain behind. Your little ones may go with you." {10:25} Moses said: "You must also permit us victims and holocausts, which we may offer to the Lord our God. {10:26} All the flocks shall travel with us. Not one hoof of them shall remain behind. For they are necessary for the worship of the Lord our God, especially since we do not know what ought to be immolated, until we arrive at the very place." {10:27} But the Lord hardened the heart of Pharaoh, and he was not willing to release them. {10:28} And Pharaoh said to Moses: "Withdraw from me, and beware that you no longer see my face. On whatever day you will appear in my sight, you shall die." {10:29} Moses responded: "So be it, just as you have said. I will no longer see your face."

[Exodus 11] {11:1} And the Lord said to Moses: "I will touch Pharaoh and Egypt with one more plague, and after these things he will release you, and he will compel you to go out. {11:2} Therefore, you will tell all the people to ask, a man of his friend, and a woman of her neighbor, for vessels of silver and of gold. {11:3} Then the Lord will grant favor to his people in the sight of the Egyptians." And Moses was a very great man in the land of Egypt, in the sight of the servants of Pharaoh and of all the people. {11:4} And he said: "Thus says the Lord: 'In the middle of the night I will enter into Egypt. {11:5} And every firstborn in the land of the Egyptians shall die, from the firstborn of Pharaoh, who sits on his throne, even to the firstborn of the handmaid, who is at the millstone, and all the firstborn of the beasts of burden. {11:6} And there will be a great outcry throughout the entire land of Egypt, such as has not been before, nor ever will be afterward. {11:7} But among all the sons of Israel there shall not be even a mutter from a dog, from man, even to cattle, so that you may know how miraculously the Lord divides the Egyptians from Israel.' {11:8} And all these, your servants, shall descend to me and shall reverence me, by saying: 'Depart, you and all the people who are subject to you.' After these things, we will depart." {11:9} And he went out from Pharaoh exceedingly angry. Then the Lord said to Moses: "Pharaoh will not listen to you, so that many signs may be accomplished in the land of Egypt." {11:10} Now Moses and Aaron did all the wonders that are written, in the sight of Pharaoh. And the Lord hardened the heart of Pharaoh; neither did he release the sons of Israel from his land.

[Exodus 12] {12:1} The Lord also said to Moses and Aaron in the land of Egypt: {12:2} "This month will be for you the beginning of the months. It will be first in the months of the year. {12:3} Speak to the entire assembly of the sons of Israel, and say to them: On the tenth day of this month, let everyone take a lamb, by their families and houses. {12:4} But if the number is less than may suffice to be able to consume the lamb, he shall accept his neighbor, who has been joined with his house according to the number of souls that may suffice to be able to eat the lamb. {12:5} And it shall be a lamb without blemish, a one year old male. According to this rite, you shall also take a young goat. {12:6} And you shall keep it until the fourteenth day of this month. And the entire multitude of the sons of Israel shall immolate it toward evening. {12:7} And they shall take from its blood, and place it on both the door posts and the upper threshold of the houses, in which they will consume it. {12:8} And that night they shall eat the flesh, roasted by fire, and unleavened bread with wild lettuce. {12:9} You shall not consume anything from it raw, nor boiled in water, but only roasted by fire. You shall devour the head with its feet and entrails. {12:10} Neither shall there remain anything from it until morning. If anything will have been left over, you shall burn it with fire. {12:11} Now you shall consume it in this way:
You shall gird your waist, and you shall have shoes on your feet, holding staves in your hands, and you shall consume it in haste. For it is the Passover (that is, the Crossing) of the Lord. {12:12} And I will cross through the land of Egypt that night, and I will strike down all the firstborn in the land of Egypt, from man, even to cattle. And I will bring judgments against all the gods of Egypt. I am the Lord. {12:13} But the blood will be for you as a sign in the buildings where you will be. And I will see the blood, and I will pass over you. And the plague will not be with you to destroy, when I strike the land of Egypt. {12:14} Then you shall have this day as a memorial, and you shall celebrate it as a solemnity to the Lord, in your generations, as an everlasting devotion. {12:15} For seven days, you shall eat unleavened bread. On the first day there shall be no leaven in your houses. Whoever will consume anything leavened, from the first day, even until the seventh day, that soul shall perish from Israel. {12:16} The first day shall be holy and solemn, and the seventh day shall be venerated with the same festivity. You shall do no work in these days, except that which pertains to the eating. {12:17} And you shall observe the feast of unleavened bread. For on this same day, I will lead your army out of the land of Egypt, and you shall keep this day, in your generations, as a perpetual ritual. {12:18} In the first month, on the fourteenth day of the month, toward evening, you shall consume the unleavened bread, until the twenty-ninth day of the same month, toward evening. {12:19} For seven days, there shall not be found leaven in your houses. Whoever will eat leaven, his soul will perish from the assembly of Israel, as much with the newcomers as with the natives of the land. {12:20} You shall not consume any leaven. In all your dwelling places, you shall eat unleavened bread.” {12:21} Then Moses called all the elders of the sons of Israel, and he said to them: “Go, taking an animal by your families, and sacrifice the Passover. {12:22} And dip a little bundle of hyssop in the blood which is at the entrance, and sprinkle the upper threshold with it, and both of the door posts. Let none of you go out of the door of his house until morning. {12:23} For the Lord will cross through, striking the Egyptians. And when he will see the blood on the upper threshold, and on both the door posts, he will pass over the door of the house and not permit the Striker to enter into your houses or to do harm. {12:24} You shall keep this word as a law for you and for your sons, forever. {12:25} And when you have entered into the land that the Lord will give to you, just as he has promised, you shall observe these ceremonies. {12:26} And when your sons will say to you, ‘What is the meaning of this religious observance?’ {12:27} You shall say to them: ‘It is the victim of the crossing of the Lord, when he passed over the houses of the sons of Israel in Egypt, striking the Egyptians, and freeing our houses.’ ” And the people, bowing down, worshipped. {12:28} And the sons of Israel, departing, did just as the Lord had instructed Moses and Aaron. {12:29} Then it happened, in the middle of the night: the Lord struck down every firstborn in the land of Egypt, from the firstborn of Pharaoh, who sits on his throne, even to the firstborn of the captive woman who was in prison, and all the firstborn of the cattle. {12:30} And Pharaoh rose up in the night, and all his servants, and all of Egypt. And there arose a great outcry in Egypt. For there was not a house in which no one lay dead. {12:31} And Pharaoh, calling Moses and Aaron in the night, said: “Rise up and go forth from among my people, you and the sons of Israel. Go, sacrifice to the Lord, just as you say. {12:32} Your sheep and herds take along with you, as you requested, and as you go away, bless me.” {12:33} And the Egyptians urged the people to go away from the land quickly, saying, “We will all die.” {12:34} Therefore, the people took bread dough before it was leavened. And tying it in their cloaks, they placed it on their shoulders. {12:35} And the sons of Israel did just as Moses had instructed. And they petitioned the Egyptians for vessels of silver and of gold, and very many garments. {12:36} Then the Lord led the people in the sight of the Egyptians, so that they bestowed on them. And they despoiled the Egyptians. {12:37} And the sons of Israel set out from Rameses to Succoth, about six hundred thousand men on foot, besides little ones. {12:38} But also an innumerable mix of common people ascended with them, sheep and herds and animals of diverse kinds, exceedingly many. {12:39} And they baked the bread, which a little while ago they had taken out of Egypt as dough. And they made unleavened bread baked under ashes. For it was not able to be leavened, with the Egyptians compelling them to leave and not permitting them to cause any delay. Neither did they have occasion to prepare any meat. {12:40} Now the habitation of the sons of Israel, while they remained in Egypt, was four hundred and thirty years. {12:41} Having been completed, on the same day all the army of the Lord departed from the land of Egypt. {12:42} This night is a worthy observance of the Lord, when he led them out of the land of Egypt. This all the sons of Israel must observe in their generations. {12:43} And the Lord said to Moses and to Aaron: “This is the religious observance of the Passover. No foreigner shall eat from it. {12:44} But every bought servant shall be circumcised, and so he may eat from it. {12:45} The newcomer and the hired hand shall not eat from it. {12:46} In one house it shall be eaten; you shall not carry its flesh outside, nor shall you break its bone. {12:47} The entire assembly of the sons of Israel shall do this. {12:48} And if any sojourner will be willing to cross over into your settlement, and to keep the Passover of the Lord, all his males shall first be circumcised, and then he shall celebrate the rite. And he shall be just like a native of the land. But if any man is not circumcised, he shall not eat from it. {12:49} The law shall be the same for the native born and for the settler who sojourns with you.” {12:50} And all the sons of Israel did just as the Lord had instructed Moses and Aaron. {12:51} And on the same day, the Lord led the sons of Israel out of the land of Egypt by their companies.
in this month. {13:6} For seven days, you shall feed on unleavened bread. And on the seventh day, it will be the solemnity of the Lord. {13:7} You shall consume unleavened bread for seven days. There shall not be seen anything leavened with you, nor in all your parts. {13:8} And you will explain to your son in that day, saying: ‘This is what the Lord did for me when I was taken away from Egypt.’ {13:9} And it will be like a sign in your hand and like a memorial before your eyes. And so may the law of the Lord be always in your mouth. For with a strong hand, the Lord led you away from the land of Egypt. {13:10} You will keep this observance, at the established time, from day to day. {13:11} And when the Lord has brought you into the land of the Canaanite, just as he swore to you and to your fathers, and when he will give it you, {13:12} then you shall set aside for the Lord all that opens the womb and all that is first to go forth among your cattle. Whatever you will have of the male sex, you shall consecrate to the Lord. {13:13} The firstborn of a donkey you will exchange for a sheep. And if you will not redeem it, you shall put it to death. But every firstborn of man among your sons, you shall redeem with a price. {13:14} And when your son will question you tomorrow, saying, ‘What is this?’ you will respond, ‘With a strong hand the Lord led us away from the land of Egypt, from the house of servitude. {13:15} For when Pharaoh had been hardened and was unwilling to release us, the Lord killed every firstborn in the land of Egypt, from the firstborn of man, even to the firstborn of beasts. For this reason, I immolate to the Lord all of the male sex that opens the womb, and all the firstborn of my sons I redeem.’ {13:16} Therefore, it will be like a sign in your hand and like something hanging between your eyes as a remembrance, because with a strong hand the Lord has led us away from Egypt.’ {13:17} And so, when Pharaoh had sent the people away, God did not lead them by the way of the land of the Philistines, which is nearby, considering that perhaps they might relapse, if they saw wars rise up against them, and then they might return to Egypt. {13:18} But he led them around by the way of the desert, which is next to the Red Sea. And so the sons of Israel ascended, armed, out of the land of Egypt. {13:19} Also, Moses took the bones of Joseph with him, because he had sworn to the sons of Israel, saying: ‘God will visit you. Carry my bones away from here with you.’ {13:20} And setting out from Soccoth, they encamped at Etham, in the most distant parts of the wilderness. {13:21} Now the Lord preceded them to show them the way, by day with a pillar of cloud, and by night with a pillar of fire, so that he might be the leader of their journey at both times. {13:22} These never failed: a pillar of cloud by day, and a pillar of fire by night, in the sight of the people.

[Exodus 14] {14:1} Then the Lord spoke to Moses, saying: {14:2} “Speak to the sons of Israel. Let them turn back and encamp away from the region of Pihahiroth, which is between Migdol and the sea, opposite Baal-zephon. In its sight you shall place your camp, above the sea. {14:3} And Pharaoh will say about the sons of Israel, ‘They have been confined by the land; the desert has enclosed them.’ {14:4} And I will harden his heart, and so he will pursue you. And I will be glorified in Pharaoh, and in all his army. And the Egyptians will know that I am the Lord.” And they did so. {14:5} And it was reported to the king of the Egyptians that the people had fled. And the heart of Pharaoh and of his servants was changed about the people, and they said, “What did we intend to do, so that we released Israel from serving us?” {14:6} Therefore, he harnessed his chariot, and he took all his people with him. {14:7} And he took six hundred chosen chariots, and whatever chariots were in Egypt, and also the leaders of the whole army. {14:8} And the Lord hardened the heart of Pharaoh, king of Egypt, and he pursued the sons of Israel. But they were taken away by an exalted hand. {14:9} And when the Egyptians followed the footsteps of those who preceded them, they found them in a camp above the sea. All the horses and chariots of Pharaoh, and the entire army, were in Pihahiroth, opposite Baal-zephon. {14:10} And when Pharaoh had drawn near, the sons of Israel, lifting up their eyes, saw the Egyptians behind them. And they were very afraid. And they cried out to the Lord. {14:11} And they said to Moses: “Perhaps there were no graves in Egypt, for which reason you took us to die in the wilderness. What is it that you intended to do, in leading us out of Egypt? {14:12} Is this not the word that we spoke to you in Egypt, saying: Withdraw from us, so that we may serve the Egyptians? For it was much better to serve them, than to die in the wilderness.” {14:13} And Moses said to the people: “Do not be afraid. Stand firm and see the great wonders of the Lord, which he will do today. For the Egyptians, whom you now see, will never again be seen, forever. {14:14} The Lord will fight on your behalf, and you will remain silent.” {14:15} And the Lord said to Moses: “Why cry out to me? Tell the sons of Israel to continue on. {14:16} Now, lift up your staff, and extend your hand over the sea and divide it, so that the sons of Israel may walk through the midst of the sea on dry ground. {14:17} Then I will harden the heart of the Egyptians, so as to pursue you. And I will be glorified in Pharaoh, and in all his army, and in his chariots, and in his horsemen. {14:18} And the Egyptians will know that I am the Lord, when I will be glorified in Pharaoh, and in his chariots, as well as in his horsemen.” {14:19} And the Angel of God, who preceded the camp of Israel, lifting himself up, went behind them. And the pillar of cloud, together with him, left the front for the rear {14:20} and stood between the camp of the Egyptians and the camp of Israel. And it was a dark cloud, yet it illuminated the night, so that they could not succeed at approaching one another at any time all that night. {14:21} And when Moses had extended his hand over the sea, the Lord took it away by an intense burning wind, blowing throughout the night, and he turned it into dry ground. And the water was divided. {14:22} And the sons of Israel went in through the midst of the dried sea. For the water was like a wall at their right hand and at their left hand. {14:23} And the Egyptians, pursuing them, went in after them, along with all of the horses of Pharaoh, his chariots and horsemen, through the midst of the sea. {14:24} And now the morning watch had arrived, and behold, the Lord, looking down upon the camp of the Egyptians through the pillar of fire and of cloud, put to death their army. {14:25} And he overturned the wheels of the chariots, and they were carried into the deep. Therefore, the Egyptians said: “Let us flee from Israel. For the Lord fights on their behalf against us.” {14:26} And the Lord said to Moses: “Extend your hand over the sea, so that the waters may return on the Egyptians, over their chariots and horsemen.” {14:27} And when Moses had extended his hand opposite the sea, it was returned, at first light, to its former place. And the fleeing Egyptians met with the waters, and the Lord immersed them in the midst of the waves. {14:28} And the waters were returned, and they covered the chariots and horsemen of the entire army of Pharaoh, who, in following, had entered into the sea. And not so much as one of them was left alive. {14:29} But the sons of Israel continued directly through the midst of the dried sea, and the waters were to them like a wall on the right and on the left. {14:30} And so the Lord freed Israel on that day from the hand of the Egyptians. {14:31} And they saw the Egyptians dead on the shore of the sea and the great hand that the Lord had exercised against them. And the people feared the Lord, and they believed in the Lord and in Moses his servant.

[Exodus 15] {15:1} Then Moses and the sons of Israel sang this song to the Lord, and they said: “Let us sing to the Lord, for he has been gloriously magnified: the horse and the rider, he has cast into the sea. {15:2} The Lord is my strength and my praise, and he has become my salvation. He is my God, and I shall glorify him. He is the God of my father, and I shall exalt him. {15:3} The Lord is like a fighting man. Almighty is his name. {15:4} The chariots of Pharaoh, and his army, he has cast into the sea; his elect leaders have been submerged in the Red Sea. {15:5} The abyss has covered them. They descended into the depths like a stone. {15:6} Your right hand, O Lord, has been magnified in strength. Your right hand, O Lord, has struck down the enemy. {15:7} And in the multitude of your glory you have put down your adversaries. You sent out your wrath, which devoured them like stubble. {15:8} And by the breath of your fury, the waters were gathered together. The flowing waves stood still. The abyss was gathered into the midst of the sea. {15:9} The enemy said: ‘I will pursue and overtake them. I will divide the spoils. My soul will be filled. I will unsheathe my sword. My hand will put them to death.’ {15:10} Your breath blew, and the sea covered them. They were submerged like lead into the mighty waters. {15:11} Who is like you in strength, O Lord? Who is like you: magnificent in sanctity, terrible and yet praiseworthy, accomplishing miracles? {15:12} You extended your hand, and the earth devoured them. {15:13} In your mercy, you have been a leader to the people whom you have redeemed. And in your strength, you have carried them to your holy dwelling place. {15:14} Peoples rose up and became angry. Sorrows took hold of the inhabitants of Philistia. {15:15} Then the leaders of Edom were stirred up, and trembling took hold of the robust of Moab. All the inhabitants of Canaan were petrified. {15:16} Let fear and dread fall upon them, by the magnitude of your arm. Let them become immobile like stone, until your people cross through, O Lord, until this, your people whom you possess, cross through. {15:17} You shall lead them in and plant them, on the mountain of your inheritance, in your most firm dwelling place, which you have formed, O Lord, your sanctuary, O Lord, which your hands have made firm. {15:18} The Lord will reign in eternity and beyond. {15:19} For the rider Pharaoh, with his chariots and horsemen, was brought into the sea. And the Lord brought back upon them the waters of the sea. But the sons of Israel walked across dry ground in its midst.” {15:20} And so Miriam, the prophetess, the sister of Aaron, took up a timbrel in her hand. And all the women followed her with timbrels and dancing. {15:21} And she prophesied, saying: “Let us sing to the Lord, for he has been gloriously magnified. The horse and its rider, he has thrown into the sea.” {15:22} Then Moses took Israel from the Red Sea, and they went forth into the desert of Shur. And they wandered for three days through the wilderness, and they found no water. {15:23} And they arrived at Marah. They were unable to drink the waters of Marah because they were bitter. Therefore, he also established a name befitting the place, calling it ‘Marah,’ that is, bitterness. {15:24} And the people murmured against Moses, saying: “What shall we drink?” {15:25} So he cried out to the Lord, who showed him a tree. And when he had cast it into the waters, they were turned into sweetness. In that place, he established instructions for him, and also judgments. And he tested him there, {15:26} saying: “If you will listen to the voice of the Lord your God, and do what is right in his sight, and obey his commands, and keep all his precepts, I will not bring upon you any of the distress that I imposed on Egypt. For I am the Lord, your healer.” {15:27} Then the sons of Israel arrived in Elim, where there were twelve fountains of water and seventy palm trees. And they camped next to the waters.

[Exodus 16] {16:1} And they set out from Elim. And the entire multitude of the sons of Israel arrived at the desert of Sin, which is between Elim and Sinai, on the fifteenth day of the second month, after they departed from the land of Egypt. {16:2} And the entire congregation of the sons of Israel murmured against Moses and Aaron in the wilderness. {16:3} And the sons of Israel said to them: “If only we had died by the hand of the Lord in the land of Egypt, when we sat around bowls of meat and ate bread until filled. Why have you led us away, into this desert, so that you might kill the entire multitude with famine?” {16:4} Then the Lord said to Moses: “Behold, I will rain down bread from heaven for you. Let the people go out and collect what is sufficient for each day, so that I may test them, as to whether or not they will walk in my law. {16:5} But on the sixth day, let them prepare what they use for carrying, and let there be double what they were accustomed to collect on a single day.” {16:6} And Moses and Aaron said to the sons of Israel: “In the evening, you will know that the Lord has led you away from the land of Egypt. {16:7} And in the morning, you will see the glory of the Lord. For he has heard your murmuring against the Lord. But as for us, truly what are we, that you would whisper against us?” {16:8} And Moses said: “In the evening, the Lord will give you flesh to eat, and in the morning, bread in fullness. For he has heard your murmuring that you have murmured against him. For what are we? Your murmuring is not against us, but against the Lord.” {16:9} Moses also said to Aaron: “Say to the whole congregation of the sons of Israel, ‘Approach before the Lord. For he has heard your murmuring.’ ” {16:10} And when Aaron spoke to the entire assembly of the sons of Israel, they looked out toward the wilderness. And behold, the glory of the Lord appeared in a cloud. {16:11} Then the Lord spoke to Moses, saying: {16:12} “I have heard the murmuring of the sons of Israel. Say to them: ‘In the evening, you will eat flesh, and in the morning, you will be filled with bread. And you shall know that I am the Lord your God.’ ” {16:13} Therefore, it happened in the evening: quails, rising up, covered the camp. Likewise, in the morning, a dew lay all around the camp. {16:14} And when it had covered the face of the earth, it appeared, in the wilderness, small and as if crushed with a pestle, similar to hoar-frost on the ground. [16:15] When the sons of Israel had seen it, they said one to another: “Manuh?” which means “What is this?” For they did not know what it was. And Moses said to them: “This is the bread that the Lord has given you to eat. [16:16] This is the word that the Lord has instructed. Let each one collect as much of it as is sufficient to eat. One omer for each head. According to the number of your souls which live in a tent, so will you take of it.” [16:17] And the sons of Israel did so. And they collected: some more, others less. [16:18] And they measured by the measure of an omer. He who collected more, did not have too much; nor did he who prepared less, find too little. But each one gathered according to what they were able to eat. [16:19] And Moses said to them, “Let no one leave any of it behind until morning.” [16:20] And they did not listen to him, but they left some of it behind until morning, and it began to swarm with worms, and it putrefied. And Moses became angry against them. [16:21] Then each one collected, in the morning, as much as would be sufficient to eat. And after the sun became hot, it melted. [16:22] But on the sixth day, they collected a double portion, that is, two omers for each man. Then all the leaders among the multitude came, and they discoursed with Moses. [16:23] And he said to them: “This is what the Lord has spoken: Tomorrow, the rest day of the Sabbath, has been sanctified to the Lord. Whatever would be done, do it now. And whatever would be cooked, cook it now. Then anything that will have been left over, store it until morning.” [16:24] And they did just as Moses had instructed, and it did not putrefy, nor were there any worms found in it. [16:25] And Moses said: “Eat it today, because it is the Sabbath of the Lord. Today it will not be found in the field. [16:26] Gather for six days. But on the seventh day, it is the Sabbath of the Lord, for which reason it will not be found.” [16:27] And the seventh day arrived. And some of the people, going out to collect it, did not find it. [16:28] Then the Lord said to Moses: “How long will you be unwilling to keep my commandments and my law? [16:29] See how the Lord has given you the Sabbath, and, because of this, on the sixth day he distributes to you a double portion. Let each one remain with his own, and let no one go forth from his place on the seventh day.” [16:30] And the people kept the Sabbath on the seventh day. [16:31] And the house of Israel called its name ‘Manna.’ It was like white coriander seed, and its taste was like wheat flour with honey. [16:32] Then Moses said: “This is the word that the Lord has instructed: Fill an omer of it, and let it be kept for future generations hereafter, so that they may know the bread, with which I nourished you in the wilderness, when you had been led away from the land of Egypt.” [16:33] And Moses said to Aaron, “Take one vessel, and put manna into it, as much as an omer is able to hold. And store it in the sight of the Lord, to keep for your generations, [16:34] just as the Lord instructed Moses.” And so, Aaron placed it in the tabernacle, in reserve. [16:35] Now the sons of Israel ate manna for forty years, until they arrived in a habitable land. With this food they were nourished, even until they touched the borders of the land of Canaan. [16:36] Now an omer is a tenth part of an ephah.

[Exodus 17] [17:1] And so, the entire multitude of the sons of Israel, having set out from the desert of Sin in stages, according to the word of the Lord, made camp at Rephidim, where there was no water for the people to drink. [17:2] And arguing against Moses, they said, “Give us water, so that we may drink.” And Moses answered them: “Why argue against me? For what reason do you tempt the Lord?” [17:3] And so the people were thirsty in that place, due to the scarcity of water, and they murmured against Moses, saying: “Why did you cause us to go out of Egypt, so as to kill us and our children, as well as our cattle, with thirst?” [17:4] Then Moses cried out to the Lord, saying: “What shall I do with this people? A little while more and they will stone me.” [17:5] And the Lord said to Moses: “Go before the people, and take with you some of the elders of Israel. And take in your hand the staff, with which you struck the river, and advance. [17:6] Lo, I will stand in that place before you, on the rock of Horeb. And you shall strike the rock, and water will go forth from it, so that the people may drink.” Moses did so in the sight of the elders of Israel. [17:7] And he called the name of that place ‘Temptation,’ because of the arguing of the sons of Israel, and because they tempted the Lord, saying: “Is the Lord with us, or not?” [17:8] And Amalek came and fought against Israel at Rephidim. [17:9] And Moses said to Joshua: “Choose men. And when you go out, fight against Amalek. Tomorrow, I will stand at the top of the hill, holding the staff of God in my hand.” [17:10] Joshua did as Moses had spoken, and he fought against Amalek. But Moses and Aaron and Hur ascended to the top of the hill. [17:11] And when Moses lifted up his hands, Israel prevailed. But when he released them a little while, Amalek overcame. [17:12] Then the hands of Moses became heavy. And so, taking a stone, they placed it beneath him, and he sat on it. Then Aaron and Hur sustained his hands from both sides. And it happened that his hands did not tire until the setting of the sun. [17:13] And Joshua put to flight Amalek and his people by the edge of the sword. [17:14] Then the Lord said to Moses: “Write this, as a memorial in a book, and deliver it to the ears of Joshua. For I will wipe away the memory of Amalek from under heaven.” [17:15] And Moses built an altar. And he called its name, ‘The Lord, my Exaltation.’ For he said: [17:16] “The hand of the throne of the Lord, and the war of the Lord, will be against Amalek from generation to generation.”

[Exodus 18] [18:1] And when Jethro, the priest of Midian, the kinsman of Moses, had heard all that God had done for Moses, and for his people Israel, and that the Lord had led Israel away from Egypt, [18:2] he brought Zipporah, the wife of Moses, whom he was to return to him, [18:3] and her two sons, of whom one was called Gershom, (for his father said, “I have been a newcomer in a foreign land,”) [18:4] and the other in truth was Eliezer, (“For the God of my father,” he said, “is my helper, and has rescued me from the sword of Pharaoh.”) [18:5] And so Jethro, the kinsman of Moses, with his sons and his wife, came to Moses in the desert, where he was encamped next to the mountain of God. [18:6] And he sent word to Moses, saying: “I, Jethro, your kinsman, have come to you, with your wife, and your two sons with her.” [18:7] And going out to meet his kinsman, he reverenced and kissed him. And they saluted each other with peaceful words. And when he had arrived at the tent, [18:8] Moses explained to his kinsman all that the Lord had done to Pharaoh and to the Egyptians on behalf of Israel, and all the hardships which had befallen them on the journey, and how the Lord had freed them. {18:9} And Jethro was gladdened over all the good that the Lord had done for Israel, because he had rescued them from the hand of the Egyptians. {18:10} And he said: “Blessed is the Lord, who has freed his people from the hand of the Egyptians and from the hand of Pharaoh; he has rescued his people from the hand of Egypt. {18:11} Now I know that the great Lord is above all gods. This is why they acted arrogantly against them.” {18:12} And so Jethro, the kinsman of Moses, offered holocausts and sacrifices to God. And Aaron arrived with all the elders of Israel, in order to eat bread with him in the sight of God. {18:13} Then, the next day, Moses sat down in order to judge the people, and they stood beside Moses from morning, even until evening. {18:14} And when, of course, his kinsman saw all that he did among the people, he said: “What is this that you do among the people? Why do you sit alone, while all the people stand before you, from morning, even until evening?” {18:15} And Moses answered him: “The people come to me seeking the verdict of God. {18:16} And when any kind of dispute occurs among them, they come to me to judge between them, and to reveal the precepts of God and of his laws.” {18:17} But he said, “This is not good, what you are doing. {18:18} You will be consumed by foolish efforts, both you and this people who are with you. The task is beyond your strength; you will not be able bear it alone. {18:19} But listen to my words and counsel, and then God will be with you. Be available to the people in that which pertains to God, so as to refer what they say to him, {18:20} and to reveal to the people the ceremonies, and the rituals of worship, and the way by which they should progress, and the work that they should do. {18:21} Then provide, from all of the people, men capable and fearing God, in whom there is truth and who hate avarice, and appoint from them tribunes, and leaders of hundreds, and of fifties, and of tens, {18:22} who may judge the people at all times. Then, when anything greater will have occurred, they may refer it to you, and let them judge the lesser matters only. And so it may be lighter for you, the burden being divided among others. {18:23} If you will do this, you will fulfill the orders of God, and you will be able to uphold his precepts. And this entire people will return to their places in peace.” {18:24} Having heard this, Moses did everything that he had suggested to him. {18:25} And choosing virtuous men from all of Israel, he appointed them as leaders of the people: tribunes, and leaders of hundreds, and of fifties, and of tens. {18:26} And they judged the people at all times. But whatever was more serious, they referred to him, and they judged easier matters only. {18:27} And he dismissed his kinsman, who, turning back, went to his own land.

[Exodus 19] {19:1} In the third month of the departure of Israel from the land of Egypt, in that day, they arrived in the wilderness of Sinai. {19:2} Thus, setting out from Raphidim, and going directly to the desert of Sinai, they encamped in the same place, and there Israel pitched their tents away from the region of the mountain. {19:3} Then Moses ascended to God. And the Lord called to him from the mountain, and he said: “This you shall say to the house of Jacob, and announce to the sons of Israel: {19:4} ‘You have seen what I have done to the Egyptians, in what way I carried you upon the wings of eagles and how I have taken you for myself. {19:5} If, therefore, you will hear my voice, and you will keep my covenant, you will be to me a particular possession out of all people. For all the earth is mine. {19:6} And you will be to me a priestly kingdom and a holy nation.’ These are the words that you will speak to the sons of Israel.” {19:7} Moses went, and calling together those greater by birth among the people, he set forth all the words which the Lord had commanded. {19:8} And all the people responded together: “Everything that the Lord has spoken, we shall do.” And when Moses had related the words of the people to the Lord, {19:9} the Lord said to him: “Soon now, I will come to you in the mist of a cloud, so that the people may hear me speaking to you, and so that they may believe you continuously.” Therefore, Moses reported the words of the people to the Lord, {19:10} who said to him: “Go to the people, and sanctify them today and tomorrow, and let them wash their garments. {19:11} And let them be prepared on the third day. For on the third day, the Lord will descend, in the sight of all the people, over Mount Sinai. {19:12} And you will establish limits for the people all around, and you will say to them: ‘Take care not to ascend to the mountain, and that you do not touch its parts. All who touch the mountain, shall die a death.’ {19:13} Hands shall not touch him, but he shall be crushed with stones, or he shall be pierced through with darts. Whether it be a beast or a man, he shall not live. For when the trumpet begins to sound, perhaps they might go up toward the mountain.” {19:14} And Moses came down from the mountain to the people, and he sanctified them. And when they had washed their garments, {19:15} he said to them, “Be prepared on the third day, and do not draw near to your wives.” {19:16} And now, the third day arrived and the morning dawned. And behold, thunders began to be heard, and also lightning flashed, and a very dense cloud covered the mountain, and the noise of the trumpet resounded vehemently. And the people who were in the camp were fearful. {19:17} And when Moses had led them out to meet God, from the place of the camp, they stood at the base of the mountain. {19:18} Then all of Mount Sinai was smoking. For the Lord had descended over it with fire, and smoke ascended from it, as from a furnace. And the entire mountain was terrible. {19:19} And the sound of the trumpet gradually increased to be louder, and extended to be longer. Moses was speaking, and God was answering him. {19:20} And the Lord descended over Mount Sinai, to the very top of the mountain, and he called Moses to its summit. And when he had ascended there, {19:21} he said to him: “Descend, and call the people to witness, lest they might be willing to transgress the limits, so as to see the Lord, and a very great multitude of them might perish. {19:22} Likewise, the priests who approach toward the Lord, let them be sanctified, lest he strike them down.” {19:23} And Moses said to the Lord: “The people are not able to ascend to Mount Sinai. For you testified, and you commanded, saying: ‘Set limits around the mountain, and sanctify it.’ ” {19:24} And the Lord said to him, “Go, descend. And you shall ascend, and Aaron with you. But let not the priests or the people transgress the limits, nor ascend to the Lord, lest perhaps he may put them to death.” {19:25} And Moses descended to the people, and he explained everything to them.
[Exodus 20] 20:1 And the Lord spoke all these words: 20:2 "I am the Lord your God, who led you away from the land of Egypt, out of the house of servitude. 20:3 You shall not have strange gods before me. 20:4 You shall not make for yourself a graven image, nor a likeness of anything that is in heaven above or on earth below, nor of those things which are in the waters under the earth. 20:5 You shall not adore them, nor shall you worship them. I am the Lord your God: strong, zealous, visiting the iniquity of the fathers on the sons to the third and fourth generation of those who hate me, and showing mercy to thousands of those who love me and keep my precepts. 20:6 And the Sabbath of the Lord your God. You shall not do any work in it: you and your son and your daughter, your male servant and your female servant, your beast and the newcomer who is within your gates. 20:7 You shall not take the name of the Lord your God falsely. Remember that you are to sanctify the day of the Sabbath. 20:8 For six days, you will work and accomplish all your tasks. 20:9 But the seventh day is the Sabbath of the Lord your God. You shall not do any work in it: you and your son and your daughter, your male servant and your female servant, your beast and the newcomer who is within your gates. 20:10 For in six days the Lord made heaven and earth, and the sea, and all the things that are in them, and so he rested on the seventh day. For this reason, the Lord has blessed the day of the Sabbath and sanctified it. 20:11 Honor your father and your mother, so that you may have a long life upon the land, which the Lord your God will give to you. 20:12 You shall not commit adultery. 20:13 You shall not murder. 20:14 You shall not make a graven image, nor any likeness of anything that is in heaven above or on earth below, nor of those things which are in the waters under the earth. 20:15 But the seventh day is the Sabbath of the Lord your God. You shall not do any work in it: you and your son and your daughter, your male servant and your female servant, your beast and the newcomer who is within your gates. 20:16 You shall not speak false testimony against your neighbor. 20:17 You shall not covet the house of your neighbor; neither shall you desire his wife, nor male servant, nor female servant, nor ox, nor donkey, nor anything that is his." 20:18 Then all the people considered the voices, and the lights, and the sound of the trumpet, and the smoking mountain. And being terrified and struck with fear, they stood at a distance, 20:19 saying to Moses: "Speak to us, and we will listen. Let not the Lord speak to us, lest perhaps we may die." 20:20 And Moses said to the people: "Do not be afraid. For God came in order to test you, and so that the dread of him might be with you, and you would not sin." 20:21 And the people stood far away. But Moses approached toward the mist, in which was God. 20:22 Thereafter, the Lord said to Moses: "This you shall say to the sons of Israel: You have seen that I have spoken to you from heaven. 20:23 You shall not make gods of silver, nor shall you make for yourselves gods of gold. 20:24 You shall make an altar from the earth for me, and you shall offer upon it your holocausts and peace-offerings, your sheep and oxen, in every place where the memory of my name shall be. I will come to you, and I will bless you. 20:25 And if you make an altar of stone for me, you shall not build it from cut stones; for if you lift up a tool over it, it will be defiled. 20:26 You shall not ascend by steps to my altar, lest your nakedness be revealed.

[Exodus 21] 21:1 "These are the judgments which you shall place before them: 21:2 If you buy a Hebrew servant, six years shall he serve you; in the seventh, he shall depart freely, without charge. 21:3 With whatever clothing he arrived, with the like let him depart. If he has a wife, his wife also shall depart, at the same time. 21:4 But if his lord gave him a wife, and she has borne sons and daughters, the woman and her children shall belong to her lord. Yet still, he himself will go out with his clothing. 21:5 And if the servant shall say, 'I love my lord, and my wife and children, I will not depart freely,' 21:6 then his lord shall make an offering for him to the heavens, and it shall be applied to the door and the posts, and he will pierce his ear with an awl. And he shall be his servant in perpetuity. 21:7 If anyone sells his daughter to be a servant, she shall not depart as a female servant is accustomed to go out. 21:8 If she displeases the eyes of her lord, to whom she had been delivered, he shall dismiss her. But he shall have no authority to sell her to a foreign people, even if he despises her. 21:9 But if he has betrothed her to his son, he shall treat her according to the custom with daughters. 21:10 And if he takes another for him, he shall provide to the maiden a marriage, and clothing, and he shall not refuse the price of her chastity. 21:11 If he does not do these three things, she shall depart freely, without money. 21:12 Whoever strikes a man, intending to murder, shall be put to death. 21:13 But if he did not lie in wait for him, but God delivered him into his hands, then I will appoint for you a place to which he must flee. 21:14 If someone murders his neighbor with deliberation, by lying in wait, you shall tear him away from my altar, so that he may die. 21:15 Whoever strikes his father or mother shall die a death. 21:16 Whoever will have stolen a man and sold him, having been convicted of the crime, shall be put to death. 21:17 Whoever speaks evil of his father or mother shall die a death. 21:18 If men will have quarreled, and one of them has struck his neighbor with a stone or a fist, and he does not die, but lies in bed, 21:19 if he gets up again and can walk outside on his staff, he who struck him will be innocent, but only if he makes sufficient restitution for his deeds and for the cost of the physicians. 21:20 Whoever strikes his male or female servant with a staff, and if they have died by his hands, he shall be guilty of a crime. 21:21 But if he survives for one day or two, he shall not be subject to punishment, because it is his money. 21:22 If men will have quarreled, and one of them has struck a pregnant woman, and as a result she miscarries, but she herself survives, he shall be subject to as much damage as the husband of the woman shall petition from him, or as arbitrators shall judge. 21:23 But if her death will have followed, he will repay a life for a life, 21:24 an eye for an eye, a tooth for a tooth, a hand for a hand, a foot for a foot, 21:25 a scrape for a scrape, a wound for a wound, a bruise for a bruise. 21:26 If anyone will have struck the eye of his male or female servant, having left them with one eye, he shall release them freely, because of the eye that he has put out. 21:27 Likewise, if he knocks out a tooth of his male or female servant, he shall similarly release them freely. 21:28 If an ox has struck a man or a woman with his horn, and if they die, it shall be stoned. And its flesh shall not be eaten; also, the owner of the ox will be innocent. 21:29 But if the ox had been pushing with his horn, from yesterday and the day before, and they warned his owner, but he did not confine it, and it will have killed a man or a woman, then the ox shall be stoned, and his owner shall be killed. 21:30 But if they have imposed a price on him, he shall give, in exchange for his life, whatever is asked. 21:31 Likewise, if it has struck a son or a daughter with its horns, it shall be subject to a similar verdict. 21:32 If it attacks a male or female servant, he shall give thirty shekels of silver to their lord, yet truly the ox shall be stoned. [21:33] If a man digs or opens a cistern, and does not cover it, and an ox or a donkey falls into it, [21:34] then the owner of the cistern shall repay the price of the beasts, and what is dead will belong to him. [21:35] If the ox of a stranger wounds the ox of another, and it has died, then they shall sell the live ox and divide the price, but the carcass of the dead one they shall distribute between them. [21:36] But if he knew that his ox had pushed with its horns, yesterday and the day before, and its owner did not confine it, then he shall repay an ox for an ox, and he will receive the whole carcass.”

[Exodus 22] [22:1] “If anyone will have stolen an ox or a sheep, and if he kills it or sells it, then he will restore five oxen for one ox, and four sheep for one sheep. [22:2] If a thief will have been discovered breaking into a house, or digging under it, and he has received a mortal wound, he who struck him down will not be guilty of blood. [22:3] But if he did this when the sun was risen, he has perpetrated a homicide, and he shall die. If he does not have the means to make restitution for the theft, he shall be sold. [22:4] If whatever he stole should be found with him, a living thing, either an ox, or a donkey, or a sheep, he shall repay double. [22:5] If there is any damage to a field or a vineyard, when he has released his cattle to pasture on the land of a stranger, he shall repay the best of what he has in his own field, or in his own vineyard, according to the estimation of the damage. [22:6] If a fire will have been discovered departing from brush, and taking hold in stacks of grain, or in crops standing in the fields, whoever ignited the fire shall repay the damages. [22:7] If anyone will have entrusted money, or a container, to his friend to keep, and if these have been stolen from the one who received them: if the thief is found, he shall repay double. [22:8] If the thief is unknown, the lord of the house will be brought before the heavens to swear that he did not lay his hand on the goods of his neighbor, [22:9] so as to perpetrate any fraud, such as with an ox, or a donkey, or a sheep, or clothing, nor to do anything that would be able to cause damage. The case of both shall be brought before the heavens. And if they give judgment against him, he shall repay double to his neighbor. [22:10] If anyone will have entrusted a donkey, an ox, a sheep, or any animal to the keeping of his neighbor, and it will have died, or become disabled, or have been captured by enemies, and no one saw it, [22:11] then there shall be an oath between them, that he did not lay his hand on the goods of his neighbor. And the owner shall accept the oath, and he will not be compelled to make restitution. [22:12] But if it will have been taken away by theft, he shall repay the damages to the owner. [22:13] If it has been eaten by a wild beast, let him carry what was killed to him, and then he shall not make restitution. [22:14] If anyone borrows from his neighbor any of these things, and it has died or been disabled when the owner was not present, he shall be compelled to make restitution. [22:15] But if the owner was present, he shall not make restitution, especially if it had been brought for hired work. [22:16] If a man has led astray a virgin not yet betrothed, and he has slept with her, he shall pay her dowry and have her as a wife. [22:17] If the father of the virgin is not willing to give her, he shall pay money according to manner of a dowry, which virgins are accustomed to receive. [22:18] You shall not permit practitioners of the black arts to live. [22:19] Whoever has sexual intercourse with an animal shall be put to death. [22:20] Whoever immolates to gods, other than to the Lord, shall be killed. [22:21] You shall not harass the newcomer, nor shall you afflict him. For you yourselves were once newcomers in the land of Egypt. [22:22] You shall not harm a widow or an orphan. [22:23] If you hurt them, they will cry out to me, and I will hear their cry. [22:24] And my fury will be enragd, and I will strike you down with the sword. And your wives will become widows, and your sons will become orphans. [22:25] If you lend money to the poor of my people who live among you, you shall not coerce them like a collector, nor oppress them with usury. [22:26] If you take a garment from your neighbor as a pledge, you shall return it to him again before the setting of the sun. [22:27] For it is all that he has to cover himself, to clothe his body; nor does he have anything else in which to sleep. If he cries out to me, I will hear him, because I am compassionate. [22:28] You shall not disparage the heavens, and you shall not speak evil of the leader of your people. [22:29] You shall not delay in paying your tithes and your first-fruits. You shall give the firstborn of your sons to me. [22:30] You shall do likewise with those of the oxen and the sheep. For seven days, let it be with its mother; on the eighth day you shall repay it to me. [22:31] You shall be holy men for me. The flesh, from which beasts will have tasted, you shall not eat, but you will throw it to the dogs.”

[Exodus 23] [23:1] “You shall not accept a lying voice. Neither shall you join your hand so as to give false testimony on behalf on the impious. [23:2] You shall not follow the crowd in doing evil. Neither shall you go astray in judgment, by agreeing with the majority opinion, apart from the truth. [23:3] Likewise, you shall not show pity in judgment of the poor. [23:4] If you come across an ox or a donkey of your enemy, which has gone astray, lead it back to him. [23:5] If you see the donkey of one who hates you, fallen under its burden, you shall not pass by without lifting it up with him. [23:6] You shall not deviate in judgment of the poor. [23:7] You shall flee from lies. The innocent and the just you shall not kill. For I shun the impious. [23:8] Neither shall you accept bribes, which blind even the prudent and subvert the words of the just. [23:9] You shall not harass a sojourner, for you know the life of a newcomer. For you yourselves also were sojourners in the land of Egypt. [23:10] For six years, you shall sow your land and gather its produce. [23:11] But in the seventh year, you shall release it and cause it to rest, so that the poor of your people may eat. And whatever remains, let the beasts of the field eat it. So shall you do with your vineyard and your olive grove. [23:12] For six days, you shall work. On the seventh day, you shall cease, so that your ox and your donkey may rest, and so that the newcomer and the son of your handmaid may be refreshed. [23:13] Preserve all that I have said to you. And by the names of foreign gods you shall not swear; neither shall these be heard from your mouth. [23:14] Three times in each year, you shall celebrate feasts to me. [23:15] You shall keep the solemnity of unleavened bread. For seven days you shall eat unleavened bread, just as I instructed you, at the time of the month of new grain, when you departed from Egypt. You shall not appear empty-handed in my sight, [23:16] for it is the solemnity of the harvest of the first-fruits of your work, of whatever you have sown in the field. Likewise, it is a solemnity at the end of the season, when you will have gathered in all your crops from the field. (23:17) Three times a year, all your males shall appear before the Lord your God. (23:18) You shall not immolate the blood of my victim over leaven, nor shall the fat of my solemnity remain until morning. (23:19) You shall carry the first grain of the land to the house of the Lord your God. You shall not cook a young goat in the milk of its mother. (23:20) Behold, I will send my Angel, who will go before you, and preserve you on your journey, and lead you into the place that I have prepared. (23:21) Heed him, and hear his voice, and do not hold him in disregard. For he will not release you when you have sinned, and my name is in him. (23:22) But if you listen to his voice and do all that I say, I will be an enemy to your enemies, and I will afflict those who afflict you. (23:23) And my Angel will go before you, and he will bring you to the Amorite, and the Hittite, and the Perizzite, and the Canaanite, and the Hivite, and the Jebusite, whom I will crush. (23:24) You shall not adore their gods, nor worship them. You shall not do their works, but you shall destroy them and break apart their statues. (23:25) And you shall serve the Lord your God, so that I may bless your bread and your waters, and so that I may take away sickness from your midst. (23:26) There will not be fruitless or barren ones in your land. I will fill up the number of your days. (23:27) I will send my terror to run ahead of you, and I will kill all the people to whom you will enter. And I will turn the backs of all your enemies before you, (23:28) sending wasps ahead, so that they will put to flight the Hivite, and the Canaanite, and the Hittite, before you enter. (23:29) I will not cast them out from your face in one year, lest the land be reduced to a wilderness and the wild beasts increase against you. (23:30) I will expel them little by little from your sight, until you have expanded and may possess the land. (23:31) Then I will set your limits to be from the Red Sea to the Sea of the Palestinians, and from the desert all the way to the river. I will deliver into your hands the inhabitants of the land, and I will cast them out from your sight. (23:32) You shall not enter into a pact with them, nor with their gods. (23:33) They may not live on your land, lest perhaps they may cause you to sin against me, if you serve their gods, which certainly would be a temptation for you."

(24:1) He also said to Moses: “Ascend to the Lord, you and Aaron, Nadab and Abihu, and seventy elders out of Israel, and adore from a distance. (24:2) And only Moses will ascend to the Lord, and these shall not approach. Neither shall the people ascend with him.” (24:3) Therefore, Moses went and explained to the people all the words of the Lord, as well as the judgments. And all the people responded with one voice: “We will do all the words of the Lord, which he has spoken.” (24:4) Then Moses wrote all the words of the Lord. And rising up in the morning, he built an altar at the base of the mountain, with twelve titles according to the twelve tribes of Israel. (24:5) And he sent youths from the sons of Israel, and they offered holocausts, and they immolated calves as peace-offerings to the Lord. (24:6) And so Moses took one half part of the blood, and he put it into bowls. Then the remaining part he poured over the altar. (24:7) And taking up the book of the covenant, he read it in the hearing of the people, who said: “All that the Lord has spoken, we will do, and we will be obedient.” (24:8) In truth, taking up the blood, he sprinkled it on the people, and he said, “This is the blood of the covenant, which the Lord has formed with you concerning all these words.” (24:9) And Moses and Aaron, Nadab and Abihu, and seventy of the elders of Israel ascended. (24:10) And they saw the God of Israel. And under his feet was something like a work of sapphire stone, or like the sky, when it is serene. (24:11) Neither did he lay his hand upon those of the sons of Israel who were at a distance. And they saw God, and they ate and drank. (24:12) Then the Lord said to Moses: “Ascend to me on the mountain, and be there. And I will give to you tablets of stone, and the law and the commandments that I have written. So may you teach them.” (24:13) Moses rose up, with Joshua his minister. And Moses, ascending on the mountain of God, (24:14) said to the elders: “Wait here, until we return to you. You have Aaron and Hur with you. If any question arises, you shall refer it to them.” (24:15) And when Moses had ascended, a cloud covered the mountain. (24:16) And the glory of the Lord dwelt upon Sinai, covering it with a cloud for six days. And on the seventh day, he called to him from the middle of the mist. (24:17) Now the appearance of the glory of the Lord was like a burning fire over the summit of the mountain in the sight of the sons of Israel. (24:18) And Moses, entering into the midst of the cloud, ascended the mountain. And he was there for forty days and forty nights.

(25:1) And the Lord spoke to Moses, saying: (25:2) “Speak to the sons of Israel, so that they may take the first-fruits to me. You shall accept these from every man who offers of his own accord. (25:3) Now these are the things that you must accept: Gold, and silver, and brass, (25:4) hyacinth and purple, and twice-dyed scarlet, and fine linen, the hair of goats, (25:5) and the skins of rams, dyed red, and skins of violet, and setim wood, (25:6) oil to prepare lights, aromatics as ointments and sweet-smelling incense, (25:7) onyx stones and gems to adorn the ephod as well as the breastplate. (25:8) And they shall make a sanctuary for me, and I will live in their midst. (25:9) According to exact likeness of the tabernacle, and all of the vessels for its rituals, that I will reveal to you, so shall you make it. (25:10) Join together an ark of setim wood, whose length shall hold two and one half cubits; the width, one and one half cubits; the height, likewise, one and one half cubits. (25:11) And you shall overlay it with the finest gold, inside and out. And over it, you shall fashion a gold crown all around, (25:12) and four gold rings, which you shall set into the four corners of the ark. Let two rings be on one side and two on the other. (25:13) Likewise, you shall make bars of setim wood and cover them with gold. (25:14) And you shall put them through the rings that are in the sides of the ark, so that it may be carried on them. (25:15) These must always be in the rings, neither shall they ever be drawn out of them. (25:16) And you shall place the testimony, which I will give to you, in the ark. (25:17) You shall also make a propitiatory of the finest gold. Its length shall hold two and one half cubits, and the width, one and one half cubits. (25:18) Likewise, you shall make two Cherubim of formed gold, on both sides of the oracle. (25:19) Let one Cherub be on the one side, and the other be on the other. (25:20) And let them cover both sides of the propitiatory, spreading their wings and covering the oracle, and let them look out toward one another, their faces being turned toward the propitiatory, with which the ark is to be covered, \(25:21\) in which you will place the testimony that I will give to you. \(25:22\) From there, I will warn you and speak to you, above the propitiatory and from the middle of the two Cherubim, which will be over the ark of the testimony, about everything that I will command of the sons of Israel through you. \(25:23\) You shall also make a table of setim wood, having two cubits of length, and one cubit in width, and one cubit and one half cubits in height. \(25:24\) And you shall overlay it with the purest gold. And you shall make it with a gold lip all around, \(25:25\) and for the lip itself an engraved crown, four fingers high, and above it another little gold crown. \(25:26\) Likewise, you shall prepare four gold rings and set them in the four corners of the same table, over each foot. \(25:27\) Under the crown, there shall be gold rings, so that the bars may be put through them and the table may be carried. \(25:28\) Likewise, the bars themselves you shall make of setim wood, and surround them with gold, to lift up the table. \(25:29\) You shall also prepare small cups, as well as bowls, censers, and measuring cups, with which the libations shall be offered, out of the purest gold. \(25:30\) And you shall place upon the table the bread of the presence, in my sight always. \(25:31\) You shall also make a lampstand, formed from the finest gold, along with its stem and arms, its bowl and little spheres, as well as the lilies proceeding from it. \(25:32\) Six branches shall go out from the sides: three out of one side and three out of the other. \(25:33\) Three bowls, the size of nuts, shall be on each branch, and a little sphere with it, and a lily. And three similar bowls, in the likeness of nuts, shall be on the other branch, and a little sphere with it, and a lily. This shall be the form of the six branches, which are to proceed from the stem. \(25:34\) Then, in the lampstand itself, there shall be four bowls, the size of nuts, and each with little spheres and lilies. \(25:35\) Little spheres under two branches in three places, which together make six, shall proceed from one of the stems. \(25:36\) Thus both the little spheres and the branches shall be made out of the same thing: entirely formed from the purest gold. \(25:37\) You shall also make seven lamps, and you shall place them upon the lampstand, so that they may give light in every direction. \(25:38\) Likewise, the candle snuffers, and the place where the candles will be extinguished, shall be made from the purest gold. \(25:39\) The entire weight of the candlestick, with all its parts, shall hold one talent of the purest gold. \(25:40\) Observe, and then make it according to the example that was shown to you on the mountain."

[Exodus 26] \(26:1\) "Truly, thus shall you make the tabernacle: You shall make ten curtains of fine twisted linen, and hyacinth as well as purple, and twice-dyed scarlet, with diverse embroidery. \(26:2\) The length of one curtain shall have twenty-eight cubits. The width shall be four cubits. The entire set of curtains shall be of one measure. \(26:3\) Five curtains shall be joined to one another, and the other five shall be similarly coupled together. \(26:4\) You shall make loops of hyacinth on the sides at the edges of the curtains, so that they will be able to be joined to one another. \(26:5\) A curtain shall have fifty loops on each of two sides, inserted in such a manner that loop may come against loop, and one can be fitted to the other. \(26:6\) You shall also make fifty rings of gold, with which the veils of the curtains are to be joined, so that it shall be one tabernacle. \(26:7\) You shall also make eleven haircloth canopies to cover the roof of the tabernacle. \(26:8\) The length of one canopy shall hold thirty cubits, and the width, four. The measure of all the canopies shall be equal. \(26:9\) Five of these you shall join by themselves, and six of these you shall couple to one another, in such a manner as to double the sixth canopy at the front of the roof. \(26:10\) You shall also make fifty loops along the edge of one canopy, so that it may be able to be joined with the other, and fifty loops along the edge of the other canopy, so that it may be coupled with the other. \(26:11\) You shall also make fifty brass buckles, with which the loops may be joined, so that there may be one covering out of all. \(26:12\) Then what will be left over of the canopies which are prepared for the roof, that is, one canopy which is in excess, from half of it you shall cover the back of the tabernacle. \(26:13\) And one cubit will hang down on one side, and another on the other side, which is more than the length of the curtains, protecting both sides of the tabernacle. \(26:14\) You shall also make another covering for the roof from the skins of rams, dyed-red, and above that again, another covering of violet-colored skins. \(26:15\) You shall also make the standing panels of the tabernacle from setim wood. \(26:16\) Of these, each shall have ten cubits in length, and in width, one and one half. \(26:17\) At the sides of the panels, there shall be made two dovetails, by which one panel may be connected to another panel, and in this way all the panels shall be prepared. \(26:18\) Of these, twenty shall be at the meridian, which lies toward the south. \(26:19\) For these, you shall cast forty bases of silver, so that two bases will lie under each panel at its two corners. \(26:20\) Likewise, at the second side of the tabernacle, which lies to the north, there shall be twenty panels, \(26:21\) having forty bases of silver; two bases shall support each panel. \(26:22\) Truly, toward the western part of the tabernacle, you shall make six panels, \(26:23\) and again another two, which will be raised at the corners, behind the back of the tabernacle. \(26:24\) And these shall be joined together from bottom to top, and one joint shall retain them all. Likewise, two of the panels, which will be set at the corners, shall be served by similar joints. \(26:25\) And together these will be eight panels, and their bases of silver, sixteen, counting two bases for each panel. \(26:26\) You shall also make five bars of setim wood, to connect the panels on one side of the tabernacle, \(26:27\) and five others on the other side, and the same number toward the western part. \(26:28\) These shall be set along the middle of the panels, from one end all the way to the other end. \(26:29\) Likewise, the panels themselves you shall overlay with gold, and you shall establish rings of gold in them, by which the bars of the panels may be connected. These you shall cover with layers of gold. \(26:30\) And you shall raise the tabernacle according to the example which was shown to you on the mountain. \(26:31\) You shall also make a veil of hyacinth, and purple, and twice-dyed scarlet, and fine twisted linen, wrought with a diversity of continuous and beautiful embroidery. \(26:32\) And you shall suspend it before four columns of setim wood, which themselves certainly shall be overlaid with gold, and have heads of gold, but bases of silver. \(26:33\) Then the veil shall be inserted through the rings. Beyond the veil, you shall place the ark of the testimony, where both the Sanctuary and the Sanctuary of Sanctuaries shall be divided. \(26:34\) And you shall place the propitiatory over the ark of the testimony, in the Holy of Holies. {26:35} And the table shall be outside the veil. And opposite the table shall be the lampstand, in the meridian of the tabernacle. For the table shall stand at the north side. {26:36} You shall also make a tent at the entrance of the tabernacle from hyacinth, and purple, and twice-dyed scarlet, and fine twisted linen, wrought with embroidery. {26:37} And you shall overlay with gold five columns of setim wood, over which the tent shall be drawn. The heads of these shall be of gold, and the bases of brass.

[Exodus 27] {27:1} “You shall also make an altar of setim wood, which will have five cubits in length, and the same in width, that is, four equal sides, and three cubits in height. {27:2} Now there shall be horns at the four corners of it, and you shall cover it with brass. {27:3} And you shall make, for its uses, pans to receive the ashes, and tongs as well as small hooks, and receptacles for fire. You shall fabricate all of its vessels from brass, {27:4} along with a grating of brass in the manner of a net. At its four corners there shall be four rings of brass, {27:5} which you shall place under the base of the altar. And the grating will extend even to the middle of the altar. {27:6} You shall also make, for the altar, two bars of setim wood, which you shall cover with layers of brass. {27:7} And you shall lead them through the rings, and they will be on both sides of the altar to carry it. {27:8} You shall not make it solid, but empty and hollow at the interior, just as it was shown to you on the mountain. {27:9} You shall also make the grating of the altar, over which the tent shall be drawn. The heads of these shall be of gold, and the bases of brass. {27:10} And you shall make twenty columns with the same number of bases of brass, the heads of which, with their engravings, shall be made of silver. {27:11} In like manner also, throughout the length of the north side, there shall be hangings of one hundred cubits, and twenty columns, and the same number of bases of brass, and their heads with their engravings of silver. {27:12} Yet truly, along the width of the atrium that looks out toward the west, there shall be hangings of fifty cubits, and ten columns, and the same number of bases. {27:13} Likewise, along the width of the atrium that looks out toward the east, there shall be fifty cubits, {27:14} along which there shall be assigned hangings of fifteen cubits for one side, and three columns, and the same number of bases. {27:15} And, along the other side, there shall be hangings occupying fifteen cubits, with three columns and the same number of bases. {27:16} Yet truly, at the entrance of the atrium, there shall be made a hanging of twenty cubits, of hyacinth and purple, and twice-dyed scarlet, and fine twisted linen, wrought with embroidery. It shall have four columns, with the same number of bases. {27:17} All the columns surrounding the atrium shall be clothed with layers of silver, with silver heads, and with bases of brass. {27:18} In length, the atrium shall occupy one hundred cubits, in width, fifty; the height shall be of five cubits. And it shall be made of fine twisted linen, and it shall have bases of brass. {27:19} All the vessels of the tabernacle, for all uses and ceremonies, even to the tent pegs for its atrium, you shall make of brass. {27:20} Instruct the sons of Israel so that they may bring you the purest oil of the olive trees, crushed with a pestle, so that a lamp may always burn in the tabernacle of the testimony, outside of the veil that enshrouts the testimony. And Aaron and his sons shall arrange it, so that it may give light in the presence of the Lord, until morning. This shall be a perpetual observance among the sons of Israel, throughout their successions.”

[Exodus 28] {28:1} “Also, join to yourself your brother Aaron, with his sons from the midst of the sons of Israel, so that they may exercise the priesthood for me: Aaron, Nadab and Abihu, Eleazar and Ithamar. {28:2} And you shall make a holy vestment for Aaron, your brother, with glory and elegance. {28:3} And you shall speak to all the wise of heart, whom I have filled with the spirit of prudence, so that they may make the vestments of Aaron, in which, having been sanctified, he may minister to me. {28:4} Now these shall be the vestments that they shall make: A breastplate and an ephod, a tunic and a close-fit linen garment, a headdress and a wide belt. They shall make the holy vestments for your brother Aaron and his sons, so that they may exercise the priesthood for me. {28:5} And they shall receive gold, and hyacinth, and purple, and twice-dyed scarlet, and fine linen. {28:6} Then they shall make the ephod of gold, and hyacinth, and purple, and twice-dyed scarlet, and fine twisted linen, wrought with diverse colors. {28:7} It shall have two edges joined at the top on both sides, so that they may respond as one. {28:8} Likewise, the weaving and all the detail work shall be of gold, and hyacinth, and purple, and twice-dyed scarlet, and fine twisted linen. {28:9} And you shall take two onyx stones and engrave on them the names of the sons of Israel: {28:10} six names on one stone, and the remaining six on the other, according to the order of their birth. {28:11} By the work of a sculptor and the skill of a jeweler, you shall engrave them with the names of the sons of Israel, enclosed and encompassed with gold. {28:12} And you shall place them on both sides of the ephod, as a memorial to the sons of Israel. And Aaron shall carry their names before the Lord, upon both shoulders, as a remembrance. {28:13} You shall also make hooks of gold, {28:14} and two little chains of the purest gold, linked to one another, which you shall insert into the hooks. {28:15} Likewise, you shall make the breastplate of judgment, wrought with diverse colors according to weaving of the ephod: of gold, hyacinth and purple, and twice-dyed scarlet, and fine twisted linen. {28:16} It shall have four corners and be doubled. It shall have the measure of the palm of a hand, both in length and in width. {28:17} And you shall set within it four rows of stones. In the first row, there shall be a sardius stone, and a topaz, and an emerald. {28:18} In the second, there shall be a garnet, a sapphire, and a jasper. {28:19} In the third, there shall be a zircon, an agate, and an amethyst. {28:20} In the fourth, there shall be a chrysolite, an onyx, and a beryl. They shall be set in gold by their rows. {28:21} And these shall have the names of the sons of Israel. With twelve names shall they be engraved: each stone with one name from the twelve tribes. {28:22} You shall make chains of the purest gold, linked one to another, on the breastplate, {28:23} and two rings of gold, which you shall place at both ends of the breastplate. {28:24} And the golden chains, you shall join to the rings, which are at its edges. {28:25} And the ends of the chains themselves, you shall couple with two hooks, on both sides of the ephod, which looks toward the breastplate. {28:26} You shall also make two rings of gold, which you shall place at the ends of the breastplate, at the borders which are away from the region of the ephod and which look toward its back. {28:27} And then you shall also make two other rings of gold, which are to be suspended on both sides at the bottom of the ephod, which looks out opposite the face of the lower juncture, so that the breastplate can be fitted to the ephod. {28:28} And it shall be drawn tight to the rings of the breastplate, by the rings of the ephod, with a hyacinth band, so that the well-constructed juncture will remain in place, and the breastplate and the ephod will not be able to be separated from one another. {28:29} And Aaron shall carry the names of the sons of Israel on the breastplate of judgment upon his chest, when he enters into the Sanctuary, as a memorial in the presence of the Lord in eternity. {28:30} Then you shall place in the breastplate of judgment, Doctrine and Truth, which shall then be upon Aaron's chest, when he enters before the Lord. And he shall wear the judgment of the sons of Israel on his chest, in the sight of the Lord always. {28:31} And you shall make the tunic for the ephod entirely of hyacinth, {28:32} and the head will be above its middle, with a hem woven around it, just as is usually made at the end parts of a garment, so that it may not be easily broken. {28:33} Yet truly, beneath it, at the base of the same tunic, all around, you shall make something like pomegranates, from hyacinth, and purple, and twice-dyed scarlet, with little bells set in their midst. {28:34} So then, there shall be a little golden bell and a pomegranate, and again another golden bell and a pomegranate. {28:35} And Aaron will be vested with it during the office of his ministry, so that the sound may be heard when he enters and exits the Sanctuary, in the sight of the Lord, and so that he may not die. {28:36} And you shall make a plate of the purest gold, in which you shall engrave, with the skill of a sculptor, 'Holy to the Lord.' {28:37} And you shall fasten it with a band of hyacinth, and it shall be upon the headdress, {28:38} hanging in front of the high priest. And Aaron shall carry the iniquities of that which the sons of Israel have offered and sanctified, in all their gifts and donations. But the plate will always be at his forehead, so that the Lord may be well pleased with them. {28:39} And you shall draw the tunic tight with fine linen, and you shall make a headdress of fine linen, and a wide belt, wrought with embroidery. {28:40} Furthermore, for the sons of Aaron, you shall prepare linen tunicus, and wide belts as well as headdresses, with glory and elegance. {28:41} And with all these you shall vest your brother Aaron, and his sons with him. And you shall consecrate all their hands, and you shall sanctify them, so that they may exercise the priesthood for me. {28:42} You shall also make linen undergarments, in order to cover the flesh of their nakedness, from the kidneys all the way to the thighs. {28:43} And Aaron and his sons will use them when they enter the tabernacle of the testimony, and when they approach toward the altar, in order to minister in the sanctuary, lest, being guilty of iniquity, they may die. It shall be a law forever for Aaron, and for his offspring after him."

[Exodus 29] {29:1} “But you shall also do this, so that they may be consecrated to me in the priesthood: Take a calf from the herd, and two immaculate rams, {29:2} and unleavened bread, and a crust without leaven that has been sprinkled with oil, likewise, unleavened cakes smeared with oil. You shall make them all from the same wheat flour. {29:3} And, having placed them in baskets, you shall offer them, along with the calf and the two rams. {29:4} And you shall bring forward Aaron and his sons, to the door of the tabernacle of the testimony. And when you will have washed the father with his sons in water, {29:5} you shall clothe Aaron in his vestments, that is, with the linen, and the tunic, and the ephod, and the breastplate, which you shall draw together with the wide belt. {29:6} And you shall place the headdress on his head and the holy plate upon the headdress. {29:7} And you shall pour the oil of unction over his head. And so, by this rite, he shall be consecrated. {29:8} Likewise, you shall bring forward his sons, and you shall clothe them in the linen tunics, and wrap them with the wide belt: {29:9} Aaron, certainly, as well as his sons. And you shall impose headdresses upon them. And they shall be priests to me by a perpetual ordinance. After you have initiated their hands, {29:10} you shall bring forward also the calf, in the presence of the tabernacle of the testimony. And Aaron and his sons shall lay their hands upon its head. {29:11} And you shall sacrifice it in the sight of the Lord, beside the door of the tabernacle of the testimony. {29:12} And taking some of the blood of the calf, you shall place it upon the horns of the altar with your finger, but the remainder of the blood you shall pour next to its base. {29:13} And you shall take all the fat which covers its intestines, and the mesh of the liver, as well as the two kidneys, and the fat that is on them, and you shall offer them as a burnt offering upon the altar. {29:14} Yet truly, the flesh of the calf, and the hide and the dung, you shall burn outside, beyond the camp, because it is for sin. {29:15} Likewise, you shall take one ram, and upon its head Aaron and his sons shall lay their hands. {29:16} And when you will have sacrificed it, you shall take from its blood and pour it around the altar. {29:17} Then you shall cut the ram into pieces, and, having washed its intestines and feet, you shall place these upon the cut-up flesh and upon its head. {29:18} And you shall offer the entire ram as a burnt offering upon the altar. It is an oblation to the Lord, a most sweet odor of the victim of the Lord. {29:19} Likewise, you shall take the other ram, upon whose head Aaron and his sons shall lay their hands. {29:20} And when you will have immolated it, you shall take of its blood, and place it on the tip of the right ear of Aaron and his sons, and on the thumbs and big toes of their right hand and right foot, and you shall pour the blood upon the altar, all around. {29:21} And when you have taken from the blood that is on the altar, and from the oil of unction, you shall sprinkle Aaron and his vestment, his sons and their vestments. And after they and their vestments have been consecrated, {29:22} you shall take the fat of the ram, and the rump, and the lard that covers the internal organs, and the mesh of the liver, and the two kidneys along with the fat that is on them, and the right shoulder, because it is the ram of consecration, {29:23} and one turn of bread, a crust sprinkled with oil, and a cake from the basket of unleavened bread, which was placed in the sight of the Lord. {29:24} And you shall place all these in the hands of Aaron and his sons, and you shall sanctify them, lifting them up in the sight of the Lord. {29:25} And you shall take all these things from their hands and burn them upon the altar as a holocaust, as a most sweet odor in the sight of the Lord, because it is his oblation. {29:26} Likewise, you shall take the chest of the ram, with which Aaron was initiated, and you shall sanctify it, lifting it up in the sight of the Lord, and it will fall to your share. {29:27} And you shall sanctify both the consecrated chest and the shoulder that you separated from the ram, {29:28} with which Aaron was initiated with his sons, and these will fall to the share of Aaron and his sons, as a perpetual oath by the sons of Israel. For these are the greatest and the first of their victims of peace, which they offer to the Lord. {29:29} But the holy vestment, which Aaron shall use, his sons shall possess after him, so that they may be anointed in it and their hands may be consecrated. {30:30} For seven days, he who is high priest in his place and who enters the tabernacle of the testimony to minister in the Sanctuary shall use it. {30:31} But you shall take the ram of consecration and cook its flesh in the holy place. {30:32} And Aaron and his sons shall feed on it. Likewise, the loaves which are in the basket, they shall consume in the vestibule of the tabernacle of the testimony, {30:33} so that it may be an appeasing sacrifice, and so that the hands of those who offer may be sanctified. A stranger shall not eat from these, for they are holy. {30:34} And what may remain until morning, of the consecrated flesh or of the bread, you shall burn these remnants with fire. These shall not be eaten, because they have been sanctified. {30:35} All that I have instructed you concerning Aaron and his sons, you shall do. For seven days shall you consecrate their hands, {30:36} and you shall offer a calf for sin on each day, as an atonement. And you shall cleanse the altar when you will have immolated the victim of expiation, and you shall anoint it for sanctification. {29:37} For seven days, you shall expiate and sanctify the altar, and it shall be the Holy of holies. All those who will touch it must be sanctified. {29:38} This is what you shall acquire for the altar: Two one-year-old lambs, each day continually, {29:39} one lamb in the morning, and the other in the evening; {29:40} for the one lamb, a tenth part of fine flour sprinkled with crushed oil, which shall have the measure of the fourth part of a hin, and wine for a libation, of the same measure; {29:41} truly, the other lamb you shall offer in the evening, according to the ritual of the morning oblation, and according to what we have said, as an odor of sweetness. {29:42} It is a sacrifice to the Lord, by a perpetual oblation among your generations, at the door of the tabernacle of the testimony, and when they approach to it in the morning, {29:43} and when he assembles them in the tabernacle of the testimony, and when he lights the lamps, he shall burn it. {30:7} And Aaron shall burn incense upon it, a sweet fragrance, in the morning. When he lights the lamps, he shall burn it. {30:8} And when he assembles them in the evening, he shall burn an everlasting incense before the Lord throughout your generations. {30:9} You shall not offer upon it incense of another composition, nor an oblation, nor a victim; neither shall you offer libations. {30:10} And Aaron shall pray over its horns once a year, with the blood of what was offered for sin. And he shall make atonement over it in your generations. It shall be the Holy of holies to the Lord.” {30:11} And the Lord spoke to Moses, saying: {30:12} “When you have taken the sum of the sons of Israel, according to their number, each shall give a price for their souls to the Lord, and there will be no scourge among them, when they will be reviewed. {30:13} Then all those who pass shall give by name: one half shekel, according to the measure at the temple. A shekel has twenty obols. The half part of a shekel shall be offered to the Lord. {30:14} He who has been numbered from twenty years and above shall give the price. {30:15} The rich shall not add to the half shekel, and the poor shall diminish nothing. {30:16} And the money received, which was collected from the sons of Israel, you shall deliver for the uses of the tabernacle of the testimony, so that it may be a memorial of them before the Lord, and he may act favorably toward their souls.” {30:17} And the Lord spoke to Moses, saying: {30:18} “You shall also make a bronze washtub with its base to wash in; and you shall place it between the tabernacle of the testimony and the altar. And when water has been added, {30:19} Aaron and his sons shall wash their hands and feet in it: {30:20} when they enter the tabernacle of the testimony, and when they approach to the altar so as to offer incense to the Lord upon it, {30:21} otherwise, they may die. This shall be an everlasting law to him, and to his offspring, throughout their successors.” {30:22} And the Lord spoke to Moses, {30:23} saying: “Take for yourself aromatics: of the first and best myrrh, five hundred shekels, and of cinnamon half as much, that is, two hundred and fifty shekels; of sweet flag similarly two hundred and fifty, {30:24} but of cassia, five hundred shekels by the weight of the sanctuary, and of the oil of olives the measure of a hin. {30:25} And you shall make the holy oil of unction, an ointment composed with the skills of a perfumer, {30:26} and with it you shall anoint the tabernacle of the testimony, and the ark of the testament, {30:27} and the table with its vessels, and the lampstand and it utensils, the altars of incense {30:28} and of holocaust, and all the items that pertain to their rituals. {30:29} And you shall sanctify everything, and they shall be the Holy of holies. He who will touch them must be sanctified. {30:30} You shall anoint Aaron and his sons, and you shall sanctify them, so that they may exercise the priesthood for me. {30:31} Likewise, you shall say to the sons of Israel: ‘This oil of unction will be holy to me throughout your generations. {30:32} The flesh of man shall not be anointed from it, and you shall not make any similar compound, for it has been sanctified and it shall be holy to you. {30:33} Whatever man will have composed such a thing and have given it to a stranger, he shall be exterminated from his people.’ ” {30:34} And the Lord said to Moses: “Take to yourself aromatics: stacte, and onyx, galbanum of sweet odor, and the clearest frankincense, all these shall be of equal weight.
And when he had received them, he formed these by what he had commanded, carrying the earrings to Aaron. Whatever man will have made anything similar, so as to thoroughly enjoy its smell, he shall perish from his people."

And the Lord spoke to Moses, saying: "Behold, I have called by name Bezalel the son of Uri, the son of Hur, from the tribe of Judah, and I have filled him with the Spirit of God, with wisdom, and understanding, and knowledge in every craft, in order to design whatever must be fabricated from gold, and silver, and brass, from marble, and precious stones, and various woods. And I have given to him, as his associate, Oholiab the son of Ahisamach, from the tribe of Dan. And I have placed wisdom in the heart of every artisan, so that they may make everything as I have instructed you: the tabernacle of the covenant, and the ark of the testimony, and the propitiatory which is over it, and all the vessels of the tabernacle, and the table and its vessels, the most pure lampstand with its vessels, and the altars of incense and of holocaust and all their vessels, the washtub with its base, the holy vestments for the ministry of Aaron the priest, and for his sons, so that they may execute their office of sacred rites, the oil of anointing, and the incense of aromatics in the Sanctuary. All the things that I have instructed you, they shall make." And the Lord spoke to Moses, saying: "Speak to the sons of Israel, and you shall say to them: See that you keep my Sabbath. For it is a sign between me and you among your generations, so that you may know that I am the Lord, who sanctifies you. Keep my Sabbath, for it is holy to you. Whoever will have polluted it, shall die a death. Whoever will have done any work in it, his soul shall perish from the midst of his people. For six days you shall do work. On the seventh day, it is the Sabbath, a rest sanctified by the Lord. All who will have done work on this day shall die. Let the sons of Israel keep the Sabbath, and let them celebrate it throughout their generations. It is an everlasting covenant between me and the sons of Israel, and a perpetual sign. For in six days the Lord made heaven and earth, and in the seventh he ceased from work." And the Lord, having completed speaking in this way on Mount Sinai, gave to Moses two stone tablets of testimony, written with the finger of God.

Then the people, seeing that Moses made a delay in descending from the mountain, gathered together against Aaron, and said: "Rise up, make us gods, who may go before us. But as for this man Moses, who led us away from the land of Egypt, we do not know what has befallen him." And Aaron said to them, "Take the golden earrings from the ears of your wives, and your sons and daughters, and bring them to me." And the people did what he had commanded, carrying the earrings to Aaron. And when he had received them, he formed these by the work of a casting furnace, and he made from these a molten calf. And they said: "These are your gods, O Israel, who led you away from the land of Egypt." And when Aaron had seen it, he built an altar before it, and he cried out with a voice of proclamation, saying, "Tomorrow is the solemnity of the Lord." And rising up in the morning, they offered holocausts, and peace victims, and the people sat down to eat and to drink, and they rose up to play. Then the Lord spoke to Moses, saying: "Go, descend. Your people, whom you led away from the land of Egypt, have sinned. They have quickly withdrawn from the way which you revealed to them. And they have made for themselves a molten calf, and they have worshiped it. And immolating victims to it, they have said: 'These are your gods, O Israel, who led you away from the land of Egypt.' " And again, the Lord said to Moses: "I discern that this people is stiff-necked. Release me, so that my fury may be enraged against them, and I may destroy them, and then I will make of you a great nation." Then Moses prayed to the Lord his God, saying: "Why, O Lord, is your fury enraged against your people, whom you led away from the land of Egypt, with great strength and with a mighty hand? I beg you, let not the Egyptians say, 'He cleverly led them away, so that he could put them to death in the mountains and destroy them from the earth.' Let your anger be quieted and appeased concerning the wickedness of your people. Remember Abraham, Isaac, and Israel, your servants, to whom you swore by your very self, saying: 'I will multiply your offspring like the stars of heaven. And this entire land, about which I have spoken, I will give to you, and your offspring. And you shall possess it forever.' " And the Lord was appeased from doing the evil which he had spoken against his people. And Moses returned from the mountain, carrying the two tablets of the testimony in his hand, written on both sides, and Moses returned from the mountain, carrying the two tablets of the testimony in his hand, written on both sides, and accomplished by the work of God. Also, the writing of God was engraved on the tablets. Then Joshua, hearing the tumult of the people shouting, said to Moses: "The outcry of battle is heard in the camp." But he responded: "It is not the clamor of men being exhorted to battle, nor the shout of men being compelled to flee. But I hear the voice of singing." And when he had approached to the camp, he saw the calf and the dances. And being very angry, he threw down the tablets from his hand, and he broke them at the base of the mountain. And seizing the calf, which they had made, he burnt it and crushed it, even to dust, which he scattered into water. And he gave from it to the sons of Israel to drink. And he said to Aaron, "What has this people done to you, so that you would bring upon them the greatest sin?" And he answered him: "Let not my lord be indignant. For you know this people, that they are prone to evil. They said to me: 'Make gods for us, who may go before us. For this Moses, who led us away from the land of Egypt, we do not know what has befallen him.' And I said to them, 'Which of you has gold?' And they took it and gave it to me. And I threw it into the fire, and this calf came out." Therefore, Moses, seeing that the people were naked (for Aaron had stripped them because of the disgrace of their sordidness, and he had set them naked among their enemies), and standing at the gate of the camp, said: "If anyone is for the Lord, let him join with me." And all the sons of Levi gathered themselves together to him. And he said to them: "Thus says the...
Lord God of Israel: Let a man place his sword at his thigh. Go forth, and then return, from gate to gate, through the midst of the camp, and let each one kill his brother, and friend, and neighbor."

(32:28) And the sons of Levi did according to the words of Moses, and there fell on that day about twenty-three thousand men.

(32:29) And Moses said: "On this day, you have consecrated your hands to the Lord, each one in his son and in his brother, so that a blessing may be given to you."

(32:30) Then, when the next day arrived, Moses spoke to the people: "You have sinned the greatest sin. I will ascend to the Lord. Perhaps, in some way, I might be able to entreat him for your wickedness."

(32:31) And returning to the Lord, he said: "I beg you, this people has sinned the greatest sin, and they have made for themselves gods of gold. Either release them from this offense, or, if you do not, then delete me from the book that you have written."

(32:32) And the Lord answered him: "Whoever has sinned against me, him I will delete from my book.

(32:33) But as for you, go and lead this people where I have told you. My angel will go before you. Then, on the day of retribution, I will also visit this sin of theirs."

(32:35) Therefore, the Lord struck the people for the guilt of the calf, which Aaron had made.

[Exodus 33]

(33:1) And the Lord spoke to Moses, saying: "Go forth, ascend from this place, you and your people, whom you led away from the land of Egypt, into the land that I swore to Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob, saying: To your offspring, I will give it.

(33:2) And I will send an Angel to be before you, and I will drive out the Canaanite, and the Amorite, and the Hittite, and the Perizzite, and the Hivite, and the Jebusite,

(33:3) and so that you may enter into a land flowing with milk and honey. For I will not go up with you, since you are a stiff-necked people, lest perhaps I may destroy you on the way."

(33:4) And upon hearing this very bad news, the people mourned; and no one put on his finery according to custom.

(33:5) And the Lord said to Moses: "Say to the sons of Israel: You are a stiff-necked people. I should at once go up into your midst and destroy you. Now immediately put aside your ornaments, so that I may know what to do to you."

(33:6) Therefore, the sons of Israel put aside their ornaments before Mount Horeb.

(33:7) Also, Moses took the tabernacle and pitched it beyond the camp at a distance, and he called its name: 'Tabernacle of the Covenant.' And all the people, who had any kind of question, went out to the Tabernacle of the Covenant, beyond the camp.

(33:8) And when Moses went out to the tabernacle, all the people rose up, and each one stood at the door of his pavilion, and they beheld the back of Moses until he entered the tent.

(33:9) And when he had gone into the Tabernacle of the Covenant, the pillar of cloud descended and stood at the door, and he spoke with Moses.

(33:10) And all discerned that the pillar of cloud stood at the door of the Tabernacle. And they stood and worshipped at the doors of their tents.

(33:11) But the Lord spoke to Moses face to face, just as a man is used to speaking to his friend. And when he returned to the camp, his minister Joshua, the son of Nun, a young man, did not withdraw from the Tabernacle.

(33:12) Then Moses said to the Lord: "You instruct me to lead this people away, and you do not reveal to me whom you will send with me, particularly since you have said: 'I know you by name, and you have found favor before me.'

(33:13) If, therefore, I have found favor in your sight, show your face to me, so that I may know you and may find grace before your eyes. Look favorably on your people, this nation."

(33:14) And the Lord said, "My face will precede you, and I will give you rest."

(33:15) And Moses said: "If you will not yourself precede us, then do not lead us away from this place.

(33:16) For how will we be able to know, I and your people, that we have found grace in your sight, unless you walk with us, so that we may be glorified out of all the people who live upon the earth?"

(33:17) Then the Lord said to Moses: "This word also, which you have spoken, I will do. For you have found grace before me, and I have known you by name."

(33:18) And he said, "Show me your glory."

(33:19) He responded: "I will show you all that is good, and I will call out with the name of the Lord before you. And I will take pity on whomever I will, and I will be lenient to whomever it will please me."

(33:20) And again he said: "You are not able to see my face. For man shall not see me and live."

(33:21) And again, he said: "Behold, there is a place with me, and you shall stand upon the rock.

(33:22) And when my glory will cross over, I will set you in a cleft of the rock, and I will protect you with my right hand, until I pass by.

(33:23) And I will take away my hand, and you shall see my back. But my face you are not able to see."

[Exodus 34]

(34:1) And after this he said: "Cut out for yourself two tablets of stone similar to the first ones, and I will write upon them the words which were held on the tablets that you broke.

(34:2) Be prepared in the morning, so that you may immediately ascend onto Mount Sinai, and you will stand with me on the summit of the mountain.

(34:3) Let no one ascend with you, and do not let anyone be seen throughout the entire mountain. Likewise, do not let the oxen or the sheep pasture up against it."

(34:4) And so he cut out two tablets of stone, like those that were before. And rising up in the night, he ascended onto Mount Sinai, just as the Lord had instructed him, carrying with him the tablets.

(34:5) And when the Lord had descended in a cloud, Moses stood with him, calling upon the name of the Lord.

(34:6) And as he was crossing before him, he said: "The Ruler, the Lord God, merciful and lenient, patient and full of compassion and also truthful,

(34:7) who preserves mercy a thousand fold, who takes away iniquity, and wickedness, and also sin; and with you no one, in and of himself, is innocent. You render the iniquity of the fathers to the sons, and also to their descendents to the third and fourth generation."

(34:9) he said: "If I have found grace in your sight, O Lord, I beg you to walk with us, (for the people are stiff-necked) and take away our iniquities and our sin, and so possess us."

(34:10) The Lord responded: "I will enter into a pact in the sight of all. I will perform signs which have never been seen on earth, nor among any nation, so that this people, in whose midst you are, may discern the terrible work of the Lord that I will do.

(34:11) Observe everything that I command you this day. I myself will drive out before your face the Amorite, and the Canaanite, and the Hittite, and the Perizzite, and the Hivite, and the Jebusite.

(34:12) Beware that you do not ever join in friendship with the inhabitants of that land, which may be your ruin.

(34:14) Do not be willing to worship any strange god. The jealous Lord is his name. God is a rival. {34:15} Do not enter into a pact with the men of those regions, lest, when they will have fornicated with their gods and worshiped their idols, someone might call upon you to eat from what was immolated. {34:16} Neither shall you take a wife for your son from their daughters, lest, after they themselves have fornicated, they may cause your sons also to fornicate with their gods. {34:17} You shall not make for yourselves any molten gods. {34:18} You shall keep the solemnity of unleavened bread. For seven days, you shall eat unleavened bread, just as I instructed you, in the time of the month of what is new. For in the month of springtime you departed from Egypt. {34:19} All of the male kind, which open the womb, shall be mine: from all the animals, as much of oxen as of sheep, it shall be mine. {34:20} The firstborn of a donkey, you shall redeem with a sheep. But if you will not give a price for it, it shall be slain. The firstborn of your sons you shall redeem. You shall not appear empty in my sight. {34:21} For six days you shall work. On the seventh day you shall cease to cultivate and to harvest. {34:22} You shall observe the Solemnity of Weeks with the first-fruits of the grain from the harvest of your wheat, and a Solemnity when the time of the year returns and everything is stored away. {34:23} Three times a year, all your males shall appear in the sight of the Almighty, the Lord God of Israel. {34:24} For when I will have taken away the nations before your face, and enlarged your borders, no one shall lie in wait against your land when you will go up to appear in the sight of the Lord your God, three times a year. {34:25} You shall not immolate the blood of my victim over leaven; and there shall not remain, in the morning, any of the victim of the Solemnity of the Passover. {34:26} The first of the fruits of your land you shall offer in the house of the Lord your God. You shall not boil a young goat in the milk of its mother." {34:27} And the Lord said to Moses, “Write these words to you, through which I have formed a covenant, both with you and with Israel." {34:28} Therefore, he was in that place with the Lord for forty days and forty nights; he did not eat bread and he did not drink water, and he wrote on the tablets the ten words of the covenant. {34:29} And when Moses descended from Mount Sinai, he held the two tablets of the testimony, and he did not know that his face was radiant from the sharing of words with the Lord. {34:30} Then Aaron and the sons of Israel, seeing that the face of Moses was radiant, were afraid to approach close by. {34:31} And being called by him, they turned back, both Aaron and the leaders of the assembly. And after he had spoken to them, {34:32} all the sons of Israel also now came to him. And he instructed them in all the things that he had heard from the Lord on Mount Sinai. {34:33} And having completed these words, he placed a veil over his face. {34:34} But when he entered to the Lord and was speaking with him, he took it off, until he exited. And then he spoke to the sons of Israel all that had been commanded to him. {34:35} And they saw that the face of Moses, when he came out, was radiant, but he covered his face again, whenever he spoke to them.

[Exodus 35] {35:1} Therefore, when all the multitude of the sons of Israel had gathered together, he said to them: “These are the things that the Lord has ordered to be done: {35:2} For six days you shall do work; the seventh day, the Sabbath and the rest of the Lord, will be holy to you; whoever will have done any work in it shall be killed. {35:3} You shall not kindle a fire in any of your dwelling places throughout the day of the Sabbath.” {35:4} And Moses said to the entire crowd of the sons of Israel: “This is the word which the Lord has instructed, saying: {35:5} Separate from among you the first-fruits to the Lord. Let all who are willing and have a ready soul offer these to the Lord: gold, and silver, and brass, {35:6} hyacinth, and purple, and twice-dyed scarlet, and fine linen, the hair of goats, {35:7} and the skins of rams, dyed red, and violet skins, setim wood, {35:8} and oil to prepare lights and to produce ointment, and most sweet incense, {35:9} onyx stones and gems, to adorn the ephod and the breastplate. {35:10} And whoever among you is wise, let him come and make what the Lord has commanded: {35:11} the tabernacle, certainly, and its roof, and also the covering, the rings, and the panels with the bars, the tent pegs and the bases, {35:12} the ark and its bars, the propitiatory, and the veil that is drawn before it, {35:13} the table with its bars and vessels, and the bread of the presence, {35:14} the lampstand to hold up the lights, its vessels and lamps, and the oil to nourish the fire, {35:15} the altar of incense and its bars, and the oil of unction, and the incense of aromatics, the tent at the door of the tabernacle, {35:16} the altar of holocaust and its grate of brass, with the bars and vessels, the washtub and its base, {35:17} the curtains of the atrium, with the columns and the bases, the hanging at the doors of the vestibule, {35:18} the tent pegs of the tabernacle and the atrium, with their little cords, {35:19} the vestments, which are to be used in the ministry of the Sanctuary, the vestments of Aaron, the high priest, as well as those of his sons, in order to exercise the priesthood to me.” {35:20} And all the multitude of the sons of Israel, departing from the sight of Moses, {35:21} offered the first-fruits to the Lord with a most ready and devout mind, to accomplish the work of the tabernacle of the testimony. Whatever was needed for worship and for the holy vestments, {35:22} men along with women provided: arm bands and earrings, rings and bracelets. And every vessel of gold was separated, to be donated to the Lord. {35:23} If anyone had hyacinth, and purple, and twice-dyed scarlet, fine linen and the hair of goats, the skins of rams, dyed red, and violet skins, {35:24} metal of silver and brass, they offered it to the Lord, along with setim wood for various uses. {35:25} But the skillful women also gave whatever they had spun: hyacinth, purple, and vermillion, as well as fine linen, {35:26} and the hair of goats, donating everything of their own accord. {35:27} Yet truly, the leaders offered onyx stones and gems, for the ephod and the breastplate, {35:28} and aromatics and oil, to maintain the lights, and to prepare ointment, and also to produce incense with a most sweet odor. {35:29} All the men and women offered donations with a devout mind, so that the works might be done which the Lord had ordered by the hand of Moses. All the sons of Israel dedicated voluntary offerings to the Lord. {35:30} And Moses said to the sons of Israel: “Behold, the Lord has called by name Bezalel, the son of Uri, the son of Hur, from the tribe of Judah, {35:31} and he has filled him with the Spirit of God, with wisdom, and understanding, and knowledge, and all teaching, {35:32} to design and to fashion, with gold and silver and brass, {35:33} and with engraving stones, and with the skill of a carpenter. Whatever can be skillfully invented, {35:34} he has given to his heart. It is likewise with Oholiab, the son of Ahisamach from the tribe of Dan. {35:35} He has taught both of them wisdom, in order to do the work of carpentry, tapestry, and embroidery, from hyacinth, and purple, and twice-dyed scarlet, and fine linen, and every textile, and to discover whatever may be new.”

[Exodus 36] {36:1} Therefore, Bezalel, and Oholiab, and every wise man, to whom the Lord gave wisdom and intelligence, so as to know how to work skillfully, made that which was necessary for the uses of the Sanctuary and which the Lord had instructed. {36:2} And when Moses had called them and every man of learning, to whom the Lord had given wisdom, and who, of their own accord, had offered themselves in order to accomplish this work, {36:3} he handed over to them all the donations of the sons of Israel. And while they were pursuing this work, the people offered what they had vowed each day, in the morning. {36:4} The artisans were compelled by this to go {36:5} to Moses and to say, “The people offer more than is needed.” {36:6} Therefore, Moses ordered this to be recited, with a voice of proclamation: “Let neither man nor woman offer anything further for the work of the Sanctuary.” And so they ceased from offering gifts, {36:7} because what was offered was sufficient and was more than an abundance. {36:8} And all those who were wise of heart, in order to accomplish the work of the tabernacle, made ten curtains of fine twisted linen, and hyacinth, and purple, and twice-dyed scarlet, with diverse workmanship by the art of embroidery. {36:9} Each of these was twenty-eight cubits in length, and in width, four. All the curtains were of one measure. {36:10} And he joined five curtains to one another, and the other five he coupled to one another. {36:11} He also made loops of hyacinth along the edge of one curtain on both sides, and similarly along the edge of the other curtain, {36:12} so that the loops might meet against one another and might be joined together. {36:13} For these, he also cast fifty gold rings, which would retain the loops of the curtains and so make the tabernacle one. {36:14} He also made eleven canopies from the hair of goats, in order to cover the roof of the tabernacle: {36:15} one canopy held in length thirty cubits, and in width four cubits. All the canopies were of one measure. {36:16} Five of these he joined by themselves, and the other six separately. {36:17} And he made fifty loops along the edge of one canopy, and fifty along the edge of the other canopy, so that they might be joined to one another, {36:18} and fifty buckles of brass, with which the roof might be woven together, so that from all the canopies there would be made one covering. {36:19} He also made a covering for the tabernacle from the skins of rams, dyed-red; and another cover above it, from violet skins. {36:20} He also made the standing panels of the tabernacle, from setim wood. {36:21} Ten cubits was the length of one panel, and one and one half cubits comprised the width. {36:22} There were two dovetails along every panel, so that one might be joined to the other. Thus did he make all the panels of the tabernacle. {36:23} Of these, twenty were toward the meridian area, opposite the south, {36:24} with forty bases of silver. Two bases were set under one panel at each of two sides at the corners, where the joints of the sides terminate in corners. {36:25} Likewise, at that side of the tabernacle which looks toward the north, he made twenty panels, {36:26} with forty bases of silver, two bases for each board. {36:27} Yet truly, opposite the west, that is, toward that part of the tabernacle which looks out toward the sea, he made six panels, {36:28} and two others at each corner of the tabernacle at the back, {36:29} which were joined from bottom to top and held together by one joint. So did he make both corners on that side. {36:30} So then, there were altogether eight panels, and they had sixteen bases of silver, with, of course, two bases under each panel. {36:31} He also made bars from setim wood: five to hold together the panels at one side of the tabernacle, {36:32} and five others to fit together the panels of the other side, and, in addition to these, five other bars toward the western area of the tabernacle, opposite the sea. {36:33} He also made another bar, which came through the middle of the panels from corner to corner. {36:34} But the panels themselves he overlaid with gold, casting silver bases for them. And he made their rings from gold, through which the bars might be able to be drawn. And he covered the bars themselves with layers of gold. {36:35} He also made a veil from hyacinth, and purple, from vermilion as well as fine twisted linen, with varied and distinctive embroidery, {36:36} and four columns of setim wood, which, along with their heads, he overlaid with gold, casting silver bases for them. {36:37} He also made a tent at the entrance of the tabernacle from hyacinth, purple, vermilion, and fine twisted linen, wrought with embroidery, {36:38} and five columns with their heads, which he covered with gold, and he cast their bases from brass.

[Exodus 37] {37:1} Now Bezalel also made the ark from setim wood, having two and one half cubits in length, and one and one half cubits in width, and the height was also one and one half cubits. And he clothed it with the purest gold, inside and out. {37:2} And for it he made a crown of gold all around, {37:3} casting four gold rings at its four corners: two rings on one side, and two on the other. {37:4} Likewise, he made bars from setim wood, which he clothed with gold, {37:5} and he placed them into the rings, which were at the sides of the ark, to carry it. {37:6} He also made the propitiatory, that is, the oracle, from the finest gold, two and one half cubits in length, and one and one half cubits in width, {37:7} and then two Cherubim of ductile gold, which he positioned at the two sides of the propitiatory: {37:8} one Cherub at the top of one side, and the other Cherub at the top of the other side. The two Cherubim were at each end of the propitiatory, {37:9} spreading their wings, and protecting the propitiatory, and gazing toward it and toward one another. {37:10} He also made the table from setim wood, with a length of two cubits, and a width of one cubit, which had a height of one and one half cubits. {37:11} And he surrounded it with the finest gold, and for it he made a ledge of gold all around, {37:12} and for the ledge itself he made a polished crown of gold, four fingers high, and upon the same, another crown of gold. {37:13} And he cast four gold rings, which he set at the four corners at each foot of the table, {37:14} opposite the crown. And he placed the bars into them, so that the table could be carried. {37:15} Likewise, the bars themselves he made from setim wood, and he surrounded them with gold. {37:16} And he made vessels for the diverse uses of the table, as well as the little cups, and bowls, and measuring cups, and the censers, from pure gold, in which the libations would be offered. {37:17} He also made the lampstand, formed from the finest gold. The branches, bowls, and little spheres, as well as the lilies, proceeded from its bar. {37:18} six on the two sides, three branches on one side, and three on the other. {37:19} Three bowls, the size of a nut, were on each branch, with little spheres and lilies, and three bowls, in the likeness of a nut, were on the other branch, with the little spheres together with the lilies. The workmanship of the six branches, which proceeded from the shaft of the lampstand, was equal. {37:20} Now on the shaft itself were four bowls, the size of a nut, and little spheres together with each one, and lilies. {37:21} and little spheres under two branches in three places, which together made six branches proceeding from one bar. {37:22} Thus, both the little spheres and the branches were from the same thing: all hand-worked from the purest gold. {37:23} He also made the seven lamps with their candle snuffers, and the vessels where the candles would be extinguished, from the finest gold. {37:24} The lampstand with all its vessels weighed a talent of gold. {37:25} He also made the altar of incense from settim wood, having one cubit on each of four sides, and in height, two. From its corners proceeded horns. {37:26} And he clothed it with the purest gold, with its grating, as well as the sides and the horns. {37:27} And for it he made a crown of gold all around, and two gold rings under the crown at each side, so that the bars might be put into them, and the altar could be carried. {37:28} Now the bars themselves he also made from settim wood, and he covered them with layers of gold. {37:29} He also composed the oil for the ointment of sanctification, and the incense, from the purest aromatics, with the skill of a perfumer.

Exodus 38 {38:1} He also made the altar of holocaust from settim wood: five cubits square, and three in height, {38:2} the horns of which proceeded from the corners. And he covered it with layers of brass. {38:3} And for its uses, he prepared diverse vessels out of brass: kettles, forceps, little hooks, larger hooks, and receptacles for the fire. {38:4} And he made its grating of brass, in the manner of a net, and under it, in the midst of the altar, its base, {38:5} casting four rings at the four ends of the net in order to set the bars, so as to carry it. {38:6} These bars he also made of settim wood, and he covered them with layers of brass. {38:7} And he drew them through the rings, which projected from the sides of the altar. But the altar itself was not solid, but hollow, made from panels and empty inside. {38:8} He also made the washbowl of brass, with its base made from the mirrors of the women who kept watch at the door of the tabernacle. {38:9} He also made the arium, at the south side of which were hangings of fine twisted linen of one hundred cubits and {38:10} twenty columns of brass with their bases. The heads of the columns and all of the engraving work were of silver. {38:11} Equally, at the northern area, the hangings, the columns, and the bases and heads of the columns were of the same measure and work and metal. {38:12} Yet truly, on that side which looks out toward the west, there were hangings of fifty cubits, and ten columns with their bases of brass. And the heads of the columns and all of the engraving work were of silver. {38:13} Furthermore, toward the east, he prepared hangings of fifty cubits: {38:14} of which, there were fifteen cubits, among three columns with their bases, holding up one side, {38:15} and on the other side, (for between the two he made the entrance of the tabernacle) there were equally hangings of fifteen cubits, and three pillars, and the same number of bases. {38:16} All the hangings of the arium were woven from fine twisted linen. {38:17} The bases of the columns were of brass, but their heads with all of their engravings were of silver. Now he also overlaid the columns of the arium themselves with silver. {38:18} And he made, at its entrance, a hanging, wrought with embroidery, of hyacinth, purple, vermillion, and fine twisted linen, which held twenty cubits in length, yet truly it was five cubits in height, as with the measure of all the hangings of the arium. {38:19} Now the columns at the entrance were four, with bases of brass, and their heads and engravings were of silver. {38:20} Likewise, the tent pegs of the tabernacle and the arium all round he made of brass. {38:21} These are the instruments of the tabernacle of the testimony, which were enumerated according to the instruction of Moses, with the ceremonies of the Levites, by the hand of Ithamar, the son of Aaron the priest, {38:22} which Bezalel, the son of Uri, the son of Hur from the tribe of Judah, had completed, just as the Lord decreed through Moses. {38:23} He was joined by his associate, Oholiab, the son of Ahipsamach, from the tribe of Dan, who himself was also an exceptional artisan of wood, and of weav ing, as well as of embroidery, with hyacinth, purple, vermilion, and fine linen. {38:24} All of the gold that was expended in the work of the Sanctuary, and that was offered in donation, was twenty-nine talents and seven hundred thirty shekels, according to the measure of the Sanctuary. {38:25} Now it was offered by those who were past the numbering of twenty years and above: from six hundred and three thousand, five hundred and fifty men able to bear arms. {38:26} There were, beyond that, one hundred talents of silver, from which were cast the bases for the Sanctuary and for the entrance where the veil hangs. {38:27} One hundred bases were made from one hundred talents, a single talent being counted for each base. {38:28} But from one thousand seven hundred and seventy-five, he made the heads of the columns, which he also clothed with silver. {38:29} Likewise, of brass, there was offered seventy-two thousand talents, and four hundred more shekels, {38:30} from which were cast the bases at the entrance of the tabernacle of the testimony, and the altar of brass with its grating, and the vessels which pertain to its use, {38:31} and the bases of the arium, as much at the circumference as at its entrance, and the tent pegs of the tabernacle and of the arium all round.

Exodus 39 {39:1} Truly, from hyacinth and purple, vermilion and fine linen, he made the vestments with which Aaron was clothed when he ministered in the holy places, just as the Lord instructed Moses. {39:2} And so he made an ephod of gold, hyacinth, and purple, and twice-dyed scarlet, and fine twisted linen, {39:3} wrought with embroidery. And he cut thin strips of gold and drew them into threads, so that they could be twisted into the weave of the first colors. {39:4} And he made two edges, coupled to one another at the top of both sides, {39:5} and a wide belt from the same colors, just as the Lord had instructed Moses. {39:6} He also prepared two onyx stones, set and enclosed in gold, and engraved with the skill of a jeweler, with the names of the sons of Israel. {39:7} And he set them in the sides of the ephod, as a memorial to the sons of Israel, just as the Lord had instructed Moses. {39:8} He also made a breastplate, wrought with embroidery, according to the work of the Likewise, the vestments, which the priests, namely, Aaron and his sons, make use of in the Sanctuary, {39:42} the sons of Israel offered, just as the Lord had instructed. {39:43} After this, when Moses saw that everything was completed, he blessed them.

[Exodus 40] {40:1} And the Lord spoke to Moses, saying:
{40:2} “In the first month, on the first day of the month, you shall raise the tabernacle of the testimony, {40:3} and you shall place the ark in it, and you shall seal the veil before it.
{40:4} And having brought in the table, you shall place the things which were solemnly commanded upon it. The lampstand shall stand with its lamps, {40:5} and the altar of gold, in which the incense is burned, shall stand before the ark of the testimony. You shall place the tent at the entrance of the tabernacle, {40:6} and before it, the altar of holocaust.
{40:7} The washtub shall stand between the altar and the tabernacle, and you shall fill it with water. {40:8} And you shall encompass the atrium and its entrance with hangings.
{40:9} And, having taken up the oil of unction, you shall anoint the tabernacle along with its articles, so that they may be sanctified. {40:10} The altar of holocaust and all its vessels, {40:11} the washtub with its base, and all things, you shall consecrate with the oil of unction, so that they may be the Holy of holies. {40:12} And you shall bring forward Aaron and his sons to the entrance of the tabernacle of the testimony, and, having washed them with water, {40:13} you shall clothe them in the holy vestments, so that they may minister to me, and so that their unction may accomplish an everlasting priesthood.”
{40:14} And Moses did all that the Lord had instructed. {40:15} Therefore, in the first month of the second year, on the first day of the month, the tabernacle was put in place. {40:16} And Moses raised it up, and he positioned the panels as well as the bases and the bars, and he set up the columns, {40:17} and he stretched out the roof over the tabernacle, imposing a cover above it, just as the Lord had decreed. {40:18} And he placed the testimony in the ark, applying the bars beneath, and the oracle above.
{40:19} And when he had brought the ark into the tabernacle, he drew the veil before it, in order to fulfill the commandment of the Lord. {40:20} And he placed the table in the tabernacle of the testimony, at the north side, beyond the veil, {40:21} arranging before it the bread of the presence, just as the Lord had instructed Moses. {40:22} And he placed the lampstand in the tabernacle of the testimony, away from the table, on the south side, {40:23} setting the lamps in order, according to the precept of the Lord. {40:24} He also positioned the altar of gold under the roof of the testimony, opposite the veil, {40:25} and he heaped upon it the incense of aromatics, just as the Lord had commanded Moses. {40:26} And he positioned the tent at the entrance of the tabernacle of the testimony, {40:27} and the altar of holocaust in the vestibule of the testimony, offering the holocaust and the sacrifices upon it, just as the Lord had decreed. {40:28} Likewise, he stationed the washtub between the tabernacle of the testimony and the altar, filling it with water. {40:29} And Moses and Aaron, along with his sons, washed their hands and feet, {40:30} whenever they would enter the covering of the covenant, and when they approached to the altar, just as the Lord had instructed Moses. {40:31} And he raised up the atrium around the tabernacle and the altar, drawing the hanging at its entrance. After all these things were perfected, {40:32} the cloud covered the tabernacle of the testimony, and the glory of the Lord filled it.
Neither could Moses enter the covering of the covenant: the cloud was covering all things, and the majesty of the Lord was flashing. For the cloud had covered everything.

When the cloud departed from the tabernacle, the sons of Israel set out by their companies.

Certainly, the cloud of the Lord lay over the tabernacle by day, and the fire by night, being seen by all the people of Israel throughout all their resting places.

 The Book of Leviticus **

Leviticus 1 {1:1} Then the Lord called Moses and spoke to him from the tabernacle of the testimony, saying: {1:2} Speak to the sons of Israel, and you shall say to them: The man among you who will offer to the Lord a sacrifice from the cattle, that is, an offering of victims of oxen or sheep: {1:3} if his offering will be a holocaust, as well as from the herd, he shall offer an immaculate male at the door of the tabernacle of the testimony, to make himself pleasing to the Lord.

{1:4} And he shall place his hand on the head of the sacrifice, and so it shall be acceptable and effective, in its expiation.

{1:5} And he shall immolate the calf in the sight of the Lord. And the priests, the sons of Aaron, shall offer its blood, pouring it all around the altar, which is before the door of the tabernacle.

{1:6} And having pulled away the skin of the victim, they shall cut up the joints into pieces, {1:7} and they shall toss fire under the altar, having arranged beforehand a stack of wood.

{1:8} And they shall lay the parts which are cut up in order upon it: namely, the head, and all the things that adjoin to the liver, {1:9} the intestines and feet having been washed with water. And the priest shall burn them on the altar as a holocaust and as a sweet odor to the Lord.

{1:10} But if the offering is from the flocks, a holocaust either of sheep or goats, he shall offer what is immaculate, in order to make himself pleasing to the Lord. And the priests, the sons of Aaron, shall pour its blood all around the altar. {1:11} And he shall immolate it at the side of the altar which looks out toward the north, in the sight of the Lord. Yet truly, the sons of Aaron shall pour its blood upon the altar all around. {1:12} And they shall divide the limbs, the head, and everything that adjoins to the liver. And they shall place them on the wood, under which the fire is to be thrown. {1:13} Yet truly, the intestines and feet they shall wash with water.

And the priest, having offered everything, shall burn it upon the altar as a holocaust and as a most sweet odor to the Lord.

{1:14} But if the oblation of a holocaust to the Lord is of birds, either of turtledoves, or young pigeons, {1:15} the priest shall offer it at the altar: and twisting back the neck with the head, and also rupturing the place of the wound, he shall make the blood run down over the edge of the altar.

{1:16} Yet truly, the craw of the throat and the feathers he shall cast near the altar at the eastern section, in the place where the ashes are usually poured out. {1:17} And he shall break its wing joints, but he shall neither cut, nor divide it with metal, and he shall burn it upon the altar, placing fire under the wood. It is a holocaust and an oblation of a most sweet odor to the Lord.

Leviticus 2 {2:1} When a soul will offer an oblation of sacrifice to the Lord, his oblation shall be of fine wheat flour, and he shall pour oil over it, and he shall set down frankincense, {2:2} and he shall bring it to the sons of Aaron, the priests. One of them shall take a handful of the flour with oil, as well as all the frankincense, and he shall place it as a memorial upon the altar, as a most sweet odor to the Lord.

{2:3} Then what will remain of the sacrifice shall be for Aaron and his sons, the Holy of holies from the oblations of the Lord. {2:4} But when you will offer a sacrifice baked in the oven from fine wheat flour, specifically: loaves without leaven, sprinkled with oil, and unleavened wafers, rubbed with oil: {2:5} if your oblation will be from the frying pan, of flour tempered with oil and without leaven, {2:6} you shall divide it into little pieces and pour oil over it. {2:7} But if the sacrifice will be from the oven grating, equally the fine wheat flour shall be sprinkled with oil. {2:8} When you are offering it to the Lord, you shall deliver it into the hands of the priest.

{2:9} And when he has offered it, he shall take a memorial from the sacrifice and burn it upon the altar as a sweet odor to the Lord. {2:10} But whatever is left shall be for Aaron and his sons, the Holy of holies from the oblations of the Lord. {2:11} Every oblation that is offered to the Lord shall be made without leaven; neither shall any leaven or honey be burned with the sacrifice to the Lord. {2:12} You shall offer only the first-fruits of these along with the gifts. Yet truly, these shall not be placed upon the altar as an odor of sweetness. {2:13} Whatever sacrifice you will offer, you shall season it with salt; neither shall you take away the salt of the covenant of your God from your sacrifice. In all your oblations, you shall offer salt. {2:14} But if you will offer a gift of the first-fruits of your grain to the Lord, from ears of grain still green, you shall parch it at the fire, and break it open in the manner of meal. And so shall you offer your first-fruits to the Lord: {2:15} pouring oil over it, and imposing frankincense, because it is an oblation of the Lord.

{2:16} From this, the priest shall burn, as a memorial of the gift, a portion of the cracked grain and the oil, as well as all of the frankincense.

Leviticus 3 {3:1} But if his oblation will be a sacrifice of peace offerings, and he wishes to offer it from the oxen, whether male or female, he shall offer what is immaculate, in the sight of the Lord.

{3:2} And he shall place his hand upon the head of the victim, which shall be immolated at the entrance of the tabernacle of the testimony. And the sons of Aaron, the priests, shall pour the blood all around the altar.

{3:3} And they shall offer from the sacrifice of peace offerings, as an oblation to the Lord: the fat which covers the vital organs, and whatever fat is interior, {3:4} the two kidneys with the fat that covers the sides, and the mesh of the liver with the two little kidneys.

{3:5} And they shall burn them upon the altar as a holocaust, placing fire under the wood, as an oblation of a most sweet odor to the Lord.

{3:6} Yet truly, if his oblation and the sacrifice of peace offerings will be from the sheep, whether he will offer a male or a female, they shall be immaculate. {3:7} If he will offer a lamb in the sight of the Lord, {3:8} he shall place his hand upon the head of the victim. And it shall be immolated at the vestibule of the tabernacle of the testimony. And the sons of Aaron shall pour its blood all around the altar. {3:9} And they shall offer from the victim of peace offerings, as a sacrifice to the Lord: the fat, and the entire rump {3:10} with the kidneys, and the fat that covers the abdomen, and all the vital organs, and both the little kidneys with the fat that is near the sides, and the mesh of the liver with the little kidneys. 3:11) And the priest shall burn them upon the altar, as fuel for the fire and as an oblation of the Lord. 3:12) If his oblation will be a goat, and he will offer it to the Lord, 3:13) he shall place his hand upon its head, and he shall immolate it at the entrance of the tabernacle of the testimony. And the sons of Aaron shall pour its blood all around the altar. 3:14) And they shall take from it, to feed the Lord's fire: the fat which covers the abdomen, and that which covers all the vital organs, 3:15) the two little kidneys with the mesh that is over them near the sides, and the fat of the liver with the little kidneys. 3:16) And the priest shall burn them upon the altar, as nourishment for the fire and as a most sweet odor. All the fat shall be for the Lord; 3:17) by a perpetual law, in your generations and in all of your habitations, neither blood nor fat shall you eat at all.

[Leviticus 4] 4:1) And the Lord spoke to Moses, saying: 4:2) Say to the sons of Israel: The soul which will have sinned through ignorance, and concerning any of the commandments of the Lord that he instructed not to be done, if anything at all has been done: 4:3) if the priest, who is anointed, will have sinned, causing the people to commit a transgression, he shall offer to the Lord for his sin an immaculate calf. 4:4) And he shall lead it to the door of the tabernacle of the testimony in the sight of the Lord. And he shall place his hand upon its head, and he shall immolate it to the Lord. 4:5) Likewise, he shall take from the blood of the calf, carrying it into the tabernacle of the testimony, 4:6) and having dipped his finger into the blood, he shall sprinkle it seven times in the sight of the Lord, opposite the veil of the Sanctuary. 4:7) And he shall place some of the same blood over the horns of the altar of most pleasing incense to the Lord, which is in the tabernacle of the testimony. Then he shall pour out the remainder of the blood at the base of the altar of holocaust at the entrance of the tabernacle. 4:8) And, on behalf of the sin, he shall take the fat of the calf, both that which covers the vital organs and all that is interior, 4:9) the two little kidneys, and the mesh that is on them near the sides, and the fat of the liver with the little kidneys, 4:10) just as it is taken from the calf of the sacrifice of peace offerings. And he shall burn them upon the altar of holocaust. 4:11) Yet truly, the skin and all the flesh, with the head and the feet, and the intestines and the dung, 4:12) and the remainder of the body, he shall carry away, beyond the camp, to the clean place where the ashes are usually poured out. And he shall burn them upon a stack of wood. There, in the place where the ashes have been poured out, they will be burned. 4:13) But if all the crowd of Israel will have been ignorant, and through inexperience have done what is contrary to the commandment of the Lord, 4:14) and afterwards shall understand their sin: they shall offer a calf on behalf of their sin, and they shall lead it to the door of the tabernacle. 4:15) And the elders of the people shall place their hands upon its head in the sight of the Lord. And when the calf has been immolated in the sight of the Lord, 4:16) the priest who is anointed shall carry some of its blood into the tabernacle of the testimony. 4:17) and he shall dip his finger in it, sprinkling it seven times opposite the veil. 4:18) And he shall place some of the same blood on the horns of the altar, which is in the presence of the Lord in the tabernacle of the testimony. But the remainder of the blood he shall pour out at the base of the altar of holocaust, which is at the door of the tabernacle of the testimony. 4:19) And he shall take all its fat and burn it upon the altar, 4:20) doing so with this calf in the same manner as he did before. And while the priest is praying for them, the Lord will forgive them. 4:21) But the calf itself he shall carry away, beyond the camp, and he shall also burn it, just as with the previous calf, because it is for the sin of the multitude. 4:22) If a leader will have sinned, and through ignorance will have done one of the many things which the law of the Lord prohibits, 4:23) and afterwards he shall understand his sin: he shall offer an immaculate he-goat from among the goats, as a sacrifice to the Lord. 4:24) And he shall place his hand upon its head. And when he will have immolated it, in the place where the holocaust is usually slain, in the sight of the Lord, because it is for sin, 4:25) the priest shall dip his finger in the blood of the victim for sin, touching the horns of the altar of holocaust, and pouring out the remainder at its base. 4:26) Yet truly, the fat he shall burn upon it, just as is usually done with the victims of peace offerings. And the priest shall pray for him and for his sin, and he shall be released from it. 4:27) But if a soul from the people of the land will have sinned through ignorance, so as to have done any of those things that the law of the Lord prohibits, and so commit a transgression, 4:28) and he shall realize his sin: he shall offer an immaculate she-goat. 4:29) And he shall place his hand upon the head of the victim which is for sin. And he shall immolate it in the place of the holocaust. 4:30) And the priest shall take some of the blood with his finger, and touching the horns of the altar of holocaust, he shall pour out the remainder at its base. 4:31) But taking away all the fat, just as it is usually taken away from the victims of peace offerings, he shall burn it upon the altar as a sweet odor to the Lord. And he shall pray for him, and he shall be released from it. 4:32) But if instead he will offer from the flock a victim for his sin, specifically, an immaculate female sheep: 4:33) he shall place his hand upon its head, and he shall immolate it in the place where the victims of holocausts are usually slain. 4:34) And the priest shall take some of its blood with his finger, and touching the horns of the altar of holocaust, he shall pour out the remainder at its base. 4:35) Likewise, all of the fat shall be taken away, just as the fat of the ram, which is immolated for peace offerings, is usually taken away. And he shall burn it upon the altar as an incense of the Lord. And he shall pray for him and for his sin, and he shall be released from it.

[Leviticus 5] 5:1) If a soul will have sinned, and heard the voice of one testifying under oath, and he is a witness because either he has seen it himself, or he is aware of it: if he does not reveal it, he shall carry his iniquity. 5:2) The soul that will have touched anything unclean, either that which has been killed by a beast, or that which has died on its own, or any other creeping thing, and will have forgotten its uncleanness, he is guilty and has committed a transgression. 5:3) And if he will have touched anything from the uncleanness of man, according to every kind of impurity by which he may be defiled, and having forgotten it, afterwards realizes it, he shall be guilty of committing a transgression. 5:4) The soul who swears and offers from his own lips that he would do either evil or good, and who will have bound the same with an oath and with his own words, and, having put away, if he is not able to offer a beast, let him offer two turtledoves or two young pigeons to the Lord, one for sin, and the other for a holocaust. But whatever will remain, he shall cause it to drip down to the base, because it is for sin. Yet truly, the other he shall burn as a holocaust, just as is usually done.

And the priest shall pray for him, and for his sin, and he shall be released from it. But if his hand is unable to offer two turtledoves or two young pigeons, he shall offer, for his sin, the tenth part of an ephah of fine wheat flour. He shall not put oil in it, nor place upon it any frankincense, because it is for sin. And he shall deliver it to the priest, who shall take a handful of it, and shall burn it upon the altar as a memorial for him who offered it, praying for him and making atonement.

If a soul, by mistake, shall have transgressed the ceremonies in those things that are sanctified to the Lord, he shall offer for his offense an immaculate ram from the flocks, as such as can be bought for two shekels, according to the measure and estimation of the Lord, for an atonement. Yet truly, the remaining part he himself shall have as a gift.

And the Lord spoke to Moses, saying: If a soul, by mistake, shall have transgressed against the Lord.

Likewise, this is the law of the sacrifice for a transgression. It is the Holy of holies. Therefore, where the holocaust is immolated, the victim for a transgression shall also be slain. Its blood shall be poured out all around the altar. They shall offer from it: the rump, the kidneys, and the fat that is near the sides, and the mesh of the vitals, the fat that covers the vital organs, the two little kidneys, and the fat that is near the sides, and the mesh of the liver with the little kidneys. And the priest shall burn them upon the altar. It is the incense of the Lord on behalf of a transgression.
feed on this flesh in a holy place, because it is the Holy of holies. {7:7} Just as the sacrifice for sin is offered, so also for a transgression, one law shall be for both sacrifices. It shall belong to the priest who offers it. {7:8} The priest who offers the victim of holocaust shall have its skin. {7:9} And every sacrifice of fine wheat flour which is baked in the oven, and whatever is prepared on the oven grating or in the frying pan, shall be for the priest who offers it. {7:10} Whether these will be sprinkled with oil, or left dry, an equal measure shall be divided to each one of the sons of Aaron. {7:11} This is the law of the victim of peace offerings, which is offered to the Lord. {7:12} If the oblation will be an act for giving thanks, they shall offer bread without leaven sprinkled with oil, and unleavened wafers anointed with oil, and fine wheat flour fried, and cakes sprinkled and mixed with oil, {7:13} and also, leavened bread with the sacrifice of thanksgiving, which is immolated for peace offerings. {7:14} Of these, one shall be offered to the Lord as the first-fruits, and one shall be for the priest who will pour out the blood of the victim. {7:15} The flesh of it shall be eaten on the same day; neither shall any of it remain until morning. {7:16} If anyone, by a vow or of his own accord, will have offered a sacrifice, it shall be eaten in a similar manner on the same day. But then if any of it will have remained until tomorrow, it is lawful to eat it. {7:17} Then whatever will be found on the third day shall be consumed with fire. {7:18} If anyone will have eaten from the flesh of the victim of peace offerings on the third day, the oblation will be nullified; neither will it benefit the one who offered it. But instead, whatever soul will contaminate itself with such foods will be guilty of a betrayal. {7:19} The flesh that has touched anything unclean shall not be eaten, but it shall be burnt with fire. He that is clean will feed on it. {7:20} If a soul which is polluted will have eaten from the flesh of the sacrifice of peace offerings, which is offered to the Lord, he shall perish from his people. {7:21} And whoever will have touched the uncleanness of man, or of beast, or of anything which is able to defile, and who will have eaten from this kind of flesh, shall be cut off from his people. {7:22} And the Lord spoke to Moses, saying: {7:23} Say to the sons of Israel: The fat of a sheep, and of an ox, and of a goat you shall not eat. {7:24} The fat of a carcass that has died on its own, or of an animal that has been seized by a wild beast, you shall have for various uses. {7:25} If anyone will have eaten the fat which ought to be offered as a burnt sacrifice of the Lord, he shall perish from his people. {7:26} Likewise, you shall not take as food the blood of any animals at all, whether of birds or beasts. {7:27} Every soul that will have eaten blood shall perish from his people. {7:28} And the Lord spoke to Moses, saying: {7:29} Speak to the sons of Israel, saying: Whoever offers a victim of peace offerings to the Lord, let him also offer at the same time a sacrifice, that is, its libations. {7:30} He shall hold in his hands the fat of the victim, and the breast. And when he will have offered and consecrated both to the Lord, he shall deliver them to the priest, {7:31} who shall burn the fat upon the altar. But the breast shall be for Aaron and his sons. {7:32} Likewise also, the right shoulder of the victim of peace offerings shall fall to the priest as first-fruits. {7:33} Among the sons of Aaron, whoever will have offered the blood and the fat, the same one shall also have the right shoulder for his portion. {7:34} So then, the breast that is lifted up, and the shoulder that is separated, I have taken from the sons of Israel, from their victims of peace offerings, and I have given these to Aaron the priest and to his sons, as a law in perpetuity, from all the people of Israel. {7:35} This is the anointing of Aaron and his sons, by the ceremonies of the Lord, in the day when Moses offered them, so that they may fulfill the priesthood, {7:36} and this is what the Lord instructed to be given to them by the sons of Israel, as a perpetual observance in their generations. {7:37} This is the law of the holocaust, and of the sacrifice for sin, and for transgression, and for consecration, and for the victims of peace offerings, {7:38} which the Lord appointed to Moses on mount Sinai, when he commanded the sons of Israel to offer their oblations to the Lord in the desert of Sinai.

[Leviticus 8] {8:1} And the Lord spoke to Moses, saying: {8:2} Take Aaron, with his sons, their vestments, and the oil of anointing, a calf for sin, two rams, and a basket with unleavened bread, {8:3} and gather together all the assembly at the door of the tabernacle. {8:4} And Moses did as the Lord had commanded. And when all the crowd was gathered together before the entrance of the tabernacle, {8:5} he said: “This is the word that the Lord has ordered to be done.” {8:6} And immediately, he brought forward Aaron and his sons. And when he had washed them, {8:7} he vested the high priest with the linen undergarment, wrapped him with the wide belt, and clothed him with the hyacinth tunic, and over it he imposed the ephod. {8:8} And tying it to the belt, he fitted it to the breastplate, on which was Doctrine and Truth. {8:9} Also, he wrapped the headress on his head, and over it, opposite the forehead, he placed the plate of gold, consecrated with sanctification, just as the Lord had instructed him. {8:10} He also took up the oil of anointing, with which he anointed the tabernacle, along with all of its articles. {8:11} And when he had sprinkled the altar seven times to sanctify it, he anointed it and all its vessels. And the washtub with its base he sanctified with the oil. {8:12} And pouring the oil over Aaron’s head, he anointed and consecrated him. {8:13} Likewise, after he had offered his sons, he vested them with linen tunics, and wrapped them with wide belts, and placed headdresses on them, just as the Lord had commanded. {8:14} He also offered the calf for sin. And when Aaron and his sons had placed their hands upon its head, {8:15} he immolated it. And drawing the blood, and dipping his finger in it, he touched the horns of the altar all around. And when it was expiated and sanctified, he poured out the remainder of the blood at its base. {8:16} Yet truly, the fat which was on the vital organs, and the mesh of the liver, and the two little kidneys with their fat, he burned upon the altar. {8:17} And the calf with the skin, and the flesh, and the dung, he burned beyond the camp, just as the Lord had instructed. {8:18} He also offered a ram as a holocaust. And when Aaron and his sons had imposed their hands upon its head, {8:19} he immolated it, and he poured out its blood around the altar. {8:20} And cutting the ram into pieces, he burned its head, and the limbs, and the fat in the fire, {8:21} having first washed the intestines and the feet. And then he burned the whole of the ram upon the altar, because it was a holocaust of most sweet odor to the Lord, just as he had instructed him. {8:22} He also offered the second ram, as a consecration of priests. And Aaron and his sons placed their hands upon its head. {8:23} And when Moses had immolated it, taking up some of its blood, he touched the tip of Aaron’s right ear, and the thumb of his right hand, and similarly also his foot. {8:24} He also offered the sons of Aaron. And when, from the blood of the ram which was immolated, he had touched the tip of the right ear of each one, and the thumbs of their right hands, as well as their feet, he poured out the remainder upon the altar all around. {8:25} Yet truly, the fat, and the rump, and all the fat that covers the intestines, and the mesh of the liver, and the two kidneys with their fat, and the right shoulder, he separated. {8:26} Then, taking bread without leaven from the basket of unleavened bread, which was before the Lord, and a cake sprinkled with oil, and a wafer, he placed them upon the fat and the right shoulder, {8:27} delivering all these to Aaron and his sons. And when they had lifted them up in the sight of the Lord, {8:28} he received them again from their hands, and he burned them upon the altar of holocaust, because it was an oblation of consecration, as a sweet odor of sacrifice to the Lord. {8:29} And he took his portion from the ram of consecration, and he lifted up its breast in the sight of the Lord, just as the Lord had instructed him. {8:30} And taking up the ointment, and the blood that was on the altar, he sprinkled it over Aaron and his vestments, and over his sons and their vestments. {8:31} And when he had sanctified them with their vestments, he instructed them, saying: “Cook the flesh before the entrance of the tabernacle, and eat it there. Likewise, eat the loaves of consecration, which have been placed in the basket, just as the Lord instructed me, saying: ‘Aaron and his sons shall eat them.’ {8:32} Then whatever will remain of the flesh and the loaves shall be consumed with fire. {8:33} Also, you shall not exit from the door of the tabernacle for seven days, until the day on which the time of your consecration shall be completed. For in seven days the consecration is finished, {8:34} even as it has begun at this present time, so that the rite of the sacrifice might be accomplished. {8:35} Day and night you shall remain in the tabernacle, observing the watches of the Lord, otherwise you shall die. For so it has been commanded to me.” {8:36} And Aaron and his sons did everything that the Lord spoke by the hand of Moses.

[Leviticus 9] {9:1} Then, the eighth day having arrived, Moses called Aaron and his sons, and those greater by birth from Israel, and he said to Aaron: {9:2} “Take a calf for sin from the herd, and a ram as a holocaust, both immaculate, and offer them in the sight of the Lord. {9:3} And to the sons of Israel, you shall say: ‘Take a he-goat for sin, and a calf as well as a lamb, both one-year-old and without blemish, as a holocaust. {9:4} Take also an ox and a ram for peace offerings. And immolate them before the Lord, offering with the sacrifice of each one fine wheat flour sprinkled with oil. For today the Lord will appear to you.' ” {9:5} And so they brought everything that Moses had ordered before the door of the tabernacle, where, when all the multitude stood together, {9:6} Moses said: “This is the word, which the Lord has instructed. Accomplish it, and his glory will appear to you.” {9:7} And he said to Aaron: “Approach toward the altar, and immolate on behalf of your sin. Offer the holocaust, and pray for yourself and for the people. And when you have slain the victim for the people, pray for them, just as the Lord has instructed.” {9:8} And immediately Aaron, approaching toward the altar, immolated the calf for his sin. {9:9} And his sons brought its blood to him, and dipping his finger in it, he touched the horns of the altar, and he poured out the remainder at its base. {9:10} And the fat, and the little kidneys, and the mesh of the liver, which are for sin, he burned upon the altar, just as the Lord had instructed Moses. {9:11} Yet truly, the flesh and its skins he burned with fire beyond the camp. {9:12} He also immolated the victim of holocaust. And his sons brought its blood to him, which he poured out all around the altar. {9:13} And when the victim itself was cut into pieces, they brought him the head and each of the limbs, all of which he burned with fire upon the altar, {9:14} having first washed the intestines and the feet with water. {9:15} And making an offering for the sin of the people, he slew the he-goat. And expiating the altar, {9:16} he accomplished the holocaust, {9:17} adding to it the sacrifice of the libations, which are to be offered together, and burning them upon the altar, separately from the ceremonies of the morning holocaust. {9:18} He also immolated the ox, as well as the ram, as peace offerings for the people. And his sons brought him the blood, which he poured out upon the altar all around. {9:19} Then the fat of the ox, and the rump of the ram, and the two little kidneys with their fat, and the mesh of the liver, {9:20} they placed upon the breasts. And when the fat had been burned upon the altar, {9:21} Aaron separated their breasts and the right shoulders, lifting them up in the sight of the Lord, as Moses had instructed. {9:22} And extending his hands to the people, he blessed them. And so, the victims for sin, and the holocausts, and the peace offerings being completed, he descended. {9:23} Then Moses and Aaron entered the tabernacle of the testimony, and afterwards came out and blessed the people. And the glory of the Lord appeared to the entire multitude. {9:24} And, behold, a fire from the Lord devoured the holocaust, and the fat which was on the altar. When the crowd had seen this, they praised the Lord, falling on their faces.

[Leviticus 10] {10:1} And the sons of Aaron, Nadab and Abihu, picking up their censers, placed fire in them and incense upon them, offering in the sight of the Lord a strange fire, such as was not instructed of them. {10:2} And fire coming out from the Lord destroyed them, and they died in the sight of the Lord. {10:3} And Moses said to Aaron: “This is what the Lord has spoken: ‘I will be sanctified in those who approach me, and I will be glorified in the sight of all the people.’ ” And upon hearing this, Aaron was silent. {10:4} Then Moses called Mishael and Elzaphan, the sons of Uzziel, the paternal uncle of Aaron, and he said to them, “Go and take your brothers from the sight of the Sanctuary, and carry them beyond the camp.” {10:5} And moving quickly, they took them as they lay, vested with linen tunics, and cast them outside, just as had been commanded them. {10:6} And Moses said to Aaron, and to his sons, Eleazar and Ithamar: “Do not uncover your heads, and do not rend your garments, lest perhaps you may die, and indignation may rise up over the entire assembly. Let your brothers, and all the house of Israel, bewail the burning that the Lord has kindled. {10:7} But you shall not depart from the door of the tabernacle; otherwise, you shall perish. For certainly the oil of holy anointing is upon you.” And they did all things according to the precept of Moses. {10:8} The Lord also said to Aaron: {10:9} “You shall not drink wine, nor anything that is able to inebriate you or your sons, when you enter into the tabernacle of the testimony, lest you die. For it is an everlasting precept in your generations. {10:10} And so may you have the knowledge to discern between holy and profane, between polluted and clean. {10:11} And so may you teach the sons of Israel all my ordinances, which the Lord has spoken to them by the hand of Moses.” {10:12} And Moses spoke to Aaron, and to his sons, Eleazar and Ithamar, who were remaining: “Take the sacrifice which remains from the oblation of the Lord, and eat it without leaveen next to the altar, because it is the Holy of holies. {10:13} For you shall eat it in a holy place, which is given to you and to your sons, from the oblations of the Lord, just as has been instructed me. {10:14} Likewise, the breast which is offered, and the shoulder which is separated, you shall eat in a most clean place, you and your sons, and your daughters with you. For these have been set aside for you and your children from the victims which benefit the sons of Israel. {10:15} Since they have lifted up in the sight of the Lord, the shoulder, and the breast, and the fat that is burned on the altar, these also belong to you and to your sons as a perpetual law, just as the Lord has instructed.” {10:16} Meanwhile, when Moses was searching for the he-goat, which had been offered for sin, he discovered it burned up. And being angry against Eleazar and Ithamar, the sons of Aaron who were remaining, he said: {10:17} “Why did you not eat the sacrifice for sin in the holy place, which is the Holy of holies, and which was given to you, so that you might carry the iniquity of the people, and might pray for them in the sight of the Lord, especially since none of its blood has been brought into the holy places, and since you should have eaten it in the Sanctuary, as was instructed me?” {10:19} Aaron responded: “This day, the victim for sin has been offered, and the holocaust in the sight of the Lord. But you see what has happened to me. How could I eat it, or please the Lord in the ceremonies, having a sorrowful mind?” {10:20} But when Moses had heard this, he was satisfied.

[Leviticus 11] {11:1} And the Lord spoke to Moses and Aaron, saying: {11:2} Say to the sons of Israel: These are the animals that you ought to eat out of all the living things of the earth. {11:3} All that has a divided hoof, and that chews over again, among the cattle, you shall eat. {11:4} But whatever certainly chews over again, but has a hoof that is not divided, such as the camel and others, these you shall not eat, and you shall consider them to be among what is unclean. {11:5} The rock rabbit which chews over again, and whose hoof is not divided, is unclean, {11:6} and so also is the hare, for it too chews over again, yet its hoof is not divided, {11:7} and also the swine, which, though its hoof is divided, does not chew over again. {11:8} The flesh of these you shall not eat, nor shall you touch their carcasses, because they are unclean to you. {11:9} These are the things that breed in the waters, and which it is lawful to eat. All that has little fins and scales, as much in the sea, as in the rivers and ponds, you shall eat. {11:10} But whatever does not have fins and scales, of those things that live and move in the waters, shall be abominable to you, {11:11} and detestable; their flesh you shall not eat, and their carcasses you shall avoid. {11:12} All that does not have fins and scales in the waters shall be polluted. {11:13} These are those things among the birds which you must not eat, and which are to be avoided by you: the eagle, and the griffin, and the osprey, {11:14} and the kite, as well as the vulture, according to their kind. {11:15} And all that is of the raven kind, according to their likeness, {11:16} the ostrich, and the owl, and the gull, and the hawk, according to its kind, {11:17} the owl, and the sea bird, and the ibis, {11:18} and the swan, and the pelican, and the marsh hen, {11:19} the heron, and the plover according to its kind, the crested hoopoe, and also the bat. {11:20} Of all that flies, whatever steps upon four feet shall be abominable to you. {11:21} But whatever certainly walks upon four feet, and also has longer legs behind, with which it hops upon the earth, {11:22} you shall eat, such as the beetle in its kind, and the cricket, and grasshopper, and the locust, each one according to its kind. {11:23} But among flying things, whatever has only four feet shall be detestable to you. {11:24} And whoever will have touched their carcasses shall be defiled, and he shall be unclean until evening. {11:25} And if it will be necessary to carry any of these dead things, he shall wash his clothes, and he shall be unclean until the sun sets. {11:26} Every animal that certainly has a hoof, but which is not divided, nor does it chew over again, shall be unclean. And whoever will have touched it shall be contaminated. {11:27} Whatever walks upon its hands, out of all the animals that advance on all fours, shall be unclean. Whoever will have touched their carcasses shall be polluted until evening. {11:28} And whoever will have carried this kind of carcass shall wash his clothes, and he shall be unclean until evening. For all these are unclean to you. {11:29} Likewise, these shall be considered among the polluted things, out of all that moves upon the earth: the weasel, and the mouse, and the crocodile, each one according to its kind, {11:30} the shrew, and the chameleon, and the gecko, and the lizard, and the mole. {11:31} All these are unclean. Whoever will have touched their carcasses shall be unclean until evening. {11:32} And anything upon which something from their carcasses will have fallen shall be defiled, whether it is a vessel of wood, or a garment, or skins, or haircloths, or anything by which work is done. These shall be dipped in water and shall be defiled until evening, but then afterwards these shall be clean. {11:33} But an earthen vessel, into which something from these will fall, shall be defiled; and therefore it is to be broken. {11:34} Any of the foods that you eat, if water from such a vessel will have been poured upon it, it shall be unclean. And every liquid which one may drink from such a vessel shall be unclean. {11:35} And if anything from among these kinds of dead things has fallen upon it, it shall be unclean, whether it be an oven, or a pot with feet, these shall be unclean and shall be destroyed. {11:36} Yet truly, fountains and cisterns, and all reservoirs of water shall be clean. Whoever will have touched their carcasses shall be defiled. {11:37} If it falls upon seed grain, it shall not defile it. {11:38} But if anyone has poured water upon the seed grain, and afterwards it was touched by the carcasses, it shall be immediately defiled. {11:39} If any animals will have died, from which it is lawful for you to eat, whoever will have touched its carcass shall be unclean until evening. {11:40} And whoever will have eaten or carried anything of these shall wash his clothes, and he shall be unclean until evening. All that creeps across the earth shall be abominable, neither shall it take up as food. {11:42} Whatever advances by four feet upon the chest, or that has many feet, or that drags across the soil, you shall not eat, because it is abominable. {11:43} Do not be willing to contaminate your souls, nor shall you touch any of these, lest... you become unclean. {11:44} For I am the Lord your God. Be holy, for I am Holy. Do not pollute your souls with any creeping thing, which moves across the land. {11:45} For I am the Lord, who led you away from the land of Egypt, so that I would be your God; you shall be holy, for I am Holy. {11:46} This is the law of animals and flying things, and of every living soul that moves in the waters or creeps upon the land, {11:47} so that you may know the difference between clean and unclean, and so that you may know what you ought to eat, and what you ought to refuse.

[Leviticus 12] {12:1} And the Lord spoke to Moses, saying: {12:2} Speak to the sons of Israel, and you shall say to them: A woman, if she has received the seed to bear a male, shall be unclean for seven days, just as in the days of separation due to menstruation. {12:3} And on the eighth day, the little infant shall be circumcised. {12:4} Yet truly, she herself shall remain for thirty-three days in the blood of her purification. She shall not touch anything holy, nor shall she enter into the Sanctuary, until the days of her purification are completed. {12:5} But if she will bear a female, she shall be unclean for two weeks, according to the custom of her monthly flow, and she shall remain in the blood of her purification for sixty-six days. {12:6} And when the days of her purification have been completed, for a son or for a daughter, she shall bring to the door of the tabernacle of the testimony, a one-year-old lamb as a holocaust, and a young pigeon or a turtledove for sin, and she shall deliver them to the priest. {12:7} He shall offer them in the sight of the Lord, and he shall pray for her. And so she shall be cleansed from the issue of her blood. This is the law for one who bears a male or a female. {12:8} And if her hand has not obtained or been able to offer a lamb, she shall take two turtledoves or two young pigeons: one as a holocaust, and the other for sin. And the priest shall pray for her, and so she shall be cleansed.

[Leviticus 13] {13:1} And the Lord spoke to Moses and Aaron, saying: {13:2} The man in whose skin or flesh there will have arisen a diverse color, or a pustule, or something that seems to shine, which is the mark of leprosy, shall be brought to Aaron the priest, or to anyone you wish among his sons. {13:3} And if he sees that leprosy is in his skin, and that the hair has turned a white color, and that the place where the leprosy appears is lower than the rest of the skin and the flesh, then it is the mark of leprosy, and at his judgment he shall be separated. {13:4} But if there will be a shining whiteness in the skin, but it is not lower than the rest of the flesh, and the hair is of unaffected color, the priest shall seclude him for seven days. {13:5} And on the seventh day he shall examine him, and if the leprosy certainly has not increased further, and has not spread itself in the skin, he shall seclude him again, for another seven days. {13:6} And on the seventh day, he shall evaluate him. If the leprosy has become obscured, and has not increased in the skin, he shall declare him clean, because it is a scab. And the man shall wash his clothes, and he shall be clean. {13:7} But if the leprosy increases again, after he was seen by the priest and restored to cleanliness, he shall be brought to him, {13:8} and he shall be condemned of uncleanness. {13:9} If the mark of leprosy has been in a man, he shall be brought to the priest, {13:10} and he shall look upon him. And when there is a white color in the skin, and it has an altered appearance in its hair, and also the same flesh seems alive, {13:11} it shall be judged a chronic leprosy, which has grown into the skin. And so the priest shall declare him contaminated, and he shall not seclude him, because he is clearly unclean. {13:12} But if the leprosy will have flourished, coursing through the skin, and will have covered all the skin from the head even to the feet, whatever falls under the sight of the eyes, {13:13} the priest shall examine him, and he shall judge that the leprosy that he possesses is very clean, because it has all turned to whiteness, and for this reason the man shall be clean. {13:14} Yet truly, when the living flesh shall appear in him, {13:15} then by the judgment of the priest he shall be polluted, and he shall be considered to be among the unclean. For the live flesh, if it is spotted with leprosy, is unclean. {13:16} And if again it will have turned into whiteness, and will have covered the entire man, {13:17} the priest shall examine him, and he shall discern him to be clean. {13:18} But when there has been an ulcer in the flesh and the skin, and it has healed, {13:19} and in the place of the ulcer, there appears a white or reddish scar, the man shall be brought to the priest. {13:20} And when he will have seen the place of the leprosy lower than the rest of the flesh, and that the hair has turned white, he shall declare him contaminated. For the plague of leprosy has arisen from the ulcer. {13:21} But if the hair is of the usual color, and the scar is somewhat obscure and is not lower than the nearby flesh, he shall seclude him for seven days. {13:22} And if it will have certainly increased, he shall judge him to have leprosy. {13:23} But if it stays in its place, it is the scar of an ulcer, and the man shall be clean. {13:24} But if flesh and skin has been burned by fire, and, having been healed, now has a white or red scar, {13:25} the priest shall examine it, and if he sees that it has turned white, and that its place is lower than the rest of the skin, he shall declare him contaminated. For the mark of leprosy has arisen in the scar. {13:26} But if the color of the hair has not been changed, nor is the mark lower than the rest of the flesh, and the leprosy itself appears to be somewhat obscure, he shall seclude him for seven days, {13:27} and on the seventh day he shall evaluate him. If the leprosy will have increased further in the skin, he shall declare him contaminated. {13:28} But if the whiteness stays in its place and is not very clear, it is the mark of a burn, and for this reason he shall be declared clean, because it is only the scar from a burn. {13:29} If leprosy will have sprung up in the head or the beard of a man or woman, the priest shall look upon them, {13:30} and if the place is certainly lower than the rest of the flesh, and the hair is golden, and thinner than usual, he shall declare them contaminated, because it is the leprosy of the head and the beard. {13:31} But if he sees that the place of the spot is equal with the nearby flesh, and that the hair is black, he shall seclude him for seven days, {13:32} and on the seventh day he shall examine it. If the spot has not increased, and the hair has kept its color, and the place of the mark is equal with the rest of the flesh, {13:33} the man shall be shaven, except in the place of the spot, and he shall be secluded for another seven days. {13:34} On the seventh day, if the mark seems to have stayed in its place, and it is not lower than the rest of the flesh, he shall declare him clean, and, his clothes having been washed, he shall be clean. {13:35} But if, after his cleansing, the spot will have increased again in the skin, {13:36} he shall no longer inquire as to whether the hair has turned yellow, because he is plainly unclean. {13:37} Furthermore, if the spot has not increased, and the hair is black, let him know that the man is healed: and let him confidently pronounce him clean. {13:38} If a whiteness will have appeared in the skin of a man or a woman, {13:39} the priest shall examine them. If he detects an obscured whiteness shining in the skin, may he know that it is not leprosy, but a white-colored blemish, and that the man is clean. {13:40} The man whose hair falls off of his head is bald and clean. {13:41} And if the hair falls off of his forehead, he is bald in front and clean. {13:42} But if in the bald head or bald forehead there has arisen a white or reddish color, {13:43} and the priest will have seen this, he shall condemn him without doubt of leprosy, which has arisen in the baldness. {13:44} Therefore, whoever will have been spotted by leprosy, and who has been separated at the judgment of the priest, {13:45} shall have his clothes unstitched, his head bare, his mouth covered with a cloth, and he himself shall cry out that he is contaminated and filthy. {13:46} The entire time that he is a leper and unclean he shall live alone outside the camp. {13:47} A woolen or linen garment that will have held the leprosy, {13:48} in the main fibers or in any of the threads, or certainly in a skin, or whatever has been made from a skin, {13:49} if it has been infected with a white or red spot, it shall be considered to be leprosy, and it shall be shown to the priest. {13:50} And he, having examined it, shall close it up for seven days. {13:51} And on the seventh day, having looked at it again, if he detects an increase, it is a persistent leprosy; he shall judge the garment to be polluted, along with everything with which it has been found. {13:52} And because of this, it shall be burned in flames. {13:53} But if he will have seen that it has not increased, {13:54} he shall instruct them, and they shall wash whatever has the leprosy in it, and he shall close it up for another seven days. {13:55} And when he will have seen that the former appearance has not returned, even if the leprosy has not increased, he shall judge it to be unclean, and he shall burn it with fire, for the leprosy has been infused in the exterior of the garment, or throughout the whole. {13:56} But if the place of the leprosy has become somewhat darker, after the garment has been washed, he shall tear it away, and separate it from the part that is sound. {13:57} But if, after this, there will appear in those places which before were immaculate, a flying and wandering leprosy, it must be burned with fire. {13:58} If it will have ceased, he shall wash with water the parts which are pure for a second time, and they shall be clean. {13:59} This is the law about leprosy for any woolen or linen garment, in the weave and in the threads, and for all items made from skins, how it must be declared either clean or contaminated.

[Leviticus 14] {14:1} And the Lord spoke to Moses, saying: {14:2} This is the rite for a leper, when he is to be cleansed. He shall be brought to the priest, {14:3} who, departing from the camp, when he has found the leprosy to be cleansed, {14:4} shall instruct him who is to be purified to offer for himself two living sparrows, which it is lawful to eat, and cedar wood, and vermillion, and hyssop. {14:5} And he shall order that one of the sparrows be immolated in an earthen vessel over living waters. {14:6} But the other living one, with the cedar wood, and the scarlet, and the hyssop, he shall dip in the blood of the immolated sparrow. {14:7} And he shall sprinkle him who is to be cleansed seven times, so that he may be purified justly. And he shall release the living sparrow, so that it may fly away into the field. {14:8} And when the man will have washed his clothes, he shall shave all the hair from his body, and he shall be washed with water. And having been purified, he shall enter into the camp, only to this extent: that he may remain outside his own tent for seven days. {14:9} And on the seventh day he shall shave the hair of his head, and his beard, and his eyebrows, as well as the hair of his entire body. And having washed his clothes again, and his body, {14:10} on the eighth day, he shall take two immaculate lambs, and a one-year-old female sheep without blemish, and three tenths of fine wheat flour, which has been sprinkled with oil, as a sacrifice, and separately, one twelfth hin of oil. {14:11} And when the priest purifying the man has presented him and all these things in the sight of the Lord at the door of the tabernacle of the testimony, {14:12} he shall take a lamb and offer it for transgression, with the twelfth hin of oil. And having offered all these before the Lord, {14:13} he shall immolate the lamb, where the victim for sin is usually immolated with the holocaust, that is, in the holy place. For just as with the one for sin, so also the victim for transgression belongs to the priest. It is the Holy of holies. {14:14} And taking some of the blood of the victim, which was immolated for transgression, the priest shall place it upon the tip of the right ear of him who is being cleansed, and upon the thumb of his right hand, and likewise the foot. {14:15} And he shall send some of the twelfth hin of oil into his own left hand, {14:16} and he shall dip his right finger in it, and he shall sprinkle it in the sight of the Lord seven times. {14:17} But the oil which remains in his left hand, he shall pour over the tip of the right ear of him who is being cleansed, and upon the thumb of his right hand as well as the foot, and upon the blood which was shed for transgression, {14:18} and upon his head. {14:19} And he shall pray for him in the sight of the Lord, and he shall accomplish the sacrifice on behalf of sin. Then he shall immolate the holocaust, {14:20} and place it upon the altar with its libations, and the man will be duly cleansed. {14:21} But if he is poor, and his hand is not able to find what has been said, he shall take a lamb as an offering for transgression, so that the priest may pray for him, and a tenth part of fine wheat flour sprinkled with oil, as a sacrifice, and a twelfth hin of oil, {14:22} and two turtledoves or two young pigeons, of which one may be for sin, and the other as a holocaust. {14:23} And he shall offer them on the eighth day of his purification to the priest at the door of the tabernacle of the testimony in the sight of the Lord. {14:24} And he, receiving the lamb for transgression, and the twelfth hin of oil, shall lift them up together. {14:25} And when the lamb has been immolated, he shall place some of its blood upon the tip of the right ear of him who is being cleansed, and upon the thumb of his right hand, as well as the foot. {14:26} Yet truly, he shall send part of the oil into his own left hand, {14:27} and dipping the finger of his right hand in it, he shall sprinkle it seven times before the Lord. {14:28} And he shall touch the tip of the right ear of him who is being cleansed, and the thumb of his right hand, as well as the foot, in the place of the blood which was shed for transgression. {14:29} But the remaining part of the oil which is in his left hand, he shall send upon the head of the one being purified, to appease the Lord on his behalf. {14:30} And he shall offer a turtledove or a young pigeon, {14:31} one for transgression, and the other as a holocaust, with their libations. 14:32 This is the sacrifice of a leper, who is not able to obtain all of the things concerning his cleansing. 14:33 And the Lord spoke to Moses and Aaron, saying: 14:34 When you will have entered into the land of Canaan, which I will give to you as a possession, if there is the mark of leprosy in a building, 14:35 he whose house it is shall go and report to the priest, saying: "It seems to me that the mark of leprosy is in my house." 14:36 And he shall instruct them to carry all things out of the house, before he would enter it and see whether it is leprosy, lest all that is in the house become unclean. And after this, he shall enter to examine the leprosy of the house. 14:37 And when he will have seen in its walls something like little hollows, deformed with paleness or redness, and lower than the remaining surface, 14:38 he shall exit by the door of the house, and immediately close it up for seven days. 14:39 And returning on the seventh day, he shall examine it. If he finds that the leprosy has spread, 14:40 he shall order the stones in which the leprosy is, to be dug out and cast outside the city in an unclean place, 14:41 and that the house be scraped on the inside all around, and that the dust of the scrapings be scattered outside the city in an unclean place, 14:42 and that other stones be put back, in place of those which had been taken away, and that the house be plastered with other mortar. 14:43 But if, after the stones have been dug out, and the dust wiped away, and it is plastered with other clay, 14:44 the priest, upon entering, will have seen that the leprosy has returned, and that the walls are sprinkled with spots, then it is a persistent leprosy and the house is unclean. 14:45 And so they shall promptly destroy it, and shall cast its stones and timber, and also all the dust, outside the town in an unclean place. 14:46 Whoever enters into the house when it is closed up shall be unclean until evening. 14:47 And whoever will have slept in it, or eaten anything, shall wash his clothes. 14:48 But if the priest, upon entering, will have seen that the leprosy has not spread in the house, after it had been newly plastered, he shall purify it, restoring it to health. 14:49 And for its purification, he shall take two sparrows, and cedar wood, and vermillion, as well as hyssop, 14:50 and, having immaculated one sparrow in an earthen vessel over living waters, 14:51 he shall take the cedar wood, and the hyssop, and the scarlet, and the living sparrow, and he shall dip all these in the blood of the immacolated sparrow, and also in the living water, and he shall sprinkle the house seven times. 14:52 And he shall purify it as much with the blood of the sparrow as with the living water, and with the living sparrow, and the cedar wood, and the hyssop, and the vermillion. 14:53 And when he has released the sparrow to fly freely away into the field, he shall pray for the house, and it shall be justly cleansed. 14:54 This is the law of every kind of leprosy and plague: 14:55 of the leprosy of garments and houses, 14:56 of scars and erupting pustules, of a shining spot, when the appearance is also variegated, 14:57 so that it can be known at what time a thing is clean or unclean.

[Leviticus 15] 15:1 And the Lord spoke to Moses and Aaron, saying: 15:2 Speak to the sons of Israel, and say to them: The man who undergoes a flow of seed shall be unclean. 15:3 And then he shall be judged subject to this fault, if a filthy fluid, at each moment, adheres to his flesh and gathers there. 15:4 Every bed on which he sleeps shall be unclean, and every place where he sits. 15:5 If any man has touched his couch, he shall wash his clothes, and having washed with water, he shall be unclean until evening. 15:6 If he will have sat where that man has sat, he shall also wash his clothes, and having washed with water, he shall be unclean until evening. 15:7 Whoever has touched his flesh shall wash his clothes, and having washed with water, he shall be unclean until evening. 15:8 If such a man has cast his spittle upon him who is clean, he shall wash his clothes, and having washed with water, he shall be unclean until evening. 15:9 The saddle on which he has sat shall be unclean. 15:10 And whatever has been under him who has undergone a flow of seed shall be polluted until evening. Whoever carries any of these things shall wash his clothes, and having washed with water, he shall be unclean until evening. 15:11 All whom such a one has touched, not having washed his hands before, shall wash his clothes, and having washed with water, he shall be unclean until evening. 15:12 If he has touched an earthen vessel, it shall be broken. But if it is a wooden vessel, it shall be washed with water. 15:13 If he who suffers from this affliction will have been healed, he shall number seven days after his cleansing, and having washed his clothes and his entire body in living water, he shall be clean. 15:14 Then, on the eighth day, he shall take two turtledoves or two young pigeons, and he shall advance, in the sight of the Lord, toward the door of the tabernacle of the testimony, and he shall give these to the priest, 15:15 who shall offer one for sin, and the other as a holocaust. And he shall pray for him before the Lord, so that he may be cleansed from the flow of his seed. 15:16 A man from whom the seed of sexual intercourse goes out shall wash his entire body with water, and he shall be unclean until evening. 15:17 The garment or skin which he will have, he shall wash with water, and it shall be unclean until evening. 15:18 The woman with whom he has had sexual intercourse shall be washed with water, and she shall be unclean until evening. 15:19 The woman who, at the return of the month, undergoes the flow of blood shall be separated for seven days. 15:20 All who will touch her shall be unclean until evening. 15:21 And everything on which she sleeps or sits, in the days of her separation, shall be polluted. 15:22 Whoever will have touched her bed shall wash his clothes, and having washed himself with water, he shall be unclean until evening. 15:23 Anyone who will have touched any item on which she has sat shall wash his clothes, and having washed himself with water, he shall be unclean until evening. 15:24 If a man has sexual intercourse with her in the time of her monthly flow of blood, he shall be unclean for seven days, and every bed on which he sleeps shall be polluted. 15:25 The woman who undergoes a flow of blood many days beyond her time of menstruation, or whose blood does not cease to flow after the menstrual blood, as long as she is subject to this affliction, she shall be unclean, just as if she were in her time of menstruation. 15:26 Every bed on which she sleeps, and every item on which she sits, shall be polluted. 15:27 Whoever will have touched these shall wash his clothes, and having washed himself with water, he shall be unclean until evening. 15:28 If the blood has stopped and has ceased to flow, she shall number seven days for her purification, 15:29 and on the eighth day she shall offer for herself, to the priest, two turtledoves or two young pigeons, at the door of the tabernacle of the testimony.
{15:30} And he shall offer one for sin, and the other as a holocaust, and he shall pray for her before the Lord, and for the flow of her uncleanness. {15:31} Therefore, you shall teach the sons of Israel to be cautious of uncleanness, so that they may not die in their filth, when they will have polluted my tabernacle, which is among them. {15:32} This is the law of him who undergoes a flow of seed, or who is polluted by sexual intercourse, {15:33} and of her who is separated in the time of menstruation, or who has a continual flow of blood, and of the man who sleeps with her.

[Leviticus 16] {16:1} And the Lord spoke to Moses, after the death of the two sons of Aaron, when they were destroyed for offering strange fire. {16:2} And he instructed him, saying: Speak to your brother Aaron, so that he may not, at any time, enter into the Sanctuary, which is within the veil, before the propitiatory by which the ark is covered, so that he may not die, (for I will appear in a cloud above the oracle) {16:3} unless he will have done these things beforehand. He shall offer a calf for sin, and a ram as a holocaust. {16:4} He shall be vested with a linen tunic. He shall conceal his nakedness with linen undergarments. He shall be wrapped with a linen belt, and he shall impose a linen headdress on his head. For these are holy vestments. All of these he shall put on, after he has been washed. {16:5} And he shall receive, from the entire multitude of the sons of Israel, two he-goats for sin, and one ram as a holocaust. {16:6} And when he has presented the calf, and has prayed for himself and for his own house, {16:7} he shall cause the two he-goats to stand in the sight of the Lord at the entrance to the tabernacle of the testimony. {16:8} And casting lots over them both, one is to be offered to the Lord, and the other is to be the emissary goat. {16:9} The one whose lot fell out to be offered to the Lord, he shall offer for sin. {16:10} But the one who is to be the emissary goat shall stand before the Lord, so that he may pour the prayers upon him, and may send him away into the wilderness. {16:11} After these things have been duly celebrated, he shall offer the calf, and praying for himself and for his own house, he shall immolate it. {16:12} And taking up the censer, which he has filled from the burning coals of the altar, and drawing up with his hands the aromatic compound for incense, he shall enter within the veil, into the holy place, {16:13} so that when the aromatics are placed upon the fire, its cloud and vapor may cover the oracle, which is above the testimony, and he may not die. {16:14} Likewise, he shall take some of the blood of the calf, and sprinkle it with his finger seven times opposite the propitiatory, toward the east. {16:15} And when he has slain the he-goat for the sin of the people, he shall carry its blood within the veil, just as he was instructed to do with the blood of the calf, so that he may sprinkle it away from the area of the oracle, {16:16} and so that he may expiate the Sanctuary from the uncleanness of the sons of Israel, and from their prevarications and every one of their sins. According to this rite, he shall act toward the tabernacle of the testimony, which is fixed among them in the midst of the filth of their habitation. {16:17} Let no man be in the tabernacle when the high priest enters the Sanctuary in order to pray for himself, and for his house, and for the entire assembly of Israel, until he exits. {16:18} And when he has exited to the altar which is before the Lord, let him pray for himself, and taking the blood of the calf, and of the he-goat, let him pour it upon its horns all around. {16:19} And sprinkling with his finger seven times, let him expiate and sanctify it from the uncleanness of the sons of Israel. {16:20} After he has cleansed the Sanctuary, and the tabernacle, and the altar, then let him offer the living goat. {16:21} And placing both hands upon its head, let him confess all the iniquities of the sons of Israel, and all of their offenses and sins. And calling these down upon its head, he shall send it away, by means of a man prepared to do so, into the desert. {16:22} And when the goat has carried all their iniquities into a solitary land, and has been released into the desert, {16:23} Aaron shall return into the tabernacle of the testimony. And placing aside the vestments, which he had worn before when he entered into the Sanctuary, and leaving them there, {16:24} he shall wash his flesh in the holy place, and he shall be clothed in his own garments. And departing afterwards, he shall present his own holocaust and that of the people: he shall pray as much for himself as for the people. {16:25} And the fat which is offered for sins, he shall burn upon the altar. {16:26} Yet truly, he who has sent away the emissary goat shall wash his clothes and his body with water, and so he shall enter into the camp. {16:27} But the calf and the he-goat, which were immolated for sin, and whose blood was brought into the Sanctuary to complete the expiation, these shall be carried outside the camp and be burned with fire: as with their skins, so also with their flesh and dung. {16:28} And whoever will have burned them shall wash his clothes and flesh with water, and so he shall enter into the camp. {16:29} And this shall be to you an everlasting ordinance. In the seventh month, on the tenth day of the month, you shall afflict your souls, and you shall do no work, neither someone native born, nor the newcomer who sojourns among you. {16:30} On this day, there shall be atonement for you, and also a cleansing from all your sins. You shall be cleansed in the sight of the Lord. {16:31} For it is a Sabbath of rest, and you shall afflict your souls as a perpetual observance. {16:32} And the priest who has been anointed, and whose hands have been consecrated to exercise the priesthood in the place of his father, shall make atonement. And he shall be clothed with the linen robe and the holy vestments. {16:33} And he shall expiate the Sanctuary and the tabernacle of the testimony and the altar, likewise the priest and all the people. {16:34} And this shall be to you a perpetual law, that you pray for the sons of Israel, and for all their sins once a year. Therefore, he did just as the Lord had instructed Moses.

[Leviticus 17] {17:1} And the Lord spoke to Moses, saying: {17:2} Speak to Aaron and his sons, and to all the sons of Israel, saying to them: This is the word, which the Lord has commanded, saying: {17:3} Any man at all of the house of Israel, if he will have killed an ox, or a sheep, or a goat in the camp or beyond the camp, {17:4} and not have presented it as an oblation to the Lord at the door of the tabernacle, he shall be guilty of blood. It is just as if he had shed blood; so then, he shall perish from the midst of his people. {17:5} Therefore, the sons of Israel must offer to the priest their victims, which they kill in the field, so that they may be sanctified to the Lord before the door of the tabernacle of the testimony, and so that they may immolate them as peace offerings to the Lord. {17:6} And the priest shall pour the blood upon the altar of the Lord, at the door of the tabernacle of the testimony, and he shall burn the fat as a sweet odor to the Lord. {17:7} And they shall no longer immolate their victims to demons, with whom they have committed fornication. It shall be an everlasting ordinance for them and for their posterity. {17:8} And you shall say to them: The man of the house of Israel, or of the newcomers who sojourn with you, who offers a holocaust or a victim, {17:9} and who does not bring it to the door of the tabernacle of the testimony, so that it may be offered to the Lord, shall pass away from his people. {17:10} Any man at all of the house of Israel, or of the newcomers who sojourn among them, if he has eaten blood, I will harden my face against his soul, and I will drive him from his people. {17:11} For the life of the flesh is in the blood, and I have given it to you, so that you may atone with it upon the altar for your souls, and so that the blood may be for an expiation of the soul. {17:12} For this reason, I have said to the sons of Israel: No soul among you shall eat blood, nor among the newcomers who sojourn with you. {17:13} Any man at all from the sons of Israel, or from the newcomers who sojourn with you, whether by hunting or bird-catching, if he seizes a wild beast or a bird, which is lawful to eat, let him pour out its blood and cover the earth with it. {17:14} For the life of all flesh is in the blood. Therefore, I said to the sons of Israel: You shall not eat the blood of any flesh at all, because the life of the flesh is in the blood, and whoever has eaten it shall perish.

{17:15} The soul who eats what has died on its own, or what has been caught by a beast, whether he is native born or a newcomer, shall wash his clothes and his body, he shall bear his iniquity.

[Leviticus 18] {18:1} And the Lord spoke to Moses, saying: {18:2} Speak to the sons of Israel, and you shall say to them: I am the Lord your God. {18:3} You shall not act according to the custom of the land of Egypt, in which you have lived; nor shall you behave according to the habit of the region of Canaan, into which I will lead you; neither shall you walk in their ordinances. {18:4} You shall accomplish my judgments, and you shall observe my precepts, and you shall walk in them. I am the Lord your God. {18:5} Keep my laws and judgments; when a man does these, he shall live by them. I am the Lord. {18:6} No man shall approach her who is a close blood-relative to him, so as to uncover her nakedness. I am the Lord. {18:7} You shall not expose the nakedness of your father, or the nakedness of your mother. She is your mother; you shall not uncover her nakedness. {18:8} You shall not expose the nakedness of your father’s wife; for it is the nakedness of your father. {18:9} You shall not uncover the nakedness of your sister, whether from father or from mother, whether she was born at home or abroad. {18:10} You shall not uncover the nakedness of your son’s daughter, or your daughter’s daughter, for it is your own nakedness. {18:11} You shall not uncover the nakedness of your father’s wife’s daughter, whom she bore to your father, and who is your sister. {18:12} You shall not expose the nakedness of your father’s sister; for she is the flesh of your father. {18:13} You shall not uncover the nakedness of your mother’s sister, because she is the flesh of your mother. {18:14} You shall not uncover the nakedness of your father’s brother, nor shall you approach his wife, who is joined to you by affinity. {18:15} You shall not uncover the nakedness of your daughter-in-law, for she is your son’s wife; neither shall you expose her dishonor. {18:16} You shall not uncover the nakedness of your brother’s wife; for it is the nakedness of your brother. {18:17} You shall not uncover the nakedness of your wife and her daughter. You shall not take her son’s daughter or her daughter’s daughter, so as to uncover her dishonor; for they are her flesh, and such sexual intercourse is incest. {18:18} You shall not take your wife’s sister as a rival mistress; nor shall you uncover her nakedness, while your wife is still living. {18:19} You shall not approach a woman who is undergoing menstruation, nor shall you be defiled by the mingling of seed. {18:20} You shall not have sexual intercourse with your neighbor’s wife, nor shall you be defiled by the mingling of seed.

[Leviticus 19] {19:1} The Lord spoke to Moses, saying: {19:2} Speak to the entire assembly of the sons of Israel, and you shall say to them: Be holy, for I, the Lord your God, am holy. {19:3} Let each one fear his father and his mother. Observe my Sabbaths. I am the Lord your God. {19:4} Do not be willing to convert to idols, neither should you make molten gods for yourselves. I am the Lord your God. {19:5} If you immolate a victim of peace offerings to the Lord, so that he may be appeased, {19:6} you shall eat it on the same day as when it was immolated, and the next day. Then whatever will remain on the third day you shall burn with fire. {19:7} If anyone, after two days, will have eaten from it, he shall be profane and guilty of impiety. {19:8} And he shall bear his iniquity, for he has polluted what is holy to the Lord. And that soul shall perish from his people. {19:9} When you will have harvested the grain fields of your land, you shall not cut it down to the surface of the land, even to the ground, nor shall you gather the remaining ears of grain. {19:10} Neither shall you gather the clusters or individual grapes which fall down in your vineyard, but you shall leave them for paupers and travelers to take. I am the Lord your God. {19:11} You shall not steal. You shall not lie.
Neither shall anyone deceive his neighbor. \{19:12\} You shall not commit perjury in my name, nor shall you pollute the name of your God. I am the Lord. \{19:13\} You shall not slander your neighbor, nor shall you oppress him by violence. The wages of a hired hand, you shall not delay with you until tomorrow. \{19:14\} You shall not speak evil of the deaf, nor shall you place a stumbling block before the blind, but you shall fear the Lord your God, for I am the Lord. \{19:15\} You shall not do what is unjust, nor shall you judge unjustly. You shall not consider the reputation of the poor, nor shall you honor the countenance of the powerful. Judge your neighbor justly. \{19:16\} You shall not be a detractor, nor a whisperer, among the people. You shall not stand against the blood of your neighbor. I am the Lord. \{19:17\} You shall not hate your brother in your heart, but reprove him openly, lest you have sin over him. \{19:18\} Do not seek revenge, neither should you be mindful of the injury of your fellow citizens. You shall love your friend as yourself. I am the Lord. \{19:19\} Observe my laws. You shall not cause your cattle to breed with other kinds of animals. You shall not sow your field with diverse seeds. You shall not be clothed with a garment which has been woven from two things. \{19:20\} If a man will have slept in sexual intercourse with a woman, who is a servant and who is also able to be married, and yet he has not redeemed her with a price, nor paid to set her free, they both shall be beaten, but they shall not die, for she was not a free woman. \{19:21\} But, for his offense, he shall offer a ram to the Lord at the door of the tabernacle of the testimony. \{19:22\} And the priest shall pray for him, and for his sin, before the Lord, and he shall win his favor again for him, and the sin shall be forgiven. \{19:23\} When you will have entered into the land, and will have planted in it fruit trees, you shall take away their first-fruits; the fruit that germinates shall be unclean to you, neither shall you eat from these. \{19:24\} But in the fourth year, all their fruit shall be sanctified for the praise of the Lord. \{19:25\} And in the fifth year you shall eat the produce, gathering the fruits which are brought forth. I am the Lord your God. \{19:26\} You shall not eat with blood. You shall not practice divination, nor the observation of dreams. \{19:27\} And you shall not cut the hair of your head circularly, nor shave your beard. \{19:28\} You shall not cut your flesh for the dead, and you shall not make other figures or marks on yourself. I am the Lord. \{19:29\} Do not prostitute your daughter, lest the land be contaminated and filled with crimes. \{19:30\} Observe my Sabbaths, and be apprehensive toward my Sanctuary. I am the Lord. \{19:31\} Do not turn aside to astrologers, nor consult with soothsayers, so as to be polluted through them. I am the Lord. \{19:32\} Rise up in the presence of a gray-haired head, and honor the reputation of an elder, and fear the Lord your God. I am the Lord. \{19:33\} If a newcomer lives in your land and abides among you, do not reproach him, \{19:34\} but let him be among you like one native born. And you shall love him as yourselves. For you were also newcomers in the land of Egypt. I am the Lord your God. \{19:35\} Do not be willing to accomplish iniquity in judgment, in lengths, in weights, in quantities. \{19:36\} Let the scales be just and the weights equal, let the dry measure be just and the liquid measure be equal. I am the Lord your God, who led you away from the land of Egypt. \{19:37\} Keep all my precepts, and all my judgments, and accomplish them. I am the Lord.

[Leviticus 20] \{20:1\} And the Lord spoke to Moses, saying: \{20:2\} You shall speak these things to the sons of Israel: A man among the sons Israel, or among the newcomers who live in Israel, if he will have given from his seed to the idol Moloch, he shall be put to death: the people of the land shall stone him. \{20:3\} And I will set my face against him. And I will cut him down from the midst of his people, because he has given from his seed to Moloch, and he has contaminated my Sanctuary, and polluted my holy name. \{20:4\} But if the people of the land, having been neglectful and holding little regard for my authority, release the man who has given from his seed to Moloch, and they are not willing to kill him, \{20:5\} I will set my face over that man and over his kindred, and I will cut down both him and all who consented with him to fornicate with Moloch, from the midst of their people. \{20:6\} The soul who will have turned aside to astrologers and soothsayers, and who will have fornicated with them, I will set my face against him, and I will destroy him from the midst of his people. \{20:7\} Be sanctified and be holy, for I am the Lord your God. \{20:8\} Observe my precepts, and do them. I am the Lord, who sanctifies you. \{20:9\} Whoever curses his father or mother shall die a death; he has cursed his father and mother. So let his blood be upon him. \{20:10\} If anyone will have committed sexual acts with the wife of another, or will have perpetrated adultery with his neighbor's spouse, they shall die a death, both the adulterer and the adulteress. \{20:11\} Whoever will have slept with his stepmother, or will have uncovered the shame of his father, they shall both die a death. So let their blood be upon them. \{20:12\} If any man will have slept with his daughter-in-law, both shall die, for they have acted according to wickedness. So let their blood be upon them. \{20:13\} If any man has slept with a male in place of sexual intercourse with a female, both have committed a nefarious act, they shall die a death. So let their blood be upon them. \{20:14\} If any man, having taken the daughter as a wife, will have married her mother, he has acted according to wickedness. He shall be burnt alive with them. Neither shall so great a nefarious act persist in your midst. \{20:15\} Whoever will have committed sexual acts with any animal or cattle, he shall die a death. Likewise, you shall slay the beast. \{20:16\} The woman who will have lain under any animal at all shall be destroyed together with it. So let their blood be upon them. \{20:17\} Whoever will have taken his sister, the daughter of his father or the daughter of his mother, and will have seen her nakedness, and she will have looked upon her brother's shame, they have committed a nefarious act. They shall be slain in the sight of their people, because they have uncovered one another's nakedness. And they shall bear their iniquity. \{20:18\} Whoever has sexual intercourse with a woman in her menstrual flow, and has uncovered her nakedness, and she has opened the fountain of her blood, both shall be destroyed from the midst of their people. \{20:19\} You shall not expose the nakedness of your maternal or paternal aunt. Whoever does this has laid bare the shame of his own flesh; both shall bear their iniquity. \{20:20\} If any man has had sexual intercourse with the wife of his paternal or maternal uncle, and he has uncovered the shame of his close relative, both shall bear their sin. They shall die without children. \{20:21\} Whoever will have married his brother's wife has done an unlawful thing; he has uncovered his brother's nakedness. They shall be without children. 20:22] Observe my laws as well as my judgments, and act according to them, lest the land, into which you will enter and live, may vomit you out, too. 20:23] Do not be willing to walk by the ordinances of the nations, which I will expel before you. For they have done all these things, and so I abominate them. 20:24] But I say to you: Possess their land, which I will give to you as an inheritance, a land flowing with milk and honey. I am the Lord your God, who has separated you from the other peoples. 20:25] Therefore, you must also separate the clean animals from the unclean, and the clean birds from the unclean. Do not pollute your souls with cattle, or birds, or anything that moves upon the earth, and which I have shown you to be unclean. 20:26] You shall be holy unto me, because I, the Lord, am holy, and I have separated you from the other peoples, so that you would be mine. 20:27] A man or a woman, in whom there is an oracle-like or a divining spirit, shall be put to death. They shall stone them. So let their blood be upon them.

[Leviticus 21] 21:1] The Lord also said to Moses: Speak to the priests, the sons of Aaron, and you shall say to them: Do not allow a priest to be contaminated by the death of his citizens, 21:2] except only by his blood-relatives and near-relatives, that is, by a father or mother, or by a son or daughter, or also a brother, 21:3] or a virgin sister, who is not married to a husband. 21:4] But not even by the leader of his people shall he be contaminated. 21:5] Neither shall they shave their head or their beard, and they shall not make incisions in their flesh. 21:6] They shall be holy to their God, and they shall not pollute his name. For they offer the incense of the Lord and the bread of their God, and because of this they shall be holy. 21:7] They shall not take as a wife a promiscuous woman, or a prostitute, or her who has been repudiated by her husband. For they are consecrated to their God, 21:8] and they offer the bread of the presence. Therefore, let them be holy, for I also am holy: the Lord, who sanctifies them. 21:9] If the daughter of a priest will have been taken into prostitution, and will have violated the name of her father, she shall be consumed by fire. 21:10] The high priest, that is, the priest who is the greatest among his brothers, upon whose head the oil of anointing has been poured, and whose hands have been consecrated for the priesthood, and who has been vested with the holy vestments: he shall not expose his head; he shall not rend his vestments. 21:11] And he shall not enter to any dead body whatsoever; likewise, not even by his father or mother shall he be contaminated. 21:12] Neither shall he exit from the holy places, lest he pollute the Sanctuary of the Lord. For the oil of the holy anointing of his God is upon him. I am the Lord. 21:13] He shall take a virgin as his wife. 21:14] But a widow, or one who has been repudiated or defiled, or also a mistress, he shall not accept, but only a maiden from among his own people. 21:15] He shall not mingle the stock of his family with the common people of his nation. For I am the Lord, who sanctifies him. 21:16] And the Lord spoke to Moses, saying: 21:17] Say to Aaron: A man from your offspring, throughout their families, who has a blemish, shall not offer the bread to his God. 21:18] Neither shall he approach to minister to him: if he is blind, if he is lame, if he is small, or large, or has a crooked nose, 21:19] if his foot or hand is broken, 21:20] if he has a bulging back or bleary eyes, or if he has a white spot in his eye, or a chronic scab, or a skin disease on his body, or a hernia. 21:21] Anyone from the offspring of Aaron, the priest, who has a blemish, shall not approach to offer sacrifices to the Lord, nor the bread to his God. 21:22] Nevertheless, he shall eat from the loaves which are offered in the Sanctuary. 21:23] But even so, he may not enter within the veil, nor approach to the altar. For he has a blemish, and he must not contaminate my Sanctuary. I am the Lord, who sanctifies them. 21:24] Therefore, Moses spoke to Aaron, and to his sons, and to all of Israel, everything that had been commanded to him.

[Leviticus 22] 22:1] The Lord also spoke to Moses saying: 22:2] Speak to Aaron and to his sons, so that they may be careful of those things which have been consecrated for the sons of Israel, and so that they may not contaminate the name of the things sanctified to me, which they offer. I am the Lord. 22:3] Say to them and to their posterity: Every man of your stock, who approaches toward those things which have been consecrated, and which the sons of Israel have brought forward to the Lord, in whom there is uncleanness, shall perish before the Lord. I am the Lord. 22:4] The man of the offspring of Aaron, who is a leper or who is suffering a flow of seed, shall not eat of those things which have been sanctified to me, until he is healed. Whoever will have touched what is unclean because of the dead, and he whose seed goes out from him, as if from sexual intercourse, 22:5] and whoever has touched a creeping thing, or any kind of unclean thing, the touching of which is filthy, 22:6] shall be unclean until evening, and shall not eat those things which have been sanctified. But when he has washed his flesh with water, 22:7] and the sun has set, then, having been purified, he shall eat from what has been sanctified, because it is his food. 22:8] Whatever dies on its own, and whatever has been seized by a wild beast, they shall not eat, nor shall they be polluted by these. I am the Lord. 22:9] Let them observe my precepts, so that they may not fall under sin, and die in the Sanctuary, when they will have defiled it. I am the Lord, who sanctifies them. 22:10] No foreigner shall eat from what has been sanctified; a guest of the priests and a hired servant shall not eat from them. 22:11] But whomever the priest has bought, and whoever has been born into his house, these shall eat from them. 22:12] If the daughter of a priest has been married to any of the people, she shall not eat from what has been sanctified, nor from the first-fruits. 22:13] But if she is a widow or divorced, and, being without children, she returns to her father’s house, she shall be nourished by her father’s foods, just as she was accustomed to do as a girl. No foreigner shall have the authority to eat from them. 22:14] Whoever, through ignorance, eats from what has been sanctified shall add a fifth part to that which he ate, and he shall give it to the priest at the Sanctuary. 22:15] And they shall not contaminate what has been sanctified from the sons of Israel, which they offer to the Lord, 22:16] lest perhaps they may suffer the iniquity of their offense, when they will have eaten what has been sanctified. I am the Lord, who sanctifies them. 22:17] And the Lord spoke to Moses, saying: 22:18] Speak to Aaron, and to his sons, and to all the sons of Israel, and you shall say to them: The man from the house of Israel, or from the newcomers who live with you, who would bring forward his oblation, either fulfilling his vows or offering spontaneously, whatever he brings forward as a holocaust for the Lord, {22:19} in order to be offered through you, shall offer an immaculate male from the oxen, or from the sheep, or from the goats. {22:20} If it has a blemish, you shall not offer it, and it shall not be acceptable. {22:21} The man who will have offered a victim of peace offerings to the Lord, either fulfilling his vows or offering spontaneously, whether of oxen, or of sheep, shall offer what is immaculate, so that it may be acceptable. There shall be no blemish in it. {22:22} If it is blind, or if it is broken, or if it has a scar, or if it is has a boil, or a skin disease or infection, you shall not offer these to the Lord, nor shall you burn any of these upon the altar of the Lord. {22:23} An ox or a sheep, having an amputated ear or tail, you are able to offer voluntarily, but a vow is not able to be fulfilled by these. {22:24} You shall not offer to the Lord any animal which has the testicles bruised, or crushed, or cut and taken away, and you shall not cause any of these things in your land. {22:25} From the hand of a foreigner, you shall not offer bread to your God, nor anything else that he would choose to give; for all this has been corrupted and blemished. You shall not accept them. {22:26} And the Lord spoke to Moses, saying: {22:27} An ox, a sheep, or a goat, when they have been born, shall be under the udder of their mother for seven days. But on the eighth day and thereafter, they are able to be offered to the Lord. {22:28} Whether it is an ox, or a sheep, they shall not be immolated on the same day with their newborns. {22:29} If you immolate a victim as an act of thanksgiving to the Lord, so that he may be pleased, you shall eat it on the same day; none of it shall remain until morning on the next day. I am the Lord. {22:30} Do not pollute my holy name, so that I may be sanctified in the midst of the sons of Israel. I am the Lord, who sanctifies you, {22:31} and who led you away from the land of Egypt, so that I may be to you as God. I am the Lord.

[Leviticus 23] {23:1} And the Lord spoke to Moses, saying: {23:2} Speak to the sons of Israel, and you shall say to them: These are the feasts of the Lord, which you shall call holy. {23:3} For six days you shall do work; the seventh day, because it is the rest of the Sabbath, shall be called holy. You shall do no work on that day; it is the Sabbath of the Lord in all your dwelling places. {23:4} Therefore, these are the feasts of the Lord, which you must celebrate in their times. {23:5} The first month, the fourteenth day of the month, at evening, is the Passover of the Lord. {23:6} And the fifteenth day of this month is the solemnity of the unleavened bread of the Lord. For seven days shall you eat unleavened bread. {23:7} The first day shall be greatly honored and holy to you; you shall do no servile work in it. {23:8} But you shall offer a sacrifice with fire, for seven days, to the Lord. Then the seventh day shall be more honored and more holy; and you shall do no servile work in it. {23:9} And the Lord spoke to Moses, saying: {23:10} Speak to the sons of Israel, and you shall say to them: When you will have entered into the land which I will give to you, and you will have harvested your grain fields, you shall carry the sheaves of grain, the first-fruits of your harvest, to the priest. {23:11} He shall lift up a sheaf before the Lord, on the day after the Sabbath, so that it may be acceptable for you, and he shall sanctify it. {23:12} And on the same day that the sheaf is consecrated, a one-year-old immaculate lamb shall be slain as a holocaust of the Lord. {23:13} And the libations shall be offered with it: two-tenths of fine wheat flour sprinkled with oil, as an incense and a most sweet odor for the Lord; likewise, libations of wine, the fourth part of a hin. {23:14} Bread, and parched grain, and boiled grain, you shall not eat from the grain field, until the day when you shall offer from it to your God. It is an everlasting precept in your generations and in all of your dwelling places. {23:15} Therefore, you shall number from the day after the Sabbath, in which you offered a sheaf of the first-fruits, seven full weeks, {23:16} all the way to the day after the completion of the seventh week, that is, fifty days, and then you shall offer a new sacrifice to the Lord, {23:17} from all of your dwelling places: two loaves from the first-fruits, from two-tenths of leavened fine wheat flour, which you shall bake as the first-fruits of the Lord. {23:18} And you shall offer with the bread: seven immaculate one-year-old lambs, and one calf from the herd, and two rams, and these shall be a holocaust, with their libations, as a most sweet odor to the Lord. {23:19} You shall also offer a he-goat for sin, and two one-year-old lambs as victims of peace offerings. {23:20} And when the priest has lifted them up with the loaves of the first-fruits, in the sight of the Lord, they shall fall to his use. {23:21} And you shall call this day most honored and most holy; you shall do no servile work in it. It shall be an everlasting ordinance in all your dwelling places and generations. {23:22} And when you will have harvested the grain fields of your land, you shall not cut it down all the way to the ground; neither shall you gather the remnants of the ears of grain, but you shall leave these for paupers and strangers. I am the Lord your God. {23:23} And the Lord spoke to Moses, saying: {23:24} Say to the sons of Israel: The seventh month, the first day of the month, shall be a Sabbath for you, a memorial, with the sounding of trumpets, and it shall be called holy. {23:25} You shall do no servile work in it, and you shall offer a holocaust to the Lord. {23:26} And the Lord spoke to Moses, saying: {23:27} The tenth day of this seventh month shall be the day of atonement; it shall be most honored, and it shall be called holy. And you shall afflict your souls on that day, and you shall offer a holocaust to the Lord. {23:28} You shall do no servile work in the time of this day; for it is a day of propitiation, so that the Lord your God may be merciful to you. {23:29} Every soul that has not been afflicted on this day shall perish from his people, {23:30} and anyone who will have done work, I shall wipe him away from his people. {23:31} Therefore, you shall do no work on that day. This shall be an everlasting ordinance for you in all your generations and dwelling places. {23:32} It is a Sabbath of rest, and you shall afflict your souls beginning on the ninth day of the month: from evening until evening you shall celebrate your Sabbaths. {23:33} And the Lord spoke to Moses, saying: {23:34} Say to the sons of Israel: From the fifteenth day of this seventh month, there shall be the Feast of Tabernacles: seven days for the Lord. {23:35} The first day shall be called most honored and most holy; you shall do no servile work in it. {23:36} And for seven days you shall offer holocausts to the Lord. Likewise, the eighth day shall be most honored and most holy, and you shall offer holocausts to the Lord. For it is the day of assembly and gathering. You shall do no servile work in it. {23:37} These are the feasts of the Lord, which you shall call most honored and most holy, and in them you shall offer oblations to the Lord: holocausts and libations according to the rite of each particular day, {23:38} aside from the Sabbaths of the Lord, and your donations, and that which you offer by a vow, or which you give to the Lord spontaneously. {23:39} Therefore, from the fifteenth day of the seventh month, when you will have gathered together all the fruits of your land, you shall celebrate the feast of the Lord for seven days. The first day and the eighth day shall be a Sabbath, that is, a day of rest. {23:40} And you shall take for yourselves, on the first day, the fruits of the most beautiful tree, and branches of palm trees, and branches of trees with thick foliage, and willows from the torrent. And you shall rejoice in the sight of the Lord your God. {23:41} And you shall celebrate its solemnity for seven days each year. This shall be an everlasting ordinance in your generations. In the seventh month, you shall celebrate the feast, {23:42} and you shall live under shelters for seven days. All who are of the family of Israel shall dwell in tabernacles, {23:43} so that your posterity may learn that I caused the sons of Israel to live in tabernacles, when I led them away from the land of Egypt. I am the Lord your God. {23:44} And Moses spoke about the solemnities of the Lord to the sons of Israel.

[Leviticus 24] {24:1} And the Lord spoke to Moses, saying: {24:2} Instruct the sons of Israel, so that they may bring to you clear oil from the purest olives, in order to supply the lamps continuously {24:3} outside the veil of the testimony in the tabernacle of the covenant. And Aaron shall place these, from evening until morning, before the Lord, as a perpetual worship and ritual in your generations. {24:4} They shall be placed upon the most pure candlestick in the sight of the Lord always. {24:5} You shall also receive fine wheat flour, and you shall bake twelve loaves from it, each loaf of which shall have two-tenths. {24:6} And you shall arrange them, six on each side, upon the most pure table before the Lord. {24:7} And you shall place upon them the clearest frankincense, so that the bread may be a memorial of oblation for the Lord. {24:8} On each Sabbath, they shall be changed before the Lord, having been received from the sons of Israel as an everlasting covenant. {24:9} And they shall be for Aaron and his sons, so that they may eat these in the holy place; for it is the Holy of holies from the sacrifices of the Lord, as a perpetual right. {24:10} Then, behold, the son of an Israelite woman, whom she had born of an Egyptian man among the sons of Israel, going out, was quarreling in the camp with a man of Israel. {24:11} And when he had blasphemed the name, and had cursed it, he was led to Moses. (Now his mother was called Shelomith, the daughter of Dibri from the tribe of Dan.) {24:12} And they sent him to prison, until they might know what the Lord would command. {24:13} Who spoke to Moses, {24:14} saying: Lead away the blasphemer beyond the camp, and let all who heard him place their hands upon his head, and let the entire people stone him. {24:15} And you shall say to the sons of Israel: The man who curses his God shall bear his sin, {24:16} and whoever will have blasphemed the name of the Lord shall be put to death. The entire multitude shall overwhelm him with stones, whether he be a citizen or a sojourner. Whoever blasphemes the name of the Lord shall be put to death. {24:17} Whoever will have struck and killed a man shall be put to death. {24:18} Whoever will have struck down an animal shall repay its equivalent, that is, a life for a life. {24:19} Whoever will have inflicted a blemish on any of his citizens, just as he has done, so shall it be done to him: {24:20} fracture for fracture, eye for eye, tooth for tooth, shall he repay. Whatever degree of blemish he has inflicted, so shall he be compelled to suffer. {24:21} Whoever strikes down a beast, shall repay another. Whoever strikes a man shall be punished. {24:22} Let there be equal judgment among you, whether it is a sojourner or a citizen who will have sinned. For I am the Lord your God. {24:23} And Moses spoke to the sons of Israel. And they led away him who had blasphemed, beyond the camp, and they overwhelmed him with stones. And the sons of Israel did just as the Lord had instructed Moses.

[Leviticus 25] {25:1} And the Lord spoke to Moses on mount Sinai, saying: {25:2} Speak to the sons of Israel, and you shall say to them: When you will have entered into the land which I will give to you, rest on the Sabbath of the Lord. {25:3} For six years you shall sow your field, and for six years you shall care for your vineyard, and you shall gather its fruits. {25:4} But in the seventh year, there shall be a Sabbath of the Lord, a resting of the Lord. You shall not sow your field, and you shall not care for your vineyard. {25:5} What the soil shall spontaneously produce, you shall not harvest. And you shall not gather the grapes of the first-fruits as a crop. For it is a year of rest for the land. {25:6} But these shall be yours for food, for you and for your men and women servants, and for your hired hands, and for the newcomers who sojourn with you: {25:7} all that grows on its own shall provide food for your beasts and cattle. {25:8} You shall also number for yourselves seven weeks of years, that is, seven times seven, which together makes forty-nine years. {25:9} And you shall sound the trumpet in the seventh month, on the tenth day of the month, at the time of the atonement, throughout all your land. {25:10} And you shall sanctify the fiftieth year, and you shall proclaim a remission for all the inhabitants of your land: for the same is the Jubilee. A man shall return to his possession, and each one shall go back to his original family, {25:11} for it is the Jubilee and the fiftieth year. You shall not sow, and you shall not reap what grows in the field of its own accord, and you shall not gather the first-fruits of the crop, {25:12} due to the sanctification of the Jubilee. But you shall eat them as they present themselves. {25:13} In the year of the Jubilee, all shall return to their possessions. {25:14} When you will sell anything to your fellow citizen, or buy anything from him, do not cause your brother grief, but buy from him according to the number of years from the Jubilee, {25:15} and he shall sell to you according to the computation of the produce. {25:16} The more years that will remain after the Jubilee, the more the price shall increase, and the less the time is numbered, so much less shall the purchase price be. For he will sell to you the time for the produce. {25:17} Do be willing to afflict your countrymen, but let each one fear his God. For I am the Lord your God. {25:18} Accomplish my precepts, and observe my judgments, and complete them, so that you may be able to live in the land without any fear, {25:19} and so that the soil may produce its fruits for you, from which you may eat, even to fullness, dreading violence by no one. {25:20} But if you will say: What shall we eat in the seventh year, if we do not sow and do not gather our produce? {25:21} I will give my blessing to you in the sixth year, and it shall yield the produce of three years.
And in the eighth year you shall sow, but you shall eat from the old produce, until the ninth year, until what is new matures, you shall eat what is old.

Also, the land shall not be sold in perpetuity, for it is mine, and you are newcomers and settlers to me.

Therefore, every region of your possession shall be sold under the condition of redemption.

If your brother, being in need, will have sold his little possession and his close relative is willing, he is able to redeem what he had sold.

But if he has no near relative, and he himself is able to find the price to redeem it, the produce shall be calculated from that time when he sold it. And what is lacking, he shall repay to the buyer, and so he shall receive his possession.

But if his hand will not have discovered a way to repay the price, the buyer shall have what he bought, until the year of the Jubilee. For in that year all that has been sold shall return to the owner, and to the original possessor.

Whoever will have sold a house within the walls of a city shall have the freedom to redeem it, until one year has been completed.

If he has not redeemed it, and the year will have turned full circle, the buyer and his posterity shall possess it, in perpetuity, and it is not able to be redeemed, even in the Jubilee.

But if the house is in a village, which has no walls, it shall be sold by the law of the fields. If it has not been redeemed beforehand, then in the Jubilee it shall return to the owner.

The buildings of the Levites, which are in the cities, are always able to be redeemed.

If they have not been redeemed, then in the Jubilee they shall return to the owners, for the houses of the cities of the Levites are for their possession among the sons of Israel.

But let not their suburbs be sold, for it is an everlasting possession.

If your brother has become impoverished, or infirm of hand, and you take him in, like a newcomer or a sojourner, and he lives with you, do not accept usury from him, nor anything more than what you gave. Fear your God, so that your brother may be able to live with you.

You shall not give him your money by usury, nor exact from him an overabundance of produce.

I am the Lord your God, who led you away from the land of Egypt, so that I might give to you the land of Canaan, and so that I may be your God.

If your brother, having been compelled by poverty, will have sold himself to you, you shall not oppress him with the servitude of indentured servants.

But he shall be like a hired hand or a settler; he shall work with you, until the year of the Jubilee.

And after that, he shall depart with his children, and he shall return to his kindred, to the possession of his fathers.

For these are my servants, and I led them away from the land of Egypt; let them not be sold into the condition of servitude.

Do not afflict him by power, but be fearful of your God.

Let your male and female servants be from the nations which are all around you, and from the newcomers who sojourn with you, or who have been born from them in your land. These you shall have as servants, and, by the right of inheritance, you shall transmit them to your posterity, and you shall possess them forever. But do not oppress your brothers, the sons of Israel, by power.

If the hand of a newcomer or a sojourner will have grown strong among you, and your brother, having become impoverished, will have sold himself to him, or to any of his stock, after the sale, he is able to be redeemed. Whoever is willing among his brothers shall redeem him:

either the paternal uncle, or the paternal uncle's son, or his close relative, by blood or by affinity. But if he himself will be able also, he shall redeem himself, considering only the years from the time of his selling until the year of the Jubilee, and calculating the money for which he was sold, according to the number of years and the accounting of a hired hand.

If there will have been many years which remain until the Jubilee, according to these shall he also repay the price.

If few, he shall determine the accounting with him according to the number of years, and he shall repay to the buyer by what is left remaining of the years;

his wages being charged by what served before. He shall not afflict him violently in your sight.

But if, by these means, he will not be able to be redeemed, then in the year of the Jubilee he shall depart with his children.

For they are my servants, the sons of Israel, whom I led away from the land of Egypt.

I am the Lord your God. You shall not make for yourselves an idol or a graven image. Neither shall you erect a monument, or set up a conspicuous stone in your land, in order that you may adore it. For I am the Lord your God.

Observe my Sabbaths, and be fearful toward my Sanctuary. I am the Lord.

If you will walk in my precepts, and observe my commandments, and accomplish them, I will give to you rain in its time, and the ground shall bring forth its seedlings, and the trees shall be filled again with fruit.

The threshing of the harvest shall last until the vintage, and the vintage shall overtake the sowing. And you shall eat your bread to fullness, and you will have peace to your most distant regions. You will sleep, and there will be no one to strike you with terror. I will take away harmful wild beasts, and the sword will not cross your borders.

You will pursue your enemies, and they will fall down at the sight of you.

Five of yours will pursue a hundred foreigners, and a hundred of you will pursue ten thousand. Your enemies will fall by the sword in your sight.

I will look with favor upon you, and I will cause you to increase; you will be multiplied, and I will confirm my covenant with you.

You will eat the oldest of what is old, and, when what is new arrives, you will throw away what is old.

I will set my tabernacle in your midst, and my soul will not cast you out.

I will walk among you, and I will be your God, and you shall be my people.

I am the Lord your God, who led you away from the land of the Egyptians, lest you serve them, and who broke the chains around your necks, so that you would walk upright.

But if you will not listen to me, nor accomplish all of my commandments, if you despise my laws, and disdain my judgments, so that you do not accomplish those things which have been established by me, and so that you lead my covenant away into nullification, then I also will do these things to you. I will quickly visit you with destitution, and burning heat, which will waste away your eyes, and consume your lives. In vain will you sow your seed, which will be devoured by your enemies.

I will set my face against you, and you will fall down before your enemies, and you will be subjugated to those who hate you. You will flee, though no one pursues.

But if you will not be obedient to me in this way, then I will add sevenfold to your chastisement, because of your sins.
crush the pride in your hardness, and I will give to you heaven above like iron, and the earth below like brass. {26:20} Your labor will be consumed to no purpose; the land will not bring forth seedlings, nor will the trees provide their fruit. {26:21} If you walk as an adversary to me, and if you are not willing to listen to me, I will add sevenfold to your plagues, because of your sins. {26:22} And I will send upon you the wild beasts of the field, which will consume you and your cattle, and which will reduce everything to paucity, and cause your roadways to become desolate. {26:23} But if you are not willing to receive discipline in this way, and you still walk as an adversary to me, {26:24} likewise, I will advance against you as an adversary, and I will strike you seven times, because of your sins. {26:25} And I will lead over you the sword that shall avenge my covenant. And when you will have fled into the cities, I will send a pestilence into your midst, and you will be delivered into the hands of your enemies. {26:26} After this, I will have broken the staff of your bread, so that ten women bake bread in one oven, and distribute it by weight. And you shall eat and not be filled. {26:27} Then, if you will not listen to me through these things, and you still walk against me, {26:28} then I also will advance against you, with an opposing fury, and I will chastise you with seven plagues, because of your sins: {26:29} so much so that you will eat the flesh of your sons and your daughters. {26:30} I will destroy your high places, and I will break apart your false images. You will fall among the ruins of your idols, and my soul will abominate you: {26:31} so much so that I will reduce your cities to a wilderness, and I will make your Sanctuaries desolate, and I will no longer accept the most sweet odors. {26:32} And I will utterly ruin your land, and your enemies shall be stupefied at it, when they will have become its inhabitants. {26:33} Then I will scatter you among the Gentiles, and I will unsheathe the sword after you. And your land will be deserted, and your cities will be demolished. {26:34} Then the land will be pleased by her Sabbaths, throughout all the days of her solitude. So, while you will be {26:35} in the land of the enemy, she will worship and rest in the Sabbath of her solitude, because she will not have rested in your Sabbaths, when you lived in her. {26:36} And whoever of you will remain, I will send terror into their hearts in the regions of their enemies. The sound of a flying leaf will terrify them, and so they will flee, as if from the sword. They will fall, though no one pursues. {26:37} And they will each fall upon their brothers, as if they were fleeing from wars; no one among you will dare to resist your foes. {26:38} You will perish among the Gentiles, and the land of the enemy will consume you. {26:39} But if some few of these still remain, they shall waste away in their iniquities, in the land of their enemies, and they will be afflicted, because of the sins of their fathers and their own sins, {26:40} until they confess their iniquities, and those of their ancestors, by which they have transgressed against me and walked as adversaries to me. {26:41} Therefore, I also will walk against them, and I will lead them into a hostile land, until their uncircumcised mind shall be ashamed. Then shall they pray on behalf of their iniquity. {26:42} And I will remember my covenant, which I formed with Jacob, and Isaac, and Abraham. I will also remember the land, {26:43} which, when she will be left behind by them, shall be pleased by her Sabbaths, enduring solitude because of them. Yet truly, they shall pray for their sins, because they cast aside my judgments, and they despised my laws. {26:44} And even after so much, when they were in the land of their enemy, I did not cast them off entirely, and I did not so despise them that they would be consumed, nor so that I would nullify my covenant with them. For I am the Lord their God. {26:45} And I will remember my original covenant, when I led them away from the land of Egypt, in the sight of the Gentiles, so as to be their God. I am the Lord. These are the judgments, and precepts, and laws, which the Lord has granted between himself and the sons of Israel, on mount Sinai, by the hand of Moses.

[Leviticus 27] {27:1} And the Lord spoke to Moses, saying: {27:2} Speak to the sons of Israel, and you shall say to them: The man who will have made a vow and espoused his soul to God shall give the price according to the estimation. {27:3} If it is a male from twenty years to sixty years, he shall give fifty shekels of silver, by the measure of the Sanctuary; {27:4} if it is a woman, thirty. {27:5} But from the fifth year until the twentieth, a male shall give twenty shekels; a female, ten. {27:6} From one month until the fifth year, for a male, five shekels shall be given; for a female, three. {27:7} At sixty years and beyond, a male shall give fifteen shekels; a female, ten. {27:8} If he is poor, and he does not have the means to pay the estimation, he shall stand before the priest, and however much he will value him and see that he is able to pay, so much shall he give. {27:9} But an animal which could be immolated to the Lord, if anyone has vowed it, shall be holy, {27:10} and it cannot be exchanged, that is, neither better for worse, nor worse for better. And if he has exchanged it, both that which was exchanged, and that for which it was exchanged shall be consecrated to the Lord. {27:11} An unclean animal which could not be sacrificed to the Lord, if anyone has vowed it, shall be led before the priest, {27:12} who, judging whether it is either good or bad, shall set the price. {27:13} But if he who offers it was willing to give, he shall add a fifth part above the estimation. {27:14} If a man has vowed his house, and he has sanctified it to the Lord, the priest shall examine it, whether it is good or bad, and it shall be sold according to the price which he will have established. {27:15} But if he who vowed it was willing to redeem it, he shall give a fifth part beyond the estimation, and he shall have the house. {27:16} But if he has vowed a field of his possession, and has consecrated it to the Lord, the price shall be estimated according to the measure of the seed. If the land would be sown with thirty measures of barley, then let it be sold for fifty shekels of silver. {27:17} If he has vowed his field beginning from the current year of Jubilee, as much as it may be worth, so shall it be estimated. {27:18} But if, after some amount of time, the priest shall evaluate the money according to the number of years that remain until the Jubilee, then the price shall be reduced. {27:19} But if he who had vowed it, was willing to redeem his field, he shall add a fifth part of the money to the estimation, and then he shall possess it. {27:20} But if he is not willing to redeem it, then it shall be sold to any other; he who vowed it is no longer able to redeem it. {27:21} For when the day of Jubilee arrives, it shall be sanctified to the Lord. And as a possession that has been consecrated, it rightfully belongs to the priest. {27:22} If a field has been bought, and it is not from the possession of ancestors, it shall be sanctified to the Lord. {27:23} The priest shall evaluate the price according to the number of years until the Jubilee; and the one who had vowed it shall give to the Lord. [27:24] Then, in the Jubilee, it shall be returned to the former owner, the one who had sold it and who had held it within the lot of his possession. [27:25] All estimation shall be weighed according to the shekel of the Sanctuary. A shekel has twenty obols. [27:26] The firstborn, which belong to the Lord, no one is able to sanctify or vow, whether it is an ox, or a sheep, they are for the Lord. [27:27] But if it is an unclean animal, whoever offers it shall redeem it, according to your estimation, and he shall add a fifth part to the price. If he is not willing to redeem it, it shall be sold to another for whatever amount it was estimated by you. [27:28] All that is consecrated to the Lord, whether it is a man, or an animal, or a field, shall not be sold; neither is it able to be redeemed. Anything, once it has been consecrated, shall be the Holy of holies to the Lord. [27:29] And all that has been consecrated, which is offered by man, shall not be redeemed, but shall surely die. [27:30] All the tithes of the land, whether from the grain, or from the fruits of trees, are for the Lord and are sanctified to him. [27:31] But if anyone is willing to redeem his tithes, he shall add a fifth part to them. [27:32] Out of all the tithes of oxen, and sheep, and goats, which cross under the rod of the shepherd, every tenth one that arrives shall be sanctified to the Lord. [27:33] It shall not be chosen by what is good or bad; neither shall it be exchanged for another. If anyone has exchanged it, both that which was exchanged, and that for which it was exchanged, shall be sanctified to the Lord and shall not be redeemed. [27:34] These are the precepts, which the Lord commanded Moses for the sons of Israel on mount Sinai.

 The Book of Numbers **

[Numbers 1] [1:1] And the Lord spoke to Moses in the desert of Sinai, in the tabernacle of the covenant, on the first day of the second month, in the year after their departure from Egypt, saying: [1:2] “Take a total of the entire assembly of the sons of Israel, by their families and houses, and the names of each one, of whomever is of the male sex, [1:3] from twenty years and above, of all the able-bodied men out of Israel, and you shall number them by their companies, you and Aaron. [1:4] And there shall be with you the leaders of the tribes, as well as of the houses, in their kinships, [1:5] the names of whom are these: of Ruben, Elizur the son of Shedeur; [1:6] of Simeon, Shelumiel the son of Zurishaddai; [1:7] of Judah, Nahshon the son of Amminadab; [1:8] of Issachar, Nathanael the son of Zuar; [1:9] of Zebulon, Eliab the son of Helon. [1:10] And from the sons of Joseph: of Ephraim, Elishama the son of Ammihud; of Manasseh, Gamaliel the son of Pedahzur; [1:11] of Benjamin, Abidan the son of Gideoni; [1:12] of Dan, Ahiezer the son of Ammishaddai; [1:13] of Asher, Pagiel the son of Ocran; [1:14] of Gad, Eliasaph the son of Reuel; [1:15] of Naphtali, Ahira the son of Enan.” [1:16] These are the very noble leaders of the multitude, by their tribes and kinships, and the heads of the army of Israel. [1:17] Moses and Aaron took these, with all the multitude of the common people, [1:18] and they gathered them together on the first day of the second month, taking a census of them by kinships, and houses, and families, and heads, and the names of each one from twenty years and above, [1:19] just as the Lord had instructed Moses. And they were numbered in the desert of Sinai. [1:20] Of Ruben, the firstborn of Israel, by their generations and families and houses, and the names of each head, of all who were of the male sex, from twenty years and above, capable of going to war, [1:21] there were forty-six thousand five hundred. [1:22] Of the sons of Simeon, by their generations and families, and the houses of their kinships, having been counted by the names and heads of each one, of all who were of the male sex, from twenty years and above, capable of going to war, [1:23] there were fifty-nine thousand three hundred. [1:24] Of the sons of Gad, by their generations and families, and the houses of their kinships, having been counted by the names of each one, from twenty years and above, of all who could go forth to war, [1:25] there were forty-five thousand six hundred fifty. [1:26] Of the sons of Judah, by their generations and families, and the houses of their kinships, by the names of each one, from twenty years and above, of all who were able to go forth to war, [1:27] there were counted seventy-four thousand six hundred. [1:28] Of the sons of Issachar, by their generations and families, and the houses of their kinships, by the names of each one, from twenty years and above, of all who could go forth to war, [1:29] there were counted fifty-four thousand four hundred. [1:30] Of the sons of Zebulon, by their generations and families, and the houses of their kinships, having been counted by the names of each one, from twenty years and above, of all who were able to go forth to war, [1:31] there were fifty-seven thousand four hundred. [1:32] From the sons of Joseph, of the sons of Ephraim, by their generations and families, and the houses of their kinships, having been counted by the names of each one, from twenty years and above, of all who were able to go forth to war, [1:33] there were forty thousand five hundred. [1:34] Furthermore, of the sons of Manasseh, by their generations and families, and the houses of their kinships, having been counted by the names of each one, from twenty years and above, of all who were able to go forth to war, [1:35] there were thirty-two thousand two hundred. [1:36] Of the sons of Benjamin, by their generations and families, and the houses of their kinships, having been counted by the names of each one, from twenty years and above, of all who were able to go forth to war, [1:37] there were thirty-five thousand four hundred. [1:38] Of the sons of Dan, by their generations and families, and the houses of their kinships, having been counted by the names of each one, from twenty years and above, of all who were able to go forth to war, [1:39] there were sixty-two thousand seven hundred. [1:40] Of the sons of Asher, by their generations and families, and the houses of their kinships, having been counted by the names of each one, from twenty years and above, of all who were able to go forth to war, [1:41] there were forty thousand and one thousand five hundred. [1:42] Of the sons of Naphtali, by their generations and families, and the houses of their kinships, having been counted by the names of each one, from twenty years and above, of all who were able to go forth to war, [1:43] there were fifty-three thousand four hundred. [1:44] These are the ones who were numbered by Moses and Aaron and the twelve leaders of Israel, each one by the houses of their kinships. [1:45] And the entire number of the sons of Israel by their houses and families, from twenty years and above, who were able to go forth to war, were [1:46] six hundred three thousand five hundred fifty men. [1:47] But the Levites in the tribes of their families were not numbered with them. {1:48} And the Lord spoke to Moses, saying: {1:49} “Do not number the tribe of Levi, neither shall you take a total of them with the sons of Israel. {1:50} But appoint them over the tabernacle of the testimony, and all its vessels, and whatever pertains to the ceremonies. They shall carry the tabernacle and all its articles. And they shall be for the ministry, and they shall encamp all around the tabernacle. {1:51} When you would depart, the Levites shall take down the tabernacle. When you are to make camp, they shall set it up. Any outsider who will approach it shall be killed. {1:52} Now the sons of Israel shall make camp, each one by his companies and bands, as well as his army. {1:53} Moreover, the Levites shall fix their tents all around the tabernacle, lest there be an indignation over the multitude of the sons of Israel. And they shall stand watch as guardians over the tabernacle of the testimony.” {1:54} Therefore, the sons of Israel acted according to everything that the Lord had instructed Moses.

[Numbers 2] {2:1} And the Lord spoke to Moses and Aaron, saying: {2:2} “Each one shall make camp, by their troops, as well as by their insignia and standards, and by the houses of their kinships, all around the tabernacle of the covenant.” {2:3} To the east, Judah shall fix his tents, by the companies of his army. And the leader of his sons shall be Nahshon the son of Amminadab. {2:4} And the entire total of the fighting men from his stock was seventy-four thousand six hundred. {2:5} Beside him, those of the tribe of Issachar were encamped, whose leader was Nathanael the son of Zuar. {2:6} And the entire number of his fighting men was fifty-four thousand four hundred. {2:7} In the tribe of Zebulon, the leader was Eliab the son of Helon. {2:8} All the army of fighting men from his stock were fifty-seven thousand four hundred. {2:9} All who were numbered in the camp of Judah were one hundred eighty-six thousand four hundred. And these, by their companies, shall go forth first. {2:10} In the camp of the sons of Ruben, toward the south side, the leader shall be Elizur the son of Shedeur. {2:11} And the entire army of his fighting men, who were numbered, were forty-six thousand five hundred. {2:12} Beside him, those of the tribe of Simeon were encamped, whose leader was Shelumiel the son of Zurishaddai. {2:13} And the entire army of his fighting men, who were numbered, were fifty-nine thousand three hundred. {2:14} In the tribe of Gad, the leader was Eliasaph the son of Reuel. {2:15} And the entire army of his fighting men, who were numbered, were forty-five thousand six hundred fifty. {2:16} All who were counted in the camp of Ruben were one hundred fifty thousand and one thousand six hundred fifty. {2:17} But the tabernacle of the testimony shall be lifted up by the officers of the Levites and their companies. In the manner in which it is set up, so also shall it be taken down. Each one shall advance according to their places and ranks. {2:18} On the west side, there shall be the camp of the sons of Ephraim, whose leader was Elishama the son of Ammihud. {2:19} The entire army of his fighting men, who were numbered, were forty thousand five hundred. {2:20} And with them was the tribe of the sons of Manasseh, whose leader was Gamaliel the son of Pedahzur. {2:21} And the entire army of his fighting men, who were numbered, were thirty-two thousand two hundred. {2:22} In the tribe of the sons of Benjamin, the leader was Abidan the son of Gideoni. {2:23} And the entire army of his fighting men, who were counted, were thirty-five thousand four hundred. {2:24} All who were numbered in the camp of Ephraim were one hundred eight thousand one hundred, by their companies. These shall advance third. {2:25} Toward the north side, the sons of Dan were encamped, whose leader was Ahiezer the son of Ammishaddai. {2:26} The entire army of his fighting men, who were numbered, were sixty-two thousand seven hundred. {2:27} Beside him, those of the tribe of Asher fixed their tents, whose leader was Pagiel the son of Ochan. {2:28} The entire army of his fighting men, who were numbered, were forty thousand and one thousand five hundred. {2:29} From the tribe of the sons of Naphtali, the leader was Ahira the son of Enan. {2:30} The entire army of his fighting men were fifty-three thousand four hundred. {2:31} All who were numbered in the camp of Dan were one hundred fifty-seven thousand six hundred; and these shall advance at the very end. {2:32} This is the number of the sons of Israel, of their army divided by the houses of their kinships and their companies: six hundred three thousand five hundred fifty. {2:33} But the Levites were not numbered among the sons of Israel. For so the Lord had instructed Moses. {2:34} And the sons of Israel acted according to all the things that the Lord had commanded. They were encamped by their companies, and they advanced by the families and houses of their fathers.

[Numbers 3] {3:1} These are the generations of Aaron and Moses, in the day when the Lord spoke to Moses on mount Sinai. {3:2} And these are the names of the sons of Aaron: his firstborn Nadab, then Abihu, and Eleazar, and Ithamar. {3:3} These the names of the sons of Aaron, the priests who were anointed and whose hands were filled and consecrated in order to exercise the priesthood. {3:4} For Nadab and Abihu died without children, when they offered, in the sight of the Lord, a strange fire, in the desert of Sinai. And so, Eleazar and Ithamar exercised the priesthood in the sight of Aaron, their father. {3:5} And the Lord spoke to Moses, saying: {3:6} “Bring forward the tribe of Levi, and cause them to stand in the sight of Aaron the priest, in order to minister to him. And let them keep watch outside, {3:7} and let them observe whatever pertains to the ritual for the multitude, in front of the tabernacle of the testimony, {3:8} and let them take care of the vessels of the tabernacle, serving in its ministry. {3:9} And you shall give the Levites as a gift to Aaron and his sons; for they have been delivered to him by the sons of Israel. {3:10} But you shall appoint Aaron and his sons over the service of priesthood. The outsider who approaches to minister shall be put to death.” {3:11} And the Lord spoke to Moses, saying: {3:12} “I have taken the Levites from the sons of Israel. For the Levites, and all the firstborn who open the womb among the sons of Israel, shall be mine. {3:13} For every firstborn is mine. From the time that I struck the firstborn in the land of Egypt, I have sanctified for myself whatever is born first in Israel. From man, even to beast, they are mine. I am the Lord.” {3:14} And the Lord spoke to Moses in the desert of Sinai, saying: {3:15} “Number the sons of Levi by the houses of their fathers and their families, every male from one month and above.” {3:16} Moses numbered them, just as the Lord had instructed, {3:17} and there were found the sons of Levi.
by their names: Gershon and Kohath and Merari. {3:18} The sons of Gershon: Libni and Shimei. {3:19} The sons of Kohath: Amram, and Izhar, Hebron and Uzziel. {3:20} The sons of Merari: Mahli and Mushi. {3:21} From Gershon were two families: the Libnites, and the Shimites. {3:22} The people of these were numbered, of the male sex, from one month and above: seven thousand five hundred. {3:23} These shall encamp behind the tabernacle, toward the west, {3:24} under the leader Elisaph the son of Lael. {3:25} And they shall keep watch over the tabernacle of the covenant: {3:26} the tabernacle itself, and its covering; the tent that is drawn before the doors of the covering of the covenant; and the curtains of the atrium; likewise, the tent that is suspended at the entrance of the atrium of the tabernacle; and whatever pertains to the ritual of the altar; the cords of the tabernacle and all its implements. {3:27} The kinship of Kohath includes the peoples of the Amramites and Izharites and Hebronites and Uzzielites. These are the families of the Kohathites, having been counted by their names, {3:28} all those of the male gender, from one month and above: eight thousand six hundred. They shall keep watch over the Sanctuary, {3:29} and they shall encamp toward the south side. {3:30} And their leader shall be Elisaphan the son of Uzziel. {3:31} And they shall take care of the ark, and the table and the lampstand, the altars and the vessels of the Sanctuary, by which they minister, and the veil, and all the articles of this kind. {3:32} But the leader of the leaders of the Levites, Eleazar the son of Aaron the priest, shall be over those who watch over the care of the Sanctuary. {3:33} And truly, from Merari are the peoples of the Mahlites and Mushites, having been counted by their names, {3:34} all those of the male gender, from one month and above: six thousand two hundred. {3:35} Their leader is Suriel the son of Abiaiel. They shall make camp on the north side. {3:36} Under their care shall be the panels of the tabernacle, and the bars, and the columns with their bases, and all the things which pertain to service of this kind, {3:37} and the columns of the surrounding atrium with their bases, and the tent pegs with their cords. {3:38} Moses and Aaron, with their sons, shall make camp before the tabernacle of the covenant, that is, on the east side, holding the custody of the Sanctuary in the midst of the sons of Israel. Whatever foreigner approaches it shall die. {3:39} All the Levites, whom Moses and Aaron numbered by their families according to the precept of the Lord, of the male gender, from one month and above, were twenty-two thousand. {3:40} And the Lord said to Moses: “Number the firstborn of the male sex from the sons of Israel, from one month and above, and you shall take their total. {3:41} And you shall bring the Levites to me, in place of all the firstborn of the sons of Israel, and you shall bring their cattle to me, in place of all the firstborn of the cattle of the sons of Israel. I am the Lord.” {3:42} Moses took a census, just as the Lord had instructed, of the firstborn of the sons of Israel. {3:43} And the males by their names, from one month and above, were twenty-two thousand two hundred seventy-three. {3:44} And the Lord spoke to Moses, saying: {3:45} “Take the Levites, in place of the firstborn of the sons of Israel, and the cattle of the Levites, in place of their cattle, and so the Levites shall be mine. I am the Lord. {3:46} But for the price of the two hundred and seventy-three, which exceed the number of the Levites compared to the number of firstborn of the sons of Israel, you shall take five shekels for each head, by the measure of the Sanctuary. A shekel has twenty obols. {3:48} And you shall give the money to Aaron and his sons as the price of those that are in excess.” {3:49} Therefore, Moses took the money for those that were in excess, and whom they had redeemed from the Levites {3:50} in place of the firstborn of the sons of Israel: one thousand three hundred sixty-five shekels, according to the weight of the Sanctuary. {3:51} And he gave it to Aaron and his sons, according to the word by which the Lord had instructed him.

[Numbers 4]  {4:1} And the Lord spoke to Moses and Aaron, saying: {4:2} “Take a total of the sons of Kohath from the midst of the Levites, by their houses and families, {4:3} from thirty years and above, even to the fiftieth year, of all who enter so as to stand and minister in the tabernacle of the covenant. {4:4} This is the service of the sons of Kohath: the tabernacle of the covenant and the Holy of holies. {4:5} Aaron and his sons shall enter, when the camp is going to move, and they shall take down the veil, which hangs before the entrance, and they shall wrap the ark of the testimony in it, {4:6} and they shall cover it further with a veil of violet skins, and they shall extend over it a cloth made entirely of hyacinth, and they shall draw in the bars. {4:7} Likewise, they shall wrap the table of the presence in a cloth of hyacinth, and they shall place with it the censers and little mortars, the cups and bowls for pouring out libations; the bread shall be always on it. {4:8} And they shall extend over it a cloth of scarlet, which they shall further cover with a veil of violet skins, and they shall draw in the bars. {4:9} They shall take also a cloth of hyacinth, with which they shall cover the lampstand with the lamps, and its tongs, and the candle snuffers, and all the vessels of oil, which are necessary for the preparation of the lamps. {4:10} And over all this they shall place a covering of violet skins, and they shall draw in the bars. {4:11} And certainly they shall wrap the golden altar in a hyacinth garment, and they shall extend over it a covering of violet skins, and they shall draw in the bars. {4:12} All the vessels with which they minister in the Sanctuary they shall wrap in a cloth of hyacinth, and they shall extend over it a covering of violet skins, and they shall draw in the bars. {4:13} Moreover, they shall cleanse the altar of ashes, and they shall wrap it in a purple garment, {4:14} and they shall place it with all the vessels which they use in its ministry, that is, receptacles for fire, small hooks as well as forks, larger hooks and shovels. They shall cover all the vessels of the altar together with a veil of violet skins, and they shall draw in the bars. {4:15} And when Aaron and his sons have wrapped the Sanctuary and its vessels at the dismantling of the camp, then the sons of Kohath shall enter, so as to carry what has been wrapped. And they shall not touch the vessels of the Sanctuary, lest they die. These are the burdens of the sons of Kohath concerning the tabernacle of the covenant. {4:16} Over them shall be Eleazar, the son of Aaron the priest, to whom belongs the care of the oil to prepare the lamps, and the incense compound, and the sacrifice, which is offered continually, and the oil of unction, and whatever pertains to the service of the tabernacle, and all the vessels that are in the Sanctuary.” {4:17} And the Lord spoke to Moses and Aaron, saying: {4:18} “Do not be willing to lose the people of Kohath from the midst of the Levites. {4:19} But do this for them, so that they may live, and so that they may not die by touching the Holies of holies. Aaron and his sons shall enter, and they shall assign the work of each one, and they shall determine what each one ought to carry. {4:20} Let no others, out of curiosity, see the things that are in the Sanctuary before they are wrapped, otherwise they shall die.” {4:21} And the Lord spoke to Moses, saying: {4:22} “Now also take a total of the sons of Gershon, by their houses and families and kinships, {4:23} from thirty years and above, even to fifty years. Number all those who enter and minister in the tabernacle of the covenant. {4:24} This is the duty of the family of the Gershonites: {4:25} to carry the curtains of the tabernacle, and the roof of the covenant, the other covering, and the veil over everything, and the violet tent, which hangs at the entrance of the tabernacle of the covenant, {4:26} the curtains of the atriurn, and the veil at the entrance, which is before tabernacle. Everything that pertains to the altar, the cords, and the vessels of the ministry {4:27} the sons of Gershon shall carry, under the orders of Aaron and his sons. And so shall each one know to which burden he ought to surrender. {4:28} This is the service of the family of the Gershonites, in the tabernacle of the covenant, and they shall be under the hand of Ithamar, the son of Aaron the priest. {4:29} Likewise, you shall take a census of the sons of Merari, by the families and houses of their fathers, {4:30} from thirty years and above, even to fifty years, of all who enter to the office of their ministry and to the service of the covenant of the testimony. {4:31} These are their burdens: They shall carry the panels of the tabernacle and its bars, the columns and their bases, {4:32} also the columns surrounding the atriurn, with their bases and tent pegs and cords. They shall accept by number all the vessels and articles, and so shall they carry them. {4:33} This is the office of the family of the Merarites, and their ministry for the tabernacle of the covenant. And they shall be under the hand of Ithamar, the son of Aaron the priest.” {4:34} Therefore, Moses and Aaron, and the leaders of the assembly, took a census of the sons of Kohath, by the kinships and houses of their fathers, {4:35} from thirty years and above, even to the fiftieth year, of all who enter to the ministry of the tabernacle of the covenant. {4:36} And there were found two thousand seven hundred fifty. {4:37} This is the number of the people of Kohath, who enter the tabernacle of the covenant. These Moses and Aaron numbered according to the word of the Lord by the hand of Moses. {4:38} The sons of Gershon also were numbered by the kinships and houses of their fathers, {4:39} from thirty years and above, even to the fiftieth year, all who enter so as to minister in the tabernacle of the covenant. {4:40} And there were found two thousand six hundred thirty. {4:41} This is the number of the sons of Gershon, whom Moses and Aaron numbered according to the word of the Lord. {4:42} The sons of Merari also were numbered by the kinships and houses of their fathers, {4:43} from thirty years and above, even to the fiftieth year, all who enter to fulfill the rituals of the tabernacle of the covenant. {4:44} And there were found three thousand two hundred. {4:45} This is the number of the sons of Merari, whom Moses and Aaron counted according to the command of the Lord by the hand of Moses. {4:46} All who were counted from the Levites, and whom, by name, Moses and Aaron, and the leaders of Israel, counted by the kinships and houses of their fathers, {4:47} from thirty years and above, until the fiftieth year, entering for the ministry of the tabernacle and carrying the burdens, {4:48} were together eight thousand five hundred eighty. {4:49} Moses took a census of them, according to the word of the Lord, each one according to their office and their burdens, just as the Lord had instructed him. [Numbers 5] {5:1} And the Lord spoke to Moses, saying: {5:2} “Instruct the sons of Israel to cast out of the camp every leper, and those who have a flow of seed, and those who have been polluted because of the dead; {5:3} cast out of the camp both male and female, lest they contaminate it while I am dwelling with you.” {5:4} And the sons of Israel did so, and they cast them out, beyond the camp, just as the Lord had spoken to Moses. {5:5} And the Lord spoke to Moses, saying: {5:6} “Say to the sons of Israel: A man or a woman, when they have done anything out of all the sins that often befal men, or if, by negligence, they have transgressed the commandment of the Lord, and so have committed an offense, {5:7} they shall confess their sin, and they shall restore the principle itself, plus a fifth part above it, to any against whom they have sinned. {5:8} But if there would be no one to receive it, they shall give it to the Lord, and it shall be for the priest, except for the ram, which is offered for expiation, in order to be a pleasing victim. {5:9} Likewise, all the first-fruits, which the sons of Israel offer, belong to the priest, {5:10} with whatever is offered by each one at the Sanctuary, and which is delivered into the hands of the priest; it shall be his.” {5:11} And the Lord spoke to Moses, saying: {5:12} “Speak to the sons of Israel, and you shall say to them: The man whose wife will have gone astray, and, disdaining her husband, {5:13} will have slept with another man, and if her husband cannot discover it, but the adultery is secret, and her husband, {5:14} will have slept with another man, and if her husband cannot discover it, but the adultery is secret, and her husband, {5:15} shall bring her to the priest, and he shall offer an oblation for her, a tenth part of native barley meal. He shall not pour oil over it, nor shall he place frankincense on it, because it is a sacrifice for jealousy, or an oblation investigating adultery. {5:16} Therefore, the priest shall offer it, and he shall set it in the sight of the Lord. {5:17} And he shall take up holy water in an earthen vessel, and he shall cast a little earth from the pavement of the tabernacle into it. {5:18} And while the woman stands before the Lord, he shall uncover her head, and he shall place over her hands the sacrifice of recollection and oblation of jealousy. But he shall take hold of the most bitter waters, in which he has gathered curses with loathing. {5:19} And he shall bind her by an oath, and he shall say: ‘If another man has not slept with you, and if you have not been polluted by forsaking the bed of your husband, these most bitter waters, into which I have gathered curses, shall not harm you. {5:20} But if you have turned away from your husband, and also have been defiled, and have lain together with another man, {5:21} these curses shall be thrown upon you: May the Lord turn you into a curse and an example among all his people. May he cause your thigh to rot, and may your abdomen swell up and burst out. {5:22} May the cursed waters enter into your stomach, and may your womb swell and your thigh rot.’ And the woman shall respond: ‘Amen, amen.’ {5:23} And the priest shall write these curses in a little book, and then he shall erase them with the very bitter waters, into which he had gathered the curses, {5:24} and he shall give it to her to drink. And when she has emptied it, {5:25} the priest shall take from her hand the sacrifice of jealousy, and he shall elevate it before the Lord, and he shall implore it upon the altar. Yet only after he first {5:26} takes a handful of the sacrifice from that which is offered, and burns it upon the altar, and then he may give the most bitter waters to the woman as a drink. {5:27} And when she drinks it, if she has been defiled, and, having despised her husband, is guilty of adultery, the curse shall pass through her, and as her belly swells up, her thigh shall decay, and the woman shall become a curse and an example to all the people.

{5:28} But if she has not been defiled, she shall be unharmed and she shall bear children. {5:29} This is the law for jealousy. If a woman has turned aside from her husband, and if she has been polluted, {5:30} and if the husband, being stirred up by the spirit of jealousy, has brought her before the sight of the Lord, and the priest has acted toward her according to all that has been written: {5:31} then the husband shall be without guilt, and she shall bear her iniquity.”

[Numbers 6] {6:1} And the Lord spoke to Moses, saying: {6:2} “Speak to the sons of Israel, and you shall say to them: A man or a woman, when they have made a vow so that they may be sanctified, and when they are willing to consecrate themselves to the Lord, {6:3} shall abstain from wine and from anything which is able to inebriate. They shall not drink vinegar made from wine or from any other drink, nor anything pressed from the grape. They shall not eat grapes, neither fresh nor dried. {6:4} During all the days that they are consecrated to the Lord by vow, they shall not eat whatever may be from the vineyard, from raisins, even to grape seeds. {6:5} During all the time of his separation, no razor shall pass over his head, even until the completion of the day when he is consecrated to the Lord. He shall be holy, letting the hair of his head grow long. {6:6} During all the time of his consecration, he shall not enter because of a death, {6:7} nor shall he contaminate himself, even over the funeral of his father, or his mother, or his brother, or his sister. For the consecration of his God is upon his head. {6:8} During all the days of his separation, he shall be holy to the Lord. {6:9} But if anyone will have died unexpectedly before him, the head of his consecration shall be polluted, and he shall shave it in that very place, on the same day of his purification, and again on the seventh day. {6:10} Then, on the eighth day, he shall offer two turtledoves or two young pigeons, to the priest at the entrance to the covenant of the testimony. {6:11} And the priest shall effect one for sin, and the other as a holocaust, and he shall pray for him, because he has sinned on account of the dead. And he shall sanctify his head on that day. {6:12} And he shall consecrate to the Lord the days of his separation, offering a one-year-old lamb for sin, yet in such a manner that the former days will be made null and void, because his sanctification was polluted. {6:13} This is the law of consecration. When the days that he had decreed by vow have been completed, he shall bring him to the door of the tabernacle of the covenant, {6:14} and he shall offer his oblation to the Lord: an immaculate one-year-old male lamb as a holocaust, and an immaculate one-year-old female lamb for sin, and an immaculate ram, a peace-offering victim, {6:15} also, a basket of unleavened bread, which has been sprinkled with oil, and cakes without leaven, anointed with oil, as well as the libations of each one. {6:16} And the priest shall offer them before the Lord, and he shall perform both the sin offering and the holocaust. {6:17} Yet truly, the ram he shall immolate as a peace-offering victim to the Lord, offering at the same time the basket of unleavened bread, and the libations which are required by custom. {6:18} Then the Nazarite shall be shaved of the long hair of his consecration, before the door of the tabernacle of the covenant. And he shall take his hair, and he shall place it upon the fire, which is under the sacrifice of the peace offerings. {6:19} And he shall take the cooked shoulder of the ram, and one twist of bread without leaven from the basket, and one unleavened cake, and he shall deliver them into the hands of the Nazarite, after his head has been shaved. {6:20} And receiving them again from him, he shall elevate them in the sight of the Lord. And having been sanctified, these shall be for the priest, as also the breast, which was ordered to be separated, and the leg. After this, the Nazarite is able to drink wine. {6:21} This is the law of the Nazarite, when he has vowed his oblation to the Lord in the time of his consecration, aside from those things which his hand shall find. According to what he had vowed in his mind, so shall he do, to the perfection of his sanctification.”

{6:22} And the Lord spoke to Moses, saying: {6:23} “Say to Aaron and his sons: Thus shall you bless the sons of Israel, and you shall say to them: {6:24} ‘May the Lord bless you and keep you. {6:25} May the Lord reveal his face to you and take pity on you. {6:26} May the Lord turn his countenance toward you and grant peace to you.’ {6:27} And they shall invoke my name over the sons of Israel, and I will bless them.”

[Numbers 7] {7:1} Now it happened in the day when Moses completed the tabernacle, and he set it up, and he anointed and sanctified it with all of its vessels, and similarly the altar and all of its vessels, {7:2} that the leaders of Israel and the heads of the families, who were in each tribe and who were in charge of those who had been numbered, offered {7:3} their gifts in the sight of the Lord: six covered wagons with twelve oxen. Two leaders offered one wagon, and each offered one ox, and they offered these in the sight of the tabernacle. {7:4} Then the Lord said to Moses: {7:5} “Receive these things from them, in order to serve in the ministry of the tabernacle, and you shall deliver them to the Levites, according to the order of their ministry.” {7:6} And so Moses, having received the wagons and the oxen, delivered them to the Levites. {7:7} Two wagons and four oxen he gave to the sons of Gershon, according to what they needed. {7:8} The other four wagons and eight oxen he gave to the sons of Merari, according to their offices and service, under the hand of Ithamar, the son of Aaron the priest. {7:9} But to the sons of Kohath he gave no wagons or oxen, because they serve in the Sanctuary and they carry their burdens on their shoulders. {7:10} Therefore, the leaders offered, at the dedication of the altar on the day when it was anointed, their oblation before the altar. {7:11} And the Lord said to Moses: “Let each of the leaders, on each of the days, offer their gifts for the dedication of the altar.” {7:12} On the first day, Nahshon, the son of Amminadab of the tribe of Judah, offered his oblation. {7:13} And in it were these: a silver dish weighing one hundred thirty shekels, a silver bowl having seventy shekels, according to the weight of the Sanctuary, and both were filled with fine wheat flour sprinkled with oil as a sacrifice, {7:14} a little mortar made from ten shekels of gold, filled with incense, {7:15} an ox from the herd, and a ram, and a one-year-old lamb as a holocaust, {7:16} and a he-goat for sin; {7:17} and for the sacrifice of peace offerings: two oxen, five rams, five he-goats, and five one-year-old lambs. This was the oblation of Nahshon, the son of Amminadab. {7:18} On the second day, Nathanael, the son of Zuar, the leader of the tribe of Issachar, offered: {7:19} a silver dish weighing one hundred thirty shekels, a silver bowl having seventy shekels, according to the weight of the Sanctuary, and both were filled with fine wheat flour sprinkled with oil as a sacrifice, {7:20} a little mortar of gold having ten shekels, filled with incense, {7:21} an ox from the herd, and a ram, and a one-year-old lamb as a holocaust, {7:22} and a he-goat for sin; {7:23} and for the sacrifice of peace offerings: two oxen, five rams, five he-goats, and five one-year-old lambs. This was the oblation of Nathanael, the son of Zuar. {7:24} On the third day, the leader of the sons of Zebulon, Eliab the son of Helon, {7:25} offered a silver dish weighing one hundred thirty shekels, a silver bowl having seventy shekels, by the weight of the Sanctuary, and both were filled with fine wheat flour sprinkled with oil as a sacrifice, {7:26} a little mortar of gold weighing ten shekels, filled with incense, {7:27} an ox from the herd, and a ram, and a one-year-old lamb as a holocaust, {7:28} and a he-goat for sin; {7:29} and for the sacrifice of peace offerings: two oxen, five rams, five he-goats, and five one-year-old lambs. This is the oblation of Eliab the son of Helon. {7:30} On the fourth day, the leader of the sons of Ruben, Elizur the son of Shedeur, {7:31} offered a silver dish weighing one hundred thirty shekels, a silver bowl having seventy shekels, by the weight of the Sanctuary, and both were filled with fine wheat flour sprinkled with oil as a sacrifice, {7:32} a little mortar of gold weighing ten shekels, filled with incense, {7:33} an ox from the herd, and a ram, and a one-year-old lamb as a holocaust, {7:34} and a he-goat for sin; {7:35} and for victims of peace offerings: two oxen, five rams, five he-goats, and five one-year-old lambs. This was the oblation of Elizur, the son of Shedeur. {7:36} On the fifth day, the leader of the sons of Simeon, Shelumiel the son of the son of Zurishaddai, {7:37} offered a silver dish weighing one hundred thirty shekels, a silver bowl having seventy shekels, by the weight of the Sanctuary, and both were filled with fine wheat flour sprinkled with oil as a sacrifice, {7:38} a little mortar of gold weighing ten shekels, filled with incense, {7:39} an ox from the herd, and a ram, and a one-year-old lamb as a holocaust, {7:40} and a he-goat for sin; {7:41} and for victims of peace offerings: two oxen, five rams, five he-goats, and five one-year-old lambs. This was the oblation of Shelumiel, the son of Zurishaddai. {7:42} On the sixth day, the leader of the sons of Gad, Eliasaph the son of Reuel, {7:43} offered a silver dish weighing one hundred thirty shekels, a silver bowl having seventy shekels, by the weight of the Sanctuary, and both were filled with fine wheat flour sprinkled with oil as a sacrifice, {7:44} a little mortar of gold weighing ten shekels, filled with incense, {7:45} an ox from the herd, and a ram, and a one-year-old lamb as a holocaust, {7:46} and a he-goat for sin; {7:47} and for victims of peace offerings: two oxen, five rams, five he-goats, and five one-year-old lambs. This was the oblation of Eliasaph, the son of Reuel. {7:48} On the seventh day, the leader of the sons of Ephraim, Elishama the son of Ammihud, {7:49} offered a silver dish weighing one hundred thirty shekels, a silver bowl having seventy shekels, by the weight of the Sanctuary, and both were filled with fine wheat flour sprinkled with oil as a sacrifice, {7:50} a little mortar of gold weighing ten shekels, filled with incense, {7:51} an ox from the herd, and a ram, and a one-year-old lamb as a holocaust, {7:52} and a he-goat for sin; {7:53} and for victims of peace offerings: two oxen, five rams, five he-goats, and five one-year-old lambs. This was the oblation of Elishama, the son of Ammihud. {7:54} On the eighth day, the leader of the sons of Manasseh, Gamaliel the son of Pedahzur, {7:55} offered a silver dish weighing one hundred thirty shekels, a silver bowl having seventy shekels, by the weight of the Sanctuary, and both were filled with fine wheat flour sprinkled with oil as a sacrifice, {7:56} a little mortar of gold weighing ten shekels, filled with incense, {7:57} an ox from the herd, and a ram, and a one-year-old lamb as a holocaust, {7:58} and a he-goat for sin; {7:59} and for victims of peace offerings: two oxen, five rams, five he-goats, and five one-year-old lambs. This was the oblation of Gamaliel, the son of Pedahzur. {7:60} On the ninth day, the leader of the sons of Benjamin, Abidan the son of Gideoni, {7:61} offered a silver dish weighing one hundred thirty shekels, a silver bowl having seventy shekels, by the weight of the Sanctuary, and both were filled with fine wheat flour sprinkled with oil as a sacrifice, {7:62} a little mortar of gold weighing ten shekels, filled with incense, {7:63} an ox from the herd, and a ram, and a one-year-old lamb as a holocaust, {7:64} and a he-goat for sin; {7:65} and for victims of peace offerings: two oxen, five rams, five he-goats, and five one-year-old lambs. This was the oblation of Abidan, the son of Gideoni. {7:66} On the tenth day, the leaders of the sons of Dan, Ahiezer the son of Ammishaddai, {7:67} offered a silver dish weighing one hundred thirty shekels, a silver bowl having seventy shekels, by the weight of the Sanctuary, and both were filled with fine wheat flour sprinkled with oil as a sacrifice, {7:68} a little mortar of gold weighing ten shekels, filled with incense, {7:69} an ox from the herd, and a ram, and a one-year-old lamb as a holocaust, {7:70} and a he-goat for sin; {7:71} and for victims of peace offerings: two oxen, five rams, five he-goats, and five one-year-old lambs. This was the oblation of Ahiezer, the son of Ammishaddai. {7:72} On the eleventh day, the leader of the sons of Asher, Pagiel the son of Ochran, {7:73} offered a silver dish weighing one hundred thirty shekels, a silver bowl having seventy shekels, by the weight of the Sanctuary, and both were filled with fine wheat flour sprinkled with oil as a sacrifice, {7:74} a little mortar of gold weighing ten shekels, filled with incense, {7:75} an ox from the herd, and a ram, and a one-year-old lamb as a holocaust, {7:76} and a he-goat for sin; {7:77} and for victims of peace offerings: two oxen, five rams, five he-goats, and five one-year-old lambs. This was the oblation of Pagiel, the son of Ochran. {7:78} On the twelfth day, the leader of the sons of Naphtali, Ahira the son of Enan, {7:79} offered a silver dish weighing one hundred thirty shekels, a silver bowl having seventy shekels, by the weight of the Sanctuary, and both were filled with fine wheat flour sprinkled with oil as a sacrifice, {7:80} a little mortar of gold weighing ten shekels, filled with incense, {7:81} an ox from the herd, and a ram, and a one-year-old lamb as a holocaust, {7:82} and a he-goat for sin; {7:83} and for victims of peace offerings: two oxen, five rams, five he-goats, and five one-year-old lambs. This was the oblation of Ahira, the son of Enan. {7:84} These were the oblations from the leaders of Israel for the dedication of the altar on the day when it was consecrated: twelve dishes of silver, twelve bowls of silver, twelve little mortars of gold, {7:85} such that each dish had one hundred thirty shekels of silver, and each bowl had seventy shekels, that is, putting all of the vessels from silver together, two thousand four hundred shekels, by the weight of the Sanctuary, {7:86} and twelve little mortars of gold, filled with incense, weighing ten shekels by the weight of the Sanctuary, that is, all together one hundred twenty shekels of gold, {7:87} and twelve oxen from the herd as a holocaust, twelve rams, twelve one-year-old lambs, with their libations, and twelve he-goats for sin; {7:88} and for victims of peace offerings: twenty-four oxen, sixty rams, sixty he-goats, and sixty one-year-old lambs. These were the oblations for the dedication of the altar, when it was anointed. {7:89} And when Moses entered into the tabernacle of the covenant, to consult the oracle, he heard the voice of One speaking to him from the propitiatory, which is over the ark of the testimony between the two cherubims, and there he also spoke to him.

[Numbers 8] {8:1} And the Lord spoke to Moses, saying: {8:2} “Speak to Aaron, and you shall say to him: When you place the seven lamps, let the lampstand be set up on the south side. Therefore, give this instruction: that the lamps should look out from the region opposite the north, toward the table of the bread of the presence; they shall give light opposite that area, toward the area that the lampstand faces.” {8:3} And Aaron did so, and he placed the lamps on the lampstand, just as the Lord had instructed Moses. {8:4} Now this was the workmanship of the lampstand: it was of ductile gold, both the main shaft and all that originated from both sides of the branches. According to the example that the Lord revealed to Moses, so did he make the lampstand. {8:5} And the Lord spoke to Moses, saying: {8:6} “Take the Levites from the midst of the sons of Israel, and you shall purify them {8:7} according to this ritual: Let them be sprinkled with the water of illumination, and let them shave off all the hairs of their body. And when they have washed their garments and have been cleansed, {8:8} they shall take an ox from the herd, with its libation of fine wheat flour sprinkled with oil; then you shall receive another ox from the herd for sin. {8:9} And you shall bring forward the Levites before the tabernacle of the covenant, calling together all the multitude of the sons of Israel. {8:10} And when the Levites are before the Lord, the sons of Israel shall place their hands upon them. {8:11} And Aaron shall offer the Levites as a gift in the sight of the Lord, from the sons of Israel, so that they may serve in his ministry. {8:12} Likewise, the Levites shall place their hands upon the heads of the oxen; you shall make use of one of these for sin, and the other as a holocaust to the Lord, so that you may intercede for them. {8:13} And you shall set the Levites in the sight of Aaron and his sons, and you shall consecrate those being offered to the Lord, {8:14} and you shall separate them from the midst of the sons of Israel, so that they may be for me. {8:15} And after this, they shall enter the tabernacle of the covenant, in order to serve me. And so shall you purify and consecrate them as an oblation to the Lord. For they were given to me as a gift from the sons of Israel. {8:16} I have accepted them in place of the firstborn which open every womb in Israel. {8:17} For all the firstborn of the sons of Israel, as much from men as from beasts, are mine. From the day when I struck down all the firstborn in the land of Egypt, I have sanctified them to myself. {8:18} And I have taken the Levites in place of all the firstborn of the sons of Israel. {8:19} And I have delivered them as a gift to Aaron and his sons, from the midst of the people, in order to serve me, for Israel, in the tabernacle of the covenant, and in order to pray for them, lest there be a scourge among the people, if they were to dare to approach to my Sanctuary.” {8:20} And Moses and Aaron, and all the multitude of the sons of Israel, accomplished all that the Lord had commanded Moses concerning the Levites. {8:21} And they were purified, and they washed their garments. And Aaron lifted them up in the sight of the Lord, and he prayed for them, {8:22} so that, having been purified, they might enter to their duties in the tabernacle of the covenant before Aaron and his sons. Just as the Lord had instructed Moses about the Levites, so was it done. {8:23} And the Lord spoke to Moses, saying: {8:24} “This is the law of the Levites: From twenty-five years and above, they shall enter to minister in the tabernacle of the covenant. {8:25} And when they will have completed the fiftieth year of age, they shall cease to serve. {8:26} And they shall be the ministers of their brothers in the tabernacle of the covenant, in order to care for the things that have been committed to them, but not to perform the works themselves. So shall you assign the Levites in their duties.”

[Numbers 9] {9:1} The Lord spoke to Moses in the desert of Sinai, in the second year after they departed from the land of Egypt, in the first month, saying: {9:2} “Let the sons of Israel observe the Passover at its proper time, {9:3} on the fourteenth day of this month, in the evening, according to all of its ceremonies and justifications.” {9:4} And Moses instructed the sons of Israel, so that they would observe the Passover. {9:5} And they observed it at its proper time: on the fourteenth day of the month, in the evening, at mount Sinai. The sons of Israel acted according to all the things that the Lord had commanded Moses. {9:6} But behold, certain ones, who were not able to observe the Passover on that day, being unclean because of the life of a man, approaching Moses and Aaron, {9:7} said to them: “We are unclean because of the life of a man. Why have we been cheated, in that we are not permitted to offer, at its proper time, the oblation to the Lord among the sons of Israel?” {9:8} And Moses responded to them: “Remain, so that I may consult the Lord, as to what he will rule about you.” {9:9} And the Lord spoke to Moses, saying: {9:10} “Say to the sons of Israel: The man who becomes unclean because of a life, or if he is on a distant journey within your nation, let him observe the Passover to the Lord. {9:11} In the second month, on the fourteenth day of the month, in the evening, they shall eat it with unleavened bread and wild lettuce. {9:12} They shall not leave behind any of it until morning, and they shall not break a bone of it; they shall observe all the rituals of the Passover. {9:13} But if any man was both clean, and not on a journey, and yet he did not observe the Passover, that soul shall be exterminated from among his people, because he did not offer the sacrifice to the Lord in its time. He shall bear his sin. {9:14} Likewise, the sojourner and the newcomer, if they are among you, shall observe the Passover to the Lord according to its ceremonies and justifications. The same precept shall be with you, as much for the newcomer as for the native.” {9:15} And so, on the day when the tabernacle was raised, a cloud covered it. But over the tabernacle, from evening until morning, there was, as it seemed, the appearance of fire. {9:16} This was so continually: throughout the day a cloud covered it, and throughout the night, the appearance of fire. {9:17} And when the cloud that was protecting the tabernacle had been taken up, then the sons of Israel advanced forward, and in the place where the cloud had remained standing, there they made camp. {9:18} Upon the order of the Lord they advanced, and upon his order they fixed the tabernacle. All the days during which the cloud was standing over the tabernacle, they remained in the same place. {9:19} And if it happened that it remained for a long time over it, the sons of Israel kept the night watches of the Lord, and they did not advance, {9:20} during as many days as the cloud remained over the tabernacle. At the command of the Lord they raised their tents, and at his command they took them down. {9:21} If the cloud remained from evening until morning, and immediately, at first light, it left the tabernacle, they set out. And if it withdrew after a day and a night, they dismantled their tents. {9:22} Yet truly, whether it remained over the tabernacle for two days, or one month, or a longer time, the sons of Israel remained in the same place, and they did not set out. Then, as soon as it withdrew, they moved the camp. {9:23} By the word of the Lord they fixed their tents, and by his word they advanced. And they kept the night watches of the Lord, according to his command by the hand of Moses.

[Numbers 10] {10:1} And the Lord spoke to Moses, saying: {10:2} “Make for yourself two trumpets of ductile silver, with which you may be able to call together the multitude when the camp is to be moved. {10:3} And when you sound the trumpets, all the multitude shall gather to you at the door of the tabernacle of the covenant. {10:4} If you sound it only once, the leaders and the heads of the multitude of Israel shall come to you. {10:5} But if the sound of the trumpets is prolonged, but with interruptions, those who are toward the east side shall move the camp first. {10:6} Then, at the second sounding of the trumpet with the same cadence, those who live toward the south shall take up their tents. And the remainder shall act in like manner, when the trumpets shall reverberate for a departure. {10:7} But when the people are to be gathered together, the sound of the trumpets shall be simple, and the sounds shall not be separated. {10:8} Now it is the sons of Aaron the priest who shall sound the trumpets. And this shall be an everlasting ordinance, in your generations. {10:9} If you go forth to war from your land, against the enemies who set out against you, you shall sound the trumpets repeatedly, and there shall be a remembrance of you before the Lord your God, so that you may be rescued from the hands of your enemies. {10:10} If at any time you will have a banquet, and on feast days, and on the first days of the months, you shall sound the trumpets over the holocausts and the peace-offering victims, so that they may be for you as a remembrance by your God. I am the Lord your God.” {10:11} In the second year, in the second month, on the twentieth day of the month, the cloud was lifted up from the tabernacle of the covenant. {10:12} And the sons of Israel set out by their companies from the desert of Sinai, and the cloud rested in the wilderness of Paran. {10:13} And the first to move their camp, according to the command of the Lord by the hand of Moses, {10:14} were the sons of Judah by their companies, whose leader was Nahshon the son of Amminadab. {10:15} In the tribe of the sons of Issachar, the leader was Nathanael the son of Zuar. {10:16} In the tribe of Zebulon, the leader was Eliab the son of Helon. {10:17} And the tabernacle was taken down, because the sons of Gershon and Merari, who carry it, were departing. {10:18} And the sons of Ruben also set out, by their companies and ranks, whose leader was Elizur the son of Sh electrode. {10:19} And in the tribe of Simeon, the leader was Shelumiel the son of Zurishaddai. {10:20} And in the tribe of Gad, the leader was Eliasaph the son of Reuel. {10:21} Then the Kohathites also set out, carrying the Sanctuary. The tabernacle was carried, all the while, until they arrived at the place for setting it up. {10:22} The sons of Ephraim also moved their camp by their companies, and the leader of their army was Elishama the son of Ammihud. {10:23} And in the tribe of the sons of Manasseh, the leader was Gamaliel the son of Pedahzur. {10:24} And in the tribe of Benjamin, the leader was Abidan the son of Gideoni. {10:25} The last of all the camp to set out were the sons of Dan by their companies, and the leader of their army was Ahiezer the son of Ammishaddai. {10:26} And in the tribe of the sons of Asher, the leader was Pagiel the son of Ocran. {10:27} And in the tribe of the sons of Napthali, the leader was Ahira the son of Enan. {10:28} These were the camps and departures of the sons of Israel by their companies, when they went forth. {10:29} And Moses said to Hobab the son of Raguel the Midianite, his kinsman: “We are setting out to the place which the Lord will give to us. Come with us, so that we may do good to you. For the Lord has promised good things to Israel.” {10:30} And he answered him, “I will not go with you, but I will return to my own land, in which I was born.” {10:31} And he said: “Do not choose to leave us. For you know in which places in the desert we ought to make camp, and so you shall be our guide. {10:32} And if you come with us, whatever will be best among the riches which the Lord will deliver to us, we will give to you.” {10:33} Therefore, they set out from the Mountain of the Lord on a journey of three days. And the ark of the covenant of the Lord preceded them, for three days, in order to provide a place for the camp. {10:34} Likewise, the cloud of the Lord was over them, throughout the day, while they proceeded. {10:35} And when the ark was lifted up, Moses said, “Rise up, O Lord, and let your enemies be scattered, and let those who hate you flee from your face.” {10:36} And when it was set down, he said: “Return, O Lord, to the multitude of the army of Israel.”
they said, “Who will give us flesh to eat? {11:5} We remember the fish that we ate freely in Egypt; we call to mind the cucumbers, and melons, and leeks, and onions, and garlic. {11:6} Our life is dry; our eyes look out to see nothing but manna.” {11:7} Now the manna was like coriander seed, but with the color of bdellium. {11:8} And the people wandered about, gathering it, and they crushed it with a millstone, or ground it with a mortar; then they boiled it in a pot, and made biscuits out of it, with a taste like bread made with oil. {11:9} And when the dew descended in the night over the camp, the manna descended together with it. {11:10} And so, Moses heard the people weeping by their families, each one at the door of his tent. And the fury of the Lord was greatly enflamed. And to Moses also the matter seemed intolerable. {11:11} And so he said to the Lord: “Why have you afflicted your servant? Why do I not find favor before you? And why have you imposed the weight of this entire people upon me? {11:12} Could I have conceived this entire multitude, or have given birth to them, so that you might say to me: Carry them in your bosom, as a nursemaid usually carries a little infant, and bring them into the land, about which you have sworn to their fathers? {11:13} From where would I obtain the flesh to give to so great a multitude? They weep against me, saying, ‘Give us flesh, so that we may eat.’ {11:14} I alone am unable to sustain this entire people, because it is too heavy for me. {11:15} But if it seems to you otherwise, I beg you to put me to death, and so may I find grace in your eyes, lest I be afflicted with such evils.” {11:16} And the Lord said to Moses: “Gather to me seventy men from the elders of Israel, whom you know to be elders, as well as teachers, of the people. And you shall lead them to the door of the tabernacle of the covenant, and you shall cause them to stand there with you, {11:17} so that I may descend and speak to you. And I will take from your spirit, and I will deliver it to them, so that, with you, they may sustain the burden of the people, and so that you will not be weighed down alone. {11:18} You shall also say to the people: Be sanctified. Tomorrow you will eat flesh. For I have heard you say: ‘Who will give us flesh to eat? It was well with us in Egypt.’ So then, may the Lord give you flesh. And you will eat, {11:19} not for one day, nor for two, nor for five, nor for ten, nor even for twenty, {11:20} but for up to a month of days, until it exits from your nostrils, and until it turns into nausea for you, because you have slipped away from the Lord, who is in your midst, and because you have wept before him, saying: ‘Why did we go forth out of Egypt?’ ” {11:21} And Moses said: “There are six hundred thousand footmen of this people, and yet you say, ‘I will give them flesh to eat for a whole month.’ {11:22} Could a multitude of sheep and oxen be slain, so that there would be enough food? Or will the fishes of the sea be gathered together, in order to satisfy them?” {11:23} And the Lord answered him: “Can the hand of the Lord be ineffective? Soon now, you shall see whether my word will be fulfilled in this work.” {11:24} And so, Moses went and explained the words of the Lord to the people. Gathering together seventy men from the elders of Israel, he caused them to stand around the tabernacle. {11:25} And the Lord descended in a cloud, and he spoke to him, taking from the Spirit which was in Moses, and giving to the seventy men. And when the Spirit had rested in them, they prophesied; nor did they cease afterwards. {11:26} Now there had remained in the camp two of the men, of whom one was called Eldad, and the other Medad, upon whom the Spirit rested; for they also had been enrolled, but they did not go forth to the tabernacle. {11:27} And when they were prophesying in the camp, a boy ran and reported to Moses, saying: “Eldad and Medad prophesy in the camp.” {11:28} Promptly, Joshua the son of Nun, the minister of Moses and chosen from many, said: “My lord Moses, prohibit them.” {11:29} But he said, “Why are you jealous on my behalf? Who decides that any of the people may prophesy and that God may give to them his Spirit?” {11:30} And Moses returned, with those greater by birth of Israel, into the camp. {11:31} Then a wind, going out from the Lord and moving forcefully across the sea, brought quails and cast them into the camp, across a distance of one day’s journey, in every part of the camp all around, and they flew in the air two cubits high above the ground. {11:32} Therefore, the people, rising up, gathered quails all that day and night, and the next day; he who did least well gathered ten homer. And they dried them throughout the camp. {11:33} The flesh was still between their teeth, neither had this kind of food ceased, and behold, the fury of the Lord was provoked against the people, and he struck them with an exceedingly great scourge. {11:34} And that place was called, ‘The Graves of Lust.’ For there, they buried the people who had desired. Then, departing from the Graves of Lust, they arrived in Hazereth, and they stayed there.

[Numbers 13] {13:1} And the people set out from Hazeroth, and they pitched their tents in the desert of Paran. {13:2} And there, the Lord spoke to Moses, saying: {13:3} “Send men, who may examine the land of Canaan, which I will give to the sons of Israel, one from the rulers of each tribe.” {13:4} Moses did what the Lord had commanded, sending, from the desert of Paran, leading men, whose names are these: {13:5} from the tribe of Ruben, Shammua the son of Zaccur; {13:6} from the tribe of Simeon, Shaphat the son of Horii; {13:7} from the tribe of Judah, Caleb the son of Jephunneh; {13:8} from the tribe of Issachar, Igal the son of Joseph; {13:9} from the tribe of Ephraim, Hosea the son of Nun; {13:10} from the tribe of Benjamin, Palti the son of Raphu; {13:11} from the tribe of Zebulon, Gaddiel the son of Sodi; {13:12} from the tribe of Joseph, of the scepter of Manasseh, Gaddi the son of Susi; {13:13} from the tribe of Dan, Ammiel the son of Gemall; {13:14} from the tribe of Asher, Sethur the son of Michael; {13:15} from the tribe of Naphtali, Nahbi the son of Vopshi; {13:16} from the tribe of Gad, Guel the son of Machi. {13:17} These are the names of the men, whom Moses sent to examine the land. And he called Hosea, the son of Nun, Joshua. {13:18} And so, Moses sent them to examine the land of Canaan, and he said to them: “Ascend by the south side. And when you arrive at the mountains, consider the land, as to what kind it may be, and the people, who are its inhabitants, whether they may be strong or weak, whether they may be few in number or many, and the land itself, whether it is good or bad, what kind of cities, walled or without walls, the soil, rich or barren, forested or without trees. Be strong, and bring us some of the fruits of the land.” Now it was the time when the first ripe grapes were ready to be eaten. {13:21} And when they had ascended, they explored the land from the desert of Sin, all the way to Rehob, as one enters into Hamath. {13:23} And they ascended by the south side. And they arrived at Hebron, where there were Ahiman and Shishai and Talmai, the sons of Anak. For Hebron was founded seven years before Tanis, the city of Egypt. {13:24} And continuing on as far as the Torrent of the Cluster of Grapes, they cut off a vine with its grapes, which two men carried on a board. Likewise, they took from the pomegranates and the figs of that place, which was called Nehel Eshcol, that is, the Torrent of the Cluster of Grapes, because the sons of Israel had carried a cluster of grapes from there. {13:26} And those exploring the land returned after forty days, having circulated through the entire region. {13:27} And they went to Moses and Aaron, and to the entire assembly of the sons of Israel in the desert of Paran, which is in Kadesh. And speaking to them, and to the entire multitude, they showed them the fruits of the land. {13:28} And they explained, saying: “We went into the land, to which you sent us, which, it is true, flows with milk and honey, as one can know by these fruits. But it has very strong occupants, and the cities are great and also walled. We saw the race of Anak there. Amalek lives in the south. The Hethite, and the Jebusite, and the Amorite live in the mountains. And truly, the Canaanite stays near the sea and around the streams of the Jordan.” {13:31} During these events, Caleb, to restrain the murmuring of the people who rose up against Moses, said, “Let us ascend and possess the land, for we will be able to obtain it.” {13:32} Yet truly, the others, who had been with him, were saying, “By no means are we able to ascend to this people, because they are stronger than we are.” {13:33} And before the sons of Israel they disparaged the land, which they had inspected, saying: “The land, which we viewed, devours its inhabitants. The people, upon whom we gazed, were of lofty stature. There, we saw some monsters among the sons of Anak, of the race of giants; by comparison with them, we seemed like locusts.”

[Numbers 14] {14:1} And so, crying out, the entire crowd withstood that night. {14:2} And all the sons of Israel were murmuring against Moses and Aaron, saying: {14:3} “If only we had died in Egypt,” and, “If only we would perish in this vast wilderness,” and, “May the Lord not lead us into this land, lest we fall by the sword, and our wives, as well as our children, be led away as captives. Is it not better to return to Egypt?” {14:4} And they said to one another, “Let us appoint our leader, and so return to Egypt.” {14:5} And when Moses and Aaron heard this, they fell prone on the ground in the sight of the multitude of the sons of Israel. {14:6} Yet truly, Joshua the son of Nun, and Caleb the son of Jephunneh, who themselves had also viewed the land, tore their garments, and they said to the entire multitude of the sons of Israel: “The land that we circled through is very good. {14:8} If the Lord will be gracious to us, he will lead us into it, and he will give us the land flowing with milk and honey. {14:9} Do not choose to be rebellious against the Lord. And do not fear the people of this land, for, like bread, so are we able to devour them. All protection has withdrawn from them. The Lord is with us. Do not be afraid.” {14:10} And when the entire multitude cried out, and they wanted to crush them with stones, the glory of the Lord appeared, over the roof of the covenant, to all the sons of Israel. {14:11} And the Lord said to Moses: “How long will this people disparage me? How long will they refuse to believe me, despite all the signs that I have wrought before them? {14:12} Therefore, I will strike them with a pestilence, and so I will consume them. But you I will make the ruler of another, “Let us appoint our leader, and so return to Egypt.” {14:13} And Moses said to the Lord: “But then the Egyptians, from whose midst you led out this people, and the inhabitants of this land, who have heard that you, O Lord, are among this people, and that you are seen face to face, and that your cloud protects them, and that you go before them with a column of cloud by day, and a column of fire by night, may hear that you have killed so great a multitude, as if they were one man, and they may say: {14:16} ‘He was not able to lead the people into the land about which he had sworn. Therefore, he slew them in the wilderness.’ {14:17} Therefore, may the strength of the Lord be magnified, just as you swore, saying: {14:18} ‘The Lord is patient and full of mercy, taking away iniquity and wickedness, and forsaking no one who is harmless. He visits the sins of the fathers upon the sons, to the third and fourth generation.’ {14:19} Forgive, I beg you, the sins of this people, according to the greatness of your mercy, just as you have been gracious to them in their journey from Egypt to this place.” {14:20} And the Lord said: “I have forgiven them according to your word. {14:21} Also, as I live, the entire world shall be filled with the glory of the Lord. {14:22} And yet, all the men who have seen my majesty, and the signs that I have wrought in Egypt and in the wilderness, and who have tested me ten times already, and yet have not obeyed my voice, {14:23} these shall not see the land, about which I swore to their fathers, neither shall any of those who detracted me gaze upon it. {14:24} My servant Caleb, who, being full of another spirit, has followed me, I will lead into this land, through which he has wandered, and his offspring shall possess it. {14:25} For the Amalekites and the Canaanites live in the valleys. Tomorrow, move the camp and return into the wilderness, by the way of the Red Sea." {14:26} And the Lord spoke to Moses and Aaron, saying: {14:27} "How long will this very wicked multitude murmur against me? I have heard the complaints of the sons of Israel. {14:28} Therefore, say to them: As I live, says the Lord, as you spoke in my hearing, so will I do to you. {14:29} In the wilderness, here shall your carcasses lie. All you who were numbered from twenty years and above, and who have murmured against me, {14:30} you shall not enter into the land, over which I lifted up my hand to cause you to live there, except Caleb the son of Jephunneh, and Joshua the son of Nun. {14:31} But your little ones, about whom you said that they would be a prey to the enemies, I will lead them in, so that they may see the land that has displeased you. {14:32} Your carcasses shall lie in the wilderness. {14:33} Your sons shall wander in the desert for forty years, and they shall bear your fornication, until the carcasses of their fathers are consumed in the desert. {14:34} According to the number of the forty days, during which you examined the land, one year shall be charged for each day. And so, for forty years you shall take back your iniquities, and you shall know my retribution. {14:35} For just as I have spoken, so shall I do, to this entire most wicked multitude, which has risen up together against me. In the wilderness, here shall it fade away and die." {14:36} Therefore, all the men, whom Moses had sent to contemplate the land, and who, having returned, had caused the entire multitude to murmur against him, disparaging the land as if it were evil, {14:37} suffered death and were struck down in the sight of the Lord. {14:38} But only Joshua the son of Nun, and Caleb the son of Jephunneh remained alive, out of all those who had journeyed to examine the land. {14:39} And Moses spoke all these words to all the sons of Israel, and the people mourned exceedingly. {14:40} And behold, rising up at first light, they climbed to the top of the mountain. But the ark of the testament of the Lord, and Moses, did not withdraw from the camp. {14:45} And the Amalekites descended, along with those Canaanites who were living in the mountains. And so, striking and cutting them down, they pursued them all the way to Hormah.

{Numbers 15} {15:1} The Lord spoke to Moses, saying: {15:2} “Speak to the sons of Israel, and you shall say to them: When you will have entered into the land of your habitation, which I will give you, {15:3} and you make an offering to the Lord, as a holocaust or as a victim, paying your vows, or as a voluntary offering of gifts, or in your solemnities, burning a sweet odor to the Lord, whether from the oxen or from the sheep: {15:4} whoever immolates the victim shall offer a sacrifice of fine wheat flour, the tenth part of an ephah, sprinkled with oil, which shall have the measure of the fourth part of a hin, {15:5} and he shall give the same measure of wine, poured out as libations, whether as a holocaust or as a victim. {15:6} With each lamb and each ram, there shall be a sacrifice of fine wheat flour, of two tenths, which shall be sprinkled with one third part of a hin of oil. {15:7} And he shall offer the same measure, one third part of wine, for the libation, as a sweet odor to the Lord. {15:8} Yet truly, when you will offer, from the oxen, a holocaust or a victim, in order to fulfill your vow or for peace-offering victims, {15:9} you shall give, for each ox, three tenths of fine wheat flour, sprinkled with oil, which has the measure of one half of one hin, {15:10} and the wine, poured out as libations, shall be of the same measure, as an oblation of most sweet odor to the Lord. {15:11} So shall you do (15:12) for each ox, and ram, and lamb, and young goat. {15:13} Both natives and sojourners (15:14) shall offer sacrifices by the same rituals. {15:15} There shall be one precept and one judgment, as much for yourselves as for newcomers to the land.” {15:16} And the Lord spoke to Moses, saying: {15:17} “Speak to the sons of Israel, and you shall say to them: {15:18} When you will arrive in the land which I will give to you, {15:19} and when you will eat from the bread of that region, you shall separate the first-fruits to the Lord. {15:20} from the foods that you eat. Just as you separate the first-fruits of your threshing floors, {15:21} so also shall you give the first-fruits of your cooked grains to the Lord. {15:22} And if, through ignorance, you neglect any of these things, which the Lord has spoken to Moses, {15:23} and which he has commanded through him for you, from the day that he began to command and thereafter, {15:24} and if the multitude will have forgotten to do it, then they shall offer a calf from the herd, a holocaust as a most sweet odor to the Lord, and its sacrifice and libations, just as the ceremonies ask, and a he-goat for sin. {15:25} And the priest shall pray for the entire multitude of the sons of Israel, and it shall be forgiven them, because they did not sin willfully. Nevertheless, they shall offer incense to the Lord for themselves, and for sin, as well as for their error. {15:26} And it shall be forgiven all the people of the sons of Israel, as well as for the newcomers who sojourn among them, for it is the culpability of all the people through neglect. {15:27} But if one soul will have sinned by not knowing, he shall offer a one-year-old she-goat for his sin. {15:28} And the priest shall pray for him, because he sinned unknowingly before the Lord. And he shall obtain pardon for him, and it will be forgiven him. {15:29} One law shall be for all who sin by ignorance, as much for natives as for newcomers. {15:30} Yet truly, the soul who commits any of these acts through arrogance, whether he is a citizen or a sojourner, because he has rebelled against the Lord, shall perish from among his people. {15:31} For he has despised the word of the Lord, and he has nullified his precept. For this reason, he shall be destroyed, and he shall bear his iniquity.” {15:32} And it happened that, when the sons of Israel were in the wilderness, and they had found a man collecting wood on the day of the Sabbath, {15:33} they brought him to Moses and Aaron, and to the whole multitude. {15:34} And they enclosed him in a prison, not knowing what they should do with him. {15:35} And the Lord said to Moses, “Let that man be put to death; let the entire crowd crush him with stones, outside the camp.” {15:36} And when they had led him out, they overwhelmed him with stones, and he died, just as the Lord had instructed. {15:37} The Lord also said to Moses: {15:38} “Speak to the sons of Israel, and you shall tell them to make for themselves hems at the corners of their cloaks, placing in them ribbons of hyacinth, {15:39} so that, when they see these, they may remember all the commandments of the Lord, and they may not follow their own thoughts and eyes, fornicating in various ways, {15:40} but instead, they, being more mindful of the precepts of the Lord, may do them and may be holy to their God.
{15:41} I am the Lord your God, who led you away from the land of Egypt, so that I may be your God.”

[Numbers 16] {16:1} Then, behold, Korah the son of Izhar, the son of Kohath, the son of Levi, with Dathan and Abiram, the sons of Eliab, and also On the son of Peleth, of the sons of Ruben, {16:2} rose up against Moses, with two hundred fifty others of the sons of Israel, leading men of the assembly, and who, at the time of a council, would be called by name.
{16:3} And when they had stood against Moses and Aaron, you said: “Let it be sufficient for you that the entire multitude is of holy ones, and that the Lord is among them.
Why do you elevate yourselves above the people of the Lord?” {16:4} When Moses had heard this, he fell prone on his face. {16:5} And speaking to Korah, and to the entire multitude, he said: “In the morning, the Lord will cause it to be known who belongs to him, and which holy ones he will join to himself. And whomever he will choose, they shall be close to him. {16:6} Therefore, do this: Each one of you, Korah and all your associates, take your censer, {16:7} and drawing fire into it tomorrow, place incense upon it before the Lord. And whomever he will choose, the same shall be holy. You sons of Levi have been raised up greatly.” {16:8} And he said again to Korah: “Listen, sons of Levi.
{16:9} Is it a small thing to you, that the God of Israel has separated you from all the people, and has joined you to himself, so that you would serve him in the rituals of the tabernacle, and stand before gatherings of the people, and minister to him? {16:10} Was the reason that he caused you and all your brothers, the sons of Levi, to approach him, so that you would even claim for yourselves the priesthood too, {16:11} and so that your entire group would stand against the Lord? For what is Aaron that you should murmur against him?” {16:12} Therefore, Moses sent to call for Dathan and Abiram, the sons of Eliab, who responded: “We will not come. {16:13} Is it a small matter to you, that you have led us away from a land that was flowing with milk and honey, so as to kill us in the desert, unless you could also be a ruler over us? {16:14} You have led us, it is true, to a land that flows with streams of milk and honey, and you have given us possession of fields and vineyards. But will you also tear out our eyes? We will not come.” {16:15} And Moses, being very angry, said to the Lord: “Do not look with favor on their sacrifices. You know that I have not accepted from them, at any time, so much as a young donkey, nor have I afflicted any of them.” {16:16} And he said to Korah: “You and your congregation, stand alone before the Lord, and apart from Aaron, tomorrow. {16:17} Let each one of you take censers, and place incense in them, offering to the Lord two hundred fifty censers. Let Aaron also hold his censer.” {16:18} When they had done this, Moses and Aaron stood up, {16:19} and, having crowded the entire multitude close to them at the door of the tabernacle, the glory of the Lord appeared to them all.
{16:20} And the Lord, speaking to Moses and Aaron, said:
{16:21} “Separate yourselves from the midst of this congregation, so that I may suddenly destroy them.” {16:22} But they fell prone on their faces, and they said, “O most strong One, the God of the spirits of all flesh, should your anger rage against all, for the sin of one?” {16:23} And the Lord said to Moses: {16:24} “Instruct the entire people to separate from the tents of Korah, and Dathan, and Abiram.” {16:25} And Moses rose up and went to Dathan and Abiram.
And the elders of Israel followed him, {16:26} and he said to the crowd, “Withdraw from the tabernacles of these impious men, and touch nothing which pertains to them, lest you become involved in their sins.” {16:27} And when they had withdrawn from their tents all around, Dathan and Abiram came out and stood at the entrance of their pavilions, with their wives and children, and with all their associates.
{16:28} And Moses said: “By this shall you know that the Lord has sent me to do all that you discern, and that I have not brought these things out of my own heart: {16:29} If these men pass away by the common death of men, or if they will be visited by a scourge, of a kind by which others are often visited, then the Lord did not send me. {16:30} But if the Lord accomplishes something new, so that the earth opens its mouth and swallows them whole, along with everything that belongs to them, and they descend alive into the underworld, then you shall know that they have blasphemed the Lord.” {16:31} Therefore, as soon as he had ceased to speak, the earth broke open under their feet.
{16:32} And opening its mouth, it devoured them with their tabernacles and their entire substance. {16:33} And they descended alive, the ground closing around them, into the underworld, and they perished from the midst of the multitude. {16:34} Yet truly, all of Israel, which was standing all around, took flight at the clamor of those who were perishing, saying, “Lest perhaps the earth may swallow us whole also.” {16:35} Then, too, a fire, going forth from the Lord, put to death the two hundred fifty men who were offering the incense. {16:36} And the Lord spoke to Moses, saying: {16:37} “Instruct Eleazar, the son of Aaron the priest, to take up the censers which lie in the burning, and to scatter
the fire to one side and another, because they were sanctified {16:38} in the deaths of these sinners. And let him form them into plates, and affix them to the altar, because incense had been offered in them to the Lord, and they were sanctified, and so that the sons of Israel may discern in them a sign and a memorial.” {16:39} Therefore, Eleazar the priest took the brass censers, by which those whom the burning devoured had made an offering, and he formed them into plates, affixing them to the altar, {16:40} so that the sons of Israel would have, thereafter, something to admonish them, lest any stranger, or anyone who is not of the offspring of Aaron, might approach to offer incense to the Lord, and lest he endure what happened to Korah, and to all his congregation, when the Lord spoke to Moses. {16:41} Then, the following day, the entire multitude of the sons of Israel murmured against Moses and Aaron, saying: “You have put to death the people of the Lord.” {16:42} And when there arose a sedition, and the tumult increased, {16:43} Moses and Aaron fled to the tabernacle of the covenant. But after they had entered it, the cloud covered it, and the glory of the Lord appeared. {16:44} And the Lord said to Moses: {16:45} “Withdraw from the midst of this multitude, and I will destroy them immediately.” And while they were lying on the ground, {16:46} Moses said to Aaron: “Take the censer, and draw fire into it from the altar; place incense upon it, and continue on, quickly, to the people, to pray for them. For already wrath has gone forth from the Lord, and the scourge rages.” {16:47} When Aaron had done this, and he ran into the midst of the multitude, which the burning fire was now destroying, and he offered the incense. {16:48} And standing between the dead and the living, he prayed for the people, and the scourge ceased. {16:49} But the number of those who were struck down was fourteen thousand men, and seven hundred, aside from those who had perished in the sedition of Korah. {16:50} And Aaron returned to Moses at the door of the tabernacle of the covenant, after the destruction quieted.

[Numbers 17]  {17:1} And the Lord spoke to Moses, saying: {17:2} “Speak to the sons of Israel, and receive from each of them a rod by their kinships, from all the leaders of the tribes, twelve rods, and write the name of each one on his rod. {17:3} But the name of Aaron shall be for the tribe of Levi, and one rod separately shall contain all their families. {17:4} And you shall place these in the tabernacle of the covenant before the testimony, where I will speak to you. {17:5} Whomever of these I will choose, his rod will germinate, and so shall I restrain the complaints of the sons of Israel before me, by which they murmur against you.” {17:6} And Moses spoke to the sons of Israel. And all the leaders gave him rods, one for each tribe. And there were twelve rods, aside from the rod of Aaron. {17:7} And when Moses had placed these before the Lord, in the tabernacle of the testimony, {17:8} returning on the following day, he found that the rod of Aaron for the house of Levi, had germinated, and that the swelling buds had opened into flowers, which, spreading their petals, were formed into those of an almond tree. {17:9} Therefore, Moses brought out all the rods, from the sight of the Lord, to all the sons of Israel. And they saw, and each one received their rods. {17:10} And the Lord said to Moses: “Carry back the rod of Aaron into the tabernacle of the testimony, so that it may be kept there as a sign of the covenant, after the service of the altar and of what is beyond the veil shall be exercised by the priests. If any outsider will approach, he shall be killed.” {17:11} And the Lord said to Aaron: “Behold, I have given you custody of my first-fruits. Everything that is sanctified by the sons of Israel I have delivered to you and your sons, for the office of the priesthood, by everlasting ordinances. {17:12} Therefore, you shall receive these, from the things that are sanctified and offered to the Lord. Every offering, and sacrifice, and whatever is repaid to me, on behalf of sin and also for offenses, and which becomes the Holy of holies, shall be for you and for your sons. {18:1} And the Lord said to Aaron: "You, and your sons, and the house of your father with you, shall carry the iniquity of the Sanctuary. And you and your sons together shall bear the sins of your priesthood. {18:2} But take to yourselves also your brothers from the tribe of Levi, and the scepter of your father, and may they be prepared, and the tabernacle, nor commit deadly sin. {18:23} Only the sons of Levi may serve me in the tabernacle and may carry the sins of the people. It shall be an everlasting ordinance in your generations. They shall possess nothing else; {18:24} being content with the oblation of tithes, which I have separated for their uses and necessities.” {18:25} And the Lord spoke to Moses, saying: {18:26} “Instruct the Levites, and also declare to them: When you will receive, from the sons of Israel, the tithes, which I have given to you, offer their first-fruits to the Lord, that is, the tenth part of a tenth, {18:27} so that it may be accounted to you as an oblation of the first-fruits, as much from the threshing floors as from the oil and wine presses. {18:28} And offer the first-fruits of everything, from which you receive tithes, to the Lord, and give them to Aaron the priest. {18:29} Everything which you shall offer from the tithes, and which you shall separate as gifts to the Lord, shall be the finest and most select. {18:30} And you shall say to them: ‘If you offer the noble and the better of the tithes, it shall be accounted to you as an oblation of the first-fruits, as much from the threshing floors as from the oil and wine presses.’ {18:31} And you shall eat these in all your places, both you and your families, because it is your price for the ministry, by which you serve in the tabernacle of the testimony. {18:32} And you shall not sin in this way: by reserving the excellent and fat things for yourselves, lest you pollute the oblations of the sons of Israel, and lest you die.”

[Numbers 19] {19:1} And the Lord spoke to Moses and Aaron, saying: {19:2} “This is the ritual that the Lord has appointed for a victor. Instruct the sons of Israel, so that they may bring to you a red cow of full maturity, in which there is no blemish, and which has not carried a yoke. {19:3} And you shall deliver it to Eleazar the priest, who, having led it out beyond the camp, shall immolate it in the sight of all. {19:4} And dipping his finger in its blood, he shall sprinkle it seven times, opposite the door of the tabernacle. {19:5} And he shall burn it, while all are watching, delivering into the flame, not only its skin and flesh, but also the blood and dung. {19:6} Likewise, cedar wood, and hyssop, and twice-dyed scarlet he shall cast into the flame, by which the cow is consumed. {19:7} And then finally, having washed his garments and his body, he shall enter into the camp, and he shall be deeply stained until evening. {19:8} Then he also who had burned it shall wash his garments and his body, and he shall be unclean until evening. {19:9} Then a clean man shall gather the ashes of the cow, and he shall pour them out beyond the camp, in a very pure place, so that they may be preserved for the multitude of the sons of Israel, and for the water of aspersion, because the cow was burned for sin. {19:10} And when he who had carried the ashes of the cow will have washed his garments, he shall be unclean until evening. The sons of Israel, and the newcomers who live among them, shall have this as a holy and perpetual right. {19:11} Whoever touches the corpse of a man, and is, because of this, unclean for seven days, {19:12} shall be sprinkled from this water on the third and seventh days, and so shall he be cleansed. But if he was not sprinkled on the third day, he is not able to be cleansed on the seventh. {19:13} Anyone who will have touched the dead body of a human life, and who has not been sprinkled with this mixture, pollutes the tabernacle of the Lord, and he shall perish out of Israel. For not having been sprinkled with the water of expiation, he shall be unclean, and his filth shall remain upon him. {19:14} This is the law of a man who dies in a tent. All who enter into his tent, and all the vessels which are there, shall be polluted for seven days. {19:15} The vessel that has no cover or binding over it shall be unclean. {19:16} If anyone in the field will have touched the corpse of a man, who was killed or who died on his own, or his bone, or his grave, he shall be unclean for seven days. {19:17} And they shall take some of the ashes from the burning and the sin offering, and they shall pour living waters over them into a vessel. {19:18} And into it a man who is clean shall dip hyssop, and he shall sprinkle from it the entire tent, and all its articles, and the men who were polluted by means of contact. {19:19} And so, in this manner, what is clean shall purify what is unclean, on the third and seventh days. And have been expiated on the seventh day, he shall wash both himself and his garments, and he shall be unclean until evening. {19:20} If anyone has not been expiated by this ritual, his soul shall perish from the midst of the Church. For he has polluted the Sanctuary of the Lord, and he has not been sprinkled with purifying waters. {19:21} This precept shall be an everlasting ordinance. Likewise, the one who has sprinkled the waters shall wash his garments. All who will have touched the waters of expiation shall be unclean until evening. {19:22} Whatever has been touched by something unclean will itself be made unclean. And the soul who touches any of these things shall become unclean until evening.”

[Numbers 20] {20:1} And the sons of Israel, and the entire multitude, went into the desert of Sin, in the first month. And the people stayed at Kadesh. And Miriam died there, and she was buried in the same place. {20:2} And when the people were in need of water, they came together against Moses and Aaron. {20:3} And as it turned into sedition, they said: “If only we had perished among our brothers in the sight of the Lord. {20:4} Why have you led away the Church of the Lord, into the wilderness, so that both we and our cattle would die? {20:5} Why did you cause us to ascend from Egypt, and why have you led us into this most wretched place, which is not able to be sown, which does not produce figs, or vines, or pomegranates, and which, moreover, does not even have water to drink?” {20:6} And Moses and Aaron, dismissing the multitude, entered the tabernacle of the covenant, and they fell prone on the ground, and they cried out to the Lord, and they said: “O Lord God, listen to the outcry of this people, and open for them, from your storehouse, a fountain of living water, so that, being satisfied, their murmuring may cease.” And the glory of the Lord appeared over them. {20:7} And the Lord spoke to Moses, saying: {20:8} “Take the rod, and gather the people, you and your brother Aaron, and speak to the rock before them, and it shall bestow waters. And when you have brought forth water from the rock, the entire multitude and their cattle shall drink.” {20:9} Therefore, Moses took the rod, which was in the sight of the Lord, just as he had instructed him. {20:10} And having gathered the multitude before the rock, he said to them: “Listen, you who are rebellious and unbelieving. Would we be able to cast out water from this rock?” {20:11} And when Moses had lifted up his hand, striking the stone twice with the rod, very great waters went forth, so much so that the people and their cattle were able to drink.
And the Lord said to Moses and Aaron, “Because you did not believe me, so as to sanctify me before the sons of Israel, you shall not lead this people into the land, which I will give to them.” 20:13 This is the Water of Contradiction, where the sons of Israel were quarreling against the Lord, and he was sanctified in them. 20:14 Meanwhile, Moses sent messengers from Kadesh to the king of Edom. They said: “Your brother Israel says this: You know of all the hardships which have overtaken us, how our fathers descended into Egypt, and we lived there for a long time, and the Egyptians afflicted both us and our fathers, and how we cried out to the Lord, and he heeded us and sent an Angel, who led us away from Egypt. Behold, we are situated in the city of Kadesh, which is at the extremity of your borders. 20:17 And we beg you to permit us to cross through your land. We will not go through the fields, nor through the vineyards; we will not drink the waters of your wells, but we will travel by the public ways, neither turning aside to the right, nor to the left, until we have passed your borders.” 20:18 Edom responded to them: “You shall not cross through me, otherwise, I will meet you armed.” 20:19 And the sons of Israel said: “We will travel by the well-trodden path. And if we or our cattle drink from your waters, we will give you what is just. There shall be no difficulty in the price, only let us cross through quickly.” 20:20 But he answered, “You shall not cross.” And immediately he went out to meet them with a countless multitude and a strong hand; 20:21 neither was he willing to agree to their petition to concede passage through his borders. For this reason, Israel diverted away from him. 20:22 And when they had moved the camp from Kadesh, they arrived at Mount Hor, which is at the borders of the land of Edom, 20:23 where the Lord spoke to Moses: 20:24 “Let Aaron,” he said, “go to his people. For he shall not enter into the land which I have given to the sons of Israel, because he did not believe my mouth at the Waters of Contradiction. 20:25 Take Aaron, and his son with him, and lead them on to Mount Hor. 20:26 And when you have stripped the father of his vestments, you shall put them on Eleazar, his son. Aaron shall be gathered and shall die there.” 20:27 Moses did just as the Lord had instructed. And they ascended Mount Hor, in the sight of the entire multitude. 20:28 And when he had despoiled Aaron of his vestments, he clothed his son Eleazar with them. 20:29 And when Aaron had died at the top of the mountain, Moses came down with Eleazar. 20:30 And the entire multitude, seeing that Aaron lay dead, wept over him for thirty days, throughout all their families. [Numbers 21] 21:1 And when king Arad the Canaanite, who was living toward the south, had heard this, namely, that Israel had arrived by the way of spies, he fought against them. And proving to be the victor, he led away prey from them. 21:2 But Israel, obliging himself by a vow to the Lord, said: “If you deliver this people into my hand, I will wipe away their cities.” 21:3 And the Lord heard the prayers of Israel, and he delivered the Canaanite, who they put to death, overthrowing his cities. And they called the name of that place Hormah, that is, Anathema. 21:4 Then they set out from Mount Hor, by the way that leads to the Red Sea, to circle around the land of Edom. And the people began to tire of their journey and hardships. 21:5 And speaking against God and Moses, they said: “Why did you lead us away from Egypt, so as to die in the wilderness? Bread is lacking; there are no waters. Our soul is now nauseous over this very light food.” 21:6 For this reason, the Lord sent fiery serpents among the people, which wounded or killed many of them. 21:7 And so they went to Moses, and they said: “We have sinned, because we have spoken against the Lord and against you. Pray, so that he may take away these serpents from us.” And Moses prayed for the people. 21:8 And the Lord said to him: “Make a bronze serpent, and place it as a sign. Whoever, having been struck, gazes upon it, shall live.” 21:9 Therefore, Moses made a bronze serpent, and he placed it as a sign. When those who had been struck gazed upon it, they were healed. 21:10 And the sons of Israel, setting out, made camp at Oboth. 21:11 Having departed from there, they pitched their tents at Iye-abarim, in the wilderness, which looks out toward Moab, opposite the eastern region. 21:12 And moving from there, they arrived at the Torrent of Zared. 21:13 Having left that place behind, they then made camp opposite Arnon, which is in the desert, and which juts out at the borders of the Amorite. For certainly Arnon is at the limit of Moab, dividing the Moabites and the Amorites. 21:14 About this place, it is said in the book of the wars of the Lord: “As he did at the Red Sea, so will he do at the Torrents of Arnon.” 21:15 The stones of the torrents were bent, so that they might rest in Ar and lie back within the borders of the Moabites. 21:16 Beyond that place appeared a well, about which the Lord said to Moses: “Gather the people together, and I will give them water.” 21:17 Then Israel sang this verse: “Let the well rise up.” They sang: 21:18 “The well, the leaders dug it, and the commanders of the multitude prepared it, at the direction of the lawgiver, and with their staffs.” 21:19 They went from the wilderness to Mattanah, from Mattanah to Nahaliel, from Nahaliel to Bamoth, 21:20 from Bamoth, a valley in the region of Moab, to the top of Pisgah, which looks out opposite the desert. 21:21 Then Israel sent messengers to Sihon, the king of the Amorites, saying: 21:22 “I beg you to permit me to cross through your land. We will not turn aside into the fields or the vineyards. We will not drink waters from the wells. We will travel by the royal way, until we have passed your borders.” 21:23 And he was not willing to allow Israel to cross through his borders. But instead, gathering an army, he went out to meet them in the desert, and he arrived at Jahaz and fought against them. 21:24 And he was struck down by them with the edge of the sword, and they possessed his land from Arnon, even to Jabok and the sons of Ammon. For the borders of the Ammonites were held by a strong fortress. 21:25 Therefore, Israel took all his cities and lived in the cities of the Amorite, namely, in Heshbon and its villages. 21:26 Heshbon was the city of Sihon, the king of the Amorites, who fought against the king of Moab. And he took all the land, which had been under his sovereignty, as far as Arnon. 21:27 About this, it is said in the proverb: “Enter into Heshbon. Let the city of Sihon be established and built. 21:28 A fire has gone forth from Heshbon, a flame from the town of Sihon, and it has devoured Ar of the Moabites, and the inhabitants of the heights of Arnon. 21:29 Woe to you, Moab! You are perishing, O people of Chemosh. He gave flight to his sons, and he gave the daughters into captivity, to the king of the Amorites, Sihon.
Their yoke has been scattered from Heshbon even to Dibon. They have passed through, wearily, into Nophah, and as far as Medeba."
{21:31} And so Israel lived in the land of the Amorite.
{21:32} And Moses sent some to explore Jazer. These captured its villages and possessed its inhabitants.
{21:33} And they turned themselves and ascended, along the way of Bashan. And Og, the king of Bashan, met them with all his people, to fight at Edrei.
{21:34} And the Lord said to Moses: "Do not be afraid of him. For I have delivered him, and all his people, as well as his land, into your hand. And you shall do to him just as you did to Sihon, the king of the Amorites, the inhabitant of Heshbon."
{21:35} Therefore, they struck him down also, with his sons, and all his people, even to utter destruction, and they possessed his land.

[Numbers 22]
{22:1} And they set out and made camp in the plains of Moab, across the Jordan, where Jericho is situated.
{22:2} Then Balak, the son of Zippor, seeing all that Israel had done to the Amorite, {22:3} and that the Moabites had great fear of him, and that they were not able to bear his assault,
{22:4} said to those greater by birth of Midian: "So will this people wipe away all those who are dwelling within our borders, in the same way that the ox is accustomed to tear out grass, all the way to the roots." At that time, he was king of Moab.
{22:5} Therefore, he sent messengers to Balaam, the son of Beor, a seer who lived above the river of Jordan, where Jericho is situated.
{22:6} Therefore, come and curse this people, for they are stronger than I am. If only, in some way, I might be able to strike them and to drive them from my land. For I know that he whom you bless shall be blessed, and he whom you curse shall be cursed."
{22:7} And the elders of Moab, and those greater by birth of Midian, continued on, holding the price of divination in their hands. And when they had come to Balaam, and had explained to him all the words of Balak, {22:8} he responded, "Remain for this night, and I will answer with whatever the Lord will say to me." And while they stayed with Balaam, God came and said to him, {22:9} "What do these men want with you?"
{22:10} He responded, "Balak, the son of Zippor, the king of the Moabites has sent to me,
{22:11} saying: 'Behold, a people, which has gone forth from Egypt, has covered the face of the earth. They are encamped opposite the land of the sons of Ammon, to call him, and to say: “Behold, a people has gone forth from Egypt, which has covered the face of the earth. They are encamped opposite me.
{22:12} Therefore, come and curse this people, for they are stronger than I am. If only, in some way, I might be able to strike them and to drive them from my land. For I know that he whom you bless shall be blessed, and he whom you curse shall be cursed."
{22:15} And God said to Balaam, "Go into your own land, for the Lord has prohibited me from going with you."
{22:16} Returning, the leaders said to Balak, "Balaam was not willing to come with us."
{22:17} Again, he sent many more persons, and these were more noble than those he had sent before.
{22:18} And when these had come to Balaam, they said: "So says Balak, the son of Zippor. Do not hesitate to come to me.
{22:19} For I am ready to honor you, and whatever you would want, I shall give to you. Come and curse this people."
{22:20} Balaam responded: "Even if Balaam were to come to me my house, filled with silver and gold, I still would not be able to change the word of the Lord my God, neither to say more, nor to say less.
{22:21} The Lord will answer me again."
{22:22} Therefore, God came to Balaam in the night, and said to him: "If these men have arrived to call you, then rise up and go with them; yet only in so far as you shall do what I will command you."
{22:23} Balaam rose up in the morning, and saddling his donkey, he set out with them.
{22:24} And God was angry. And an Angel of the Lord stood in the way opposite Balaam, who was sitting on the donkey, and he had two servants with him.
{22:25} The donkey, discerning that the Angel was standing in the way with a drawn sword, turned herself from the road and went through a field. And when Balaam beat her and intended to return her to the path, {22:26} the Angel stood in a narrow place between the two walls, with which the vineyards were enclosed.
{22:27} And the donkey, seeing this, drew herself close to the wall and scraped the foot of the rider. So he beat her again.
{22:28} And, nevertheless, the Angel passing on to a narrow place, where one would not be able to deviate either to the right or to the left, stood to meet him.
{22:29} And when the donkey had seen the Angel standing there, she fell under the feet of the rider, who, being angry, struck her sides more vehemently with a club.
{22:30} And the Lord opened the mouth of the donkey, and she said: "What have I done to you? Why do strike you me, behold now, for the third time?"
{22:31} Balaam responded, "Because you have deserved it, and you have mistreated me. If only I had a sword, so that I might pierce you."
{22:32} The donkey said: "Am not I your animal, on which you have always been accustomed to sit, even until this present day? Tell me, when did I ever do the same thing to you." But he said, "Never."
{22:33} Immediately, the Lord opened the eyes of Balaam, and he saw the Angel standing in the way with a drawn sword, and he reverenced him prone on the ground.
{22:34} And the Angel said to him: "Why did you beat your donkey three times? I have come to be an adversary to you, because your way is perverse and contrary to me.
{22:35} And unless the donkey had turned aside from the way, allowing a place for my opposition, I would have killed you, and she would have lived."
{22:36} Balaam said: "I have sinned, not knowing that you stood against me. And now, if it displeases you for me to continue on, I will return."
{22:37} The Angel said, "Go with them, but be careful not to speak anything other than what I shall instruct you." And so, he went with the leaders.
{22:38} And when Balak had heard it, he went out to meet him in a town of the Moabites, which is situated at the furthest borders of Arnon.
{22:39} And he said to Balaam: "I sent messengers to call you. Why did you not come to me immediately? Was it because I am not able to pay the cost for your arrival?"
{22:40} He answered him: "Behold, here I am. Am I able to speak anything other than what God will put into my mouth?"
{22:41} Therefore, they continued on together, and they arrived at a city, which was at the furthest borders of his kingdom.
{22:42} And after Balak had killed oxen and sheep, he sent the gifts to Balaam, and to the leaders who were with him.
{22:43} Then, when morning arrived, he led him to the heights of Baal, and he gazed upon the most distant portions of the population.

[Numbers 23]
{23:1} And Balaam said to Balak, "Build seven altars here for me, and prepare as many calves, and the same number of rams."
{23:2} And when he had acted according to the words of Balaam, they placed a calf and a ram together on each altar.
{23:3} And Balaam said to Balak:
“Stand for a little while next to your holocaust, until I go, to see if perhaps the Lord will meet with me. And whatever he will command, I shall speak to you.” {23:4} And after he had quickly departed, God met with him. And Balaam, speaking to him, said: “I have set up seven altars, and I have placed a calf and a ram on each.” {23:5} Then the Lord placed the word in his mouth, and he said: “Return to Balak, and you shall say this.” {23:6} Returning, he found Balak standing next to his holocaust, with all the leaders of the Moabites. {23:7} And taking up his parable, he said: “Balak, king of the Moabites, has led me from Aram, from the mountains of the east. ‘Come forth,’ he said, ‘and curse Jacob. Hurry and condemn Israel.’ {23:8} How shall I curse him, whom God has not cursed? For what reason would I condemn him, whom the Lord does not condemn? {23:9} I will look upon him from the tops of the stones, and I will consider him from the hils. This people shall dwell alone, and they shall not be counted among the nations. {23:10} Who can number the dust that is Jacob, and who can know the number of the stock of Israel? May my soul die a just death, and may my end be like theirs.” {23:11} And Balak said to Balaam: “What is this that you are doing? I called for you, in order to curse my enemies, and to the contrary, you bless them.” {23:12} He answered him, “How can I say anything other than what the Lord orders?” {23:13} Therefore, Balak said: “Come with me to another place, from where you may see a portion of Israel, though you cannot see them all. Curse them from there.” {23:14} And when he had led him to a lofty place, on the top of mount Pisgah, Balaam built seven altars, and placing upon each a calf and a ram, {23:15} he said to Balak, “Stand here next to your holocaust, while I continue on to meet him.” {23:16} And when the Lord had met him, and had put the word in his mouth, he said, “Return to Balak, and you shall say this to him.” {23:17} Returning, he found him standing next to his holocaust, and the leaders of the Moabites were with him. And Balak said to him, “What has the Lord spoken?” {23:18} But, taking up his parable, he said: “Stand, Balak, and pay attention. Listen, you son of Zippor. {23:19} God is not like a man, so that he would lie, nor is he like a son of man, so that he would be changed. Therefore, having spoken, will he not act? Has he ever spoken, and not fulfilled? {23:20} I was led here to bless, and I have no strength to hinder the blessing. {23:21} There is no idol in Jacob; neither is there a false image to be seen in Israel. The Lord his God is with him, and the resound of royal victory is in him. {23:22} God has led him away from Egypt; his strength is like that of the rhinoceros. {23:23} There is no soothsaying in Jacob, nor any divination in Israel. In their times, it shall be told to Jacob and to Israel what God has wrought. {23:24} Behold, the people will rise up like a lioness, and lie down like a lion. But they will not lie down until they devour the prey and drink the blood of the slain.” {23:25} And Balak said to Balaam, “Neither curse him, nor bless him.” {23:26} And he said, “Have I not told you that whatever God would command of me, I would do?” {23:27} And Balak said to him: “Come and I will lead you to another place. If perhaps it may please God, then you may curse them from there.” {23:28} And when he had led him on to the top of mount Peor, which looks out toward the wilderness, {23:29} Balaam said to him, “Build seven altars here for me, and prepare as many calves, and the same number of rams.” {23:30} Balak did as Balaam had said, and he placed on each altar a calf and a ram.

[Numbers 24] {24:1} And when Balaam had seen that it was pleasing to the Lord that he should bless Israel, he by no means went out as he had gone before, to seek divination. But directing his face opposite the desert, {24:2} and lifting up his eyes, he saw Israel dwelling in tents by their tribes. And with the Spirit of God rushing into him, {24:3} taking up his parable, he said: “Balaam, the son of Beor, the man whose eye has been obstructed, {24:4} the hearer of the sermon of God, he who has gazed upon a vision of the Almighty, he who falls down and so his eyes are opened, has declared: {24:5} ‘How beautiful are your tabernacles, O Jacob, and your tents, O Israel!’ {24:6} They are like forested valleys, like gardens irrigated next to rivers, like tabernacles which the Lord has fixed, like cedars close to waters. {24:7} Water shall flow from his jar, and his offspring shall be amid many waters, because Agag, his king, shall be taken, and his kingdom shall be removed. {24:8} Away from Egypt, God has led him, whose strength is like the rhinoceros. They shall devour the nations that are his enemies, and break their bones, and pierce them with arrows. {24:9} Lying down, he has slept like a lion, and like a lioness, whom no one would dare to awaken. He who blesses you, shall himself also be blessed. He who curses you, shall be considered cursed.” {24:10} And Balak, being angry against Balaam, clapped his hands together and said: “I called you to curse my enemies, and, to the contrary, you have blessed them three times. {24:11} Return to your place. I had decided, indeed, to honor you greatly, but the Lord has deprived you of the designated honor.” {24:12} Balaam responded to Balak: “Did I not say to your messengers, whom you sent to me: {24:13} Even if Balak would give me his house, filled with silver and gold, I still could not go away from the word of the Lord my God, so as to offer anything, either good or evil, from my own heart; but whatever the Lord will speak, this, too, I shall speak. {24:14} Yet truly, as I continue on to my own people, I will give you counsel as to what this people shall do to your people in the end times.” {24:15} Therefore, taking up his parable, he again spoke: “Balaam the son of Beor, the man whose eye has been obstructed, {24:16} the hearer of the sermon of God, he who knows the doctrine of the Most High, and who sees the visions of the Almighty, who, falling down, has his eyes opened, has declared: {24:17} I shall see him, but not presently. I shall gaze upon him, but not soon. A star shall rise out of Jacob, and a rod shall spring up from Israel. And he shall strike down the commanders of Moab, and he shall devastate all the sons of Seth. {24:18} And he shall possess Idumea; the inheritance of Seir shall fall to their enemies. Yet truly, Israel shall act with strength. {24:19} From Jacob will be he who shall be ruler. And he shall perish the remnants of the city.” {24:20} And when he saw Amalek, taking up his parable, he said: “Amalek, first among the Gentiles, whose very end shall be perdition.” {24:21} Likewise, he saw the Canaanites, and taking up his parable, he said: “Robust, indeed, is your habitation. But though you will set your nest in a rock, {24:22} and you will be elect among the stock of Kain, how long will you be able to remain? For Assur shall take you captive.” {24:23} And taking up his parable once more he said: “Alas! Who will be able to survive, when God will do these things? {24:24} They shall arrive in Greek warships from Italy. They shall overcome the Assyrians, and they shall devastate the Hebrews, and yet, at the very end, even they themselves shall perish." [24:23] And Balaam rose up, and he returned to his place. Likewise, Balak went back, along the way by which he had arrived.

[Numbers 25] {25:1} Now Israel, at that time, dwelt in Shittim, and the people were fornicating with the daughters of Moab, {25:2} who called them to their sacrifices. And they ate, and they adored their gods. {25:3} And Israel was initiated into Baal of Peor. And so the Lord, being angry, {25:4} said to Moses, “Take all the leaders of the people, and hang them on gallows against the sun, so that my fury may be averted from Israel.” [25:5] And Moses said to the judges of Israel, “Let each one kill his neighbors, who have been initiated into Baal of Peor.” [25:6] And behold, one of the sons of Israel entered, in the sight of his brothers, to a prostitute of Midian, within view of Moses and of all the crowd of the sons of Israel, who were weeping before the door of the tabernacle. [25:7] And when Phinehas the son of Eleazar, the son of Aaron the priest, had seen it, he rose up from the midst of the multitude, and, seizing a dagger, [25:8] he entered after the Israelite man, into the brothel, and he pierced both of them at the same time, specifically, the man and the woman at the location of their genitals. And the scourge ceased from among the sons of Israel. [25:9] And there were slain twenty-four thousand men. [25:10] And the Lord said to Moses: [25:11] “Phinehas the son of Eleazar, the son of Aaron the priest, has averted my wrath from the sons of Israel. For he was moved against them by my zeal, so that I myself, in my zeal, might not wipe away the sons of Israel.” [25:12] Because of this, say to him: Behold, I give to him the peace of my covenant. [25:13] And the covenant of the everlasting priesthood shall be as much for him as for his offspring. For he was zealous on behalf of his God, and he has made expiation for the wickedness of the sons of Israel.” [25:14] Now the name of the Israelite man, who was killed with the Midianite woman, was Zimri the son of Salu, a leader from the kinship and tribe of Simeon. [25:15] Moreover, the Midianite woman, who was put to death together with him, was called Cozbi the daughter of Zur, a most noble leader among the Midianites. [25:16] And the Lord spoke to Moses, saying: [25:17] “Let the Midianites perceive you as enemies, and strike them down, [25:18] for they, too, have behaved with hostility against you, and they have deceived you insidiously by means of the idol Peor, and by Cozbi, the daughter of a commander of Midian, their sister, who was struck down in the day of the scourge because of the sacrilege of Peor.”

[Numbers 26] {26:1} After the blood of the guilty was shed, the Lord said to Moses, and to Eleazar the son of Aaron the priest: [26:2] “Number the entire sum of the sons of Israel, from twenty years and above, by their houses and kinships, all who are able to go forth to war.” [26:3] And so, Moses and Eleazar the priest, who were in the plains of Moab, above the Jordan, opposite Jericho, spoke to those who were [26:4] from twenty years and above, just as the Lord had commanded. And this is their number: [26:5] Ruben, the firstborn of Israel; his son, Hanoch, from whom is the family of the Hanochites; and Pallu, from whom is the family of the Palluites; [26:6] and Hezron, from whom is the family of the Hezonrites; and Carmi, from whom is the family of the Carmites. [26:7] These are the families of the stock of Ruben, whose number was found to be forty-three thousand and seven hundred thirty. [26:8] The son of Phallu: Eliab; [26:9] his sons, Nemuel and Dathan and Abiram. These are Dathan and Abiram, the leaders of the people, who rose up against Moses and Aaron in the sedition at Korah, when they rebelled against the Lord. [26:10] And the earth, opening its mouth, devoured Korah, with many others dying, when the fire burned two hundred fifty men. And a great miracle was wrought, [26:11] so that, when Korah perished, his sons did not perish. [26:12] The sons of Simeon, by their kinships: Nemuel, from him is the family of the Nemuelites; Jamin, from him is the family of the Jaminites; Jachin, from him is the family of the Iachinites; [26:13] Sohar, from him is the family of the Soharites; Shaul, from him is the family of the Shaulites. [26:14] These are the families of the stock of Simeon, whose entire number was twenty-two thousand two hundred. [26:15] The sons of Gad, by their kinships: Zephon, from him is the family of the Zephonites; Haggi, from him is the family of the Haggites; Shuni, from him is the family of the Shunites; [26:16] Ozni, from him is the family of the Ozmites; Eri, from him is the family of the Erites; [26:17] Arod, from him is the family of the Arodites; Areli, from him is the family of the Arelites. [26:18] These are the families of Gad, whose entire number was forty thousand five hundred. [26:19] The sons of Judah: Er and Onan, who both died in the land of Canaan. [26:20] And these were the sons of Judah, by their kinships: Shelah, from whom is the family of the Shelahites; Perez, from whom is the family of the Perezites; Zerah, from whom is the family of the Zerahites. [26:21] Moreover, the sons of Phares were: Hezron, from whom is the family of the Hezonrites; and Hamul, from whom is the family of the Hamulites. [26:22] These are the families of Judah, whose entire number was seventy-six thousand five hundred. [26:23] The sons of Issachar, by their kinships: Tola from whom is the family of the Tolaites; Puvah, from whom is the family of the Puvahites; [26:24] Jashub, from whom is the family of the Jashubites; Shimron, from whom is the family of the Shimronites. [26:25] These are the kinships of Issachar, whose number was sixty-four thousand three hundred. [26:26] The sons of Zebulon by their kinships: Sered, from whom is the family of the Seredites; Elon, from whom is the family of the Elonites; Jahleel, from whom is the family of the Jahleelites. [26:27] These are the kinships of Zebulun, whose number was sixty thousand five hundred. [26:28] The sons of Joseph by their kinships: Manasseh, and Ephraim. [26:29] From Manasseh was born Machir, from whom is the family of the Machirites. Machir conceived Gilead, from whom is the family of the Gileadites. [26:30] Gilead had sons: Jezer, from whom is the family of the Jezerites; and Helek, from whom is the family of the Helekites; [26:31] and Asriel, from whom is the family of the Asrielites; and Shechem, from whom is the family of the Shechemites; [26:32] and Shemida, from whom is the family of the Shemidaites; and Hepher, from whom is the family of the Hepherites. [26:33] Now Hepher was the father of Zelophehad, who had no sons, but only daughters, whose names are these: Mahlah, and Noa, and Hoglah, and Milcah, and Tirzah. [26:34] These are the families of Manasseh, and their number was fifty-two thousand seven

the family of Hebron, the family of Mahli, the family of Mushi, the family of Korah. Yet truly, Kohath conceived Amram, {26:59} who had a wife, Jochebed, the daughter of Levi, who was born to him in Egypt. She bore, to her husband Amram: sons, Aaron and Moses, as well as their sister, Miriam. {26:60} From Aaron were born Nadab and Abihu, and Eleazar and Ithamar. {26:61} Of these, Nadab and Abihu died, when they had offered strange fire before the Lord. {26:62} And these were all who were numbered:
twenty-three thousand of the male gender, from one month and above. For they were not counted among the sons of Israel, neither was a possession given to them with the others.
{26:63} This is the number of the sons of Israel, who were enrolled by Moses and by Eleazar the priest, in the plains of Moab, above the Jordan, opposite Jericho. {26:64} Among these, not one of them was numbered before, by Moses and Aaron in the desert of Sinai. {26:65} For the Lord had foretold that all would die in the wilderness. And not one of them remained, except Caleb the son of Jephunneh, and Joshua the son of Nun.

[Numbers 27] {27:1} Then there approached the daughters of Zelophehad, the son of Hepher, the son of Gilead, the son of Machir, the son of Manasseh, who was the son of Joseph:
and their names are Mahlah, and Noa, and Hoglah, and Milcah, and Tirzah. {27:2} And they stood before Moses and Eleazar the priest, and all the leaders of the people, at the door of the tabernacle of the covenant, and they said:
{27:3} “Our father died in the desert, and was not with the sedition, which was stirred up against the Lord under Korah, but he died in his own sin; he had no male sons. Why is his name taken away from his family, because he had no son?
Give us a possession among the kinsmen of our father.”
{27:4} And Moses referred their case to the judgment of the Lord. {27:5} And the Lord said to him: {27:6} “The daughters of Zelophehad are asking for something just. So give them a possession among the kinsmen of their father, and let them succeed him in his inheritance. {27:7} And to the sons of Israel, you shall speak these things: {27:8} When a man dies without a son, his inheritance shall be transferred to his daughter. {27:9} If he has no daughter, his brothers shall succeed him. {27:10} But if there were also no brothers, you shall give the inheritance to the brothers of his father.
{27:11} But if he has no paternal uncles, the inheritance shall be given to those who are closest to him. And this shall be, for the sons of Israel, consecrated as a perpetual law, just as the Lord has instructed Moses.” {27:12} The Lord also said to Moses: “Ascend onto this mountain, Abarim, and contemplate from there the land, which I will give to the sons of Israel. {27:13} And when you have seen it, you shall then go to your people, just as your brother Aaron went.
{27:14} For you offended me in the desert of Sin at the Contradiction of the multitude; neither were you willing to sanctify me in their sight over the waters. These are the Waters of Contradiction at Kadesh in the desert of Sin.” {27:15} Moses answered him: {27:16} “May the Lord, the God of the spirits of all flesh, provide a man, who may be over this multitude, {27:17} and who may be able to exit and enter before them, and who may lead them out or lead them in: lest the people of the Lord be like sheep without a shepherd.” {27:18} And the Lord said to him: “Take Joshua, the son of Nun, a man in whom the Spirit is, and place your hand upon him. {27:19} And he shall stand before Eleazar the priest and the entire multitude. {27:20} And you shall give him the precepts in the sight of all, and a portion of your glory, so that the entire congregation of the sons of Israel may listen to him. {27:21} On his behalf, if anything is to be done, Eleazar the priest shall consult the Lord. He, and all the sons of Israel with him, and the rest of the multitude, shall go out and enter in at his word.” {27:22} Moses did just as the Lord had instructed. And when he had brought Joshua, he set him before Eleazar the priest, and before the entire gathering of the people. [27:23] And imposing his hands upon his head, he repeated all that the Lord had commanded.

[Numbers 28] {28:1} The Lord also said to Moses: {28:2} “Instruct the sons of Israel, and you shall say to them: Offer my oblation and bread, and the incense of most sweet odor, at their proper times. {28:3} These are the sacrifices which you must offer: Two immaculate one-year-old lambs each day as a perpetual holocaust. {28:4} You shall offer one in morning, and the other in the evening, {28:5} and the tenth part of an ephah of fine wheat flour, which has been sprinkled with the purest oil, and which has the measure of the fourth part of a hin. {28:6} It is the continual holocaust which you offered at mount Sinai as a most sweet odor of incense to the Lord. {28:7} And you shall offer a libation of wine, of the fourth part of a hin for each lamb, in the Sanctuary of the Lord. {28:8} And you shall offer the other lamb similarly, in the evening, according to all the rites of the morning sacrifice and its libations, as an oblation of most sweet odor to the Lord. {28:9} Then, on the Sabbath day, you shall offer two immaculate one-year-old lambs, and two tenths of fine wheat flour sprinkled with oil, as sacrifice, as well as the libations {28:10} that are usually poured out on each Sabbath as a perpetual holocaust. {28:11} Then, on the first day of the month, you shall offer a holocaust to the Lord: two calves from the herd, one ram, seven immaculate one-year-old lambs, {28:12} and three tenths of fine wheat flour sprinkled with oil, as sacrifice, for each calf, and two tenths of fine wheat flour sprinkled with oil, for each ram, {28:13} and one tenth of fine wheat flour with oil, as sacrifice, for each lamb. It is a holocaust of most sweet odor and also an incense to the Lord. {28:14} Now these shall be the libations of wine, which are to be poured out for each victim: one half portion of a hin for each calf, one third for a ram, and one fourth for a lamb. This shall be the holocaust for all the months, as they succeed one another in the turning of the year. {28:15} Likewise, a he-goat shall be offered to the Lord for sin, with the perpetual holocaust and its libations. {28:16} Then, in the first month, the fourteenth day of the month shall be the Passover of the Lord. {28:17} And the fifteenth day shall be a solemnity. For seven days, they shall eat unleavened bread. {28:18} And the first day of these days shall be venerable and holy; you shall not do any servile work in it. {28:19} And you shall offer the incense of a holocaust to the Lord, two calves from the herd, one ram, seven immaculate one-year-old lambs; {28:20} and with each sacrifice, from fine wheat flour which has been sprinkled with oil, three tenths for each calf, and two tenths for each ram, {28:21} and one tenth for each lamb, that is, for the seven lambs; {28:22} and one he-goat for sin, as an expiation for you, {28:23} aside from the morning holocaust, which you shall always offer. {28:24} You shall do this on each day of the seven days, as fuel for the fire, and as a most sweet odor to the Lord, which shall rise up from the holocaust and from each of the libations. {28:25} Likewise, the seventh day shall be very honored and holy for you. Any servile work, you shall not do in it. {28:26} And also the day of the first-fruits, after the weeks have been fulfilled, when you shall offer new fruits to the Lord, shall be venerable and holy. You shall not do any servile work in it. {28:27} And you shall offer a holocaust as a most sweet odor to the Lord: two calves from the herd, one ram, and seven immaculate one-year-old lambs, {28:28} and also, as their sacrifices, fine wheat flour sprinkled with oil, three tenths for each calf, two for each ram, {28:29} one tenth for each lamb, which all together are seven lambs; likewise, a he-goat, {28:30} which is slain for expiation, aside from the perpetual holocaust and its libations. {28:31} You shall offer only what is immaculate, with their libations."

[Numbers 29] {29:1} “Now the first day of the seventh month also shall be venerable and holy to you. In it, you shall not do any servile work, because it is the day of the sounding of the trumpets. {29:2} And you shall offer a holocaust, as a most sweet odor to the Lord: one calf from the herd, one ram, and seven immaculate one-year-old lambs; {29:3} and, as their sacrifices, fine wheat flour sprinkled with oil: three tenths for each calf, two tenths for a ram, {29:4} one tenth for a lamb, which all together are seven lambs; {29:5} and a he-goat for sin, which is offered as an expiation for the people, {29:6} aside from the holocaust of the first day of the month with its sacrifices, and the perpetual holocaust with the usual libations. By these same ceremonies, you shall offer incense as a most sweet odor to the Lord. {29:7} Likewise, the tenth day of this seventh month shall be for you holy and venerable, and you shall afflict your souls. You shall do no servile work in it. {29:8} And you shall offer a holocaust to the Lord, as a most sweet odor: one calf from the herd, one ram, seven immaculate one-year-old lambs; {29:9} and for their sacrifices, fine wheat flour sprinkled with oil: three tenths for each calf, two tenths for a ram, {29:10} one tenth for each lamb, which are all together seven lambs; {29:11} and a he-goat for sin, apart from those things which are usually offered for offenses as an expiation, and as a perpetual holocaust, with their sacrifice and libations. {29:12} Yet truly, on the fifteenth day of the seventh month, which shall be for you holy and venerable, you shall not do any servile work in it, but you shall celebrate a solemnity to the Lord for seven days. {29:13} And you shall offer a holocaust, as a most sweet odor to the Lord: thirteen calves from the herd, two rams, fourteen immaculate one-year-old lambs; {29:14} and as their libations, fine wheat flour sprinkled with oil: three tenths for each calf, which is all together thirteen calves, and two tenths for each ram, that is, all together two rams, {29:15} and one tenth for each lamb, which is all together fourteen lambs; {29:16} and a he-goat for sin, apart from the perpetual holocaust, and the sacrifice and its libation. {29:17} On the next day, you shall offer twelve calves from the herd, two rams, and fourteen immaculate one-year-old lambs. {29:18} And the sacrifices and libations for each of the calves and the rams and the lambs, you shall celebrate according to the rite, {29:19} with a he-goat for sin, apart from the perpetual holocaust, and the sacrifice and its libation. {29:20} On the third day, you shall offer eleven calves, two rams, and fourteen immaculate one-year-old lambs. {29:21} And the sacrifices and libations for each of the calves and the rams and the lambs, you shall celebrate according to the rite, {29:22} with a he-goat for sin, apart from the perpetual holocaust, and the sacrifice and its libation. {29:23} On the fourth day, you shall offer ten calves, two rams, and fourteen immaculate one-year-old lambs. {29:24} And the sacrifices and the libations for each of the servile work, offering a holocaust as a most sweet eighth day, which is most honored, you shall not do any holocaust, and its sacrifice and libation. On the sacrifices and libations for each of the calves and the rams on the sixth day, you shall offer eight calves, two rams, and fourteen immaculate one-year-old lambs. And the sacrifices and libations for each of the calves and the rams and the lambs, you shall celebrate according to the rite, with a he-goat for sin, apart from the perpetual holocaust, and its sacrifice and libation. On the seventh day, you shall offer seven calves, and two rams, and fourteen immaculate one-year-old lambs. And the sacrifices and libations for each of the calves and the rams and the lambs, you shall celebrate according to the rite, with a he-goat for sin, apart from the perpetual holocaust, and its sacrifice and libation. On the eighth day, which is most honored, you shall not do any servile work, offering a holocaust as a most sweet odor to the Lord: one calf, one ram, and seven immaculate one-year-old lambs. And the sacrifices and libations for each of the calves and the rams and the lambs, you shall celebrate according to the rite, with a he-goat for sin, apart from the perpetual holocaust, and its sacrifice and libation. These things you shall offer to the Lord in your solemnities, aside from the vowed and voluntary oblations, as a holocaust, as a sacrifice, as a libation, or as peace-offering victims."

[Numbers 30] 30:1 And Moses explained to the sons of Israel all that the Lord had commanded him. 30:2 And he said to the leaders of the tribes of the sons of Israel: “This is the word, which the Lord has instructed: 30:3 If any man makes a vow to the Lord, or binds himself by an oath, he shall not make his word null and void, but all that he has promised, he shall fulfill. 30:4 If a woman, who is in her father's house, vows anything, or binds herself by an oath, and she is still in a state of childhood, if her father knew of the vow which she has promised or of the oath by which she has obligated her soul, and he kept silent, she shall be liable to the vow: 30:5 whatever she has promised or swore, she shall complete in deed. 30:6 But if her father, as soon as he had heard it, had contradicted it, both her vows and her oaths shall be nullified, neither shall she be held liable to the promise, because her father had contradicted it. 30:7 If she has a husband, and she has vowed anything, then, once the word has gone out of her mouth, she will have obligated her soul by an oath. 30:8 On the day that her husband will hear of it, and yet not contradict it, she shall be liable to the vow, and she shall repay whatever she has promised. 30:9 But if, as soon as he hears it, he contradicts it, then he will have caused her promises, and the words by which she had bound her soul, to be null and void. The Lord will be favorable to her. 30:10 Widows and divorced women shall repay whatever they have vowed. 30:11 If a wife in the house of her husband has bound herself by a vow or an oath, if her husband heard it and remained silent, and he did not contradict the promise, she shall repay what she had promised. 30:13 But if he promptly contradicts it, she shall not be held liable to the promise. For her husband has contradicted it. And the Lord will be favorable to her. 30:14 If she has vowed or bound herself by oath, in order to afflict her soul by fasting, or by abstaining from other things, it shall be for the arbitration of her husband, as to whether or not she may do it. 30:15 But if the husband, upon hearing it, remains silent, and he delays judgment until another day, whatever she had vowed or promised, she shall repay, because when he first heard it, he remained silent. 30:16 And if he contradicted it only sometime after he had known about it, he shall bear his iniquity.” These are the laws which the Lord has appointed to Moses, between a husband and a wife, between a father and a daughter, who is still in the state of childhood or who remains in her father's house.

[Numbers 31] 31:1 And the Lord spoke to Moses, saying: 31:2 “First, avenge the sons of Israel from the Midianites, and then you shall be gathered to your people.” 31:3 And immediately Moses said: “Arm the men among you for a battle, so that they may be able to fulfill the retribution of the Lord on the Midianites. 31:4 Let one thousand men be chosen from each tribe of Israel, who shall be sent to war.” 31:5 And they gave one thousand from each tribe, that is, twelve thousand foot soldiers for battle. 31:6 And Moses sent them with Phinehas, the son of Eleazar the priest; also, he delivered to him the holy vessels, and the trumpets to sound. 31:7 And when they had fought against the Midianites and had prevailed, they killed all the men. 31:8 And they put to death by the sword their kings: Evi, and Rekem, and Zur, and Hur, and Reba, the five leaders of the nation, and also Balaam the son of Beor. 31:9 And they seized their women and little ones, and all their cattle, and all their goods; whatever they were able to have, they despoiled. 31:10 Both their cities and their villages, as well as their fortresses, they burned. 31:11 And they carried away prey from everything that they had seized, both of men and of beasts. 31:12 And they led these to Moses and Eleazar the priest, and to all the multitude of the sons of Israel. But the remainder of the articles they carried to the camp on the plains of Moab, next to the Jordan, opposite Jericho. 31:13 Then Moses, and Eleazar the priest, and all the leaders of the assembly went out to meet them beyond the camp. 31:14 And Moses, being angry with the leaders of the army, and the tribunes, and the centurions, who had arrived from the battle, 31:15 said: “Why have you spared the females? Are not these the ones who deceived the sons of Israel at the suggestion of Balaam, and who caused you to betray the Lord by the sin of Peor, because of which the people also were struck down? 31:17 Therefore, put to death all of them: whatever is of the male sex, even among the little ones, and cut the throats of those women who have known men by sexual relations. 31:18 But the young girls, and all female virgins, reserve for yourselves. 31:19 And remain beyond the camp for seven days. Whoever has killed a man, or who has touched one that was killed, shall be purified on the third day and on the seventh day. 31:20 And all of the spoils, whether it is a garment, or a vessel, or another useful thing, made from the pelts or hair of goats, or from wood, shall be expiated.” Likewise, Eleazar the priest spoke in this manner to the men of the army who had fought: “This is the precept of the law, which the Lord has commanded Moses: {31:22} Gold, and silver, and brass, and iron, and lead, and tin, {31:23} and all that may be able to pass through fire, shall be purified by fire. But whatever is not able to sustain fire shall be sanctified with the waters of expiation. {31:24} And you shall wash your garments on the seventh day, and, after having been purified, you shall enter the camp.” {31:25} And the Lord also said to Moses: {31:26} “Take the sum of those things which were captured, from man even to beast, you and Eleazar the priest, and the leaders of the common people. {31:27} And you shall divide the prey equally, among those who went out to war and fought, and among the remainder of the multitude. {31:28} And you shall separate a portion for the Lord from the portion of those who fought and were in the battle: one soul out of five hundred, as much from humans, as from oxen and donkeys and sheep. {31:29} And you shall give it to Eleazar the priest, because these are the first-fruits of the Lord. {31:30} Likewise, from the half of the portion belonging to the sons of Israel, you shall receive the fiftieth head of humans, and of oxen, and donkeys, and sheep, and of all living things, and you shall give these to the Levites who stand watch over the care of the tabernacle of the Lord.” {31:31} And Moses and Eleazar did just as the Lord had instructed. {31:32} Now the prey which the army had seized was six hundred seventy-five thousand sheep, {31:33} seventy-two thousand oxen, {31:34} sixty-one thousand donkeys, {31:35} and thirty-two thousand human lives, of the female sex, who had not known men. {31:36} And one half of the portion was given to those who had been in the battle: three hundred thirty-seven thousand five hundred sheep. {31:37} From these, for the portion of the Lord, there were accounted: six hundred seventy-five sheep; {31:38} and from the thirty-six thousand oxen, seventy-two oxen; {31:39} from the thirty thousand five hundred donkeys, sixty-one donkeys. {31:40} From the sixteen thousand human souls, there fell to the portion of the Lord thirty-two souls. {31:41} And Moses delivered the number of the first-fruits of the Lord to Eleazar the priest, just as had been commanded of him, {31:42} from the one half portion belonging to the sons of Israel, which he had separated from the portion of those who had been in the battle. {31:43} Yet truly, from the one half portion which fell to the remainder of the multitude, that is, from the three hundred thirty-seven thousand five hundred sheep, {31:44} and from the thirty-six thousand oxen, {31:45} and from the thirty thousand five hundred donkeys, {31:46} and from the sixteen thousand persons. {31:47} Moses took the fiftieth head, and gave it to the Levites who stand watch at the tabernacle of the Lord, just as the Lord had instructed. {31:48} And when the leaders of the army, and the tribunes, and the centurions had approached Moses, they said: {31:49} “We, your servants, have taken a census of the fighting men, whom we had under our hand, and indeed not one was lacking. {31:50} For this reason, we offer as gifts to the Lord whatever gold each one was able to find amid the spoils, in anklets and arm bands, rings and bracelets, and little chains, so that you may intercede for us to the Lord.” {31:51} And Moses and Eleazar the priest received all the gold in its various kinds, {31:52} weighing sixteen thousand seven hundred fifty shekels, from the tribunes and the centurions. {31:53} For whatever each one had taken away in the spoils was his own. {31:54} And having been accepted, they took it into the tabernacle of the testimony, as a memorial of the sons of Israel before the Lord.
and stables for your sheep and cattle; and fulfill what you have promised.” {32:25} And the sons of Gad and of Ruben said to Moses: “We are your servants, we shall do what you, our ruler, orders. {32:26} We will leave behind our little ones, and our wives, and the sheep and cattle, in the cities of Gilead. {32:27} And we, your servants, all well-equipped, will go forth to battle, just as you, our ruler, has spoken.” {32:28} Therefore, Moses instructed Eleazar the priest, and Joshua the son of Nun, and the princes of the families throughout the tribes of Israel, and he said to them: {32:29} “If the sons of Gad and the sons of Ruben cross over the Jordan with you, all armed for war before the Lord, and if the land becomes subject to you, give them Gilead as a possession. {32:30} But if they are not willing to cross with you, armed, into the land of Canaan, then let them receive places among you for their dwellings.” {32:31} And the sons of Gad and the sons of Ruben responded: “Just as the Lord has spoken to his servants, so shall we do. {32:32} We will go forth, armed, before the Lord into the land of Canaan; and we acknowledge that we have already received our possession across the Jordan.” {32:33} And so, Moses gave to the sons of Gad and of Ruben, and to half the tribe of Manasseh, the son of Joseph, the kingdom of Sihon, king of the Amorites, and the kingdom of Og, king of Bashan, and their land with its surrounding cities. {32:34} Therefore, the sons of Gad built up Dibon, and Ataroth, and Aroer, {32:35} and Atroth and Shophan, and Jazer, and Jogbehah, {32:36} and Beth-Nimrah, and Beth-Haran, as fortified cities with pens for their cattle. {32:37} Yet truly, the sons of Ruben built up Heshbon, and Elealeh, and Kiriathaim, {32:38} and Jeboam, and Maacah (their names having been changed) and Sibmah, appointing names for the cities which they had built. {32:39} Moreover, the sons of Machir, the son of Manasseh, continued on within Gilead, and they devastated it, putting to death its inhabitant, the Amorite. {32:40} Therefore, Moses gave the land of Gilead to Machir, the son of Manasseh, and he lived in it. {32:41} But Jair, the son of Manasseh, went out and occupied its villages, which he called Havoth Jair, that is, the Villages of Jair. {32:42} Likewise, Nobah went forth and captured Kenath with its villages. And he called it by his own name, Nobah.

[Numbers 33] {33:1} These are the lodging places of the sons of Israel, who departed from Egypt by their companies under the hand of Moses and Aaron, {33:2} which Moses wrote down according to the places of the encampments, which they changed upon the order of the Lord. {33:3} Thus the sons of Israel set out from Rameses in the first month, on the fifteenth day of the first month, on the day after the Passover, with an exalted hand, being seen by all the Egyptians. {33:4} And these were burying their firstborn, whom the Lord had struck down (for so, too, did he carry out retribution against their gods). {33:5} And they made camp at Succoth. {33:6} And from Succoth they went to Etham, which is at the furthest limits of the wilderness. {33:7} Departing from there, they arrived opposite Pi-hahiroth, which looks out toward Baal-zephon, and they were encamped before Migdol. {33:8} And setting out from Pi-hahiroth, they crossed through the middle of the Sea into the wilderness. And having walked for three days through the desert of Etham, they made camp at Marah. {33:9} And setting out from Marah, they arrived at Elim, where there were twelve fountains of water and seventy palm trees. And they set up camp there. {33:10} But departing from there also, they fixed their tents above the Red Sea. And setting out from the Red Sea, {33:11} they were encamped in the desert of Sin. {33:12} Departing from there, they went to Dophkah. {33:13} And setting out from Dophkah, they made camp at Alush. {33:14} And departing from Alush, they fixed their tents at Rephidim, where the people lacked water to drink. {33:15} And setting out from Rephidim, they camped in the desert of Sinai. {33:16} But departing also from the wilderness of the Sinai, they arrived at the Graves of Lust. {33:17} And setting out from the Graves of Lust, they were encamped at Hazeroth. {33:18} And from Hazeroth, they went to Rithmah. {33:19} And setting out from Rithmah, they made camp at Rimmon-perez. {33:20} And departing from there, they arrived at Libnah. {33:21} From Libnah, they made camp at Rissah. {33:22} And departing from Rissah, they went to Kehelathah. {33:23} Setting out from there, they were encamped at mount Shepher. {33:24} Departing from mount Shepher, they went to Haradah. {33:25} Continuing on from there, they made camp at Makkeloth. {33:26} And setting out from Makkeloth, they went to Tahath. {33:27} From Tahath, they made camp at Terah. {33:28} Departing from there, they pitched their tents at Mithkah. {33:29} And from Mithkah, they were encamped at Hashmonah. {33:30} And setting out from Hashmonah, they went to Moseroth. {33:31} And from Moseroth, they made camp at Bene-jaakan. {33:32} And setting out from Bene-jaakan, they went to mount Gidgad. {33:33} Setting out from there, they were encamped at Jobathah. {33:34} And from Jobathah, they went to Abbronah. {33:35} And departing from Abbronah, they made camp at Eziongeber. {33:36} Setting out from there, they went into the desert of Sin, which is Kadesh. {33:37} And departing from Kadesh, they encamped at mount Hor, at the furthestmost limits of the land of Edom. {33:38} And Aaron the priest ascended onto mount Hor, by the order of the Lord. And there he died, in the fortieth year of the departure of the sons of Israel from Egypt, in the fifth month, on the first day of the month, {33:39} when he was one hundred twenty-three years old. {33:40} And king Arad the Canaanite, who lived toward the south, heard that the sons of Israel had arrived in the land of Canaan. {33:41} And setting out from mount Hor, they made camp at Zalmonah. {33:42} Departing from there, they went to Punon. {33:43} And setting out from Punon, they were encamped at Oboth. {33:44} And from Oboth, they went to Iye-abarim, which is at the borders of the Moabites. {33:45} And setting out from Iye-abarim, they fixed their tents at Dibon-gad. {33:46} Departing from there, they made camp at Almondiblathaim. {33:47} And departing from Almondiblathaim, they went to the mountains of Abarim, opposite Nebo. {33:48} And setting out from the mountains of Abarim, they crossed over to the plains of Moab, above the Jordan, opposite Jericho. {33:49} And they made camp there, from Beth-jeshimoth all the way to Abel-shittim, in the level places of the Moabites, {33:50} where the Lord said to Moses: {33:51} “Instruct the sons of Israel, and say to them: When you will have crossed over the Jordan, entering into the land of Canaan, {33:52} destroy all the inhabitants of that land. Break their monuments, and shatter their statues, and lay waste to every exalted thing, {33:53} cleansing the land and living in it. For I have given it you as a possession, \(33:54\) which you shall divide among you by lot. To the greater number you shall give more, and to the lesser number, less. To each one, just as the lot shall fall, so shall the inheritance be distributed. The possession shall be divided by the tribes and families. \(33:55\) But if you are not willing to put to death the inhabitants of the land, those who remain shall be to you like spikes in your eyes and lances in your sides, and they shall be adversaries to you in the land of your habitation. \(33:56\) And whatever I had decided to do to them, I will do to you.”

[Numbers 34] \(34:1\) And the Lord spoke to Moses, saying: \(34:2\) “Instruct the sons of Israel, and you shall say to them: When you will have entered into the land of Canaan, and it has fallen into your possession by lot, it shall be bound by these limits: \(34:3\) The southern part shall begin from the wilderness of Sin, which is next to Edom, and it shall have the Sea of Salt as a limit to the east. \(34:4\) It shall circle on the south side along the ascent of the Scorpion, by this way crossing into Senna, and passing through, from the south, as far as Kadesh-bannea, from which its confines shall go out to the town called Adar, and extend even to Azmon. \(34:5\) And its limits shall go around from Azmon to the Torrent of Egypt, and shall end at the shore of the Great Sea. \(34:6\) Then the western region shall begin from the Great Sea, and the same shall be its end. \(34:7\) Furthermore, toward the northern region, its limits shall begin from the Great Sea, passing through even to the highest mountain. \(34:8\) From there, it limits shall advance into Hamath, as far as the limits of Zedad. \(34:9\) And its confines shall go all the way to Ziphorn, and to the village of Enan. These shall be the limits on the northern side. \(34:10\) From there, its limits shall be measured, facing the east side, from the village of Enan as far as Shepham. \(34:11\) And from Shepham, the boundaries shall descend into Riblah, opposite the fountain of Daphnis. From there, the boundaries shall pass through, opposite the east, to the Sea of Chinnereth, \(34:12\) and shall extend as far as the Jordan, and, at the furthest extent, shall be enclosed by the Sea of Salt. You shall have this land, with its borders all around.” \(34:13\) And Moses instructed the sons of Israel, saying: “This shall be the land which you shall possess by lot, and which the Lord has ordered to divide the land of Canaan, \(34:14\) as much for the sons of Israel as for newcomers and sojourners, so that anyone who has shed blood unwillingly may flee to these places. \(34:15\) If anyone will have struck someone with iron, and he who was struck will have died, then he shall be guilty of homicide, and he himself shall die. \(34:16\) If he will have thrown a stone, and he who has been struck lies dead, then he shall be punished similarly. \(34:18\) If he who has been struck with wood passes away, he shall be avenged by the blood of the one who struck him. \(34:19\) The close relative of the deceased shall put to death the murderer; as soon as he apprehends him, he shall put him to death. \(34:20\) If, out of hatred, anyone assaults a man, or throws anything at him with ill intent, \(35:21\) or, while being his enemy, strikes him with his hand, and so he has died, the attacker shall be guilty of murder. The kinsman of the deceased, as soon as he finds him, shall cut his throat. \(35:22\) But if by chance, and without hatred \(35:23\) or animosity, he will have done any of these things, \(35:24\) and this has been proven in the hearing of the people, and the questions have been aired, between the one who struck and the close relative, \(35:25\) then the innocent one shall be freed from the hand of the revenger, and he shall be returned by this judgment into the city to which he had fled, and he shall stay there until the high priest, who has been anointed with the holy oil, dies. {35:26} If the one who has killed has been found beyond the limits of the cities which have been assigned to the exiled, {35:27} and he has been struck by him who is avenging blood, he who killed him shall not be harmed. {35:28} For the fugitive ought to have resided in the city, until the death of the high priest. Then, after he is dead, the one who has killed shall be returned to his own land. {35:29} These things shall be a perpetual ordinance in all your habitations. {35:30} The punishment of a murderer shall be based upon testimony; but no one shall be condemned upon the testimony of only one person. {35:31} You shall not accept money from him who is guilty of blood, and he shall be put to death promptly. {35:32} Exiles and fugitives, prior to the death of the high priest, are by no means able to be returned to their own cities. {35:33} Do not pollute the land of your habitation, so as to stain it with the blood of the innocent; neither is it able to be expiated in any way other than by the blood of him who has shed the blood of another. {35:34} And so shall your possession be cleansed, while I myself am abiding with you. For I am the Lord, who lives among the sons of Israel."

[Numbers 36] {36:1} Then the leaders of the families of Gilead, the son of Machir, the son of Manasseh, from the stock of the sons of Joseph, approached and spoke to Moses before the leaders of Israel, and they said: {36:2} “The Lord has instructed you, our ruler, so that you would divide the land by lot to the sons of Israel, and so that you would give to the daughters of Zelophehad, our brother, the possession owed to their father. {36:3} But if men of another tribe receive them as wives, their possession will follow them, and having been transferred to another tribe, there will be a reduction in our inheritance. {36:4} And so it may be that, when the Jubilee of remission, that is, the fiftieth year, has arrived, the distribution by lots shall be confounded, and the possession of the one shall be transferred to others.” {36:5} Moses answered the sons of Israel, and, at the instruction of the Lord, he said: “The tribe of the sons of Joseph has spoken correctly. {36:6} And so, this is the law which has been promulgated by the Lord about the daughters of Zelophehad: Let them marry whomever they may wish, but only among the men of their own tribe, {36:7} lest the possession of the sons of Israel become commingled, from tribe to tribe. For all men shall take wives from their own tribe and kinship; {36:8} and all women shall take husbands from their same tribe, so that the inheritance may remain within the families, {36:9} and so that the tribes may not be mingled together, but may remain such as they were separated by the Lord.” {36:10} And the daughters of Zelophehad acted according to what was ordered. {36:11} And Mahlah, and Tirzah, and Hoglah, and Milcah, and Noa were wed to the sons of their paternal uncle, {36:12} from the family of Manasseh, who was a son of Joseph. And the possession which had been distributed to them remained in the tribe and family of their father. {36:13} These are the commandments and judgments which the Lord ordered by the hand of Moses to the sons of Israel, in the plains of Moab, above the Jordan, opposite Jericho.

The Book of Deuteronomy

[Deuteronomy 1] {1:1} These are the words which Moses spoke to all of Israel, across the Jordan, in the plain of the wilderness opposite the Red Sea, between Paran and Tophel and Laban and Hazeroth, where gold is very plentiful, {1:2} eleven days from Horeb, by way of Mount Seir as far as Kadesh-barnea. {1:3} In the fortieth year, on the eleventh month, on the first day of the month, Moses told the sons of Israel all that the Lord had instructed him. And so he spoke to them, {1:4} after he had struck down Sihon, the king of the Amorites, who lived at Heshbon, and Og, the king of Bashan, who resided at Ashtaroth and at Edrei, {1:5} across the Jordan in the land of Moab. And so, Moses began to explain the law, and to say: {1:6} “The Lord our God spoke to us at Horeb, saying: ‘You have remained long enough on this mountain. {1:7} Turn back and go to the mountain of the Amorites, and to the other places which are near it: the plains as well as the mountainous regions, and the low-lying places opposite the south and along the shore of the sea, the land of the Canaanites, and Lebanon, as far as the great river Euphrates.’ {1:8} ‘Lo,’ he said, ‘I have delivered it to you. Enter and possess that which the Lord swore to your fathers, Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob, that he would give it to them, and to their offspring after them.’ {1:9} And I said to you, at that time: {1:10} ‘I alone am not able to sustain you. For the Lord, your God, has multiplied you, and you are today like the stars of heaven, very many. {1:11} May the Lord, the God of your fathers, add to this number many thousands more, and may he bless you, just as he has said. {1:12} Alone, I do not have the strength to endure your arbitrations and judgments and disputes. {1:13} Offer, from among you, wise and experienced men, those whose conversation has been proven within your tribes, so that I may appoint them as your rulers.’ {1:14} Then you responded to me: ‘What you intend to do is a good thing.’ {1:15} And so, I took from your tribes men, wise and noble, and I appointed them as rulers, as tribunes and centurions, and as leaders over fifty and over ten, who would teach you each thing. {1:16} And I instructed them, saying: ‘Listen to them, and judge what is just, whether he is one of your citizens or a sojourner. {1:17} There shall be no favoritism to any persons. So you shall listen to the little as well as to the great. And you shall not accept anyone’s reputation, for this is the judgment of God. But if anything seems difficult to you, then refer it to me, and I will hear it.’ {1:18} And I instructed you in all that you were obliged to do. {1:19} Then, setting out from Horeb, we crossed through a terrible and great wasteland, which you saw along the way of the mountain of the Amorite, just as the Lord our God had instructed us. And when we had arrived at Kadesh-barnea, {1:20} I said to you: ‘You have arrived at the mountain of the Amorite, which the Lord our God will give to us. {1:21} Gaze upon the land that the Lord your God gives to you. Ascend and possess it, just as the Lord our God has spoken to your fathers. Do not be afraid, and do not become terrified by anything.’ {1:22} And you all approached me and said: ‘Let us send men who may consider the land, and who may report as to the way by which we ought to ascend, and as to which cities we ought to travel.’ {1:23} And since the word was pleasing to me, I sent from among you twelve men, one from each tribe. {1:24} These, when they had set out and had ascended the mountains, arrived as far as the valley of the cluster of grapes. And having considered the land, {1:25} having taken from its fruits in order to show its fertility, they brought these to us, and they said: 'The land that the Lord our God will give to us is good.' {1:26} Yet you were not willing to go there. Instead, being incredulous to the word of the Lord our God, {1:27} you murmured in your tents, and you said: 'The Lord hates us, and therefore he has led us away from the land of Egypt, so that he might deliver us into the hand of the Amorite and destroy us. {1:28} To where should we ascend? The messengers have terrified our heart by saying: "The multitude is very great, and taller than us. And the cities are great, and the walls extend even to the sky. We have seen the sons of the Anakim there."' {1:29} And I said to you: 'Do not be apprehensive, nor should you fear them. {1:30} The Lord God himself, who is your leader, will fight on your behalf, just as he did in Egypt in the sight of all. {1:31} And in the wilderness (as you yourselves saw), the Lord your God carried you, like a man who is accustomed to carrying his little son, along all the way that you walked, until you arrived at this place.' {1:32} And yet, despite all of this, you did not believe the Lord your God, {1:33} who went before you on the way, and who marked out the place where you should pitch your tents, showing you the way by fire in the night, and by a pillar of cloud in the day. {1:34} And when the Lord had heard the voice of your words, becoming angry, he swore and said: {1:35} 'None of the men of this wicked generation will see the good land, which I have promised by oath to your fathers, {1:36} except Caleb the son of Jephuneh. For he himself will see it, and I will give the land on which he has walked to him and to his sons, because he has followed the Lord.' {1:37} Neither is his indignation with the people a wonder, since the Lord also became angry with me because I have walked to him and to his sons, because he has followed the Lord. {1:38} But Joshua, the son of Nun, your minister, shall himself enter on your behalf. Exhort and strengthen this man, and he himself shall divide the land by lot to Israel. {1:39} Your little ones, about whom you said that they would be led away as captives, and your sons, who to this day are ignorant of the difference between good and evil, they shall enter. And I will give the land to them, and they will possess it. {1:40} But as for you, turn back and go out to the wilderness, by way of the Red Sea.' {1:41} And you responded to me: 'We have sinned against the Lord. We will ascend and fight, just as the Lord our God has instructed.' And having been equipped with weapons, when you were setting out for the mountain, {1:42} the Lord said to me: 'Say to them: Do not ascend and do not fight. For I am not with you. Otherwise, you may fall in the sight of your enemies.' {1:43} I spoke, and you did not listen. But, opposing the order of the Lord, and swelling with pride, you ascended onto the mountain. {1:44} And so, having gone forth, the Amorite, who was living in the mountains, came against you and pursued you, just as a swarm of bees would do. And he struck you down from Seir all the way to Hormah. {1:45} And when you returned and were weeping in the sight of the Lord, he would not hear you, nor was he willing to agree to your voice. {1:46} Therefore, you camped at Kadesh-barnea for a long time."

[Deuteronomy 2] {2:1} "And setting out from there, we arrived at the wilderness which leads to the Red Sea, just as the Lord had spoken to me. And we encompassed Mount Seir for a long time. {2:2} And the Lord said to me: {2:3} 'You have encompassed this mountain for long enough. Go forth, toward the north. {2:4} And instruct the people, saying: You shall cross through the borders of your brothers, the sons of Esau, who live at Seir, and they will fear you. {2:5} Therefore, take care diligently, lest you be moved against them. For I will not give to you from their land even as much as the step that one foot can tread upon, because I have given Mount Seir to Esau as a possession. {2:6} You shall buy food from them for money, and you shall eat. You shall draw water for money, and you shall drink. {2:7} The Lord your God has blessed you in every work of your hands. The Lord your God, dwelling with you, knows your journey, how you crossed through this great wilderness over forty years, and how you have been lacking in nothing.' {2:8} And when we had passed through our brothers, the sons of Esau, who were living at Seir by the way of the plain from Elath and from Eziongeber, we arrived at the way which leads to the desert of Moab. {2:9} And the Lord said to me: 'You should not fight against the Moabites, nor should you go to battle against them. For I will not give to you anything from their land, because I have given Ar to the sons of Lot as a possession.' {2:10} The Emim were the first of its inhabitants, a people great and strong, and of such great height, like the race of the Anakim. {2:11} They were considered to be like giants, and they were like the sons of the Anakim. And, indeed, the Moabites call them: the Emim. {2:12} The Horites also formerly lived at Seir. When these had been driven out and destroyed, the sons of Esau lived there, just as Israel did in the land of his possession, which the Lord gave to them. {2:13} Then, rising up so as to cross over the torrent Zered, we arrived at the place. {2:14} Then, from the time that we advanced from Kadesh-barnea until we crossed over the torrent Zered, there were thirty-eight years, until the entire generation of the men who were fit for war had been consumed out of the camp, just as the Lord had sworn. {2:15} For his hand was against them, so that they would pass away from the midst of the camp. {2:16} Then, after all the fighting men had fallen, {2:17} the Lord spoke to me, saying: {2:18} 'Today, you shall cross the borders of Moab, at the city named Ar. {2:19} And when you have arrived in the vicinity of the sons of Ammon, be careful that you do not fight against them, nor should you be moved to battle. For I will not give to you from the land of the sons of Ammon, because I have given it to the sons of Lot as a possession.' {2:20} It was reputed to be a land of giants. And giants lived there in times past, those whom the Ammonites call the Zamzummim. {2:21} They are a people, great and numerous, and of lofty stature, like the Anakim, whom the Lord wiped away before their face. And he caused them to live there in place of them, {2:22} just as he had done for the sons of Esau, who live at Seir, wiping out the Horites and delivering their land to them, which they possess even to the present time. {2:23} Likewise the Hevites, who were living in small villages as far as Gaza, were expelled by the Cappadocians, who went forth from Cappadocia, and they wiped them out and lived in their place. {2:24} 'Rise up and cross the torrent Arnon! Behold, I have delivered Sihon, the king of Heshbon, the Amorite, into your hand, and so, begin to possess his land and to engage in battle against him. {2:25} Today I will begin to send the terror and dread of you among the peoples who are living under all of heaven, so that, when they hear your name, they may be afraid, and may tremble in the manner of a woman giving birth, and may be gripped by anguish.’ {2:26}
Therefore, I sent messengers from the wilderness of Kedemoth to Sihon, the king of Heshbon, with peaceful words, saying: {2:27} ‘We will cross through your land. We will advance by the public way. We will not turn aside, either to the right, nor to the left. {2:28} Sell us food for a price, so that we may eat. Provide us with water for money, and so we will drink. We only ask that you allow us to pass through, {2:29} just as the sons of Esau have done, who live at Seir, and the Moabites, who abide in Ar, until we arrive at the Jordan, and we cross to the land which the Lord our God will give to us.’ {2:30} And Sihon, the king of Heshbon, was not willing to grant passage to us. For the Lord your God had hardened his spirit, and had fastened his heart, so that he would be delivered into your hands, just as you now see.
{2:31} And the Lord said to me: ‘Behold, I have begun to deliver Sihon and his land to you. Begin to possess it.’ {2:32}
And Sihon went out to meet us with all his people, to battle at Jahaz. {2:33} And the Lord our God delivered him to us. And we struck him down, with his sons and all his people. {2:34} And we seized all his cities at that time, putting to death their inhabitants: men as well as women and children. We left nothing of them, {2:35} except the cattle, which went to the share of those who plundered them. And we seized the spoils of the cities, {2:36} from Aroer, which is above the bank of the torrent Arnon, a town which is situated in a valley, all the way to Gilead. There was not a village or city which escaped from our hands. The Lord our God delivered everything to us, {2:37} except the land of the sons of Ammon, which we did not approach, and all that is adjacent to the torrent Jabbok, and the cities in the mountains, and all the places which the Lord our God prohibited to us.”

[Deuteronomy 3] {3:1} “And so, having turned back, we ascended by the way of Bashan. And Og, the king of Bashan, went forth with his people to meet us in warfare at Edrei.
{3:2} And the Lord said to me: ‘You should not fear him.
For he has been delivered into your hand, with all his people as well as his land. And you shall do to him just as you have done to Sihon, the king of the Amorites, who lived at Heshbon.’ {3:3} Therefore, the Lord our God delivered into our hands, now Og, the king of Bashan, and all his people.
And we struck them down unto utter annihilation, {3:4} laying waste to all his cities at one time. There was not a village which escaped from us: sixty cities, the entire region of Argob, the kingdom of Og, in Bashan. {3:5} All the cities were fortified with very high walls, and with gates and bars,
in addition to innumerable villages which had no walls.
{3:6} And we wiped them out, just as we had done to Sihon, the king of Heshbon, destroying every city, and its men, as well as women and children. {3:7} But the cattle and the spoils of the cities, we plundered. {3:8} And at that time, we took the land from the hand of the two kings of the Amorites, who were across the Jordan: from the torrent Arnon as far as Mount Hermon, {3:9} which the Sidonians call Sirion, and the Amorites call Senir, {3:10} all the cities that are situated in the plain, and the entire land of Gilead and Bashan, all the way to Salecach and Edrei, cities of the kingdom of Og in Bashan. {3:11} For only Og, the king of Bashan, was left behind out of the race of the giants. His bed of iron is on display, (it is in Rabbah, among the sons of Ammon) being nine cubits in length, and four in width, according to the measure of the cubit of a man’s hand. {3:12} And we possessed the land, at that time, from Aroer, which is above the bank of the torrent Arnon, as far as the middle of Mount Gilead. And I gave its cities to Ruben and Gad. {3:13} Then I delivered the remaining part of Gilead, and all of Bashan, the kingdom of Og, which is the entire region of Argob, to one half of the tribe of Manasseh. And all of Bashan is called the land of the giants. {3:14} Jair, the son of Manasseh, possessed all the region of Argob, as far as the borders of Geshur and Maacath. And he called Bashan by his own name, Havvoth Jair, that is, the villages of Jair, even to the present day. {3:15} Likewise, to Machir, I gave Gilead.
{3:16} And to the tribes of Ruben and Gad, I gave from the land of Gilead as far as the torrent Arnon, one half of the torrent and its confines, even to the torrent Jabbok, which is along the border of the sons of Ammon, {3:17} and the plain of the wilderness, as well as the Jordan, and the borders of Chinnereth, all the way to the sea of the desert, which is very salty, to the base of Mount Pisgah toward the east.
{3:18} And I instructed you at that time, saying: ‘The Lord your God gives to you this land as an inheritance. Having armed yourselves, go before your brothers, the sons of Israel, all you strong men. {3:19} Leave behind your wives and little ones, as well as the cattle. For I know that you have many cattle, and they should remain in the cities which I have delivered to you, {3:20} until the Lord provides rest to your brothers, just as he has provided for you. And they, too, shall possess the land, which he will give to them beyond the Jordan. Then each one shall return to his possession, which I have allotted to you.’ {3:21} Likewise, I instructed Joshua at that time, saying: ‘Your eyes have seen what the Lord your God has done to these two kings. So also will he do to all the kingdoms through which you shall pass. {3:22} You should not fear them. For the Lord your God will fight on your behalf.’ {3:23} And I beseeched the Lord at that time, saying:
{3:24} ‘Lord God, you have begun to reveal your greatness and your very strong hand to your servant. For there is no other god, either in heaven or on earth, who is able to accomplish your works, or to be compared to your strength.
{3:25} Therefore, I will cross over, and I will view this excellent land beyond the Jordan, and this singular mountain, and Lebanon.’ {3:26} And the Lord became angry with me because of you, and he would not heed me. But he said to me:
‘It is enough for you. You shall no longer speak to me at all about this matter. {3:27} Ascend to the summit of Pisgah, and look around with your eyes to the west, and to the north, and to the south, and to the east, and behold it. For you shall not cross this Jordan. {3:28} Instruct Joshua, and encourage and strengthen him. For he shall go before this people, and he shall distribute to them the land that you will see.’
{3:29} And we remained in the valley, opposite the shrine of Peor.’

[Deuteronomy 4] {4:1} “And now, O Israel, listen to the precepts and judgments which I am teaching to you, so that,
by doing these, you may live, and you may enter and possess
the land, which the Lord, the God of your fathers, will give to you. {4:2} You shall not add to the word which I speak to you, neither shall you take away from it. Preserve the commandments of the Lord your God which I am teaching to you. {4:3} Your eyes have seen all that the Lord has done against Baal-peor, in what manner he has crushed all of his worshippers from among you. {4:4} But you who adhere to the Lord your God are all still alive, to the present day. {4:5} You know that I have taught you precepts as well as justices, just as the Lord my God has commanded me. And so shall you do in the land that you will possess. {4:6} And you shall observe and fulfill these in practice. For this is your wisdom and understanding in the sight of the peoples, so that, upon hearing all these precepts, they may say: ‘Lo, a wise and understanding people, a great nation.’ {4:7} Neither is there any other nation so great, which has its gods so near to them, as our God is present to all our petitions. {4:8} For what other nation is there so renowned as to have ceremonies, and just judgments, and the entire law that I will set forth today before your eyes? {4:9} And so, guard yourself and your soul carefully. You should not forget the words that your eyes have seen, and do not let them be cut away from your heart, throughout all the days of your life. You shall teach them to your sons and to your grandsons, {4:10} from the day on which you stood before the Lord your God at Horeb, when the Lord spoke to me, saying: ‘Gather the people to me, so that they may listen to my words, and may learn to fear me, throughout all the time that they are alive on earth, and so that they may teach their children.’ {4:11} And you approached the base of the mountain, which was burning even toward heaven. And there was a darkness upon it, and a cloud, and a mist. {4:12} And the Lord spoke to you from the midst of fire. You heard the voice of his words, but you did not see any form at all. {4:13} And he revealed his covenant to you, which he instructed you to carry out, and the ten words which he wrote on two tablets of stone. {4:14} And he commanded me, at that time, that I should teach you the ceremonies and judgments which you must carry out, in the land that you shall possess. {4:15} And so, guard your souls carefully. You saw no likeness on the day that the Lord God spoke to you on Horeb from the midst of fire. {4:16} Otherwise, perhaps being deceived, you might adore and worship these things, which are under heaven, {4:17} a likeness of any of the beasts, which are upon the earth, or of birds, which fly under heaven, {4:18} or of reptiles, which move across the earth, or of fish, which abide in the waters under the earth. {4:19} Otherwise, perhaps lifting up your eyes to heaven, you might look upon the sun and the moon and all the stars of heaven, and being deceived by error, you might adore and worship these things, which the Lord your God created for the service of all the nations, which are under heaven. {4:20} But the Lord has taken you up, and led you away from the iron furnaces of Egypt, in order to have a people of inheritance, just as it is to the present day. {4:21} And the Lord became angry against me because of your words, and he swore that I would not cross over the Jordan, nor enter into the excellent land, which he will give to you. {4:22} Behold, I shall die on this soil. I shall not cross over the Jordan. You shall cross it, and you shall possess the singular land. {4:23} Be careful, lest you at sometime forget the covenant of the Lord your God, which he has formed with you, and lest you make for yourselves a graven likeness of those things which the Lord has prohibited to be made. {4:24} For the Lord your God is a consuming fire, a jealous God. {4:25} When you will have conceived sons and grandsons while abiding in the land, and if, having been deceived, you make for yourselves any likeness, accomplishing evil in the sight of the Lord your God, so as to provoke him to wrath, {4:26} I call heaven and earth as witnesses this day, that you shall quickly perish from the land, which, when you have crossed over the Jordan, you will possess. You will not live in it for a long time; instead, the Lord will destroy you. {4:27} And he will scatter you among all the nations, and few of you will remain among those nations, to which the Lord will lead you. {4:28} And there, you will serve gods which were fabricated by the hands of men: gods of wood and of stone, who neither see, nor hear, nor eat, nor smell. {4:29} And when you will seek the Lord your God in that place, you shall find him, if only you seek him with all your heart, and in all the tribulation of your soul. {4:30} After all these things which have been foretold have found you, in the end time, you shall return to the Lord your God, and you will hear his voice. {4:31} For the Lord your God is a merciful God. He will not abandon you, nor will he entirely destroy you, nor will he forget the covenant, which he swore to your fathers. {4:32} Inquire concerning the days of antiquity, which were before you, from the day when God created man upon the earth, from one end of heaven to another, if anything similar has ever occurred, or whether any such thing has ever been known, {4:33} that a people would hear the voice of God, speaking from the midst of fire, just as you have heard it, and live, {4:34} whether God has acted so as to enter and take for himself a nation from the midst of the nations, by means of tests, signs, and wonders, by means of fighting, and a strong hand, and an outstretched arm, and terrible visions, in accord with all the things which the Lord your God has accomplished for you in Egypt, in the sight of your eyes. {4:35} So may you know that the Lord himself is God, and there is no other beside him. {4:36} He has caused you to hear his voice from heaven, so that he might teach you. And he showed you his exceedingly great fire on earth, and you heard his words from the midst of the fire. {4:37} For he loved your fathers, and he chose their offspring after them. And he led you away from Egypt, advancing before you with his great power, {4:38} so as to wipe away, upon your arrival, his great power, {4:39} so as to enter and take for himself a nation from the midst of the nations, by means of tests, signs, and wonders, by means of fighting, and a strong hand, and an outstretched arm, and terrible visions, in accord with all the things which the Lord your God has accomplished for you in Egypt, in the sight of your eyes. {4:40} Keep his precepts and commandments, which I am teaching to you, so that it may be well with you, and with your sons after you, and so that you may remain for a long time upon the land, which the Lord your God will give to you.” {4:41} Then Moses set aside three cities, across the Jordan toward the eastern region, {4:42} so that anyone might flee to these if he has killed his neighbor unwillingly, who was not his enemy a day or two earlier, and so that he would be able to escape to one of these cities: {4:43} Bezer in the wilderness, which is situated in the plains of the tribe of Ruben; and Ramoth in Gilead, which is in the tribe of Gad; and Golan in Bashan, which is in the tribe of Manasseh. {4:44} This is the law, which Moses set forth before the sons of Israel. {4:45} And these are the testimonies and ceremonies as well as judgments, which he spoke to the sons of Israel, when they departed from Egypt, {4:46} across the Jordan, in the valley opposite the shrine of Peor, in the land of Sihon, the king of the Amorites, who lived at Heshbon, whom Moses struck down. Accordingly, the sons of Israel, having departed from Egypt, possessed his land, and the land of Og, the king of Bashan, the land of the two kings of the Amorites, who were beyond the Jordan, toward the rising of the sun: from Aroer, which is situated above the bank of the torrent Arnon, as far as Mount Zion, which is also called Hermon, the entire plain across the Jordan, from its eastern region, as far as the sea of the wilderness, and even to the base of Mount Pisgah.

[Deuteronomy 5] [5:1] And Moses summoned all of Israel, and he said to them: “Listen, O Israel, to the ceremonies and judgments, which I am speaking to your ears on this day. Learn them, and fulfill them in deed. [5:2] The Lord our God formed a covenant with us at Horeb. [5:3] He did not make the covenant with our fathers, but with us, who are alive and in the present time. [5:4] He spoke to us face to face on the mountain, from the midst of fire. [5:5] I was the mediator, for I was in the middle between the Lord and you, at that time, to announce his words to you. For you were afraid of the fire, and so you did not ascend to the mountain. And he said: [5:6] ‘I am the Lord your God, who led you away from the land of Egypt, from the house of servitude. [5:7] You shall not have strange gods in my sight. [5:8] You shall not make for yourself a graven image, nor the likeness of anything, which is in heaven above, or on earth below, or which abides in the waters under the earth. [5:9] You shall not adore and you shall not worship these things. For I am the Lord your God, a jealous God, repaying the iniquity of the fathers upon the sons to the third and fourth generation to those who hate me, [5:10] and acting with mercy in thousands of ways to those who love me and keep my precepts. [5:11] You shall not use the name of the Lord your God in vain. For he will not go unpunished who takes up his name over an unimportant matter. [5:12] Observe the day of the Sabbath, so that you may sanctify it, just as the Lord your God has instructed you. [5:13] For six days, you shall labor and do all your work. [5:14] The seventh is the day of the Sabbath, that is, the rest of the Lord your God. You shall not do any work in it, nor shall your son, nor daughter, nor man servant, nor woman servant, nor ox, nor donkey, nor any of your cattle, nor the sojourner who is within your gates, so that your men and woman servants may rest, just as you do. [5:15] Remember that you also were servants in Egypt, and the Lord your God led you away from that place with a strong hand and an outstretched arm. Because of this, he has instructed you so that you would observe the Sabbath day. [5:16] Honor your father and mother, just as the Lord your God has instructed you, so that you may live a long time, and so that it may be well with you in the land, which the Lord your God will give to you. [5:17] You shall not murder. [5:18] And you shall not commit adultery. [5:19] And you shall not commit theft. [5:20] Neither shall you speak false testimony against your neighbor. [5:21] You shall not covet your neighbor’s wife, nor his house, nor his field, nor his man servant, nor his woman servant, nor his ox, nor his donkey, nor anything out of all that is his.’ [5:22] The Lord spoke these words to the entire multitude of you on the mountain, from the midst of the fire and the cloud and the darkness, with a loud voice, adding nothing more. And he wrote them on two tablets of stone, which he delivered to me. [5:23] Then, after you heard the voice from the midst of the darkness, and you saw the mountain burning, you approached me, all you leaders of the tribes and those greater by birth. And you said: [5:24] ‘Behold, the Lord our God has revealed to us his majesty and his greatness. We have heard his voice from the midst of fire, and we have proven today that, though God is speaking with man, man has lived. [5:25] Therefore, why should we die, and why should this very great fire devour us? For if we hear the voice of the Lord our God any longer, we will die. [5:26] What is all flesh, that it would hear the voice of the living God, who speaks from the midst of fire, just as we have heard it, and be able to live? [5:27] Instead, you should approach and listen to all the things that the Lord our God will say to you. And you will speak to us, and we will listen and do these things.’ [5:28] But when the Lord had heard this, he said to me: ‘I have heard the voice of the words of this people, which they spoke to you. All this, they have spoken well. [5:29] Who will grant to them to have such a mind, so that they may fear me, and may keep all my commandments at all times, so that it may be well with them and with their sons forever? [5:30] Go and say to them: Return to your tents. [5:31] But as for you, stand here with me, and I will speak to you all my commandments and ceremonies, as well as judgments. These, you shall teach them, so that they may do them in the land, which I will give to them as a possession. [5:32] And so, keep and do the things which the Lord God has commanded you. You shall not turn aside, neither to the right, nor to the left. [5:33] For you shall walk in the way that the Lord your God has instructed, so that you may live, and it may be well with you, and your days may be extended in the land of your possession.’ ”

[Deuteronomy 6] [6:1] “These are the precepts and ceremonies, as well as the judgments, which the Lord your God has commanded that I teach to you, which you shall do in the land to which you will travel in order to possess it. [6:2] So may you fear the Lord your God, and keep all his commandments and precepts, which I am entrusting to you, and to your sons and grandsons, all the days of your life, so that your days may be prolonged. [6:3] Listen and observe, O Israel, so that you may do just as the Lord has instructed you, and it may be well with you, and you may be multiplied all the more, for the Lord, the God of your fathers, has promised you a land flowing with milk and honey. [6:4] Listen, O Israel: the Lord our God is one Lord. [6:5] You shall love the Lord your God with all your heart, and with all your soul, and with all your strength. [6:6] And these words, which I instruct to you this day, shall be in your heart. [6:7] And you shall explain them to your sons. And you shall meditate upon them sitting in your house, and walking on a journey, when lying down and when rising up. [6:8] And you shall bind them like a sign on your hand, and they shall be placed and shall move between your eyes. [6:9] And you shall write them at the threshold and on the doors of your house. [6:10] And when the Lord your God will have led you into the land, about which he swore to your fathers, Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob, and when he will have given to you great and excellent cities, which you did not build; [6:11] houses full of goods, which you did not amass; cisterns, which you did not dig; vineyards and olive groves, which you did not plant; {6:12} and when you will have eaten and been satisfied: {6:13} take care diligently, lest you forget the Lord, who led you away from the land of Egypt, from the house of servitude. You shall fear the Lord your God, and you shall serve him alone, and you shall swear by his name. {6:14} You shall not go after the strange gods of all the Gentiles, who are around you. {6:15} For the Lord your God is a jealous God in your midst. Otherwise, at sometime, the fury of the Lord your God may be enragd against you, and he may take you away from the face of the earth. {6:16} You shall not tempt the Lord your God, as you tempted him in the place of temptation. {6:17} Keep the precepts of the Lord your God, as well as the testimonies and ceremonies, which he has instructed to you. {6:18} And do what is pleasing and good in the sight of the Lord, so that it may be well with you, and so that, when you enter, you may possess the excellent land, about which the Lord swore to your fathers {6:19} that he would wipe away all your enemies before you, just as he has spoken. {6:20} And when your son will ask you tomorrow, saying: ‘What do these testimonies and ceremonies and judgments mean, which the Lord our God has entrusted to us?’ {6:21} You shall say to him: ‘We were servants of Pharaoh in Egypt, and the Lord led us away from Egypt with a strong hand. {6:22} And he wrought signs and wonders, great and very grievous, in Egypt, against Pharaoh and all his house, in our sight. {6:23} And he led us away from that place, so that he might lead us in and give us the land, about which he spoke to our fathers. {6:24} And the Lord instructed us that we should do all these ordinances, and that we should fear the Lord our God, so that it may be well with us all the days of our life, just as it is today. {6:25} And he will be merciful to us, if we keep and perform all his precepts, in the sight of the Lord our God, just as he has commanded us.’ "

[Deuteronomy 7] {7:1} “When the Lord your God will have led you to the land, which you will enter so as to possess it, and when he will have destroyed many nations before you, the Hittite, and the Girgashite, and the Amorite, and the Canaanite, and the Perizzite, and the Hivite, and the Jebusite, seven nations much more numerous than you, and more robust than you, {7:2} and when the Lord your God will have delivered them to you, you shall strike them down unto utter annihilation. You shall not enter into a pact with them, nor shall you show any pity to them. {7:3} And you shall not associate with them in marriage. You shall not give your daughter to his son, nor accept his daughter for your son. {7:4} For she will seduce your son, so that he will not follow me, and so that he will instead serve foreign gods. And the fury of the Lord will be enragd, and he will quickly destroy you. {7:5} So instead, you shall do this to them: overturn their altars, and break their statues, and cut down their sacred groves, and burn up their graven images. {7:6} For you are a holy people to the Lord your God. The Lord your God has chosen you so that you would be his particular people out of all the peoples who are upon the earth. {7:7} It is not because you surpass all the nations in number that the Lord has joined with you and has chosen you, for you are the least numerous of any people. {7:8} But it is because the Lord has loved you, and has kept his oath, which he swore to your fathers. And he has led you away with a strong hand, and he has redeemed you from the house of servitude, from the hand of Pharaoh, the king of Egypt. {7:9} And you shall know that the Lord your God himself is a strong and faithful God, preserving his covenant and his mercy for those who love him and those who keep his precepts for a thousand generations, {7:10} and promptly repaying those who hate him, so as to utterly ruin them, without further delay, quickly rendering to them what they deserve. {7:11} Therefore, keep the precepts and ceremonies as well as the judgments, which I command to you this day, so that you may do them. {7:12} If, after you have heard these judgments, you keep and do them, the Lord your God will also keep his covenant with you and the mercy that he swore to your fathers. {7:13} And he will love you and multiply you. And he will bless the fruit of your womb, and the fruit of your land: your grain as well as your vintage, oil, and herds, and the flocks of your sheep, upon the land about which he swore to your fathers that he would give it to you. {7:14} Blessed shall you be among all peoples. No one will be barren among you of either gender, as much among men as among your herds. {7:15} The Lord will take all sickness away from you. And the very grievous infirmities of Egypt, which you have known, he will not bring upon you, but upon your enemies. {7:16} You shall devour all the peoples, which the Lord your God will deliver to you. Your eye shall not spare them, neither shall you serve their gods, lest they be your ruin. {7:17} If you say in your heart, ‘These nations are more than I am, so how will I be able to destroy them?’ {7:18} do not be apprehensive. Instead, recall what the Lord your God did to Pharaoh and to all the Egyptians: {7:19} the very great plagues, which your eyes saw, and the signs and wonders, and the powerful hand and outstretched arm, by which the Lord your God led you away. So will he do to all the peoples, whom you dread. {7:20} Moreover, the Lord your God will also send hornets among them, until he destroys and scatters all who have escaped from you, or who have been able to hide. {7:21} You shall not fear them, for the Lord your God is in your midst: a great and terrible God. {7:22} He himself will consume these nations in your sight, a little at a time, by degrees. You will not be able to destroy them all at once. Otherwise, the wild beasts of the earth might increase against you. {7:23} And so, the Lord your God will present them in your sight, and you shall slay them until they are thoroughly wiped away. {7:24} And he shall deliver their kings into your hands, and you shall abolish their names from under heaven. No one will be able to withstand you, until you crush them. {7:25} Their graven images, you shall burn with fire. You shall not covet the silver or gold from which they have been made. And you shall not take for yourself anything from these, lest you offend, because this is an abomination to the Lord your God. {7:26} Neither shall you carry anythng of the idol into your house, lest you become accursed, just as it also is. You shall detest it like dung, and you shall abominate it like defilement and filth, because it is an accursed thing.”

[Deuteronomy 8] {8:1} “All the commandments which I am entrusting to you this day, take care to observe them diligently, so that you may live and be multiplied, and so that, upon entering, you may possess the land, about which the Lord swore to your fathers. {8:2} And you shall remember the entire journey along which the Lord your God led you, for forty years through the desert, to afflict you, and to test you, and to make known the things that were turning in your soul, whether or not you would keep his commandments.

8:3 He afflicted you with need, and he gave you Manna as your food, which neither you nor your fathers knew, so as to reveal to you that it is not by bread alone that man lives, but by every word that goes forth from the mouth of God.

8:4 Your garment, with which you were covered, has by no means decayed due to age, and your foot has not been worn down, even to this fortieth year,

8:5 so that you would recognize in your heart that, just as a man educates his son, so has the Lord your God educated you.

8:6 So may you keep the commandments of the Lord your God, and walk in his ways, and fear him.

8:7 For the Lord your God will lead you into a good land: a land of brooks and waters and fountains, in which deep rivers burst forth from its plains and mountains,

8:8 a land of crops, barley, and vineyards, in which fig and pomegranate and olive trees spring up, a land of oil and honey.

8:9 In that place, without any need, you shall eat your bread and enjoy an abundance of all things: where the stones are like iron, and where ore for brass is dug out of its mountains.

8:10 So then, when you have eaten and been satisfied, you should bless the Lord your God for the excellent land which he has given to you.

8:11 Be observant and cautious, lest at sometime you may forget the Lord your God, and neglect his commandments, as well as the judgments and ceremonies, which I instruct to you this day.

8:12 Otherwise, after you have eaten and been satisfied, and have built beautiful houses and have lived in them,

8:13 and have obtained herds of oxen, and flocks of sheep, and a plentitude of gold and silver and all things,

8:14 your heart might be lifted up, and you might not remember the Lord your God, who led you away from the land of Egypt, from the house of servitude,

8:15 and who was your leader in the great and terrible wilderness, in which there was the serpent with a burning breath, and the scorpion, and the snake of thirst, and no waters at all. He led streams out of the hardest rock,

8:16 and he nourished you in the wilderness with Manna, which your fathers had not known. And after he had afflicted and tested you, in the very end, he took pity on you.

8:17 Otherwise, you might say in your heart: 'My own strength, and the power of my own hand, have brought forth all these things for me.'

8:18 But remember the Lord your God, that he himself has provided you with strength, so that he may fulfill his covenant, about which he swore to your fathers, just as the present day reveals.

8:19 But if you forget the Lord your God, so that you follow foreign gods, and serve and adore them: behold, I now foretell to you that you shall utterly perish.

8:20 Just like the nations, which the Lord destroyed upon your arrival, so shall you also perish, if you have been disobedient to the voice of the Lord your God.”

[Deuteronomy 9]

9:1 “Listen, O Israel: You shall cross over the Jordan today, in order to possess nations, very great and stronger than yourself, cities vast and walled even to the sky,

9:2 a people great and lofty, the sons of the Anakim, whom you yourselves have seen and heard, against whom no one is able to stand.

9:3 Therefore, you shall know today that the Lord your God himself will pass over before you, like a devouring and consuming fire, to crush and to wipe away and to utterly ruin them before your face, quickly, just as he has spoken to you.

9:4 You should not say in your heart, when the Lord your God will have destroyed them in your sight: ‘It is because of my justice that the Lord led me in, so that I might possess this land, while these nations have been destroyed because of their impiety.’

9:5 For it is not because of your justices or the uprightness of your heart that you will enter, so that you may possess their lands. Instead, it is because they have acted wickedly that they are destroyed upon your arrival, and so that the Lord may accomplish his word, which he promised under oath to your fathers, Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob.

9:6 Therefore, know that the Lord your God will not give you this excellent land as a possession due to your justices, for you are a very stiff-necked people.

9:7 Remember, and never forget, how you provoked the Lord your God to anger in the wilderness. You have always contended against the Lord, from the day that you went forth from Egypt, even to this place.

9:8 For at Horeb also, you provoked him, and, becoming angry, he was willing to destroy you,

9:9 when I ascended onto the mountain, so that I might receive the tablets of stone, the tablets of the covenant which the Lord formed with you. And I persevered on the mountain for forty days and nights, neither eating bread, nor drinking water.

9:10 And the Lord gave me two tablets of stone, written with the finger of God and containing all the words that he spoke to you on the mountain from the midst of fire, while the people, being stirred up, were assembled together.

9:11 And when forty days, and as many nights, had passed, the Lord gave me the two tablets of stone, the tablets of the covenant.

9:12 And he said to me: ‘Rise up, and descend quickly from here. For your people, whom you led away from Egypt, have quickly abandoned the way that you have shown to them, and they have made a molten idol for themselves.’

9:13 And again, the Lord said to me: ‘I discern that this people is stiff-necked.

9:14 Depart from me, so that I may crush them, and abolish their name from under heaven, and appoint you over a nation, which will be greater and stronger than this one.’

9:15 And as I was descending from the burning mountain, and I held the two tablets of the covenant with both hands,

9:16 and I had seen that you had sinned against the Lord your God, and had made a molten calf for yourselves, and had quickly abandoned his way, which he had revealed to you,

9:17 I threw down the tablets from my hands, and I broke them in your sight.

9:18 And I fell prostrate before the Lord, just as before, for forty days and nights, not eating bread, and not drinking water, because of all your sins, which you had committed against the Lord, and because you provoked him to anger.

9:19 For I feared his indignation and wrath, which had been stirred up against you, so that he was willing to destroy you. And the Lord heeded me at this time also.

9:20 Likewise, he became vehemently angry against Aaron, and he was willing to destroy him, and I prayed for him similarly.

9:21 But as for your sin which you committed, that is, the calf, taking hold of it, I burned it with fire. And breaking it into pieces, and reducing it entirely to dust, I threw it into the torrent that descends from the mountain.

9:22 Likewise, at the Burning, and at the Temptation, and at the Graves of Lust, you provoked the Lord.

9:23 And when he sent you from Kadesh-barnea, saying, ‘Ascend and possess the land, which I have given to you,’ even so, you spurned the command of the Lord your God, and you did not believe him, nor were you willing to listen to his voice.

9:24 Instead, you were ever rebellious, from the day when I first began to know you.

9:25 And so,
I lay prostrate before the Lord for forty days and nights, as I humbly begged him, lest he destroy you, just as he had threatened to do. {9:26} And praying, I said: ‘O Lord God, do not destroy your people and your inheritance, whom you have redeemed in your greatnes, whom you have led away from Egypt with a strong hand. {9:27} Remember your servants, Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob. Do not look upon the stubbornness of this people, nor upon their wickedness and sinfulness. {9:28} Otherwise, perhaps the inhabitants of the land, out of which you have led us, may say: “The Lord was not able to lead them into the land, which he promised to them. And he hated them; therefore, he led them out, so that he might put them to death in the wilderness.” {9:29} These are your people and your inheritance, whom you have led out by your great strength, and with your outstretched arm.’

[Deuteronomy 10] {10:1} “At that time, the Lord said to me: ‘Hew for yourself two tablets of stone, like those that were before, and ascend to me on the mountain. And you shall make an ark of wood. {10:2} And I will write on the tablets the words which were on those that you broke before, and you shall place them in the ark.’ {10:3} And so, I made an ark of setim wood. And when I had hewn two tablets of stone like the former, I ascended onto the mountain, having them in my hands. {10:4} And he wrote on the tablets, according to that which he had written before, the ten words, which the Lord spoke to you on the mountain from the midst of fire, when the people were assembled. And he gave them to me. {10:5} And returning from the mountain, I descended and placed the tablets in the ark, which I had made, and they are still there even now, just as the Lord instructed me. {10:6} Then the sons of Israel moved their camp, from Beeroth among the sons of Jaakan, into Moserah, where Aaron died and was buried, and where his son Eleazar was installed in the priesthood in his place. {10:7} From there, they went into Gudgodah. From that place, they set out and camped at Jotbahath, in a land of waters and torrents. {10:8} At that time, he separated the tribe of Levi, so that he would carry the ark of the covenant of the Lord, and stand before him in the ministry, and speak blessings in his name, even to the present day. {10:9} As a result, Levi has no portion or possession with his brothers. For the Lord himself is his possession, just as the Lord your God promised him. {10:10} Then I stood on the mountain, as before, for forty days and nights. And the Lord heeded me at this time also, and he was not willing to destroy you. {10:11} And he said to me: ‘Go forth and walk before the people, so that they may enter and possess the land, which I swore to their fathers that I would deliver to them.’ {10:12} And now, O Israel, what does the Lord your God require of you? Only that you fear the Lord your God, and walk in his ways, and love him, and serve the Lord your God with your whole heart and with your whole soul, {10:13} and that you keep the commandments of the Lord, and his ceremonies, which I am instructing to you this day, so that it may be well with you. {10:14} Lo, heaven belongs to the Lord your God, and the heaven of heaven, and the earth, and all the things that are within these. {10:15} Now the Lord was closely joined to your fathers, and he loved them, and he chose their offspring after them, that is, you yourselves, out of all the nations, just as is being proven today. {10:16} Therefore, circumcise the foreskin of your heart, and no longer stiffen your neck. {10:17} For the Lord your God himself is the God of gods, and the Lord of lords, a God great and powerful and terrible, who favors no person and accepts no bribe. {10:18} He accomplishes judgment for the orphan and the widow. He loves the sojourner, and he gives him food as well as clothing. {10:19} Therefore, you also should love sojourners, for you also were new arrivals in the land of Egypt. {10:20} You shall fear the Lord your God, and him alone shall you serve. You shall cling to him, and you shall swear by his name. {10:21} He is your praise and your God. He has done for you these great and terrible things, which your eyes have seen. {10:22} As seventy souls, your fathers descended into Egypt. And now, behold, the Lord your God has multiplied you to be like the stars of heaven.”

[Deuteronomy 11] {11:1} “And so, love the Lord your God, and observe his precepts and ceremonies, his judgments and commandments, at all times. {11:2} Acknowledge, on this day, the things that your sons did not know. For they did not see the chastisements of the Lord your God, his great acts, and powerful hand, and outstretched arm, {11:3} the signs and works that he did in the midst of Egypt, to Pharaoh, the king, and to his entire land, {11:4} and to the entire army of the Egyptians, and to their horses and chariots: how the waters of the Red Sea covered them as they were pursuing you, and how the Lord wiped them away, even to the present day; {11:5} and the things that he accomplished for you in the wilderness, until you arrived at this place; {11:6} and to Dathan and Abiram, sons of Eliab, who was the son of Reuben, those whom the earth, opening its mouth, engulfed with their households and tents, and with their entire substance which they had in the midst of Israel. {11:7} Your eyes have seen all the great works of the Lord, which he has accomplished, {11:8} so that you would keep all his commandments, which I entrust to you this day, and so that you would be able to enter and possess the land, toward which you are advancing, {11:9} and so that you may live, for a long time, in the land which the Lord promised under oath to your fathers, and to their offspring, a land flowing with milk and honey. {11:10} For the land, which you shall enter and possess, is not like the land of Egypt, from which you departed, where, when seed has been sown, waters are brought in by irrigation, in the manner of gardens. {11:11} Rather, it has mountainous regions and plains, which lay waiting for rain from heaven. {11:12} For the Lord, who withholds rain, makes the earth become dry. Be careful, lest perhaps your heart may be deceived, and you might withdraw from the Lord, and serve strange gods, and adore them. {11:13} So then, if you obey my commandments, which I am instructing to you this day, so that you love the Lord your God, and serve him with your whole heart and your whole soul, {11:14} he will give to your land the early rain and the late rain, so that you may gather your grain, and your wine, and your oil, {11:15} and your hay from the fields in order to feed your cattle, and so that you yourselves may eat and be satisfied. {11:16} Be careful, lest perhaps your heart may be deceived, and you might withdraw from the Lord, and serve strange gods, and adore them. {11:17} And the Lord, becoming angry, might close up heaven, so that the rain would not descend, nor would the earth produce her seedlings, and then you would quickly perish from the excellent land, which the Lord will give to you. {11:18} Place these words of mine in your hearts and minds, and hang them as a sign on your hands, and arrange them between your eyes. 11:19] Teach your sons to meditate on them, when you sit in your house, and when you walk along the way, and when you lie down or rise up. 11:20] You shall write them upon the doorposts and the gates of your house, 11:21] so that your days may be multiplied, and the days of your sons, in the land which the Lord swore to your fathers, that he would give it to them for as long as heaven is suspended above the earth. 11:22] For if you keep the commandments which I am entrusting to you, and if you do them, so that you love the Lord your God, and walk in all his ways, clinging to him, 11:23] the Lord will scatter all these nations before your face, and you shall possess them, though they are greater and stronger than you. 11:24] Every place upon which your foot shall tread will be yours. From the desert, and from Lebanon, from the great river Euphrates, as far as the western sea, shall be your borders. 11:25] No one will stand against you. The Lord your God will spread the terror and dread of you over all the land upon which you shall tread, just as he has spoken to you. 11:26] Behold, I am setting forth in your sight today a blessing and a curse. 11:27] It will be a blessing, if you obey the commandments of the Lord your God, which I am instructing to you this day. 11:28] It will be a curse, if you do not obey the commandments of the Lord your God, but instead you withdraw from the way, which I am revealing to you now, and you walk after foreign gods that you have not known. 11:29] Yet truly, when the Lord your God will have led you into the land, to which you are traveling for a habitation, you shall place the blessing upon Mount Gerizim, the curse upon Mount Ebal, 11:30] which are across the Jordan, behind the way which slopes toward the setting of the sun, in the land of the Canaanite, who lives in the plains opposite Gilgal, which is near the valley extending toward and entering a distant place. 11:31] For you shall cross over the Jordan, so that you may possess the land which the Lord your God will give you, so that you may have it and possess it. 11:32] Therefore, see to it that you fulfill the ceremonies and judgments, which I am placing in your sight this day.

[Deuteronomy 12] 12:1] “These are the precepts and judgments which you must do in the land which the Lord, the God of your fathers, will give to you, so that you may possess it during all the days that you shall walk upon the soil. 12:2] Overturn all the places where the nations, which you will possess, worshipped their gods on lofty mountains, and on hills, and under every leafy tree. 12:3] Scatter their altars and break their statues. Burn their sacred groves with fire and crush their idols. Abolish their names from those places. 12:4] But you shall not do the same to the Lord your God. 12:5] Instead, you shall approach the place which the Lord your God will choose among all your tribes, so that he may set his name there, and may dwell in that place. 12:6] And you shall offer, in that place, your holocausts and victims, the tithes and first-fruits of your hands, and your vows and gifts, the firstborn of the cattle and of the sheep. 12:7] And you shall eat it there, in the sight of the Lord your God. And you shall rejoice in all the things to which you shall set your hand: you and your household, which the Lord your God has blessed for you. 12:8] You shall not do there the things that we are doing here today: each one doing what seems good to himself. 12:9] For even until the present time, you did not arrive at the rest and the possession, which the Lord your God will give to you. 12:10] You shall cross over the Jordan, and you shall live in the land which the Lord your God will give to you, so that you may have rest from all the surrounding enemies, and so that you may live without any fear, 12:11] in the place which the Lord your God will choose, so that his name may be in it. To that place, you shall bring all the things that I instruct you: holocausts, and victims, and tithes, and the first-fruits of your hands, and whatever is best among the gifts that you shall vow to the Lord. 12:12] In that place, you shall feast before the Lord your God: you, and your sons and daughters, your men and women servants, as well as the Levite who dwells in your cities. For he has no other portion or possession among you. 12:13] Take care that you do not offer your holocausts in any place that you see. 12:14] Instead, you shall offer sacrifices in the place which the Lord will choose within one of your tribes, and you shall do whatsoever I instruct you. 12:15] So, if you wish to eat, and if the eating of flesh pleases you, then kill and eat according to the blessing of the Lord your God, which he has given to you, in your cities: you may eat it whether it is unclean, that is, having blemish or defect, or whether it is clean, that is, whole and without blemish, of the kind which is permitted to be offered, such as the roe deer and the stag. 12:16] Only the blood you shall not eat. Instead, you shall pour it upon the ground like water. 12:17] You may not eat in your towns the tithes of your crops, and your wine and oil, the firstborn of your herds and your flocks, nor anything which you will vow, or which you will offer spontaneously, nor the first-fruits of your hands. 12:18] But you shall eat these before the Lord your God, in the place which the Lord your God will choose: you, and your son, and your daughter, and your man servant and woman servant, and the Levite who dwells in your cities. And you shall rejoice and be refreshed in the sight of the Lord your God by all the things to which you will extend your hand. 12:19] Be careful, lest you abandon the Levite, at anytime while you are living in the land. 12:20] When the Lord your God will have enlarged your borders, just as he has spoken to you, and when you would eat the flesh that your soul desires, 12:21] but if the place which the Lord your God will choose, so that his name may be there, is far away, you may kill, from your herds and your flocks which you will have, in the manner I have instructed to you, and you may eat in your towns, as it pleases you. 12:22] Just as the roe deer and the stag may be eaten, so also may you eat it whether it is unclean, that is, having blemish or defect, or whether it is clean, that is, whole and without blemish, of the kind which is permitted to be offered, such as the roe deer and the stag. 12:23] Only beware of this: you may not eat the blood. For their blood is for the soul. And because of this, you must not eat the soul with the flesh. 12:24] Instead, you shall pour it upon the ground like water, 12:25] so that it may be well with you, and with your sons after you, when you will do what is pleasing in the sight of the Lord. 12:26] But the things that you have sanctified and vowed to the Lord, you shall take up and bring to the place which the Lord will choose. 12:27] And you shall offer your oblations of flesh and of blood upon the altar of the Lord your God. You shall pour out the blood of your victims upon the altar. And you yourself shall eat the flesh. 12:28] Observe and heed all the things that I instruct to you, so that it may be well with you, and with your sons after you, continually, when you will do what is good and pleasing in the sight of the Lord your God.
When the Lord your God will have abolished before your face the nations, which you shall enter so as to possess them, and when you will possess them and live in their land, be careful that you do not imitate them, after they have been overturned at your arrival, and that you do not seek their ceremonies, saying: 'Just as these nations have worshipped their gods, so also will I worship.'  You shall not act in like manner toward the Lord your God. For they have done to their gods all the abominations that the Lord spurns, offering their sons and daughters, and burning them with fire. What I command to you, this only shall you do, for the Lord. You may neither add nor subtract anything.

[Deuteronomy 13]  “If there will have arisen in your midst a prophet, or someone who claims that he had seen a dream, and if he will have predicted sign and portent, and if what he has spoken happens, and he says to you, ‘Let us go and follow strange gods,’ which you have not known, and let us serve them,” you shall not listen to the words of that prophet or dreamer. For the Lord your God is testing you, so that it may become clear whether or not you love him with all your heart and with all your soul. Follow the Lord your God, and fear him, and keep his commandments, and listen to his voice. Him shall you serve, and to him shall you cling. But that prophet or forger of dreams shall be put to death. For he has spoken so as to turn you away from the Lord your God, who led you away from the land of Egypt, and who redeemed you from the house of servitude, so as to cause you to wander from the way that the Lord your God has entrusted to you. And so shall you remove the evil from your midst. If your brother, the son of your mother, or your own son or daughter, or your wife who is in your bosom, or your friend, whom you love like your own soul, were willing to persuade you secretly, saying: ‘Let us go, and serve foreign gods,’ which neither you nor your fathers have known, gods from any of the surrounding nations, whether these are near or far away, from the beginning even to the end of the earth, you should neither agree with him, nor listen to him. And your eye should not spare him so that you take pity on him and conceal him. Instead, you shall put him to death promptly. Let your hand be upon him first, and after that, let the hands of all the people be sent forth. He shall be killed by being overwhelmed with stones. For he was willing to draw you away from the Lord your God, who led you away from the land of Egypt, from the house of servitude. So may all of Israel, upon hearing this, be afraid, so that it may be an everlasting tomb. It shall no longer be built up. And there shall remain nothing of that anathema in your hand, so that the Lord may turn from the wrath of his fury, and may take pity on you, and may multiply you, just as he swore to your fathers, when you will heed the voice of the Lord your God, keeping all his precepts, which I am entrusting to you this day, so that you may do what is pleasing in the sight of the Lord your God.”

[Deuteronomy 14]  “Be sons of the Lord your God. You shall not cut yourselves, nor make yourselves bald, because of the dead. For you are a holy people, for the Lord your God. And he chose you, so that you may be a people particularly his, out of all the nations on earth. You shall not eat the things that are unclean. These are the animals which you ought to eat: the ox, and the sheep, and the goat, the stag and the roe deer, the gazelle, the wild goat, the addax, the antelope, the giraffe. Every beast which has a hoof divided into two parts and which also chews the cud, you shall eat. But those which chew over again, but do not have a divided hoof, you must not eat, such as the camel, the hare, and the byrrax. Since these chew the cud, but do not have a divided hoof, they shall be unclean to you. The pig also, since it has a divided hoof, but does not chew over again, shall be unclean. Their flesh shall not be eaten, and you shall not touch their carcasses. These you shall eat out of all that dwells in the waters: whatever has fins and scales, you shall eat. Whatever is without fins and scales, you shall not eat, for these are unclean. All the clean birds, you shall eat. You shall not eat those that are unclean: such as the eagle, and the griffin, and the ostrich, the crane, and the vulture, and the kite, according to their kind. And any kind of raven, the ostrich, and the owl, and the gull, and the hawk, according to their kind, the heron, and the swan, and the ibis, the sea bird, the marsh hen, and the night raven, the pelican and the plower, each in their kind, likewise the crested hoopoe and the bat. And anything which crawls and also has little wings shall be unclean, and shall not be eaten. All that is clean, you shall eat. But whatever has died of itself, you shall not eat from it. Give it to the sojourner, who is within your gates, so that he may eat, or sell it to him. For you are the holy people of the Lord your God. You shall not boil a young goat in the milk of his mother. Each year, you shall separate the tithes out of all your crops which spring forth from the earth. And you shall eat these in the sight of the Lord your God, in the place which he will choose, so that his name may be invoked there: the tenth part of your grain and wine and oil, and the firstborn from the herds and your sheep. And you shall learn to fear the Lord your God at all times. But when the way and the place which the Lord your God will have chosen is further away, and he will have blessed you, so that you are not able to carry all these things to it, you shall sell them all, so as to turn them into money, and you shall carry it in your hand, and you shall set out for the place which the Lord will choose. And you shall buy with the same money whatever pleases you, either from the herds or from the sheep, and also... wine and liquor, and all that your soul desires. And you shall eat in the sight of the Lord your God, and you shall feast: you and your household. {14:27} As for the Levite, who is within your gates, take care that you do not abandon him, for he has no other portion within your possession. {14:28} In the third year, you shall separate another tenth part of all the things which spring forth for you at that time, and you shall store it within your gates. {14:29} And the Levite, who has no other portion or possession with you, and the sojourner as well as the orphan and the widow who are within your gates, shall approach and eat and be satisfied, so that the Lord your God may bless you in all the works of your hands which you shall do.”

[Deuteronomy 15] {15:1} “In the seventh year, you shall perform a remission, {15:2} which shall be celebrated according to this order. Anyone to whom anything is owed, by his friend or neighbor or brother, will not be able to request its return, because it is the year of remission of the Lord. {15:3} From the sojourner and the new arrival, you may require its return. From your fellow countryman and neighbor, you will not have the power to request its return.
{15:4} And there shall not be anyone indigent or begging among you, so that the Lord your God may bless you in the land which he will deliver to you as a possession. {15:5} But only if you heed the voice of the Lord your God, and keep to all that he has ordered, that which I am entrusting to you this day, will he bless you, just as he has promised. {15:6} You shall lend money to many nations, and you yourselves shall borrow in return from no one. You shall rule over very many nations, and no one shall rule over you. {15:7} If one of your brothers, who dwells within the gates of your city, in the land which the Lord your God will give to you, falls into poverty, you shall not harden your heart, nor tighten your hand.
{15:8} Instead, you shall open your hand to the poor, and you shall lend to him whatever you perceive him to need.
{15:9} Take care, lest perhaps an impious thought might creep within you, and you might say in your heart: 'The seventh year of remission approaches.' And so you might turn your eyes away from your poor brother, unwilling to lend to him what he has asked. If so, then he may cry out against you to the Lord, and it will be a sin for you.
{15:10} Instead, you shall give to him. Neither shall you do anything craftily while assisting him in his needs, so that the Lord your God may bless you, at all times and in all things to which you will put your hand. {15:11} The poor will not be absent from the land of your habitation. For this reason, I instruct you to open your hand to your indigent and poor brother, who lives among you in the land. {15:12} When your brother, a Hebrew man or a Hebrew woman, has been sold to you, and has served you for six years, in the seventh year you shall set him free. {15:13} And when you grant his freedom, you shall by no means permit him to go away empty.
{15:14} Instead, you shall give to him, for his journey, from your flocks and threshing floor and winepress, with which the Lord your God has blessed you. {15:15} Remember that you yourself also served in the land of Egypt, and the Lord your God set you free. And therefore,
I now command this of you. {15:16} But if he will say, 'I am not willing to depart,' because he loves you and your household, and because he feels that it would be good for him to stay with you, {15:17} then you shall take an awl and pierce his ear, at the door of your house. And he shall serve you even forever. You shall also act similarly toward your woman servant. {15:18} You should not avert your eyes from them when you set them free, because he has served you for six years, in a manner deserving of the pay of a hired hand.
So may the Lord your God bless you in all the works that you do. {15:19} Of the firstborn, those born from your herds and sheep, you shall sanctify to the Lord your God whatever is of the male sex. You shall not put the firstborn of the oxen to work, nor shall you shear the firstborn of the sheep.
{15:20} In the sight of the Lord your God, you shall eat these, each year, in the place which the Lord will choose, you and your household. {15:21} But if it has a blemish, or is lame, or is blind, or if it is in any part deformed or debilitated, it shall not be immolated to the Lord your God. {15:22} Instead, you shall eat it within the gates of your city. The clean as well as the unclean alike shall feed on these, such as the roe deer and the stag. {15:23} This alone shall you observe: that you do not eat their blood, but pour it upon the ground like water.”

[Deuteronomy 16] {16:1} “Observe the month of new grain, at the beginning of springtime, so that you may accomplish the Passover to the Lord your God. For in this month, the Lord your God led you away from Egypt in the night.
{16:2} And you shall immolate the Passover to the Lord your God, from sheep and from oxen, in the place which the Lord your God will choose, so that his name may dwell there.
{16:3} You shall not eat it with leavened bread. For seven days you shall eat, without leaven, the bread of affliction. For you departed from Egypt in fear. So may you remember the day of your departure from Egypt, throughout all the days of your life. {16:4} No leaven shall be present in all your confines for seven days. And by morning, there shall not remain any of the flesh which was immolated on the first day in the evening. {16:5} You cannot immolate the Passover in any of your cities, which the Lord your God will give to you, that you wish, {16:6} but only in the place which the Lord your God will choose, so that his name may dwell there. You shall immolate the Passover in the evening, upon the setting of the sun, which is the time when you departed from Egypt.
{16:7} And you shall cook and eat it in the place which the Lord your God will choose, and, rising up in the morning, you shall go into your tent. {16:8} For six days, you shall eat unleavened bread. And on the seventh day, because it is the assembly of the Lord your God, you shall do no work.
{16:9} You shall number for yourself seven weeks from that day, the day on which you put the sickle to the grain field.
{16:10} And you shall celebrate the Feast of Weeks, to the Lord your God, with a voluntary oblation from your hand, which you shall offer according to the blessing of the Lord your God. {16:11} And you shall feast in the sight of the Lord your God: you, your son and your daughter, your man servant and your woman servant, and the Levite who is within your gates, and the new arrival as well as the orphan and the widow, who abide with you, in the place which the Lord your God will choose, so that his name may dwell there.
{16:12} And you shall recall that you were a servant in Egypt.
And you shall preserve and carry out the things that have been instructed. {16:13} Likewise, you shall celebrate the Feast of Tabernacles for seven days, when you will have gathered your fruits from the orchard and the winepress.
And you shall feast at the time of your festival: you, your son and daughter, your man servant and woman servant, likewise the Levite and the new arrival, the orphan and the widow, who are within your gates. For seven days you shall celebrate feasts to the Lord your God in the place which the Lord will choose. And the Lord your God will bless you in all your crops, and in every work of your hands. And you shall be joyful. Three times a year, all your males shall appear in the sight the Lord your God in the place which he will choose: at the Feast of Unleavened Bread, at the Feast of Weeks, and at the Feast of Tabernacles. No one shall appear before the Lord empty. But each one shall offer according to what he will have, according to the blessing of the Lord his God, which he will give to him. You shall appoint judges and magistrates at all your gates, which the Lord your God will give to you, throughout each of your tribes, so that they may judge the people with a just judgment, and not so as to show favoritism to either side. You shall not accept a person’s reputation, nor gifts. For gifts blind the eyes of the wise and alter the words of the just. You shall justly pursue what is just, so that you may live and possess the land, which the Lord your God will give to you. You shall not plant a sacred grove, nor shall you plant any tree near the altar of the Lord your God; you shall neither make nor set up for yourself a statue. These things the Lord your God hates.”

Deuteronomy 17

“You shall not immolate to the Lord your God a sheep or an ox, in which there is a blemish or any defect at all; for this is an abomination to the Lord your God. When there will have been found among you, within one of your gates which the Lord your God will give to you, a man or a woman who is doing evil in the sight of the Lord your God, and who is transgressing his covenant, so as to go and serve foreign gods and adore them, such as the sun and the moon, or any of the host of heaven, I have not instructed, and when this will have been reported to you, and, upon hearing it, if you have inquired diligently and have found it to be true, that the abomination is being done in Israel: you shall lead forward the man or the woman who has perpetrated this most wicked thing to the gates of your city, and they shall be stoned to death. By the mouth of two or three witnesses, he who is to be put to death shall perish. Let no one be killed with only one person speaking testimony against him. First, the hands of the witnesses shall be upon him who will be put to death, and lastly, the hands of the remainder of the people shall be sent forth. So may you take away the evil from your midst. If you have perceived that there is among you a difficult and doubtful matter of judgment, between blood and blood, cause and cause, leprosy and leprosy, and if you will have seen that the words of the judges within your gates vary: rise up and ascend to the place which the Lord your God will choose. And you shall approach the priests of the Levitical stock, and the judge, who shall be among them at that time, and you shall inquire of them, and they will reveal to you the truth of the judgment. And you shall accept whatever they will say, those who preside in the place which the Lord will choose, and whatever they will teach you, in accord with his law, and you shall follow their sentence. Neither shall you turn aside to the right or to the left.

Deuteronomy 18

“The priests and the Levites, and all who are from the same tribe, shall have no portion or inheritance with the rest of Israel. For they shall eat the sacrifices of the Lord and his oblations. And they shall receive nothing else from the possession of their brothers. For the Lord himself is their inheritance, just as he said to them. This shall be the recompense for the priests from the people, and from those who offer victims, whether they will immolate an ox or a sheep. They shall give to the priest the shoulder and the breast, the first-fruits of grain, wine, and oil, and a portion of the wool from the shearing of the sheep. For the Lord your God himself has chosen him out of all your tribes, so that he may stand and minister to the name of the Lord, him and his sons, forever. If a Levite departs from one of the cities, throughout all of Israel, in which he lives, and if he wills and desires to go to the place which the Lord will choose, he shall minister in the name of the Lord his God, as do all his brothers, the Levites, who will be standing at that time in the sight of the Lord. He shall receive the same portion of food as the rest also receive, besides that which is due to him in his own city, by succession from his fathers. When you will have entered into the land which the Lord your God will give to you, be careful that you are not willing to imitate the abominations of those nations. Do not let there be found among you one who would purify his son or daughter by leading them through fire, nor one who consults seers, nor one who observes dreams or omens. Do not let there be found among you one who practices the occult, nor one who uses spells, nor one who consults demonic spirits, nor a diviner, nor one who seeks the truth from the dead. For the Lord abominates all these things. And, because of these wicked ways, he will destroy them at your arrival. {18:13} You shall be perfect and without blemish with the Lord your God. {18:14} These nations, whose land you shall possess, they listen to soothsayers and diviners. But you have been otherwise instructed by the Lord your God. {18:15} The Lord your God will raise up for you a PROPHET from your nation and from your brothers, similar to me. You shall listen to him, {18:16} just as you petitioned of the Lord your God at Horeb, when the assembly was gathered together, and you said: ‘Let me no longer hear the voice of the Lord my God, and let me no longer see this very great fire, lest I die.’ {18:17} And the Lord said to me: ‘They have spoken all these things well. {18:18} I will raise up a prophet for them, from the midst of their brothers, similar to you. And I will place my words in his mouth, and he will speak to them all the things that I will instruct him. {18:19} But against anyone who is not willing to listen to his words, which he will speak in my name, I will stand forth as the avenger. {18:20} But if a prophet, having been corrupted by arrogance, chooses to speak, in my name, things which I did not instruct him to say, or to speak in the name of foreign gods, he shall be put to death. {18:21} But if, in silent thought, you respond: “How will I be able to recognize a word which the Lord has not spoken?” {18:22} you shall have this sign. If whatever that prophet predicts in the name of the Lord does not happen, then the Lord has not spoken it. Instead, the prophet has formed it through the swelling of his own mind. And for this reason, you shall not fear him.’

[Deuteronomy 19] {19:1} “When the Lord your God will have destroyed the nations, whose land he will deliver to you, and when you possess it and live in its cities and buildings, {19:2} you shall separate for yourselves three cities in the midst of the land, which the Lord will give to you as a possession, {19:3} paving the road carefully. And you shall divide the entire province of your land equally into three parts, so that he who is forced to flee because of manslaughter may have a place nearby to which he may be able to escape. {19:4} This shall be the law of the killer who flees, whose life is to be saved. Whoever strikes down his neighbor unwillingly, and who has been proven to have had no hatred against him yesterday and the day before, {19:5} such that he had gone with him into the forest simply to cut wood, and in cutting down the tree, the axe slipped from his hand, or the iron slipped from the handle, and it struck his friend and killed him: he shall flee to one of the cities stated above, and he shall live. {19:6} Otherwise, perhaps the near relative of him whose blood was shed, impelled by his grief, might pursue and apprehend him, unless the way is too long, and he might strike down the life of him who is not guilty unto death, since he had demonstrated that he had no prior hatred against him who was slain. {19:7} For this reason, I instruct you to separate three cities at equal distance from one another. {19:8} And when the Lord your God will have enlarged your borders, just as he swore to your fathers, and when he will have given to you all the land that he has promised to them, {19:9} (but this is only so if you will keep his commandments and do the things which I instruct to you this day, so that you love the Lord your God, and walk in his ways at all times) you shall add for yourselves three other cities, and so you shall double the number of the three cities stated above. {19:10} So may innocent blood not be shed in the midst of the land which the Lord your God will give you to possess, lest you be guilty of blood. {19:11} But if anyone, having hatred for his neighbor, will have lain in ambush for his life, and, rising up, will have struck him, and he will have died, and if he will have fled to one of the cities stated above, {19:12} the elders of his city shall send, and they shall take him from the place of refuge, and they shall deliver him into the hand of the relative of him whose blood was shed, and he shall die. {19:13} You shall not take pity on him, and so shall you take away the blood of the innocent from Israel, so that it may be well with you. {19:14} You shall not take up or move the landmark of your neighbor, which those before you have placed, in your possession that the Lord your God will give to you, in the land you will receive to possess. {19:15} One witness shall not stand against another, no matter what the sin or outrage may be. For every word shall stand by the mouth of two or three witnesses. {19:16} If a lying witness will have stood against a man, accusing him of a transgression, {19:17} both of those whose case it is shall stand before the Lord in the sight of the priests and the judges who shall be in those days. {19:18} And when, after a very diligent examination, they will have found that the false witness had told a lie against his brother, {19:19} they shall render to him just as he intended to do to his brother. And so shall you take away the evil from your midst. {19:20} Then the others, upon hearing this, will be afraid, and they will by no means dare to do such things. {19:21} You shall not take pity on him. Instead, you shall require a life for a life, an eye for an eye, a tooth for a tooth, a hand for a hand, a foot for a foot.”

[Deuteronomy 20] {20:1} “If you go out to battle against your enemies, and you see horsemen and chariots, and that the multitude of your adversary’s army is greater than your own, you shall not fear them. For the Lord your God, who led you away from the land of Egypt, is with you. {20:2} Then, as the battle now draws near, the priest shall stand before the front ranks, and he shall speak to the people in this manner: {20:3} ‘Listen, O Israel! Today you engage in a battle against your enemies. Do not let your heart be overwhelmed with fear. Do not be apprehensive. Do not yield. You should have no dread of them. {20:4} For the Lord your God is in your midst, and he will contend against your enemies on your behalf, so that he may rescue you from peril.’ {20:5} Likewise, the officers shall proclaim, throughout every company, in the hearing of the soldiers: ‘What man is there who has built a new house, and has not dedicated it? Let him go and return to his house, lest perhaps he may die in the battle, and another man may dedicate it. {20:6} What man is there who has planted a vineyard, and has not yet caused it to be common, so that all may eat from it? Let him go, and return to his house, lest perhaps he may die in the battle, and another man may carry out his office. {20:7} What man is there, who has betrothed a wife, and has not taken her? Let him go, and return to his house, lest perhaps he may die in the battle, and another man may marry her.’ {20:8} After these things have been declared, they shall add the remainder, and shall say to the people: ‘What man is there who is overwhelmed by fear and is fainthearted? Let him go, and return to his house, lest he cause the hearts of his brothers to fear, just as he himself has been thoroughly stricken with fear.’ {20:9} And when the officers of the army

[21:1] “When there will have been found in the land, which the Lord your God will give to you, the corpse of a man who has been killed, and it is not known who is guilty of the murder, [21:2] your judges and those greater by birth shall go out and measure, from the place of the corpse, the distance to each of the surrounding cities. [21:3] And in whichever one they perceive to be closer than the others, the elders shall take a calf from the herd, one which has not pulled with a yoke, nor tilled with a plow. [21:4] And they shall lead it into a rough and stony valley, one which has never been tilled or sown. And in that place, they shall cut the neck of the calf. [21:5] And the priests the sons of Levi shall approach, those whom the Lord your God has chosen to minister to him, and to bless in his name, and to decide every controversy by their word, and to judge which things are clean and which are unclean. [21:6] And those greater by birth of that city, nearest to the one who was slain, shall go and shall wash their hands over the calf that was killed in the valley. [21:7] And they shall say: ‘Our hands did not shed this blood, nor did our eyes see it. [21:8] Be merciful to your people Israel, whom you have redeemed, O Lord, and do not charge them with innocent blood in the midst of your people Israel.’ And so the guilt of the blood will be taken away from them. [21:9] Then you will be free from the blood that was shed against the innocent, when you will have done as the Lord has instructed you. [21:10] If you have gone out to fight against your enemies, and the Lord your God has delivered them into your hand, and if, as you are leading away the captives, [21:11] you see among the number of the captives a beautiful woman, and you love her, and you are willing to have her as a wife: [21:12] then you shall lead her into your house. And she shall shave off her hair, and cut her nails short, [21:13] and remove the garment in which she was captured. And she shall sit in your house and weep for her father and mother, for one month. And after that, you shall enter to her and sleep with her, and she shall be your wife. [21:14] But if afterwards she does not sit well in your mind, you shall set her free. You cannot sell her for money, nor can you oppress her by force. For you have humiliated her. [21:15] If a man has two wives, one beloved and the other hated, and they have produced children by him, and if the son of the hated wife is the firstborn, [21:16] and if he wishes to divide his substance among his sons: he cannot make the son of the beloved wife the firstborn, and so prefer him before the son of the hated wife. [21:17] Instead, he shall acknowledge the son of the hated wife as the firstborn, and he shall give to him a double portion of all that he has. For he is the first among his children, and the rights of the firstborn are owed to him. [21:18] If a man produces a disobedient and reckless son, who will not listen to the orders of his father or mother, and, having been corrected, shows contempt for obedience: [21:19] they shall take him and lead him to the elders of the city and to the gate of judgment. [21:20] And they shall say to them: ‘This our son is reckless and disobedient. He shows contempt when listening to our admonitions. He occupies himself with carousing, and self-indulgence, and feasting.’ [21:21] Then the people of the city shall stone him to death. And he shall die, so that you may take away the evil from your midst. And so may all of Israel, upon hearing it, be very afraid. [21:22] When a man will have sinned in a matter which is punished by death, and, having been judged unto death, he has been hanged on a gallows: [21:23] his corpse shall not remain on the tree. Instead, he shall be buried on the same day. For he who hangs from a tree has been cursed by God, and you shall not defile your land, which the Lord your God will give to you as a possession.”

Deuteronomy 22

[22:1] “If you see your brother’s ox or sheep wander astray, you shall not pass by. Instead, you shall lead them back to your brother. [22:2] But if your brother is not near, or you do not know him, you shall lead them to your house, and they shall be with you until your brother seeks them and receives them. [22:3] You shall act in a similar manner with his donkey, and his clothing, and all the belongings of your brother that have been lost. If you find it, you shall not neglect it, as if it belonged to a stranger. [22:4] If you see that your brother’s donkey or ox has fallen along the way, you shall not disregard it. Instead, you shall lift it up with him. [22:5] A woman shall not be clothed with manly apparel, nor shall a man make use of feminine apparel. For whoever does these things is abominable with God. [22:6] If, as you are walking along the way, you find a bird’s nest, in a tree or on the ground, and the mother is nurturing the young or the eggs, you shall not take her with her young. [22:7] Instead, you shall permit her to go, retaining the young that you have caught, so that it may be well with you, and you may live for a long time. {22:8} When you build a new house, you shall make a wall around the roof. Otherwise, someone may slip and fall down violently, and so blood
would be shed at your house, and you would be guilty. {22:9} You shall not sow your vineyard with another seed, lest both the seed that you have sown and what springs forth from the vineyard be sanctified together. {22:10} You shall not till with an ox and a donkey at the same time. {22:11} You shall not wear a vestment which has been woven from both wool and linen. {22:12} You shall make strings along the hem, at the four corners of your cloak, which covers you. {22:13} If a man takes a wife, and afterwards he has hatred for her, {22:14} and so he seeks opportunities to dismiss her, imputing a very wicked name to her by saying, 'I received this woman as a wife, and upon entering to her, I found her not to be a virgin,' {22:15} then her father and mother shall take her, and they shall bring with them the signs of her virginity, to the elders of the city who are at the gate. {22:16} And the father shall say: 'I gave my daughter to this man as a wife. And because he hates her, {22:17} he accuses her with a very wicked name, by saying:
"I did not find your daughter to be a virgin." But behold, these are the signs of my daughter's virginity.' And they shall spread the clothing before the elders of the city. {22:18} And the elders of that city shall apprehend that man and beat him.
{22:19} Moreover, they shall fine him one hundred shekels of silver, which he will give to the father of the girl, because he has committed slander, with a very wicked name, against a virgin of Israel. And he shall have her as a wife, and he cannot dismiss her throughout all the days of his life. {22:20} But if what he has claimed is true and virginity is not found in the girl, {22:21} then they shall throw her down, outside the doors of her father's house, and the men of that city shall stone her to death, and she shall die. For she has acted wickedly in Israel, in that she fornicated in her father's house. And so shall you take away the evil from your midst.
{22:22} If a man sleeps with the wife of another, then they shall both die, that is, the adulterer and the adulteress. And so shall you take away the evil from Israel. {22:23} If a man has betrothed a girl who is a virgin, and if someone finds her in the city and he lies with her, {22:24} then you shall lead them both out to the gate of that city, and they shall be stoned to death: the girl, because she did not cry out though she was in the city; the man, because he has humiliated the wife of his neighbor. And so shall you take away the evil from your midst.
{22:25} But if a man discovers, in the countryside, a girl who has been betrothed, and, apprehending her, he lies with her, then he alone shall die. {22:26} The girl shall suffer nothing, nor is she guilty unto death. For just as a robber rises up against his brother and slays his life, so also did the girl suffer greatly. {22:27} She was alone in the field. She cried out, and there was no one nearby, who might deliver her.
{22:28} If a man find a girl who is a virgin, who does not have a betrothal, and, taking her, he lies with her, and the matter is brought to judgment, {22:29} then he who slept with her shall give to the father of the girl fifty shekels of silver, and he shall have her as a wife, because he has humiliated her. He cannot dismiss her, throughout all the days of his life. {22:30} No man shall take his father's wife, or remove her covering.”

[Deuteronomy 23] {23:1} “A eunuch, one whose testicles have been debilitated or cut off, or whose penis has been cut off, shall not enter into the church of the Lord. {23:2} The offspring of a harlot, that is, one born of a prostitute, shall not enter into the church of the Lord, until the tenth generation.
{23:3} The Ammonite and the Moabite, even after the tenth generation, shall not enter into the church of the Lord forever, {23:4} because they were not willing to meet you with bread and water along the way, when you had departed from Egypt, and because they hired against you Balaam, the son of Beor, from Mesopotamia in Syria, in order to curse you. {23:5} But the Lord your God was not willing to listen to Balaam, and he turned his cursing into your blessing, because he loves you.
{23:6} You shall not make peace with them, nor shall you seek their prosperity, throughout all the days of your life forever. {23:7} You shall not abhor anyone from Idumea, for he is your brother, nor the Egyptian, for you were a new arrival in his land. {23:8} Those who have been born of them, in the third generation, shall enter into the church of the Lord.
{23:9} When you have gone out to war against your enemies, you shall keep yourself from everything that is evil. {23:10} If there is a man among you who has been defiled by a dream in the night, he shall depart from the camp. {23:11} And he shall not return before the evening, after he has washed with water, and then, after the sun sets, he shall return to the camp.
{23:12} You shall have a place beyond the camp to which you may go for the necessities of nature, {23:13} carrying a small shovel at your belt. And when you would sit down, you shall dig around, and then, with the soil that was dug up, you shall cover {23:14} that from which you were relieved. For the Lord your God walks in the midst of your camp, in order to rescue you, and to deliver your enemies to you. And so, let your camp be holy, and let nothing filthy appear within it, lest he abandon you. {23:15} You shall not deliver a servant who has fled to you to his master. {23:16} He shall live with you in a place that pleases him, and he shall rest in one of your cities. You shall not grieve him. {23:17} There shall be no prostitutes among the daughters of Israel, nor anyone among the sons of Israel who visits a prostitute. {23:18} You shall not offer money from a prostitute, nor the price of a dog, in the house of the Lord your God, no matter what you may have vowed. For both of these are an abomination with the Lord your God. {23:19} You shall not lend money, or grain, or anything else at all, to your brother at interest, {23:20} but only to a foreigner. For you shall lend to your brother whatever he needs without interest, so that the Lord your God may bless you in all your works in the land, which you shall enter so as to possess it. {23:21} When you have made a vow to the Lord your God, you shall not be late in paying it.
For the Lord your God demands it. And if you delay, it shall be imputed to you as a sin. {23:22} If you are not willing to make a promise, then it shall be without sin. {23:23} But as soon as it has departed from your lips, you shall observe and do just as you have promised to the Lord your God and just as you have spoken by your own free will and with your own mouth. {23:24} Upon entering your neighbor's vineyard, you may eat as many grapes as you please. But you may not carry any out with you. {23:25} If you enter into your friend's grain field, you may break off the ears, and rub them in your hand, but you may not reap them with a sickle.”

[Deuteronomy 23]
If a man takes a wife, and he has her, and she does not find favor before his eyes because of some vileness, then he shall write a bill of divorce, and he shall give it to her hand, and he shall dismiss her from his house. And when, having departed, she has married another, and if he likewise hates her, and has given her a bill of divorce, and has dismissed her from his house, or if indeed he has died, then the former husband cannot take her back as a wife. For she has been polluted and has become abominable in the sight of the Lord. Otherwise, you may cause your land, which the Lord your God will deliver to you as a possession, to sin. When a man has recently taken a wife, he shall not go out to war, nor shall any public officer be enjoined upon him. Instead, he shall be free at home without guilt, so that for one year he may rejoice with his wife. You shall not accept an upper or lower millstone as collateral. For then he will have placed his life with you. If a man has been caught soliciting his brother among the sons of Israel, and selling him in order to receive a price, then he shall be put to death. And so shall you take away the evil from your midst. Observe diligently, lest you incur the wound of leprosy. But you shall do whatever the priests of the Levitical stock shall teach you to do, according to what I have instructed them. And you shall fulfill it carefully. Remember what the Lord your God did to Miriam, along the way, as you were departing from Egypt. When you require from your neighbor anything that he owes to you, you shall not enter into his house in order to take away the collateral. Instead, you shall stand outside, and he will carry out to you what he has. But if he is poor, then the collateral shall not remain with you through the night. Instead, you shall return it to him promptly, before the setting of the sun, so that, sleeping in his own garment, he may bless you, and you may have justice in the presence of the Lord your God. You shall not refuse the pay of the indigent and the poor, whether he is your brother, or he is a new arrival who dwells with you in the land and is within your gates. Instead, you shall pay him the price of his labor on the same day, before the setting of the sun. For he is poor, and with it he sustains his life. Otherwise, he may cry out against you to the Lord, and it would be charged to you as a sin. The fathers shall not be put to death on behalf of the sons, nor the sons on behalf of the fathers, but each one shall die for his own sin. You shall not pervert the judgment of the new arrival or the orphan, nor shall you take away the widow’s garment as collateral. Remember that you served in Egypt, and that the Lord your God rescued you from there. Therefore, I am instructing you to act in this way. When you have reaped the grain in your field, and, having forgotten, you leave behind a sheaf, you shall not return to take it away. Instead, you shall permit the new arrival, and the orphan, and the widow to take it away, so that the Lord your God may bless you in all the works of your hands. If you have gathered the fruit of your olive trees, you shall not return in order to gather whatever may remain on the trees. Instead, you shall leave it behind for the new arrival, the orphan, and the widow. If you harvest the vintage of your vineyard, you shall not gather the remaining clusters. Instead, they shall fall to the use of the stranger, the orphan, and the widow. Remember that you also served in Egypt, and so, for this reason, I am instructing you to act in this way.

If there is a case between persons, and they apply to the judges, they shall give the palm of justice to the one whom they perceive to be just, and they shall condemn of impiety the one who is impious. But if they see that the one who has sinned is worthy of stripes, they shall prostrate him and cause him to be beaten before them. According to the measure of the sin, so shall the measure of the stripes be. Even so, these shall not exceed the number of forty. Otherwise, your brother may depart, having been wounded shamefully before your eyes. You shall not muzzle an ox as it is treading out your crops in the field. When brothers are living together, and one of them dies without children, the wife of the deceased shall not marry another. Instead, his brother shall take her, and he shall raise up offspring for his brother. And the first son from her, he shall call by his brother’s name, so that his name will not be abolished from Israel. But if he is not willing to take his brother’s wife, who by law must go to him, the woman shall go to the gate of the city, and she shall call upon those greater by birth, and she shall say: ‘The brother of my husband is not willing to raise up his brother’s name in Israel; nor will he join with me.’ And immediately, they shall summon him to be sent, and they shall question him. If he responds, ‘I am not willing to accept her as a wife,’ then the woman shall approach him in the sight of the elders, and she shall remove his shoe from his foot, and she shall spit in his face, and she shall say: ‘So shall it be done to the man who was not willing to build up his brother’s house.’ And his name shall be called in Israel: The House of the Unshod. If two men have a conflict between themselves, and one begins to do violence to the other, and if the other’s wife, wanting to rescue her husband from the hand of the stronger one, extends her hand and grasps him by his private parts, then you shall cut off her hand. Neither shall you weep over her with any mercy. You shall not have differing weights, greater and lesser, in your bag. Neither shall there be in your house a greater and a lesser measure. You shall have a just and a true weight, and your measure shall be equal and true, so that you may live for a long time upon the land, which the Lord your God will give to you. For the Lord your God abominates him who does these things, and he loathes all injustice. Remember what Amalek did to you, along the way, when you were departing from Egypt: how he was sitting down, exhausted, when you were consumed by hunger and hardship, and how he did not fear God. Therefore, when the Lord your God will give you rest, and you will have subdued all the surrounding nations, in the land which he has promised to you, you shall delete his name from under heaven. Take care not to forget this.

And when you will have entered into the land which the Lord your God will give to you to possess, and when you will have obtained it and are living within it, you shall take the first of all your crops, and place them in a basket, and you shall travel to the place which the Lord your God will choose, so that his name may be invoked there.  {26:3} And you shall approach the priest who will be in those days, and you shall say to him: ‘I profess this day, before the Lord your God, that I have entered into the land about which he swore to our fathers that he would give it to us.’  {26:4} And the priest, taking up the basket from your hand, shall place it before the altar of the Lord your God.  {26:5} And you shall say, in the sight of the Lord your God: ‘The Syrian pursued my father, who descended into Egypt, and he sojourned there in a very small number, and he increased into a great and strong nation and into an innumerable multitude.  {26:6} And the Egyptians afflicted us, and they persecuted us, imposing upon us the most grievous burdens.  {26:7} And we cried out to the Lord, the God of our fathers. He heard us, and he looked with favor upon our humiliation, and hardship, and distress.  {26:8} And he led us away from Egypt, with a strong hand and an outstretched arm, with a mighty terror, with signs and wonders.  {26:9} And he led us into this place, and he delivered to us the land flowing with milk and honey.  {26:10} And because of this, I now offer the first fruits of the land which the Lord has given to me.’ And you shall leave them in the sight of the Lord your God, and you shall adore the Lord your God.  {26:11} And you shall feast on all the good things which the Lord your God will give to you and to your house: you, and the Levite, and the new arrival who is with you.  {26:12} When you will have completed the tithing of all your crops, in the third year of tithes, you shall give it to the Levite, and to the new arrival, and to the widow, so that they may eat within your gates and be satisfied.  {26:13} And you shall say, in the sight of the Lord your God: ‘I have taken what was sanctified from my house, and I have given it to the Levite, and to the new arrival, and to the orphan and the widow, just as you have commanded me. I have not transgressed your commandments, nor have I forgotten your precepts.’  {26:14} I have not eaten from these things in my grief, nor have I separated them due to any kind of uncleanness, nor have I expended any of these things in funerals. I have obeyed the voice of the Lord my God, and I have done all things just as you have instructed me.  {26:15} Look with favor from your sanctuary and from your lofty habitation amid the heavens, and bless your people Israel and the land which you have given to us, just as you swore to our fathers, a land flowing with milk and honey.’  {26:16} Today the Lord your God has instructed you to carry out these commandments and judgments, and to keep and fulfill them, with all your heart and with all your soul.  {26:17} Today, you have chosen the Lord to be your God, so that you may walk in his ways, and keep his ceremonies and commandments and judgments, and obey his command.  {26:18} Today, the Lord has chosen you, so that you may be his particular people, just as he has spoken to you, and so that you may keep all his precepts, and so that he may cause you to be more exalted than all the nations which he has created, for the sake of his own praise and name and glory, in order that you may be a holy people for the Lord your God, just as he has spoken.”

[Deuteronomy 27]  {27:1} Then Moses and the elders of Israel instructed the people, saying: “Keep each commandment that I instruct to you this day.  {27:2} And when you have crossed over the Jordan, into the land which the Lord your God will give to you, you shall erect immense stones, and you shall coat them with plaster,  {27:3} so that you may be able to write upon them all the words of this law, when you have crossed the Jordan so as to enter into the land which the Lord your God will give to you, a land flowing with milk and honey, just as he swore to your fathers.  {27:4} Therefore, when you have crossed over the Jordan, erect the stones, just as I instruct you to do this day, on Mount Ebal. And you shall coat them with plaster,  {27:5} and you shall build, in that place, an altar to the Lord your God out of stones which have not been touched by iron,  {27:6} out of stones which have not been hewn or polished. And you shall offer holocausts on it to the Lord your God.  {27:7} And you shall immolate peace victims. And you shall eat and feast in that place, in the sight of the Lord your God.  {27:8} And you shall write upon the stones all the words of this law, plainly and clearly.”  {27:9} And Moses and the priests of Levitical stock said to all of Israel: “Attend and listen, O Israel! Today you have become the people of the Lord your God.  {27:10} You shall listen to his voice, and you shall do the commandments and justices, which I am entrusting to you.”  {27:11} And Moses instructed the people in that day, saying:  {27:12} “These shall stand upon Mount Gerizim, as a blessing to the people, when you will have crossed the Jordan: Simeon, Levi, Judah, Issachar, Joseph, and Benjamin.  {27:13} And in the opposite region, there shall stand upon Mount Ebal, as a curse: Reuben, Gad, and Asher, and Zebulun, Dan, and Naphtali.  {27:14} And the Levites shall pronounce and declare to all the men of Israel, ‘I have taken what was sanctified from my house, and I have given it to the Levite, and to the new arrival, and to the orphan, and the widow, and to the fatherless, and to the stranger, and to the sojourner, and to the father’s wife, and so exposes the covering of his bed. And all the people shall say: Amen.  {27:16} Cursed be he who does not honor his father and mother. And all the people shall say: Amen.  {27:17} Cursed be he who removes his neighbor’s landmarks. And all the people shall say: Amen.  {27:18} Cursed be he who causes the blind to go astray on a journey. And all the people shall say: Amen.  {27:19} Cursed be he who subverts the judgment of the new arrival, the orphan, or the widow. And all the people shall say: Amen.  {27:20} Cursed be he who lies with his father’s wife, and so exposes the covering of his bed. And all the people shall say: Amen.  {27:21} Cursed be he who lies with any beast. And all the people shall say: Amen.  {27:22} Cursed be he who lies with his sister, the daughter of his father, or of his mother. And all the people shall say: Amen.  {27:23} Cursed be he who lies with his mother-in-law. And all the people shall say: Amen.  {27:24} Cursed be he who secretly strikes down his neighbor. And all the people shall say: Amen.  {27:25} Cursed be he who accepts gifts in order to strike down the life of innocent blood. And all the people shall say: Amen.  {27:26} Cursed be he who does not remain in the words of this law, and does not carry them out in deed. And all the people shall say: Amen.”

[Deuteronomy 28]  {28:1} “So then, if you will listen to the voice of the Lord your God, so as to keep and do all of his commandments, which I instruct to you this day, the Lord your God will cause you to be more exalted than all the nations which exist upon the earth.  {28:2} And all these blessings shall come to you and take hold of you, but only if you listen to his precepts.  {28:3} Blessed shall you be in the city, and blessed in the field.  {28:4} Blessed shall be the fruit of your loins, and the fruit of your land, and the fruit of your cattle, the droves of your herds, and the folds of your sheep. {28:5} Blessed shall be your barns, and blessed your storehouses. {28:6} Blessed shall you be entering and departing. {28:7} The Lord will grant that your enemies, who rise up against you, will fall down in your sight. They will come against you by one way, and they will flee from your face by seven ways. {28:8} The Lord will send forth a blessing upon your cellars, and upon all the works of your hands. And he will bless you in the land that you shall receive. {28:9} The Lord will raise you up as a holy people for himself, just as he swore to you, if you will keep the commandments of the Lord your God, and walk in his ways. {28:10} And all the peoples of the earth shall see that the name of the Lord has been invoked over you, and they shall fear you. {28:11} The Lord will cause you be abundant in every good thing: in the fruit of your womb, and in the fruit of your cattle, and in the fruit of your land, which the Lord swore to your fathers that he would give to you. {28:12} The Lord will open his excellent treasury, the heavens, so that it may distribute rain in due time. And he will bless all the works of your hands. And you shall lend to many nations, but you yourself will borrow nothing from anyone. {28:13} And the Lord will appoint you as the head, and not as the tail. And you shall be always above, and not beneath. But only if you will listen to the commandments of the Lord your God, which I entrust to you this day, and will keep and do them, {28:14} and will not turn aside from them, neither to the right, nor to the left, nor follow strange gods, nor worship them. {28:15} But if you are not willing to listen to the voice of the Lord your God, so as to keep and do all his commandments and ceremonies, which I instruct to you this day, all these curses shall come to you, and take hold of you. {28:16} Cursed shall you be in the city, cursed in the field. {28:17} Cursed shall be your barn, and cursed your storehouses. {28:18} Cursed shall be the fruit of your loins, and the fruit of your land, the herds of your oxen, and the flocks of your sheep. {28:19} Cursed shall you be entering, and cursed departing. {28:20} The Lord will send famine and hunger upon you, and a rebuke upon all the works that you do, until he quickly crushes and perishes you, because of your very wicked innovations, by which you have forsaken me. {28:21} May the Lord join a pestilence to you, until he consumes you from the land, which you shall enter so as to possess. {28:22} May the Lord strike you with destitution, with fever and cold, with burning and heat, and with polluted air and rot, and may he pursue you until you perish. {28:23} May the heavens which are above you be of brass, and may the ground upon which you tread be of iron. {28:24} May the Lord give you dust instead of rain upon your land, and may ashes descend from heaven over you, until you have been wiped away. {28:25} May the Lord hand you over to fall before your enemies. May you go forth against them by one way, and flee by seven ways, and may you be scattered across all the kingdoms of the earth. {28:26} And may your carcass be food for all the flying things of the air and the wild beasts of the land, and may there be no one to drive them away. {28:27} May the Lord strike you with the ulcer of Egypt, and may he strike the part of your body, through which the dung goes out, with disease as well as itch, so much so that you are unable to be cured. {28:28} May the Lord strike you with frenzy and blindness and a madness of the mind. {28:29} And may you grope at midday, just as a blind man is accustomed to grope in darkness, and may your paths not be straight. And at all times may you suffer slander and be oppressed with violence, and may you have no one who may free you. {28:30} May you take a wife, though another sleeps with her. May you build a house, but not live within it. May you plant a vineyard, and not gather its vintage. {28:31} May your ox be imolated before you, though you do not eat from it. May your donkey be seized in your sight, and not restored to you. May your sheep be given to your enemies, and may there be no one who may help you. {28:32} May your sons and your daughters be handed over to another people, as your eyes watch and languish at the sight of them throughout the day, and may there be no strength in your hand. {28:33} May a people you do not know eat the fruits of your land and of all your labors. And may you continually suffer from slander and oppression every day. {28:34} And may you be stupefied at the terror of the things your eyes will see. {28:35} May the Lord strike you with a very grievous ulcer in the knees and in the legs, and may you be unable to attain health, from the sole of the foot to the top of the head. {28:36} May the Lord lead you and your king, whom you will have appointed over yourself, into a nation which you and your fathers have not known. And there you will serve foreign gods, of wood and of stone. {28:37} And you will become nothing but a proverb and a fable to all the peoples to whom the Lord will lead you. {28:38} You will sow much seed upon the ground, but you will harvest little. For the locusts will devour everything. {28:39} You will dig and plant a vineyard, but you will not drink the wine, nor gather anything at all from it. For it will be devastated by worms. {28:40} You will have olive trees in all your borders, but you will not be anointed with the oil. For the olives will fall off and perish. {28:41} You will conceive sons and daughters, and you will not enjoy them. For they will be led into captivity. {28:42} Rot will consume all the trees, as well as the fruits of your land. {28:43} The new arrival who lives with you in the land will ascend over you, and be higher. But you will descend, and be lower. {28:44} He will lend to you, and you will not lend to him. He will be as the head, and you will be as the tail. {28:45} And all these curses shall come to you, and shall pursue you, and shall take hold of you, until you pass away, because you would not listen to the voice of the Lord your God, and you would not serve his commandments and ceremonies, which he has instructed to you. {28:46} And there will be the signs and portents with you, and with your offspring, forever. {28:47} Because you did not serve the Lord your God, with gladness and a joyful heart, over the abundance of all things. {28:48} You will serve your enemy, whom the Lord will send to you, in hunger and thirst and nakedness, and in destitution of all things. And he will place an iron yoke upon your neck, until he has crushed you. {28:49} The Lord will lead over you a nation from far away, even from the furthest parts of the earth, like an eagle flying with great force, whose language you are not able to understand: {28:50} a very insolent nation, which will show no deference to elders, nor take pity on little ones. {28:51} And he will devour the fruit of your cattle, and the fruits of your land, until you have passed away, without leaving behind you wheat, or wine, or oil, or herds of oxen, or flocks of sheep: until he utterly destroys you. {28:52} And he will crush you in all your cities.
And your strong and lofty walls, in which you trusted, will be destroyed throughout all your land. You will be besieged within your gates throughout all your land, which the Lord your God will give to you. (28:53) And you will eat the fruit of your womb, and the flesh of your sons and of your daughters, which the Lord your God will give to you, due to the anguish and devastation with which your enemy will oppress you. (28:54) The man who is pampered and very self-indulgent among you will vie with his own brother, and with the wife who lies at his bosom, (28:55) lest he give to them from the flesh of his sons, which he will eat. For he has nothing else due to the siege and the destitution, with which your enemies will devastate you within all your gates. (28:56) The tender and pampered woman, who would not walk upon the soil, nor step firmly with her foot due to her very great softness and tenderness, will vie with her husband, who lies at her bosom, over the flesh of son and of daughter, (28:57) and over the filth of the afterbirth, which goes forth from between her thighs, and over the children who are born in the same hour. For they will eat them secretly, due to the scarcity of all things during the siege and the devastation, with which your enemy will oppress you within your gates. (28:58) If you will not keep and do all the words of this law, which have been written in this volume, and fear his glorious and terrible name, that is, the Lord your God, (28:59) then the Lord will increase your plagues, and the plagues of your offspring, plagues great and long-lasting, infirmities very grievous and continuous. (28:60) And he will turn back upon you all the afflictions of Egypt, which you fear, and these will cling to you. (28:61) In addition, the Lord will lead over you all the diseases and plagues that are not written in the volume of this law, until he crushes you. (28:62) And you will remain few in number, though you were before like the stars of heaven in multitude, because you would not listen to the voice of the Lord your God. (28:63) And just as before, when the Lord rejoiced over you, doing good for you and multiplied you, so shall he rejoice, scattering and overturning you, so as to take you away from the land, which you shall enter in order to possess. (28:64) The Lord will disperse you among all the peoples, from the heights of the earth to its furthest limits. And there you will serve foreign gods of wood and of stone, which you and your fathers did not know. (28:65) Similarly, you will not have tranquility, even within those nations, nor will there be any rest for the steps of your feet. For the Lord will give to you in that place a fearful heart, and failing eyes, and a life consumed with griefing. (28:66) And your life will be as if it were hanging before you. You will be afraid night and day, and you will not have confidence in your own life. (28:67) In the morning you will say, ‘Who will grant evening to me?’ and at evening, ‘Who will grant morning to me?’ because of the dread of your heart, with which you will be terrified, and because of those things that you will see with your eyes. (28:68) The Lord will lead you back into Egypt with a fleet of ships, along the way, about which he said to you that you would not see it again. In that place, you will be put up for sale as men and women servants to your enemies, but there will be no one willing to buy you.”

[Deuteronomy 29] (29:1) These are the words of the covenant which the Lord instructed Moses to form with the sons of Israel in the land of Moab, beside that covenant which he struck with them at Horeb. (29:2) And Moses called all of Israel, and he said to them: “You have seen all the things that the Lord has done in your sight in the land of Egypt to Pharaoh, and to all his servants, and to his entire land: (29:3) the great trials, which your eyes have seen, those immense signs and wonders. (29:4) But the Lord has not given you an understanding heart, and seeing eyes, and ears that are able to hear, even to this present day. (29:5) He led you for forty years through the desert. Your garments have not been worn out, nor have the shoes on your feet been consumed by age. (29:6) You did not eat bread, nor did you drink wine or liquor, so that you would know that I am the Lord your God. (29:7) And you arrived at this place. And Sihon, the king of Heshbon, and Og, the king of Bashan, went out to meet us in battle. And we struck them down. (29:8) And we took their land and delivered it as a possession to Ruben and to Gad, and to half of the tribe of Manasses. (29:9) Therefore, keep the words of this covenant, and fulfill them, so that you may understand all that you are doing. (29:10) Today, you all stand in the sight of the Lord your God: your leaders, and tribes, and those greater by birth, and teachers, all the people of Israel, (29:11) your children and wives, and the new arrival who dwells with you in the camp, aside from those who cut wood, and those who bring water, (29:12) so that you may cross into the covenant of the Lord your God, and into the oath which the Lord your God strikes with you today. (29:13) So shall he raise you up as a people to himself, and so shall he be your God, just as he has spoken to you, and just as he swore to your fathers: Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob. (29:14) And I am not forming this covenant and confirm these oaths with you alone, (29:15) but with all those who are present as well as those who are absent. (29:16) For you know how we lived in the land of Egypt, and how we passed through the midst of nations. And when passing through them, (29:17) you saw their abominations and filth, that is, their idols of wood and of stone, of silver and of gold, which they worshipped, (29:18) so that there would not be among you man or woman, family or tribe, whose heart has been turned away this day from the Lord our God, so as to go and serve the gods of those nations. For then there would be among you a root springing forth gall and bitterness. (29:19) And if he were to hear the words of this oath, he would bless himself in his own heart saying: ‘There will be peace for me, and I will walk in the depravity of my heart.’ And so, the one who is inebriated would consume the one who is thirsty. (29:20) But the Lord would not ignore him. Instead, at that time, his fury and zealousness would be very greatly enflamed against that man, and all the curses which have been written in this volume would settle upon him. And the Lord would abolish his name from under heaven, (29:21) and consume him unto perdition out of all the tribes of Israel, according to the curses which are contained in the book of this law and in the covenant. (29:22) And the subsequent generation would speak out, along with the sons who will be born afterward. And the sojourners, who will arrive from far away, will see the plagues of that land and the infirmities with which the Lord will have afflicted it, (29:23) having burned it with sulphur and molten salt, so that it can no longer be sown. And certainly no greenery would spring up, as in the example of the destruction of Sodom and Gomorrah, Admah and Zeboiim, which the Lord overturned with his wrath and fury.
And so, all the nations would say: ‘Why has the Lord acted this way toward this land? What is this immense wrath of his fury?’ (29:25) And they will respond: ‘Because they abandoned the covenant of the Lord, which he formed with their fathers, when he led them away from the land of Egypt. (29:26) And they have served foreign gods, and adored them, though they did not know them, and though they had not been allotted to them. (29:27) For this reason, the fury of the Lord was enraged against this land, so as to lead over it all the curses which have been written in this volume. (29:28) And he has cast them out of their own land, with anger and fury, and with a very great indignation, and he has thrown them into a strange land, just as has been proven this day.’ (29:29) These hidden things of the Lord our God have been revealed to us and to our sons in perpetuity, so that we may accomplish all the words of this law.

[Deuteronomy 30] (30:1) “Now when all these things will have fallen over you, the blessing or the curse that I have set forth in your sight, and you will have been led to repentance in your heart among all the nations to which the Lord your God will have dispersed you, (30:2) and when you will have returned to him, so as to obey his commandments, just as I have instructed you this day, with your sons, with your whole heart and with your whole soul, (30:3) then the Lord your God will lead you away from your captivity, and he will take pity on you, and he will gather you again from all the nations to which he had dispersed you before. (30:4) Even if you will have been scattered as far as the poles of the heavens, the Lord your God will retrieve you from there. (30:5) And he will take you up and lead you into the land which your fathers had possessed, and you shall obtain it. And in blessing you, he will make you greater in number than your fathers ever were. (30:6) The Lord your God will circumcise your heart, and the heart of your offspring, so that you may love the Lord your God with your entire heart and with your entire soul, so that you may be able to live. (30:7) And he will turn all these curses upon your enemies, and upon those who hate and persecute you. (30:8) But you shall return, and you shall listen to the voice of the Lord your God. And you shall carry out all the commandments which I am entrusting to you this day. (30:9) And the Lord your God will cause you to abound in all the works of your hands, in the progeny of your womb, and in the fruit of your cattle, in the fertility of your land, and with an abundance of all things. For the Lord will return, so that he may rejoice over you in all good things, just as he rejoiced in your fathers: (30:10) but only if you will listen to the voice of the Lord your God, and keep his precepts and ceremonies, which have been written in this law, and only if you return to the Lord your God with all your heart and with all your soul. (30:11) This commandment, which I entrust to you today, is not high above you, nor has it been placed far away. (30:12) Nor is it in heaven, so that you would be able to say, ‘Which of us can ascend to heaven, so as to carry it back to us, and so that we may hear it and fulfill it in deed?’ (30:13) Nor is it beyond the sea, so that you would excuse yourself by saying, ‘Which of us is able to cross the sea, and to carry it back to us, so that we may be able to hear and to do what has been instructed?’ (30:14) Instead, the word is near to you, in your mouth and in your heart, so that you may do it. (30:15) Consider what I have set forth in your sight this day, life and good, or, on the opposite side, death and evil, (30:16) so that you may love the Lord your God, and walk in his ways, and keep his commandments and ceremonies and judgments, and so that you may live, and he may multiply you and bless you in the land, which you shall enter in order to possess. (30:17) But if your heart will have been turned aside, so that you are not willing to listen, and, having been deceived by error, you adore strange gods and serve them, (30:18) then I predict to you this day that you will perish, and you will remain for only a short time in the land, for which you shall cross the Jordan, and which you shall enter in order to possess. (30:19) I call heaven and earth as witnesses this day, that I have set before you life and death, blessing and curse. Therefore, choose life, so that both you and your offspring may live, (30:20) and so that you may love the Lord your God, and obey his voice, and cling to him, (for he is your life and the length of your days) and so that you may live in the land, about which the Lord swore to your fathers, Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob, that he would give it to them.”

[Deuteronomy 31] (31:1) And so, Moses went out, and he spoke all these words to all of Israel. (31:2) And he said to them: “Today, I am one hundred and twenty years old. I am no longer able to go out and return, especially since the Lord has also said to me, ‘You shall not cross this Jordan.’ (31:3) Therefore, the Lord your God will go across before you. He himself will abolish all these nations in your sight, and you shall possess them. And this man Joshua shall go across before you, just as the Lord has spoken. (31:4) And the Lord will do to them just as he did to Sihon and Og, the kings of the Amorites, and to their land, and he will wipe them away. (31:5) Therefore, when the Lord will have delivered these to you also, you shall act similarly toward them, just as I have instructed you. (31:6) Act manfully and be strengthened. Do not be afraid, and do not dread at the sight of them. For the Lord your God himself is your commander, and he will neither dismiss nor abandon you.” (31:7) And Moses called Joshua, and, before all of Israel, he said to him: ‘Be strong and valiant. For you shall lead this people into the land which the Lord swore that he would give to their fathers, and you shall divide it by lot. (31:8) And the Lord, who is your commander, will himself be with you. He will neither renounce nor abandon you. Do not be afraid, and do not dread.” (31:9) And so, Moses wrote this law, and he handed it to the priests, the sons of Levi, who carried the ark of the covenant of the Lord, and to all the elders of Israel. (31:10) And he instructed them, saying: “After seven years, in the year of remission, at the solemnity of the Feast of Tabernacles, (31:11) when all of Israel has convened in order to appear in the sight of the Lord your God, in the place which the Lord will choose, you shall read the words of this law before all of Israel, in their hearing. (31:12) And when the people have gathered together, men as well as women and little children, and the new arrivals who are within your gates, they shall listen so that they may learn, and may fear the Lord your God, and may keep and fulfill all the words of this law, (31:13) and also so that their sons, who are now ignorant, may be able to listen, and may fear the Lord their God all the days that they live in the land to which you will travel, crossing the Jordan in order to obtain it.” (31:14) And the Lord said to Moses: “Behold, the days of your death draw near. Call Joshua, and stand in the tabernacle of the testimony, so that I may instruct him." Therefore, Moses and Joshua went and stood in the tabernacle of the testimony. {31:15} And the Lord appeared there, in a pillar of cloud, which stood at the entrance of the tabernacle. {31:16} And the Lord said to Moses: "Behold, you shall sleep with your fathers, and this people will rise up and will fornicate after foreign gods, in the land which they will enter so that they may live in it. In that place, they will forsake me, and they will make void the covenant that I have formed with them. {31:17} And my fury will be enragèd against them in that day. And I will abandon them, and I will hide my face from them, and they shall be devoured. Every evil and affliction will find them, so much so that they will say in that day: 'Truly, it is because God is not with me that these evils have found me.' {31:18} But I will hide myself, and I will conceal my face in that day, because of all the evils that they have done, because they have followed strange gods. {31:19} And so, write this canticle now, and teach it to the sons of Israel, so that they may retain it in memory, and may chant it by mouth, and so that this verse may be a testimony to me among the sons of Israel. {31:20} For I will lead them into the land, about which I swore to their fathers, a land flowing with milk and honey. And when they have eaten, and have been satiated and fattened, they will turn aside to foreign gods, and they will serve them. And they will disparage me, and they will nullify my covenant. {31:21} And after many evils and afflictions have overwhelmed them, this canticle will answer them as a testimony; it shall never pass into oblivion, away from the mouths of their offspring. For I know their thoughts and what they are about to do today, even before I lead them into the land which I have promised to them."

{31:22} Therefore, Moses wrote the canticle, and he taught it to the sons of Israel. {31:23} And the Lord instructed Joshua, the son of Nun, and he said: "Be strong and valiant. For you shall lead the sons of Israel into the land which I have promised to them." {31:24} Therefore, after Moses had written the words of this law in a volume, and had finished it, {31:25} he instructed the Levites, who carried the ark of the covenant of the Lord, saying: {31:26} "Take this book, and place it inside the ark of the covenant of the Lord your God, so that it may be there as a testimony against you. {31:27} For I know your contentiousness and your very stiff neck. Even while I am still living and entering with you, you have always acted with contention against the Lord. How much more so when I will be dead? {31:28} Gather to me all those greater by birth throughout your tribes, as well as your teachers, and I will speak these words in their hearing, and I will call heaven and earth as witnesses against them. {31:29} For I know that, after my death, you will act with iniquity, and you will quickly depart from the way that I have instructed you. And so, evils will meet you in the end time, when you will have done evil in the sight of the Lord so as to provoke him through the works of your hands."

{31:30} Thus did Moses speak, in the hearing of the entire assembly of Israel, the words of this canticle, and he completed it to its very end.

[Deuteronomy 32] {32:1} "Listen, O heavens, to what I am saying. Let the earth hear the words of my mouth. {32:2} Let my doctrine accumulate like the rain. Let my eloquence form like the dew, like a mist upon the plants, and like water droplets upon the grass. {32:3} For I will invoke the name of the Lord. Acknowledge the magnificence of our God! {32:4} The works of God are perfect, and all his ways are judgments. God is faithful and without any iniquity. He is just and upright. {32:5} They have sinned against him, and in their filth they are not his sons. They are a depraved and perverse generation. {32:6} How can this be the return you would offer to the Lord, O foolish and senseless people? Is he himself not your Father, who has possessed you, and made you, and created you? {32:7} Remember the days of antiquity. Consider each generation. Question your father, and he will declare it to you. Question your elders, and they will tell it to you. {32:8} When the Most High divided the nations, when he separated the sons of Adam, he appointed the limits of the peoples according to the number of the sons of Israel. {32:9} But the Lord's portion is his people: Jacob, the lot of his inheritance. {32:10} He discovered him in a desert land, in a place of horror and a vast wilderness. He led him around and taught him, and he guarded him like the pupil of his eye, {32:11} just as an eagle encourages its young to fly, and, flying above them, stretches out its wings, and takes them up, and carries them on its shoulders. {32:12} The Lord alone was his leader, and there was no strange god with him. {32:13} He stood him upon an exalted land, so that he might eat the fruits of the fields, so that he might eat honey from the rock, and oil from the hardest stone, {32:14} butter from the herd, and milk from the sheep, with fat from the lambs, and with rams and goats from the sons of Bashan, with the kernel of the wheat, and so that he might drink the undiluted blood of the grape. {32:15} The beloved grew fat, and he kicked. Having grown fat and thick and wide, he abandoned God, his Maker, and he withdrew from God, his Savior. {32:16} They provoked him with strange gods, and they stirred him to anger by their abominations. {32:17} They immolated to demons and not to God, to gods whom they knew not, who were new and recent arrivals, whom their fathers did not worship. {32:18} You have forsaken the God who conceived you, and you have forgotten the Lord who created you. {32:19} The Lord saw, and he was stirred to anger. For his own sons and daughters provoked him. {32:20} And he said: 'I will hide my face from them, and I will consider their very end. For this is a perverse generation, and they are unfaithful sons. {32:21} They have provoked me with that which was not God, and they have angered me with their emptiness. And so, I will provoke them with that which is not a people, and I will anger them with a foolish nation. {32:22} A fire has been kindled in my fury, and it will burn even to the deepest Hell, and it will devour the earth with its produce, and it will burn the foundations of the mountains. {32:23} I will heap evils upon them, and I will expend my arrows among them. {32:24} They will be consumed by famine, and birds with a very bitter bite will devour them. I will send forth the teeth of wild beasts among them, along with the fury of creatures that scurry across the ground, and of serpents. {32:25} Outside, the sword will devastate them; and inside, there will be dread, as much for the young man as for the maiden, and as much for the newborn as for the old man. {32:26} I said: Where are they? I will cause their memory to cease from among men. {32:27} But because of the wrath of the enemies, I have delayed it. Otherwise, perhaps their enemies would be arrogant and would say: "Our exalted hand, and not the Lord, has done all these things." {32:28} They are a nation without counsel and without prudence. {32:29} I wish that they would be wise and understanding, and would provide for the very end. {32:30} How is it that one pursues a thousand, and two chases ten thousand? Is it not because their God has sold them, and because the Lord has enclosed them? {32:31} For our God is not like their gods. And our enemies are judges. {32:32} Their vines are of the vines of Sodom, but from the suburbs of Comorrah. Their grapes are the grapes of gall, and their grape clusters are most bitter. {32:33} Their wine is the gall of snakes, and it is the incurable venom of asp. {32:34} ‘Have not these things been stored up with me, and sealed up amid my treasures? {32:35} Vengeance is mine, and I will repay them in due time, so that their foot may slip and fall. The day of perdition is near, and the time rushes to appear.’ {32:36} The Lord will judge his people, and he will take pity on his servants. He will see that their hand has been weakened, and that those who have been enclosed have likewise failed, and that those who have been left behind have been consumed. {32:37} And he shall say: ‘Where are their gods, in whom they had confidence? {32:38} They ate the fat of their victims, and they drank the wine of their libations. So let these rise up, and bring relief to you, and protect you in your distress. {32:39} See that I am alone, and there is no other god beside me. I will kill, and I will cause to live. I will strike, and I will heal. And there is no one who is able to rescue from my hand. {32:40} I will lift up my hand to heaven, and I will say: I live in eternity. {32:41} When I sharpen my sword like lightning, and my hand takes hold of judgment, then I will render vengeance to my enemies, and I will repay those who hate me. {32:42} I will inebrate my arrows with blood, and my sword will devour flesh: from the blood of the slain and from the captive, from the exposed head of the enemies.’ {32:43} You nations, praise his people! For he will avenge the blood of his servants. And he will distribute vengeance to their enemies. And he will be merciful to the land of his people.” {32:44} Therefore, Moses went and spoke all the words of this canticle to the ears of the people, both he and Joshua, the son of Nun. {32:45} And he completed all these words, speaking to all of Israel. {32:46} And he said to them: “Set your hearts upon all the words which I am testifying to you this day. So shall you command your sons, to keep, and to do, and to fulfill all the things that have been written in this law. {32:47} For these things have not been entrusted to you to no purpose, but so that each one would live by them, and so that, in doing these, you may continue for a long time in the land, which you will enter upon crossing the Jordan in order to possess it.” {32:48} And the Lord spoke to Moses on the same day, saying: {32:49} “Ascend this mountain, Abarim, (that is, of crossings) onto Mount Nebo, which is in the land of Moab, opposite Jericho, and look upon the land of Canaan, which I will deliver to the sons of Israel to obtain it. And you shall die upon the mountain. {32:50} After climbing it, you will be joined to your people, just as your brother Aaron died on Mount Hor, and was placed with his people. {32:51} For you trespassed against me in the midst of the sons of Israel, at the Waters of Contradiction, in Kadesh, in the desert of Sin. And you did not sanctify me among the sons of Israel. {32:52} You shall see the land opposite you, which I will give to the sons of Israel, but you shall not enter into it.”
so also shall be your old age. {33:26} There is no other god like the God of the most righteous one. He who rides upon the heavens is your helper. His magnificence scatters the clouds. {33:27} His habitation is above, and the everlasting arms are below. He shall cast out the enemy before your face, and he shall say: 'Be utterly broken!' {33:28} Israel shall live in confidence alone, as the eye of Jacob in a land of grain and of wine; and the heavens shall be misty with dew. {33:29} Blessed are you, O Israel. Who is like you, the people who are saved by the Lord? He is the shield of your assistance and the sword of your glory. Your enemies will refuse to acknowledge you, and so you shall tread upon their necks.'

[Deuteronomy 34] {34:1} Therefore, Moses ascended from the plains of Moab onto Mount Nebo, to the top of Pisgah, opposite Jericho. And the Lord revealed to him the entire land of Gilead, as far as Dan, {34:2} and all of Naphtali, and the land of Ephraim and Manasseh, and the entire land of Judah, even to the furthest sea, {34:3} and the southern region, and the breadth of the plain of Jericho, the city of palms, as far as Zoar. {34:4} And the Lord said to him: "This is the land, about which I swore to Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob, saying: I will give it to your offspring. You have seen it with your eyes, but you shall not cross over to it."
 {34:5} And Moses, the servant of the Lord, died in that place, in the land of Moab, by order of the Lord. {34:6} And he buried him in the valley of the land of Moab, opposite Peor. And no man knows where his sepulcher is, even to the present day. {34:7} Moses was one hundred and twenty years old when he died. His eye was not dimmed, nor were his teeth displaced. {34:8} And the sons of Israel wept for him in the plains of Moab for thirty days. And then the days of their wailing, during which they mourned Moses, were completed. {34:9} Truly, Joshua, the son of Nun, was filled with the spirit of wisdom, for Moses had laid his hands upon him. And the sons of Israel were obedient to him, and they did as the Lord instructed Moses. {34:10} And no other prophet rose up in Israel like Moses, one whom the Lord knew face to face, {34:11} one with all the signs and wonders, which he sent through him, to perform in the land of Egypt, against Pharaoh, and all his servants, and his entire land, {34:12} nor one with such a powerful hand and such great miracles as Moses did in the sight of all Israel.

The Book of Joshua

[Joshua 1] {1:1} And after the death of Moses, the servant of the Lord, it happened that the Lord spoke to Joshua, the son of Nun, the minister of Moses, and he said to him: {1:2} "Moses, my servant, has died. Rise up, and cross this Jordan, you and all the people with you, into the land which I will give to the sons of Israel. {1:3} I will deliver to you every place that the step of your foot will tread upon, just as I said to Moses. {1:4} From the desert and from Lebanon, even to the great river Euphrates, all the land of the Hittites, as far as the great sea opposite the setting of the sun, shall be your border. {1:5} No one will be able to resist you during all the days of your life. Just as I was with Moses, so will I be with you. I will not leave you, nor will I forsake you. {1:6} Be strengthened and be steadfast. For you shall divide by lot, to this people, the land about which I swore to their fathers that I would deliver it to them. {1:7} Therefore, be strengthened and be very steadfast, so that you may observe and accomplish the entire law, which Moses, my servant, instructed to you. You may not turn aside from it to the right, nor to the left. So may you understand all that you should do. {1:8} The book of this law shall not depart from your mouth. Instead, you shall meditate upon it, day and night, so that you may observe and do all the things that are written in it. Then you shall direct your way and understand it. {1:9} Behold, I am instructing you. Be strengthened, and be steadfast. Do not dread, and do not fear. For the Lord your God is with you in all things, wherever you may go."
 {1:10} And Joshua instructed the leaders of the people, saying: "Cross through the midst of the camp, and command the people, and say: {1:11} 'Prepare your food supplies. For after the third day, you shall cross the Jordan, and you shall enter so as to possess the land, which the Lord your God will give to you.' " {1:12} Likewise, he said to the Reubenites and to the Gadites, and to the one half tribe of Manasseh: {1:13} "Remember the words, which Moses, the servant of the Lord, instructed to you, saying: 'The Lord your God has given you rest, and has given you all the land.' " {1:14} Your wives and sons, as well as the cattle, shall remain in the land which Moses delivered to you beyond the Jordan. But as for you, pass over with weapons, before your brothers, all you who are strong of hand, and fight on their behalf, {1:15} until the Lord gives rest to your brothers, just as he has given to you, and until they also possess the land, which the Lord your God will give to them. And so shall you be returned to the land of your possession. And you shall live in the land, which Moses, the servant of the Lord, gave to you beyond the Jordan, opposite the rising of the sun." {1:16} And they responded to Joshua, and they said: "All that you have instructed to us, we shall do. And wherever you will send us, we shall go. {1:17} Just as we obeyed Moses in all things, so shall we obey you also. But may the Lord your God be with you just as he was with Moses. {1:18} Whoever will contradict your mouth, and whoever will not obey all of your words, which you will instruct to him, let him die. But may you be strengthened, and may you act manfully."

[Joshua 2] {2:1} And so Joshua, the son of Nun, sent two men from Shittim to explore in secret. And he said to them, "Go and consider the land and the city of Jericho." And while traveling, they entered into the house of a harlot woman named Rahab, and they rested with her. {2:2} And it was reported to the king of Jericho, and it was said: "Behold, men have entered to this place in the night, from the sons of Israel, so that they might explore the land." {2:3} And the king of Jericho sent to Rahab, saying: "Bring out the men who came to you, and who entered into your house. For certainly they are spies, and they have arrived to consider the entire land." {2:4} And the woman, taking the men, hid them. And she said: "I admit that they came to me, but I did not know where they were from. {2:5} And when the gate was closed, they went out together in the darkness. I do not know where they have gone. Pursue them quickly, and you will overtake them." {2:6} But she caused the men to ascend to the roof of her house, and she covered them with the stalks of flax that were there. {2:7} But those who had been sent pursued after them along the way that leads to the ford of the
{3:1} And so, Joshua arose in the night, and he moved the camp. And they departed from Shittim, and they went to the Jordan: he, and all the sons of Israel, and they remained there for three days. {3:2} After these things unfolded, announcers passed through the midst of the camp, {3:3} and they began to proclaim: “When you will see the ark of the covenant of the Lord your God, and the priests of the stock of Levi carrying it, you also shall rise up and follow those who are going before you. {3:4} And let there be, between you and the ark, the space of two thousand cubits, so that you may be able to see it from far away, and to know along which way you should advance. For you have not walked this way before. And be careful that you do not approach the ark.” {3:5} And Joshua said to the people: “Be sanctified. For tomorrow the Lord will accomplish miracles among you.” {3:6} And he said to the priests: “Take up the ark of the covenant, and go before the people.” And they fulfilled the orders, and they took it and walked before them. {3:7} And the Lord said to Joshua: “Today I will begin to exalt you in the sight of all Israel, so that they may know that, just as I was with Moses, so also am I with you. {3:8} Now instruct the priests, who are carrying the ark of the covenant, and say to them, ‘When you will have entered into a part of the water of the Jordan, stand still in it.’ ” {3:9} And Joshua said to the sons of Israel, “Approach to here, and listen to the word of the Lord your God.” {3:10} And again, he said: “By this shall you know that the Lord, the living God, is in your midst, and that he shall scatter in your sight, the Canaanite and the Hittite, the Hivite and the Perizzite, likewise the Girgasite, and the Jebusite, and the Amorite. {3:11} Behold, the ark of the covenant of the Lord of all the earth shall go before you through the Jordan. {3:12} Prepare twelve men from the tribes of Israel, one from each tribe. {3:13} And when the priests who are carrying the ark of the Lord, the God of the entire earth, will have placed the steps of their feet in the waters of the Jordan, the waters that are lower will run down and pass away, and those that are approaching above will stand together in a mass.” {3:14} And the people departed from their tents, so that they might cross the Jordan. And the priests who were carrying the ark of the covenant were advancing before them. {3:15} And as soon as they entered into the Jordan, and their feet were dipped in a portion of the water, (now the Jordan, since it was the time of the harvest, had filled the banks of its channel,) {3:16} the descending waters stood still in one place, and, swelling up like a mountain, they were seen from far away, from the city that is called Adam, even as far as the place of Zarethan. But those that were lower ran down into the Sea of the Wilderness, (which is now called the Dead Sea,) until they entirely passed away. {3:17} Then the people advanced opposite Jericho. And the priests who were carrying the ark of the covenant of the Lord were standing, fully-dressed, upon dry soil in the midst of the Jordan, and all the people passed over, through the channel that was dried up.

{4:1} And when they had crossed over, the Lord said to Joshua: {4:2} “Choose twelve men, one from each tribe, {4:3} and instruct them so that they may take from the midst of the channel of the Jordan, the waters that the feet of the priests stood still, twelve very hard stones, which you shall station in the place of the camp, where you will pitch your tents this night.” {4:4} And Joshua called twelve men, whom he had chosen from the sons of Israel, one from each tribe, {4:5} and he said to them: “Go before the ark of the Lord your God into the middle of the Jordan, and let each one carry from there one stone on your shoulders, according to the number of the sons of Israel, {4:6} so that it may be a sign among you. And when your sons will ask you, tomorrow, saying, ‘What do these stones mean to you?’ {4:7} you shall respond to them: ‘The waters of the Jordan failed before the ark of the covenant of the Lord, when the ark crossed over it.
For this reason, these stones were placed as a monument for the sons of Israel, even forever.” [4:8] Therefore, the sons of Israel did as Joshua instructed them, carrying twelve stones from the midst of the channel of the Jordan, just as the Lord had ordered him, according to the number of the sons of Israel, as far as the place where they made camp, and there they stationed them. [4:9] Similarly, Joshua positioned another twelve stones in the middle of the channel of the Jordan, where the priests stood who were carrying the ark of the covenant; and they are there, even to the present day. [4:10] Now the priests who were carrying the ark stood in the midst of the Jordan, until everything was accomplished which the Lord had instructed Joshua to speak to the people and which Moses had said to him. And the people hurried, and they passed over. [4:11] And when they had all crossed, the ark of the Lord also crossed, and the priests advanced before the people. [4:12] Likewise, the sons of Reuben, and of Gad, and of the one half tribe of Manasseh advanced with weapons before the sons of Israel, just as Moses had instructed them. [4:13] And forty thousand fighters, by companies and divisions, advanced through the plains and fields of the city of Jericho. [4:14] In that day, the Lord magnified Joshua in the sight of all Israel, so that they would fear him, just as they had feared Moses while he lived. [4:15] And he said to him, [4:16] “Command the priests who are carrying the ark of the covenant to ascend from the Jordan.” [4:17] And he commanded them, saying, “Ascend from the Jordan.” [4:18] And when those who were carrying the ark of the covenant of the Lord had ascended, and they began to step on dry soil, the waters returned to their channel, and they flowed as they usually did before. [4:19] Now the people ascended from the Jordan on the tenth day of the first month, and they encamped at Gilgal, opposite the eastern portion of the city of Jericho. [4:20] Likewise, the twelve stones that they had taken up from the channel of the Jordan, Joshua stationed at Gilgal. [4:21] And he said to the sons of Israel: “When your sons will question their fathers, tomorrow, and they will say to them, ‘What do these stones mean to you?’ [4:22] you shall teach them, and you shall say: ‘Israel passed over this Jordan, through the dry channel.’” [4:23] For the Lord your God dried up its waters in your sight, until you crossed over, [4:24] just as he had done before, at the Red Sea, which he dried up until we crossed over. [4:25] So may all the peoples of the earth learn of the very powerful hand of the Lord. So may you also fear the Lord your God for all time.”

[Joshua 6] [6:1] Now Jericho was closed as well as fortified, out of fear of the sons of Israel, and no one dared to depart or to enter. [6:2] And the Lord said to Joshua: “Behold, I have given Jericho into your hand, with its king and all the strong men. [6:3] Have all the warriors circle the city once each day; you shall do so for six days. [6:4] Then, on the seventh day, the priests shall take the seven trumpets, which are used on the jubilee, and they shall precede the ark of the covenant. And you shall circle the city seven times, and the priests shall sound the trumpets. [6:5] And when the voice of the trumpet sounds longer and with interruptions, and it increases in your ears, then all the people shall cry out together with a very great shout, and the walls of the city shall fall to the foundation, and they shall enter it, each from a place opposite where they are standing.” [6:6] Then Joshua, the son of Nun, called the priests, and he said to them, “Take the ark of the covenant, and let seven other priests take the seven trumpets of the jubilee, and advance before the ark of the Lord.” [6:7] He also said to the people, “Go, and circle the city, armed, preceding the ark of the Lord.” [6:8] And when Joshua had finished his words, and the seven priests sounded the seven trumpets before the ark of the covenant of the Lord, [6:9] and all the armed soldiers went ahead, the remainder of the common people followed the ark, and the sound of the trumpets grew louder everywhere. [6:10] But Joshua had instructed the people, saying, “You shall not cry out, nor shall your voice be heard, and no word at all shall proceed from your mouth, until the day arrives on which I will say to circumcised. But the people who were born in the desert, throughout the forty years of the journey in the very broad wilderness, were uncircumcised, until the ones who had not listened to the voice of the Lord were consumed. For he had sworn to them before, that he would not reveal to them the land flowing with milk and honey. [5:7] The sons of these ones succeeded to the place of their fathers, and they were circumcised by Joshua. For they were uncircumcised, just as they had been born, and no one had circumcised them along the way. [5:8] Then, after they were all circumcised, they remained in the same place of the camp until they were healed. [5:9] And the Lord said to Joshua, “Today I have taken away from you the disgrace of Egypt.” And the name of that place was called Gilgal, even to the present day. [5:10] And the sons of Israel stayed at Gilgal, and they kept the Passover, on the fourteenth day of the month at evening, in the plains of Jericho. [5:11] And on the following day, they ate unleavened bread from the grain of the land, and cooked grain, of the same year. [5:12] And the manna ceased after they ate from the grain of the land. And the sons of Israel no longer made use of that food. Instead, they ate from the grain of the present year, from the land of Canaan. [5:13] And when Joshua was in the field of the city of Jericho, he lifted up his eyes, and he saw a man standing opposite him, holding a drawn sword. And he went to him and said, “Are you one of ours, or one of our adversaries?” [5:14] And he responded: “Not at all. Instead, I am a prince of the host of the Lord, and now I have arrived.” [5:15] Joshua fell prone on the ground. And reverencing, he said, “What does my lord say to his servant?” [5:16] He said: “Remove your shoes from your feet. For the place on which you stand is holy.” And Joshua did just as he had been commanded.
Thus, the ark of the Lord circled the city once each day, and returning to the camp, it remained there. And so, with Joshua, arising in the night, the priests took the ark of the Lord, and seven of them took the seven trumpets, which are used in the jubilee, and they preceded the ark of the Lord, walking and sounding the trumpets. And the armed men went before them, and the remainder of the common people followed the ark, and they were blaring the trumpets. And they circled the city on the second day, once, and they returned to the camp. They did so for six days. Then, on the seventh day, rising at first light, they circled the city, just as had been ordered, seven times. And at the seventh circling, when the priests sounded the trumpets, Joshua said to all of Israel: "Shout! For the Lord has delivered the city to you.

And let this city be anathema, with all the things that are within it, before the Lord. May only Rahab the harlot live, with all who are with her in the house. For she hid the messengers whom we sent. But you must be careful that you do not touch any of those things, as you have been instructed, for then you would be guilty of transgression, and all the camp of Israel would be under sin and would be troubled. But whatever gold and silver there will be, and vessels of brass or of iron, let these be consecrated to the Lord and be stored in his treasuries.” Therefore, with all the people shouting, and the trumpets blaring, after the voice and the sound increased in the ears of the multitude, the walls promptly fell to ruin. And each one climbed up at the place which was opposite where he was. And they seized the city. And they put to death all who were in it, from man even to woman, from infant even to elder. Likewise, the oxen and sheep and donkeys, they struck down with the edge of the sword. But Joshua said to the two men who had been sent to explore, “Enter the house of the harlot woman, and bring her out, and all the things that are hers, just as you assured her by oath.” And the youths entered, and they led out Rahab, and her parents, also her brothers, and all her goods and kindred, and they caused them to dwell outside the camp. Then they set fire to the city and all the things that were within it, except the gold and silver, and the vessels of brass or of iron, which they consecrated into the treasury of the Lord. Yet truly, Joshua caused Rahab the harlot, and her father’s household, and all she had to survive. And they lived in the midst of Israel, even to the present day. For she hid the messengers, whom he had sent to explore Jericho. At that time, Joshua made an invocation, saying: "Cursed be the man who will raise up and rebuild the city of Jericho! With his firstborn, may he lay its foundation, and with the last of his children, may he set up its gates.” And so the Lord was with Joshua, and his name was made known throughout all the land.

[Joshua 7] But the sons of Israel transgressed the commandment, and they usurped what was anathema. For Achan, the son of Carmi, the son of Zabdi, the son of Zerah, from the tribe of Judah, took something from what was anathema. And the Lord became angry against the sons of Israel. And when Joshua sent men from Jericho against Ai, which is beside Bethaven, toward the eastern region of the town of Bethel, he said to them, “Go up and explore the land.” And they fulfilled his instruction, and they explored Ai. And they fulfilled his instruction, and they explored Ai.
{7:23} And taking these from the tent, they brought them to Joshua, and to all the sons of Israel, and they cast them down before the Lord. {7:24} And so Joshua took Achan, the son of Zerah, and the silver, and the cloak, and the gold bar, also his sons and daughters, the oxen and donkeys and sheep, and even the tent and all his goods, (and all of Israel went with him,) and he brought these to the valley of Achor. {7:25} There, Joshua said: “Because you have troubled us, the Lord troubles you, on this day.” And all of Israel stoned him. And all the things that were his were consumed by fire. {7:26} And they gathered upon him a great pile of stones, which remains even to the present day. And the fury of the Lord was averted from them. And the name of that place was called the Valley of Achor, even to this day.

[Joshua 8] {8:1} Then the Lord said to Joshua: “You should not fear, and you should not dread. Take with you the entire multitude of fighters, and rising up, ascend to the town of Ai. Behold, I have delivered into your hand its king and people, and the city and the land. {8:2} And you shall do to the city of Ai, and to its king, just as you did to Jericho, and to its king. Yet truly, the spoils, and all the living things, you shall plunder for yourselves. Set an ambush against the city behind it.” {8:3} And Joshua rose up, and the entire army of warriors with him, so that they might ascend against Ai. And he sent thirty thousand elect strong men in the night. {8:4} And he instructed them, saying: “Set an ambush behind the city. You shall withdraw not far away, and let everyone be prepared. {8:5} But I and the remainder of the multitude that is with me will approach from the opposite side of the city. And when they come out against us, we will flee and turn our backs, just as we did before, {8:6} until, pursuing us, they are drawn away from the city. For they will think that we are fleeing as before. {8:7} Then, while we are fleeing and they are pursuing you, you shall rise up from the ambush, and you shall lay waste to the city. And the Lord your God will deliver it into your hands. {8:8} And when you have seized it, set it on fire. And you shall do all that I have ordered.” {8:9} And he sent them away, and they traveled to the place of the ambush, and they settled between Bethel and Ai, toward the western region of the city of Ai. But Joshua remained for that night in the midst of the people. {8:10} And rising at first light, he reviewed his troops, and he went up, with the elders at the front of the army, surrounded by an auxiliary of fighters. {8:11} And when they had arrived, and had ascended from the opposite side of the city, they stood toward the northern region of the city. And there was a valley in the middle, between them and the city. {8:12} Now he had chosen five thousand men, and he had positioned them in ambush between Bethel and Ai, at the western part of the same city. {8:13} Yet truly, all the remainder of the army was arranged in a line to the north, so that the very end of that multitude reached to the western region of the city. Then Joshua went out that night, and he stood in the middle of the valley. {8:14} And when the king of Ai had seen this, he hurried in the morning, and he went out with the entire army of the city. And he arranged them in a line opposite the desert, not knowing that an ambush lay hidden behind his back. {8:15} Yet truly, Joshua, and all of Israel, withdrew from the place, pretending to be afraid, and fleeing along the way of the wilderness. {8:16} And they pursued them, shouting together and encouraging one another. And when they had withdrawn from the city, {8:17} and indeed not one remained in the city of Ai and of Bethel who did not pursue after Israel, (leaving the towns open after they had rushed out,) {8:18} the Lord said to Joshua: “Lift up the shield that is in your hand, toward the city of Ai. For I will deliver it to you.” {8:19} And when he had lifted up the shield toward the city, the ambush, which lay hidden, rose up quickly. And advancing to the city, they seized it, and set it on fire. {8:20} Now the men of the city who were pursuing Joshua, looking back and seeing the smoke of the city rising up even to heaven, were no longer able to flee in one direction or another, especially since those who had pretended to flee, and who were heading toward the wilderness, had turned back very strongly against those who were pursuing them. {8:21} And Joshua, and all of Israel, seeing that the city had been captured, and that the smoke of the city was ascending, returned and struck down the men of Ai. {8:22} Then too, those who had seized and set the city on fire, departing from the city toward their own men, began to strike the enemies in the middle. Therefore, since the adversaries were cut off from both sides, none of so great a multitude was saved. {8:23} Also, they apprehended the king of the city of Ai, alive, and they brought him before Joshua. {8:24} And so, after all were slain who had pursued Israel fleeing toward the wilderness, and after they fell by the sword in the same place, the sons of Israel returned and struck the city. {8:25} Now there were twelve thousand persons who had fallen on the same day, from man even to woman, the entire city of Ai. {8:26} Truly Joshua did not draw back his hand, which he had stretched out on high, keeping hold of the shield until all the inhabitants of Ai were put to death. {8:27} Then the sons of Israel divided among themselves the cattle and the plunder of the city, just as the Lord had instructed Joshua. {8:28} And he set fire to the city, and he caused it to be a perpetual tomb. {8:29} Also, he suspended the king on a gallows, until evening and the setting of the sun. And Joshua instructed, and they took down his dead body from the hanging tree. And they cast it at the very entrance of the city, gathering a great pile of stones upon it, which remains even to the present day. {8:30} Then Joshua built an altar to the Lord, the God of Israel, on Mount Ebal, {8:31} just as Moses, the servant of the Lord, had instructed to the sons of Israel, and this was written in the book of the law of Moses: truly, an altar of uncut stones, which iron has not touched. And he offered holocausts upon it to the Lord, and he immolated victims as peace-offerings. {8:32} And he wrote on the stones, the Deuteronomy of the law of Moses, which he had set in order before the sons of Israel. {8:33} Then all the people, and those greater by birth, and the commanders and judges were standing on both sides of the ark, in the sight of the priests who were carrying the ark of the covenant of the Lord, with both the new arrival and the native born, one half part of them beside Mount Gerizim, and one half beside Mount Ebal, just as Moses, the servant of the Lord, had instructed. And first, certainly, he blessed the people of Israel. {8:34} After this, he read all the words of the blessing and the cursing, and all the things that were written in the book of the law. {8:35} He left nothing untouched out of those things that Moses had ordered, and he repeated everything before the entire multitude of Israel, with the women and the little ones, and the new arrivals who were staying among them.
Joshua 9:1 And when these things were heard, all the kings across the Jordan, who lived among the mountains and plains, along the coastline and shores of the great sea, also those who were living near Lebanon, the Hittite, and the Amorite, the Canaanite, the Perizzite, and the Hivite, and the Jebusite, gathered themselves together, so that they might fight against Joshua and Israel, with one mind and with the same resolve. 9:2 But those who were living in Gibeon, hearing all that Joshua had done to Jericho and Ai, planning cleverly, took for themselves provisions, placing old sacks upon their donkeys, and wineskins that had torn and been sewn up, and having very old shoes, which had been sewn with patches indicating their age, and being clothed in old garments, having also loaves, which they carried as food for the journey, which were hard and broken into pieces. 9:3 And they traveled to Joshua, who at that time was staying in the camp at Gilgal. And they said to him, and to all of Israel with him, “We have come from a far away land, desiring to make peace with you.” And the sons of Israel responded to them, and said, 9:7 “Perhaps instead, you live in the land which ought to be ours by lot, and we would be unable to form a pact with you.” 9:8 But they said to Joshua, “We are your servants.” And Joshua said to them: “But who are you? And where are you from?” 9:9 They responded: “Your servants have arrived, from a very far away land, in the name of the Lord, your God. For we have heard about the fame of his power, all the things that he has done in Egypt, and to the two kings of the Amorites, who were beyond the Jordan: Sihon, the king of Heshbon, and Og, the king of Bashan, who was at Ashtaroth. 9:11 And our elders, and all the inhabitants of our land, have said to us: ‘Take in hand provisions for the very long journey, and meet with them, and say: We are your servants; form a pact with us.’” 9:12 Lo, the loaves were taken up warm when we departed from our houses, so that we might come to you. Now they have become dry and broken, due to age. 9:13 These wineskins were new when we filled them, now they are torn and broken. The garments we are wearing, and the shoes we have on our feet, due to the great length of the distance, have become worn and are nearly consumed.” 9:14 And so they accepted this, because of their provisions, and they did not consult the mouth of the Lord. 9:15 And Joshua made peace with them, and entering into a pact, he promised that they would not be put to death. The leaders of the multitude also swore to them. 9:16 Then, three days after the pact was formed, they heard that they lived in the vicinity, and that they would soon be among them. 9:17 And so the sons of Israel moved the camp, and they arrived at their cities on the third day, those which are called: Gibeon, and Chephirah, and Beeroh, and Kiriath-jearim. 9:18 And they did not strike them, because the leaders of the multitude had sworn to them in the name of the Lord, the God of Israel. And so all of the common people murmured against the leaders. 9:19 And they responded to them: “We have sworn to them in the name of the Lord, the God of Israel, and for that reason, we are not able to touch them. 9:20 But we shall do this to them: Certainly, let them be preserved so that they may live, lest the wrath of the Lord be stirred up against us, since we would have sworn falsely. 9:21 But though they live, let them serve the entire multitude by cutting wood and carrying water.” And while they were discussing these things, Joshua called the Gibeonites, and he said to them: “Why would you be willing to deceive us by fraud, saying, ‘We live very far away from you,’ when you are in our midst? 9:23 Therefore, you shall be under a curse, and your stock shall not cease to be cutters of wood and carriers of water, into the house of my God.” 9:24 And they responded: “It was reported to us, your servants, that the Lord your God had promised his servant Moses that he would give you the entire land, and that he would destroy all its inhabitants. Therefore, we were very afraid, and we made a provision for our lives, compelled by the dread of you, and we undertook this counsel. 9:25 And now we are in your hand. Act toward us as it seems good and right to you.” 9:26 Therefore, Joshua did just as he had said, and he freed them from the hand of the sons of Israel, so that they would not be killed. 9:27 And he decreed on that day, that they would be in the ministry of all the people and of the altar of the Lord, cutting wood and carrying water, even until this present time, in the place which the Lord had chosen.

Joshua 10:1 When Adonizedek, the king of Jerusalem, had heard these things, specifically, that Joshua had seized Ai, and had overthrown it, (for just as he had done to Jericho and its king, so did he do to Ai and its king,) and that the Gibeonites had fled over to Israel, and were now their confederates, he was very afraid. For Gibeon was a great city, and was one of the royal cities, and was greater than the town of Ai, and all its warriors were very strong. 10:3 Therefore, Adonizedek, the king of Jerusalem, sent to Hoham, the king of Hebron, and to Piram, the king of Jarmuth, and also to Japhia, the king of Lachish, and to Debir, the king of Eglon, saying: 10:4 “Ascend to me, and bring troops, so that we may fight against Gibeon. For it has fled over to Joshua and the sons of Israel.” 10:5 And so, having assembled, the five kings of the Amorites, the king of Jerusalem, the king of Hebron, the king of Jarmuth, the king of Lachish, the king of Eglon, together with their armies, went up and encamped around Gibeon, laying siege to it. 10:6 But the inhabitants of the city of Gibeon, when it was besieged, sent to Joshua, who was then staying in the camp at Gilgal. And they said to him: “May you not draw back your hands from helping your servants. Come quickly, and free us, and bring troops. For all the kings of the Amorites, who live in the mountains, have gathered together against us.” 10:7 And Joshua ascended from Gilgal, and the entire army of warriors with him, very strong men. 10:8 And the Lord said to Joshua: “You should not fear them. For I have delivered them into your hands. None of them will be able to withstand you.” 10:9 And so Joshua, ascending from Gilgal throughout the night, rushed upon them suddenly. 10:10 And the Lord set them in disarray before the face of Israel. And he crushed them in a great defeat at Gibeon, and he pursued them along the way of the ascent to Beth-horon, and he struck them down, even as far as Azekah and Makkedah. 10:11 And while they were fleeing from the sons of Israel, and were on the descent of Beth-horon, the Lord cast great stones from heaven upon them, as far as Azekah. And many more were killed by the hailstones, than were struck down by the swords of the sons of Israel. 10:12 Then Joshua spoke to the Lord, on the day that he handed over the Amorite in the sight of the sons of Israel, and he said before them: “O sun, you shall not move toward...
Gibeon! O moon, you shall not move toward the valley of Ajalon!” {10:13} And the sun and the moon stood still, until the people had avenged themselves of their enemies. Has this not been written in the book of the just? And so the sun stood still in the midst of heaven, and it did not hurry to its rest for the space of one day. {10:14} Never before and never after was there so long a day, as when the Lord obeyed the voice of a man, and fought for Israel. {10:15} And Joshua returned, with all of Israel, into the camp of Gilgal. {10:16} For the five kings had fled, and had hidden themselves in a cave, near the city of Makkedah. {10:17} And it was reported to Joshua that the five kings had been found hidden in a cave, near the city of Makkedah. {10:18} And he instructed his companions and said: “Roll vast stones to the mouth of the cave, and station attentive men who will keep them closed. {10:19} But as for you, do not stay here; instead, pursue the enemies, and cut down the lattermost of those who are fleeing. You shall not permit those whom the Lord God has delivered into your hands to enter into the protection of their cities.” {10:20} Thus, the adversaries were struck down in a great defeat, and having been nearly consumed, even to utter annihilation, those who were able to escape from Israel entered into fortified cities. {10:21} And the entire army returned to Joshua at Makkedah, where they were then encamped, in good health and in their full numbers. And no one dared to move his tongue against the sons of Israel. {10:22} And Joshua instructed, saying, “Open the mouth of the cave, and bring forward to me the five kings, who are hidden within it.” {10:23} And the ministers did just as they had been ordered. And they led out to him the five kings from the cave: the king of Jerusalem, the king of Hebron, the king of Jarmuth, the king of Lachish, and the king of Edom. {10:24} And when they had been led out to him, he called all the men of Israel, and he said to the leaders of the army who were with him, “Go, and place your feet upon the necks of these kings.” And when they had gone and had tread their feet upon the necks of those who were thrown down, {10:25} he spoke to them again: “Do not be afraid, and do not dread. Be strengthened and be steadfast. For so will the Lord do to all your enemies, against whom you fight.” {10:26} And Joshua struck them down and killed them, and he suspended them on five gallows. And having been taken down, they cast them into the cave, where they had lain hidden, and they set vast stones at its mouth, which remain, even to the present. {10:28} Also on the same day, Joshua seized Makkedah, and he struck it with the edge of the sword, and he put to death its king and all its inhabitants. He did not leave in it even the smallest remains. And he did to the king of Makkedah, just as he had done to the king of Jericho. {10:29} Then he went on, with all of Israel, from Makkedah to Libnah, and he fought against it. {10:30} And the Lord delivered it, with its king, into the hands of Israel. And they struck the city with the edge of the sword, and all its inhabitants. They did not leave in it any remains. And they did to the king of Libnah, just as they had done to the king of Jericho. {10:31} From Libnah, with all of Israel, he went on to Lachish. And taking positions around it with his army, he besieged it. {10:32} And the Lord delivered Lachish into the hands of Israel, and he seized it on the following day, and he struck it with the edge of the sword, and every soul that was in it, just as he had done to Libnah. {10:33} At that time, Horam, the king of Gezer, went up so that he might assist Lachish. And Joshua struck him with all his people, even unto utter annihilation. {10:34} And he went on from Lachish to Eglon, and he surrounded it. {10:35} And he also defeated it on the same day. And he struck all the souls that were in it with the edge of the sword, in accord with all that he had done to Lachish. {10:36} He also ascended, with all of Israel, from Eglon into Hebron, and he fought against it. {10:37} He seized it and struck it with the edge of the sword, likewise with its king, and all the towns of that region, and all the souls that were staying in it. He did not leave any remains in it. Just as he had done to Eglon, so also did he do to Hebron, consuming with the sword all that he found within it. {10:38} Returning from there to Debir, {10:39} he seized it and laid waste to it, likewise with its king. And all the surrounding towns, he struck with the edge of the sword. He did not leave in it any remains. Just as he had done to Hebron and Libnah, and to their kings, so did he do to Debir and to its king. {10:40} And so Joshua struck the entire land, the mountains, and the south, and the plains, and the descending slopes, with their kings. He did not leave in it any remains, but he put to death all that was able to breathe, just as the Lord, the God of Israel, had instructed him, {10:41} from Kadesh-barnea, as far as Gaza, with all the land of Goshen, as far as Gibeon. {10:42} And all their kings and their regions, he seized and destroyed with a single attack. For the Lord, the God of Israel, fought on his behalf. {10:43} And he returned, with all of Israel, to the place of the encampment at Gilgal.

[Joshua 11] {11:1} And when Jabin, the king of Hazor, had heard these things, he sent to Jobab, the king of Madon, and to the king of Shimron, and to the king of Achshaph, {11:2} also to the kings of the north, who were living in the mountains, and in the plains opposite the southern region of Chinnereth, and also in the plains and the regions of Dor, beside the sea, {11:3} also to the Canaanites, from east to west, and to the Amorite, and the Hittite, and the Perizzite, and the Jebusite in the mountains, also to the Hivite who was living at the base of Hermon, in the land of Mizpah. {11:4} And they all went forth with their troops, a people exceedingly numerous, like the sand that is on the shore of the sea. And their horses and chariots were an immense multitude. {11:5} And all these kings assembled at the waters of Merom, so that they might fight against Israel. {11:6} And the Lord said to Joshua: “You should not fear them. For tomorrow, at this same hour, I will deliver all these to be wounded in the sight of Israel. You will hamstring their horses, and you will burn their chariots with fire.” {11:7} And Joshua, and the entire army with him, came against them suddenly, at the waters of Merom, and they rushed upon them. {11:8} And the Lord delivered them into the hands of Israel. And they struck them, and they pursued them as far as the great Sidon, and the waters of Misrephoth, and the field of Mizpah, which is toward the eastern region. He struck them all, so that nothing was left of them to remain. {11:9} And he did just as the Lord had instructed him. He hamstring their horses, and he burned their chariots with fire. {11:10} And turning back, he immediately seized Hazor. And he struck down its king with the sword. For Hazor, from antiquity, held the first position among all these kingdoms. {11:11} And he struck down all the souls that were staying there. He did not leave in it any remains, but he destroyed everything unto utter annihilation, and he destroyed the city itself with fire. {11:12} And he seized, struck, and destroyed all the surrounding cities and their kings, just as Moses, the servant of God, had instructed him. {11:13} And except for the cities that were on hills and in elevated places, the rest Israel burned. One only, highly-fortified Hazor, was consumed with fire. {11:14} And the sons of Israel divided among themselves all the plunder of these cities, and the cattle, putting to death all persons. {11:15} Just as the Lord had instructed his servant Moses, so did Moses instruct Joshua, and he fulfilled everything. He did not omit even one word out of all the commandments, which the Lord had commanded Moses. {11:16} And so Joshua seized the entire land of the mountains, and of the south, and the land of Goshen, and the plains, and the western region, and the mountain of Israel, and its plains. {11:17} As for the part of the mountain that ascends to Seir, as far as Baalgad, along the plain of Lebanon under mount Hermon, all their kings he seized, struck down, and killed. {11:18} For a long time, Joshua fought against these kings. {11:19} There was not a city that delivered itself to the sons of Israel, except the Hivites who were living at Gibeon. For he seized it all in warfare. {11:20} For it was the sentence of the Lord that their hearts would be hardened, and that they would fight against Israel and fall, and that they did not desire any clemency, and that they should perish, just as the Lord had commanded Moses. {11:21} In that time, Joshua went and put to death the Anakim from the mountains, from Hebron and Debir and Anab, and from all the mountains of Judah and Israel. And he destroyed their cities. {11:22} He did not leave any from the stock of the Anakim in the land of the sons of Israel, except the cities of Gaza, and Gath, and Ashdod, which alone were left behind. {11:23} Thus, Joshua seized all the land, just as the Lord spoke to Moses, and he delivered it as a possession to the sons of Israel, according to their divisions and tribes. And the land rested from battles.

{13:1} Joshua was old and advanced in age, and the Lord said to him: “You have grown old, and are aged, and a very wide land remains, which has not yet been divided by lot, {13:2} specifically, all of Galilee, Philistia, and all of Geshur; {13:3} from the muddy river, which irrigates Egypt, as far as the border of Ekron toward the north, the land of Canaan, which is divided among the rulers of Philistia: the Gazites, and the Ashdodites, the Ashkelonites, the Gathites, and the Ekronites; {13:4} truly, to the south are the Hivites, all the land of Canaan, and Mearah of the Sidonians, as far as Aphek and the borders of the Amorite {13:5} and his confines; also, the region of Lebanon toward the east, from Baalgad, under mount Hermon, until you enter into Hamath; {13:6} all who live in the mountains from Lebanon, as far as the waters of Misrephoth, and all the Sidonians. I am the One who will wipe them out, before the face of the sons of Israel. Therefore, let their land become a part of the inheritance of Israel, just as I have instructed you. {13:7} And now, divide the land as a possession to the nine tribes, and to the one half tribe of Manasseh.”

{12:1} These are the kings whom the sons of Israel struck down, and whose land they possessed beyond the Jordan, toward the rising of the sun, from the torrent Arnon as far as mount Hermon, with the entire eastern region that looks out toward the wilderness: {12:2} Sihon, the king of the Amorites, who lived at Heshbon, and who had dominion from Aror, which is situated on the bank of the torrent Arnon, and the valley in the middle, and one half of Gilead, as far as the torrent Jabbok, which is the border of the sons of Ammon, {12:3} and from the wilderness, as far as the sea of Chinneroth toward the east, and to the Sea of the Wilderness, which is the very salty sea, to the eastern region, along the way that leads to Beth-jeshimoth, and from the southern region that lies under the descending slope of Pisgah, {12:4} to the border of Og, the king of Bashan; from the remnant of the Rephaim, who lived in Ashtaroth, and at Edrei, and who had dominion on mount Hermon, and at Saleah, and into all of Bashan, even to its limits; {12:5} with Geshur and Maacati, and one half of Gilead, these were the borders of Sihon, the king of Heshbon. {12:6} Moses, the servant of the Lord, and the sons of Israel struck them down. And Moses delivered their land into the possession of the Reubenites, and the Gadites, and the one half tribe of Manasseh. {12:7} These are the kings of the land, whom Joshua and the sons of Israel struck down across the Jordan, toward the western region, from Baalgad in the field of Lebanon, as far as the mountain, part of which ascends to Seir. And Joshua delivered it as a possession to the tribes of Israel, to each one in their divisions, {12:8} both in the mountains and in the plains and fields. In the descending slopes, and in the wilderness, and in the south, there too was the Hittite and the Amorite, the Canaanite and the Perizzite, the Hivite and the Jebusite. {12:9} The king of Jericho, one; the king of Ai, which is beside Bethel, one; {12:10} the king of Jerusalem, one; the king of Hebron, one; {12:11} the king of Jarmuth, one; the king of Lachish, one; {12:12} the king of Ephron, one; the king of Gezer, one; {12:13} the king of Debir, one; the king of Geder, one; {12:14} the king of Hormah, one; the king of Arad, one; {12:15} the king of Libnah, one; the king of Adullam, one; {12:16} the king of Makkedah, one; the king of Bethel, one; {12:17} the king of Tappuah, one; the king of Hepher, one; {12:18} the king of Aphek, one; the king of Lasharon, one; {12:19} the king of Madon, one; the king of Hazor, one; {12:20} the king of Shimron, one; the king of Achshaph, one; {12:21} the king of Taanach, one; the king of Megiddo, one; {12:22} the king of Kadesh, one; the king of Jokneam of Carmel, one; {12:23} the king of Dor and of the province of Dor, one; the king of the nations of Gilgal, one; {12:24} the king of Tirzah, one. All the kings were thirty-one.
lived in the midst of Israel, even to the present day. {13:14} But to the tribe of Levi, he did not give a possession. Instead, the sacrifices and victims of the Lord, the God of Israel, these are his inheritance, just as he spoke to him. {13:15} Therefore, Moses gave a possession to the tribe of the sons of Reuben, according to their families. {13:16} And their border was from Aror, which is situated on the bank of the torrent Arnon, and in the midst of the valley of the same torrent, with all the flatlands that lead to Medeba; {13:17} and Heshbon, and all their villages, which are in the plains; also Dibon, and Bamothbaal, and the town of Baalmeon, {13:18} and Jahaz, and Kedemoth, and Mephaath, {13:19} and Kiriaithaim, and Sibmah, and Zerethshahar on the mountain of the steep valley; {13:20} Bethpeor, and the descending slopes of Pisgah, and Beth-jeshimoth; {13:21} and all the cities of the plain, and all the kingdoms of Sihon, the king of the Amorites, who reigned at Heshbon, whom Moses struck down with the leaders of Midian: Evi, and Rekem, and Zur, and Hur, and Reba, the commanders of Sihon, inhabitants of the land. {13:22} And the sons of Israel killed Balaam, the son of Beor, the seer, with the sword, along with the others who were slain. {13:23} And the river Jordan was made the border of the sons of Reuben; this is the possession of the Reubenites, by their families, in cities and villages. {13:24} And Moses gave to the tribe of Gad and his sons, by their families, a possession, of which this is the division: {13:25} the border of Jazer, and all the cities of Gilead, and one half part of the land of the sons of Ammon, as far as Aroer, which is opposite Rabbah; {13:26} and from Heshbon as far as Ramath, Mizpeh, and Betonim; and from Mahanaim as far as the borders of Debar; {13:27} also, in the valley Beth-haram and Beth-nimrah, and Succoth, and Zaphon, the remaining part of the kingdom of Sihon, the king of Heshbon; the limit of this also is the Jordan, as far as the furthest part of the sea of Chinnereth, beyond the Jordan on the eastern side. {13:28} This is the possession of the sons of Gad, by their families, in their cities and villages. {13:29} He also gave, to the one half tribe of Manasseth and to his sons, a possession according to their families, {13:30} the beginning of which is this: from Mahanaim, all of Bashan, and all the kingdoms of Og, the king of Bashan, and all the villages of Jair, which are in Bashan, sixty towns; {13:31} and one half part of Gilead, and Ashtaroth, and Edrei, the cities of the kingdom of Og in Bashan, to the sons of Machir, the son of Manasseth, to one half part of the sons of Machir, according to their families. {13:32} Moses divided this possession, in the plains of Moab, beyond the Jordan, opposite Jericho on the eastern side. {13:33} But to the tribe of Levi he did not give a possession. For the Lord, the God of Israel, is himself their possession, just as he spoke to him.

[Joshua 14] {14:1} This is what the sons of Israel possessed in the land of Canaan, which Eleazar, the priest, and Joshua, the son of Nun, and the leaders of the families, by the tribes of Israel, gave to them, {14:2} dividing all by lot, just as the Lord had instructed by the hand of Moses, to the nine tribes and to the one half tribe. {14:3} For to the two and one half tribes, Moses had given a possession beyond the Jordan, aside from the Levites, who received no land among their brothers. {14:4} For by succession, the sons of Joseph, in their place, were divided into two tribes, Manasseh and Ephraim. But the Levites did not receive another portion of land, except cities in which to live, and their suburbs, so as to feed their beasts of burden and cattle. {14:5} Just as the Lord had commanded Moses, so the sons of Israel did, and they divided the land. {14:6} And so, the sons of Judah approached Joshua at Gilgal. And Caleb, the son of Jephone, the Kenizzite, spoke to him: “You know what the Lord said to Moses, the man of God, at Kadesh-barnea, about me and you. {14:7} I was forty years old when Moses, the servant of the Lord, sent me from Kadesh-barnea, so that I might consider the land. And I reported to him what seemed to me to be true. {14:8} But my brothers, who had ascended with me, broke the heart of the people. And I nevertheless followed the Lord my God.’ {14:10} Therefore, the Lord has granted life to me, just as he promised, even to the present day. It has been forty-five years since the Lord spoke this word to Moses, when Israel was wandering through the wilderness. Today, I am eighty-five years old, {14:11} being just as strong as I was at that time, when I was sent to explore the land. The fortitude in me at that time continues even until today, as much to fight as to march. {14:12} Therefore, grant to me this mountain, which the Lord has promised in your hearing also, on which are the Anakim, and cities, great and fortified. Perhaps it may be that the Lord will be with me, and I will be able to destroy them, just as he promised to me.’” {14:13} And Joshua blessed him, and he delivered Hebron to him as a possession. {14:14} And from then on, Hebron was for Caleb, the son of Jephunneh, the Kenizzite, even to the present day. For he followed the Lord, the God of Israel. {14:15} Previously, the name Hebron was called Kiriath-Arba. Adam, the greatest among the Anakim, was laid there. And the land ceased from battles.

[Joshua 15] {15:1} And so, the lot of the sons of Judah, by their families, was this: from the border of Edom, to the desert of Sin toward the south, and even to the furthest part of the southern region. {15:2} Its beginning was from the summit of the very salty sea, and from its bay, which looks toward the south. {15:3} And it extends toward the ascent of the Scorpion, and it passes on to Sinai. And it ascends into Kadesh-barnea, and it passes through to Hezron, ascending to Addar, and encompassing Karka. {15:4} And from there, it passes on to Azmon, and reaches to the torrent of Egypt. And its boundary shall be the great sea; this shall be the limit of the southern region. {15:5} Yet truly, toward the east, the beginning shall be the very salty sea, even to the limit of the Jordan, and that which looks toward the north, from the bay of the sea, even to the same river Jordan. {15:6} And the border ascends into Beth-hoglah, and it crosses from the north into Beth-Arabah, ascending to the stone of Bohan, the son of Reuben. {15:7} And it reaches as far as the borders of Debarah, from the Valley of Achor, to the north, looking toward Gilgal, which is opposite the Ascent of Adummim, on the southern part of the torrent. And it crosses the waters that are called the Fountain of the Sun. And its exit shall be at the Fountain of Rogel. {15:8} And it ascends by the steep valley of the son of Hinnom, from the side of the Jebusite, toward the south; this is Jerusalem. And from there, it raises itself to the top of the mountain, which is opposite Geennom to the west, at the top of the Valley of the Rephaim, to the north. {15:9} And it passes through, from the top of the mountain, even to the fountain of the Water of Nephtoah. And it continues on, as far as the villages of mount Ephron. And it inclines toward Baalalah, which is Kiriath-jearim, that is, the City of Forests. {15:10} And it circles from Baalalah, to the west, as far as mount Seir. And it passes by the side of mount Jearim, to the north, into Chesalon. And it descends into Beth-shemesh, and it passes through to Timnah. {15:11} And it continues on, toward the north, to a region beside Ekron. And it inclines toward Shikkeron, and it crosses to mount Baalalah. And it extends into Jabneel, and the last part closes at the west with the great sea. {15:12} These are the borders of the sons of Judah, in their families, on all sides.

{15:13} Yet truly, to Caleb, the son of Jephunneh, he gave a portion in the midst of the sons of Judah, just as the Lord had instructed him: the City of Arba, the father of Anak, which is Hebron. {15:14} And Caleb destroyed it from the three sons of Anak, Sheshai, and Ahiman, and Talmai, of the stock of Anak. {15:15} And ascending further from there, he came to the inhabitants of Debir, which before was called Kiriath-Sepher, that is, the City of Letters. {15:16} And Caleb said, “Whoever will have struck down Kiriath-Sepher, and will have seized it, I will give to him Achsah, my daughter, as wife.” {15:17} And Othniel, the son of Kenaz, the younger brother of Caleb, seized it. And he gave him Achsah, his daughter, as wife. {15:18} And as they were traveling together, she was urged by her husband that she ask her father for a field. And she sighed, as she was sitting on her donkey. And Caleb said to her, “What is it?” {15:19} But she answered, “Give a blessing to me. You have given to me a southern and dry land; join to it also a watered land.” And so Caleb gave her the watered land above and below it. {15:20} This is the possession of the tribe of the sons of Judah, by their families. {15:21} And the cities, from the furthest parts of the sons of Judah, beside the borders of Edom to the south, were: Kabzeel and Eder and Jagur, {15:22} and Kinah and Dimonah and Addadah, {15:23} and Kadesh and Hazor and Ithnan, {15:24} Ziph and Telem and Bealoth, {15:25} new Hazor and Kerioth-Hezron, which is Hazor, {15:26} Amam, Shema, and Moladah, {15:27} and Hazar-gaddah and Heshmon and Bethpelet, {15:28} and Hazar-shual and Beersheba and Biziothiah, {15:29} and Baalah and Iim and Ezem, {15:30} and Eltolad and Chesil and Hormah, {15:31} and Ziklag and Madmannah and Sansannah, {15:32} Lebaoth and Shihlim, and Ain and Hormah, {15:33} and Ziklag and Madmannah and Sansannah, {15:34} and Mahlah and Nibshan, and Engedi: six cities, and their villages. {15:35} And the sons of Manasseh, who had their inheritance in the north of Beth-shean, which was in the huge sea as its border. {15:36} And on the mountain, Shamir and Jattir and Socoh, {15:37} and Dannah, and Kiriath-Sannah, which is Debir, {15:38} and Anab and Eshtemoah and Anim, {15:39} and Goshen and Holon and Giloh: eleven cities, and their villages. {15:40} Arab and Dumah and Eshan, {15:41} and Jarmuth and Zaanannim and Eglon, {15:42} and Libnah and Ether and Ashan, {15:43} and Iphath and Ashnah and Nezib, {15:44} and Keilah and Ezchib and Maresheh: nine cities, and their villages. {15:45} Ekron, with its towns and villages: as far as the sea, all that inclines toward Ashdod, and its villages. {15:46} From Ekron, as far as the sea, all that inclines toward Ashdod, and its villages. {15:47} Ashdod, with its towns and villages. Gaza, with its towns and villages, as far as the torrent of Egypt, with the great sea as its border. {15:48} And on the mountain, Shamir and Jattir and Socoh, {15:49} and Dannah, and Kiriath-Sannah, which is Debir, {15:50} and Anab and Eshtemoah and Anim, {15:51} and Goshen and Holon and Giloh: eleven cities, and their villages. {15:52} Arab and Dumah and Eshan, {15:53} and Jarmuth and Zaanannim and Eglon, {15:54} and Iphath and Ashnah and Nezib, {15:55} and Keilah and Ezchib and Maresheh: nine cities, and their villages. {15:56} Libnah and Ether and Ashan, {15:57} and Iphath and Ashnah and Nezib, {15:58} and Keilah and Ezchib and Maresheh: nine cities, and their villages. Gaza, with its towns and villages. {15:59} Maarath and Bethanoth and Eltekon: six cities, and their villages. {15:60} Kiriath-baal, which is Kiriath-jearim, the City of Forests, and Rabbah: two cities, and their villages. {15:61} In the desert: Beth-arabah, Middin, and Secacah, {15:62} and Nibshan, and the City of Salt, and Engedi: six cities, and their villages. {15:63} But the sons of Judah were not able to destroy the Jebusite inhabitants of Jerusalem. And so the Jebusite lived with the sons of Judah in Jerusalem, even to the present day.

Joshua 16] [16:1] Similarly, the lot of the sons of Joseph fell from the Jordan, opposite Jericho and its waters, to the east, to the wilderness that ascends from Jericho to the mountain of Bethel. {16:2} And it goes out from Bethel to Luz. And it crosses the border of Archi to Ataroth. {16:3} And it descends to the west, beside the border of Japhleti, as far as the borders of lower Beth-horon, and to Gezer. And the last parts of its regions are by the great sea. {16:4} And Manasseh and Ephraim, the sons of Joseph, possessed it. {16:5} And the border of the sons of Ephraim was made by their families. And their possession toward the east was from Ataroth-addar, as far as upper Beth-horon, {16:6} and the confines extend to the sea. Yet truly, Michmethath looks toward the north, and it circles around the borders, toward the east, into Taannah-shiloh. And it continues on, from the east, to Janoah. {16:7} And it descends from Janoah to Ataroth and Naarah. And it continues to Jericho, and it extends to the Jordan. {16:8} From Tappuah, it passes on, opposite the sea, into the Valley of Reeds. And its exit is at the very salty sea. This is the possession of the tribe of the sons of Ephraim, by their families. {16:9} And there were cities, with their villages, which were set aside for the sons of Ephraim, in the midst of the possession of the sons of Manasseh. {16:10} And the sons of Ephraim did not put to death the Canaanite that was living at Gezer. And the Canaanite lived in the midst of Ephraim, even to this day, paying tribute.

Joshua 17] [17:1] Now this lot fell to the tribe of Manasseh, since he is the firstborn of Joseph: to Machir, the firstborn of Manasseh, the father of Gilead, who was a fighting man, and he had as a possession Gilead and Bashan; {17:2} and to the rest of the sons of Manasseh, according to their families: to the sons of Abiezer, and to the sons of Helek, and to the sons of Asriel, and to the sons of Shechem, and to the sons of Hepher, and to the sons of Shamir. These are the sons of Manasseh, the sons of Joseph, the males, by their families. {17:3} Yet truly, Zelophehad, the son of Hepher, the son of Gilead, the son of Machir, the son of Manasseh, had no sons, but only daughters, whose names are these: Mahlah and Noah and Hoglah and Milcah and Tirzah. {17:4} And they went before the sight of Eleazar, the priest, and Joshua, the son of Nun, and the leaders, saying: “The Lord instructed by the hand of Moses that a possession ought to be given to us, in the midst of our brothers.” And so, he gave to them, in accord with the order of the Lord, a possession in the midst of the brothers of their father. {17:5} And by lot, there fell ten portions to Manasseh, aside from the land of Gilead and Bashan beyond the Jordan. {17:6} And so the daughters of Manasseh possessed an inheritance in the midst of his sons. But the land of Gilead fell by lot to the sons of Manasseh that were left. {17:7} And the border of Manasseh was from Asher to Michmethath, which looks out toward Shechem. And it goes out, to the right, beside the inhabitants of the Fountain of Tappuah. {17:8} For by lot, there also fell to Manasseh the land of Tappuah, which is beside the borders of Manasseh, and which belongs to the sons of Ephraim. {17:9} And the border descends to the Valley of Reeds, to the south of the torrent of the cities of Ephraim, which are in the midst of the cities of Manasseh. The border of Manasseh is to the north of the torrent, and its exit extends to the sea. {17:10} So it is that the possession of Ephraim is in the south, and that of Manasseh is in the north, and both are enclosed by the sea, and they are joined together by the tribe of Asher to the north, and by the tribe of Issachar to the east. {17:11} And the inheritance of Manasseh, in Issachar and in Asher, was Bethshean and its villages, and Ibleam with its villages, and the inhabitants of Dor, with their towns, likewise the inhabitants of Endor with their villages, and similarly the inhabitants of Taanach with their villages, and the inhabitants of Megiddo with their villages, and one third part of the city of Naphath. {17:12} The sons of Manasseh were not able to overthrive these cities, and so the Canaanite began to dwell in their land. {17:13} But after the sons of Israel had grown strong, they subdued the Canaanites, and made them their tributaries, but they did not kill them. {17:14} And the sons of Joseph spoke to Joshua, and they said, “Why have you given to me as a possession one lot and one portion, while I am of such a great multitude, and the Lord has blessed me?” {17:15} And Joshua said to them, “If you are a numerous people, go up into the forest, and cut out space for yourself in the land of the Perizzites and the Rephaim, since the possession of mount Ephraim is too narrow for you.” {17:16} And the sons of Joseph responded to him: “We are not able to ascend to the mountains, since the Canaanites, who live in the plains, in which are situated Bethshean, with its villages, and Jezer, possessing the middle of the valley, use chariots of iron.” {17:17} And Joshua said to the house of Joseph, to Ephraim and Manasseh: “You are a numerous people, and you have great strength. You shall not have only one lot. {17:18} Instead, you shall cross to the mountain, and you shall cut down and clear out for yourselves space in which to live. And you shall be able to advance further, when you will have destroyed the Canaanite, who, as you say, has iron chariots and is very strong.”

[Joshua 18] {18:1} And all the sons of Israel gathered together at Shiloh, and there they stationed the Tabernacle of the Testimony. And the land was subjected to them. {18:2} But there remained seven tribes of the sons of Israel which had not yet received their possessions. {18:3} And Joshua said to them: “For how long will you draw back in idleness, and not enter to possess the land, which the Lord, the God of your fathers, has given to you? {18:4} Select three men from each tribe, so that I may send them, and they may go forth and circle through the land, and may describe it according to the number of each multitude, and may bring back to me what they have written down. {18:5} Divide the land for yourselves into seven parts. Let Judah be its bounds on the southern side, and the house of Joseph to the north. {18:6} The land that is in the middle, between these, write it down in seven parts. And you shall come to me, so that I may cast lots for you about this, before the Lord your God. {18:7} But there is no portion among you for the Levites. Instead, the priesthood of the Lord is their inheritance. And Gad and Reuben, and the one half tribe of Manasseh, have already received their possessions beyond the Jordan in the eastern region, which Moses, the servant of the Lord, gave to them.” {18:8} And when the men had risen up, so that they might go out to describe the land, Joshua instructed them, saying, “Circle through the land, and describe it, and return to me, so that I may cast lots for you about this, before the Lord, in Shiloh.” {18:9} And so they went out. And surveying it, they divided it into seven parts, writing it in a book. And they returned to Joshua, to the camp at Shiloh. {18:10} And he cast lots before the Lord, at Shiloh, and he divided the land to the sons of Israel, in seven parts. {18:11} And the first lot went to the sons of Benjamin, by their families, so that they would possess the land between the sons of Judah and the sons of Joseph. {18:12} And their border toward the north was from the Jordan, continuing on, near the side of Jericho in the northern region, and from there, ascending toward the west to the mountains, and extending to the wilderness of Bethaven. {18:13} And it continues to the south beside Luz, which is Bethel. And it descends into Ateroth-addar, at the mountain which is to the south of lower Beth-horon. {18:14} And it turns aside, circling toward the sea, to the south of the mountain which looks out toward Beth-horon, toward the southwest. And its exits are toward Kiriath-baal, which is also called Kiriath-jearim, a city of the sons of Judah. This is their region, toward the sea, in the west. {18:15} But to the south, the border goes on from the part of Kiriath-jearim toward the sea, and it continues as far as the Fountain of the waters of Nephtoah. {18:16} And it descends to that part of the mountain which looks out toward the Valley of the sons of Hinnom. And it is opposite the northern region, in the furthest part of the Valley of the Rephaim. And it descends into Geennom, (that is, the Valley of Hinnom,) near the side of the Jebusite toward the south. And it extends to the Fountain of Rogel, {18:17} crossing from there to the north, and going out to En-Shemesh, that is, to the Fountain of the Sun. {18:18} And it passes through to the hills that are opposite the region of the Ascent of Adummim. And it descends to Abenboen, that is, so the stone of Bohan, the son of Reuben. And it continues on, at the northern side, to the plains. And it descends into the flatlands. {18:19} And it advances before Beth-hoglah, to the north. And its exits are to the north, opposite the bay of the very salty sea, in the southern region at the end of the Jordan, {18:20} which is its border to the east. This is the possession of the sons of Benjamin, with their borders all around, and by their families. {18:21} And their cities were: Jericho and Beth-hoglah and the Abrupt Valley, {18:22} Beth-arabah and Zemaraim and Bethel, {18:23} and Avvim and Parah and Ophrah, [Joshua 19] [19:1] And the second lot went out, for the sons of Simeon by their families. And their inheritance was,
[19:2] in the midst of the possession of the sons of Judah: Beersheba, and Sheba, and Moladah, [19:3] and Hazar-shual, Balah, and Ezem, [19:4] and Eltolad, Bethul, and Hormah, [19:5] and Ziklag, and Beth-marcaboth, and Hazar-susah, [19:6] and Bethleboath, and Sharuruhen: thirteen cities, and their villages; [19:7] Ain and Enrimmon, and Ether and Ashan: four cities, and their villages; [19:8] all villages around these cities, as far as Baalath-beer, the high place facing the southern region. This is the inheritance of the sons of Simeon, according to their families, [19:9] within the possession and lot of the sons of Judah, which was greater. And for this reason, the sons of Simeon had a possession in the midst of their inheritance. [19:10] And the third lot fell to the sons of Levites, by their families; and the limit of their possession was set as far as Sa rid. [19:11] And it ascends the sons of Zebulun, by their families; and the limit of their possession was Zorah, and Eshtol, and Ir-shemesh, that is, the City of the Sun, [19:12] all villages around these cities, as far as Baalath-beer, the high place facing the southern region. This is the inheritance of the sons of Simeon, according to their families, [19:13] within the possession and lot of the sons of Judah, which was greater. And for this reason, the sons of Simeon had a possession in the midst of their inheritance. [19:14] And the third lot fell to the sons of Zebulun, by their families; and the limit of their possession was set as far as Sarid. [19:15] And it ascends the sea and from Mareal. And it passes on to Dabbesheth, as far as the torrent, which is opposite Jokneam. [19:16] And it turns back from Sarid, to the east, to the end of Chisloth-tabor. And it goes out to Daberath, and it ascends opposite Japhia. [19:17] And from there, it continues to the eastern region of Gathhepher and Ethkazin. And goes out to Rimmon, Amthar, and Neha. [19:18] And it circles to the north at Hannathon. And its exits are at the Valley of Ishpaheh; [19:19] and Kattath and Nahalal, and Shimron and Idalah, and Bethlehem: twelve cities, and their villages. [19:20] This is the inheritance of the tribe of the sons of Zebulun, by their families, the cities and their villages. [19:21] The fourth lot went out to Issachar, by their families. [19:22] And his inheritance was: Jezreel, and Chesulloth, and Shunem, [19:23] and Hapharaim, and Shion, and Anaharath, [19:24] and Rabbith and Kishion, Ebez [19:25] and Remeth, and Engannim, and Enhaddah, and Bethpazzez. [19:26] And its limit reaches to Tabor and Shahazumah and Beth-shemesh; and its exits shall be at the Jordan: sixteen cities, and their villages. [19:27] This is the possession of the sons of Issachar by their families, the cities and their villages. [19:28] And the fifth lot fell to the tribe of the sons of Asher, by their families. [19:29] And their border was: Helkath, and Hali, and Beten, and Achshaph, [19:30] and Allammelech, and Amad, and Mishal. And it extends even to Carmel by the sea, and Shihor, and Libnah. [19:31] And it turns back toward the east at Bethdagon. And it continues on as far as Zebulun and the Valley of Ishpaheh, toward the north, at Beth-emek and Neiel. And it goes out to the left of Cabul, [19:32] and to Ebron, and Rehob, and Hammon, and Kanah, as far as the great Sidon. [19:33] And it turns back at Ramah, even to the very fortified city of Tyre, and even to Hosah. And its exits shall be at the sea, from the lot of Achzib; [19:34] and Ummah, and Aphek, and Rehob: twenty-two cities, and their villages. [19:35] This is the possession of the sons of Asher, by their families, and the cities and their villages. [19:36] The sixth lot fell to the sons of Naphtali, by their families. [19:37] And its border begins from Heleph and Elon, into Zaanannim, and Adami, which is Nekeb, and Jabneel, as far as Lakkum. And its exits are as far as the Jordan. [19:38] And the border turns back to the west at Aznoth-tabor, and it goes out from there to Hukkok. And continues on to Zebulun, in the south, and to Asher, in the west, and to Judah, at the Jordan, toward the rising of the sun. [19:39] And the most fortified cities are Ziddim, Zer and Hammath, and Rakkath, and Chinnereth, [19:40] and Adamah and Ramah, Hazor [19:41] and Edrei, and Hazor [19:42] and Yiron and Migdal, Horem and Bethanath, and Beth-shemesh: nineteen cities, and their villages. [19:43] This is the possession of the tribe of the sons of Naphtali, by their families, the cities and their villages. [19:44] The seventh lot went out to the tribe of the sons of Dan, by their families. [19:45] And the border of their possession was Zorah, and Eshtoal, and Ir-shemesh, that is, the City of the Sun, [19:46] all villages around these cities, as far as Baalath-beer, the high place facing the southern region. This is the inheritance of the sons of Simeon, according to their families, [19:47] within the possession and lot of the sons of Judah, which was greater. And for this reason, the sons of Simeon had a possession in the midst of their inheritance. [19:48] And the third lot fell to the sons of Zebulun, by their families; and the limit of their possession was set as far as Sarid. [19:49] And it ascends the sea and from Mareal. And it passes on to Dabbesheth, as far as the torrent, which is opposite Jokneam. [19:50] And it turns back from Sarid, to the east, to the end of Chisloth-tabor. And it goes out to Daberath, and it ascends opposite Japhia. [19:51] And from there, it continues to the eastern region of Gathhepher and Ethkazin. And goes out to Rimmon, Amthar, and Neha. [19:52] And it circles to the north at Hannathon. And its exits are at the Valley of Ishpaheh; [19:53] and Kattath and Nahalal, and Shimron and Idalah, and Bethlehem: twelve cities, and their villages. [19:54] This is the inheritance of the tribe of the sons of Zebulun, by their families, the cities and their villages. [19:55] The fourth lot went out to Issachar, by their families. [19:56] And his inheritance was: Jezreel, and Chesulloth, and Shunem, [19:57] and Hapharaim, and Shion, and Anaharath, [19:58] and Rabbith and Kishion, Ebez [19:59] and Remeth, and Engannim, and Enhaddah, and Bethpazzez. [19:60] And its limit reaches to Tabor and Shahazumah and Beth-shemesh; and its exits shall be at the Jordan: sixteen cities, and their villages. [19:61] This is the possession of the sons of Issachar by their families, the cities and their villages. [19:62] And the fifth lot fell to the tribe of the sons of Asher, by their families. [19:63] And their border was: Helkath, and Hali, and Beten, and Achshaph, [19:64] and Allammelech, and Amad, and Mishal. And it extends even to Carmel by the sea, and Shihor, and Libnah. [19:65] And it turns back toward the east at Bethdagon. And it continues on as far as Zebulun and the Valley of Ishpaheh, toward the north, at Beth-emek and Neiel. And it goes out to the left of Cabul, [19:66] and to Ebron, and Rehob, and Hammon, and Kanah, as far as the great Sidon. [19:67] And it turns back at Ramah, even to the very fortified city of Tyre, and even to Hosah. And its exits shall be at the sea, from the lot of Achzib; [19:68] and Ummah, and Aphek, and Rehob: twenty-two cities, and their villages. [19:69] This is the possession of the sons of Asher, by their families, and the cities and their villages.

[Joshua 20] [20:1] And the Lord spoke to Joshua, saying: "Speak to the sons of Israel, and say to them: [20:2] Separate the cities of refuge, about which I spoke to you by the hand of Moses, [20:3] so that anyone who will have struck down a life unintentionally may flee to them. And so, he may be able to escape from the wrath of a close relative, who is an avenger of blood. [20:4] And when he had completed dividing the land by lot to each one by their tribes, the sons of Israel gave a possession to Joshua, the son of Nun, in their midst, [20:5] and he built up the city, and he lived in it. [20:6] These are the possessions which Eleazar, the priest, and Joshua, the son of Nun, and the leaders of the families and tribes of the sons of Israel divided by lot at Shiloh, before the Lord, at the door of the Tabernacle of the Testimony. And so did they divide the land."
the Jordan, opposite the eastern side of Jericho, they appointed Bezer, which is situated on the plain of the wilderness of the tribe of Reuben, and Ramoth in Gilead of the tribe of Gad, and Golan in Bashan of the tribe of Manasseh. (20:9) These cities were established for all the sons of Israel, and for the new arrivals who were living among them, so that whoever had struck down a life unintentionally might flee to these, and not die at the hand of a close relative who desires to vindicate the blood that was shed, until he should stand before the people, in order to present his case.

Joshua 21 (21:1) And the leaders of the families of Levi approached Eleazar, the priest, and Joshua, the son of Nun, and the rulers of the extended families of each of the tribes of the sons of Israel. (21:2) And they spoke to them at Shiloh, in the land of Canaan, and they said, “The Lord instructed, by the hand of Moses, that cities should be given to us as habitations, with their suburbs to nourish our cattle.” (21:3) And so the sons of Israel gave cities and their suburbs from their possessions, in accord with the order of the Lord. (21:4) And the lot went out for the family of Kohath, of the sons of Aaron, the priest, from the tribes of Judah and Simeon and Benjamin: thirteen cities. (21:5) And to the remainder of the sons of Kohath, that is, to the Levites who were left over, there went, from the tribes of Ephraim and Dan, and from the one half tribe of Manasseh, ten cities. (21:6) And next the lot went out to the sons of Gershon, so that they would receive, from the tribes of Issachar and Asher and Naphtali, and from the one half tribe of Manasseh at Bashan: the number of thirteen cities. (21:7) And to the sons of Merari, by their families, from the tribes of Reuben and Gad and Zebulun, there went twelve cities. (21:8) And so the sons of Israel gave cities and their suburbs to the Levites, just as the Lord instructed by the hand of Moses, distributing to each by lot. (21:9) From the tribes of the sons of Judah and Simeon, Joshua gave cities, whose names are these: (21:10) to the sons of Aaron, of the families of Kohath of the stock of Levi, (for the first lot went out for them,) (21:11) the city of Arba, the father of Anak, which is called Hebron, on the mountain of Judah, and its surrounding suburbs. (21:12) Yet truly, the fields and its villages he had given to Caleb, the son of Jephunneh, as a possession. (21:13) Therefore, he gave to the sons of Aaron the priest, Hebron as a city of refuge, as well as its suburbs, and Libnah, with its suburbs, (21:14) and Jattir, and Eshtemoa, (21:15) and Holon, and Debir, (21:16) and Ain, and Juttah, and Beth-shemesh, with their suburbs: nine cities from two tribes, just as has been said. (21:17) Then, from the tribe of the sons of Benjamin, he gave Gibeon, and Geba, (21:18) and Anathoth, and Almon, with their suburbs: four cities. (21:19) All the cities together of the sons of Aaron, the priest, were thirteen, with their suburbs. (21:20) Yet truly, the remainder of the families of the sons of Kohath, of the stock of Levi, were given this possession: (21:21) from the tribe of Ephraim, Shechem, one of the cities of refuge, with its suburbs, on mount Ephraim, and Gezer, (21:22) and Kibzaim, and Beth-horon, with their suburbs, four cities; (21:23) and from the tribe of Dan, Elteke and Gibbethon, (21:24) and Aijalon and Gath-Rimmon, with their suburbs, four cities; (21:25) then, from the one half tribe of Manasseh, Taanach and Gath-Rimmon, with their suburbs, two cities. (21:26) All the cities were ten, with their suburbs; these were given to the sons of Kohath, of the lesser degree. (21:27) Likewise, to the sons of Gershon, of the stock of Levi, from the one half tribe of Manasseh, went Golan in Bashan, one of the cities of refuge, and Bosra, with their suburbs, two cities; (21:28) also, from the tribe of Issachar, Kishion, and Daberath, (21:29) and Jarimath, and Engannim, with their suburbs, four cities; (21:30) then, from the tribe of Asher, Mishal and Abdon, (21:31) and Helkath and Rehob, with their suburbs, four cities; (21:32) likewise, from the tribe of Naphtali, Kedesh in Galilee, one of the cities of refuge, and Hammoth-Dor, and Kartan, with their suburbs, three cities. (21:33) All the cities of the families of Gershon were thirteen, with their suburbs. (21:34) Then, to the sons of Merari, Levites of the lesser degree, by their families, were given, from the tribe of Zebulun, Jokneam and Kartah, (21:35) and Dimnah and Nahalal, four cities with their suburbs; (21:36) from the tribe of Reuben, beyond the Jordan, opposite Jericho, Bezer in the wilderness, one of the cities of refuge, Misor and Jazer, and Jethson and Mephaath, four cities with their suburbs; (21:37) from the tribe of Gad, Ramoth of Gilead, one of the cities of refuge, and Mahanaim and Heshbon and Jazer, four cities with their suburbs. (21:38) All the cities of the sons of Merari, by their families and extended families, were twelve. (21:39) And so all the cities of the Levites, in the midst of the possession of the sons of Israel, were forty-eight, (21:40) with their suburbs, each distributed by families. (21:41) And the Lord God gave to Israel all the land that he had sworn he would deliver to their fathers. And they possessed it, and they lived in it. (21:42) And he gave them peace with all the surrounding nations. And none of their enemies dared to stand against them; instead, they were brought under their sovereignty. (21:43) Indeed, not so much as one word that he had promised to provide for them was left empty; instead, everything was fulfilled.

Joshua 22 (22:1) In the same time, Joshua called the Reubenites, and the Gadites, and the one half tribe of Manasseh. (22:2) And he said to them: “You have done all that Moses, the servant of the Lord, instructed you. You have also obeyed me in all things. (22:3) Neither have you forsaken your brothers during this long time, even to the present day, keeping the orders of the Lord your God. (22:4) Therefore, since the Lord your God has given your brothers peace and quiet, just as he promised: return, and go into your tents and into the land of your possession, which Moses, the servant of the Lord, delivered to you beyond the Jordan. (22:5) And may you continue to observe attentively, and to work to fulfill, the commandment and the law that Moses, the servant of the Lord, instructed to you, so that you may love the Lord your God, and walk in all his ways, and keep all his commandments, and cling to him, and serve him with all your heart and with all your soul.” (22:6) And Joshua blessed them, and he sent them away. And they returned to their tents. (22:7) Now to the one half tribe of Manasseh, Moses had given a possession in Bashan. And therefore, to the one half that was left over, Joshua gave a lot among the remainder of their brothers across the Jordan, in the western region. And when he had blessed them and dismissed them to their tents, (22:8) he said to them: “Return to your settlements with much substance and wealth, with silver and gold, brass and iron, and a multitude of garments. Divide the spoils of your enemies with your brothers.”

And the sons of Reuben, and the sons of Gad, and the one half tribe of Manasseh returned, and they went away from the sons of Israel at Shiloh, which is situated in Canaan, so that they might enter into Gilead, the land of their possession, which they had obtained according to the order of the Lord, by the hand of Moses. And when they had arrived at the hills of the Jordan in the land of Canaan, they built an altar of immense magnitude beside the Jordan. And when the sons of Israel had heard of it, and certain messengers had reported to them that the sons of Reuben, and of Gad, and of the one half tribe of Manasseh had built an altar in the land of Canaan, upon the hills of the Jordan, facing the sons of Israel, they all assembled at Shiloh, so that they might go up and battle against them. And in the interim, they sent to them, in the land of Gilead, Phinehas, the son of Eleazar, the priest, and ten leaders with him, one from each tribe. And they went to the sons of Reuben, and of Gad, and of the one half tribe of Manasseh, in the land of Gilead, and they said to them: “All the people of the Lord declare this: What is this transgression? Why have you forsaken the Lord, the God of Israel, by building a sacrilegious altar, and by withdrawing from the worship of him? Is it a small thing to you that you have sinned with Baal of Peor, and that the stain of that crime continues among us, even to the present day? And many of the people have fallen. But if you consider the land of your possession to be unclean, cross over to the land in which is the tabernacle of the Lord, and live among us. But do not withdraw from the Lord, and from our fellowship, by building an altar contrary to the altar of the Lord our God. Did not Achan, the son of Zerah, go against the commandment of the Lord, and so his wrath was laid over all the people of Israel? And he was only one man. If only he had perished in his wickedness alone!”

And the sons of Reuben, and of Gad, and of the one half tribe of Manasseh responded to the leaders of the delegation from Israel. “The Lord, the almighty God, the Lord, the almighty God, he knows, and also Israel will understand: If we have constructed this altar with intent of transgression, let him not preserve us, but instead punish us immediately. And if we have acted with a mind so that we might present upon it holocausts, and sacrifice, and victims of peace offerings, contrary to the altar of the Lord our God, which was built before his tabernacle.” And when Phinehas, the priest, and the leaders of the delegation who were with him, had heard this, they were pleased. And they accepted very willingly the words of the sons of Reuben, and of Gad, and of the one half tribe of Manasseh. And Phinehas, the priest, the son of Eleazar, said to them: “Now we know that the Lord is with us. For you are a stranger to this transgression. And so you have freed the sons of Israel from the hand of the Lord.” And he returned with the leaders, from the sons of Reuben and of Gad, out of the land of Gilead, into the parts of Canaan, to the sons of Israel. And he reported to them. And the word pleased all who heard it. And the sons of Israel praised the sons of Reuben, and of Gad, and of the one half tribe of Manasseh, out of the land of Gilead, into the parts of Canaan, to the sons of Israel. And he reported to them. And he said to them: “I am elderly and advanced in age. And you yourselves discern all that the Lord your God has done with all the surrounding nations, in what manner he himself has fought for you. And now, since he has divided to you by lot all the land, from the eastern part of the Jordan even to the great sea, and yet many nations still remain, the Lord your God will destroy them, and he will take them away before your face, and you shall possess the land, just as he has promised you. Even so, be strengthened and be careful that you observe all the things that have been written in the book of the law of Moses, and that you do not turn aside from them, neither to the right, nor to the left. Otherwise, after you have entered to the Gentiles, who will be among you in the future, you might swear by the name of their gods, and serve them, and adore them. Instead, cling to the Lord your God, just as you have done even to this day. And then the Lord God will take away, in your sight, nations that are great and very robust, and no one will be able to withstand you. One of you shall pursue a thousand men of the enemies. For the Lord your God himself will fight on your behalf, just as he promised. Even so, be very diligent and careful in this: that you love the Lord your God. But if you choose to cling to the errors of these nations that live among you, and to mix with them by marriage, and to join with them by friendship, even now, know this: that the Lord your God will not wipe them away before your face. Instead, they shall be a pit and a snare to you, and a stumbling block at your side, and stakes in your eyes, until he takes you away and scatters you from this excellent land, which he has delivered to you. Lo, today I am entering the way of the entire earth, and you shall know with all your mind that, out of all the words that the Lord has promised to fulfill for you, not one will pass by unfulfilled. (23:15) Therefore, just as he has fulfilled in deed what he has promised, and all prosperous things have arrived, so will he bring upon you whatever evils were threatened, until he takes you away and scatters you from this excellent land, which he has delivered to you, (23:16) when you will have transgressed the covenant of the Lord your God, which he has formed with you, and will have served strange gods, and will have adored them. And then the fury of the Lord will rise up quickly and speedily against you, and you will be taken away from this excellent land, which he has delivered to you.”

[Joshua 24]  {24:1} And Joshua gathered together all the tribes of Israel at Shechem, and he called those greater by birth, and the leaders and judges and teachers. And they stood in the sight of the Lord. (24:2) And he spoke to the people in this way: “Thus says the Lord, the God of Israel: ‘Your fathers lived, in the beginning, across the river: Terah, the father of Abraham, and Nahor. And they served strange gods. (24:3) Then I brought your father Abraham from the parts of Mesopotamia, and I led him into the land of Canaan. And I multiplied his offspring, (24:4) and I gave to him Isaac. And to him, I gave again Jacob and Esau. And I gave mount Seir to Esau as a possession. Yet truly, Jacob and his sons descended into Egypt. (24:5) And I sent Moses and Aaron, and I struck Egypt with many signs and portents. (24:6) And I led you and your fathers away from Egypt, and you arrived at the sea. And the Egyptians pursued your fathers with chariots and horsemen, as far as the Red Sea. (24:7) Then the sons of Israel cried out to the Lord. And he stationed a darkness between you and the Egyptians, and he led the sea over them, and he covered them. Your eyes saw all that I did in Egypt, and you lived in the wilderness for a long time. (24:8) And I led you into the land of the Amorite, who was living beyond the Jordan. And when they fought against you, I delivered them into your hands, and you possessed their land, and you put them to death. (24:9) Then Balak, the son of Zippor, the king of Moab, rose up and fought against Israel. (24:10) And I was not willing to listen to him, but on the contrary, I blessed you through him, and I freed you from his hand. (24:11) And you crossed over the Jordan, and you arrived at Jericho. And the men of that city fought against you: the Amorite, and the Perizzite, and the Canaanite, and the Hittite, and the Girgasite, and the Hivite, and the Jebusite. And I delivered them into your hands. (24:12) And I sent wasps before you. And I drove them from their places, the two kings of the Amorites, but not by your sword, and not by your bow. (24:13) And I gave you a land, in which you did not labor, and cities, which you did not build, so that you might live in them, and vineyards and olive groves, which you did not plant. ’ (24:14) Now therefore, fear the Lord, and serve him with a perfect and very sincere heart. And take away the gods that your fathers served in Mesopotamia and in Egypt, and serve the Lord. (24:15) But if it seems evil to you that you would serve the Lord, a choice is given to you. Choose today what pleases you, and whom you ought to serve above all else, either the gods that your fathers served in Mesopotamia, or the gods of the Amorites, in whose land you live: but as for me and my house, we will serve the Lord.” (24:16) And the people responded, and they said: “Far be it from us that we would forsake the Lord, and serve foreign gods. (24:17) The Lord our God himself led us and our fathers away from the land of Egypt, from the house of servitude. And he accomplished immense signs in our sight, and he preserved us along the entire way by which we journeyed, and among all the people through whom we passed. (24:18) And he cast out all the nations, the Amorite, the inhabitant of the land that we entered. And so, we will serve the Lord, for he is our God.” (24:19) And Joshua said to the people: “You will not be able to serve the Lord. For he is a holy and powerful God, and he is jealous, and he will not ignore your wickedness and sins. (24:20) If you leave behind the Lord, and you serve foreign gods, he will turn himself, and he will afflict you, and he will overthrow you, after all the good that he has offered to you.” (24:21) And the people said to Joshua, “By no means will it be as you are saying, but we will serve the Lord.” (24:22) And Joshua said to the people, “You yourselves are witnesses, that you have chosen the Lord so that you may serve him.” And they answered, “We are witnesses.” (24:23) “Now therefore,” he said, “take away strange gods from among yourselves, and incline your hearts to the Lord, the God of Israel.” (24:24) And the people said to Joshua, “We will serve the Lord our God, and we will be obedient to his precepts.” (24:25) Therefore, on that day, Joshua struck a covenant, and he set before the people at Shechem the precepts and the judgments. (24:26) He also wrote all these things in the volume of the law of the Lord. And he took a very great stone, and he stationed it under the oak that was in the Sanctuary of the Lord. (24:27) And he said to all the people, “Lo, this stone shall be to you as a testimony, which has heard all the words of the Lord that he has spoken to you, lest perhaps, afterward, you might choose to deny it, and to lie to the Lord your God.” (24:28) And he dismissed the people, each one to their own possession. (24:29) And after these things, Joshua, the son of Nun, the servant of the Lord, died, being one hundred and ten years old. (24:30) And they buried him within the borders of his possession at Timnath-Serah, which is situated on mount Ephraim, before the northern side of mount Gaash. (24:31) And Israel served the Lord during all the days of Joshua, and of the elders who lived for a long time after Joshua, and who had known all the works of the Lord that he had accomplished in Israel. (24:32) And the bones of Joseph, which the sons of Israel had brought from Egypt, they buried at Shechem, in a portion of the field that Jacob had purchased from the sons of Hamor, the father of Shechem, for one hundred young female sheep, and so it was in the possession of the sons of Joseph. (24:33) Likewise, Eleazar, the son of Aaron, died. And they buried him at Gibeah, which belongs to Phinehas, his son, and which was given to him on mount Ephraim.

 The Book of Judges **

[Judges 1]  {1:1} After the death of Joshua, the sons of Israel consulted the Lord, saying, “Who will ascend before us, against the Canaanite, and who will be the commander of the war?” {1:2} And the Lord said: “Judah shall ascend. Behold, I have delivered the land into his hands.” {1:3} And Judah said to his brother Simeon, “Go up with me to my lot, and fight against the Canaanite, so that I also may go forth with you to your lot.” And Simeon went with him. {1:4} And Judah went up, and the Lord delivered the Canaanite, as well as the Perizzite, into their hands. And they struck down ten thousand of the men at Bezek. {1:5} And they found Adonibezek at Bezek, and they fought against him, and they struck down the Canaanite and the Perizzite. {1:6} Then Adonibezek fled. And they pursued him and captured him, and they cut off the ends of his hands and feet. {1:7} And Adonibezek said: “Seventy kings, with the ends of their hands and feet amputated, have been gathering the remnant of food under my table. Just as I have done, so has God repaid me.” And they brought him to Jerusalem, and he died there. {1:8} Then the sons of Judah, besieging Jerusalem, seized it. And they struck it with edge of the sword, delivering the entire city to be burned. {1:9} And afterward, descending, they fought against the Canaanites who were living in the mountains, and in the south, and in the plains. {1:10} And Judah, going forth against the Canaanites who were living at Hebron, (the name of which from antiquity was Kiriath-Arba) struck down Sheshai, and Ahiman, and Talmai. {1:11} And continuing on from there, he went to the inhabitants of Debir, the old name of which was Kiriath-Sepher, that is, the City of Letters. {1:12} And Caleb said, “Whoever will strike Kiriath-Sepher, and will lay waste to it, I will give to him my daughter Achsah as wife.” {1:13} And when Othniel, the son of Kenaz, a younger brother of Caleb, had seized it, he gave his daughter Achsah to him in marriage. {1:14} And as she was traveling on a journey, her husband admonished her, so that she would request a field from her father. And since she had sighed while sitting on her donkey, Caleb said to her, “What is it?” {1:15} But she responded: “Give a blessing to me. For you have given me a dry land. Also give a watered land.” Therefore, Caleb gave to her the upper watered land and the lower watered land. {1:16} Now the sons of the Kenite, the relative of Moses, ascended from the City of Palms, with the sons of Judah, into the wilderness of his lot, which is toward the south of Arad. And they lived with him. {1:17} Then Judah went out with his brother Simeon, and together they struck the Canaanites who were living at Zephath, and they put them to death. And the name of the city was called Hormah, that is, Anathema. {1:18} And Judah seized Gaza, with its parts, and Ashkelon as well as Ekron, with their borders. {1:19} And the Lord was with Judah, and he possessed the mountains. But he was not able to wipe out the inhabitants of the valley. For they abounded with chariots armed with scythes. {1:20} And just as Moses had said, they gave Hebron to Caleb, who destroyed out of it the three sons of Anak. {1:21} But the sons of Benjamin did not wipe out the Jebusite inhabitants of Jerusalem. And the Jebusite has lived with the sons of Benjamin in Jerusalem, even to the present day. {1:22} The house of Joseph also ascended against Bethel, and the Lord was with them. {1:23} For when they were besieging the city, which was previously called Luz, {1:24} they saw a man departing from the city, and they said to him, “Reveal to us the entrance to the city, and we will act with mercy toward you.” {1:25} And when he had revealed it to them, they struck the city with the edge of the sword. But that man, and all his relatives, they released. {1:26} And having been sent away, he went out to the land of the Hittites, and he built a city there, and he called it Luz. And so it is called, even to the present day. {1:27} Likewise, Manasseh did not destroy Bethshean and Taanach, with their villages, nor the inhabitants of Dor and Ibleam and Megiddo, with their villages. And the Canaanite began to live with them. {1:28} Then, after Israel had grown strong, he made them tributaries, but he was not willing to destroy them. {1:29} And now Ephraim did not put to death the Canaanite, who was living at Gezer; instead, he lived with him. {1:30} Zebulun did not wipe out the inhabitants of Kitron and of Nahalal. Instead, the Canaanite lived in their midst and became their tributary. {1:31} Likewise, Asher did not destroy the inhabitants of Acco and Sidon, Aklab and Achzib, and Helbah, and Aphik, and Rehob. {1:32} And he lived in the midst of the Canaanites, the inhabitants of that land, for he did not put them to death. {1:33} Naphtali also did not wipe out the inhabitants of Beth-shemesh and Bethanath. And he lived among the Canaanite inhabitants of the land. And the Beth-shemeshites and Bethanathites were tributaries to him. {1:34} And the Amorite hemmed in the sons of Dan on the mountain, and did not give them a place, so that they might descend to the flatlands. {1:35} And he lived on the mountain at Har-heres, which is translated as resembling brick,’ and at Aijalon and Sha-alabbin. But the hand of the house of Joseph was very heavy, and he became a tributary to him. {1:36} Now the border of the Amorite was from the Ascent of the Scorpion, to the Rock and the higher places.

[Judges 2] {2:1} And an Angel of the Lord went up from Gilgal to the Place of Weeping, and he said: “I led you away from Egypt, and I led you into the land, about which I swore to your fathers. And I promised that I would not nullify my covenant with you, even forever: {2:2} but only if you would burn their altars. Yet you were not willing to listen to my voice. Why have you done this? {2:3} For this reason, I am not willing to destroy them before your face, so that you may have enemies, and so that their gods may be your ruin.” {2:4} And when the Angel of the Lord spoke these words to all the sons of Israel, they lifted up their voice, and they wept. {2:5} And the name of that place was called, the Place of Weeping, or the Place of Tears. And they immolated victims to the Lord in that place. {2:6} Then Joshua dismissed the people, and the sons of Israel went away, each one to his own possession, so that they might obtain it. {2:7} And they served the Lord, during all his days, and during all the days of the elders, who lived for a long time after him, and who knew all the works of the Lord, which he had done for Israel. {2:8} Then Joshua, the son of Nun, the servant of the Lord, died, being one hundred and ten years old. {2:9} And they buried him in the parts of his possession at Timnath-Serah, on Mount Ephraim, before the northern side of Mount Gaash. {2:10} And that entire generation was gathered to their fathers. And there rose up others, who had not known the Lord and the works that he had done for Israel. {2:11} And the sons of Israel did evil in the sight of the Lord, and they served the Baals. {2:12} And they abandoned the Lord, the God of their fathers, who had led them away from the land of Egypt. And they followed foreign gods and the gods of the peoples who were living around them, and they adored them. And they provoked the Lord to wrath, {2:13} forsaking him, and serving Baal and Ashtaroth. {2:14} And the Lord, having become angry against Israel, delivered them into the hands of plunderers, who seized them and sold them to the enemies that were living on all sides. Neither were they able to withstand their adversaries. {2:15} Instead, wherever they wanted to go, the hand of the Lord was upon them, just as he said and just as he swore to them. And they were greatly afflicted. {2:16} And the Lord raised up judges, who would free them from the hands of their oppressors. But they were not willing to listen to them. {2:17} Fornicating with foreign gods and adoring them, they quickly deserted the way along which their fathers had advanced. And having heard the commandments of the Lord, they did all things to the contrary. {2:18} And while the Lord was raising up the judges, in their days, he was moved to mercy, and he listened to the groaning of the afflicted, and he freed them from the slaughter of their oppressors. {2:19} But after a judge had died, they turned back, and they were doing much worse things than their fathers had done, following strange gods, serving them, and adoring them. They did not abandon their pursuits and their very stubborn way, by which they were accustomed to walk. {2:20} And the fury of the Lord was enraged against Israel, and he said: “For this people has made void my covenant, which I had formed with their fathers, and they have despised listening to my voice. {2:21} And so, I will not destroy the nations that Joshua left behind when he died, {2:22} so that, by them, I may test Israel, as to whether or not they will keep the way of the Lord, and walk in it, just as their fathers kept it.” {2:23} Therefore, the Lord left all these nations, and he was not willing to quickly overthrow them, nor did he deliver them into the hands of Joshua.

[Judges 3] {3:1} These are the nations which the Lord left, so that by them he might instruct Israel and all who had not known the wars of the Canaanites, {3:2} so that afterward their sons might learn to contend with their enemies, and to have a willingness to do battle: {3:3} the five princes of the Philistines, and all the Canaanites, and the Sidonians, and the Hivites who were living on Mount Lebanon, from Mount Baal-Hermon as far as the entrance to Hamath. {3:4} And he left them, so that by them he might test Israel, as to whether or not they would listen to the commandments of the Lord, which he instructed to their fathers by the hand of Moses. {3:5} And so, the sons of Israel lived in the midst of the Canaanite, and the Hittite, and the Amorite, and the Perizzite, and the Hivite, and the Jebusite. {3:6} And they took their daughters as wives, and they gave their own daughters to their sons, and they served their gods. {3:7} And they did evil in the sight of the Lord, and they forgot their God, while serving the Baals and Ashterroth. {3:8} And the Lord, having become angry with Israel, delivered them into the hands of Cushan-Rishathaim, the king of Mesopotamia, and they served him for eight years. {3:9} And they cried out to the Lord, who raised up for them a savior, and he freed them, namely, Othniel, the son of Kenaz, a younger brother of Caleb. {3:10} And the Spirit of the Lord was in him, and he judged Israel. And he went out to fight, and the Lord delivered Cushan-Rishathaim, the king of Syria, and he overwhelmed him. {3:11} And the land was quiet for forty years. And Othniel, the son of Kenaz, died. {3:12} Then the sons of Israel resumed doing evil in the sight of the Lord, who strengthened Eglon, the king of Moab, against them because they did evil in his sight. {3:13} And he joined to him the sons of Ammon and the sons of Amalek. And he went forth and struck Israel, and he possessed the City of Palms. {3:14} And the sons of Israel served Eglon, the king of Moab, for eighteen years. {3:15} And afterward, they cried out to the Lord, who raised up for them a savior, called Ehud, the son of Gera, the son of Benjamin, who used either hand as well as the right hand. And the sons of Israel sent gifts to Eglon, the king of Moab, by him. {3:16} And he made for himself a two-edged sword, having a handle, reaching to the middle, the length of the palm of a hand. And he was girded with it under his cloak, on the right thigh. {3:17} And he offered the gifts to Eglon, the king of Moab. Now Eglon was exceedingly fat. {3:18} And when he had presented the gifts to him, he followed out his companions, who had arrived with him. {3:19} And then, returning from Gilgal where the idols were, he said to the king, “I have a secret word for you, O king.” And he ordered silence. And when all those who were around him had departed, {3:20} Ehud entered to him. Now he was sitting alone in a summer upper room. And he said, “I have a word from God to you.” And immediately he rose up from his throne. {3:21} And Ehud extended his left hand, and he took the dagger from his right thigh. And he thrust it into his abdomen {3:22} so strongly that the handle followed the blade into the wound, and was enclosed by the great amount of fat. Neither did he withdraw the sword. Instead, he left it in the body just as he had struck with it. And immediately, by the private parts of nature, the filth of the bowels went out. {3:23} Then Ehud carefully closed the doors of the upper room. And securing the bars, {3:24} he departed by a back exit. And the servants of the king, entering, saw that the doors of the upper room were closed, and they said, “Perhaps he is emptying his bowels in the summer room.” {3:25} And after waiting a long time, until they were embarrassed, and seeing that no one opened the door, they took the key, and opening it, they found their lord lying dead on the ground. {3:26} But Ehud, while they were in confusion, escaped and passed by the place of the idols, from which he had returned. And he arrived at Seirath. {3:27} And immediately he sounded the trumpet on Mount Ephraim. And the sons of Israel descended with him, he himself advancing at the front. {3:28} And he said to them: “Follow me. For the Lord has delivered our enemies, the Moabites, into our hands.” And they descended after him, and they occupied the fords of the Jordan, which cross over to Moab. And they did not permit anyone to cross. {3:29} And so, they struck down the Moabites at that time, about ten thousand, all strong and robust men. None of them were able to escape. {3:30} And Moab was humbled in that day under the hand of Israel. And the land was quiet for eighty years. {3:31} After him, there was Shamgar, the son of Anath, who struck down six hundred men of the Philistines with a plowshare. And he also defended Israel.

[Judges 4] {4:1} But after the death of Ehud, the sons of Israel resumed doing evil in the sight of the Lord. {4:2} And the Lord delivered them into the hands of Jabin, the king of Canaan, who reigned at Hazor. And he had a commander of his army named Sisera, but this man lived at Harosheth of the Gentiles. {4:3} And the sons of Israel cried out to the Lord. For he had nine hundred chariots with scythes, and he vehemently oppressed them for twenty years. {4:4} Now there was a prophetess, Deborah, the wife of Lappidoth, who judged the people in that time. {4:5} And she was sitting under a palm tree, which was called by her name, between Ramah and Bethel, on Mount Ephraim. And the sons of Israel went up to her for every judgment. {4:6} And she sent and called Barak, the son of Abinoam, from Kedesh of Naphtali. And she said to him: “The Lord, the God of Israel, instructs you: ‘Go and lead an army to Mount Tabor, and you shall take with you ten thousand fighting men from the sons of Naphtali and from the sons of Zebulun. {4:7} Then I will lead you, at the place of the torrent Kishon, Sisera, the leader of the army of Jabin, with his chariots and the entire multitude. And I will deliver them into your hand.' ” {4:8} And Barak said to her: “If you will come with me, I will go. If you are not willing to come with me, I will not go.” {4:9} She said to him: “Indeed, I will go with you. But due to this change, the victory shall not be reputed to you. And so Sisera will be delivered into the hand of a woman.” Therefore, Deborah rose up, and she traveled with Barak to Kedesh. {4:10} And he, summoning Zebulun and Naphtali, ascended with ten thousand fighting men, having Deborah in his company. {4:11} Now Heber, the Kenite, had previously withdrawn from the rest of the Kenites, his brothers, the sons of Hobab, the relative of Moses. And he had pitched his tents as far as the valley that is called Zaananim, which was near Kedesh. {4:12} And it was reported to Sisera that Barak, the son of Abinoam, had ascended to Mount Tabor. {4:13} And he gathered together the nine hundred chariots with scythes, and the entire army, from Harosheth of the Gentiles to the torrent Kishon. {4:14} And Deborah said to Barak: “Rise up. For this is the day on which the Lord delivers Sisera into your hands. For he is your commander.” And so, Barak descended from Mount Tabor, and the ten thousand fighting men with him. {4:15} And the Lord struck Sisera with great fear, and all his chariots and all his multitude with the edge of the sword, in the sight of Barak, so much so that Sisera, leaping from his chariot, fled on foot. {4:16} And Barak pursued the fleeing chariots, and the army, as far as Harosheth of the Gentiles. And the entire multitude of the enemy was cut down, unto utter annihilation. {4:17} But Sisera, while fleeing, arrived at the tent of Jaël, the wife of Heber, the Kenite. For there was peace between Jabin, the king of Hazor, and the house of Heber, the Kenite. {4:18} Therefore, Jaël went out to meet Sisera, and she said to him: “Enter to me, my lord. Enter, you should not be afraid.” And he entered her tent, and having been covered by her with a cloak, {4:19} he said to her: “Give me, I beg you, a little water. For I am very thirsty.” And she opened a bottle of milk, and she gave him to drink. And she covered him. {4:20} And Sisera said to her: “Stand before the door of the tent. And if anyone arrives, questioning you and saying, ‘Could there be any man here?’ you shall respond, ‘There is no one.’ ” {4:21} And so Jaël, the wife of Heber, took a spike from the tent, and also took a mallet. And entering unseen and with silence, she placed the spike over the temple of his head. And striking it with the mallet, she drove it through his brain, as far as the ground. And so, joining deep sleep to death, he fell unconscious and died. {4:22} And behold, Barak arrived, in pursuit of Sisera. And Jaël, going out to meet him, said to him, “Come, and I will show you the man whom you are seeking.” And when he had entered her tent, he saw Sisera lying dead, with the spike fixed in his temples. {4:23} Thus did God humble Jabin, the king of Canaan, on that day, before the sons of Israel. {4:24} And they increased every day. And with a strong hand they overpowered Jabin, the king of Canaan, until they wiped him out.

[Judges 5] {5:1} In that day, Deborah and Barak, the son of Abinoam, sang out, saying: {5:2} “All you of Israel who have willingly offered your lives to danger, bless the Lord! {5:3} Listen, O kings! Pay attention, O princes! It is I, it is I, who will sing to the Lord. I will sing a psalm to the Lord, the God of Israel! {5:4} O Lord, when you departed from Seir, and you crossed through the regions of Edom, the earth and the heavens were moved, and the clouds rained down water. {5:5} The mountains flowed away before the face of the Lord, and Sinai, before the face of the Lord God of Israel. {5:6} In the days of Shamgar, the son of Anath, in the days of Jael, the paths were quiet. And whoever entered by them, walked along rough byways. {5:7} The strong men ceased, and they rested in Israel, until Deborah rose up, until a mother rose up in Israel. {5:8} The Lord chose new wars, and he himself overthrew the gates of the enemies. A shield with a spear was not seen among the forty thousand of Israel. {5:9} My heart loves the leaders of Israel. All you who, of your own free will, offered yourselves during a crisis, bless the Lord. {5:10} You who ride upon donkeys laboring, and you who sit in judgment, and you who walk along the way, speak out. {5:11} Where the chariots were struck together, and the army of the enemies was choked, in that place, let the justices of the Lord be described, and let his clemency be for the brave of Israel. Then did the people of the Lord descend to the gates, and obtain leadership. {5:12} Rise up, rise up, O Deborah! Rise up, rise up, and speak a canticle! Rise up, Barak, and seize your captives, O son of Abinoam. {5:13} The remnant of the people were saved. The Lord contended with the strong. {5:14} Out of Ephraim, he destroyed those with Amalek, and after him, out of Benjamin, those of your people, O Amalek. From Machir, there descended leaders, and from Zebulun, those who led the army to war. {5:15} The commanders of Issachar were with Deborah, and they followed the steps of Barak, who endangered himself, like one rushing headlong into a chasm. Reuben was divided against himself. Contention was found among great souls. {5:16} Why do you live between two borders, so that you hear the bleating of the flocks? Reuben was divided against himself. Contention was found among great souls. {5:17} Gilead rested beyond the Jordan, and Dan was occupied with ships. Asher was living on the shore of the sea, and dwelling in the ports. {5:18} Yet truly, Zebulun and Naphtali offered their lives to death in the region of Merom. {5:19} The kings came and fought; the kings of Canaan fought at Taanach, beside the waters of Megiddo. And yet they took no spoils. {5:20} The conflict against them was from heaven. The stars, remaining in their order and courses, fought against Sisera. {5:21} The torrent of Kishon dragged away their carcasses, the onrushing torrent, the torrent of Kishon. O my soul, tread upon the stawalt! {5:22} The hoofs of the horses were broken, while the strongest of the enemies fled away with fury, and rushed on to ruin. {5:23} ‘Cursed be the land of Meroz!’ said the Angel of the Lord. ‘Cursed be its inhabitants! For they did not come to the aid of the Lord, to the assistance of his most valiant men.’ {5:24} Blessed among women is Jaël, the wife of Heber the
And responding, he said: "I beg you, my lord, with Israel from the hand of Midian. Know that I have sent you."

Lord led us away from Egypt.' But now the Lord has us, why have these things happened to us? Where are his Gideon said to him: "I beg you, my lord, if the Lord is with you, most valiant of men."

The Lord is with you, most valiant of men." And an Angel of the Lord appeared to him, and he said: "Thus says the Lord, who brought you from Egypt, "You shall not fear the gods of the Egyptians and from all of the multitude of men and camels, devastating whatever they touched. And Israel was humbled greatly in the sight of the Lord, who delivered them into the hand of Midian for seven years. And they were greatly oppressed by them. And they made for themselves hollows and caves in the mountains, and very fortified places for defense. And when Israel had planted, Midian and Amalek, and the rest of the eastern nations ascended, and pitching their tents among them, they laid waste to all that was planted, as far as the eastern nations ascended, and pitching their tents among them, they laid waste to all that was planted, as far as the entrance to Gaza. And they left behind nothing at all to sustain life in Israel, neither sheep, nor oxen, nor donkeys. For they and all their flocks arrived with their tents, and they filled all places like locusts, an innumerable multitude of men and camels, devastating whatever they touched. And Israel was humbled greatly in the sight of Midian. And he cried out to the Lord, requesting assistance against the Midianites. And he sent to them a man who was a prophet, and he said: "Thus says the Lord, the God of Israel: 'I caused you to ascend from Egypt, and I led you away from the house of servitude. And I freed you from the hand of the Egyptians and from all of the enemies who were afflicting you. And I cast them out at your arrival, and I delivered their land to you. And I said: I am the Lord your God. You shall not fear the gods of the Amorites, in whose land you live. But you were not willing to listen to my voice.' "

Then an Angel of the Lord arrived, and he sat under an oak tree, which was at Ophrah, where Gideon was threshing and cleaning the grain at the winepress, so that he might follow him. And when he was still at Ophrah, which is of the family of Ezri, that night, the Lord said to him: "Take a bull of your father's, and another bull of seven years, and a bull of the sons of Sebethaiah, and a bull of the sons of Joash, and a goat, and he made unleavened bread from a measure of flour. And setting the flesh in a basket, and putting the broth of the flesh in a pot, he took it all under the oak tree, and he offered it to him. And the Angel of the Lord said to him, "Take the flesh and the unleavened bread, and place them on that rock, and pour out the broth upon it." And when he had done so, the Angel of the Lord extended the end of a staff, which he was holding in his hand, and he touched the flesh and the unleavened loaves. And a fire ascended from the rock, and it consumed the flesh and the unleavened loaves. Then the Angel of the Lord vanished from his sight. And Gideon, realizing that it had been the Angel of the Lord, said: "Alas, my Lord God! For I have seen the Angel of the Lord face to face." And the Lord said to him: "Peace be with you. Do not be afraid; you shall not die." Therefore, Gideon built an altar to the Lord there, and he called it, the Peace of the Lord, even to the present day. And while he was still at Ophrah, which is of the family of Ezri, that night, the Lord said to him: "Take a bull of your father's, and another bull of seven years, and you shall destroy the altar of Baal, which is your father's. And you shall cut down the sacred grove which is around the altar. And you shall build an altar to the Lord your God, at the summit of this rock, on which you placed the sacrifice before. And you shall take the second bull, and you shall offer a holocaust upon a pile of the wood, which you shall cut down from the grove." Therefore, Gideon, taking ten men from his servants, did just as the Lord had instructed him. But fearing his father's household, and the men of that city, he was not willing to do it by day. Instead, he completed everything by night. And when the men of that town had risen up in the morning, they saw the altar of Baal destroyed, and the sacred grove cut down, and the second bull set upon the altar, which then had been built. And they said one to another, "Who has done this?" And when they inquired everywhere as to the author of the deed, it was said, "Gideon, the son of Joash, did all these things." And they said to Joash: "Bring forward your son here, so that he may die. For he has destroyed the altar of Baal, and he has cut down the sacred grove." But he responded to them: "Could you be the avengers of Baal, so that you fight on his behalf? Whoever is his adversary, let him die before the light arrives tomorrow; if he is a god, let him vindicate himself against him who has overturned his altar." From that day, Gideon was called Jerubbaal, because Joash had said, "Let Baal avenge himself against him who has overturned his altar." And so, all of Midian, and Amalek, and the eastern peoples were gathered together. And crossing the Jordan, they encamped in the valley of Jezreel. But the Spirit of the Lord entered Gideon, who, sounding the trumpet, summoned the house of Abiezer so that he might follow him. And he sent messengers into all of Manasseh, who also followed him, and other messengers into Asher, and Zebulun, and Naphtali, who went to meet him. [6:36] And Gideon said to God: "If you will save Israel by my hand, just as you have said: [6:37] I will set this wool fleece on the threshing floor. If there will be dew only on the fleece, and all the ground is dry, I will know that by my hand, as you have said, you will free Israel." [6:38] And so it was done. And rising in the night, wringing out the fleece, he filled a vessel with the dew. [6:39] And again he said to God: "Let not your fury be kindled against me, if I test once more, seeking a sign in the fleece. I pray that only the fleece may be dry, and all the ground may be wet with dew." [6:40] And that night, God did as he had requested. And it was dry only on the fleece, and there was dew on all the ground.

[Judges 7] [7:1] And so Jerubbaal, who is also Gideon, rising in the night, and all the people with him, went to the fountain which is called Harod. Now the camp of Midian was in the valley, to the northern region of the high hill. [7:2] And the Lord said to Gideon: "The people with you are many, but Midian shall not be delivered into their hands, for then Israel might glory against me, and say, 'I was freed by my own power.'" [7:3] Speak to the people, and proclaim in the hearing of all, 'Whoever has dread or fear, let him return.' And twenty-two thousand of the men from the people withdrew from Mount Gilead and returned, and only ten thousand remained. [7:4] And the Lord said to Gideon: "The people are still too many. Lead them to the waters, and there I will test them. And those about whom I tell you that he may go with you, let him go; he whom I shall forbid to go, let him return." [7:5] And when the people had descended to the waters, the Lord said to Gideon: "Whoever will lap the water with the tongue, as dogs usually lap, you shall separate them by themselves. Then those who will drink by bending their knees shall be on the other side." [7:6] And so the number of those who had lapped the water, by bringing it with the hand to the mouth, was three hundred men. And all the remainder of the multitude drank by bending the knee. [7:7] And the Lord said to Gideon: "By the three hundred men who lapped the water, I will free you, and I will deliver Midian into your hand. But let all the remainder of the multitude return to their place." [7:8] And so, taking food and trumpets in accord with their number, he instructed all the multitude to return to their place. [7:9] And the Lord said to Gideon: "Rise up, and descend into the camp. For I have delivered them into your hand. But let all the remainder of the multitude return to their place." [7:10] But if you dread to go alone, let your servant Purah descend with you. [7:11] And when you will hear what they are saying, then your hands will be strengthened, and you will descend more confidently to the camp of the enemy." Therefore, he descended with his servant Purah into a portion of the camp, where there was a watch of armed men. [7:12] But Midian, and Amalek, and the eastern peoples lay spread out in the valley, like a multitude of locusts. Their camels, too, were innumerable, like the sand that lies on the shore of the sea. [7:13] And when Gideon had arrived, someone told his neighbor a dream. And he related what he had seen, in this way: "I saw a dream, and it seemed to me as if bread, baked under ashes from rolled barley, descended into the camp of Midian. And whenever it arrived at a tent, it struck it, and overturned it, and utterly leveled it to the ground." [7:14] He to whom he spoke, responded: "This is nothing else but the sword of Gideon, the son of Joash, a man of Israel. For the Lord has delivered Midian into his hands, with their entire camp." [7:15] And when Gideon had heard the dream and its interpretation, he worshipped. And he returned to the camp of Israel, and he said: "Rise up! For the Lord has delivered the camp of Midian into our hands." [7:16] And he divided the three hundred men into three parts. And he gave trumpets, and empty pitchers, and lamps for the middle of the pitchers, into their hands. [7:17] And he said to them: "What you will see me do, do the same. I will enter a portion of the camp, and what I do, you shall follow. [7:18] When the trumpet in my hand blares out, you also shall sound the trumpets, on every side of the camp, and shout together to the Lord and to Gideon." [7:19] And Gideon, and the three hundred men who were with him, entered a portion of the camp, at the beginning of the watch in the middle of the night. And when the guards were alerted, they began to sound the trumpets and to clap the pitchers against one another. [7:20] And when they had sounded their trumpets in three places around the camp, and had broken their water pitchers, they held the lamps in their left hands, and sounded the trumpets in their right hands. And they cried out, "The sword of the Lord and of Gideon!" [7:21] And each one was standing in his place throughout the camp of the enemies. And so the entire camp was in confusion; and they fled away, wailing and crying out. [7:22] And the three hundred men nevertheless continued sounding the trumpets. And the Lord sent the sword into the entire camp, and they maimed and cut down one another, [7:23] fleeing as far as Bethshittah, and the base of Abelmeholah in Tabbath. But the men of Israel pursued Midian, shouting from Naphtali and Asher, and from all of Manasseh. [7:24] And Gideon sent messengers throughout all of Mount Ephraim, saying, "Descend to meet Midian, and occupy the waters ahead of them as far as Bethbarah and the Jordan." And all of Ephraim cried out, and they occupied the waters ahead of them, from the Jordan even to Bethbarah. [7:25] And having apprehended two men of Midian, Oreb and Zeeb, they put Oreb to death at the Rock of Oreb, and truly, Zeeb, at the Winepress of Zeeb. And they pursued Midian, carrying the heads of Oreb and Zeeb to Gideon, across the waters of the Jordan.

[Judges 8] [8:1] And the men of Ephraim said to him, "What is this, that you wanted to do, so that you would not call us when you went to fight against Midian?" And they rebuked him strongly, and came close to using violence. [8:2] And he responded to them: "But what could I have done that would be so great as what you have done? Is not one bunch of grapes of Ephraim better than the vintages of Abiezer? [8:3] The Lord has delivered into your hands the leaders of Midian, Oreb and Zeeb. What could I have done that would be so great as what you have done?" And when he had said this, their spirit, which was swelling up against him, was quieted. [8:4] And when Gideon had arrived at the Jordan, he crossed over it with the three hundred men who were with him. And they were so weary that they were unable to pursue those who were fleeing. [8:5] And he said to the men of Succoth, "I beg you, give bread to the people who are with me, for they are greatly weakened, so that we may be able to pursue Zebah and Zalmunna, the kings of Midian." {8:6} The leaders of Succoth answered, "Perhaps the palms of the hands of Zebah and Zalmunna are in your hand, and for this reason, you request that we give bread to your army." {8:7} And he said to them, "So then, when the Lord will have delivered Zebah and Zalmunna into my hands, I will thresh your flesh with the thorns and briers of the desert." {8:8} And going up from there, he arrived at Penuel. And he spoke to the men of that place similarly. And they also answered him, just as the men of Succoth had answered. {8:9} And so he said to them also, "When I will have returned as a victor in peace, I will destroy this tower." {8:10} Now Zebah and Zalmunna were resting with their entire army. For fifteen thousand men were left out of all the troops of the eastern people. And one hundred twenty thousand warriors that drew the sword had been cut down. {8:11} And Gideon ascended by the way of those who were dwelling in tents, to the eastern part of Nobah and Jogbehah. And he struck the camp of the enemies, who were confident and were suspecting nothing adverse. {8:12} And Zebah and Zalmunna fled. And Gideon pursued and overtook them, sending their entire army into confusion. {8:13} And returning from the war before sunrise, {8:14} he took a boy from among the men of Succoth. And he asked him the names of the leaders and elders of Succoth. And he described seventy-seven men. {8:15} And he went to Succoth, and he said to them: "Behold Zebah and Zalmunna, over whom you rebuked me, saying: 'Perhaps the hands of Zebah and Zalmunna are in your hands, and for this reason, you request that we give bread to men who are languishing and weakened.'" {8:16} Therefore, he took the elders of the city, and, using the thorns and briers of the desert, he threshed them with these, and he cut the men of Succoth to pieces. {8:17} He also overturned the tower of Penuel, and he killed the men of the city. {8:18} And he said to Zebah and Zalmunna, "What kind of men were those whom you killed at Tabor?" They responded, "They were like you, and one of them was like the son of a king." {8:19} He answered them: "They were my brothers, the sons of my mother. As the Lord lives, if you had preserved them, I would not kill you." {8:20} And he said to Jether, his firstborn son, "Rise up, and put them to death." But he did not draw his sword. For he was afraid, being still a boy. {8:21} And Zebah and Zalmunna said: "You should rise up and rush against us. For the strength of a man is in accord with his age." Gideon rose up, and he killed Zebah and Zalmunna. And he took the ornaments and studs, with which the necks of the royal camels are usually adorned. {8:22} And all the men of Israel said to Gideon: "You should rule over us, and your son, and your son's son. For you freed us from the hand of Midian." {8:23} And he said to them: "I will not rule over you. Neither shall my son rule over you. Instead, the Lord shall rule over you." {8:24} And he said to them: "I petition one request from you. Give me the earrings from your spoils." For the Ishmaelites were accustomed to wear gold earrings. {8:25} They responded, "We are very willing to give them." And spreading a cloak on the ground, they cast upon it the earrings from the spoils. {8:26} And the weight of the earrings that he requested was one thousand seven hundred shekels of gold, aside from the ornaments, and necklaces, and purple garments, which the kings of Midian were accustomed to use, and aside from the gold chains on the camels. {8:27} And Gideon made an ephod from these, and he kept it in his city, Ophrah. And all of Israel committed fornication with it, and it became a ruin to Gideon and to all his house. {8:28} But Midian was humbled before the sons of Israel. Neither were they able any longer to lift up their necks. But the land rested for forty years, while Gideon presided. {8:29} And so Jerubbaal, the son of Joash, went and lived in his own house. {8:30} And he had seventy sons, who went forth from his own thigh. For he had many wives. {8:31} But his concubine, whom he had in Shechem, bore him a son named Abimelech. {8:32} And Gideon, the son of Joash, died in a good old age, and he was buried in the sepulcher of his father, at Ophrah, of the family of Ezri. {8:33} But after Gideon died, the sons of Israel turned away, and they committed fornication with the Baals. And they struck a covenant with Baal, so that he would be their god. {8:34} And they did not remember the Lord their God, who rescued them from the hands of all their enemies on all sides. {8:35} Neither did they show mercy to the house of Jerubbaal Gideon, in accord with all the good that he had done for Israel.

[Judges 9] {9:1} Now Abimelech, the son of Jerubbaal, went to Shechem, to his maternal brothers, and he spoke to them, and to all the relatives of the house of his maternal grandfather, saying: {9:2} "Speak to all the men of Shechem: Which is better for you: that seventy men, all the sons of Jerubbaal, should rule over you, or that one man should rule over you? And consider also that I am your bone and your flesh." {9:3} And his maternal brothers spoke about him to all the men of Shechem, all these words, and they inclined their hearts after Abimelech, saying, "He is our brother." {9:4} And they gave to him the weight of seventy silver coins from the shrine of Baal-berith. With this, he hired for himself indigent and wandering men, and they followed him. {9:5} And he went to his father's house in Ophrah, and he killed his brothers, the sons of Jerubbaal, seventy men, upon one stone. And there remained only Joatham, the youngest son of Jerubbaal, and he was in hiding. {9:6} Then all the men of Shechem gathered together, and all the families of the city of Millo, and they went and appointed Abimelech as king, beside the oak that stood at Shechem. {9:7} When this had been reported to Jotham, he went and stood at the top of Mount Gerizim. And lifting up his voice, he cried out and said: "Listen to me, men of Shechem, so that God may listen to you. {9:8} The trees went to anoint a king over themselves. And they said to the olive tree, 'Reign over us.' {9:9} And it responded, 'How could I abandon my fatness, which both gods and men make use of, and depart to be promoted among the trees?' {9:10} And the trees said to the fig tree, 'Come and accept royal power over us.' {9:11} And it responded to them, 'How could I abandon my sweetness, and my very sweet fruits, and depart to be promoted among the other trees?' {9:12} And the trees said to the vine, 'Come and reign over us.' {9:13} And it responded to them, 'How could I abandon my wine, which gives joy to God and men, and be promoted among the other trees?' {9:14} And all the trees said to the bramble, 'Come and reign over us.' {9:15} And it responded to them: 'If truly you would appoint me as king, come and rest under my shadow. But if you are not willing, let fire go forth from the bramble, and let it devour the cedars of Lebanon.'" {9:16} So now, if you are upright and without sin in appointing Abimelech as a king over you, and if you have acted well with Jerubbai, and with his house, and if you have repaid, in turn, the benefits of him who fought on your behalf, {9:17} and who gave his life to dangers, so that he might rescue you from the hand of Midian, {9:18} though you now have risen up against my father's house, and have killed his sons, seventy men, upon one stone, and have appointed Abimelech, the son of his handmaid, as a king over the inhabitants of Shechem, since he is your brother, {9:19} if therefore you are upright and have acted without fault with Jerubaal and his house, then you should rejoice on this day in Abimelech, and he should rejoice in you. {9:20} But if you have acted perversely, may fire go forth from him and consume the inhabitants of Shechem and the town of Millo. And may fire go forth from the men of Shechem and from the town of Millo, and devour Abimelech. ” {9:21} And when he had said these things, he fled and went away to Beer. And he lived in that place, out of fear of Abimelech, his brother. {9:22} And so Abimelech reigned over Israel for three years. {9:23} And the Lord put a very grievous spirit between Abimelech and the inhabitants of Shechem, who began to detest him, {9:24} and to place blame for the crime of the killing of the seventy sons of Jerubaal, and for the shedding of their blood, upon Abimelech, their brother, and upon the rest of the leaders of the Shechemites, who assisted him. {9:25} And they stationed an ambush against him at the summit of the mountains. And while they were waiting for his arrival, they committed robberies, taking spoils from those passing by. And this was reported to Abimelech. {9:26} Now Gaal, the son of Ebed, went with his brothers, and crossed over to Shechem. And the inhabitants of Shechem, uplifted by his arrival, {9:27} departed into the fields, laying waste to the vineyards, and trampling the grapes. And while singing and dancing, they entered into the shrine of their god. And while feasting and drinking, they cursed Abimelech. {9:28} And Gaal, the son of Ebed, cried out: “Who is Abimelech, and what is Shechem, that we should serve him? Is he not the son of Jerubaal, who has appointed Zebul, his servant, as ruler over the men of Hamor, the father of Shechem? Why then should we serve him? {9:29} I wish that someone would set this people under my hand, so that I might take away Abimelech from their midst.” And it was told to Abimelech, “Gather the multitude of an army, and approach.” {9:30} For Zebul, the ruler of the city, upon hearing the words of Gaal, the son of Ebed, became very angry. {9:31} And he sent messengers secretly to Abimelech, saying: “Behold, Gaal, the son of Ebed, has arrived at Shechem with his brothers, and he has set the city against you. {9:32} And so, rise up in the night, with the people who are with you, and lie hidden in the field. {9:33} And at first light in the morning, as the sun is rising, rush upon the city. And when he goes out against you, with his people, do to him what you are able to do.” {9:34} And so Abimelech rose up, with all his army, by night, and he set ambushes near Shechem in four places. {9:35} And Gaal, the son of Ebed, went out, and he stood at the entrance to the gate of the city. Then Abimelech rose up, and all the army with him, from the places of the ambushes. {9:36} And when Gaal had seen the people, he said to Zebul, “Behold, a multitude is descending from the mountains.” And he responded to him, “You are seeing the shadows of the mountains, as if they were the heads of men, and so you are being deceived by this error.” {9:37} Again, Gaal said, “Behold, a people is descending from the middle of the land, and one company is arriving by the way that looks towards the oak.” {9:38} And Zebul said to him: “Where is your mouth now, with which you said, ‘Who is Abimelech that we should serve him?’ Is this not the people that you were despising? Go out and fight against him.” {9:39} Therefore, Gaal went out, with the people of Shechem watching, and he fought against Abimelech, {9:40} who pursued him, fleeing, and drove him into the city. And many were cut down on his side, even to the gate of the city. {9:41} And Abimelech made camp at Arumah. But Zebul expelled Gaal and his companions from the city, and he would not permit them to remain in it. {9:42} Therefore, on the following day, the people departed into the field. And when this had been reported to Abimelech, {9:43} he took his army, and divided it into three companies, and he placed ambuses in the fields. And seeing that the people had departed from the city, he rose up and rushed upon them, {9:44} along with his own company, assaulting and besieging the city. But the two other companies pursued the enemies scattered in the field. {9:45} Now Abimelech assaulted the city all that day. And he seized it, and he killed its inhabitants, and he destroyed it, so much so that he scattered salt in it. {9:46} And when those living in the tower of Shechem had heard about this, they entered the temple of their god, Berith, where they had formed a covenant with him. And it was because of this, that the place had taken its name. And it was greatly fortified. {9:47} Abimelech, also hearing that the men of the tower of Shechem had joined together, {9:48} ascended to mount Zalmon, with all his people. And taking an axe, he cut down the branch of a tree. And laying it on his shoulder, and carrying it, he said to his companions, “What you see me do, you must do quickly.” {9:49} And so, eagerly cutting down branches from the trees, they followed their leader. And surrounding the fortified place, they set it on fire. And so it happened that, by smoke and fire, one thousand persons died, men and women together, the occupants of the tower of Shechem. {9:50} Then Abimelech, setting out from there, arrived at the town of Thebez, which he surrounded and besieged with his army. {9:51} Now there was, in the midst of the city, a high tower, to which men and women were fleeing together, with all the leaders of the city. And, having very strongly sealed the gate, they were standing on the roof of the tower to defend themselves. {9:52} And Abimelech, drawing near the tower, fought valiantly. And approaching the gate, he strove to set it on fire. {9:53} And behold, one woman, throwing a fragment of a millstone from above, struck the head of Abimelech, and broke his skull. {9:54} And he quickly called to his armor bearer, and said to him, “Draw your sword and strike me, otherwise it may be said that I was slain by a woman.” And, doing as he was ordered, he killed him. {9:55} And when he was dead, all those of Israel who were with him returned to their homes. {9:56} And so did God repay the evil that Abimelech had done against his father by killing his seventy brothers. {9:57} The Shechemites also were given retribution for what they had done, and the curse of Jotham, the son of Jerubbaal, fell upon them.

a man of Issachar, who lived in Shamir on mount Ephraim. {10:2} And he judged Israel for twenty-three years, and he died and was buried at Shamir. {10:3} After him succeeded Jair, a Gileadite, who judged Israel for twenty-two years, {10:4} having thirty sons sitting upon thirty young donkeys, and who were leaders of thirty cities, which from his name were called Havvoth Jair, that is, the towns of Jair, even to the present day, in the land of Gilead. {10:5} And Jair died, and he was buried in the place which is called Kamon. {10:6} But the sons of Israel did evil in the sight of the Lord, joining new sins to old, and they served idols, the Baals and Ashtaroth, and the gods of Syria and Sidon, and of Moab and the sons of Ammon, and the Philistines. And they abandoned the Lord, and they did not worship him. {10:7} And the Lord, becoming angry against them, delivered them into the hands of the Philistines and the sons of Ammon. {10:8} And they were afflicted and vehemently oppressed for eighteen years, all who were living beyond the Jordan in the land of the Amorite, which is in Gilead, {10:9} to such a great extent that the sons of Ammon, crossing over the Jordan, laid waste to Judah and Benjamin and Ephraim. And Israel was exceedingly afflicted. {10:10} And crying out to the Lord, they said: “We have sinned against you. For we have forsaken the Lord our God, and we have served the Baals.” {10:11} And the Lord said to them: “Did not the Egyptians, and the Amorites, and the sons of Ammon, and the Philistines, and the Sidonians, and Amalek, and Canaan, oppress you, and so you cried out to me, and I rescued you from their hand? {10:13} And yet you have forsaken me, and you have worshipped foreign gods. For this reason, I will not continue to free you any more. {10:14} Go, and call upon the gods whom you have chosen. Let them free you in the time of anguish.” {10:15} And the sons of Israel said to the Lord: “We have sinned. You may repay us in whatever way pleases you. Yet free us now.” {10:16} And saying these things, they cast out all the idols of the foreign gods from their regions, and they served the Lord God. And he was touched by their miseries. {10:17} And then the sons of Ammon, shouting out together, pitched their tents in Gilead. And the sons of Israel gathered together against them, and they made camp at Mizpah. {10:18} And the leaders of Gilead said to one another, “Whoever among us will be the first to begin to contend against the sons of Ammon, he shall be the leader of the people of Gilead.”

[Judges 11] {11:1} At that time, there was a Gileadite, Jephthah, a very strong man and a fighter, the son of a kept woman, and he was born of Gilead. {11:2} Now Gilead had a wife, from whom he received sons. And they, after growing up, cast out Jephthah, saying, “You cannot inherit in the house of our father, because you were born of another mother.” {11:3} And so, fleeing and avoiding them, he lived in the land of Tob. And men who were indigent and robbers joined with him, and they followed him as their leader. {11:4} In those days, the sons of Ammon sought to fight against Israel. {11:5} And being steadfastly attacked, the elders of Gilead traveled so that they might obtain for their assistance Jephthah, from the land of Tob. {11:6} And they said to him, “Come and be our leader, and fight against the sons of Ammon.” {11:7} But he answered them: “Are you not the ones who hated me, and who cast me out of my father’s house? And yet now you come to me, compelled by necessity?” {11:8} And the leaders of Gilead said to Jephthah, “But it is due to this necessity that we have approached you now, so that you may set out with us, and fight against the sons of Ammon, and be commander over all who live in Gilead.” {11:9} Jephthah also said to them: “If you have come to me so that I may fight for you against the sons of Ammon, and if the Lord will deliver them into my hands, will I truly be your leader?” {11:10} They answered him, “The Lord who hears these things is himself the Mediator and the Witness that we shall do what we have promised.” {11:11} And so Jephthah went with the leaders of Gilead, and all the people made him their leader. And Jephthah spoke all his words, in the sight of the Lord, at Mizpah. {11:12} And he sent messengers to the king of the sons of Ammon, who said on his behalf, “What is there between you and me, that you would approach against me, so that you might lay waste to my land?” {11:13} And he responded to them, “It is because Israel took my land, when he ascended from Egypt, from the parts of Arnon, as far as the Jabbok and the Jordan. Now therefore, restore these to me with peace.” {11:14} And Jephthah again commissioned them, and he ordered them to say to the king of Ammon: {11:15} “Jephthah says this: Israel did not take the land of Moab, nor the land of the sons of Ammon. {11:16} But when they ascended together from Egypt, he walked through the desert as far as the Red Sea, and he went into Kadesh. {11:17} And he sent messengers to the king of Edom, saying, ‘Permit me to pass through your land.’ But he was not willing to agree to his petition. Likewise, he sent to the king of Moab, who also refused to offer him passage. And so he delayed in Kadesh, {11:18} and he circled around the side of the land of Edom and the land of Moab. And he arrived opposite the eastern region of the land of Moab. And he made camp across the Arnon. But he was not willing to enter the borders of Moab. (Of course, Arnon is the border of the land of Moab.) {11:19} And so Israel sent messengers to Sihon, the king of the Amorites, who was living at Heshbon. And they said to him, “Permit me to cross through your land as far as the river.” {11:20} But he, too, despising the words of Israel, would not permit him to cross through his borders. Instead, gathering an innumerable multitude, he went out against him at Jahaz, and he resisted strongly. {11:21} But the Lord delivered him, with his entire army, into the hands of Israel. And he struck him down, and he possessed all the land of the Amorite, the inhabitant of that region, {11:22} with all its parts, from the Arnon as far as the Jabbok, and from the wilderness even to the Jordan. {11:23} Therefore, it was the Lord, the God of Israel, who overthrew the Amorites, by means of his people Israel fighting against them. And now you wish to possess his land? {11:24} Are not the things that your god Chemosh possesses owed to you by right? And so, what the Lord our God has obtained by victory falls to us as a possession. {11:25} Or are you, perhaps, better than Balak, the son of Zippor, the king of Moab? Or are you able to explain what his argument was against Israel, and why he fought against him? {11:26} And though he has lived in Heshbon, and its villages, and in Aror, and its villages, and in all the cities near the Jordan for three hundred years, why have you, for such long a time, put forward nothing about this claim? {11:27} Therefore, I am not sinning against you, but you are doing evil against me, by declaring an unjust war against me. May the Lord be the Judge and the Arbiter this day, between Israel and the sons of Ammon.” {11:28} But the king of the sons of Ammon was not willing to agree to the words of Jephthah that he commissioned by the messengers. {11:29} Therefore, the Spirit of the Lord rested upon Jephthah, and circling around Gilead, and Manasseh, and also Mizpah of Gilead, and crossing from there to the sons of Ammon, {11:30} he made a vow to the Lord, saying, “If you will deliver the sons of Ammon into my hands, {11:31} whoever will be the first to depart from the doors of my house to meet me, when I return in peace from the sons of Ammon, the same will I offer as a holocaust to the Lord.” {11:32} And Jephthah crossed to the sons of Ammon, so that he might fight against them. And the Lord delivered them into his hands. {11:33} And he struck them down from Aroer, as far as the entrance of Minnith, twenty cities, and as far as Abel, which is covered with vineyards, in an exceedingly great slaughter. And the sons of Ammon were humbled by the sons of Israel. {11:34} But when Jephthah returned to Mizpah, to his own house, his only daughter met him with timbrels and dances. For he had no other children. {11:35} And upon seeing her, he tore his garments, and he said: “Alas, my daughter! You have cheated me, and you yourself have been cheated. For I opened my mouth to the Lord, and I can do nothing else.” {11:36} And she answered him, “My father, if you have opened your mouth to the Lord, do to me whatever you have promised, since victory has been granted to you, as well as vengeance against your enemies.” {11:37} And she said to her father: “Grant to me this one thing, which I request. Permit me, that I may wander the hillsides for two months, and that I may mourn the virginity with my companions.” {11:38} And he answered her, “Go.” And he released her for two months. And when she had departed with her friends and companions, she wept over her virginity in the hillsides. {11:39} And when the two months expired, she returned to her father, and he did to her just as he had vowed, though she knew no man. From this, the custom grew up in Israel, and the practice has been preserved, {11:40} such that, after each year passes, the daughters of Israel convene as one, and they lament the daughter of Jephthah, the Gileadite, for four days.

[Judges 12] {12:1} And behold, a sedition rose up in Ephraim. Then, while passing by toward the north, they said to Jephthah: “When you were going to fight against the sons of Ammon, why were you unwilling to summon us, so that we might go with you? Therefore, we will burn down your house.” {12:2} And he answered them: “I and my people were in a great conflict against the sons of Ammon. And I called you, so that you might offer assistance to me. And you were not willing to do so. {12:3} And discerning this, I put my life in my own hands, and I crossed to the sons of Ammon, and the Lord delivered them into my hands. What am I guilty of, that you would rise up in battle against me?” {12:4} And so, calling to himself all the men of Gilead, he fought against Ephraim. And the men of Gilead struck down Ephraim, because he had said, “Gilead is a fugitive from Ephraim, and he lives in the midst of Ephraim and Manasseh.” {12:5} And the Gileadites occupied the fords of the Jordan, along which Ephraim was to return. And when anyone from the number of Ephraim had arrived, fleeing, and had said, “I beg that you permit me to pass,” the Gileadites would say to him, “Could you be an Ephraimites?” And if he said, “I am not,” {12:6} they would ask him, then say ‘Shibboleth,’ which is translated as ‘ear of grain.’ But he would answer ‘Sibboleth,’ not being able to express the word for an ear of grain in the same letters. And immediately apprehending them, they would cut his throat, at the same crossing point of the Jordan. And in that time of Ephraim, forty-two thousand fell. {12:7} And so Jephthah, the Gileadite, judged Israel for six years. And he died, and he was buried in his city in Gilead. {12:8} After him, Ibzan of Bethlehem judged Israel. {12:9} He had thirty sons, and the same number of daughters, whom he sent away to be given to husbands. And he accepted wives for his sons of the same number, bringing them into his house. And he judged Israel for seven years. {12:10} And he died, and he was buried in Bethelhem. {12:11} After him succeeded Elon, a Zebulunite. And he judged Israel for ten years. {12:12} And he died, and he was buried in Zebulun. {12:13} After him, Abdon, the son of Hillel, a Pirathonite, judged Israel. {12:14} And he had forty sons, and from them thirty grandsons, all riding upon seventy young donkeys. And he judged Israel for eight years. {12:15} And he died, and he was buried at Pirathon, in the land of Ephraim, on the mountain of Amalek.

[Judges 13] {13:1} And again, the sons of Israel did evil in the sight of the Lord. And he delivered them into the hands of the Philistines for forty years. {13:2} Now there was a certain man from Zorah, and of the stock of Dan, whose name was Manoah, having a barren wife. {13:3} And an Angel of the Lord appeared to her, and he said: “You are barren and without children. But you shall conceive and bear a son. {13:4} Therefore, take care that you do not drink wine or strong drink. Neither shall you eat anything unclean. {13:5} For you shall conceive and bear a son, whose head no razor shall touch. For he shall be a Nazirite of God, from his infancy and from his mother's womb. And he shall begin to free Israel from the hand of the Philistines.” {13:6} And when she had gone to her husband, she said to him: “A man of God came to me, having the countenance of an Angel, exceedingly terrible. And when I had inquired of him, who he was, and where he was from, and what name he was called, he was not willing to tell me. {13:7} But he responded: ‘Behold, you shall conceive and bear a son. Take care that you do not drink wine or strong drink. And you shall not consume anything unclean. For the boy shall be a Nazirite of God from his infancy, from his mother's womb, even until the day of his death.’ ” {13:8} And so Manoah prayed to the Lord, and he said, “I beg you Lord, that the man of God, whom you sent, may come again, and may teach us what we ought to do about the boy who is to be born.” {13:9} And the Lord heeded the prayer of Manoah, and the Angel of the Lord appeared again to his wife, sitting in a field. But her husband Manoah was not with her. And when she had seen the Angel, {13:10} she hurried and ran to her husband. And he reported to him, saying, “Behold, the man appeared to me, whom I had seen before.” {13:11} And he rose up and followed his wife. And going to the man, he said to him, “Are you the one who spoke to my wife?” And he responded, “I am.” {13:12} And Manoah said to him: “When will your word be fulfilled. What do you want the boy to do? Or from what should he keep himself?” {13:13} And the Angel of the Lord said to Manoah: “Concerning all the things about which I have spoken to your wife, she herself should abstain.
And let her eat nothing from the vine. She may not drink wine or strong drink. She may consume nothing unclean. And let her observe and keep what I have instructed to her." {13:15} And Manoah said to the Angel of the Lord, "I beg you to agree to my petition, and to let us prepare a kid from the goats." {13:16} And the Angel answered him: "Even if you compel me, I will not eat from your bread. But if you are willing to offer a holocaust, offer it to the Lord." And Manoah did not know that he was an Angel of the Lord. {13:17} And he said to him, "What is your name, so that, if your word is fulfilled, we may honor you?" {13:18} And he answered him, "Why do you ask my name, which is a wonder?" {13:19} And so, Manoah took a kid from the goats, and libations, and he placed them upon a rock, as an offering to the Lord, who accomplishes wonders. Then he and his wife watched. {13:20} And when the flame of the altar ascended to heaven, the Angel of the Lord ascended in the flame. And when Manoah and his wife had seen this, they fell prone on the ground. {13:21} And the Angel of the Lord no longer appeared to them. And immediately, Manoah understood him to be an Angel of the Lord. {13:22} And he said to his wife, "We shall certainly die, since we have seen God." {13:23} And his wife answered him, "If the Lord wished to kill us, he would not have accepted the holocaust and the libations from our hands. He would not have revealed all these things to us, nor would he have told us the things that are in the future." {13:24} And so she bore a son, and she called his name Samson. And the boy grew up, and the Lord blessed him. {13:25} And the Spirit of the Lord began to be with him in the camp of Dan, between Zorah and Eshtaol.

[Judges 14] {14:1} Then Samson descended to Timnah. And seeing there a woman from the daughters of the Philistines, {14:2} he went up, and he told his father and his mother, saying: "I saw a woman in Timnah from the daughters of the Philistines. I ask that you take her to me as wife." {14:3} And his father and mother said to him, "Is there not a woman among the daughters of your brothers, or among all my people, so that you would be willing to take a wife from the Philistines, who are uncircumcised?" And Samson said to his father: "Take this woman to me. For she has pleased my eyes." {14:4} Now his parents did not know that the matter was done by the Lord, and that he sought an occasion against the Philistines. For at that time, the Philistines had dominion over Israel. {14:5} And so, Samson descended with his father and mother to Timnah. And when they had arrived at the vineyards of the town, he saw a young lion, savage and roaring, and it met him. {14:6} Then the Spirit of the Lord rushed upon Samson, and he tore apart the lion, like a young goat being torn into pieces, having nothing at all in his hand. And he was not willing to reveal this to his father and mother. {14:7} And he went down and spoke to the woman who had pleased his eyes. {14:8} And after some days, returning to marry her, he turned aside so that he might see the carcass of the lion. And behold, there was a swarm of bees in the mouth of the lion, with a honeycomb. {14:9} And when he had taken it in his hands, he ate it along the way. And arriving to his father and mother, he gave them a portion, and they also ate it. Yet he was not willing to reveal to them that he had taken the honey from the body of the lion. {14:10} And so his father went down to the woman, and he made a feast for his son Samson. For so the young men were accustomed to do. {14:11} And when the citizens of that place had seen him, they presented to him thirty companions to be with him. {14:12} And Samson said to them: "I will propose to you a problem, which, if you can solve it for me within the seven days of the feast, I will give you thirty shirts and the same number of tunics. {14:13} But if you are not able to solve it, you shall give me thirty shirts and the same number of tunics." And they answered him, "Propose the problem, so that we may hear it." {14:14} And he said to them, "Food went forth from that which eats, and sweetness went forth from that which is strong." And they were unable to solve the proposition for three days. {14:15} And when the seventh day had arrived, they said to the wife of Samson: "Coax your husband, and persuade him to reveal to you what the proposition means. But if you are not willing to do so, we will burn you and your father's house. Or have you called us to the wedding in order to despoil us?" {14:16} And she shed tears before Samson, and she complained, saying: "You hate me, and you do not love me. That is why you do not want to explain to me the problem, which you have proposed to the sons of my people." But he responded: "I was not willing to reveal it to my father and mother. And so, how can I reveal it to you?" {14:17} Therefore, she wept before him during the seven days of the feast. And at length, on the seventh day, since she had been troubling him, he explained it. And immediately she revealed it to her countrymen. {14:18} And they, on the seventh day, before the sun declined, said to him: "What is sweeter than honey? And what is stronger than a lion?" And he said to them, "If you had not plowed with my heifer, you would not have uncovered my proposition." {14:19} And so the Spirit of the Lord rushed upon him, and he descended to Ashkelon, and in that place he struck down thirty men. And taking away their garments, he gave them to those who had solved the problem. And being exceedingly angry, he went up to his father's house. {14:20} Then his wife took as a husband one of his friends and wedding companions.

[Judges 15] {15:1} Then, after some time, when the days of the wheat harvest were near, Samson arrived, intending to visit his wife, and he brought her a kid from the goats. And when he wanted to enter her bedroom, as usual, her father prohibited him, saying: {15:2} "I thought that you would hate her, and therefore I gave her to your friend. But she has a sister, who is younger and more beautiful than she is. And she may be a wife for you, instead of her." {15:3} And Samson answered him: "From this day, there shall be no guilt for me against the Philistines. For I will do harm to you all." {15:4} And he went out and caught three hundred foxes. And he joined them tail to tail. And he tied torches between the tails. {15:5} And setting these on fire, he released them, so that they might rush from place to place. And immediately they went into the grain fields of the Philistines, setting these on fire, both the grain that was already bound for carrying, and what was still standing on the stalk. These were completely burned up, so much so that the flame also consumed even the vineyards and the olive groves. {15:6} And the Philistines said, "Who has done this thing?" And it was said: "Samson, the son-in-law of the Timnite, because he took away his wife, and gave her to another. He has done these things." And the Philistines went up and burned the woman as well as her father. {15:7} And Samson said to them, “Even though you have done this, I will still fulfill vengeance against you, and then I will be quieted.” {15:8} And he struck them with a tremendous slaughter, so much so that, out of astonishment, they laid the calf of the leg upon the thigh. And descending, he lived in a cave of the rock at Etam. {15:9} And so the Philistines, ascending into the land of Judah, made camp at the place which was later called Lehi, that is, the Jawbone, where their army spread out. {15:10} And some from the tribe of Judah said to them, “Why have you ascended against us?” And they responded, “We have come to bind Samson, and to repay him for what he has done to us.” {15:11} Then three thousand men of Judah descended to the cave of the rock at Etam. And they said to Samson: “Do you not know that the Philistines rule over us? Why would you want to do this?” And he said to them, “As they have done to me, so I have done to them.” {15:12} And they said to him, “We have come to bind you, and to deliver you into the hands of the Philistines.” And Samson said to them, “Swear and promise to me that you will not kill me.” {15:13} They said: “We will not kill you. But we will deliver you tied.” And they bound him with two new cords. And they took him from the rock at Etam. {15:14} And when he had arrived at the place of the Jawbone, and the Philistines, shouting aloud, had met him, the Spirit of the Lord rushed upon him. And just as flax is usually consumed by a hint of fire, so were the ties with which he was bound broken and released. {15:15} And finding a jawbone which was laying there, that is, the jawbone of a donkey, snatching it up, he put to death a thousand men with it. {15:16} And he said, “With the jawbone of a donkey, with the jaw of the colt of a donkey, I have destroyed them, and I have struck down a thousand men.” {15:17} And when he had completed these words, singing, he threw the jawbone from his hand. And called the name of that place Ramath-Lehi, which is translated as ‘the elevation of the jawbone.’ {15:18} And being very thirsty, he cried out to the Lord, and he said: “You have given, to the hand of your servant, this very great salvation and victory. But see that I am dying of thirst, and so I will fall into the hands of the uncircumcised.” {15:19} And so the Lord opened a large tooth in the jawbone of the donkey, and water went out from it. And having drank it, his spirit was revived, and he recovered his strength. For this reason, the name of that place was called ‘the Spring called forth from the jawbone,’ even to the present day. {15:20} And he judged Israel, in the days of the Philistines, for twenty years.

[Judges 16] {16:1} He also went into Gaza. And there he saw a harlot woman, and he entered to her. {16:2} And when the Philistines had heard of this, and it had become well known among them, that Samson had entered the city, they surrounded him, placing guards at the gate of the city. And there they were keeping watch all night in silence, so that, in the morning, they might kill him as he was going out. {16:3} But Samson slept until the middle of the night, and rising up from there, he took both doors from the gate, with their posts and bars. And laying them upon his shoulders, he carried them to the top of the hill that looks toward Hebron. {16:4} After these things, he loved a woman who was living in the valley of Sorek. And she was called Delilah. {16:5} And the leaders of the Philistines went to her, and they said: “Deceive him, and learn from him wherein lies his great strength, and how we may be able to overcome him and to impose restraints on him. And if you will do this, each one of us will give you one thousand one hundred silver coins.” {16:6} Therefore, Delilah said to Samson, “Tell me, I beg you, wherein lies your very great strength, and with what might you be bound, so that you could not break free?” {16:7} And Samson answered her, “If I will be bound with seven cords, made of sinews not yet dry, but still damp, I will be weak like other men.” {16:8} And the princes of the Philistines brought to her seven cords, such as he had described. And she bound him with these. {16:9} And so, those hiding in ambush with her, in the bedroom, were expecting the end of the matter. And she cried out to him, “The Philistines are upon you, Samson!” And he broke the cords, as one would break a thread of flax, twisted for cutting and singed by fire. And so it was not known wherein lay his strength. {16:10} And Delilah said to him: “Behold, you have mocked me, and you have spoken a falsehood. But at least now, tell me with what you may be bound.” {16:11} And he answered her, “If I will be bound with new cords, which have never been used, I will be weak and like other men.” {16:12} Again, Delilah tied him with these, and she cried out, “The Philistines are upon you, Samson!” For an ambush had been prepared in the bedroom. But he broke the bindings like the filaments of a web. {16:13} And Delilah spoke to him again: “How long will you deceive me and tell me falsehoods? Reveal with what you ought to be bound.” And Samson responded to her, “If you weave the seven locks of my head with a loom, and if you tie these around a spike and fix it to the ground, I will be weak.” {16:14} And when Delilah had done this, she said to him, “The Philistines are upon you, Samson.” And arising from sleep, he withdrew the spike with the hairs and the weaving. {16:15} And Delilah said to him: “How can you say that you love me, when your soul is not with me? You have lied to me on three occasions, and you are not willing to reveal wherein lies your very great strength.” {16:16} And when she had been very troublesome to him, and over many days had continually stayed nearby, giving him no time to rest, his soul was faint, and he was weary, even unto death. {16:17} Then disclosing the truth of the matter, he said to her: “Iron has never been drawn across my head, for I am a Nazirite, that is, I have been consecrated God from my mother’s womb. If my head will be shaven, my strength will depart from me, and I will be faint and will be like other men.” {16:18} Then, seeing that he had confessed to her his whole soul, she sent to the leaders of the Philistines and ordered: “Come up just once more. For now he has opened his heart to me.” And they went up, taking with them the money that they had promised. {16:19} But she made him sleep upon her knees, and recline his head upon her bosom. And she called a barber, and he shaved his seven locks of hair. And she began to push him away, and to repel him from herself. For immediately his strength departed from him. {16:20} And she said, “The Philistines are upon you, Samson!” And awaking from sleep, he said in his mind, “I will break away and shake myself free, just as I did before.” For he did not know that the Lord had withdrawn from him. {16:21} And when the Philistines had seized him, they immediately plucked out his eyes. And they led him, bound in chains, to Gaza. And enclosing him in a prison, they made him work a millstone. {16:22} And now his hair began to grow back. {16:23} And the leaders of the Philistines convened as one, so that they might offer great sacrifices to Dagon, their god. And they feasted, saying, “Our god has delivered our enemy, Samson, into our hands.” {16:24} Then, too, the people, seeing this, praised their god, and they said the same, “Our god has delivered our adversary into our hands: the one who destroyed our land and who killed very many.” {16:25} And rejoicing in their celebration, having now taken food, they instructed that Samson be called, and that he be mocked before them. And having been brought from prison, he was mocked before them. And they caused him to stand between two pillars. {16:26} And he said to the boy who was guiding his steps, “Permit me to touch the pillars, which support the entire house, and to lean against them, so that I may rest a little.” {16:27} Now the house was full of men and women. And all the leaders of the Philistines were there, as well as about three thousand persons, of both sexes, on the roof and in the upper level of the house, who were watching Samson being mocked. {16:28} Then, calling upon the Lord, he said, “O Lord God remember me, and restore to me now my former strength, O my God, so that I may avenge myself against my enemies, and so that I may receive one vengeance for the deprivation of my two eyes.” {16:29} And taking hold of both the pillars, on which the house rested, and holding one with his right hand and the other with his left, {16:30} he said, “May my life die with the Philistines.” And when he had shaken the pillars strongly, the house fell upon all the leaders, and the rest of the multitude who were there. And he killed many more in his death than he had killed before in his life. {16:31} Then his brothers and all his relatives, going down, took his body, and they buried it between Zorah and Eshtaol, in the burying place of his father, Manoah. And he judged Israel for twenty years.

[Judges 18] {18:1} In those days, there was no king in Israel. And the tribe of Dan sought a possession for themselves, so that they might live in it. For even to that day, they had not received their lot among the other tribes. {18:2} Therefore, the sons of Dan sent five very strong men, of their stock and family, from Zorah and Eshtaol, so that they might explore the land and diligently inspect it. And they said to them, “Go, and consider the land.” And after traveling, they arrived at mount Ephraim, and they entered into the house of Micah. There they rested. {18:3} And they recognized the speech of the youth who was a Levite. And while making use of an inn with him, they said to him: “Who brought you here? What are you doing here? For what reason did you want to come here?” {18:4} And he answered them, “Micah has offered me one thing and another, and he has paid me wages, so that I may be his priest.” {18:5} Then they begged him to consult the Lord, so that they might be able to know whether the journey they undertook would be prosperous, and whether the matter would have success. {18:6} And he responded to them, “Go in peace. The Lord looks with favor on your path, and on the journey that you have undertaken.” {18:7} And so the five men, going on, arrived at Laish. And they saw the people, living in it without any fear, according to the custom of the Sidonians, secure and peaceful, having hardly anyone to oppose them, and with great wealth, and living separately, far from Sidon and from all men. {18:8} And they returned to their brothers at Zorah and Eshtaol, who questioned them as to what they had done. And they responded: {18:9} “Rise up. Let us ascend to them. For we have seen that the land is very wealthy and fruitful. Do not delay; do not refrain. Let us go out and possess it. There will be no difficulty. {18:10} We shall enter to those who dwell securely, in a very wide region, and the Lord will deliver the place to us, a place in which there is no lack of anything that grows upon the earth.” {18:11} And so, those of the kindred of Dan set out, that is, six hundred men from Zorah and Eshtaol, girded with the weapons of warfare. {18:12} And going up, they stayed at Kiriath-jearim of Judah. And so the place, from that time, received the name the Camp of Dan, and it is behind the back of Kiriath-jearim. {18:13} From there, they crossed over to mount Ephraim. And when they had arrived at the house of Micah, {18:14} the five men, who before had been sent to consider the land of Laish, said to the rest of their brothers: “You know that in these houses there is an ephod and teraphim, and a molten idol and a graven image. Consider what it may please you to do.” {18:15} And when they had turned aside a little, they entered the house of the Levite youth, who was in the house of Micah. And they greeted him with peaceful words. {18:16} Now the six hundred men, who were all armed, were standing before the door. {18:17} But those who had entered the house of the youth strove to take away the graven image, and the ephod, and the theraphim, and the molten idol. But the priest was standing in front of the door, with the six hundred very strong men waiting not far away. {18:18} And so, those who had entered took away the graven image, the ephod, and the theraphim, and the molten idol. And the priest said to them, "What are you doing?" {18:19} And they responded to him: "Be silent and place your finger over your mouth. And come with us, so that we may have you as a father as well as a priest. For which is better for you: to be a priest in the house of one man, or in one tribe and family in Israel?" {18:20} And when he had heard this, he agreed to their words. And he took the ephod, and the idols, and the graven image, and he set out with them. {18:21} And while traveling, they had also sent the children, and the cattle, and all that was valuable to go ahead of them. {18:22} And when they were far from the house of Micah, the men who were living in the houses of Micah, crying out together, followed them. {18:23} And they began to shout behind their backs. And when they had looked back, they said to Micah: "What do you want? Why are you crying out?" {18:24} And he responded: "You have taken away my gods, which I made for myself, and the priest, and all that I have. And do you say, ‘What is it that you want?’ " {18:25} And the sons of Dan said to him, "Take care that you no longer speak to us, otherwise men with a mind for violence may overwhelm you, and you yourself would perish with all your house." {18:26} And so, they continued on the journey that they had begun. But Micah, seeing that they were stronger than he was, returned to his house. {18:27} Now the six hundred men took the priest, and the things we stated above, and they went to Laish, to a people quiet and secure, and they struck them down with the edge of the sword. And they burned the city with fire. {18:28} For no one at all sent reinforcements, because they lived far away from Sidon, and they had no association or business with any man. Now the city was situated in the region of Rehob. And building it up again, they lived in it, {18:29} calling the name of the city Dan, according to the name of their father, who had been born of Israel, though before it was called Laish. {18:30} And they established for themselves the graven image. And Jonathan, the son of Gershom, the son of Moses, with his sons, were priests in the tribe of Dan, even until the day of their captivity. {18:31} And the idol of Micah remained with them during the entire time that the house of God was in Shiloh. In those days, there was no king in Israel.

[Judges 19] {19:1} There was a certain man, a Levite, living beside mount Ephraim, who took a wife from Bethlehem of Judah. {19:2} She left him, and she returned to the house of her father in Bethlehem. And she stayed with him for four months. {19:3} And her husband followed her, wishing to be reconciled with her, and to speak kindly to her, and to lead her back with him. And he had with him a servant and two donkeys. And she received him, and brought him into the house of her father. And when his father-in-law had heard about this, and had seen him, he met him with joy. {19:4} And he embraced the man. And the son-in-law stayed in the house of his father-in-law for three days, eating and drinking with him in a friendly manner. {19:5} But on the fourth day, arising in the night, he intended to set out. But his father-in-law took hold of him, and he said to him, "First taste a little bread, and strengthen your stomach, and then you shall set out." {19:6} And they sat down together, and they ate and drank. And the father of the young woman said to his son-in-law, "I ask you to remain here today, so that we may rejoice together." {19:7} But getting up, he intended to begin to set out. But nevertheless, his father-in-law pressed him resolutely, and made him remain with him. {19:8} But when morning came, the Levite was preparing for his journey. And his father-in-law said to him again, "I beg you to take a little food, and to be strengthened, until the daylight increases, and after that, you shall set out." Therefore, they ate together. {19:9} And the young man got up, so that he might travel with his wife and servant. And his father-in-law spoke to him again: "Consider that the daylight is declining, and it approaches toward evening. Remain with me also today, and spend the day in gladness. And tomorrow you shall set out, so that you may go to your own house." {19:10} His son-in-law was not willing to agree to his words. Instead, he immediately continued on, and he arrived opposite Jebus, which by another name is called Jerusalem, leading with him two donkeys carrying burdens, and his mate. {19:11} And now they were near Jebus, but day was turning into night. And the servant said to his lord, "Come, I beg you, let us turn aside to the city of the Jebusites, so that we may find lodging in it." {19:12} His lord responded to him: "I will not enter into the town of a foreign people, who are not of the sons of Israel. Instead, I will cross over as far as Gibeah. {19:13} And when I will have arrived there, we will lodge in that place, or at least in the city of Ramah." {19:14} Therefore, they passed by Jebus, and continuing on, they undertook the journey. But the sun went down on them when they were near Gibeah, which is of the tribe of Benjamin. {19:15} And so they diverted to it, so that they might lodge there. And when they had entered, they were sitting in the street of the city. For no one was willing to give them hospitality. {19:16} And behold, they saw an old man, returning from the field and from his work in the evening, and he was also from mount Ephraim, and he was living as a stranger in Gibeah. For the men of that region were of the sons of Benjamin. {19:17} And the old man, lifting up his eyes, saw the man sitting with his bundles in the street of the city. And he said to him: "Where have you come from? And where are you going?" {19:18} He answered him: "We set out from Bethlehem of Judah, and we are traveling to our own place, which is beside mount Ephraim. From there we went to Bethlehem, and now we go to the house of God. But no one is willing to receive us under his roof." {19:19} We have straw and hay as fodder for the donkeys, and we have bread and wine for the use of myself, and for your handmaid and the servant who is with me. We lack nothing except lodging." {19:20} And the old man responded to him: "Peace be with you. I will provide all that is necessary. Only, I beg you, do not stay in the street." {19:21} And he led him into his house, and he gave fodder to his donkeys. And after they had washed their feet, he received them with a banquet. {19:22} And while they were feasting, and were refreshing their bodies with food and drink after the labor of the journey, the men of that city, sons of Belial (that is, without yoke), came and surrounded the old man's house. And they began to knock at the door, calling out to the lord of the house, and saying, “Bring out the man who entered your house, so that we may abuse him.” {19:23} And the old man went out to them, and he said: “Do not choose, brothers, do not choose to do this evil. For this man has entered to my hospitality.
And you must cease from this senselessness. {19:24} I have a virgin daughter, and this man has a mate. I will lead them out to you, so that you may debase them and may satisfy your lust. Only, I beg you, do not commit this crime against nature on the man.” {19:25} But they were not willing to agree to his words. So the man, discerning this, led out his mate to them, and he delivered her to their sexual abuse. And when they had abused her for the entire night, they released her in the morning. {19:26} But the woman, as darkness was receding, came to the door of the house, where her lord was staying, and there she fell down. {19:27} When morning came, the man arose, and he opened the door, so that he might complete the journey that he had begun. And behold, his mate was lying before the door, with her hands reaching out to the threshold. {19:28} And he, thinking that she was resting, said to her, “Get up, and let us walk.” But since she gave no response, realizing that she had died, he took her up, and he laid her on his donkey, and he returned to his house.
{19:29} And when he had arrived, he took up a sword, and he cut into pieces the dead body of his wife, with her bones, to twelve parts. And he sent the pieces into all the parts of Israel. {19:30} And when each one had seen this, they were crying out together, “Never has such a thing been done in Israel, from the day that our fathers ascended from Egypt, even to the present time. Let a sentence be brought and let us decide in common what ought to be done.”

[Judges 20] {20:1} And so all the sons of Israel went out like one man, from Dan to Beersheba, with the land of Gilead, and they gathered together, before the Lord, at Mizpah.
{20:2} And all the chiefs of the people, and every tribe of Israel, convened as an assembly of the people of God, four hundred thousand foot soldiers for battle. {20:3} (But it was not hidden from the sons of Benjamin that the sons of Israel had ascended to Mizpah.) And the Levite, the husband of the woman who was killed, being questioned as to how so great a crime had been perpetrated, {20:4} responded: “I went to Gibeah of Benjamin, with my wife, and I diverted to that place. {20:5} And behold, the men of that city, at night, surrounded the house in which I was staying, intending to kill me. And they abused my wife with such an incredible fury of lust that in the end she died. {20:6} And taking her up, I cut her into pieces, and I sent the parts into all the borders of your possession. For never before was such a nefarious crime, and so great a sin, committed in Israel. {20:7} You are all present here, O sons of Israel. Discern what you ought to do.” {20:8} And all the people, standing, responded as if with the word of one man: “We shall not return to our own tents, nor shall anyone enter into his own house. {20:9} But this we shall do in common against Gibeah: {20:10} We shall select ten men out of one hundred from all the tribes of Israel, and one hundred out of one thousand, and one thousand out of ten thousand, so that they may transport supplies for the army, and so that we will be able to fight against Gibeah of Benjamin, and to repay it for its crime as it deserves.”
{20:11} And all of Israel convened against the city, like one man, with one mind and one counsel. {20:12} And they sent messengers to the entire tribe of Benjamin, who said: “Why has so great a wickedness been found among you?
{20:13} Deliver the men of Gibeah, who have perpetrated this deplorable act, so that they may die, and so that the evil may be taken away from Israel.” And they were not willing to listen to the command of their brothers, the sons of Israel.
{20:14} Instead, out of all the cities that were their lot, they convened at Gibeah, so that they might bring them assistance, and so that they might contend against the entire people of Israel. {20:15} And there were found from Benjamin twenty-five thousand who drew the sword, aside from the inhabitants of Gibeah, {20:16} who were seven hundred very strong men, fighting with the left hand as well as with the right hand, and casting stones from a sling so accurately that they were able to strike even a hair, and the path of the stone would by no means miss to either side. {20:17} Then too, among the men of Israel apart from the sons of Benjamin, there were found four hundred thousand who drew the sword and who were prepared for battle. {20:18} And they rose up and went to the house of God, that is, to Shiloh. And they consulted God, and they said, “Who shall be, in our army, the first to contend against the sons of Benjamin?” And the Lord responded to them, “Let Judah be your leader.” {20:19} And immediately the sons of Israel, rising up in the morning, made camp near Gibeah. {20:20} And setting out from there to fight against Benjamin, they began to assault the city.
{20:21} And the sons of Benjamin, departing from Gibeah, slew twenty-two thousand men from the sons of Israel, on that day. {20:22} Again the sons of Israel, trusting in both strength and number, set their troops in order, in the same place where they had contended before. {20:23} But first they also went up and wept before the Lord, even until night. And they consulted him and said, “Should I continue to go forth, so as to contend against the sons of Benjamin, my brothers,
or not?” And he responded to them, “Ascend against them, and undertake the struggle.” {20:24} And when the sons of Israel had continued to do battle against the sons of Benjamin on the next day, {20:25} the sons of Benjamin burst forth from the gates of Gibeah. And meeting them, they made such a frenzied slaughter against them that they struck down eighteen thousand men who drew the sword. {20:26} As a result, all the sons of Israel went to the house of God, and sitting down, they wept before the Lord. And they fasted that day until evening, and they offered to him holocausts and victims of peace offerings. {20:27} And they inquired about their state. At that time, the ark of the covenant of the Lord was in that place. {20:28} And Phinehas, the son of Eleazar, the son of Aaron, was the first ruler of the house. And so, they consulted the Lord, and they said, “Should we continue to go forth in battle against the sons of Benjamin, our brothers, or should we cease?” And the Lord said to them: “Ascend. For tomorrow, I will deliver them into your hands.” {20:29} And the sons of Israel stationed ambushes around the city of Gibeah. {20:30} And they brought out their army against Benjamin a third time, just as they had done on the first and second times. {20:31} But the sons of Benjamin again burst forth boldly from the city. And since their enemies were fleeing, they pursued them a long way, so that they might wound or kill some of them, just as they had done on the first and second days. And they turned their backs along two paths, one bringing them toward Bethel, and the other toward Gibeah. And they struck down about thirty men. {20:32} For they thought that they were falling back as they had done before. But instead, skillfully feigning flight, they undertook a plan to draw them away from the city, and by seeming to flee, to lead them along the above stated paths. {20:33} And so all the sons of Israel, rising up from their positions, set their troops in order, in the place which is called Baaltamar. Likewise, the ambushes that encircled the city began, little by little, to reveal themselves, {20:34} and to advance upon the western part of the city. Moreover, another ten thousand men from all of Israel were provoking a conflict with the inhabitants of the city. And the war grew heavy against the sons of Benjamin. And they did not realize that, on all sides of them, death was imminent. {20:35} And the Lord struck them down in the sight of the sons of Israel, and they put to death, on that day, twenty-five thousand of them, along with one hundred men, all warriors and those who drew the sword. {20:36} But the sons of Benjamin, when they had seen themselves to be the weaker, began to flee. And the sons of Israel discerning this, gave them room to flee, so that they might arrive at the ambushes that were prepared, which they had positioned near the city. {20:37} And after they had risen up suddenly from hiding, and those of Benjamin had turned their backs to those who cut them down, they entered the city, and they struck it with the edge of the sword. {20:38} Now the sons of Israel had given a sign to those whom they had stationed in ambushes, so that, after they had seized the city, they would light a fire, and by the smoke ascending on high, they would show that the city was captured. {20:39} And then, the sons of Israel discerned this sign during the battle (for the sons of Benjamin had thought that they fled, and they pursued them forcefully, cutting down thirty men from their army). {20:40} And they saw something like a pillar of smoke ascending from the city. Likewise, Benjamin, looking back, discerned that the city was captured, for the flames were being carried on high. {20:41} And those who before had pretended to flee, turning their faces, withstood them more strongly. And when the sons of Benjamin had seen this, they turned their backs in flight, {20:42} and they began to go toward the way of the desert, with the adversary pursuing them to that place also. Moreover, those who had set fire to the city also met them. {20:43} And so it happened that they were cut down on both sides by the enemies, nor was there any respite for the dying. They were killed and struck down on the eastern side of the city of Gibeah. {20:44} Now those who were put to death in the same place were eighteen thousand men, all very robust fighters. {20:45} And when those who remained of Benjamin had seen this, they fled into the wilderness. And they were traveling toward the rock which is called Rimmon. In that flight also, among those who were scattering in different directions, they slew five thousand men. And though they scattered all the more, they continued to pursue them, and then they put to death another two thousand. {20:46} And so it happened that all of those who were slain from Benjamin, in various places, were twenty-five thousand fighters, very willing to go to war. {20:47} And so there remained from the entire number of Benjamin six hundred men who were able to escape and to flee into the wilderness. And they settled at the rock of Rimmon, for four months. {20:48} But the sons of Israel, returning, had struck with the sword all that remained in the city, from men even to cattle. And all the cities and villages of Benjamin were consumed with devouring flames.

[Judges 21] {21:1} The sons of Israel had also taken an oath at Mizpah, and they said, “None of us shall give his daughters as a wife to the sons of Benjamin.” {21:2} And they all went to the house of God at Shiloh. And sitting in his sight until evening, they lifted up their voice, and they began to weep, with a great wailing, saying, {21:3} “Why, O Lord, God of Israel, has this evil happened among your people, so that this day one tribe would be taken away from us?” {21:4} Then, rising at first light on the next day, they built an altar. And they offered holocausts and victims of peace offerings there, and they said, {21:5} “Who, out of all the tribes of Israel, did not ascend with the army of the Lord?” For they had bound themselves with a great oath, when they were at Mizpah, that whoever was not present would be slain. {21:6} And the sons of Israel, having been led to repentance over their brother Benjamin, began to say: “One tribe has been taken away from Israel. {21:7} From where shall they receive wives? For we have all sworn in common that we will not give our daughters to them.” {21:8} For this reason, they said, “Who is there, out of all the tribes of Israel, that did not ascend to the Lord at Mizpah?” And behold, the inhabitants of Jabesh-Gilead were found not to have been among that army. {21:9} (Likewise, in the time when they had been at Shiloh, not one of them was found to be there.) {21:10} And so they sent ten thousand very robust men, and they instructed them, saying, “Go and strike down the inhabitants of Jabesh-Gilead with the edge of the sword, including their wives and little ones.” {21:11} And this shall be what you ought to do: “Everyone of the male gender, as well as all the women who have known men, shall be put to death. But the virgins you shall reserve.” {21:12} And four hundred virgins, who had not known the bed of a man, were found from Jabesh-Gilead. And they brought them to the camp at Shiloh, in the land of Canaan. {21:13} And they sent messengers to the sons of Benjamin, who were at the rock of Rimmon, and they instructed them, so that they would receive them in peace. {21:14} And the sons of Benjamin went, at that time, and wives were given to them from the daughters of Jabesh-Gilead. But others were not found, whom they might give in a similar manner. {21:15} And all of Israel was very saddened, and they did penance for destroying one tribe out of Israel. {21:16} And those greater by birth said: “What shall we do with the remainder, those who have not received wives? For all the females of Benjamin have been cut down, {21:17} and we must take great care, and make provision with a very great diligence, so that one tribe may not be wiped away from Israel. {21:18} As for our own daughters, we are not able to give them, being bound by an oath and a curse, when we said, ‘Accursed is he who will give any of his daughters to Benjamin as a wife.’ ” {21:19} And they took counsel, and they said, “Behold, there is a yearly solemnity of the Lord at Shiloh, which is situated to the north of the city of Bethel, and on the eastern side of the way that one takes from Bethel to Shechem, and to the south of the town of Lebonah.” {21:20} And they instructed the sons of Benjamin, and they said: “Go, and hide in the vineyards. {21:21} And when you will have seen daughters of Shiloh being led out to dance, according to custom, go forth suddenly from the vineyards, and let each one seize one wife from among them, and travel into the land of Benjamin. {21:22} And when their fathers and brothers arrive, and they begin to complain against you and to argue, we will say to them: ‘Take pity on them. For they have not seized them by right of war or conquest. Instead, begging to receive them, you did not give them, and so the sin was on your part.’ ” {21:23} And so the sons of Benjamin did just as they had been ordered. And according to their number, they seized for themselves one wife each, out of those who were led out dancing. And they went into their own possession, and they built up their cities, and they lived in them. {21:24} The sons of Israel also returned, according to their tribes and families, to their tents. In those days, there was no king in Israel. Instead, each one did what seemed right to himself.

 The Book of Ruth **

[Ruth 1] {1:1} In the days of one of the judges, when the judges ruled, there was a famine in the land. And a man from Bethellem in Judah departed to sojourn in the region of the Moabites with his wife and two children. {1:2} He called himself Elimelech, and his wife Naomi, and his two sons, the one Mahlon, and the other Chilion, Ephrathites from Bethlehem in Judah. And entering into the region of the Moabites, they stayed there. {1:3} And Elimelech the husband of Naomi died; and she remained with her sons. {1:4} They took wives from among the Moabites, of whom one was called Orpah, and the other Ruth. And they lived there ten years. {1:5} And they both died, namely Mahlon and Chilion, and the woman was left alone, bereaved of her two children and her husband. {1:6} And she arose so that she might journey to her native land, with both her daughters-in-law, from the region of the Moabites. For she had heard that the Lord had provided for his people and had given them food. {1:7} And so she departed from the place of her sojourn, with both her daughters-in-law, and having set out upon the way, she was about to return to the land of Judah. {1:8} She said to them, “Go to the home of your mother. May the Lord deal mercifully with you, just as you have dealt with the dead and with me. {1:9} May he grant you to find rest in the houses of the husbands, whom you will obtain by lot.” And she kissed them. They lifted up their voice, and began to weep, {1:10} and to say, “We will obtain by lot.” And she kissed them. They lifted up their voice, and began to weep, {1:11} But she answered them, “Return, my daughters, go forth. For I am now exhausted by old age, and not fit for the bond of marriage. Even if I were to conceive on this night, and bear sons, {1:13} if you were willing to wait until they were grown and had completed the years of adolescence, you would be elderly before you could marry. Do not do so, I beg you, my daughters. For your difficulties weigh upon me greatly, and the hand of the Lord has been set against me.” {1:14} In response, they lifted up their voice and began to weep again. Orpah kissed her mother-in-law, and then turned back. Ruth clung to her mother-in-law. {1:15} Naomi said to her, “See, your kinswoman returns to her people, and to her gods. Hurry after her.” {1:16} She answered, “Do not be against me, as if I would abandon you and go away; for wherever you will go, I will go, and where you will stay, I also will stay with you. Your people are my people, and your God is my God. {1:17} Whichever land will receive you dying, in the same I will die, and there I will have the place of my burial. May God cause these things to happen to me, and add more also, if anything except death alone should separate you and I.” {1:18} Therefore, Naomi saw that Ruth, being firmly resolved in her soul, was determined to go with her, and that she was unwilling to be dissuaded, and that nothing further could convince her to return to her own. {1:19} And so they set out together, and they came to Bethlehem. When they had entered the city, the news quickly spread among them all. And the women said, “This is that Naomi.” {1:20} But she said to them, “Do not call me Naomi (that is, beautiful), but call me Mara (that is, bitter). For the Almighty has greatly filled me with bitterness. {1:21} I went out full and the Lord led me back empty. So then, why call me Naomi, whom the Lord has humbled and the Almighty has afflicted?” {1:22} Therefore, Naomi went with Ruth, the Moabite, her daughter-in-law, from the land of her sojourn, and returned to Bethlehem, at the time of the first reaping of the barley.

[Ruth 2] {2:1} But there was a man related to Elimelech, a powerful man, and very wealthy, named Boaz. {2:3} And Ruth, the Moabitie woman, said to her mother-in-law, “If you order, I will go into the field and gather the ears of grain which escape the reaping hand, wherever I will find favor with the father of a family, who will be compassionate to me.” She answered her, “Go, my daughter.” {2:3} And so she went and gathered the ears of grain after the completion of the reaping. But it happened that this field was owned by Boaz, who was of the kindred of Elimelech. {2:4} And behold, he came out of Bethlehem and said to the reapers, “The Lord be with you.” They answered him, “May the Lord bless you.” {2:5} And Boaz said to the young man who was in charge of the reapers, “Whose young woman is this?” {2:6} He answered him, “This is the Moabite woman, who came with Naomi, from the land of the Moabites, {2:7} and she asked to gather the remnants of the ears of grain, following the steps of the reapers, and from morning until now she has remained in the field, and, indeed, not for one moment has she returned home.” {2:8} And Boaz said to Ruth, “Listen to me, daughter. Do not go to gather in any other field, nor depart from this place, but join with my young women, {2:9} and follow where they reap. For I given orders to my young men, so that no one is to harass you. And so, whenever you are thirsty, go to the vessels, and drink from the waters that the young men also drink.” {2:10} She, falling on her face and paying homage on the ground, said to him: “How did this happen to me, that I should find favor before your eyes, and that you would condescend to accept me, a foreign woman?” {2:11} He answered her, “Everything has been reported to me, what things you have done for your mother-in-law after the death of your husband, and how you left your parents, and the land in which you were born, and came to a people you did not know before. {2:12} May the Lord repay you for your work, and may you receive a full reward from the Lord, the God of Israel, to whom you have come, and under whose wings you have taken refuge.” {2:13} She said, “I have found favor before your eyes, my lord, who has consoled me, and you have spoken to the heart of your handmaid, who is unlike one of your young women.” {2:14} And Boaz said to her, “When mealtime begins, come here, and eat bread, and dip your morsel in the vinegar.” And so she sat beside the reapers, and she piled up parched grain for herself, and she ate and was satisfied, and carried off the leftovers.
{2:15} And then she arose from there, so as to gather the ears of grain, according to the custom. But Boaz commanded his servants, saying, “If she is even willing to reap with you, do not prevent her, {2:16} and purposely let fall some from your bundles, and allow them to remain, so that she may gather without blushing, and let no one rebuke her gathering.” {2:17} And so she gathered in the field until evening. And striking and threshing with a staff what she had gathered, she found about the measure of an ephah of barley, that is, three measures. {2:18} Carrying this, she returned into the city and showed it to her mother-in-law. Moreover, she offered it to her and even gave her the leftovers of her food, with which she had been satisfied. {2:19} And her mother-in-law said to her, “Where have you gathered today, and where have you found work? Blessed is he who took pity on you!” And she informed her with whom she had been working, and she said the man’s name, that he was called Boaz. {2:20} Naomi answered her, “May he be blessed by the Lord, because the same kindness which he provided for the living, he also kept for the dead.” And again she said: “This man is our near relative.” {2:21} And Ruth said, “He charged me with this also, that from now on I should join with his reapers until all the crop has been reaped.” {2:22} And her mother-in-law said to her, “It is better, my daughter, to go out reaping with his young women, lest in a stranger’s field someone may confront you.” {2:23} And so, she joined with the young women of Boaz, and from then on reaped with them, until the barley and the wheat were stored in the barns.

{3:1} But afterwards, when she returned to her mother-in-law, Naomi said to her: “My daughter, I will seek rest for you, and I will provide so that it may be well with you. {3:2} This Boaz, whose young women you joined in the field, is our near relative, and this night he will winnow the threshing floor of barley. {3:3} Therefore, wash and anoint yourself, and put on your decorative garments, and go down to the threshing floor, but do not let the man see you, while he finishes eating and drinking. {3:4} But when he goes sleep, observe the place where he sleeps. And you will approach and lift up the covering, the part which covers near his feet, and lay yourself down, and sleep there; but he will tell you what you are obliged to do.” {3:5} She answered, “I will do everything as you have instructed.” {3:6} And she went down to the threshing floor, and she did everything that her mother-in-law had commanded her. {3:7} And when Boaz had finished eating and drinking, and he was merry, and he had gone to sleep by the pile of sheaves, she approached secretly, and, lifting the covering near his feet, she laid herself down. {3:8} And behold, when it was the middle of the night, the man became frightened and confused, and he saw a woman lying near his feet. {3:9} And he said to her, “Who are you?” And she answered, “I am Ruth, your handmaid. Spread your covering over your servant, for you are a near relative.” {3:10} And he said, “You are blessed by the Lord, daughter, and you have excelled beyond your earlier benevolence, because you have not followed young men, whether poor or rich. {3:11} Therefore, do not be afraid, but whatever you decide about me, I will accomplish for you. For all the people, who dwell within the gates of my city, know that you are a virtuous woman. {3:12} Neither do I deny myself to be a near relative, but there is another nearer than I. {3:13} Be at peace for this night. And when morning arrives, if he is willing to uphold the law of kinship for you, things will turn out well; but if he is not willing, then, I will take you, without any doubt, as the Lord lives. Sleep until morning.” {3:14} And so she slept by his feet until the night was ending. And she arose before men could inquire of one another. And Boaz said, “Be careful, lest someone know that you came here.” {3:15} And again he said, “Spread your mantle that covers you, and hold it with both hands.” As she extended it and held it, he measured six measures of barley and placed it upon her. Carrying it, she went into the city. {3:16} And she came to her mother-in-law, who said to her: “What have you been doing, daughter?” And she explained to her all that the man had accomplished for her. {3:17} And she said, “Behold, he gave me six measures of barley, for he said, ‘I am not willing to have you return empty to your mother-in-law.’ ” {3:18} And Naomi said, “ Wait, daughter, until we see how things will turn out. For the man will not rest until he has accomplished what he said.”

{4:1} Then Boaz went up to the gate, and he sat there. And when he had seen the kinsman passing by, whom he had previously discussed, he spoke to him, calling him by his name, “Pause for a little while, and sit down here.” He turned aside and sat down. {4:2} But Boaz, calling aside ten men among the elders of the city, said to them, “Sit down here.” {4:3} They settled down, and he spoke to the kinsman, “Naomi, who has returned from the region of the Moabites, is selling part of a field of our brother Elimelech. {4:4} I wanted you to hear this, and to tell you in front of everyone sitting here, including the eldest of my people. If you will take possession of it by the right of kinship, buy it and possess it. But if it displeases you, you should reveal this to me, so that I will know what I have to do. For there is no near kinsman besides you, who is before me, and I am after you.” But he answered, “I will buy the field.” {4:5} And Boaz said to him, “When buying the field, you are likewise obliged to accept the hand of the woman Ruth, the Moabite, who was the wife of the deceased, so that you may raise up the name of your near kinsman through his posterity.” {4:6} He answered, “I yield my right of kinship, for I am obliged not to cut off the posterity of my own family. You may make use of my privilege, which I freely declare I will forego.” {4:7} Yet it was the custom between kinsmen in this former time in Israel, that if at anytime one yielded his right to another, so as to confirm his permission, the man took off his shoe and gave it to his neighbor. This was a testimony of concession in Israel. {4:8} And so Boaz said to his kinsman, “Take off your shoe.” And immediately he released it from his foot. {4:9} And he said to the eldest and to all the people, “You are witnesses this day, that I have taken possession of all that belonged to Elimelech and Chilion and Mahlon, and was bequeathed to Naomi. {4:10} And Ruth, the Moabite, the wife of Mahlon, I have taken in marriage so as to raise up the name of the deceased in his posterity, so that his name will not be cut off from among his family and his brethren and his people. You, I say, are witnesses of this thing.” {4:11} All the people who were at the gate, along with the eldest, answered, “We are witnesses. May the Lord make this woman, who enters into your house, like Rachel, and Leah, who built up the house of Israel, so that she may be an example of virtue in Ephrathah, and so that her name may be honored in Bethlehem.
And may your house be like the house of Perez, whom Tamar bore to Judah, of the offspring which the Lord will give to you from this young woman." {4:13} And so Boaz took Ruth, and received her as his wife, and he went in to her, and the Lord granted to her to conceive and bear a son. {4:14} And the women said to Naomi, "Blessed be the Lord, who has not permitted your family to be without a successor, and may his name be called upon in Israel. {4:15} And now you may have someone to comfort your soul and to care for you in old age, for he is born of your daughter-in-law, who loves you, and this is much better for you, than if you had seven sons." {4:16} And taking up the boy, Naomi placed him on her bosom, and she took on the duties of carrying him and nursing him. {4:17} And the women of the near future were congratulating her and saying, "There was a son born to Naomi. They called his name Obed. Here is the father of Jesse, the father of David." {4:18} These are the generations of Perez: Perez conceived Hezron, {4:19} Hezron conceived Aram, Aram conceived Amminadab, {4:20} Amminadab conceived Nahshon, Nahshon conceived Salmon, {4:21} Salmon conceived Boaz, Boaz conceived Obed, {4:22} Obed conceived Jesse, Jesse conceived David.

The First Book of Samuel

[1 Samuel 1] {1:1} There was a certain man from Ramah of Zophim, on Mount Ephraim, and his name was Elkanah, the son of Jeroham, the son of Elihu, the son of Tohu, the son of Zophim, on Mount Ephraim, and his name was Elkanah, the son of Peninnah, the son of Phinehas, priests of the Lord, were in that place. {1:2} And he had two wives: the name of one was Hannah, and the name of the second was Peninnah. And Peninnah had sons. But Hannah did not have children. {1:3} And this man went up from his city, on the established days, so that he might adore and sacrifice to the Lord at Shiloh. But the boy was still a young child. {1:4} Then the day arrived, and Elkanah immolated. And he gave portions to his wife Peninnah, and to all her sons and daughters. {1:5} But to Hannah he gave one portion with sorrow. For he loved Hannah, but the Lord had closed her womb. {1:6} And her rival afflicted her and vehemently distressed her, to a great extent, for she rebuked her that the Lord had closed her womb. {1:7} And she did so every year, when the time returned for them to ascend to the temple of the Lord. And she provoked her in this way. And so, she wept and did not take food. {1:8} Therefore, her husband Elkanah said to her: "Hannah, why are you weeping? And why do you not eat? And for what reason do you afflict your heart? Am I not better to you than ten sons?" {1:9} And so, after she ate and drank at Shiloh, Hannah rose up. And Eli, the priest, was sitting on the seat before the door of the temple of the Lord. {1:10} And since Hannah was bitter in soul, she prayed to the Lord, weeping greatly. {1:11} And she made a vow, saying, "O Lord of hosts, if, in looking with favor, you will see the affliction of your servant and will remember me, and will not forget your handmaid, and if you will give to your servant a male child, then I will give him to the Lord all the days of his life, and no razor shall pass over his head." {1:12} Then it happened that, while she multiplied prayers before the Lord, Eli observed her mouth. {1:13} For Hannah was speaking in her heart, and only her lips moved, and her voice was barely heard. Therefore, Eli considered her to be drunk, {1:14} and so he said to her: "How long will you be inebriated? You should take only a little wine, but instead you are drenched." {1:15} Responding, Hannah said: "By no means, my lord. For I am an exceedingly unhappy woman, and I drank neither wine, nor anything that can inebriate. Instead, I have poured out my soul in the sight of the Lord. {1:16} You should not repute your handmaid as one of the daughters of Belial. For I have been speaking from the abundance of my sorrow and grief, even until now." {1:17} Then Eli said to her: "Go in peace. And may the God of Israel grant to you your petition, which you have begged of him." {1:18} And she said, "I wish that your handmaid may find grace in your eyes." And the woman went on her way, and she ate, and her countenance was no longer changed for the worse. {1:19} And they rose up in the morning, and they worshiped before the Lord. And they returned and arrived at their own house at Ramah. Then Elkanah knew his wife Hannah. And the Lord remembered her. {1:20} And it happened that, in the course of days, Hannah conceived and bore a son. And she called his name Samuel, because she had requested him from the Lord. {1:21} Now her husband Elkanah ascended with his entire house, so that he might immolate to the Lord a solemn sacrifice, with his vow. {1:22} But Hannah did not go up. For she said to her husband, "I will not go, until the infant has been weaned, and until I may lead him, so that he may appear before the sight of the Lord, and may remain always there." {1:23} And her husband Elkanah said to her: "Do what seems good to you, and stay until you wean him. And I pray that the Lord may fulfill his word." Therefore, the woman remained at home, and she breastfed her son, until she withdrew him from milk. {1:24} And after she had weaned him, she brought him with her, along with three calves, and three measures of flour, and a small bottle of wine, and she led him to the house of the Lord at Shiloh. But the boy was still a young child. {1:25} And they immolated a calf, and they presented the boy to Eli. {1:26} And Hannah said: "I beg you, my lord, as your soul lives, my lord: I am that woman, who stood before you here, praying to the Lord. {1:27} I prayed for this child, and the Lord granted to me my petition, which I asked of him. {1:28} Because of this, I have also lent him to the Lord, for all the days when he shall be lent to the Lord." And they adored the Lord in that place. And Hannah prayed, and she said:

[1 Samuel 2] {2:1} "My heart exults in the Lord, and my horn is exalted in my God. My mouth is enlarged over my enemies. For I have rejoiced in your salvation. {2:2} Nothing is holy as the Lord is holy. For there is no other beside you. And nothing is strong as our God is strong. {2:3} Do not continue speaking of great things, boasting. Let what is old depart from your mouth. For the Lord is the God of knowledge, and thoughts are prepared for him. {2:4} The bow of the powerful has been overwhelmed, and the weak have been girded with strength. {2:5} Those who before were filled, have hired themselves out for bread. And the starving have been filled, so that the barren have given birth to many. But she who had borne many sons has become unable. {2:6} The Lord brings death, and he gives life. He leads away to death, and he brings back again. {2:7} The Lord impoverishes, and he enriches. He humbles, and he lifts up. {2:8} He raises up the indigent from the dust, and he lifts up the poor from filth, so that they may sit with princes, and take hold of a throne of glory. For the hinges of the earth belong to the Lord, and he has placed the globe upon them. {2:9} He will preserve the feet of his holy ones, and the impious will be silenced in darkness. For no man will prevail by his own strength. {2:10} The adversaries of the Lord will dread him. And over them, he will thunder in the heavens. The Lord will judge the parts of the earth, and he will give dominion to his king, and he will lift up the horn of his Christ.” {2:11} And Elkanah went away to Ramah, to his house. But the boy was a minister in the sight of the Lord, before the face of Eli, the priest. {2:12} But the sons of Eli were sons of Belial, not knowing the Lord, {2:13} nor the priestly office for the people. And so, no matter who had immolated a victim, the servant of the priest would arrive, while the flesh was still cooking, and he would take a three-pronged hook in his hand, {2:14} and put it into the vessel, or into the cauldron, or into the cooking pot, or into the pan, and all that the hook lifted up, the priest took for himself. So they did to all of Israel who arrived at Shiloh. {2:15} In addition, before they burned the fat, the servant of the priest would arrive, and he would say to the one who was immolating: “Give me the flesh, so that I may boil it for the priest. For I will not accept cooked meat from you, but raw.” {2:16} And the one who was immolating would say to him, “First, allow the fat to be burned today, according to custom, and then take for yourself whatever your soul desires.” But in response, he would say to him: “By no means. For you will give it to me now, otherwise I will take it by force.” {2:17} Therefore, the sin of the servants was exceedingly great before the Lord. For they drew men away from the sacrifice of the Lord. {2:18} But Samuel was ministering before the face of the Lord; he was a youth girded with a linen ephod. {2:19} And his mother fashioned a little tunic for him, which she brought to him on the appointed days, ascending with her husband, so that he might immolate the solemn sacrifice. {2:20} And Eli blessed Elkanah and his wife. And he said to him, “May the Lord repay to you offspring from this woman, on behalf of the loan that you offered to the Lord.” And they went away to their own place. {2:21} Then the Lord visited Hannah, and she conceived and bore three sons and two daughters. And the youth Samuel was magnified with the Lord. {2:22} Now Eli was very old, and he heard all that his sons were doing to all of Israel, and how they were sleeping with the women who were waiting at the door of the tabernacle. {2:23} And he said to them: “Why are you doing these kinds of things, very wicked things, that I have heard from all the people? {2:24} My sons, do not be willing. For it is no good report that I am hearing, so that you would cause the people of the Lord to transgress. {2:25} If a man has sinned against a man, God may be able to be appeased over him. But if a man has sinned against the Lord, who will pray for him?” But they did not listen to the voice of their father, that the Lord was willing to kill them. {2:26} But the youth Samuel advanced, and grew up, and he was pleasing to the Lord, as well as to men. {2:27} Then a man of God went to Eli, and he said to him: “Thus says the Lord: Was I not revealed openly to the house of your father, when they were in Egypt in the house of Pharaoh? {2:28} And I chose him out of all the tribes of Israel for myself as priest, so that he might ascend to my altar, and burn incense to me, and wear the ephod before me. And I gave to the house of your father all the sacrifices of the sons of Israel. {2:29} Why have you kicked away my victims and my gifts, which I instructed to be offered in the temple? And why have you given more honor to your sons than to me, so that you eat the first-fruits of every sacrifice of my people Israel? {2:30} Because of this, the Lord God of Israel says: I have spoken clearly, so that your house, and the house of your father, may minister in my sight, even forever. But now the Lord says: May this be far from me. Instead, whoever will have glorified me, I will glorify him. But whoever despises me, they will be despised. {2:31} Behold the days are arriving, when I will cut off your arm, and the arm of the house of your father, so that there will not be an old man in your house. {2:32} And you will see your rival in the temple, amid all the prosperity of Israel. And there will not be an old man in your house for all days. {2:33} Yet truly, I will not entirely take away a man of you from my altar, but such that your eyes may fail, and your soul may melt away, and a great part of your house may die out, as it pertains to the state of men. {2:34} But this will be a sign to you, which will happen to your two sons, Hophni and Phinehas: on one day they both will die. {2:35} And I will raise up for myself a faithful priest, who will act in accord with my heart and my soul. And I will build a faithful house for him. And he will walk before my Christ for all days. {2:36} Then this will be in the future, that whoever will have remained of your house, he will approach so that he may pray on his behalf. And he will offer a coin of silver, and a twist of bread. And he will say: ‘Permit me, I beg you, one part of the priestly office, so that I may eat a mouthful of bread.’ ”

[1 Samuel 3] {3:1} Now the boy Samuel was ministering to the Lord before Eli, and the word of the Lord was precious in those days; there was no manifest vision. {3:2} Then it happened that, on a certain day, Eli was lying in his place. And his eyes had dimmed, so that he was unable to see. {3:3} And so, to prevent the lamp of God from going out, Samuel was sleeping in the temple of the Lord, where the ark of God was. {3:4} And the Lord called Samuel. And responding, he said, “Here I am.” {3:5} And he ran to Eli, and he said, “Here I am. For you called me.” And he said: “I did not call. Return and sleep.” And he went away, and he slept. {3:6} And again, the Lord continued to call to Samuel. And rising up, Samuel went to Eli, and he said: “Here I am. For you called me.” And he responded: “I did not call you, my son. Return and sleep.” {3:7} Now Samuel did not yet know the Lord, and the word of the Lord had not been revealed to him. {3:8} And the Lord continued, and he called to Samuel still a third time. And rising up, he went to Eli. {3:9} And he said: “Here I am. For you called me.” Then Eli understood that the Lord had called the boy. And he said to Samuel: “Go and sleep. And if he calls to you from now on, you will say, ‘Speak, Lord, for your servant is listening.’ ” Therefore, Samuel went away, and he slept in his place. {3:10} And the Lord came, and stood, and he called, just as he had called the other times, “Samuel, Samuel.” And Samuel said, “Speak, Lord, for your servant is listening.” {3:11} And the Lord said to Samuel: “Behold, I am accomplishing a word in Israel. Whoever will hear about it, both his ears will ring. {3:12} In that day, I will raise up against Eli all the things that I have spoken over his house. I will begin, and I will finish. {3:13} For I have foretold to him that I will judge his house unto eternity, because of iniquity. For he had known that his sons acted shamefully, and he did not chastise them. {3:14} For this reason, I have sworn to the house of Eli that the iniquity of his house will not be expiated, with victims or with gifts, even forever.” {3:15} Then Samuel slept until morning, and he opened the doors of the house of the Lord. And Samuel was afraid to tell the vision to Eli. {3:16} Then Eli called Samuel, and he said, “Samuel, my son?” And responding, he said, “I am here.” {3:17} And he questioned him: “What is the word that the Lord has spoken to you? I beg you that you may not conceal it from me. May God do these things to you, and may he add these other things, if you hide from me one word out of all the things that were told to you.” {3:18} And so, Samuel revealed to him all the words, and he did not hide them from him. And he responded: “He is the Lord. May he do what is good in his own eyes.” {3:19} And Samuel grew up, and the Lord was with him, and not one of his words fell to the ground. {3:20} And all of Israel, from Dan even to Beersheba, knew Samuel to be a faithful prophet of the Lord. {3:21} And the Lord continued to appear in Shiloh. For the Lord had revealed himself to Samuel at Shiloh, according to the word of the Lord. And the word about Samuel went forth to all of Israel.

[1 Samuel 4] {4:1} And it happened that, in those days, the Philistines assembled to fight. And Israel went out to meet the Philistines in battle, and he made camp beside the Stone of Assistance. But the Philistines went to Aphek, {4:2} and they positioned their troops against Israel. Then, when the conflict began, Israel turned his back to the Philistines. And they were cut down in that conflict, in various places in the fields, about four thousand men. {4:3} And the people returned to the camp. And those greater by birth of Israel said: “Why has the Lord struck us today before the Philistines? Let us bring to ourselves the ark of the covenant of the Lord from Shiloh. And let it enter into our midst, so that it may save us from the hand of our enemies.” {4:4} Therefore, the people sent to Shiloh, and they brought from there the ark of the covenant of the Lord of hosts, sitting upon the cherubim. And the two sons of Eli, Hophni and Phinehas, were with the ark of the covenant of God. {4:5} And when the ark of the covenant of the Lord had arrived in the camp, all of Israel shouted with a great clamor, and the land resounded. {4:6} And the Philistines heard the voice of the clamor, and they said, “What is this voice of a great clamor in the camp of the Hebrews?” And they realized that the ark of the Lord had arrived in the camp. {4:7} And the Philistines were afraid, saying, “God has entered into the camp.” And they groaned, saying: {4:8} “Woe to us! For there was no such great exultation yesterday, or the day before. Woe to us! Who will save us from the hand of these sublime gods? These are the gods who struck Egypt with all the plagues, in the desert.” {4:9} “Be strengthened, and be manly, O Philistines! Otherwise, you may serve the Hebrews, as they also have served you. Be strengthened and wage war!” {4:10} Therefore, the Philistines fought, and Israel was cut down, and each one fled to his own tent. And an exceedingly great slaughter occurred. And thirty thousand foot soldiers from Israel fell. {4:11} And the ark of God was captured. Also, the two sons of Eli, Hophni and Phinehas, died. {4:12} Now a man of Benjamin, rushing from the troops, arrived at Shiloh on the same day, with his clothing torn, and with his head sprinkled with dust. {4:13} And when he had arrived, Eli was sitting on a seat opposite the way, gazing out. For his heart was fearful on behalf of the ark of God. Then, after this man entered the city, he announced it to the city. And the entire city wailed. {4:14} And Eli heard the sound of the outcry, and he said, “What is this sound, this tumult?” And the man hurried, and he went and announced it to Eli. {4:15} Now Eli was ninety-eight years old, and his eyes had dimmed, so that he was not able to see. {4:16} And he said to Eli: “I am the one who came from the battle. And it is I who fled from the troops today.” And he said to him, “What has happened, my son?” {4:17} And responding, the man reported and said: “Israel has fled before the Philistines. And a great ruin has happened to the people. Moreover, your two sons, Hophni and Phinehas, also have died. And the ark of God has been captured.” {4:18} And when he had named the ark of God, he fell from the seat backwards, toward the door, and, having broken his neck, he died. For he was an old man of great age. And he judged Israel for forty years. {4:19} Now his daughter-in-law, the wife of Phinehas, was pregnant, and her delivery was near. And upon hearing the news that the ark of God had been captured, and that her father-in-law and her husband had died, she bent  down and went into labor. For her pains rushed upon her suddenly. {4:20} Then, when she was near death, those who were standing around her said to her, “You should not be afraid, for you have given birth to a son.” But she did not respond to them, and she did not notice them. {4:21} And she called the boy Ichabod, saying, “The glory of Israel has been taken away,” because the ark of God was captured, and because of her father-in-law and her husband. {4:22} And she said, “The glory has been taken away from Israel,” because the ark of God had been captured.

[1 Samuel 5] {5:1} Then the Philistines took the ark of God, and they transported it from the Stone of Assistance into Ashdod. {5:2} And the Philistines took the ark of God, and carried it into the temple of Dagon. And they stationed it beside Dagon. {5:3} And when the Ashdodites had risen up at first light on the next day, behold, Dagon was lying prone on the ground before the ark of the Lord. And they took Dagon, and they set him again in his place. {5:4} And again, on the next day, rising up in the morning, they found Dagon lying on his face upon the ground, before the ark of the Lord. But the head of Dagon, and both palms of his hands had been cut off upon the threshold. {5:5} Moreover, only the trunk of Dagon remained in its place. For this reason, the priests of Dagon, and all who enter his temple, do not tread upon the threshold of Dagon in Ashdod, even to this day. {5:6} Now the hand of the Lord weighed heavily upon the Ashdodites, and he destroyed them. And he struck Ashdod and its borders at the inner part of the buttocks. And in the villages and fields, in the midst of that region, mice rose up and burst forth. And this caused a great tumult unto death in the city. {5:7} Then the men of Ashdod, seeing this kind of plague, said: “The ark of the God of Israel shall not remain with us. For his hand is harsh, over us and over Dagon, our god.” {5:8} And sending, they gathered together all the princes of the Philistines to them, and they said, “What shall we do about the ark of the God of Israel?” And the Gathites responded, “Let the ark of the God of Israel be led around.” And they led the ark of the God of Israel around. {5:9} And as they were carrying it around, the hand of the Lord fell upon every single city with an exceedingly great slaughter. And he struck down the men of each and every city, from the small even to the great. And cysts were festering at their buttocks. And the Gathites took counsel, and they made for themselves seat covers from pelts. {6:10} Therefore, they sent the ark of God into Ekron. And when the ark of God had arrived at Ekron, the Ekronites cried out, saying, “They have brought the ark of the God of Israel to us, so that it may kill us and our people!” {5:11} And so they sent and gathered together all the princes of the Philistines, and they said: “Release the ark of the God of Israel, and return it to its own place. And let it not kill us, with our people.” {5:12} For the fear of death fell upon every single city, and the hand of God was very heavy. Also, the men who did not die were being afflicted in the inner part of the buttocks. And the wailing of each city was ascending to heaven.

[1 Samuel 6] {6:1} Now the ark of the Lord was in the region of the Philistines for seven months. {6:2} And the Philistines called for the priests and the diviners, saying: “What shall we do with the ark of the Lord? Reveal to us in what manner we should send it back to its place.” And they said: {6:3} “If you send back the ark of the God of Israel, do not choose to release it empty. Instead, repay to him what you owe because of sin. And then you will be cured. And you will know why his hand did not withdraw from you.” {6:4} And they said, “What is it that we ought to repay to him because of transgression?” And they responded: {6:5} “In accord with the number of the provinces of the Philistines, you shall fashion five gold cysts and five gold mice. For the same transgression: for Ashdod one, for Gaza one, for Ashkelon one, for Gath one, for Ekron one. {6:18} And there were gold mice, according to the number of the cities of the Philistines, of the five provinces, from the fortified city to the village that was without a wall, and even to the great stone upon which they placed the ark of the Lord, which was, at that time, on the borders of Beth-shemesh. {6:19} Then he struck down some of the men of Beth-shemesh, because they had seen the ark of the Lord. And he struck down some of the people: seventy men, and fifty thousand of the common people. And the people lamented, because the Lord had struck the people with a great slaughter. {6:20} And the men of Beth-shemesh said: “Who will be able to stand in the sight of the Lord, this holy God? And who will ascend to him from us?” {6:21} And they sent messengers to the inhabitants of Kiriath-jearim, saying: “The Philistines have returned the ark of the Lord. Descend and lead it back to you.”

[1 Samuel 7] {7:1} Then the men of Kiriath-jearim arrived, and they led away the ark of the Lord. And they brought it into the house of Abinadab, in Gibeah. Then they sanctified Eleazar, his son, so that he might care for the ark of the Lord. {7:2} And it happened that, from that day, the ark of the Lord remained in Kiriath-jearim. And the days were multiplied (for it was now the twentieth year) and all the house of Israel rested, following the Lord. {7:3} Then Samuel spoke to the entire house of Israel, saying: “If you would return to the Lord with your whole heart, take away strange gods from among you, the Baals and Ashtaroth, and prepare yourself for the Lord. {7:4} Therefore, the sons of Israel took away the Baals and Ashtaroth, and they served the Lord alone. {7:5} And Samuel said, “Gather all of Israel at Mizpah, so that I may pray for you to the Lord.” {7:6} And they convened at Mizpah. And they drew water, and they poured it out in the sight of the Lord. And on that day they fasted, and in that place they said, “We have sinned against the Lord.” And Samuel judged the sons of Israel at Mizpah. {7:7} And the Philistines heard that the sons of Israel had gathered together at Mizpah. And the princes of the Philistines ascended against Israel. And when the sons of Israel had heard this, they were afraid before the face of the Philistines. {7:8} And they said to Samuel, “May you not cease to cry out to the Lord our God on our behalf, so that he may save us from the hand of the Philistines.” {7:9} Then Samuel took one sucking lamb, and he offered it whole, as a holocaust to the Lord. And Samuel cried out to the Lord on behalf of Israel, and the Lord heeded him. {7:10} Then it happened that, while Samuel was offering the holocaust, the Philistines began the battle against Israel. But the Lord thundered with a great crash, on that day, over the Philistines, and he terrified them, and they were cut down before the face of Israel. {7:11} And the men of Israel, departing from Mizpah, pursued the Philistines, and they struck them down as far as the place which was below Bethcar. {7:12} Then Samuel took a single stone, and he placed it between Mizpah and Shen. And he called the name of this place: The Stone of Assistance. And he said, “For in this place the Lord gave assistance to us.” {7:13} And the Philistines were humbled, and they no longer drew near, so that they might enter into the borders of Israel. And so, the hand of the Lord was over the Philistines during all the days of Samuel. {7:14} And the cities that the Philistines had taken from Israel were restored to Israel, from Ekron as far as Gath, with their borders. And he freed Israel from the hand of the Philistines. And there was peace between Israel and the Amorites. {7:15} And Samuel judged Israel all the days of his life. {7:16} And he went each year, traveling around to Bethel, and to Gilgal, and to Mizpah, and he judged Israel in the above-stated places. {7:17} And he returned to Ramah. For his house was there, and he judged Israel there. And then he built an altar to the Lord there.

[1 Samuel 8] {8:1} And it happened that, when Samuel had become old, he appointed his sons as judges over Israel. {8:2} Now the name of his firstborn son was Joel, and the name of the second was Abijah: judges at Beersheba. {8:3} But his sons did not walk in his ways. Instead, they turned aside, pursuing avarice. And they accepted bribes, and they perverted judgment. {8:4} Therefore, all those greater by birth of Israel, having gathered together, went to Samuel at Ramah. {8:5} And they said to him: “Behold, you are elderly, and your sons do not walk in your ways. Appoint for us a king, so that he may judge us, just as all the nations have.” {8:6} And the word was displeasing in the eyes of Samuel, for they had said, “Give us a king to judge us.” And Samuel prayed to the Lord. {8:7} Then the Lord said to Samuel: “Listen to the voice of the people in all that they are saying to you. For they have not rejected you, but me, lest I reign over them.” {8:8} In accord with all their works, which they have done from the day when I led them away from Egypt, even to this day: just as they have forsaken me, and served foreign gods, so now they also do to you. {8:9} Now therefore, hear their voice. Yet truly, testify to them and foretell to them the rights of the king who will reign over them.” {8:10} And so, Samuel told all the words of the Lord to the people, who had petitioned a king from him. {8:11} And he said: “This will be the right of the king who will have authority over you: He will take your sons, and place them in his chariots. And he will make them his horsemen and his runners before his four-horse chariots. {8:12} And he will appoint them to be his tribunes and centurions, and the plowmen of his fields, and the harvesters of the grain, and the makers of his weapons and chariots. {8:13} Likewise, your daughters he will take for himself as makers of ornaments, and as cooks and bakers. {8:14} Also, he will take your fields, and your vineyards, and your best olive groves, and he will give them to his servants. {8:15} Moreover, he will take one tenth of your grain and of the results of your vineyards, so that he may give these to his eunuchs and servants. {8:16} Then, too, he will take your servants, and handmaids, and your best young men, and your donkeys, and he will set them to his work. {8:17} Also, he will take a tenth of your flocks. And you will be his servants. {8:18} And you will cry out, in that day, from the face of the king, whom you have chosen for yourselves. And the Lord will not heed you, in that day. For you requested a king for yourselves.” {8:19} But the people were not willing to listen to the voice of Samuel. Instead, they said: “By no means! For there shall be a king over us, {8:20} and we shall be just like all the Gentiles. And our king will judge us, and he will go out before us, and he will fight our wars for us.” {8:21} And Samuel heard all the words of the people, and he spoke them to the ears of the Lord. {8:22} Then the Lord said to Samuel, “Listen to their voice, and appoint a king over them.” And Samuel said to the men of Israel, “Let each one go to his own city.”

[1 Samuel 9] {9:1} Now there was a man of Benjamin, whose name was Kish, the son of Abiel, the son of Zoror, the son of Becorath, the son of Aphiah, the son of a man of Benjamin, strong and robust. {9:2} And he had a son called Saul, an elect and good man. And there was not a man among the sons of Israel better than he was. For he stood head and shoulders above all the people. {9:3} Now the donkeys of Kish, the father of Saul, had become lost. And Kish said to his son Saul, “Take with you one of the servants, and rising up, go out and seek the donkeys.” And when they had passed through mount Ephraim, {9:4} and through the land of Shalishah, and had not found them, they crossed also through the land of Shaalim, and they were not there, and through the land of Benjamin, and they found nothing. {9:5} And when they had arrived in the land of Zuph, Saul said to the servant who was with him, “Come, and let us return, otherwise perhaps my father may forget the donkeys, and become anxious over us.” {9:6} And he said to him: “Behold, there is a man of God in this city, a noble man. All that he says, happens without fail. Now therefore, let us go there. For perhaps he may tell us about our way, because of which we have arrived.” {9:7} And Saul said to his servant: “Behold, let us go. But what will we bring to the man of God? The bread in our sacks has run out. And we have no small gift that we might give to the man of God, nor anything at all.” {9:8} The servant again responded to Saul, and he said: “Behold, there is found in my hand a coin of the fourth part of a stater. Let us give it to the man of God, so that he may reveal to us our way.” {9:9} (In past times, in Israel, anyone going to consult God would speak in this way, “Come, and let us go to the seer.” For one who is called a prophet today, in past times was called a seer.) {9:10} And Saul said to his servant: “Your word is very good. Come, let us go.” And they went into the city, where the man of God was. {9:11} And as they were ascending the slope to the city, they found some young women going out to draw water. And they said to them, “Is the seer here?” {9:12} And responding, they said to them: “He is. Behold, he is ahead of you. Hurry now. For he came into the city today, since there is a sacrifice for the people today, on the high place. {9:13} Upon entering the city, you should find him immediately, before he ascends to the high place for the meal. And the people will not eat until he has arrived. For he blesses the victim, and thereafter those who were called will eat. Now therefore, go up. For you will find him today.” {9:14} And they ascended into the city. And as they were walking in the midst of the city,
Samuel appeared, advancing to meet them, so that he might ascend to the high place. {9:15} Now the Lord had revealed to the ear of Samuel, one day before Saul had arrived, saying: {9:16} “Tomorrow, at the same hour that it is now, I will send to you a man from the land of Benjamin. And you shall anoint him to be the leader over my people Israel. And he will save my people from the hand of the Philistines. For I have looked with favor upon my people, because their outcry has reached me.” {9:17} And when Samuel had caught sight of Saul, the Lord said to him: “Behold, the man about whom I spoke to you. This one shall rule over my people.” {9:18} Then Saul drew near to Samuel, at the middle of the gate, and he said, “Tell me, I beg you: where is the house of the seer?” {9:19} And Samuel responded to Saul, saying: “I am the seer. Ascend before me to the high place, so that you may eat with me today. And I will send you away in the morning. And I shall reveal to you everything that is in your heart. {9:20} And concerning the donkeys, which were lost the day before yesterday, you should not be anxious, for they have been found. And all the best things of Israel, for whom should they be? Will they not be for you and for all your father’s house?” {9:21} And responding, Saul said: “Am I not a son of Benjamin, the least tribe of Israel, and are not my kindred the last among all the families from the tribe of Benjamin? So then, why would you speak this word to me?” {9:22} And so Samuel, taking Saul and his servant, brought them into the dining room, and he gave them a place at the head of those who had been invited. For there were about thirty men. {9:23} And Samuel said to the cook, “Present the portion that I gave to you, and which I instructed you to set apart beside you.” {9:24} Then the cook lifted up the head of those who had been invited. For there were about thirty men. {9:25} And they descended from the high place into the town, and he spoke with Saul in the upper room. And he set out a bed for Saul in the upper room, and he slept. {9:26} And when they had risen in the morning, and it now began to be light, Samuel called to Saul in the upper room, saying, “Rise up, so that I may send you on.” And Saul rose up. And they both departed, that is to say, he and Samuel. {9:27} And as they were descending to the very limit of the city, Samuel said to Saul: “Tell the servant to go ahead of us, and to continue on. But as for you, stay here a little while, so that I may reveal the word of the Lord to you.”

[1 Samuel 10] {10:1} Then Samuel took a little vial of oil, and poured it on his head. And he kissed him, and said: “Behold, the Lord has anointed you as first ruler over his inheritance. And you shall free his people from the hands of their enemies, who are all around them. And this shall be a sign for you that God has anointed you as ruler: {10:2} When you will have departed from me this day, you will find two men beside the sepulcher of Rachel, in the parts of Benjamin to the south. And they will say to you: ‘The donkeys have been found, which you had been seeking as you traveled. And your father, forgetting about the donkeys, has been anxious for you, and he says, “What shall I do about my son?”’ {10:3} And when you will have departed from there, and will have traveled farther, and will have arrived at the oak of Tabor, in that place three men, who are going up to God at Bethel, will find you. One will be bringing three young goats, and another three loaves of bread, and another will be carrying a bottle of wine. {10:4} And when they will have greeted you, they will give you two loaves. And you shall accept these from their hand. {10:5} After these things, you shall arrive at the hill of God, where the garrison of the Philistines is. And when you will have entered the city there, you will meet a company of prophets, descending from the high place, with a psaltery, and a timbrel, and a pipe, and a harp before them, and they will be prophesying. {10:6} And the Spirit of the Lord will spring up within you. And you shall prophesy with them, and you shall be changed into another man. {10:7} Therefore, when these signs will have happened to you, do whatever your hand will find, for the Lord is with you. {10:8} And you shall descend before me into Gilgal, (for I will descend to you), so that you may offer an oblation, and may immolate victims of peace. For seven days, you shall wait, until I come to you, and reveal to you what you should do.” {10:9} And so, when he had turned his shoulder, so that he might go away from Samuel, God changed him to another heart. And all these signs occurred on that day. {10:10} And they arrived at the above-stated hill, and behold, a group of prophets met him. And the Spirit of the Lord leapt up within him, and he prophesied in their midst. {10:11} Then all those who had known him yesterday and the day before, seeing that he was with the prophets, and that he was prophesying, said to one other: “What is this thing that has happened to the son of Kish? Could Saul also be among the prophets?” {10:12} And one would respond to the other, saying, “And who is their father?” Because of this, it turned into a proverb, “Could Saul also be among the prophets?” {10:13} Then he ceased to prophesy, and he went to the high place. {10:14} And the uncle of Saul said to him, and to his servant, “Where did you go?” And they responded: “To seek the donkeys. But when we did not find them, we went to Samuel.” {10:15} And his uncle said to him, “Tell me what Samuel said to you.” {10:16} And Saul said to his uncle, “He told us that the donkeys would be found.” But the word about the kingdom, which Samuel had spoken to him, he did not reveal to him. {10:17} And Samuel called the people together, to the Lord at Mizpah. {10:18} And he said to the sons of Israel: “Thus says the Lord God of Israel: I led Israel away from Egypt, and I rescued you from the hand of the Egyptians, and from the hand of all the kings who were afflicting you. {10:19} But today you have rejected your God, who alone saved you from all your evils and tribulations. And you have said: ‘By no means! Instead, appoint a king over us.’ Now therefore, stand in the sight of the Lord, by your tribes and by your families.” {10:20} And Samuel brought near all the tribes of Israel, and the lot fell upon the tribe of Benjamin. {10:21} And he brought near the tribe of Benjamin, with its families, and the lot fell upon the family of Matri. And then it went to Saul, the son of Kish. Therefore, they sought him, but he was not found. {10:22} And after these things, they consulted the Lord as to whether he would soon arrive there. And the Lord responded, “Behold, he is hidden at home.” {10:23} And so they ran and brought him there. And he stood in the midst of the people, and he was taller than the entire people, from the shoulders upward. {10:24} And Samuel said to all the people: “Certainly, you see the one whom the Lord has chosen, that there is not anyone like him.
among all the people.” And all the people cried out and said, “Long live the king!” {10:25} Then Samuel spoke to the people the law of the kingdom, and he wrote it in a book, and he stored it in the sight of the Lord. And Samuel dismissed all the people, each one to his own house. {10:26} And then Saul went away to his own house at Gibeah. And a portion of the army, whose hearts had been touched by God, went away with him. {10:27} Yet the sons of Belial said, “How could this one be able to save us?” And they despised him, and they brought him no presents. But he pretended not to hear them.

[1 Samuel 11] {11:1} And, about a month afterward, it happened that Nahash the Ammonite ascended and began to fight against Jabesh Gilead. And all the men of Jabesh said to Nahash, “Consider a pact with us, and we will serve you.” {11:2} And Nahash the Ammonite responded to them, “With this will I strike a pact with you: if I may pluck out all your right eyes, and set you as a disgrace against all of Israel.” {11:3} And the elders of Jabesh said to him: “Grant to us seven days, so that we may send messengers to all the borders of Israel. And if there is no one who may defend us, we will go out to you.” {11:4} Therefore, the messengers arrived at Gibeah of Saul. And they spoke these words in the hearing of the people. And all the people lifted up their voice and wept. {11:5} And behold, Saul arrived, following oxen from the field. And he said, “What has happened to the people that they would weep?” And they explained to him the words of the men from Jabesh. {11:6} And the Spirit of the Lord rose up within Saul when he had heard these words, and his fury was enraged exceedingly. {11:7} And taking both the oxen, he cut them into pieces, and he sent them into all the borders of Israel, by the hands of messengers, saying, “Whoever will not go out and follow Saul and Samuel, so shall it be done to his oxen.” Therefore, the fear of the Lord entered into the people, and they went out like one man. {11:8} And he took a census of them at Bezek. And there were three hundred thousand of the sons of Israel. And there were thirty thousand of the men of Judah. {11:9} And they said to the messengers who had arrived: “So shall you say to the men who are of Jabesh Gilead: ‘Tomorrow, when the sun will be hot, you shall have salvation.’ ” Therefore, the messengers went and announced it to the men of Jabesh, who became joyful. {11:10} And they said, “In the morning, we will go out to you. And you may do whatever you please with us.” {11:11} And it happened that, when the next day had arrived, Saul arranged the people into three parts. And he entered into the middle of the camp at the early morning watch, and he struck down the Ammonites until the day grew hot. Then the remainder were dispersed, so much so that not even two of them were left together. {11:12} And the people said to Samuel: “Who is the one who said, ‘Should Saul reign over us?’ Present the men, and we will put them to death.” {11:13} And Saul said: “No one shall be killed on this day. For today the Lord has accomplished salvation in Israel.” {11:14} Then Samuel said to the people, “Come, and let us go to Gilgal, and let us renew the kingdom there.” {11:15} And all the people traveled to Gilgal. And there they made Saul king, in the sight of the Lord at Gilgal. And there they immolated victims of peace, before the Lord. And there Saul and all the men of Israel rejoiced exceedingly.

[1 Samuel 12] {12:1} Then Samuel said to all of Israel: “Behold, I have listened to your voice, according to all that you have said to me, and I have appointed a king over you. {12:2} And now the king advances before you. But I am old and have gray hair. Moreover, my sons are with you. And so, having conversed before you from my youth, even until this day, behold, I am here. {12:3} Speak about me before the Lord, and before his Christ, as to whether I have taken anyone’s ox or donkey, or whether I have falsely accused anyone, or whether I have accepted a bribe from the hand of anyone, and I will repudiate the same, this day, and I will restore it to you.” {12:4} And they said, “You have not falsely accused us, nor oppressed us, nor have you taken anything from the hand of anyone.” {12:5} And he said to them, “The Lord is a witness against you, and his Christ is a witness this day, that you have not found anything in my hand.” And they said, “He is the witness.” {12:6} And Samuel said to the people: “It is the Lord who appointed Moses and Aaron, and who led our fathers away from the land of Egypt. {12:7} Now therefore, stand, so that I may contend in judgment against you before the Lord, about all the mercies of the Lord, which he has given to you and to your fathers: {12:8} How Jacob entered into Egypt, and your fathers cried out to the Lord. And the Lord sent Moses and Aaron, and he led your fathers away from Egypt, and he transferred them to this place. {12:9} But they forgot the Lord their God, and so he delivered them into the hand of Sisera, master of the army of Hazor, and into the hand of the Philistines, and into the hand of the king of Moab. And they fought against them. {12:10} But afterward, they cried out to the Lord, and they said: ‘We have sinned, because we have forsaken the Lord, and we have served the Baals and Ashtaroth. Now therefore, rescue us from the hand of our enemies, and we will serve you.’ {12:11} And the Lord sent Jerubbaal, and Bedan, and Jephthah, and Samuel, and he rescued you from the hand of your enemies all around, and you lived in confidence. {12:12} Then, seeing that Nahash, the king of the sons of Ammon, had arrived against you, you said to me, ‘By no means! Instead, a king shall reign over us,’ even though the Lord your God was reigning over you. {12:13} Now therefore, your king is present, whom you chose and requested. Behold, the Lord has given you a king. {12:14} If you will fear the Lord, and serve him, and listen to his voice, and not provoke the mouth of the Lord, then both you, and the king who rules over you, will be following the Lord your God. {12:15} But if you will not listen to the voice of the Lord, but instead you provoke his words, then the hand of the Lord will be over you and over your fathers. {12:16} Therefore, stand now, and see this great thing, which the Lord will accomplish in your sight. {12:17} Is it not the harvest of the wheat today? I will call upon the Lord, and he will send thunder and rain. And you will know and see that you have done a great evil in the sight of the Lord, by petitioning for a king over you.” {12:18} And Samuel cried out to the Lord, and the Lord sent thunder and rain on that day. {12:19} And all the people feared the Lord and Samuel exceedingly. And all the people said to Samuel: “Pray, on behalf of your servants, to the Lord your God, so that we may not die. For we have added to all our sins this evil, that we would petition for a king.” {12:20} Then Samuel said to the people: “Do not be afraid. You have done all this evil. Yet truly, do not choose to withdraw from the back of the Then Samuel rose up and ascended from Gilgal to because you have not kept what the Lord has instructed.”

And Saul chose himself three thousand men of Israel. And two thousand were with Saul at Michmash and at mount Bethel. Then one thousand were with Jonathan at Gibeah of Benjamin. But the remainder of the people, he sent back, each one to his own tent. And Jonathan struck the garrison of the Philistines, which was in Gibeah. And when the Philistines had heard about it, Saul sounded the trumpet over all the land, saying, “Let the Hebrews listen.”

And all of Israel heard this report, that Saul had struck into the land of Gad and Gilead. And while Saul was still at Gilgal. {13:5} And the Philistines gathered to do battle against Israel, thirty thousand chariots, and six thousand horsemen, and the remainder of the common people, who were very many, like the sand that is on the shore of the sea.

And ascending, they encamped at Michmash, toward the east of Bethaven. {13:6} And when the men of Israel had seen themselves to be in a narrowed position, they hid themselves in caves, and in out of the way places, and in rocks, and in hollows, and in pits (for the people were distressed).

Then some of the Hebrews crossed over the Jordan, into the land of Gad and Gilead. And while Saul was still at Gilgal, the entire people who followed him were terrified.

But he waited for seven days, in accord with what was agreed with Samuel. But Samuel did not arrive at Gilgal, for the people were scattering away from him. {13:9} Therefore, Saul said, “Bring me the holocaust and the peace offerings.” And he offered the holocaust. {13:10} And when he had completed the offering of the holocaust, behold, Samuel arrived. And Saul went out to meet him, so that he might greet him.

And Samuel said to him, “What have you done?” Saul responded: “Since I saw that the people were scattering away from me, and you had not arrived after the agreed upon days, and yet the Philistines had gathered together at Michmash, {13:12} I said: ‘Now the Philistines will descend to me at Gilgal. And I have not appeased the face of the Lord.’ Compelled by necessity, I offered the holocaust. {13:13} And Samuel said to Saul: “You have acted foolishly. You have not kept the commandments of the Lord your God, which he instructed to you. And if you had not acted in this way, the Lord would, here and now, have prepared your kingdom over Israel forever. {13:14} But by no means shall your kingdom rise up any more. The Lord has sought for himself a man according to his own heart. And him the Lord has instructed to be the leader over his people, because you have not kept what the Lord has instructed.”

Then Samuel rose up and ascended from Gilgal to Gibeon of Benjamin. And the remainder of the people ascended after Saul, to meet the people who were fighting against them, going from Gilgal into Gibeon, to the hill of Benjamin. And Saul took a census of the people, who had been found to be with him, about six hundred men. {13:16} And Saul, and his son Jonathan, and the people who had been found to be with them, were at Gibeon of Benjamin. But the Philistines had settled in at Michmash. {13:17} And three companies went out from the camp of the Philistines, in order to plunder. One company was traveling toward the way of Ephraim, to the land of Shual. {13:18} Then another entered along the way of Beth-horon. But the third turned itself to the way of the border, overhanging the valley of Zeboim, opposite the desert. {13:19} Now there was no worker of iron to be found in all the land of Israel. For the Philistines had been cautious, lest perhaps the Hebrews might make swords or spears.

Therefore, all of Israel descended to the Philistines, so that each man could sharpen his plowshare, or pick axe, or hatchet, or hoe. {13:21} For their plow blades, and pick axes, and pitch forks, and axes had become blunt, and even the handles needed to be repaired. {13:22} And when the day of battle had arrived, there was found neither sword nor spear in the hand of the entire people who were with Saul and Jonathan, except for Saul and his son Jonathan. {13:23} Then the army of the Philistines went out in order to go across Michmash.

And it happened that, on a certain day, Jonathan, the son of Saul, said to the youth who bore his armor, “Come, and let us go over to the garrison of the Philistines, which is across from that place.” But he did not reveal this to his father. {14:2} Moreover, Saul was staying in the furthest part of Gibeah, below the pomegranate tree that was at Migron. And the people with him were about six hundred men. {14:3} And Ahijah, the son of Ahitub, the brother of Ichabod, the son of Phinehas, who had been born of Eli, the priest of the Lord at Shiloh, wore the ephod. But the people did not know where Jonathan had gone. {14:4} Now there were, between the ascents along which Jonathan strove to cross to the garrison of the Philistines, rocks projecting from both sides, and, in the manner of teeth, boulders breaking out from one side and the other. The name of one was Shining, and the name of the other was Thorny. {14:5} One boulder projected toward the north, opposite Michmash, and the other toward the south, opposite Gibeon.

Then Jonathan said to the youth who bore his armor: “Come, let us go across to the garrison of these uncircumcised. And perhaps the Lord may act on our behalf. For it is not difficult for the Lord to save, either by many, or by few.” {14:7} And his armor bearer said to him: “Do all that is pleasing to your soul. Go wherever you wish, and I will be with you, wherever you will choose.” {14:8} And Jonathan said: “Behold, we will cross over to these men. And when we will be seen by them, {14:9} if they have spoken to us in this way, ‘Stay until we come to you,’ let us stand still in our place, and not ascend to them. {14:10} But if they will say, ‘Ascend to us,’ let us ascend. For the Lord has delivered them into our hands. This will be the sign to us.” {14:11} And so, both of them appeared before the garrison of the Philistines. And the Philistines said, “See, the Hebrews have come out from the holes in which they had been hiding.” {14:12} And the men of the garrison spoke to...
Jonathan and to his armor bearer, and they said, “Ascend to us, and we will show you something.” And Jonathan said to his armor bearer: “Let us ascend. Follow me. For the Lord has delivered them into the hands of Israel.” {14:13} Then Jonathan ascended, crawling on his hands and feet, and his armor bearer after him. And then, some fell before Jonathan, others his armor bearer killed as he was following him. {14:14} And the first slaughter was made when Jonathan and his armor bearer struck down about twenty of the men, in the midst of an area of land that a yoke of oxen would usually plow in a day. {14:15} And a miracle occurred in the camp, out in the fields. And all of the people of their garrison, who had gone out in order to plunder, were stupefied. And the earth trembled. And it happened as a miracle from God. {14:16} And the watchmen of Saul, who were at Gibeah of Benjamin, looked out, and behold, a multitude was thrown down and dispersed, this way and that. {14:17} And Saul said to the people who were with him, “Inquire and see who has gone out from us.” And when they had inquired, it was found that Jonathan and his armor bearer were not present. {14:18} And Saul said to Ahijah, “Bring the ark of the God.” (For the ark of God was, in that day, with the sons of Israel in that place.) {14:19} And while Saul spoke to the priest, there arose a great tumult in the camp of the Philistines. And it was increasing, little by little, and it was being heard more among the Philistines. And wherever he turned, there appeared flowing honey, but no one drew his hand near it. {14:20} And all the Israelites who had hidden themselves on mount Ephraim, hearing that the Philistines yesterday and the day before, and who had ascended with them into the camp, turned back so that they might be with those of Israel who were with Saul and Jonathan. {14:21} Moreover, the Hebrews who had been with the Philistines yesterday and the day before, and who had ascended with them into the camp, turned back so that they might be with those of Israel who were with Saul and Jonathan. {14:22} Likewise, all the Israelites who had hidden themselves on mount Ephraim, hearing that the Philistines had fled, joined themselves with their own in the battle. And there were with Saul about ten thousand men. {14:23} And the Lord saved Israel on that day. But the fight continued as far as Bethaven. {14:24} And the men of Israel were joined together on that day. And Saul made the people swear, saying, “Cursed be the man who will eat bread, until evening, until I am avenged of my enemies.” And the entire people did not consume bread. {14:25} And all the common people went into a forest, in which there was honey on the surface of the field. {14:26} And so the people entered the forest, and there appeared flowing honey, but no one drew his hand near his mouth. For the people were afraid of the oath. {14:27} But Jonathan had not heard that his father had bound the people to an oath. And so he extended the top of the staff that he was holding in his hand, and he dipped it in a honeycomb. And he turned his hand to his mouth, and his eyes were brightened. {14:28} And in response, one of the people said, “Your father has bound the people by an oath, saying: ‘Cursed be the man who will eat any bread this day.’ ” (For the people were faint.) {14:29} And Jonathan said: “My father has troubled the land. You have seen for yourselves that my eyes were brightened, because I tasted a little of this honey. {14:30} How much more so, if the people had eaten from the plunder that they find with their enemies? Would not a greater slaughter have been accomplished among the Philistines?” {14:31} Therefore, on that day, they struck down the Philistines, from Michmash as far as Ajialon. But the people were exceedingly wearied. {14:32} And turning to the spoils, they took sheep, and oxen, and calves, and they slew them on the ground. And the people ate with blood. {14:33} Then they reported to Saul, saying that the people had sinned against the Lord, eating with blood. And he said: “You have transgressed. Roll a great stone to me, here and now.” {14:34} And Saul said: “Disperse yourselves among the common people, and tell each one of them to bring to me his ox and his ram, and to slay them upon this stone, and to eat, so that you will not sin against the Lord, in eating with blood.” And so, each one, out of all the people, brought his ox, by his own hand, throughout the night. And they slew them there. {14:35} Then Saul built an altar to the Lord. And so, it was then that he first began to build an altar to the Lord. {14:36} And Saul said: “Let us fall upon the Philistines by night, and lay waste to them even until the morning light. And let us not leave behind a man among them.” And the people said, “Do all that seems good in your eyes.” And the priest said, “Let us draw near to God in this place.” {14:37} And Saul consulted the Lord: “Shall I pursue the Philistines? Will you deliver them into the hands of Israel?” And he did not respond to him on that day. {14:38} And Saul said: “Bring here every single leader of the people. And we shall know and see by whom this sin was committed this day. {14:39} As the Lord lives, who is the Saviour of Israel, even if it were done by my son Jonathan, without retraction he shall die.” In this, no one among all the people contradicted him. {14:40} And he said to all of Israel, “Separate yourselves on one side, and I, with my son Jonathan, will be on the other side.” And the people responded to Saul, “Do what seems good in your eyes.” {14:41} And Saul said to the Lord, the God of Israel: “O Lord, God of Israel, grant a sign: Why is it that you will not respond to your servant this day? If this iniquity is in me, or in my son Jonathan, grant an indication. Or if this iniquity is in your people, grant a sanctification.” And Jonathan and Saul were discovered, but the people were released. {14:42} And Saul said, “Cast lots between myself and Jonathan, my son.” And Jonathan was caught. {14:43} Then Saul said to Jonathan, “Tell me what you have done.” And Jonathan revealed to him, and said: “Truly, I tasted a little honey with the top of the staff that was in my hand. And behold, I shall die.” {14:44} And Saul said, “May God do these things to me, and may he add these other things, for you shall surely die, Jonathan!” {14:45} And the people said to Saul: “Why should Jonathan have to die, who has accomplished this great salvation in Israel? This is wrong. As the Lord lives, not one hair of his head should fall to the ground. For he has wrought with God this day.” Therefore, the people freed Jonathan, so that he would not die. {14:46} And Saul withdrew, and he did not pursue the Philistines. And the Philistines went away to their own places. {14:47} And Saul, his kingdom having been confirmed over Israel, was fighting against all his enemies on all sides: against Moab, and the sons of Ammon, and Edom, and the kings of Zobah, and the Philistines. And wherever he turned himself, he was successful. {14:48} And gathering together an army, he struck Amalek. And he rescued Israel from the hand of those who would lay waste to them. {14:49} Now the sons of Saul were Jonathan, and Ishvi, and Malchishua. And as for the names of his two daughters: the name of the firstborn daughter was Merab, and the name of the younger one was Michal. {14:50} And the name of the wife of Saul was Ahinoam, the daughter of Ahimaaz. And the name of the first ruler of his military was Abner, the son of Ner, the first cousin of Saul. {14:51} For Kish was the father of Saul, and Ner was the father of Abner, and the son of Abiel. {14:52} Now there was a powerful war against the Philistines during all the days of Saul. And so, whomever Saul had seen to be a strong man, and fit for battle, he joined him to himself.

[1 Samuel 15] {15:1} And Samuel said to Saul: “The Lord sent me, so that I would anoint you as king over his people Israel. Now therefore, listen to the voice of the Lord. {15:2} ‘Thus says the Lord of hosts: I have taken account of all that Amalek has done to Israel, how he stood against him in the way, when he ascended from Egypt. {15:3} Now therefore, go and strike Amalek, and demolish all that is his. You shall not spare him, and you shall not covet anything out of the things that are his. Instead, kill from man even to woman, and little ones as well as infants, ox and sheep, camel and donkey.’ ” {15:4} And so, Saul instructed the people, and he numbered them like lambs: two hundred thousand foot soldiers, and ten thousand men of Judah. {15:5} And when Saul had arrived as far as the city of Amalek, he placed ambushes at the torrent. {15:6} And Saul said to the Kenite: “Go away, withdraw, and descend from Amalek. Otherwise, I will include you with him. For you showed mercy to all the sons of Israel, when they ascended from Egypt.” And so the Kenite withdrew from the midst of Amalek. {15:7} And Saul struck down Amalek, from Havilah even until you arrive at Shur, which is opposite the region of Egypt. {15:8} And he apprehended Agag, the king of Amalek, alive. But all the common people he put to death with the edge of the sword. {15:9} And Saul and the people spared Agag, and the best of the flocks of sheep, and of the herds, and the garments, and the rams, and all that was beautiful, and they were not willing to destroy them. Yet truly, whatever was vile or worthless, these they demolished. {15:10} Then the word of the Lord came to Samuel, saying {15:11} “It displeases me that I have appointed Saul as king. For he has forsaken me, and he has not fulfilled the work of my words.” And Samuel was greatly saddened, and he cried out to the Lord, all night long {15:12} And when Samuel had risen while it was still dark, so that he might go to Saul in the morning, it was reported to Samuel that Saul had arrived at Carmel, and that he had erected for himself a triumphant arch. And, while returning, he had continued on and descended to Gilgal. Therefore, Samuel went to Saul. And Saul was offering a holocaust to the Lord, from the best of the spoils, sheep and oxen, as the first-fruits of those things that were slain, to immolate to the Lord their God at Gilgal.” {15:13} And when Samuel had gone to Saul, Saul said to him: “You are the blessed of the Lord. I have fulfilled the word of the Lord.” {15:14} And Samuel said, “Then what is this voice of the flocks, which resounds in my ears, and of the herds, which I am hearing?” {15:15} And Saul said: “They have brought these from Amalek. For the people spared the best of the sheep and of the herds, so that they might be immolated to the Lord your God. Yet truly, the remainder we have slain.” {15:16} Then Samuel said to Saul, “Permit me, and I will reveal to you what the Lord has said to me this night.” And he said to him, “Speak.” {15:17} And Samuel said: “Was it not when you were little in your own eyes that you were made the head of the tribes of Israel? And the Lord anointed you as king over Israel. {15:18} And the Lord sent you on the way, and he said: ‘Go and put to death the sinners of Amalek. And you shall fight against them, even unto utter annihilation.’ {15:19} Why then, did you not listen to the voice of the Lord? Instead, you turned to the spoils, and you did evil in the eyes of the Lord.” {15:20} And Saul said to Samuel: “On the contrary, I did listen to the voice of the Lord, and I walked in the way along which the Lord sent me, and I led back Agag, the king of Amalek, and I put to death Amalek. {15:21} But the people took some of the spoils, sheep and oxen, as the first-fruits of those things that were slain, to immolate to the Lord their God at Gilgal.” {15:22} And Samuel said: “Does the Lord want holocausts and victims, and not instead that the voice of the Lord should be obeyed? For obedience is better than sacrifice. And to heed is greater than to offer the fat of rams. {15:23} Therefore, it is like the sin of paganism to rebel. And it is like the crime of idolatry to refuse to obey. For this reason, therefore, because you have rejected the word of the Lord, the Lord has also rejected you from being king.” {15:24} And Saul said to Samuel: “I have sinned, for I have transgressed the word of the Lord, and your words, by fearing the people and obeying their voice. {15:25} But now, I beg you, to bear my sin, and to return with me, so that I may adore the Lord.” {15:26} And Samuel said to Saul: “I will not return with you. For you have rejected the word of the Lord, and the Lord has rejected you from being king over Israel.” {15:27} And Samuel turned away, so that he might depart. But Saul took hold of the edge of his cloak, and it tore. {15:28} And Samuel said to him: “The Lord has torn the kingdom of Israel away from you this day. And he has delivered it to your neighbor, who is better than you are. {15:29} Moreover, the One who triumphs within Israel will not spare, and he will not be moved to repentance. For he is not a man, that he should repent.” {15:30} Then he said: “I have sinned. But now, honor me before the elders of my people, and before Israel, and return with me, so that I may adore the Lord your God.” {15:31} Therefore, Samuel turned again after Saul. And Saul adored the Lord. {15:32} And Samuel said, “Bring near to me Agag, the king of Amalek.” And Agag, very fat and trembling, was presented to him. And Agag said, “Does bitter death separate in this manner?” {15:33} And Samuel said, “Just as your sword caused women to be without their children, so will your mother be without her children among women.” And Samuel cut him into pieces, before the Lord at Gilgal. {15:34} Then Samuel went away to Ramah. But Saul ascended to his house at Gibeah. {15:35} And Samuel did not see Saul any more, until the day of his death. Yet truly, Samuel mourned for Saul, because the Lord regretted that he had appointed him as king over Israel.

[1 Samuel 16] {16:1} And the Lord said to Samuel: “How long will you mourn for Saul, though I have rejected him, so that he would not reign over Israel? Fill your horn with oil and approach, so that I may send you to Jesse of Bethlehem. For I have provided a king from among his sons for myself.” {16:2} And Samuel said: “How shall I go? For Saul will hear of it, and he will put me to death.” And the Lord said: “You shall take, by your hand, a calf from the herd. And you shall say, ‘I have arrived in order to immolate to the Lord.’” {16:3} And you shall call Jesse to the sacrifice, and I will reveal to you what you should do. And you shall anoint whomever I will indicate to you.” [16:4] Therefore, Samuel did just as the Lord told him. And he went to Bethlehem, and the elders of the city wondered. And meeting him, they said, “Is your arrival peaceful?” [16:5] And he said: “It is peaceful. I have arrived in order to immolate to the Lord. Be sanctified, and come with me to the sacrifice.” Then he sanctified Jesse and his sons, and he called them to the sacrifice. [16:6] And when they had entered, he saw Eliab, and he said, “Could he be the Christ in the sight of the Lord?” [16:7] And the Lord said to Samuel: “You should not look with favor on his face, nor on the height of his stature. For I have rejected him. Neither do I judge by the appearance of a man. For man sees those things that are apparent, but the Lord beholds the heart.” [16:8] And Jesse called Abinadab, and he brought him before Samuel. And he said, “Neither has the Lord chosen this one.” [16:9] Then Jesse brought Shammah. And he said about him, “And the Lord has not chosen this one.” [16:10] And so Jesse brought his seven sons before Samuel. And Samuel said to Jesse, “The Lord has not chosen any of these.” [16:11] And Samuel said to Jesse, “Could the sons now be completed?” But he responded, “There still remains a little one, and he pastures the sheep.” And Samuel said to Jesse: “Send and bring him. For we shall not recline to eat, until he arrives here.” [16:12] Therefore, he sent and brought him. Now he was ruddy, and beautiful to behold, and with a stately face. And the Lord said, “Rise up, anoint him! For it is he.” [16:13] Therefore, Samuel took the horn of oil, and he anointed him in the midst of his brothers. And the Spirit of the Lord was guiding David from that day and thereafter. And Samuel rose up, and he went away to Ramah. [16:14] But the Spirit of the Lord withdrew from Saul, and a wicked spirit from the Lord disturbed him. [16:15] And the servants of Saul said to him: “Behold, an evil spirit from God disturbs you.” [16:16] May our lord order, and your servants, who are before you, will seek a man skillful in playing a stringed instrument, so that when the evil spirit from the Lord assails you, he may play with his hand, and you may bear it more easily.” [16:17] And Saul said to his servants, “Then provide for me someone who can play well, and bring him to me.” [16:18] And one of the servants, responding, said: “Behold, I have seen the son of Jesse of Bethlehem, a skillful player, and very strong and robust, a man fit for war, and prudent in words, a handsome man. And the Lord is with him.” [16:19] Therefore, Saul sent messengers to Jesse, saying, “Send to me your son David, who is in the pastures.” [16:20] And so, Jesse took a donkey laden with bread, and a bottle of wine, and a kid from one of the goats, and he sent them, by the hand of his son David, to Saul. [16:21] And David went to Saul, and stood before him. And he loved him exceedingly, and he made him his armor bearer. [16:22] And Saul sent to Jesse, saying: “Let David remain before my sight. For he has found favor in my eyes.” [16:23] And so, whenever the evil spirit from the Lord assaulted David, Saul took up his stringed instrument, and he struck it with his hand, and Saul was refreshed and uplifted. For the evil spirit withdrew from him.

[1 Samuel 17] [17:1] Now the Philistines, gathering their troops for battle, assembled at Socoh of Judah. And they made camp between Socoh and Azekah, within the borders of Dammim. [17:2] But Saul and the sons of Israel, having gathered together, went to the Valley of Terebinth. And they positioned the army so as to fight against the Philistines. [17:3] And the Philistines were standing on a mountain on the one side, and Israel was standing on a mountain on the other side. And there was a valley between them. [17:4] And there went out from the camp of the Philistines, a man of illegitimate birth, named Goliath of Gath, whose height was six cubits and a palm. [17:5] And he had a helmet of brass upon his head, and he was clothed with a breastplate of scales. Moreover, the weight of his breastplate was five thousand shekels of brass. [17:6] And he had plates of brass on his lower legs, and a small shield of brass was covering his shoulders. [17:7] Now the shaft of his spear was like the beam used by a weaver. And the iron of his spear held six hundred shekels of iron. And his armor bearer went before him. [17:8] And standing still, he cried out to the battle lines of Israel, and he said to them: “Why have you arrived, prepared for battle? Am I not a Philistine, and are you not the servants of Saul? Choose one man from among you, and let him descend to do battle alone. [17:9] If he is able to fight with me and to strike me down, we will be your servants. But if I will prevail over him, and strike him down, you will be the servants, and you will serve us.” [17:10] And the Philistine was saying: “I have reproached the troops of Israel today. Present a man to me, and let him undertake a fight against me alone.” [17:11] And Saul and all the Israelites, hearing these words of the Philistine in this manner, were stupefied and exceedingly afraid. [17:12] Now David was the son of an Ephrathite man, the one mentioned above, from Bethlehem of Judah, whose name was Jesse. He had eight sons, and during the days of Saul, he was an elderly man, and of great age among men. [17:13] Now his three eldest sons followed Saul into battle. And the names of his three sons, who went to the battle, were Eliab, the firstborn, and the second, Abinadab, and the third Shammah. [17:14] But David was the youngest. Therefore, when the three eldest had followed Saul, [17:15] David went away from Saul, and he returned, so that he might pasture the flock of his father at Bethlehem. [17:16] Truly, the Philistine advanced morning and evening, and he stood forth, for forty days. [17:17] Now Jesse said to his son David: “Take, for your brothers, an ephah of cooked grain, and these ten loaves, and hurry to the camp, to your brothers. [17:18] And you shall carry these ten little cheeses to the tribute. And visit your brothers, to see if they are doing well. And learn with whom they have been stationed.” [17:19] But they were in the valley of Terebinth, with Saul and all the sons of Israel, fighting against the Philistines. [17:20] And so, David rose up in the morning, and he commended the flock to the caretaker. And he went away burdened, just as Jesse had instructed him. And he went to the place of the battle line, and to the army, which, in going out to fight, was shouting in the conflict. [17:21] For Israel had positioned their troops, but the Philistines also had prepared themselves against them. [17:22] Then, leaving the items that he had brought under the hand of the keeper of baggage, David ran to the place of the conflict. And he was asking if all was going well with his brothers. [17:23] And while he was still speaking with them, there appeared the man of spurious descent, whose name was Goliath, the Philistine of Gath, ascending from the camp of the Philistines. And he was speaking in these same words, which David heard. [17:24] Then all the Israelites, when they had seen the man, fled from his face, fearing him greatly. {17:25} And someone of Israel said: "Have you seen this man, who has risen up. For he ascended in order to reproach Israel. Therefore, the man who will strike him down, the king will en richest with great wealth, and will give to him his daughter, and will cause his father's house to be free of tribute in Israel." {17:26} And David spoke to the men who were standing with him, saying: "What will be given to the man who will have struck down this Philistine, and who will have taken away the disgrace from Israel? For who is this uncircumcised Philistine, that he should reproach the soldiers of the living God?" {17:27} Then the people repeated to him the same words, saying, "These things shall be given to the man who will have struck him down." {17:28} Now when Eliab, his eldest brother, had heard this, as he was speaking with the others, he became angry against David, and he said: "Why did you come here? And why did you leave behind those few sheep in the wilderness? I know your pride and the wickedness of your heart, that you have come down so that you might see the battle." {17:29} And David said: "What have I done? Is there any word against me?" {17:30} And he turned away from him a little, toward another. And he asked the same question. And the people responded to him as before. {17:31} Now the words that David had spoken were heard and reported in the sight of Saul. {17:32} When he had been led to Saul, he said to him: "Let no one lose heart over him. I, your servant, shall go and fight against the Philistine." {17:33} And Saul said to David: "You are not able to withstand this Philistine, nor to fight against him. For you are a boy, but he has been a warrior from his boyhood." {17:34} And David said to Saul: "Your servant was pasturing the flock of his father. And there approached a lion or a bear, and it took a ram from the midst of the flock. {17:35} And I pursued after them, and I struck them, and I rescued from their mouth. And they rose up against me. And I caught them by the throat, and I strangled and killed them. {17:36} For I, your servant, have killed both lion and bear. And so this uncircumcised Philistine, too, will be like one of them. Now I will go and take away the reproach of the people. For who is this uncircumcised Philistine, who has dared to curse the army of the living God?" {17:37} And David said, "The Lord who rescued me from the hand of the lion, and from the hand of the bear, he himself will free me from the hand of this Philistine." Then Saul said to David, "Go, and may the Lord be with you." {17:38} And Saul clothed David with his garments. And he placed a helmet of brass upon his head, and he clothed him with a breastplate. {17:39} Then David, having girded his sword over his armor, began to see if he could walk in the armor. But he was not accustomed to it. And David said to Saul: "I cannot move about in this way. For I am not used to it." And he put them aside. {17:40} And he took up his staff, which he held always in his hands. And he chose for himself five very smooth stones from the torrent. And he put them into the shepherd's bag that he had with him. And he took up a sling in his hand. And he went out against the Philistine. {17:41} And the Philistine, advancing, went and drew near against David. And his armor bearer was before him. {17:42} And when the Philistine had seen and considered David, he despised him. For he was a youth, ruddy and of handsome appearance. {17:43} And the Philistine said to David, "Am I a dog, that you approach against me with a staff?" And the Philistine cursed David by his gods. {17:44} And he said to David, "Come to me, and I will give your flesh to the birds of the air, and to the beasts of the earth." {17:45} But David said to the Philistine: "You approach me with sword, and spear, and shield. But I come to you in the name of the Lord of hosts, the God of the armies of Israel, which you have reproached. {17:46} Today, the Lord will deliver you into my hand, and I will strike you down. And I will take your head from you. And today, I will give the carcasses of the camp of the Philistines to the birds of the air, and to the beasts of the earth, so that all the earth may know that God is with Israel. {17:47} And this entire assembly will know that the Lord does not save by sword, nor by spear. For this is his war, and he will deliver you into our hands." {17:48} Then, when the Philistine had risen up, and was approaching, and was drawing near against David, David hurried and ran to the fight against the Philistine. {17:49} And he put his hand into his bag, and took out one stone. And swinging it around, he cast it with the sling and struck the Philistine on the forehead. And the stone became imbedded in his forehead. And he fell on his face, upon the ground. {17:50} And David prevailed against the Philistine with a sling and a stone. And he struck and killed the Philistine. But since David held no sword in his hand, {17:51} he ran and stood over the Philistine, and he took his sword, and withdrew it from the sheath. And he killed him and cut off his head. Then the Philistines, seeing that their strongest man was dead, fled away. {17:52} And the men of Israel and Judah, rising up, shouted and pursued after the Philistines, even until they arrived at the valley and as far as the gates of Ekron. And many wounded among the Philistines fell on the way of Shaaraim, and as far as Gath, and as far as Ekron. {17:53} And the sons of Israel, returning after they had pursued the Philistines, invaded their camp. {17:54} Then David, taking up the head of the Philistine, brought it to Jerusalem. Yet truly, he placed his armor in his own tent. {17:55} Now at the time that Saul had seen David going out against the Philistines, he said to Abner, the leader of the military, "From what stock is this youth descended, Abner?" And Abner said, "As your soul lives, O king, I do not know." {17:56} And the king said, "You shall inquire as to whose son this boy may be." {17:57} And when David had returned, after the Philistine had been struck down, Abner took him, and brought him before Saul, having the head of the Philistine in his hand. {17:58} And Saul said to him, "Young man, from what ancestry are you?" And David said, "I am the son of your servant Jesse of Bethlehem."

of Israel, leading the singing and dancing, rejoicing with timbrels and bells, so as to meet king Saul. (18:7) And the women sang, as they played, saying, "Saul has struck down a thousand, and David ten thousand." (18:8) Then Saul became exceedingly angry, and this word was displeasing in his eyes. And he said: "They have given David ten thousand, and to me they gave only one thousand. What is left for him, except the kingdom itself?" (18:9) Therefore, Saul did not regard David with a good eye, from that day and thereafter. (18:10) Then, on the next day, the evil spirit from God assailed Saul, and he prophesied in the midst of his house. And David played with his hand, just as at every other time. And Saul held a lance in his hand. (18:11) And he threw it, thinking that he would be able to fix David to the wall. And David stepped aside twice, from before his face. (18:12) And Saul feared David, because the Lord was with him, but he had withdrawn from Saul. (18:13) Therefore, Saul sent him away from himself, and he made him tribune over one thousand men. And he entered and departed in the sight of the people. (18:14) Also, David acted prudently in all his ways, and the Lord was with him. (18:15) And so, Saul saw that he was exceedingly prudent, and he began to be wary of him. (18:16) But all of Israel and Judah loved David. For he entered and departed before them. (18:17) And Saul said to David: "Behold, my elder daughter, Merab. I will give her to you as wife. Only be a valiant man, and fight the wars of the Lord." Now Saul was considering within himself, saying, "Let not my hand be upon him, but let the hands of the Philistines be upon him." (18:18) Then David said to Saul, "Who am I, and what is my life, and what is my father's kinship within Israel, that I should be the son-in-law of the king?" (18:19) Then it happened that, at the time when Merab, the daughter of Saul, was to be given to David, she was given to Adriel, the Meholathite, as wife. (18:20) Now Michal, the other daughter of Saul, loved David. And this was reported to Saul, and it pleased him. (18:21) And Saul said to David: "Behold, my elder daughter, Merab. I will give her to you as wife. Only be a valiant man, and fight the wars of the Lord." Now Saul was considering within himself, saying, "Let not my hand be upon him, but let the hands of the Philistines be upon him." (18:22) And Saul commanded his servants to speak to David privately, saying, "Behold, you are pleasing to the king, and all his servants love you. Now therefore, be the son-in-law of the king." (18:23) And the servants of Saul spoke all these words to the ears of David. And David said: "Does it seem a small matter to you, to be the son-in-law of the king? I am but a poor and unimportant man." (18:24) And the servants reported to Saul, saying, "David has spoken words in this manner." (18:25) Then Saul said, "Speak this way to David: The king does not have need of any dowry, but only one hundred foreskins from the Philistine men, so that he may be vindicated from the enemies of the king." So did Saul think to deliver David into the hands of the Philistines. (18:26) And when his servants had repeated to David the words that Saul had spoken, the word was pleasing in the eyes of David, so that he would become son-in-law of the king. (18:27) And after a few days, David, rising up, went with the men who were under him, and he struck down two hundred men of the Philistines. And he brought their foreskins, and he counted them out for the king, so that he might be his son-in-law. And so, Saul gave to him his daughter Michal as wife. (18:28) And Saul saw and understood that the Lord was with David. And Michal, the daughter of Saul, loved him. (18:29) And Saul began to fear David all the more. And Saul became the enemy of David, every day. (18:30) And the leaders of the Philistines departed. And from the beginning of their departure, David conducted himself more prudently than all the servants of Saul, and his name became exceedingly celebrated.

[1 Samuel 19] (19:1) Now Saul spoke to his son Jonathan, and to all his servants, so that they would kill David. But Jonathan, the son of Saul, loved David very much. (19:2) And Jonathan revealed it to David, saying: "Saul, my father, is seeking to kill you. Because of this, I ask you, take care for yourself in the morning. And you should conceal yourself and remain in hiding. (19:3) Then I, going out, will be standing beside my father in the field, where you will be. And I will speak about you to my father. And whatever I see, I will report to you." (19:4) Then Jonathan spoke good things about David to his father Saul. And he said to him: "You should not sin, O king, against your servant David. For he has not sinned against you, and his works toward you are very good. (19:5) And he took his life in his own hand, and struck down the Philistine. And the Lord wrought a great salvation for all of Israel. You saw it, and you rejoiced. Why then would you sin against innocent blood by killing David, who is without guilt?" (19:6) And when Saul had heard this, being pleased by the voice of Jonathan, he swore, "As the Lord lives, he shall not be killed." (19:7) And so Jonathan called David, and he revealed to him all of these words. And Jonathan led in David to Saul, and he was before him, just as he had been yesterday and the day before. (19:8) Then the war was stirred up again. And David went out and fought against the Philistines. And he struck them down with a great slaughter. And they fled from his face. (19:9) And the evil spirit from the Lord came to Saul, who was sitting in his house and holding a lance. And David was playing music with his hand. (19:10) And Saul attempted to fix David to the wall with the lance. But David turned aside from the face of Saul. And the lance failed to wound him, and it became fixed in the wall. And David fled, and so he was saved that night. (19:11) Therefore, Saul sent his guards to David's house, so that they might watch for him, and so that he might be killed in the morning. And after Michal, his wife, had reported this to David, saying, "Unless you save yourself this night, tomorrow you will die," (19:12) she lowered him down through a window. Then he fled and went away, and he was saved. (19:13) Then Michal took a statue, and placed it on the bed. And she placed the pelt of a goat for the hair at its head. And she covered it with clothes. (19:14) And Saul sent attendants to seize David. And it was answered that he was sick. (19:15) And again, Saul sent messengers to see David, saying, "Bring him to me on the bed, so that he may be killed." (19:16) And when the messengers had arrived, they found a likeness on the bed, with a goat pelt at its head. (19:17) And Saul said to Michal, "Why have you deceived me in this way, and released my enemy, so that he may flee?" And Michal responded to Saul, "Because he said to me, 'Release me, otherwise I will kill you.' " (19:18) Now David was saved by fleeing, and he went to Samuel in Ramah. And he reported to him all that Saul had done to him. And he and Samuel went away and stayed at Naioth. (19:19) Then it was reported to Saul by some, saying, "Behold, David is at Naioth, in Ramah." (19:20) Therefore, Saul sent officers to seize David. And when they had seen a company of prophets prophesying, with Samuel presiding over them, the Spirit of the Lord also came to them, and they also began to prophesy. {19:21} And when this was reported to Saul, he sent other messengers. But they also prophesied. And again, Saul sent messengers a third time. And they also prophesied. And Saul, being exceedingly angry, {19:22} also went to Ramah himself. And he went as far as the great cistern, which is in Socoh. And he inquired and said, "In which place are Samuel and David?" And it was told to him, "Behold, they are at Naioth, in Ramah." {19:23} And he went to Naioth, in Ramah, and the Spirit of the Lord came to him also. And he continued on, walking and prophesying, until he arrived at Naioth, in Ramah. {19:24} And he also took off his garments, and he prophesied with the others before Samuel. And he fell down naked, throughout that day and night. From this, too, is derived the proverb, "Could Saul also be among the prophets?"

[1 Samuel 20] {20:1} Then David fled from Naioth, which is in Ramah, and he went and said before Jonathan: "What have I done? What is my iniquity, or what is my sin, against your father, so that he would seek my life?" {20:2} And he said to him: "May this not be! You shall not die. For my father will not do anything, great or small, without first revealing it to me. Therefore, has my father concealed this word solely from me? By no means shall this be!" {20:3} And he swore again to David. And David said: "Your father certainly knows that I have found favor in your sight, and so he will say, 'Let Jonathan not know this, lest he be saddened.' So truly, as the Lord lives, and as your soul lives, there is only one step (if I may say it) separating me from death." {20:4} And Jonathan said to David, "Whatever your soul will tell me, I will do for you." {20:5} Then David said to Jonathan: "Behold, tomorrow is the new moon, and I am accustomed to sit in a seat beside the king to eat. Therefore, permit me that I may be hidden in the field, until the evening of the third day. {20:6} If your father, looking around, will seek me, you shall respond to him: 'David asked me if he may hurry to Bethlehem, his own city. For there are solemn sacrifices in that place for all of his tribe together.' {20:7} If he will say, 'It is well,' then your servant will have peace. But if he will be angry, know that his malice has reached its height. {20:8} Therefore, show mercy to your servant. For you have brought me, your servant, into a covenant of the Lord with you. But if there is any iniquity in me, you may kill me, and you shall not lead me in to your father." {20:9} And Jonathan said: "May this be far from you. For certainly, if I ever realized that any wickedness was determined by my father against you, I would not be able to do anything other than report it to you." {20:10} And David responded to Jonathan, "Who will repeat it to me, if your father may perhaps answer you harshly about me?" {20:11} And Jonathan said to David, "Come, and let us go out into the field." And when they both had gone out into the field, {20:12} Jonathan said before David: "O Lord, God of Israel, if I will discover a decision by my father, tomorrow, or the day after, and if there will be anything good concerning David, and yet I do not immediately send to you and make it known to you, {20:13} may the Lord do these things to Jonathan, and may he add these other things. But if my father will have persevered in malice against you, I will reveal it to your ear, and I will send you away, so that you may go in peace, and so that the Lord may be with you, just as he was with my father. {20:14} And if I live, you shall show the mercy of the Lord to me. Yet truly, if I die, {20:15} you shall not take away your mercy from my house, even forever, when the Lord will have rooted out the enemies of David, each and every one of them, from the earth. May he take Jonathan from his house, and may the Lord require it from the hands of the enemies of David." {20:16} Therefore, Jonathan formed a covenant with the house of David. And the Lord required it from the hands of the enemies of David. {20:17} And Jonathan continued to swear to David, because he loved him. For he loved him like his own soul. {20:18} And Jonathan said to him: "Tomorrow is the new moon, and you will be sought. {20:19} For your seat will be empty until the day after tomorrow. Therefore, you shall descend quickly, and you shall go to the place where you are to be hidden, on a day when it is lawful to work, and you shall remain beside the stone that is called Ezel. {20:20} And I will shoot three arrows near it, and I will cast them as if I were practicing for myself toward a mark. {20:21} Also, I will send a boy, saying to him, 'Go and bring the arrows to me.' {20:22} If I will say to the boy, 'Behold, the arrows are before you, take them up,' you shall approach before me, because there is peace for you, and there is nothing evil, as the Lord lives. But if I will have spoken to the boy in this way, 'Behold, the arrows are away from you,' then you shall go away in peace, for the Lord has released you. {20:23} Now about the word that you and I have spoken, may the Lord be between you and me, even forever." {20:24} Therefore, David was hidden in the field. And the new moon came, and the king sat down to eat bread. {20:25} And when the king had sat down on his chair, (according to custom) which was beside the wall, Jonathan rose up, and Abner sat beside Saul, and David's place appeared empty. {20:26} And Saul did not say anything on that day. For he was thinking that perhaps something happened to him, so that he was not clean, or not purified. {20:27} And when the second day after the new moon had begun to dawn, David's place again appeared empty. And Saul said to Jonathan, his son, "Why has the son of Jesse not arrived to eat, neither yesterday, nor today?" {20:28} And Jonathan responded to Saul, "He petitioned me earnestly that he might go to Bethlehem, {20:29} and he said: 'Permit me. For there is a solemn sacrifice in the city. One of my brothers has summoned me. Now therefore, if I have found favor in your eyes, I will go quickly, and I will see my brothers.' For this reason, he has not come to the table of the king." {20:30} Then Saul, becoming angry against Jonathan, said to him: "You son of a woman wantonly seizing a man! Could I be ignorant that you love the son of Jesse, to your own shame, and to the shame of your disgraceful mother? {20:31} For all the days that the son of Jesse moves upon earth, neither you, nor your kingdom, will be secure. And so, send and bring him to me, here and now. For he is a son of death." {20:32} Then Jonathan, answering his father Saul, said: "Why should he die? What has he done?" {20:33} And Saul picked up a lance, so that he might strike him. And Jonathan understood that it had been decided by his father that David be put to death. {20:34} Therefore, Jonathan rose up from the table in a rage of anger. And he did not eat bread on the second day after the new moon. For he was saddened over David, because his father had confounded him.
And when the morning had begun to dawn, Jonathan went into the field according to the agreement with David, and a young boy was with him. (20:36) And he said to his boy, “Go, and bring to me the arrows that I shoot.” And when the boy had run, he shot another arrow away from the boy. (20:37) And so, the boy went to the place of the arrow which Jonathan had shot. And Jonathan cried out, from behind the back of boy, and said: “Behold, the arrow is there, farther away from you.” (20:38) And Jonathan cried out again, from behind the back of the boy, saying, “Go quickly! Do not stand still!” Then Jonathan's boy collected the arrows, and he brought them to his lord. (20:39) And he did not understand at all what was happening. For only Jonathan and David knew the matter. (20:40) Then Jonathan gave his weapons to the boy, and he said to him, “Go, and carry them into the city.” (20:41) And when the boy had gone away, David rose up from his place, which turned toward the south, and falling prone on the ground, he reverenced three times. And kissing one another, they wept together, but David more so. (20:42) Then Jonathan said to David: “Go in peace. And let us both keep all that we have ever sworn in the name of the Lord, saying, ‘May the Lord be between me and you, and between my offspring and your offspring, even forever.’ ” (20:43) And David rose up and went away. But Jonathan entered into the city.

Then David went into Nob, to the priest Ahimelech. And Ahimelech was astonished that David had arrived. And he said to him, “Why are you alone, and no one is with you?” (21:2) And David said to the priest Ahimelech: “The king has instructed to me a word, and he said: ‘Let no one know the matter about which you have been sent by me, and what type of instructions I have given to you. For I have also summoned servants to one and another place.’ ” (21:3) Now therefore, if you have anything at hand, even five loaves of bread, or whatever you may find, give it to me.” (21:4) And the priest, responding to David, said to him: “I have no common bread at hand, but only holy bread. Are the young men clean, especially from women?” (21:5) And David responded to the priest, and said to him: “Indeed, as concerns being with women, we have abstained since yesterday and the day before, when we departed, and so the vessels of the young men have been holy. And although, this journey has been defiled, it will also be sanctified today as concerns the vessels.” (21:6) Therefore, the priest gave to him sanctified bread. For there was no bread there, but only the bread of the Presence, which had been taken away from before the face of the Lord, so that fresh loaves might be set up. (21:7) Now a certain man among the servants of Saul was there on that day, inside the tabernacle of the Lord. And his name was Doeg, an Edomite, the most powerful among the shepherds of Saul. (21:8) Then David said to Ahimelech: “Do you have, here at hand, a spear or a sword? For I did not take my own sword, or my own weapons with me. For the word of the king was urgent.” (21:9) And the priest said: “Behold, here is the sword of Goliath, the Philistine, whom you struck down in the Valley of Terebinth. It is wrapped up in a cloak behind the ephod. If you wish to take this, take it. For there is nothing else here except this.” And David said, “There is nothing else like this, so give it to me.” (21:10) And so, David rose up, and he fled on that day from the face of Saul. And he went to Achish, the king of Gath.

And the servants of Achish, when they had seen David, said to him: “Is this not David, the king of the land? Were they not singing about him, while dancing, saying, ‘Saul has struck down a thousand, and David ten thousand?’ ” (21:12) Then David took these words to his heart, and he became exceedingly afraid before the face of the king, the king of Gath. (21:13) And he altered his mouth before them, and he slipped down between their hands. And he stumbled against the doors of the gate. And his spit flowed down his beard. (21:14) And Achish said to his servants: “You saw that the man is insane. Why did you bring him to me? (21:15) Or do we have need of those who are mad, so that you would bring in this one, to behave madly in my presence? How did this man get into my house?”

Then David went away from there, and he fled to the cave of Adullam. And when his brothers and all of his father's house had heard of it, they descended to him there. (22:2) And all those left in distress, or oppressed by debt to strangers, or bitter in soul, gathered themselves to him. And he became their leader, and about four hundred men were with him. (22:3) And David set out from there to Mizpah, which is of Moab. And he said to the king of Moab, “I beg you, let my father and my mother remain with you, until I know what God will do for me.” (22:4) And he left them before the face of the king of Moab. And they stayed with him for all the days that David was in the stronghold. (22:5) And the prophet Gad said to David: “Do not choose to stay in the stronghold. Set out and go into the land of Judah.” And so, David set out, and he went into the forest of Hereth. (22:6) And Saul heard that David, and the men who were with him, had been seen. Now while Saul was staying in Gibeah, and while he was in the forest that is in Ramah, holding a spear in his hand, with all his servants standing around him, (22:7) he said to his servants who were assisting him: “Listen now, you sons of Benjamin! Will the son of Jesse give to all of you fields and vineyards, and will he make all of you tribunes or centurions, (22:8) so that you would all conspire against me, and so that there is no one to inform me, especially when even my son has formed a pact with the son of Jesse? There is no one among you who grieves for my situation, or who would report to me. For my son has raised up my servant against me, seeking to betray me, even to this day.” (22:9) Then Doeg, the Edomite, who was standing near, and who was first among the servants of Saul, responding, said: “I saw the son of Jesse, in Nob, with Ahimelech, the son of Ahitub, the priest. (22:10) And he consulted the Lord for him, and he gave him food. Moreover, he gave him the sword of Goliath, the Philistine.” (22:11) Then the king sent to summon Ahimelech, the priest, the son of Ahitub, and all of his father's house, the priests who were in Nob, and they all came before the king. (22:12) And Saul said to Ahimelech, “Listen, son of Ahitub.” He responded, “Here I am, lord.” (22:13) And Saul said to him: “Why have you conspired against me, you and the son of Jesse? For you gave him bread and a sword, and you consulted the Lord for him, so that he might rise up against me, continuing as a traitor even to this day.” (22:14) And responding to the king, Ahimelech said: “But who among all your servants is as faithful as David? And he is the son-in-law of the king, and he goes forth at your order, and he is a glory within your house. (22:15) Did I begin to consult the Lord for him today? May this be far from me! Let not the king suspect this kind of thing against his servant, nor against anyone in all my father's house. For your servant did not know anything about this matter, either small or great." {22:16} And the king said, “You shall die a death, Ahimelech, you and all your father's house!” {22:17} And the king said to the emissaries who were standing around him: “You shall turn, and put to death the priests of the Lord. For their hand is with David. They knew that he had fled, and they did not reveal it to me.” But the servants of the king were not willing to extend their hands against the priests of the Lord. {22:18} And the king said to Doeg, “You shall turn and rush against the priests.” And Doeg, the Edomite, turned and rushed against the priests. And he massacred, on that day, eighty-five men, vested with the linen ephod. {22:19} Then he struck Nob, the city of the priests, with the edge of the sword; he struck down men and women, little ones and infants, as well as ox and donkey and sheep, with the edge of the sword. {22:20} But one of the sons of Ahimelech, the son of Abiitub, whose name was Abiathar, escaping, fled to David. {22:21} And he reported to him that Saul had slain the priests of the Lord. {22:22} And David said to Abiathar: “I knew, on that day when Doeg, the Edomite was there, that without doubt he would report it to Saul. I am guilty of all the souls of your father's house. {22:23} You should remain with me. Do not be afraid. For he who seeks my life, seeks your life also, but with me you shall be saved.”

[1 Samuel 23] {23:1} And they reported to David, saying, “Behold, the Philistines are fighting against Keilah, and they are plundering the grain stores.” {23:2} Therefore, David consulted the Lord, saying, “Shall I go and strike down these Philistines?” And the Lord said to David, “Go, and you shall strike down the Philistines, and you shall save Keilah.” {23:3} And the men who were with David said to him, “Behold, we continue in fear here in Judea; how much more so, if we go into Keilah against the troops of the Philistines?” {23:4} Therefore, David consulted the Lord again. And responding, he said to him: “Rise up, and go into Keilah. For I will deliver the Philistines into your hand.” {23:5} Therefore, David and his men went into Keilah. And they fought against the Philistines, and they took away their cattle, and they struck them with a great slaughter. And David saved the inhabitants of Keilah. {23:6} And in that time, when Abiathar, the son of Ahimelech, was in exile with David, he had descended to Keilah, having an ephod with him. {23:7} Then it was reported to Saul that David had gone to Keilah. And Saul said: “The Lord has delivered him into my hands. For he is enclosed, having entered into a city which has gates and bars.” {23:8} And Saul instructed all the people to descend in order to fight against Keilah, and to besiege David and his men. {23:9} And when David had realized that Saul had secretly prepared evil against him, he said to Abiathar, the priest, “Bring the ephod.” {23:10} And David said: “O Lord God of Israel, your servant has heard a report that Saul is planning to go to Keilah, so that he may overturn the city because of me. {23:11} Will the men of Keilah deliver me into his hands? And will Saul descend, just as your servant has heard? O Lord God of Israel, reveal to your servant.” And the Lord said, “He will descend.” {23:12} And David said, “Will the men of Keilah deliver me, and the men who are with me, into the hands of Saul?” And the Lord said, “They will deliver you.” {23:13} Therefore, David, and his men of about six hundred, rose up, and, departing from Keilah, they wandered here and there, aimlessly. And it was reported to Saul that David had fled from Keilah, and was saved. For this reason, he chose not to go out. {23:14} Then David stayed in the desert, in very strong places. And he stayed on a mount in the wilderness of Ziph, on a shady mount. Nevertheless, Saul was seeking him every day. But the Lord did not deliver him into his hands. {23:15} And David saw that Saul had gone out, so that he might seek his life. Now David was in the desert of Ziph, in the woods. {23:16} And Jonathan, the son of Saul, rose up and went to David in the woods, and he strengthened his hands in God. And he said to him: {23:17} “Do not be afraid. For the hand of my father, Saul, will not find you. And you shall reign over Israel. And I will be second to you. And even my father knows this.” {23:18} Therefore, they both struck a pact before the Lord. And David stayed in the woods. But Jonathan returned to his house. {23:19} Then the Ziphites ascended to Saul at Gibeah, saying: “Behold, is not David hidden with us in very secure places in the woods on the hill of Hachilah, which is to the right of the desert?” {23:20} Now therefore, if your soul has desired to descend, then descend. Then it will be for us to deliver him into the hands of the king.” {23:21} And Saul said: “You have been blessed by the Lord. For you have grieved for my situation. {23:22} Therefore, I beg you, go forth, and prepare diligently, and act carefully. And consider the place where his foot may be, and who may have seen him there. For he thinks, concerning me, that I craftily plan treachery against him. {23:23} Consider and seek out all his hiding places, in which he may be concealed. And return to me with certainty about the matter, so that I may go with you. But if he would even press himself into the earth, I will search him out, amid all the thousands of Judah.” {23:24} And rising up, they went to Ziph before Saul. But David and his men were in the desert of Maon, in the plain to the right of Jeshimon. {23:25} Then Saul and his allies went to seek him. And this was reported to David. And immediately, he descended to the rock, and he moved about in the desert of Maon. And when Saul had heard of it, he pursued David in the desert of Maon. {23:26} And Saul went to one side of the mountain. But David and his men were on the other side of the mountain. Then David was despairing that he would be able to escape from the face of Saul. And Saul and his men enclosed David and his men in the manner of a crown, so that they might capture them. {23:27} And a messenger came to Saul, saying, “Hurry and come, because the Philistines have poured themselves out upon the land.” {23:28} Therefore, Saul turned back, ceasing in the pursuit of David, and he traveled to meet the Philistines. For this reason, they called that place, the Rock of Division.

[1 Samuel 24] {24:1} Then David ascended from there, and he lived in very secure places in Engedi. {24:2} And when Saul had returned after pursuing the Philistines, they reported to him, saying, “Behold, David is in the desert of Engedi.” {24:3} Therefore, Saul, taking three thousand elect men from all of Israel, traveled in order to search for David and his men, even upon the most broken rocks, which are passable only to mountain goats. {24:4} And he arrived at the sheepfolds, which presented themselves along the way. And a cave was in that place, which Saul entered, so that he might ease his bowels. But David and his men were hiding in the interior part of the cave. (24:5) And the servants of David said to him: “Behold the day, about which the Lord said to you, ‘I will deliver your enemy to you, so that you may do to him as it will be pleasing in your eyes.’” Then David rose up, and he quietly cut off the edge of Saul’s cloak. (24:6) After this, his own heart struck David, because he had cut off the edge of Saul’s cloak. (24:7) And he said to his men: “May the Lord be gracious to me, lest I do this thing to my lord, the Christ of the Lord, so that I lay my hand upon him. For he is the Christ of the Lord.” (24:8) And David restrained his men with his words, and he would not permit them to rise up against Saul. And so Saul, going out of the cave, continued to undertake his journey. (24:9) Then David also rose up after him. And departing from the cave, he cried out behind the back of Saul, saying: “My lord, the king!” And Saul looked behind him. And David, bowing himself face down to the ground, reverenced. (24:10) And he said to Saul: “Why do you listen to the words of men who say: ‘David seeks evil against you?’” (24:11) Behold, this day your eyes have seen that the Lord has delivered you into my hand, in the cave. And I thought that I might kill you. But my eye has spared you. For I said: I will not extend my hand against my lord, for he is the Christ of the Lord. (24:12) Moreover, see and know, O my father, the edge of your cloak in my hand. For though I cut off the top of your cloak, I was not willing to extend my hand against you. Turn your soul and see that there is no evil in my hand, nor any iniquity or sin against you. Yet you lie in wait for my life, so that you may take it away. (24:13) May the Lord judge between me and you. And may the Lord vindicate me from you. But my hand will not be against you. (24:14) So too, it is said in the ancient proverb, ‘From the impious, impiety will go forth.’ Therefore, my hand will not be upon you. (24:15) Whom are you pursuing, O king of Israel? Whom are you pursuing? You are pursuing a dead dog, a single flea. (24:16) May the Lord be the judge, and may he judge between me and you. And may he see and judge my case, and rescue me from your hand.” (24:17) And when David had completed speaking words in this way to Saul, Saul said, “Could this be your voice, my son David?” And Saul lifted up his voice, and he wept. (24:18) And he said to David: “You are more just than I am. For you have distributed good to me, but I have repaid evil to you. (24:19) And you have revealed this day the good that you have done for me: how the Lord delivered me into your hand, but you did not kill me. (24:20) For who, when he will have found his enemy, will release him along a good path? So may the Lord repay you for this good turn, because you have acted on my behalf this day. (24:21) And now I know certainly that you shall be king, and you shall have the kingdom of Israel in your hand. (24:22) Swear to me in the name of this man was Nabal. And the name of his wife was Abigail. And she was a very prudent and beautiful woman. But her husband was hard-hearted, and very wicked, and malicious. And he was of the stock of Caleb. (24:4) Therefore, when David, in the desert, had heard that Nabal was shearing his sheep, (24:5) he sent ten young men, and he said to them: “Ascend to Carmel, and go to Nabal, and greet him in my name peacefully. (24:6) And you shall say: ‘Peace be to my brothers and to you, and peace to your house, and peace to whatever you have. (24:7) I have heard that your shepherds, who were with us in the desert, were shearing. We have never troubled them, nor was anything from the flock missing to them at any time, during the entire time that they have been with us in Carmel. (24:8) Question your servants, and they will tell you. Now therefore, may your servants find favor in your eyes. For we have arrived on a good day. Whatever your hand will find, give it to your servants and to your son David.’” (25:9) And when the servants of David had arrived, they spoke to Nabal all these words in the name of David. And then they were silent. (25:10) But Nabal, responding to the servants of David, said: “Who is David? And who is the son of Jesse? Today, servants who are fleeing from their lords are increasing. (25:11) Therefore, shall I take my bread, and my water, and the meat of the cattle that I have slain for my shearsers, and give it to men, when I do not know where they are from?” (25:12) And so the servants of David traveled back along their way. And returning, they went and reported to him all the words that he had said. (25:13) Then David said to his servants, “Let each one gird his sword.” And each one girded his sword. And David also girded his sword. And about four hundred men followed David. But two hundred remained behind with the supplies. (25:14) Then it was reported to Abigail, the wife of Nabal, by one of his servants, saying: “Behold, David has sent messengers from the desert, so that they might speak kindly to our lord. But he turned them away. (25:15) These men were good enough to us, and were not troublesome. Neither did we ever lose anything, during the entire time that we conversed with them in the desert. (25:16) They were a wall to us, as much in the night as in the day, during all the days that we were with them, pasturing the sheep. (25:17) For this reason, consider and realize what you should do. For evil has been decided against your husband and against your house. And he is a son of Belial, so that no one is able to speak to him.” (25:18) And so Abigail hurried, and she took two hundred loaves, and two vessels of wine, and five cooked sheep, and five measures of cooked grain, and one hundred clusters of dried grapes, and two hundred masses of dried figs, and she set them upon donkeys. (25:19) And she said to her servants: “Go before me. Behold, I will follow after your back.” But she did not reveal it to her husband, Nabal. (25:20) And when she had climbed on a donkey, and was descending to the base of the mountain, David and his men were descending to meet her. And she met them. (25:21) And David said: “Truly, in vain have I preserved all that was his in the wilderness, so that nothing perished out of all that belonged to him. And he has repaid evil to me for good. (25:22) May God do these things, by the enemies of David, and may he add these other things, if I leave behind until morning, out of all that belongs to him, anything that urinates against a wall.” {25:23} Then, when Abigail had seen David, she hurried and descended from the donkey. And she fell upon her face before David, and she reverenced on the ground. {25:24} And she fell at his feet, and she said: “May this iniquity be upon me, my lord. I beg you, let your handmaid speak to your ears, and listen to the words of your servant. {25:25} Let not my lord, the king, I beseech you, set his heart upon this iniquitous man, Nabal. For in accord with his name, he is senseless, and foolishness is with him. But I, your handmaid, did not see your servants, my lord, whom you had sent. {25:26} Now therefore, my lord, as your soul lives, and as the Lord lives, who has kept your hand to yourself, and has prevented you from coming to blood: now, let your enemies be like Nabal, and like all those who are seeking evil for my lord. {25:27} Because of this, accept this blessing, which your handmaid has brought to you, my lord. And give it to the young men who follow you, my lord. {25:28} Forgive the iniquity of your handmaid. For the Lord will surely make for you, my lord, a faithful house, because you, my lord, fight the battles of the Lord. Therefore, let no evil be found in you all the days of your life. {25:29} For if a man, at any time, will rise up, pursuing you and seeking your life, the life of my lord will be preserved, as if in the sheave of the living, with the Lord your God. But the lives of your enemies will be spun around, as if with the force of a whirling sling. {25:30} Therefore, when the Lord will have done for you, my lord, all the good that he has spoken about you, and when he will have appointed you as leader over Israel, {25:31} this will not be for you a regret or a scuffle of the heart, my lord, that you had shed innocent blood, or had taken revenge for yourself. And when the Lord will have done well for my lord, you shall remember your handmaid.” {25:32} And David said to Abigail: “Blessed is the Lord, the God of Israel, who sent you this day to meet me. And blessed is your eloquence. {25:33} And blessed are you, who prevented me today from going to blood, and from taking revenge for myself with my own hand. {25:34} But instead, as the Lord God of Israel lives, he has prevented me from doing evil to you. But if you had not come quickly to meet me, there would not have been left to Nabal by the morning light, anything that urinates against a wall.” {25:35} Then David received from her hand all that she had brought to him. And he said to her: “Go in peace to your own house. Behold, I have heeded your voice, and I have honored your face.” {25:36} Then Abigail went to Nabal. And behold, he was holding a feast for himself in his house, like the feast of a king. And the heart of Nabal was cheerful. For he was greatly inebriated. And she did not reveal a word to him, small or great, until morning. {25:37} Then, at first light, when Nabal had digested his wine, his wife revealed to him these words, and his heart died within himself, and he became like a stone. {25:38} And after ten days had passed, the Lord struck Nabal, and he died. {25:39} And when David had heard that Nabal was dead, he said: “Blessed is the Lord, who has judged the case of my reproach at the hand of Nabal, and who has preserved his servant from evil. And the Lord has repaid the malice of Nabal upon his own head.” Then David sent and he spoke with Abigail, so that he might take her to himself as wife. {25:40} And David’s servants went to Abigail at Carmel, and they spoke to her, saying, “David has sent us to you, so that he might take you to himself as wife.” {25:41} And rising up, she reverenced prone on the ground, and she said, “Behold, let your servant be a handmaid, to wash the feet of the servants of my lord.” {25:42} And Abigail rose up and hurried, and she climbed upon a donkey, and five girls went with her, her attendants. And she followed the messengers of David, and she became his wife. {25:43} Moreover, David also took Ahinoam of Jezreel. And both of them were his wives. {25:44} Then Saul gave his daughter Michal, the wife of David, to Palti, the son of Laish, who was from Gallim. {1 Samuel 26} {26:1} And the Ziphites went to Saul at Gibeah, saying: “Behold, David is hidden on the hill of Hachilah, which is opposite the wilderness.” {26:2} And Saul rose up, and he descended into the desert of Ziph, and with him three thousand elect men of Israel, so that he might seek David in the desert of Ziph. {26:3} And Saul encamped at Gibeah on Hachilah, which was opposite the wilderness on the way. But David was living in the desert. Then, seeing that Saul had arrived after him in the wilderness, {26:4} he sent explorers, and he learned that he certainly had arrived in that place. {26:5} And David rose up secretly, and he went to the place where Saul was. And when he had seen the place where Saul was sleeping, and Abner, the son of Ner, the leader of his military, and Saul sleeping in a tent, and the remainder of the common people all around him, {26:6} David spoke to Ahimelech, the Hittite, and to Abishai, the son of Zeruiah, the brother of Joab, saying, “Who will descend with me to Saul in the camp?” And Abishai said, “I will descend with you.” {26:7} Therefore, David and Abishai went to the people by night, and they found Saul lying down and sleeping in the tent, with his spear fixed in the ground at his head. And Abner and the people were sleeping all around him. {26:8} And Abishai said to David: “God has enclosed your enemy this day in your hands. Now therefore, I will pierce him with my lance, through to the ground, once, and there will not need to be a second.” {26:9} And David said to Abishai: “You shall not kill him. For who may extend his hand against the Christ of the Lord, and yet be innocent?” {26:10} And David said: “As the Lord lives, unless the Lord himself will strike him, or unless his day to die will have arrived, or unless, descending into battle, he will perish, {26:11} may the Lord be gracious to me, so that I may not extend my hand against the Christ of the Lord. Now therefore, take the spear that is at his head, and the cup of water, and let us go.” {26:12} And so, David took the spear, and the cup of water that was at Saul’s head, and they went away. And there was no one who saw it, or realized it, or awakened, but they were all sleeping. For a deep sleep from the Lord had fallen over them. {26:13} And when David had crossed over to the opposite side, and had stood upon the top of the hill far away, so that there was a great interval between them, {26:14} David cried out to the people, and to Abner, the son of Ner, saying, “Will you not respond, Abner?” And responding, Abner said, “Who are you, that you would cry out and disquiet the king?” {26:15} And David said to Abner: “Are you not a man? And who else is like you in Israel? Then why have you not guarded your lord the king? For one of the people entered, so that he might kill the king, your lord. {26:16} This is not good, what you have done. As the Lord lives, you are sons of death, because you have not guarded your lord, the Christ of the Lord. Now therefore, where is the king’s spear, and where is the cup of water that was at his head?” [26:17] Then Saul recognized the voice of David, and he said, “Is this not your voice, my son David?” And David said, “It is my voice, my lord the king.” [26:18] And he said: “For what reason has my lord pursued his servant? What have I done? Or what evil is there in my hand? [26:19] Now therefore, listen, I beg you, my lord the king, to the words of your servant. If the Lord has stirred you up against me, let him make the sacrifice fragrant. But if the sons of men have done so, they are accursed in the sight of the Lord, who has cast me out this day, so that I would not live within the inheritance of the Lord, saying, ‘Go, serve strange gods.’ [26:20] And now, let not my blood be poured out upon the earth before the Lord. For the king of Israel has gone out, so that he might seek a flea, just as the partridge is pursued amid the mountains.” [26:21] And Saul said: “I have sinned. Return, my son David. For I will never again do evil to you, because my life has been precious in your eyes this day. For it is apparent that I have acted senselessly, and have been ignorant of very many things.” [26:22] And responding, David said: “Behold, the king’s spear. Let one of the servants of the king cross over and take it.” [26:23] And the Lord will repay each one according to his justice and faith. For the Lord has delivered you this day into my hand, but I was not willing to extend my hand against the Christ of the Lord. [26:24] And just as your soul has been magnified this day in my eyes, so let my soul be magnified in the eyes of the Lord, and may he free me from all distress.” [26:25] Then Saul said to David: “You are blessed, my son David. And whatever you may do, it shall certainly succeed.” And David departed on his way. And Saul returned to his place.

[1 Samuel 27] [27:1] And David said in his heart: “At some time, I will one day fall into the hands of Saul. Is it not better if I flee, and be saved in the land of the Philistines, so that Saul may despair and cease to seek me in all the parts of Israel? Therefore, I will flee away from his hands.” [27:2] And David rose up and went away, he and the six hundred men who were with him, to Achish, the son of Maoch, the king of Gath. [27:3] And David lived with Achish at Gath, he and his men: each man with his household, and David with his two wives, Ahinoam, the Jezreelite, and Abigail, the wife of Nabal of Carmel. [27:4] And it was reported to Saul that David had fled to Gath. And so, he did not continue to seek him. [27:5] And David said to Achish: “If I have found favor in your eyes, let a place be given to me in one of the cities of this region, so that I may live there. For why should your servant stay in the city of the king with you?” [27:6] And so, Achish gave Ziklag to him on that day. And for this reason, Ziklag belongs to the kings of Judah, even to this day. [27:7] Now the number of days that David lived in the region of the Philistines was four months. [27:8] And David and his men went up and took plunder from Geshuri, and from Girzzi, and from the Amalekites. For in the land long ago, these were the inhabitants of the area, going from Shur as far as the land of Egypt. [27:9] And David struck the entire land. Neither did he leave alive man or woman. And he took away the sheep, and the oxen, and the donkeys, and the camels, and the garments. And he returned and went to Achish. [27:10] Then Achish said to him, “Whom did you go out against today?” And David responded, “Against the south of Judah, and against the south of Jerahmeel, and against the south of Keni.” [27:11] Neither man nor woman was left alive by David. Neither did he lead back any of them to Gath, saying, “Lest perhaps they may speak against us.” David did these things. And this was his decision during all the days that he lived in the region of the Philistines. [27:12] Therefore, Achish trusted David, saying: “He has worked much harm against his people Israel. And so, he will be a servant to me forever.”

[1 Samuel 28] [28:1] Now it happened that, in those days, the Philistines gathered together their troops, so that they might be prepared for war against Israel. And Achish said to David, “I know now, certainly, that you will go out with me to war, you and your men.” [28:2] And David said to Achish, “You know now what your servant will do.” And Achish said to David, “And so, I will appoint you to guard my head for all days.” [28:3] Now Samuel was dead, and all of Israel mourned for him, and they buried him in Ramah, his city. And Saul took away the magi and soothsayers from the land. [28:4] And the Philistines gathered together, and they arrived and made camp at Shunem. Then Saul also gathered all of Israel, and he arrived at Gilboa. [28:5] And Saul saw the camp of the Philistines, and he was afraid, and his heart was exceedingly terrified. [28:6] And he consulted the Lord. But he did not respond to him, neither by dreams, nor by priests, nor by prophets. [28:7] And Saul said to his servants, “Seek for me a woman having a divining spirit, and I will go to her, and consult through her.” And his servants said to him, “There is a woman having a divining spirit at Endor.” [28:8] Therefore, he changed his usual appearance, and he put on other clothes. And he went, and two men with him, and they came to the woman by night. And he said to her, “Divine for me, by your divining spirit, and raise up for me whomever I will tell you.” [28:9] And the woman said to him: “Behold, you know how much Saul has done, and how he has wiped away the magi and soothsayers from the land. Why then do you set a trap for my life, so that it will be put to death?” [28:10] And Saul swore to her by the Lord, saying, “As the Lord lives, nothing evil will befall you because of this matter.” [28:11] And the woman said to him, “Whom shall I raise up for you?” And he said, “Raise up for me Samuel.” [28:12] And when the woman had seen Samuel, she cried out with a loud voice, and she said to Saul: “Why have you afflicted me? For you are Saul!” [28:13] And the king said to her: “Do not be afraid. What have you seen?” And the woman said to Saul, “I saw gods ascending from the earth.” [28:14] And he said to her, “What appearance does he have?” And she said, “An old man ascends, and he is clothed in a cloak.” And Saul understood that it was Samuel. And he bowed himself upon his face on the ground, and he reverenced. [28:15] Then Samuel said to Saul, “Why have you disquieted me, so that I would be raised up?” And Saul said: “I am greatly distressed. For the Philistines fight against me, and God has withdrawn from me, and he is not willing to heed me, neither by the hand of prophets, nor by dreams. Therefore, I have summoned you, so that you would reveal to me what I should do.” [28:16] And Samuel said, “Why do you question me, though the Lord has withdrawn from you, and has crossed over to your rival? [28:17] For the Lord will do to you just as he spoke by my hand. And he will tear your kingdom from your hand. And he will give it to your neighbor David. {28:18} For you did not obey the voice of the Lord, and you did not carry out the wrath of his fury upon Amalek. For this reason, the Lord has done to you what you are enduring this day. {28:19} And the Lord also will give Israel into the hands of the Philistines, along with you. Then tomorrow you and your sons will be with me. But the Lord will also deliver the camp of Israel into the hands of the Philistines.” {28:20} And immediately, Saul fell stretched out on the ground. For he was terrified by the words of Samuel. And there was no strength in him. For he had not eaten bread all that day. {28:21} And so, the woman entered to Saul, (for he was very troubled) and she said to him: “Behold, your handmaid has obeyed your voice, and I have placed my life in my hand. And I have heeded the words which you spoke to me. {28:22} And so now, I ask you to heed the voice of your handmaid, and let me place before you a morsel of bread, so that, by eating, you may recover strength, and you may be able to undertake the journey.” {28:23} But he refused, and he said, “I will not eat.” But his servants and the woman urged him, and after some time, heeding their voice, he rose up from the ground, and he sat upon the bed. {28:24} Now the woman had a fattened calf in the house, and she hurried and killed it. And taking meal, she kneaded it, and she baked unleavened bread. {28:25} And she set it before Saul and before his servants. And when they had eaten, they rose up, and they walked all through that night.

[1 Samuel 29] {29:1} Then all the troops of the Philistines were gathered together at Aphek. But Israel also made camp, above the spring which is in Jezreel. {29:2} And indeed, the princes of the Philistines advanced by hundreds and by thousands; but David and his men were in the rear with Achish. {29:3} And the leaders of the Philistines said to Achish, “What do these Hebrews intend to do?” And Achish said to the leaders of the Philistines: “Could you be ignorant about David, who was the servant of Saul, the king of Israel, and who has been with me for many days, even years, and I have not found within him anything, from the day that he fled to me, even to this day?” {29:4} Then the leaders of the Philistines became angry against him, and they said to him: “Let this man return, and let him settle in his place, which you appointed for him. But let him not descend with us to the battle lest he become a adversary to us when we begin to fight. For in what other way will he be able to please his lord, except with our heads? {29:5} Is not this the David, about whom they were singing, while dancing, saying: ‘Saul struck down his thousands, but David his ten thousands?’ ” {29:6} Therefore, Achish called David, and he said to him: “As the Lord lives, you are good and righteous in my sight, even in your departure and your return with me in the military camp. And I have not found anything evil in you, from the day that you came to me, even to this day. But you are not pleasing to the princes. {29:7} Therefore, return, and go in peace, so that you do not offend the eyes of the princes of the Philistines.” {29:8} And David said to Achish, “But what have I done, or what have you found in me, your servant, from the day that I was in your sight to this day, so that I may not go out and fight against the enemies of my lord, the king?” {29:9} And in response, Achish said to David: “I know that you are good in my sight, like an angel of God. But the leaders of the Philistines have said: ‘He shall not go up with us to the battle.’ {29:10} And so, rise up in the morning, you and the servants of your lord who came with you. And when you have risen up in the night, as it begins to be light, go forth.” {29:11} And so David rose up in the night, he and his men, so that they might set out in the morning. And they returned to the land of the Philistines. But the Philistines ascended to Jezreel.

[1 Samuel 30] {30:1} And when David and his men had arrived at Ziklag on the third day, the Amalekites had made an attack on the south side against Ziklag. And they had struck Ziklag, and burned it with fire. {30:2} And they had led the women in it away as captives, from the small to the great. And they had not killed anyone, but they led them away with them. And then they traveled on their journey. {30:3} Therefore, when David and his men had arrived at the city, and had found it burned with fire, and that their wives and their sons and daughters had been led away as captives, {30:4} David and the people who were with him lifted up their voices. And they mourned until the tears in them failed. {30:5} For indeed, the two wives of David also had been led away as captives: Ahinoam, the Jezreelite, and Abigail, the wife of Nabal of Carmel. {30:6} And David was greatly saddened. And the people were willing to stone him, because the soul of every man was bitter over his sons and daughters. But David was strengthened by the Lord his God. {30:7} And he said to the priest Abiathar, the son of Ahimelech, “Bring the ephod to me.” And Abiathar brought the ephod to David. {30:8} And David consulted the Lord, saying, “Shall I pursue these robbers, and will I overtake them, or not?” And the Lord said to him: “Pursue. For without doubt, you will overtake them and find the prey.” {30:9} Therefore, David went away, he and the six hundred men who were with him, and they arrived as far as the torrent Besor. And certain ones, being weary, stayed there. {30:10} But David pursued, he and four hundred men. For two hundred stayed, who, being weary, were not able to cross the torrent Besor. {30:11} And they found an Egyptian man in the field, and they led him to David. And they gave him bread, so that he might eat, and water, so that he might drink, {30:12} and also a section of a mass of dried figs, and two clusters of dried grapes. And when he had eaten, his spirit returned, and he was refreshed. For he had not eaten bread, nor drank water, for three days and three nights. {30:13} And so David said to him: “To whom do you belong? Or where are you from? And where are you going?” And he said: “I am a young man of Egypt, the servant of an Amalekite man. But my lord abandoned me, because I began to be sick the day before yesterday. {30:14} For indeed, we broke forth to the southern side of Cherethi, and against Judah, and to the south of Caleb, and we burned Ziklag with fire.” {30:15} And David said to him, “Are you able to lead me to this battle line?” And he said, “Swear to me by God that you will not kill me, and that you will not deliver me into the hands of my lord, and I will lead you to this battle line.” And David swore to him. {30:16} And when he had led him, behold, they were stretched out on the face of the land everywhere, eating and drinking and celebrating, as if it were a feast day, because of all the prey and spoils that they had taken from the land of the Philistines, and from the land of Judah. {30:17} And David struck them down from evening until the evening of the next day. And no one among them escaped, except four hundred youths, who had climbed on camels and fled. {30:18} Therefore, David rescued all that the Amalekites had taken, and he rescued his two wives. {30:19} And nothing was missing, from small even to great, among the sons and daughters, and among the spoils, and among everything whatsoever that they had seized. David returned it all. {30:20} And he took all the flocks and the herds, and he drove them before his face. And they said, “This is the prey of David.” {30:21} Then David arrived at the two hundred men, who, being weary, had stayed, for they had not been able to follow David, and he had ordered them to remain at the torrent Besor. And they went out to meet David, and the people who were with him. Then David, drawing near to the people, greeted them peacefully. {30:22} And all the wicked and iniquitous men, out of the men who had gone with David, responding, said: “Since they did not go with us, we will not give to them anything from the prey that we have rescued. But let his wife and children be enough for each of them; when they have accepted this, they may go back.” {30:23} But David said: “You shall not do this, my brothers, with these things that the Lord has delivered to us, for he has preserved us, and he has given into our hands the robbers who broke out among us. {30:24} And so, let no one heed you over these words. But equal shall be the portion of him who descended to the battle, and of him who remained with the supplies, and they will divide it alike.” {30:25} And this has been done from that day and thereafter. And it was established as a statute, and as if a law, in Israel even to this day. {30:26} Then David went to Ziklag, and he sent gifts from the prey to the elders of Judah, his neighbors, saying, “Receive a blessing from the prey of the enemies of the Lord,” {30:27} to those who were in Bethel, and who were in Ramoth toward the south, and who were in Jattir, {30:28} and who were in Aroer, and who were in Siphmoth, and who were in Eshtemoa, {30:29} and who were in Racal, and who were in the cities of Jerahmeel, and who were in the cities of Keni, {30:30} and who were in Hormah, and who were at the lake of Ashan, and who were in Athach, {30:31} and who were in Hebron, and to the remainder who were in those places where David had stayed, he and his men.

[1 Samuel 31] {31:1} Now the Philistines were fighting against Israel. And the men of Israel fled before the face of the Philistines, and they fell down slain on mount Gilboa. {31:2} And the Philistines rushed upon Saul, and upon his sons, and they struck down Jonathan, and Abinadab, and Malchishua, the sons of Saul. {31:3} And the entire weight of the battle was turned against Saul. And the men who were archers pursued him. And he was severely wounded by the archers. {31:4} Then Saul said to his armor bearer, “Draw your sword and strike me, otherwise these uncircumcised may come and kill me, mock ing me.” And his armor bearer was not willing. For he had been struck with an exceedingly great fear. And so, Saul took his own sword, and he fell upon it. {31:5} And when his armor bearer had seen this, namely, that Saul had died, he too fell upon his sword, and he died with him. {31:6} Therefore, Saul died, and his three sons, and his armor bearer, and all his men, on the same day together. {31:7} Then, seeing that the men of the Israelites had fled, and that Saul had died with his sons, the men of Israel who were across the valley or beyond the Jordan abandoned their cities, and they fled. And the Philistines went and lived there. {31:8} Then, when the next day arrived, the Philistines came, so that they might despoil the slain. And they found Saul and his three sons lying on mount Gilboa. {31:9} And they cut off the head of Saul. And they despoiled him of the armor, and they sent it into the land of the Philistines all around, so that it might be announced in the temples of the idols and among their people. {31:10} And they placed his armor in the temple of Ashtaroth. But his body they suspended on the wall of Bethshan. {31:11} And when the inhabitants of Jabesh Gilead had heard all that the Philistines had done to Saul, {31:12} all the most valiant men rose up, and they walked all night, and they took the body of Saul and the bodies of his sons from the wall of Bethshan. And they went to Jabesh Gilead, and they burned them there. {31:13} And they took their bones, and they buried them in the forest of Jabesh. And they fasted for seven days.

 The Second Book of Samuel **

[2 Samuel 1] {1:1} Now it happened that, after Saul died, David returned from the slaughter of Amalek, and he remained for two days at Ziklag. {1:2} Then, on the third day, a man appeared, arriving from the camp of Saul, with his garments torn and dust sprinkled on his head. And when he came to David, he fell on his face, and he reverenced. {1:3} And David said to him, “Where have you come from?” And he said to him, “I have fled from the camp of Israel.” {1:4} And David said to him: “What is the word that has happened? Reveal it to me.” And he said: “The people have fled from the battle, and many of the people have fallen and died. Moreover, Saul and his son Jonathan have passed away.” {1:5} And David said to the youth who was reporting to him, “How do you know that Saul and his son Jonathan have died?” {1:6} And the youth, who was reporting it to him, said: “I arrived by chance on mount Gilboa. And Saul was lying upon his spear. Then the chariots and horsemen drew near to him. {1:7} And turning behind his back and seeing me, he called to me. And when I had responded, “I am here,” {1:8} he said to me, “Who are you?” And I said to him, “I am an Amalekite.” {1:9} And he said to me: “Stand over me, and kill me. For anguish has taken hold of me, and still my whole life is in me.” {1:10} And standing over him, I killed him. For I knew that he was not able to live after the fall. And I took the diadem that was on his head, and the bracelet from his arm, and I have brought them here to you, my lord.” {1:11} Then David, taking hold of his garments, tore them, with all the men who were with him. {1:12} And they mourned, and wept, and fasted until evening, over Saul and over his son Jonathan, and over the people of the Lord and over the house of Israel, because they had fallen by the sword. {1:13} And David said to the youth who had reported it to him, “Where are you from?” And he responded, “I am the son of a man who is a new arrival from the Amalekites.” {1:14} And David said to him, “Why were you not afraid to put forth your hand, so that you would kill the Christ of the Lord?” {1:15} And calling one of his servants, David said, “Draw near and rush against him” And he struck him, and he died. {1:16} And David said to him: “Your blood is upon your own head. For your own mouth has spoken against you, saying: 'I have killed the Christ of the Lord.' " {1:17} Then David mourned a lamentation over Saul and over his son Jonathan, in this way. {1:18} (And he instructed that they should teach the sons of Judah the bow, just as it is written in the Book of the Just.) And he said: "Consider, O Israel, on behalf of those who are dead, wounded upon your heights: {1:19} The illustrious of Israel have been killed upon your mountains. How could the valiant have fallen? {1:20} Do not choose to announce it in Gath, and do not announce it in the crossroads of Ashkelon. Otherwise, the daughters of the Philistines may rejoice; otherwise, the daughters of the uncircumcised may exult. {1:21} O mountains of Gilboa, let neither dew, nor rain fall over you, and may these not be the fields of the first-fruits. For in that place, the shield of the valiant was cast away, the shield of Saul, as if he had not been anointed with oil. {1:22} From the blood of the slain, from the fat of the strong, the arrow of Jonathan never turned back, and the sword of Saul did not return empty. {1:23} Saul and Jonathan, worthy to be loved, and stately in their life: even in death they were not divided. They were swifter than eagles, stronger than lions. {1:24} O daughters of Israel, weep over Saul, who clothed you with scarlet finery, who offered ornaments of gold for your adornment. {1:25} How could the valiant have fallen in battle? How could Jonathan have been slain on the heights? {1:26} I grieve over you, my brother Jonathan: exceedingly stately, and worthy to be loved above the love of women. As a mother loves her only son, so also did I love you. {1:27} How could the robust have fallen, and the weapons of war have perished?"

[2 Samuel 2] {2:1} And so, after these things, David consulted the Lord, saying, "Shall I ascend to one of the cities of Judah?" And the Lord said to him, "Ascend." And David said, "To where shall I ascend?" And he responded to him, "To Hebron." {2:2} Therefore, David ascended with his two wives, Ahinoam, the Jezreelite, and Abigail, the wife of Nabal of Carmel. {2:3} And as for the men who were with him, David led forth each man with his household. And they stayed in the towns of Hebron. {2:4} And the men of Judah went and anointed David there, so that he would reign over the house of Judah. And it was reported to David that the men of Jabesh Gilead had buried Saul. {2:5} Therefore, David sent messengers to the men of Jabesh Gilead, and he said to them: "Blessed are you to the Lord, who has accomplished this mercy with your lord Saul, so that you would bury him. {2:6} And now, certainly, the Lord will repay to you mercy and truth. But I also will act with favor, because you have accomplished this word. {2:7} Let your hands be strengthened, and be sons of fortitude. For even though your lord Saul has died, still the house of Judah has anointed me as king over them." {2:8} Then Abner, the son of Ner, the leader of the army of Saul, took Ishboseth, the son of Saul, and he led him around, throughout the camp. {2:9} And he appointed him as king over Gilead, and over Geshuri, and over Jezreel, and over Ephraim, and over Benjamin, and over all of Israel. {2:10} Ishboseth, the son of Saul, was forty years old when he had begun to rule over Israel. And he reigned for two years. For only the house of Judah followed David. {2:11} And the number of the days, during which David was staying and ruling in Hebron over the house of Judah, was seven years and six months.

{2:12} And Abner, the son of Ner, and the youths of Ishboseth, the son of Saul, went out from the camp to Gibeon. {2:13} Therefore, Joab, the son of Zeruiah, and the youths of David, went out and met them beside the pool of Gibeon. And when they had convened together, they sat down opposite one another: these on one side of the pool, and those on the other side. {2:14} And Abner said to Joab, "Let the youths rise up and play before us." And Joab answered, "Let them rise up." {2:15} Therefore, they rose up and crossed over, twelve in number of Benjamin, from the side of Ishboseth, the son of Saul, and twelve of the youths of David. {2:16} And each one, taking hold of his peer by the head, fixed a sword into the side of his adversary, and they fell down together. And the name of that place was called: The Field of the Valiant in Gibeon. {2:17} And a very harsh war rose up on that day. And Abner, with the men of Israel, was put to flight by the youths of David. {2:18} Now the three sons of Zeruiah were in that place: Joab, and Abishai, and Asahel. And Asahel was a very swift runner, like one of the deer that lives in the forest. {2:19} And Asahel pursued Abner, and he did not turn aside to the right, nor to the left, to cease in the pursuit of Abner. {2:20} And so, Abner looked behind his back, and he said, "Are you not Asahel?" And he responded, "I am." {2:21} And Abner said to him, "Go to the right, or to the left, and apprehend one of the youths, and take his spoils for yourself." But Asahel was not willing to cease from pursuing him closely. {2:22} And again, Abner said to Asahel: "Withdraw, and do not choose to follow me. Otherwise, I will be compelled to stab you to the ground, and I will not be able to lift up my face before your brother, Joab." {2:23} But he disdained to heed him, and he was not willing to turn aside. Therefore, turning, Abner struck him with his spear in the groin, and he pierced him through, and he died in the same place. And all those who would pass by the place, in which Asahel had fallen and died, would stand still. {2:24} Now while Joab and Abishai were pursuing Abner as he fled, the sun set. And they went as far as the Hill of the Aqueduct, which is opposite the valley on the way of the desert in Gibeon. {2:25} And the sons of Benjamin gathered themselves to Abner. And being joined in one battle line, they stood at the summit of a hill. {2:26} And Abner cried out to Joab, and he said: "Will your sword rage unto utter destruction? Are you ignorant that it is perilous to act in desperation? How long will you not tell the people to cease from the pursuit of their brothers?" {2:27} And Joab said: "As the Lord lives, if you had spoken in the morning, the people would have withdrawn from pursuing their brothers." {2:28} Therefore, Joab sounded the trumpet, and the entire army stood still, and they did not pursue after Israel any more, and they did not engage in conflict. {2:29} Then Abner and his men went away, all that night, through the plains. And they crossed the Jordan, and having roamed throughout all of Beth-horon, they arrived in the camp. {2:30} But Joab, returning after he had released Abner, gathered together all the people. And of David's youths, they were missing nineteen men, aside from Asahel. {2:31} But of Benjamin and of the men who were with Abner, the servants of David had struck three hundred and sixty, who also died. {2:32} And they took Asahel, and they buried him in the sepulcher of his father at Bethlehem. And Joab, and the men who were with him, walked throughout the night, and they arrived in Hebron at the very break of day.
[2 Samuel 3] {3:1} Then a long struggle occurred between the house of Saul and the house of David, with David prospering and growing ever stronger, but the house of Saul decreasing daily. {3:2} And sons were born to David in Hebron. And his firstborn son was Amnon, from Ahinoam the Jezreelite. {3:3} And after him, there was Chileab, from Abigail, the wife of Nabal of Carmel. Then the third was Absalom, the son of Maacah, the daughter of Talmai, the king of Geshur. {3:4} Then the fourth was Adonijah, the son of Haggit. And the fifth was Shephatiah, the son of Abital. {3:5} Also, the sixth was Ittream, from Eglah, the wife of David. These were born to David at Hebron. {3:6} Then, while there was a battle between the house of Saul and the house of David, Abner, the son of Ner, was reigning over the house of Saul. {3:7} Now Saul had a concubine named Rizpah, the daughter of Aiah. And Ishboseth said to Abner, {3:8} “Why did you enter to the concubine of my father?” But he, being exceedingly angry at the words of Ishboseth, said: “Am I the head of a dog against Judah this day? I have shown mercy to the house of Saul, your father, and to his brothers and friends. And I have not delivered you into the hands of David. And yet today you have sought me, so that you might rebuke me over a woman? {3:9} May God do these things to Abner, and may he add these other things, if, in the same way that the Lord swore to David, I do not do so with him: {3:10} that the kingdom be transferred from the house of Saul, and that the throne of David be elevated over Israel and over Judah, from Dan to Beer-sheba.” {3:11} And he was not able to respond anything to him, because he was in fear of him. {3:12} Therefore, Abner sent messengers to David for himself, saying, “Whose is the land?” and so that they would say, “Make a friendship with me, and my hand will be with you, and I will lead back all of Israel to you.” {3:13} And he said: “It is best. I will make a friendship with you. But one thing I ask of you, saying: You shall not see my face until you bring Michal, the daughter of Saul. And in this way, you shall come, and see me.” {3:14} Then David sent messengers to Ishboseth, the son of Saul, saying, “Restore my wife Michal, whom I espoused to myself for one hundred foreskins of the Philistines.” {3:15} Therefore, Ishboseth sent and took her from her husband Paltiel, the son of Laish. {3:16} And her husband was following her, weeping, as far as Bahurim. And Abner said to him, “Go and return.” And he returned. {3:17} Likewise, Abner sent word to the elders of Israel, saying: “As much yesterday as the day before, you were seeking David, so that he might reign over you. {3:18} Therefore, accomplish it now. For the Lord has spoken to David, saying: ‘By the hand of my servant David, I will save my people Israel from the hand of the Philistines and of all their enemies.’ ” {3:19} Then Abner also spoke to Benjamin. And he went away, so that he might speak to David in Hebron all that would be pleasing to Israel and to all of Benjamin. {3:20} And he went to David in Hebron with twenty men. And David made a feast for Abner, and for his men who had arrived with him. {3:21} And Abner said to David, “I will rise up, so that I may gather all of Israel to you, my lord the king, and so that I may enter into a pact with you, and so that you may reign over all, just as your soul desires.” Then, when David had led Abner away, and he had departed in peace, {3:22} immediately the servants of David and of Joab arrived, after having slain robbers, with exceedingly great spoils. But Abner was not with David in Hebron. For by then he had sent him away, and he had set out in peace. {3:23} And Joab, and the entire army that was with him, had arrived afterward. And so, it was reported to Joab, explaining that Abner, the son of Ner, went to the king, and he dismissed him, and he went away in peace. {3:24} And Joab entered to the king, and he said: “What have you done? Behold, Abner came to you. Why did you dismiss him, so that he has gone and departed? {3:25} Do you not know, about Abner, the son of Ner, that he came to you for this, so that he might deceive you, and might know of your departure and your return, and so that he might know all that you do?” {3:26} And so, Joab, going out from David, sent messengers after Abner, and he brought him back from the cistern of Sirah, without David knowing. {3:27} And when Abner had returned to Hebron, Joab took him alone to the middle of the gate, so that he might speak to him, but with deceit. And there, he stabbed him in the groin, and he died, in revenge for the blood of Asahel, his brother. {3:28} And when David had heard of it, now that the matter was done, he said: “I and my kingdom are clean before the Lord, even forever, of the blood of Abner, the son of Ner. {3:29} And may it fall upon the head of Joab, and upon the entire house of his father. And may there not fail to be, in the house of Joab, one who suffers from a flow of seed, or one who is leprous, or one who is effeminate, or one who falls by the sword, or one who is in need of bread.” {3:30} And so, Joab and his brother Abishai killed Abner, because he had killed their brother Asahel at Gibeon, during the battle. {3:31} Then David said to Joab, and to all the people who were with him, “Tear your garments, and gird yourselves with sackcloth, and mourn before the funeral procession of Abner.” Moreover, king David himself was following the casket. {3:32} And when they had buried Abner in Hebron, king David lifted up his voice, and he wept over the burial mound of Abner. And all the people also wept. {3:33} And the king, mourning and lamenting Abner, said: “By no means has Abner died the way that cowards usually die. {3:34} Your hands are not bound, and your feet are not weighed down with fetters. But just as men often fall before the sons of iniquity, so you have fallen.” And while repeating this, all the people wept over him. {3:35} And when the entire multitude had arrived to take food with David, while it was still broad daylight, David swore, saying, “May God do these things to me, and may he add these other things, if I taste bread or anything else before the sun sets.” {3:36} And all the people heard it, and everything that the king did in the sight of the entire people was pleasing to them. {3:37} And every common person, and all of Israel, realized on that day that the killing of Abner, the son of Ner, had not been done by the king. {3:38} The king also said to his servants: “Could you be ignorant that a leader and a very great man has fallen today in Israel? {3:39} But I am still tender, and yet anointed king. And these men of the sons of Zeruiah are too harsh for me. May the Lord repay whoever does evil in accord with his malice.”
For indeed, Beeroth, too, was reputed with Benjamin.
{4:3} And the Beerothites had fled into Gittaim. And they were strangers there, until that time.
{4:4} Now Jonathan, the son of Saul, had a son with disabled feet. For he was five years old when the report about Saul and Jonathan arrived from Jezreel. And so, his nurse, taking him up, fled. And while she was hurrying, so that she might flee, he fell and was made lame. And he was called Mephibosheth.
{4:5} And so, the sons of Rimmon the Beerothite, Rechab and Baannah, arrived and entered the house of Ishboseth, in the heat of the day. And he was sleeping on his bed at midday. And the doorkeeper of the house, who was cleaning the wheat, fell fast asleep.
{4:6} Then they entered the house secretly, taking the ears of grain. And Rechab and his brother Baannah stabbed him in the groin, and they fled away.
{4:7} For when they had entered the house, he was sleeping on his bed in a closed room. And striking him, they killed him. And taking his head, they departed by the way of the desert, walking throughout the night.
{4:8} And they brought the head of Ishboseth to David in Hebron. And they said to the king: “Behold, the head of Ishboseth, the son of Saul, your enemy, who was seeking your life. And so, the Lord has avenged my lord the king, this day, from Saul and from his offspring.”
{4:9} But David, responding to Rechab and his brother Baannah, the sons of Rimmon the Beerothite, said to them: “As the Lord lives who has rescued my soul from all distress, the one who reported to me and said, ‘Saul is dead,’ who was thinking that he announced good news, I apprehended. And at Ziklag I killed him who ought to have been given a reward for the news.
{4:11} How much more so now, when impious men have put to death an innocent man in his own house, upon his bed, shall I not require his blood from your hand, and take you away from the earth?”
{4:12} And so, David commanded his servants, and they put them to death. And cutting off their hands and feet, they suspended them up over the pool in Hebron. But the head of Ishboseth they took and buried in the sepulcher of Abner at Hebron.

[2 Samuel 5]
{5:1} And all the tribes of Israel went to David in Hebron, saying: “Behold, we are your bone and your flesh.
{5:2} Moreover, yesterday and the day before, when Saul was king over us, you were the one leading out and leading back Israel. Then the Lord said to you, ‘You shall pasture my people Israel, and you shall be the leader over Israel.’ ”
{5:3} Also, the elders of Israel went to the king at Hebron, and king David struck a pact with them at Hebron in the sight of the Lord. And they anointed David as king over Israel.
{5:4} David was a son of thirty years, when he had begun to reign, and he reigned for forty years.
{5:5} In Hebron, he reigned over Judah for seven years and six months. Then in Jerusalem, he reigned for thirty-three years over all of Israel and Judah.
{5:6} And the king, and all the men who were with him, went away to Jerusalem, to the Jebusites, the inhabitants of the land. And it was said to David by them, “You shall not enter here, unless you will take away the blind and the lame, who say, ‘David shall not enter here.’ ”
{5:7} But David seized the stronghold of Zion; the same is the city of David.
{5:8} For David had proposed, on that day, a reward to him who had struck the Jebusites and who had reached to the gutters of the rooftops, and who had taken away the blind and the lame that hated the soul of David. Therefore, it is said in the proverb, “The blind and the lame shall not enter into the temple.”
{5:9} Then David lived in the stronghold, and he called it: the City of David. And he built it up on all sides, from Millo inward.
{5:10} And he advanced, prospering and increasing, and the Lord, the God of hosts, was with him.
{5:11} Also, Hiram, the king of Tyre, sent messengers to David, with cedar wood, and with builders of wood and builders of stone, in order to make walls. And they built a house for David.
{5:12} And David knew that the Lord had confirmed him as king over Israel, and that he had exalted his kingdom over his people Israel.
{5:13} Then David took more concubines and wives from Jerusalem, after he had arrived from Hebron. And other sons as well as daughters were born to David.
{5:14} And these are the names of those who were born to him in Jerusalem: Shammua, and Shobab, and Nathan, and Solomon,
{5:15} and Ibar, and Elishua, and Nepheg,
{5:16} and Japhia, and Elishama, and Eliada, and Elipheleth.
{5:17} Then the Philistines heard that they had anointed David as king over Israel. And they all ascended, so that they might seek David. And when David had heard of it, he descended to a stronghold.
{5:18} Now the Philistines, arriving, spread themselves out in the Valley of Rephaim.
{5:19} And David consulted the Lord, saying: “Shall I ascend to the Philistines? And will you give them into my hand?” And the Lord said to David: “Ascend. For I will certainly give the Philistines into your hand.”
{5:20} Therefore, David went to Baal-perazim. And he struck them there. And he said, “The Lord has divided my enemies before me, just as the waters are divided.” Because of this, the name of that place was called Baal-perazim.
{5:21} And in that place they left behind their graven images, which David and his men took away.
{5:22} And the Philistines continued still, so that they ascended and spread themselves out in the Valley of Rephaim.
{5:23} Then David consulted the Lord, “Shall I ascend against the Philistines, and will you deliver them into my hands?” And he responded: “You shall not ascend against them; instead, circle behind their back. And you shall come to them from the side opposite the balsam trees.
{5:24} And when you hear the sound of something going forth from the tops of the balsam trees, then you shall begin the battle. For then the Lord will go forth, before your face, so that he may strike the army of the Philistines.”
{5:25} And so, David did just as the Lord had instructed him. And he struck down the Philistines, from Gibeon until you arrive at Gezer.

[2 Samuel 6]
{6:1} Then David again gathered together all the elect men of Israel, thirty thousand.
{6:2} And David arose and went away, with the entire people who were with him from the men of Judah, so that they might lead back the ark of God, over which is invoked the name of the Lord of hosts, who sits upon the cherubim above it.
{6:3} And they placed the ark of God on a new cart. And they took it from the house of Abinadab, who was in Gideon. And Uzzah and Ahio, the sons of Abinadab, drove the new cart.
{6:4} And when they had taken it from the house of Abinadab, who was in Gideon, Ahio preceded the ark as the keeper of the ark of God.
{6:5} But David and all of Israel played before the Lord on every kind of musical instrument made of wood, and on harps, and lyres, and timbrels, and bells, and cymbals.
{6:6} And after they had arrived at the threshing floor of Nacon, Uzzah extended his hand to the ark of God, and he touched it, because the oxen were kicking and had caused it to tip. {6:7} And the indignation of the Lord was enraged against Uzzah. And he struck him for his temerity. And there he died, beside the ark of God. {6:8} Then David was saddened because the Lord had struck Uzzah. And the name of that place was called: the Striking of Uzzah, even to this day. {6:9} And David was very fearful of the Lord on that day, saying, “How shall the ark of the Lord be brought to me?” {6:10} And he was not willing to send the ark of the Lord to himself in the city of David. Instead, he sent it into the house of Obededom, the Gittite. {6:11} And the ark of the Lord dwelt in the house of Obededom the Gittite, for three months. And the Lord blessed Obededom, and all his household. {6:12} And it was reported to king David that the Lord had blessed Obededom, and all that was his, because of the ark of God. Therefore, David went and brought the ark of God, from the house of Obededom, into the city of David with joy. And there were with David seven choirs, and calves for victims. {6:13} And when those who were carrying the ark of the Lord had traveled six steps, he immolated an ox and a ram. {6:14} And David danced with all his ability before the Lord. {6:15} And David, and all the house of Israel, were leading the ark of the testament of the Lord, with jubilation and the sound of the trumpet. {6:16} And when the ark of the Lord had entered into the city of David, Michal, the daughter of Saul, looking out through a window, saw king David leaping and dancing before the Lord. And she despised him in her heart. {6:17} And they led in the ark of the Lord. And they set it in its place in the middle of the tabernacle, which David had pitched for it. And David offered holocausts and peace offerings in the sight of the Lord. {6:18} And when he had completed offering holocausts and peace offerings, he blessed the people in the name of the Lord of hosts. {6:19} And he distributed to the entire multitude of Israel, as much to men as to women, to each one: one loaf of bread, and one piece of roasted beef, and fine wheat flour fried with oil. And all the people went away, each one to his own house. {6:20} And David returned, so that he might bless his own house. And Michal, the daughter of Saul, going out to meet David, said: “How glorious was the king of Israel today, uncovering himself before the handmaids of his servants, and being unclothed, as if one of the performers were unclothed.” {6:21} And David said to Michal: “Before the Lord, who chose me rather than your father, and rather than his entire house, and who commanded me, that I should be the leader over the people of the Lord in Israel, I will both play and demean myself, more so than I have done. And I will be little in my own eyes. And with the handmaids, about whom you are speaking, I will appear more glorious.” {6:23} And so, there was no child born to Michal, the daughter of Saul, even to the day of her death.

[2 Samuel 7] {7:1} Now it happened that, when the king had settled in his house, and the Lord had given him rest on every side from all his enemies, {7:2} he said to the prophet Nathan, “Do you not see that I live in a house of cedar, and that the ark of God has been placed in the midst of tent skins?” {7:3} And Nathan said to the king: “Go, do all that is in your heart. For the Lord is with you.” {7:4} But it happened in that night, behold, the word of the Lord came to Nathan, saying: {7:5} “Go, and say to my servant David: ‘Thus says the Lord: Should you build a house for me as a dwelling place? {7:6} For I have not lived in a house from the day that I led the sons of Israel away from the land of Egypt, even to this day. Instead, I have walked in a tabernacle, and in a tent. {7:7} And in all the places that I have crossed through, with all the sons of Israel, did I ever speak a word to anyone from the tribes of Israel, whom I instructed to pasture my people Israel, saying: Why have you not built me a house of cedar?’” {7:8} And now, so shall you speak to my servant David: ‘Thus says the Lord of hosts: I took you from the pastures, from following the sheep, so that you would be the leader over my people Israel. {7:9} And I have been with you everywhere that you walked. And I have slain all your enemies before your face. And I have made you a great name, beside the name of the great ones who are upon the earth. {7:10} And I will appoint a place for my people Israel, and I will plant them, and they shall live there, and they shall no longer be disturbed. Neither shall the sons of iniquity continue to afflict them as before, {7:11} from the day when I appointed judges over my people Israel. And I will give rest to you from all your enemies. And the Lord foretells to you that the Lord himself will make a house for you. {7:12} And when your days will have been fulfilled, and you will sleep with your fathers, I will raise up your offspring after you, who will go forth from your loins, and I will make firm his kingdom. {7:13} He himself shall build a house to my name. And I will establish the throne of his kingdom, even forever. {7:14} I will be a father to him, and he shall be a son to me. And if he will commit any iniquity, I will correct him with the rod of men and with the wounds of the sons of men. {7:15} But my mercy I will not take away from him, as I took it away from Saul, whom I removed from before my face. {7:16} And your house shall be faithful, and your kingdom shall be before your face, for eternity, and your throne shall be secure continuously.’ ” {7:17} According to all these words, and according to this entire vision, so did Nathan speak to David. {7:18} Then king David entered and sat before the Lord, and he said: “Who am I, O Lord God, and what is my house, that you would bring me to this point? {7:19} Moreover, this has seemed little in your sight, O Lord God, unless you also will speak about the house of your servant for a long time. For this is the law of Adam, O Lord God. {7:20} Therefore, what more will David be able to say to you? For you know your servant, O Lord God. {7:21} Because of your word, and according to your own heart, you have done all these great deeds, so that you would make it known to your servant. {7:22} For this reason, you are magnified, O Lord God. For there is no one like you. And there is no God except you, in all the things that we have heard with our own ears. {7:23} But what nation is there upon the earth like your people Israel, because of whom God went forth, so that he might redeem a people for himself, and establish a name for himself, and accomplish for them great and terrible things upon the earth, before the face of your people, whom you redeemed for yourself away Egypt, the nations and their gods. {7:24} For you have secured your people Israel for yourself, as an everlasting people. And you, O Lord God, have become their God. {7:25} Now therefore, O Lord God, raise up forever the word that you have spoken over your servant and over his house. And do just as you have said, {7:26} so that your name may be magnified even forever, and so that it may be said: 'The Lord of hosts is the God over Israel.' And the house of your servant David will be established in the sight of the Lord. {7:27} For you, O Lord of hosts, God of Israel, have revealed to the ear of your servant, saying, 'I will build a house for you.' Because of this, your servant has found it in his heart to pray this prayer to you. {7:28} Now therefore, O Lord God, you are God, and your words shall be true. For you have spoken to your servant these good things. {7:29} Therefore, begin, and bless the house of your servant, so that it may be forever before you. For you, O Lord God, have spoken. And so, let the house of your servant be blessed with your blessing forever.”

[2 Samuel 8] {8:1} Now after these things, it happened that David struck the Philistines, and he humbled them. And David took the girdle of tribute from the hand of the Philistines. {8:2} And he struck Moab, and he measured them with a line, leveling them to the ground. Now he measured with two lines, one to kill, and one to keep alive. And Moab was made to serve David under tribute. {8:3} And David struck Hadadezer, the son of Rehob, the king of Zobah, when he set out to rule over the river Euphrates. {8:4} And from his troops, David seized one thousand seven hundred horsemen and twenty thousand foot soldiers. And he cut the sinew of the leg in all the chariot horses. But he left aside enough of them for one hundred chariots. {8:5} And the Syrians of Damascus arrived, so that they might bring reinforcements to Hadadezer, the king of Zobah. And David struck down twenty-two thousand men of the Syrians. {8:6} And David positioned a garrison in Syria of Damascus. And Syria served David under tribute. And the Lord assisted David in all things whatsoever that he set out to accomplish. {8:7} And David took the armbands of gold, which the servants of Hadadezer had, and he brought them to Jerusalem. {8:8} And from Betah and Beeroth, cities of Hadadezer, king David took an exceedingly great amount of brass. {8:9} Then Toi, the king of Hamath, heard that David had struck down the entire strength of Hadadezer. {8:10} And so, Toi sent his son Joram to king David, so that he might greet him with congratulations, and give thanks, because he had fought against Hadadezer and had struck him down. For indeed, Toi was the enemy of Hadadezer. And in his hand were vessels of gold, and vessels of silver, and vessels of brass. {8:11} And king David also sanctified these things to the Lord, with the silver and gold that he had sanctified from all the peoples whom he had subdued: {8:12} from Syria, and Moab, and the sons Ammon, and the Philistines, and Amalek, and from the best spoils of Hadadezer, the son of Rehob, the king of Zobah. {8:13} David also made a name for himself when he returned from seizing Syria, in the Valley of the Salt Pits, having cut down eighteen thousand. {8:14} And he positioned guards in Edom, and he stationed a garrison. And all of Edom was made to serve David. And the Lord assisted David in all things whatsoever that he set out to accomplish. {8:15} And David reigned over all of Israel. And David accomplished judgment and justice with all his people. {8:16} Now Joab, the son Zeruiah, was over the army. And Jehoshaphat, the son of Ahilud, was the keeper of records. {8:17} And Zadok, the son of Ahitub, and Ahimelech, the son of Abiathar, were the priests. And Seraiah was the scribe. {8:18} And Benaiah, the son of Ahitub, and Ahimelech, the son of Abiathar, were the son Zeruiah, was over the army. And Jehoshaphat, the son of David, was over the Cherethites and Pelethites. But the sons of David were priests.

[2 Samuel 9] {9:1} And David said, “Do you think that there could be anyone left from the house of Saul, so that I might show mercy to him because of Jonathan?” {9:2} Now there was, from the house of Saul, a servant named Ziba. And when the king had called him to himself, he said to him, “Are you not Ziba?” And he responded, “I am your servant.” {9:3} And the king said, “Could there be anyone alive from the house of Saul, so that I may show the mercy of God to him?” And Ziba said to the king, “There is left alive a son of Jonathan, with disabled feet.” {9:4} “Where is he?” he said. And Ziba said to the king, “Behold, he is in the house of Machir, the son of Ammiel, in Lodebar.” {9:5} Therefore, king David sent and brought him from the house of Machir, the son of Ammiel, from Lodebar. {9:6} And when Mephiboseth, the son of Jonathan, the son of Saul, had come to David, he fell upon his face, and he reverenced. And David said, “Mephiboseth?” And he responded, “Your servant is here.” {9:7} And David said to him: “Do not be afraid. For I will certainly show mercy to you because of your father Jonathan. And I will restore to you all the fields of your father Saul. And you shall eat bread at my table always.” {9:8} And reverencing him, he said, “Who am I, your servant, that you should look with favor upon a dead dog like me?” {9:9} And so, the king called Ziba, the servant of Saul, and he said to him: “Everything whatsoever that belonged to Saul, and his entire house, I have given to the son of your lord. {9:10} And so, work the land for him, you and your sons and your servants. And you shall bring in food for the son of your lord, for nourishment. And Mephiboseth, the son of your lord, shall always eat bread at my table.” Now Ziba had fifteen sons and twenty servants. {9:11} And Ziba said to the king: “Just as my lord has ordered your servant, so will your servant do. And Mephiboseth shall eat at my table, like one of the sons of the king.” {9:12} Now Mephiboseth had a young son whose name was Mica. Truly, all the kindred of the house of Ziba served Mephiboseth. {9:13} But Mephiboseth lived in Jerusalem. For he was fed always from the table of the king. And he was lame in both feet.

[2 Samuel 10] {10:1} Now after these things, it happened that the king of the sons of Ammon died, and his son Hanun reigned after him. {10:2} And David said, “I will show mercy to Hanun, the son of Nahash, just as his father showed mercy to me.” Therefore, David sent consolation to him, by his servants, over the passing of his father. But when the servants of David had arrived in the land of the sons of Ammon, {10:3} the leaders of the sons of Ammon said to Hanun, their lord: “Do you think it was because of the honor of your father that David sent consolers to you? And did not David send his servants to you, so that he might investigate and explore the city, and so that he might overthrow it?” {10:4} And so, Hanun took the servants of David, and he shaved off one half part of their beards, and he cut their garments at the middle, as far as the buttocks, and he sent them away. {10:5} And when this had been reported to David, he sent to meet them. And the men were greatly disturbed by shame. And David commanded them, “Remain in Jericho, until your beards grow, and then return.”
Now the sons of Ammon, seeing that they had done an injury to David, sent for, and paid wages to, the Syrians of Rehob, and the Syrians of Zobah, twenty thousand foot soldiers, and from the king of Maacah, one thousand men, and from Tob, twelve thousand men.

And when David had heard this, he sent Joab and the entire army of warriors. Then the sons of Ammon went forth, and they positioned their battle line before the very entrance of the gates. But the Syrians of Zobah, and of Rehob, and of Tob, and of Maacah, were by themselves in the field. And so, seeing that the battle had been prepared against him, both facing him and behind, Joab chose some from all of the elect men of Israel, and he set up a battle line opposite the Syrians. But the remaining part of the people he delivered to his brother Abishai, who formed a battle line against the sons of Ammon. And Joab said: “If the Syrians prevail against me, then you shall assist me. But if the sons of Ammon prevail against you, then I will assist you. Be valiant men. And let us fight on behalf of our people and the city of our God. Then the Lord will do what is good in his own sight.”

And so, Joab, and the people who were with him, undertook the conflict against the Syrians, who immediately fled before their face. Then, seeing that the Syrians had fled, the sons of Ammon themselves also fled from the face of Abishai, and they entered into the city. And Joab returned from the sons of Ammon, and he went to Jerusalem. And so, the Syrians, seeing that they had fallen before Israel, gathered themselves together. And Hadadezer sent and brought the Syrians who were beyond the river, and he led in their army. And Shobach, the ruler of the military of Hadadezer, was their leader. And when this had been reported to David, he drew together all of Israel. And he crossed over the Jordan, and he went to Helam. And the Syrians formed a battle line opposite David, and they fought against him. And the Syrians fled before the face of Israel. And David killed, among the Syrians, the men of seven hundred chariots, and forty thousand horsemen. And he struck down Shobach, the leader of the military, who immediately died.

Then all the kings who were in the reinforcements of Hadadezer, seeing themselves to be defeated by Israel, were very afraid and they fled: fifty-eight thousand men before Israel. And they made peace with Israel, and they served them. And the Syrians were afraid to offer assistance to the sons of Ammon anymore.

Now it happened that, at the turn of the year, in the time when kings usually go forth to war, David sent Joab, and his servants with him, and all of Israel, and they laid waste to the sons of Ammon, and they besieged Rabbah. But David remained in Jerusalem.

While these things were taking place, David happened to arise from his bed after midday, and he walked upon the terrace of the king's house. And he saw, across from his terrace, a woman washing herself. And the woman was very beautiful. Therefore, the king sent and inquired who the woman might be. And it was reported to him that she was Bathsheba, the daughter of Eliam, the wife of Uriah, the Hittite.

And so, David sent messengers, and he took her. And when she had entered to him, he slept with her. And presently, she was purified from her uncleanness. And she returned to her house, having conceived an unborn child.
Then the Lord sent Nathan to David. And when he had come to him, he said to him: “Two men were in one city: one wealthy, and the other poor. 12:2 The wealthy man had very many sheep and oxen. 12:3 But the poor man had nothing at all, except one little sheep, which he had bought and nourished. And she had grown up before him, together with his children, eating from his bread, and drinking from his cup, and sleeping in his bosom. And she was like a daughter to him. 12:4 But when a certain traveler had come to the wealthy man, neglecting to take from his own sheep and oxen, so that he might present a feast for that traveler, who had come to him, he took the sheep of the poor man, and he prepared a meal for the man who had come to him.” 12:5 Then David’s indignation was enraged exceedingly against that man, and he said to Nathan: “As the Lord lives, the man who has done this is a son of death. 12:6 He shall restore the sheep fourfold, because he did this word, and he did not take pity.” 12:7 But Nathan said to David: “You are that man. Thus says the Lord, the God of Israel: ‘I anointed you as king over Israel, and I rescued you from the hand of Saul. 12:8 And I gave the house of your lord to you, and the wives of your lord into your bosom. And I gave the house of Israel and of Judah to you. And as if these things were small, I shall add much greater things to you. 12:9 Therefore, why have you despised the word of the Lord, so that you did evil in my sight? You have struck down Uriah the Hittite with the sword. And you have taken his wife as a wife for yourself. And you have put him to death with the sword of the sons of Ammon. 12:10 For this reason, the sword shall not withdraw from your house, even perpetually, because you have despised me, and you have taken the wife of Uriah the Hittite, so that she may be your wife.’” 12:11 And so, thus says the Lord: ‘Behold, I will raise up over you an evil from your own house. And I will take your wives away before your eyes, and I will give them to your neighbor. And he will sleep with your wives in the sight of this sun. 12:12 For you acted secretly. But I will do this word in the sight of all of Israel, and in the sight of the sun.’” 12:13 And David said to Nathan, “I have sinned against the Lord.” And Nathan said to David: “The Lord has also taken away your sin. You shall not die. 12:14 Yet truly, because you have given occasion to the enemies of the Lord to blaspheme, because of this word, the son who was born to you: dying he shall die.” 12:15 And Nathan returned to his own house. And the Lord struck the little one, whom the wife of Uriah had borne to David, and he was despaired of. 12:16 And David begged the Lord on behalf of the little one. And David fasted strictly, and entering alone, he lay upon the ground. 12:17 Then the elders of his house came, urging him to rise up from the ground. And he was not willing, nor would he eat a meal with them. 12:18 Then, on the seventh day, it happened that the infant died. And the servants of David were afraid to report to him that the little one had died. For they said: “Behold, when the child was still alive, we were speaking to him, but he would not listen to our voice. How much more will he afflict himself, if we tell him that the boy is dead?” 12:19 But when David had seen his servants whispering, he realized that the infant had died. And he said to his servants, “Is the child dead?” And they responded to him, “He is dead.” 12:20 Therefore, David rose up from the ground. And he washed and anointed himself. And when he had changed his clothing, he entered the house of the Lord, and he worshiped. Then he went to his own house, and he asked them to place bread before him, and he ate. 12:21 But his servants said to him: “What is this word that you have done? You fasted and were weeping, on behalf of the infant, while he was still alive. But when the boy was dead, you arose and ate bread.” 12:22 And he said: “While he was yet alive, I fasted and wept on behalf of the infant. For I said: Who knows if the Lord may perhaps give him to me, and let the infant live? 12:23 But now that he is dead, why should I fast? Would I be able to bring him back anymore? Instead, I will go to him. Yet truly, he will not return to me.” 12:24 And David consoled his wife Bathsheba. And entering to her, he slept with her. And she bore a son, and he called his name Solomon, and the Lord loved him. 12:25 And he sent, by the hand of Nathan the prophet, and he called his name, Beloved of the Lord, because the Lord loved him. 12:26 And then Joab fought against Rabbah of the sons of Ammon, and he fought outside the royal city. 12:27 And Joab sent messengers to David, saying: “I have struggled against Rabbah, and so the City of Waters will soon be seized. 12:28 Now therefore, gather the remaining portion of the people together, and besiege the city and take it. Otherwise, when the city will have been laid waste by me, the victory will be ascribed to my name.” 12:29 And so David gathered together all the people, and he set out against Rabbah. And after he had fought, he seized it. 12:30 And he took the crown of their king from his head. The weight of it was a talent of gold, having the most precious gems. And it was placed upon the head of David. Moreover, he carried away the spoils of the city, which were very many. 12:31 Also, bringing forth its people, he sawed them, and he drove over them with iron wagons, and he divided them with knives, and he dragged them through brick kilns. So he did to all the citizens of the sons of Ammon. And David returned, with the entire army, to Jerusalem.
two little portions of food, so that I take it from her hand.” {13:7} Therefore, David sent home to Tamar, saying, “Come to the house of your brother Amnon, and make a small meal for him.” {13:8} And Tamar went into the house of her brother Amnon. But he was lying down. And taking flour, she mixed it. And dissolving it in his sight, she cooked little portions of food. {13:9} And taking what she had cooked, she poured it out, and she set it before him. But he refused to eat. And Amnon said, “Send everyone away from me.” And when they had sent everyone away, {13:10} Amnon said to Tamar, “Bring the food into the bedroom, so that I may eat from your hand.” Therefore, Tamar took the little portions of food that she had made, and she brought them to her brother Amnon in the bedroom. {13:11} And when she had presented the food to him, he took hold of her, and he said, “Come lie with me, my sister.” {13:12} She answered him: “Do not so, my brother! Do not force me. For no such thing must be done in Israel. Do not choose to do this senseless act. {13:13} For I will not be able to bear my shame. And you will be like one of the foolish in Israel. For it is better to speak to the king, and he will not deny me to you.” {13:14} But he was not willing to agree to her petition. Instead, prevailing by strength, he forced her, and he lay with her. {13:15} And Amnon held hatred for her with an exceedingly great hatred, so much so that the hatred with which he hated her was greater than the love with which he had loved her before. And Amnon said to her, “Rise up, and go away.” {13:16} And she answered him, “This evil is greater, which you are now doing against me in driving me away.” {13:17} And she sprinkled ashes upon her head, and she tore her ankle-length robe. And placing her hands upon her head, she went forth, walking and crying out. {13:18} Now she was cast her out, and he closed the door behind her. {13:19} And she went back, and she tore her ankle-length robe. And placing her hands upon her head, she went forth, walking and crying out. {13:20} Then her brother Absalom said to her: “Has your brother Amnon lain with you? But now, sister, be quiet. For he is your brother. And you should not afflict your heart because of this matter.” {13:21} And when king David had heard about these things, he was deeply grieved. But he was not willing to afflict the spirit of his son Amnon. For he loved him, since he was his firstborn. {13:22} Yet Absalom did not speak to Amnon, neither good nor evil. For Absalom hated Amnon because he had violated his sister Tamar. {13:23} Then, after the time of two years, it happened that the sheep of Absalom were being shorn in Baal-hazor, which is near Ephraim. And Absalom invited all the sons of the king. {13:24} And he went to the king, and he said to him: “Behold, the sheep of your servant are being shorn. I ask that the king, with his servants, may come to his servant.” {13:25} And the king said to Absalom: “Do not, my son, do not choose to ask that we may all come and be a burden to you.” Then, after he urged him, and he had refused to go, he blessed him. {13:26} And Absalom said, “If you are not willing to come, I beg you, at least let my brother Amnon come with us.” And the king said to him, “It is not necessary that he go with you.” {13:27} But Absalom pressed him, and so he sent with him Amnon and all the sons of the king. And Absalom made a feast, like the feast of a king. {13:28} Then Absalom commanded his servants, saying: “Observe when Amnon will have become drunk with wine. And when I say to you, ‘Strike and kill him!’ do not be afraid. For it is I who commands you. Be strong and valiant men.” {13:29} Therefore, the servants of Absalom acted against Amnon, just as Absalom had commanded them. And all the sons of the king rose up, and each one climbed upon his mule and fled. {13:30} And while they were still traveling on the journey, a rumor reached David, saying, “Absalom has struck down all the sons of the king, and there is not one of them remaining.” {13:31} And so the king rose up, and he tore his garments, and he fell upon the ground. And all his servants, who were standing near him, tore their garments. {13:32} But Jonadab, the son of Shimeah, David’s brother, responding, said: “My lord the king should not consider that all the sons of the king have been slain. Amnon alone is dead. For he was set against by the mouth of Absalom from the day that he raped his sister Tamar. {13:33} Now therefore, let not my lord the king set this word in his heart, saying, ‘All the sons of the king have been slain.’ For only Amnon is dead.” {13:34} Now Absalom fled. And the young man keeping watch, lifted up his eyes and gazed out. And behold, many people were arriving along a remote road at the side of the mountain. {13:35} And Jonadab said to the king: “Behold, the sons of the king are here. In accord with the word of your servant, so it has happened.” {13:36} And when he had ceased speaking, the sons of the king also appeared. And entering, they lifted up their voice, and they wept. And the king also, and all his servants, wept with an exceedingly great weeping. {13:37} But Absalom, fleeing, went to Talmai, the son of Ammihud, the king of Geshur. Then David mourned for his son every day. {13:38} Now after he had fled and had arrived in Geshur, Absalom was in that place for three years. And king David ceased to pursue Absalom, because he had been consoled over the passing of Amnon.

[2 Samuel 14] {14:1} Now Joab, the son of Zeruiah, understood that the heart of the king had been turned toward Absalom, {14:2} so he sent to Tekoa, and he brought from there a wise woman. And he said to her: “Feign that you are in mourning, and put on the clothing of one who mourns. And do not anoint yourself with oil, so that you may be like a woman who is still grieving for someone who died some time ago. {14:3} And you shall enter to the king, and you shall speak words to him in this manner.” Then Joab put the words in her mouth. {14:4} And so, when the woman of Tekoa had entered to the king, she fell before him on the ground, and she reverenced, and she said, “Save me, O king.” {14:5} And the king said to her, “What problem do you have?” And she responded: “Alas, I am a woman who is a widow. For my husband has died. {14:6} And your handmaid had two sons. And they quarreled against one another in the field. And there was no one there who would be able to stop them. And one struck the other, and killed him. {14:7} And behold, the whole family, rising up against your handmaid, said: ‘Deliver him who struck down his brother, so that we may kill him for the life of his brother, whom he killed, and so that we may do away with the heir.’ And they are seeking to extinguish my spark that is left, so that there may not survive a name for my husband, nor a remnant upon the earth.” {14:8} And the king said to the woman, “Go to your own house, and I will make a decree on your behalf.” {14:9} And the woman of Tekoa said to the king: “May the iniquity be upon me, my lord, and upon the house of my father. But may the king and his throne be innocent.” {14:10} And the king said, “Whoever will contradict you, bring him to me, and he will never touch you again.” {14:11} And she said, “Let the king remember the Lord his God, so that close blood relatives may not be multiplied in order to take revenge, and so that they may by no means kill my son.” And he said, “As the Lord lives, not one hair from your son shall fall to the ground.” {14:12} Then the woman said, “Let your handmaid speak a word to my lord the king.” And he said, “Speak.” {14:13} And the woman said: “Why have you thought such a thing against the people of God, and why has the king spoken this word, so that he sins and does not lead back the one whom he rejected? {14:14} We are all dying, and we are all like waters that flow into the ground and do not return. God does not will to lose a soul. Instead, he renews his efforts, thinking that what has been rejected might not perish altogether. {14:15} Therefore, now I have come to speak this word to my lord the king, in the presence of the people. And your handmaid said: I will speak to the king, for perhaps there may be some way for the king to accomplish the word of his handmaid. {14:16} And the king listened, and he freed his handmaid from the hand of all who were willing to take away me and my son together, from the inheritance of God. {14:17} Therefore, let your handmaid speak, so that the word of my lord the king may be like a sacrifice. For even like an Angel of God, so is my lord the king, so that he is moved by neither a blessing, nor a curse. Then too, the Lord your God is with you.” {14:18} And in response, the king said to the woman, “You shall not conceal from me a word of what I ask you.” And the woman said to him, “Speak, my lord the king.” {14:19} And the king said, “Is not the hand of Joab with you in all this?” And the woman answered and said: “By the welfare of your soul, my lord the king, it is neither to the left, nor to the right, in all these things that my lord the king has spoken. For your servant Joab himself instructed me, and he himself placed all these words in the mouth of your handmaid. {14:20} Thus did I turn to this figure of speech, because your servant Joab instructed it. But you, my lord the king, are wise, just as an Angel of God has wisdom, so that you understand all that is upon the earth.” {14:21} And the king said to Joab: “Behold, your word has succeeded in appeasing me. Therefore, go and call back the boy Absalom.” {14:22} And falling to the ground upon his face, Joab reverenced, and he blessed the king. And Joab said: “Today your servant has understood that I have found grace in your sight, my lord the king. For you have accomplished the word of your servant.” {14:23} Then Joab rose up, and he went away to Geshur. And he brought Absalom into Jerusalem. {14:24} But the king said, “Let him return to his own house, but let him not see my face.” And so, Absalom returned to his own house, but he did not see the face of the king. {14:25} Now in all of Israel, there was no man so handsome, and so very stately as Absalom. From the sole of the foot to the top of the head, there was no blemish in him. {14:26} And when he shaved off his hair, for he shaved it off once a year, because his long hair was burdensome to him, he weighed the hair of his head at two hundred shekels, by the public weights. {14:27} Then three sons were born to Absalom, and one daughter, of elegant form, whose name was Tamar. {14:28} And Absalom remained for two years in Jerusalem, and he did not see the face of the king. {14:29} And so, he sent to Joab, so that he might send him to the king. But he refused to come to him. And when he had sent a second time, and he had refused to come to him, {14:30} he said to his servants: “You know that the field of Joab, the one that is near my field, has a harvest of barley. Therefore, go and set it on fire.” And so, the servants of Absalom set fire to the grain field. And the servants of Joab, arriving with their garments torn, said, “The servants of Absalom have set fire to part of the field!” {14:31} And Joab rose up, and he went to Absalom at his house, and he said, “Why have your servants set fire to my grain field?” {14:32} And Absalom responded to Joab: “I sent to you, begging that you might come to me, and that I might send you to the king, and that you might say to him: ‘Why was I brought from Geshur? It would have been better for me to be there.’ I beg you, therefore, that I may see the face of the king. And if he is mindful of my iniquity, let him put me to death.” {14:33} And so, Joab, entering to the king, reported everything to him. And Absalom was summoned. And he entered to the king, and he reverenced on the face of the earth. And the king kissed Absalom.

[2 Samuel 15] {15:1} Then, after these things, Absalom obtained for himself chariots, and horsemen, and fifty men who went before him. {15:2} And rising up in the morning, Absalom was standing beside the entrance of the gate. And when there was any man who had a dispute that might go before the king's judgment, Absalom would call him to him, and would say, “Which city are you from?” And responding, he would say, “I am your servant, from a certain tribe of Israel.” {15:3} And Absalom would answer him: “Your words seem good and just to me. But there is no one appointed by the king to hear you.” And Absalom would say: {15:4} “Who may appoint me judge over the land, so that all those who have a dispute might come to me, and I might judge justly.” {15:5} Then too, when a man would draw near to him, so that he might greet him, he would extend his hand, and taking hold of him, he would kiss him. {15:6} And he was doing this to all those of Israel arriving for judgment to be heard by the king. And he solicited the hearts of the men of Israel. {15:7} Then, after forty years, Absalom said to king David: “I should go and pay my vows, which I have vowed to the Lord at Hebron.” {15:8} For your servant made a vow, when he was in Geshur of Syria, saying: If the Lord will lead me back to Jerusalem, I will sacrifice to the Lord. {15:9} And king David said to him, “Go in peace.” And he rose up and went away to Hebron. {15:10} They Absalom sent scouts into all the tribes of Israel, saying: “As soon as you hear the blare of the trumpet, say: ‘Absalom reigns in Hebron.’ ” {15:11} Now having been called, two hundred men from Jerusalem went forth with Absalom, going in simplicity of heart and being entirely ignorant of the plan. {15:12} Absalom also summoned Ahithophel the Gilonite, a counselor of David, from his city, Giloh. And when he was immolating victims, a very strong oath was sworn, and the people, hurrying together, joined with Absalom. {15:13} Then a messenger went to David, saying, “With their whole heart, all of Israel is following Absalom.” {15:14} And David said to his servants, who were with him in Jerusalem: “Rise up, let us flee! For otherwise there will be no escape for us from the face of Absalom. Hurry to depart, lest perhaps, upon arriving, he may seize us, and force ruin upon us, and strike the city with the edge of the sword.” {15:15} And the servants of the king said to him, “Everything whatsoever that our lord the king will command, we your servants shall carry out willingly.” {15:16} Therefore, the king departed, with his entire household on foot. And the king left behind ten women of the concubines to care for the house. {15:17} And having gone forth on foot, the king and all of Israel stood at a distance from the house. {15:18} And all his servants were walking beside him. And the legions of the Cherethites and Phelethites, and all the Gittites, powerful fighters, six hundred men who had followed him from Gath on foot, were preceding the king. {15:19} Then the king said to Ittai the Gittite: “Why do you come with us? Return and live with the king. For you are a stranger, and you departed from your own place. {15:20} You arrived yesterday. And today should you be compelled to go away with us? For I should go to the place where I am going. But you should return, and lead your own brothers back with you. And the Lord will show mercy and truth to you, because you have shown grace and faith.” {15:21} And Ittai responded to the king, by saying, “As the Lord lives, and as my lord the king lives, in whatever place you will be, my lord the king, whether in death or in life, your servant will be there.” {15:22} And David said to Ittai, “Come, and pass over.” And Ittai the Gittite passed over, and all the men who were with him, and the rest of the multitude. {15:23} And they all wept with a great voice, and all the people passed over. The king also passed over the torrent Kidron. And all the people advanced opposite the way which looks out toward the desert. {15:24} Now Zadok the priest also went, and all the Levites went with him, carrying the ark of the covenant of God. And they set down the ark of God. And Abiathar went up, until all the people who had departed from the city had gone by. {15:25} And the king said to Zadok: “Carry back the ark of God into the city. If I shall find grace in the sight of the Lord, he will lead me back. And he will show it to me in his tabernacle. {15:26} But if he will say to me, ‘You are not pleasing,’ I am ready. Let him do whatever is good in his own sight.” {15:27} And the king said to Zadok the priest: “O seer, return into the city in peace. And let your son Ahimaaz, and Jonathan, the son of Abiathar, your two sons, be with you. {15:28} Behold, I will hide in the plains of the desert, until word from you may arrive to inform me.” {15:29} Therefore, Zadok and Abiathar carried back the ark of God into Jerusalem, and they remained there. {15:30} But David ascended to the Mount of Olives, climbing and weeping, advancing with bare feet and with his head covered. Moreover, all the people who were with him ascended, weeping with their heads covered. {15:31} Then it was reported to David that Ahithophel also had joined in swearing with Absalom. And David said, “O Lord, I beg you, to uncover the foolishness of the counsel of Ahithophel.” {15:32} And when David had ascended to the summit of the mountain, where he was going to adore the Lord, behold Hushai the Archite met him, with his garment torn and his head covered with soil. {15:33} And David said to him: “If you come with me, you will be a burden to me. {15:34} But if you return to the city, and you say to Absalom, ‘I am your servant, O king, just as I have been the servant of your father, so too will I be your servant,’ you will destroy the counsel of Ahithophel {15:35} And you have with you the priests Zadok and Abiathar. And any word whatsoever that you will hear from the house of the king, you shall reveal it to Zadok and Abiathar, the priests. {15:36} Now with them are their two sons Ahimaaz, the son of Zadok, and Jonathan, the son of Abiathar. And you shall send to me by them every word that you will have heard.” {15:37} Therefore, Hushai, the friend of David, went into the city. And Absalom also entered into Jerusalem.

[2 Samuel 16] {16:1} And when David had passed a little beyond the top of the mountain, Ziba, the servant of Mephibosheth, appeared to meet him, with two donkeys, which were burdened with two hundred loaves, and one hundred bunches of dried grapes, and one hundred masses of dried figs, and a skin of wine. {16:2} And the king said to Ziba, “What do you intend to do with these things?” And Ziba responded: “The donkeys are for the household of the king, so that they may sit. And the loaves and dried figs are for your servants to eat. But the wine is for anyone to drink who may be faint in the desert.” {16:3} And the king said, “Where is the son of your lord?” And Ziba answered the king: “He remained in Jerusalem, saying, ‘Today, the house of Israel will restore the kingdom of my father to me.’ ” {16:4} And the king said to Ziba, “All the things which were for Mephibosheth are now yours.” And Ziba said, “I beg you that I may find grace before you, my lord the king.” {16:5} Then king David went as far as Bahurim. And behold, a man from the kindred of the house of Saul, named Shimei, the son of Gera, went out from there. And going out, he continued on, and he was cursing, {16:6} and throwing stones against David and against all the servants of king David. And all the people and all the warriors were traveling to the right and to the left sides of the king. {16:7} And so, as he was cursing the king, Shimei said: “Go away, go away, you man of blood, and you man of Belial! {16:8} The Lord has repaid you for all the blood of the house of Saul. For you have usurped the kingdom in place of him. And so, the Lord has given the kingdom into the hand of Absalom, your son. And behold, your evils press close upon you, because you are a man of blood.” {16:9} Then Abishai, the son of Zeruiah, said to the king: “Why should this dead dog curse my lord the king? Let me go and cut off his head.” {16:10} And the king said: “What is it to me and to all of you, O sons of Zeruiah? Permit him, so that he may curse. For the Lord has commanded him to curse David. And who is the one who would dare to say, ‘Why has he done so?’ ” {16:11} And the king said to Abishai and to all his servants: “Behold, my son, who went forth from my loins, is seeking my life. How much more does a son of Benjamin do so now? Permit him, so that he may curse, in accord with the command of the Lord. {16:12} Perhaps the Lord may look with favor upon my affliction, and the Lord may repay me good, in place of the cursing of this day.” {16:13} And so, David continued walking along the way, and his associates with him. But Shimei was advancing along the ridge of the mountain on the side opposite him, cursing and throwing stones at him, and scattering dirt. {16:14} And the king and the entire people with him, being weary, went and refreshed themselves there. {16:15} But Absalom and all his people entered into Jerusalem. Moreover, Ahithophel was with him.
[2 Samuel 17] {17:1} Then Ahithophel said to Absalom: “I will choose for myself twelve thousand men, and rising up, I will pursue David this night. {17:2} And rushing against him, for he is weary and has weakened hands, I will strike him. And when all the people who are with him will have fled, I will strike down the king in isolation. {17:3} And I will lead back the entire people, returning in the manner of one man. For you are seeking only one man. And all the people shall be in peace.” {17:4} And this word pleased Absalom and all those greater by birth of Israel. {17:5} But Absalom said, “Summon Hushai the Archite, and let us hear what he also may say.” {17:6} And when Hushai had gone to Absalom, Absalom said to him: “Ahithophel has spoken a word in this manner. Should we do it or not? What counsel do you give?” {17:7} And Hushai said to Absalom, “The counsel that Ahithophel has given at this time is not good.” {17:8} And again Hushai declared, “You know your father, and the men who are with him, to be very strong and bitter in soul, comparable to a bear raging in the forest when her young have been taken away. Moreover, your father is a man of war, and so he will not live among the people. {17:9} Perhaps now he hides in pits, or in another place, wherever he wills. And if by chance, in the beginning, anyone may fall, whoever hears about it, no matter what he has heard, will say, ‘There is a slaughter among the people who were following Absalom.’” {17:10} And even the very strong, whose heart is like the heart of a lion, will be weakened out of fear. For all the people of Israel know your father to be a valiant man, and that all who are with him are robust. {17:11} But this seems to me to be the right counsel: Let all of Israel be gathered to the Lord, and if he will enter into any city, all of Israel shall encircle that city with ropes. And we will pull it into the torrent, so that there may not be found even one small stone from it.” {17:12} And Absalom, with all the men of Israel, said: “The counsel of Hushai the Archite is better than the counsel of Ahithophel.” So, by an act of the Lord, the useful counsel of Ahithophel was defeated, in order that the Lord might lead evil over Absalom. {17:15} And Hushai said to the priests, Zadok and Abiathar: “Ahithophel gave counsel to Absalom and to the elders of Israel in this and that manner. And I gave counsel in such and such a manner. {17:16} Now therefore, send quickly, and report to David, saying: ‘You shall not stay this night in the plains of the desert. Instead, without delay, go across. Otherwise the king may be engulfed, and all the people who are with him.’” {17:17} But Jonathan and Ahimaaz remained beside the Fountain of Rogel. And a handmaid went away and reported it to them. And they set out, so that they might carry the report to king David. For they could not be seen, nor enter into the city. {17:18} But a certain young man saw them, and he revealed it to Absalom. Yet truly, they traveled quickly and entered into the house of a certain man in Bahurim, who had a well in his court, and they descended into it. {17:19} Then a woman took and spread a covering over the mouth of the well, as if drying hulled barley. And so the matter was hidden. {17:20} And when the servants of Absalom had entered into the house, they said to the woman, “Where is Ahimaaz and Jonathan?” And the woman responded to them, “They passed through hurriedly, after they had taken a little water.” But those who were seeking them, when they had not found them, returned to Jerusalem. {17:21} And when they had gone, they ascended from the well. And traveling, they reported to king David, and they said: “Rise up, and go across the river quickly. For Ahithophel has given a counsel of this kind against you.” {17:22} Therefore, David rose up, and all the people who were with him, and they crossed over the Jordan, until first light. And not even one of them was left behind who had not crossed over the river. {17:23} Then Ahithophel, seeing that his counsel had not been done, saddled his donkey, and he rose up and went away to his own house and to his own city. And putting his house in order, he killed himself by hanging. And he was buried in the sepulcher of his father. {17:24} Then David went to the encampment, and Absalom crossed over the Jordan, he and all the men of Israel with him. {17:25} Truly, Absalom appointed Amasa in place of Joab over the army. Now Amasa was the son of a man who was called Ithra of Jezreel, who entered to Abigail, the daughter of Nahash, the sister of Zeruiah, who was the mother of Joab. {17:26} And Israel made camp with Absalom in the land of Gilead. {17:27} And when David had arrived at the encampment, Shobi, the son of Nahash, from Rabbah, of the sons of Ammon, and Machir, the son of Ammiel of Lodebar, and Barzillai, the Gileadite of Rogelim, {17:28} brought to him bedding, and tapestries, and earthen vessels, and wheat, and barley, and meal, and cooked grain, and beans, and lentils, and fried chick peas, {17:29} and honey, and butter, sheep and fattened calves. And they gave these to David and to the people who were with him to eat. For they suspected that the people were faint with hunger and thirst in the desert. [2 Samuel 18] {18:1} And so David, having reviewed his people, appointed over them tribunes and centurions. {18:2} And he placed a third part of the people under the hand of Joab, and a third part under the hand of Abishai, the son of Zeruiah, the brother of Joab, and a third part under the hand of Ittai, who was from Gath. And the king said to the people, “I, too, will go forth with you.” {18:3} And the people responded: “You shall not go out. For if we flee, there will not be great concern in them for us. Or if one half part of us will fall, they will not care much. For you are considered as one for ten thousand. Therefore, it is better that you should be in the city to strengthen us.” {18:4} And the king said to them, “I will do whatever seems good to you.” Therefore, the king stood beside the gate. And the people went out by their troops, by hundreds and by thousands. {18:5} And the king ordered Joab and Abishai and Ittai, saying, “Preserve for me the boy Absalom.” And all the people heard the king commanding all the leaders on behalf of Absalom. {18:6} And so, the people departed into the field against Israel. And the battle took place in the forest of Ephraim. {18:7} And the people of Israel were cut down in that place by the army of David. And a great slaughter occurred on that day: twenty thousand men. {18:8} Now the battle in that place was dispersed over the face of all the land. And there were many more of the people whom the forest had consumed, than the sword had devoured, on that day. {18:9} Then it happened that Absalom, riding on a mule, met the servants of David. And when the mule had entered under a thick and large oak tree, his head became trapped in the oak. And while he was suspended between heaven and earth, the mule on which he had been sitting continued on. {18:10} Then a certain one saw this and reported it to Joab, saying, “I saw Absalom hanging from an oak.” {18:11} And Joab said to the man who had reported it to him, “If you saw him, why did you not stab him to the ground, and I would have given you ten shekels of silver and a belt?” {18:12} And he said to Joab: “Even if you weighed out to my hands one thousand silver coins, I would never lay my hands on the son for evil, be as the boy is.” {18:13} Then too, if I had acted with such audacity, against my own life, this would never have been able to be hidden from the king. And would you then have stood by my side?” {18:14} And Joab said, “It will not be as you wish. Instead, I will be assailing him in your sight.” Then he took three lances in his hand, and he fixed them in the heart of Absalom. And while he was still clinging to life upon the oak, {18:15} ten young men, armor bearers of Joab, ran up, and striking him, they killed him. {18:16} Then Joab sounded the trumpet, and he held back the people, lest they pursue Israel in their flight, for he was willing to spare the multitude. {18:17} And they took Absalom, and they threw him into a great pit in the forest. And they piled an exceedingly great heap of stones over him. But all of Israel fled to their own tents. {18:18} Now Absalom had raised up for himself, when he was still alive, a monument, which is in the Valley of the King. For he said, “I have no son, and so this shall be the memorial to my name.” And he called the monument by his own name. And it is called the Hand of Absalom, even to this day. {18:19} Then Ahimaaz, the son of Zadok, said, “I will run and report to the king that the Lord has accomplished judgment for him, from the hand of his enemies.” {18:20} And Joab said to him: “You shall not be the messenger on this day. Instead, you shall report on another day. I am not willing for you to give the report today, because the son of the king is dead.” {18:21} Then Joab said to Hushai, “Go, and report to the king what you have seen.” Hushai reverenced Joab, and he ran. {18:22} And Ahimaaz, the son of Zadok, said to Joab again, “What prevents me from running after Hushai also?” And Joab said to him: “Why do you want to run, my son? You would not be the bearer of good news.” {18:23} And he responded, “But what if I do run?” And he said to him, “Run.” Then Ahimaaz, running along a shorter way, passed Hushai. {18:24} Now David was sitting between the two gates. Truly, the watchman, who was at the summit of the gate upon the wall, lifting up his eyes, saw a man running alone. {18:25} And crying out, he told the king. And the king said, “If he is alone, there is good news in his mouth.” But as he was advancing and drawing nearer, {18:26} the watchman saw another man running. And so, crying out from the height, he said: “Another man has appeared, running alone.” And the king said, “This one also is a good messenger.” {18:27} Then the watchman said, “The running of the closest one seems like the running of Ahimaaz, the son of Zadok.” And the king said, “He is a good man, and he arrives bearing good news.” {18:28} Then, Ahimaaz, crying out, said to the king, “Be well, O king.” And reverencing the king prone on the ground before him, he said, “Blessed be the Lord your God, who has enclosed the men who had lifted up their hands against my lord the king.” {18:29} And the king said, “Is there peace for the boy Absalom?” And Ahimaaz said: “I saw a great tumult, O king, when your servant Joab sent me, your servant. I know nothing else.” {18:30} And the king said to him, “Pass, and stand here.” And when he had passed and stood still, {18:31} Hushai appeared. And approaching, he said: “I bear good news, my lord the king. For today the Lord has judged for you, from the hand of all who had risen up against you.” {18:32} But the king said to Hushai, “Is there peace for the boy Absalom?” And responding, Hushai said to him, “May the enemies of my lord the king, and all who rise against him for evil, be as the boy is.” {18:33} And so the king, being greatly saddened, ascended to the upper room of the gate, and he wept. And as he went, he was speaking in this manner: “My son Absalom! Absalom my son! Who can grant to me that I may die on your behalf? Absalom, my son! My son, Absalom!”

2 Samuel 19} {19:1} Now it was reported to Joab that the king was weeping and mourning for his son. {19:2} And so the victory on that day was turned into mourning for all the people. For the people heard it said on that day, “The king is grieving over his son.” {19:3} And the people declined to enter the city on that day, in the manner that the people were accustomed to decline if they had turned and fled from battle. {19:4} And the king covered his head, and he was crying out in a great voice: “My son, Absalom! Absalom, my son, my son!” {19:5} Therefore, Joab, entering to the king in the house, said: “Today you have shamed the faces of all your servants, who saved your life, and the lives of your sons and your daughters, and the lives of your wives, and the lives of your concubines. {19:6} You love those who hate you, and you hate those who love you. And you have revealed this day that you have no concern for your leaders and for your servants. And truly, I know now that if Absalom had lived, and if we all had been killed, then it would have pleased you. {19:7} Now then, rise up and go out, and speak so as to make amends to your servants. For I swear to you by the Lord that if you will not go forth, not even one person will be left with you this night. And this will be worse for you than all the evils that have come to you, from your youth even to the present.” {19:8} Therefore, the king rose up, and he sat at the gate. And it was announced to all the people that the king was sitting at the gate. And the entire multitude went before the king. But Israel fled to their own tents. {19:9} And all the people were conflicted, in all the tribes of Israel, saying: “The king has freed us from the hand of our enemies. He himself saved us from the hand of the Philistines. But now he flees from the land for the sake of Absalom. {19:10} But Absalom, whom we anointed over us, has died in the war. How long will you be silent, and not lead back the king?” {19:11} Then truly, king David sent to Zadok and Abiathar, the priests, saying: “Speak to those greater by birth of Judah, saying: ‘Why have you arrived last to lead back the king into his house? (For the talk in all of Israel had reached the king in his house.) {19:12} You are my brothers; you are my bone and my flesh. Why are you the last to lead back the king?’ {19:13} And say to Amasa: ‘Are you not my bone and my flesh? May God do these things, and may he add these other things, if you will not be the leader of the military in my sight, for all time, in the place of Joab.’ ” {19:14} And he inclined the heart of all the men of Judah, as if one man. And they sent to the king, saying, “Return, you and all your servants.” {19:15} And the king returned. And he went as far as the Jordan, and all of Judah went as far as Gilgal, so as to meet the king, and to lead him across the Jordan. {19:16} And Shimei, the son of Gera, the son of Benjamin, from Bahurim, hurried and descended with the men of Judah to meet king David, {19:17} with one thousand men from Benjamin, and with Ziba, the servant from the house of Saul. And with him were his fifteen sons and twenty servants. And going into the Jordan, {19:18} they crossed the fords before the king, so that they might lead across the house of the king, and might act in accord with his order. Then, Shimei, the son of Gera, protrasting himself before the king after he had now gone across the Jordan, {19:19} said to him: “May you not impute to me, my lord, the iniquity, nor call to mind the injuries, of your servant in the day that you, my lord the king, departed from Jerusalem. And may you not store it up in your heart, O king. {19:20} For as your servant, I acknowledge my sin. And for this reason, today, I arrive as the first from all the house of Joseph, and I descend to meet my lord the king.” {19:21} Yet truly, Abishai, the son of Zeruiah, responding, said, “Should not Shimei, because of these words, be killed, since he cursed the Christ of the Lord?” {19:22} And David said: “What is it to me and to all of you, O sons of Zeruiah? Why are you acting toward me this day like Satan? Why should any man be put to death on this day in Israel? Or do you not know that today I have been made king over Israel?” {19:23} And the king said to Shimei, “You shall not die.” And he swore to him. {19:24} And Mephibosheth, the son of Saul, descended to meet the king, with unwashed his feet and uncut beard. And he had not washed his garments from the day that the king had departed, until the day of his return in peace. {19:25} And when he had met the king at Jerusalem, the king said to him, “Why did you not go with me, Mephibosheth?” {19:26} And in response, he said: “My lord the king, my servant spurned me. And I, your servant, spoke to him so that he might saddle a donkey for me, and I might climb upon it and go with the king. For I, your servant, am lame. {19:27} Moreover, he also accused me, your servant, to you, my lord the king. But you, my lord the king, are like an Angel of God. Do whatever is pleasing to you. {19:28} For my father’s house was deserving of nothing but death before my lord the king. Yet you have placed me, your servant, among the guests of your table. Therefore, what just complaint might I have? Or what else can I cry out to the king?” {19:29} Then the king said to him: “Why are you still speaking? What I have spoken is fixed. You and Ziba shall divide the possessions.” {19:30} And Mephibosheth responded to the king, “But now let him take it all, since my lord the king has been returned peacefully into his own house.” {19:31} Likewise, Barzillai the Gileadite, descending from Rogelim, led the king across the Jordan, having prepared also to follow him beyond the river. {19:32} Now Barzillai the Gileadite was very old, that is, eighty years old. And he provided the king with sustenance when he was staying at the encampment. For indeed, he was an exceedingly rich man. {19:33} And so the king said to Barzillai, “Come with me, so that you may rest securely with me in Jerusalem.” {19:34} And Barzillai said to the king: “How many days remain in the years of my life, that I should go up with the king to Jerusalem? {19:35} Today I am eighty years old. Are my senses quick to discern sweet and bitter? Or is food and drink able to delight your servant? Or can I still hear the voice of men and women singers? Why should your servant be a burden to my lord the king? {19:36} I, your servant, shall proceed a little ways from the Jordan with you. I am not in need of this recompense. {19:37} But I beg you that I, your servant, may be returned and may die in my own city, and may be buried beside the sepulcher of my father and my mother. But there is your servant Chimham; let him go with you, my lord the king. And do for him whatever seems good to you.” {19:38} And so the king said to him: “Let Chimham cross over with me, and I will do for him whatever will be pleasing to you. And all that you ask of me, you shall obtain.” {19:39} And when the entire people and the king had crossed over the Jordan, the king kissed Barzillai, and he blessed him. And he returned to his own place. {19:40} Then the king went on to Gilgal, and Chimham went with him. Now all the people of Israel had led the king across, but only as much as one half part of the people of Israel were there. {19:41} And so, all the men of Israel, running to the king, said to him: “Why have our brothers, the men of Judah, stolen you away. And why have they led the king and his house across the Jordan, and all the men of David with him?” {19:42} And all the men of Judah responded to the men of Israel: “Because the king is nearer to me. Why are you angry over this matter? Have we eaten anything belonging to the king, or have any gifts been given to us?” {19:43} And the men of Israel responded to the men of Judah, and said: “I have the greater amount, ten parts, with the king, and so David belongs to me more so than to you. Why have you caused me injury, and why was it not announced to me first, so that I might lead back my king?” But the men of Judah answered more firmly than the men of Israel. [2 Samuel 20] {20:1} And it happened that there was, in that place, a man of Belial, whose name was Sheba, the son of Bichri, a man of Benjamin. And he sounded the trumpet, and he said: “There is no portion for us in David, nor any inheritance in the son of Jesse. Return to your own tents, O Israel.” {20:2} And all of Israel separated from David, and they were following Sheba, the son of Bichri. But the men of Judah clung to their king, from the Jordan as far as Jerusalem. {20:3} And when the king had entered his house at Jerusalem, he took the ten women concubines, whom he had left behind to care for the house, and he put them into custody, allowing them provisions. But he did not enter to them. Instead, they were enclosed, even until the day of their deaths, living as widows. {20:4} Then the king said to Amasa, “Summon to me all the men of Judah on the third day, and you shall be present also.” {20:5} Therefore, Amasa went away, so that he might summon Judah. But he delayed beyond the agreed time that the king had appointed to him. {20:6} And David said to Abishai: “Now Sheba, the son of Bichri, will afflict us more so than Absalom did. Therefore, take the servants of your lord, and pursue him, otherwise he may find fortified cities, and escape from us.” {20:7} And so, the men of Joab departed with him, along with the Cherethites and the Pelethites. And all the able-bodied men went out from Jerusalem to pursue Sheba, the son of Bichri. {20:8} And when they were beside the great stone, which is in Gibeon, Amasa came to meet them. Now Joab was wearing a close-fitting coat of equal length with his garment. And over these, he was girded with a sword hanging down to his thigh, in a scabbard which was made so that the sword could be removed with the least motion, and then strike. {20:9} Then Joab said to Amasa, “Be well, my brother.” And he held Amasa by the chin with his right hand, as if to kiss him. {20:10} But Amasa did not notice the sword that Joab had. And he struck him in the side, and his intestines poured out to the ground. And he did not inflict a second wound, and he died. Then Joab and his brother Abishai pursued Sheba, the son of Bichri. {20:11} Meanwhile, certain men, from the company of Joab, when they had stopped beside the dead body of Amasa, said: “Behold, the one who wished to be in the place of Joab, the companion of David.” {20:12} Now Amasa was covered with blood, and was lying in the middle of the road. A certain man saw this, with all the people standing nearby to look at him, and he removed Amasa from the road into a field. And he covered him with a garment, so that those passing by would not stop because of him. {20:13} Then, when he had been removed from the road, all the men continued on, following Joab in the pursuit of Sheba, the son of Bichri. {20:14} Now he had passed through all the tribes of Israel into Abel and Bethmaacah. And all the elect men had gathered together to him. {20:15} And so, they went and besieged him at Abel and Bethmaacah. And they surrounded the city with siege works, and the city was blockaded. Then the entire crowd who were with Joab strove to destroy the walls. {20:16} And a wise woman exclaimed from the city: “Listen, listen, and say to Joab: Draw near, and I will speak with you.” {20:17} And when he had drawn near to her, she said to him, “Are you Joab?” And he responded, “I am.” And she spoke in this way to him, “Listen to the words of your handmaid.” He responded, “I am listening.” {20:18} And again she spoke: “A word was said in the old proverb, ‘Those who would inquire, let them inquire in Abel.’ And so they would reach a word was said in the old proverb, ‘Those who would inquire, let them inquire in Abel.’ And so they would reach a

[2 Samuel 21] {21:1} And a famine occurred, during the days of David, for three years continuously. And David consulted the oracle of the Lord. And the Lord said: “This is because of Saul, and his house of bloodshed. For he killed the Gibeonites.” {21:2} Therefore, the king, calling for the Gibeonites, spoke to them. Now the Gibeonites were not of the sons of Israel, but were the remnant of the Amorites. And the sons of Israel had sworn an oath to them, but Saul wished to strike them in zeal, as if on behalf of the sons of Israel and Judah. {21:3} Therefore, David said to the Gibeonites: “What shall I do for you? And what shall be your satisfaction, so that you may bless the inheritance of the Lord?” {21:4} And the Gibeonites said to him: “There is no quarrel for us over silver or gold, but against Saul and against his house. And we do not desire that any man of Israel be put to death.” The king said to them, “Then what do you wish that I should do for you?” {21:5} And they said to the king: “The man who unjustly afflicted and oppressed us, we ought to destroy in such manner that not even one of his stock may be left behind in all the parts of Israel. {21:6} Let seven men from his sons be given to us, so that we may crucify them to the Lord in Gibeon of Saul, formerly the chosen place of the Lord.” And the king said, “I will give them.” {21:7} But the king spared Mephibosheth, the son of Jonathan, the son of Saul, because of the oath of the Lord which had been made between David and Jonathan, the son of Saul, and the bones of his son Jonathan, from the men of Jabesh Gilead, who had stolen them from the street of Bethshan, where the Philistines had suspended them after they had slain Saul at Gilboa. {21:13} And he brought the bones of Saul, and the bones of his son Jonathan, from there. And they collected the bones of those who had been crucified. {21:14} And they buried them with the bones of Saul and his son Jonathan, in the land of Benjamin, to the side of the sepulcher of his father Kish. And they did all that the king had instructed. And after these things, God showed favor again to the land. {21:15} Then the Philistines again undertook a battle against Israel. And David descended, and his servants with him, and they fought against the Philistines. But when David grew faint, {21:16} Ishbibenob, who was of the ancestry of Arapha, the iron of whose spear weighed three hundred ounces, who had been girded with a new sword, strove to strike down David. {21:17} And Abishai, the son of Zeruiah, defended him, and striking the Philistine, he killed him. Then David's men swore an oath to him, saying, “You shall no longer go out to war with us, lest you extinguish the lamp of Israel.” {21:18} Also, a second war occurred in Gob against the Philistines. Then Sibbecai from Hushah struck down Saph, from the stock of Arapha, of the ancestry of the giants. {21:19} Then there was a third war in Gob against the Philistines, in which Aodeodatus, a son of the forest, a weaver from Bethlehem, struck down Goliath the Gittite, the shaft of whose spear was like the beam used by a cloth maker. {21:20} A fourth battle was in Gath. In that place, there was a lofty man, who had six digits on each hand and each foot, that is, twenty-four in all, and he was from the origins of Arapha. {21:21} And he blasphemed Israel. So Jonathan, the son of Shimei, the brother of David, struck him down. {21:22} These four men were born of Arapha in Gath, and they fell by the hand of David and his servants.

[2 Samuel 22] {22:1} And David spoke to the Lord the words of this verse, in the day that the Lord freed him from the hand of all his enemies and from the hand of Saul. {22:2} And he said: “The Lord is my rock, and my strength, and my Savior. {22:3} I will hope in him. God is my strong one, my shield, and the horn of my salvation. He lifts me up, and he is my refreshment. You, O my Savior, will free me from iniquity. {22:4} I will call upon the Lord, who is praiseworthy; and I will be saved from my enemies. {22:5} For the pangs of death have encircled me. The torrents of Belial have terrified me. {22:6} The ropes of Hell have encompassed me. The snares of death have intercepted me. {22:7} In my tribulation, I will call upon the Lord, and I will cry out to my God. And he will heed my voice from his temple, and my outcry will reach his ears. {22:8} The earth was shaken, and it quaked. The foundations of the mountains were struck together and violently shaken, because he was angry with them. {22:9} Smoke ascends from his nostrils, and fire from his mouth will devour; coals have been kindled by it. {22:10} He bent down the heavens, and it descended; and a fog was beneath his feet. {22:11} And he climbed upon the cherubim, and he flew; and he slid upon the wings of the wind. {22:12} He set darkness as a hiding place around himself, with waters sifted from the clouds of the heavens. {22:13} By means of the brightness of his glance, coals of fire were kindled. {22:14} The Lord will thunder from heaven; and the Most High will utter his voice. {22:15} He shot arrows, and he scattered them; lightning, and he consumed them. {22:16} And the overflow of the sea appeared, and the foundations of the globe were revealed, at the rebuke of the Lord, at the exhale of the breath of his fury. {22:17} He sent from on high, and he took me up. And he drew me out of many waters. {22:18} He freed me from my most powerful enemy and from those who had hated me. For they were too strong for me. {22:19} He went before me in the day of my affliction, and the Lord became my firmament. {22:20} And he led me out to a wide-open place. He freed me, because I was pleasing to him. {22:21} The Lord will reward me according to my justice. And he will repay me according to the clearness of my hands. {22:22} For I have kept to the ways of the Lord, and I have not acted impiously before my God. {22:23} For all his judgments are in my sight. And I have not removed his precepts from me. {22:24} And I shall be perfect with him. And I shall guard myself from my own iniquity. {22:25} And the Lord will recompense me according to my justice, and according to the clearness of my hands in the sight of his eyes. {22:26} With the holy one, you will be holy, and with the strong one, you will be perfect. {22:27} With the elect one, you will be elect, and with the perverse one, you will be perverse. {22:28} And you will bring to salvation the poor people, and you will humble the exalted with your eyes. {22:29} For you are my lamp, O Lord. And you, O Lord, will illuminate my darkness. {22:30} For in you, I will run girded. In my God, I will leap over the wall. {22:31} God, his way is immaculate; the eloquence of the Lord is an exacting fire. He is the shield of all who hope in him. {22:32} Who is God except the Lord? And who is strong except our God? {22:33} God, he has girded me with fortitude, and he has made my way perfect: {22:34} making my feet like the feet of the stag, and stationing me upon my exalted places, {22:35} teaching my hands to do battle, and making my arms like a bow of brass. {22:36} You have given me the shield of your salvation. And your mildness has multiplied me. {22:37} You will enlarge my steps under me, and my ankles will not fail. {22:38} I will pursue my enemies, and crush them. And I will not turn back, until I consume them. {22:39} I will consume them and break them apart, so that they cannot rise up; they will fall under my feet. {22:40} You have girded me with strength for the battle. Those who resisted me, you have bent down under me. {22:41} You have caused my enemies to turn their back to me; they have hatred for me, and I shall destroy them. {22:42} They will cry out, and there will be no one to save; to the Lord, and he will not heed them. {22:43} I will wipe them away like the dust of the earth. I will break them apart and crush them, like the mud of the streets. {22:44} You will save me from the contradictions of my people. You will preserve me to be the head of the Gentiles; a people I do not know shall serve me. {22:45} The sons of foreigners, who will resist me, at the hearing of the ear they will be obedient to me. {22:46} The foreigners flowed away, but they will be drawn together in their anguishs. {22:47} The Lord lives, and my God is blessed. And the strong God of my salvation shall be exalted. {22:48} God gives me vindication, and he casts down the peoples under me. {22:49} He leads me away from my enemies, and he lifts me up from those who resist me. You will free me from the iniquitous man. {22:50} Because of this, I will confess to you, O Lord, among the Gentiles, and I will sing to your name: {22:51} magnifying the salvation of his king, and showing mercy to David, his Christ, and to his offspring forever.”
[2 Samuel 23] {23:1} These are the last words of David. Now David, the son of Jesse, the man to whom it was appointed concerning the Christ of the God of Jacob, the preeminent psalmist of Israel said: {23:2} “The Spirit of the Lord has spoken through me, and his word was spoken through my tongue. {23:3} The God of Israel spoke to me, the Strong One of Israel spoke, the Ruler of men, the Just Ruler, in the fear of God, {23:4} like the first light of the morning as the sun is rising, when a morning without clouds glows red, and like plants springing forth from the earth after a rainfall. {23:5} But my house is not so great with God that he should undertake an eternal covenant with me, firm and fortified in all things. For he is the entirety of my salvation and the entirety of my will. And there is nothing of this which will not spring forth. {23:6} But all prevaricators shall be plucked out like thorns, yet they are not taken away by hands. {23:7} And if anyone wishes to touch them, he must be armed with iron and a wooden lance. And they shall be set ablaze and burned to nothing.” {23:8} These are the names of the valiant of David. Sitting in the chair was the wisest leader among the three; he was like a very tender little worm in a tree, who killed eight hundred men in one attack. {23:9} After him, there was Eleazar, the son of his paternal uncle, an Ahohite, who was among the three valiant men who were with David when they chastised the Philistines, and they were gathered together in battle there. {23:10} And when the men of Israel had gone up, he himself stood fast and struck down the Philistines, until his hand grew weak and stiff with the sword. And the Lord wrought a great salvation on that day. And the people who had fled returned to take up the spoils of the slain. {23:11} And after him, there was Shammah, the son of Agee, from Hara. And the Philistines gathered together at an outpost. For a field full of lentils was in that place. And when the people had fled from the face of the Philistines, {23:12} he stood fast in the middle of the field, and it was protected by him. And he struck down the Philistines. And the Lord wrought a great salvation. {23:13} And moreover, before this, the three who were leaders among the thirty descended and went to David at harvest time, in the cave of Adullam. But the camp of the Philistines was positioned in the Valley of the giants. {23:14} And David was in a stronghold. Moreover, there was a garrison of the Philistines at that time in Bethlehem. {23:15} Then David desired, and he said, “If only someone would give me a drink of the water from the cistern, which is in Bethlehem beside the gate!” {23:16} Therefore, the three valiant men burst into the encampment of the Philistines, and they drew water from the cistern of Bethlehem, which was beside the gate. And they brought it to David. Yet he was not willing to drink; instead, he poured it out to the Lord, {23:17} saying: “May the Lord be gracious to me, so that I may not do this. Should I drink the blood of these men who have set out to the peril of their own lives?” Therefore, he was not willing to drink. These things were accomplished by these three robust men. {23:18} Also Abishai, the brother of Joab, the son of Zeruiah, was first among the three. It was he who lifted up his spear against three hundred men, whom he killed. And he was renowned among the three, {23:19} and he was the noblest of the three, and he was their leader. But at first he did not attain to the three. {23:20} And Benaiah, the son of Jehoiada, a very strong man of great deeds, was from Kabzeel. He slew the two lions of Moab, and he descended and slew a lion in the middle of a den, in the days of snow. {23:21} He also killed an Egyptian who had a spear in his hand, a man worthy to behold. And yet he had gone down to him with only a staff. And he forced the spear from the hand of the Egyptian, and he killed him with his own spear. {23:22} Benaiah, the son of Jehoiada, accomplished these things. {23:23} And he was renowned among the three robust men, who were the most noble among the thirty. Yet truly, he did not attain to the three, until David made him his secret advisor. {23:24} Among the thirty were: Asahel, the brother of Joab, Elhanan, the son of his paternal uncle, from Bethlehem, {23:25} Shammah from Harod, Elika from Harod, {23:26} Helez from Palti, Ira, the son of Ikkesh, from Tekoa, {23:27} Abiezer from Anathoth, Mebunnai from Hushah, {23:28} Zalmon the Ahohite, Maharai the Netophathite, {23:29} Heleb, the son of Baana, also himself a Netophathite, Ittai, the son of Ribai, from Gibeah, of the sons of Benjamin, {23:30} Benaiah the Pirathonite, Hiddai from the Torrent Gaash, {23:31} Abialbon the Arbathite, Azmaveth from Beromi, {23:32} Eliahub from Shaalbon; the sons of Jashen, Jonathan, {23:33} Shammah from Orori, Ahiam, the son of Sharar, the Hararite, {23:34} Eliphelet, the son of Ahasbai, the son of Maacath, Eliam, the son of Ahithophel, the Gilonite, {23:35} Hezrai from Carmel, Paarai from Arbi, {23:36} Igal, the son of Nathan, from Zobah, Bani from Gad, {23:37} Zelek from Ammon, Naharai the Beerothite, the armor bearer of Joab, the son of Zeruiah, {23:38} Ira the Ithrite, Gareb also an Ithrite, {23:39} Uriah the Hittite: altogether thirty seven

[2 Samuel 24] {24:1} And the fury of the Lord was again kindled against Israel, and he stirred up David among them, saying: “Go, number Israel and Judah.” {24:2} And the king said to Joab, the leader of his army, “Travel through all the tribes of Israel, from Dan to Beersheba, and number the people, so that I may know their number.” {24:3} And Joab said to the king: “May the Lord your God increase your people, who are already great in number, and may he again increase them, one hundredfold, in the sight of my lord the king. But what does my lord the king intend for himself by this kind of thing?” {24:4} But the words of the king prevailed over the words of Joab and the leaders of the army. And so Joab and the leaders of the military departed from the face of the king, so that they might number the people of Israel. {24:5} And when they had passed across the Jordan, they arrived at Aroer, to the right of the city, which is in the Valley of Gad. {24:6} And they continued on through Jazer, into Gilead, and to the lower land of Hodasi. And they arrived in the woodlands of Dan. And going around beside Sidon, {24:7} they passed near the walls of Tyre, and near all the land of the Hivite and the Canaanite. And they went into the south of Judah, to Beersheba. {24:8} And having inspected the entire land, after nine months and twenty days, they were present in Jerusalem. {24:9} Then Joab gave the number of the description of the people to the king. And there were found of Israel eight hundred thousand able-bodied men, who might draw the sword; and of Judah, five hundred thousand fighting men. {24:10} Then the heart of David struck him, after the people were numbered. And David said to the Lord: “I have sinned greatly in what I have done. But I pray that you, O Lord, may take away the iniquity of your servant. For I have acted very foolishly." {24:11} And David rose up in the morning, and the word of the Lord went to Gad, the prophet and seer of David, saying: {24:12} "Go, and say to David: ‘Thus says the Lord: I present to you a choice of three things. Choose one of these, whichever you will, so that I may do it to you.’ " {24:13} And when Gad had gone to David, he announced it to him, saying: “Either seven years of famine will come to you in your land; or you will flee for three months from your adversaries, and they will pursue you; or there will be a pestilence in your land for three days. Now then, deliberate, and see what word I may respond to him who sent me.” {24:14} Then David said to Gad: “I am in great anguish. But it is better that I should fall into the hands of the Lord (for his mercies are many) than into the hands of men.” {24:15} And the Lord sent a pestilence upon Israel, from the morning until the appointed time. And there died of the people, from Dan to Beersheba, seventy thousand men. {24:16} And when the Angel of the Lord had extended his hand over Jerusalem, so that he might destroy it, the Lord took pity on the affliction. And he said to the Angel who was striking the people: “It is enough. Hold back your hand now.” And the Angel of the Lord was beside the threshing floor of Araunah the Jebusite. {24:17} And when he had seen the Angel cutting down the people, David said to the Lord: “I am the one who sinned. I have acted iniquitously. These ones who are the sheep, what have they done? I beg you that your hand may be turned against me and against my father’s house.” {24:18} Then Gad went to David on that day, and he said, “Ascend and construct an altar to the Lord on the threshing floor of Araunah the Jebusite.” {24:19} And David ascended in accord with the word of Gad, which the Lord had commanded to him. {24:20} And looking out, Araunah turned his attention to the king and his servants, passing toward him. {24:21} And going out, he adored the king, lying prone with his face to the ground, and he said, “What is the reason that my lord the king has come to his servant?” And David said to him, “So as to purchase the threshing floor from you, and to build an altar to the Lord, and to quiet the plague that rages among the people.” {24:22} And Araunah said to David: “May my lord the king offer and accept whatever is pleasing to him. You have oxen for a holocaust, and the cart and the yokes of the oxen to use for wood.” {24:23} All these things Araunah gave, as a king to a king. And Araunah said to the king, “May the Lord your God accept your vow.” {24:24} And in response, the king said to him: “It shall not be as you wish. Instead, I will purchase it from you at a price. For I will not offer to the Lord, my God, holocausts that cost nothing.” Therefore, David bought the threshing floor and the oxen for fifty shekels of silver. {24:25} And in that place, David built an altar to the Lord. And he offered holocausts and peace offerings. And the Lord was gracious to the land, and the plague was held back from Israel.

 The First Book of Kings **

[1 Kings 1] {1:1} Now king David had become elderly, and he had many days in his lifetime. And though he was covered with clothes, he was not warmed. {1:2} Therefore, his servants said to him: “Let us seek, for our lord the king, a young virgin. And let her stand before the king, and warm him, and sleep in his bosom, and provide warmth for our lord the king.” {1:3} And so they sought a beautiful young woman in all the parts of Israel. And they found Abishag, a Shunammite, and they led her to the king. {1:4} Now the girl was exceedingly beautiful. And she slept with the king, and she ministered to him. Yet truly, the king did not know her. {1:5} Then Adonijah, the son of Haggith, exalted himself, saying, “I shall reign!” And he appointed for himself chariots and horsemen, with fifty men who would run before him. {1:6} Neither did his father chastise him at any time, saying, “Why have you done this?” Now he, too, was very beautiful, the second in birth, after Absalom. {1:7} And he conferred with Joab, the son of Zeruiah, and with Abiathar, the priest, who gave assistance to the side of Adonijah. {1:8} Yet truly, Zadok, the priest, and Benaiah, the son of Jehoiada, and Nathan, the prophet, and Shimei and Rei, and the mature men of the army of David were not with Adonijah. {1:9} Then Adonijah, having immolated rams and calves and every kind of fat cattle beside the Stone of the Serpent, which was in the vicinity of the fountain Rogel, summoned all his brothers, the sons of the king, and all the men of Judah, the servants of the king. {1:10} But he did not summon Nathan, the prophet, and Benaiah, and all the mature men, and Solomon, his brother. {1:11} And so Nathan said to Bathsheba, the mother of Solomon: “Have you not heard that Adonijah, the son of Haggith, has begun to reign, and that our lord David is ignorant of this? {1:12} Now then, come, accept my counsel, and save your life and the life of your son Solomon. {1:13} Go and enter to king David, and say to him: ‘Did you not, my lord the king, swear to me, your handmaid, saying: “Your son Solomon shall reign after me, and he himself shall sit on my throne?” Then why does Adonijah reign?’ {1:14} And while you are still speaking with the king there, I will enter after you, and I will complete your words.” {1:15} And so Bathsheba entered to the king in the bedroom. Now the king was very old, and Abishag, the Shunammite, was ministering to him. {1:16} Bathsheba bowed herself, and she reverenced the king. And the king said to her, “What do you wish?” {1:17} And responding, she said: “My lord, you swore to your handmaid, by the Lord your God: ‘your son Solomon will reign after me, and he himself shall sit upon my throne.’” {1:18} And now behold, Adonijah reigns, while you, my lord the king, are ignorant of it. {1:19} He has slain oxen, and every kind of fattened cattle, and many rams. And he has summoned all the sons of the king, as well as Abiathar, the priest, and Joab, the leader of the military. But Solomon, your servant, he did not summon. {1:20} Truly now, my lord the king, the eyes of all of Israel look with favor upon you, that you may indicate to them who ought to sit upon your throne, my lord the king, after you. {1:21} Otherwise, this will be: when my lord the king sleeps with his fathers, I and my son Solomon will be as sinners.” {1:22} And while she was still speaking with the king, Nathan, the prophet, arrived. {1:23} And they announced to the king, saying, “Nathan, the prophet, is here.” And when he had entered in the sight of the king, and he had reverenced prone on the ground, {1:24} Nathan said: “My lord the king, did you say, ‘Let Adonijah reign after me, and let him sit upon my throne?’” {1:25} For today, he descended, and he immolated oxen, and fattened cattle, and many rams. And he summoned all the sons of the king, and the leaders of the army, along with Abiathar, the priest. And they are eating and drinking before him, and saying, 'As king Adonijah lives.' {1:26} But he did not summon me, your servant, and Zadok, the priest, and Benaiyah, the son of Jehoiada, and Solomon, your lowly servant. {1:27} Could this word have gone out from my lord the king, and could you not have revealed it to me, your servant, as to who would be seated upon the throne of my lord the king after him?" {1:28} And king David responded, saying, "Summon to me Bathsheba." And when she had entered before the king, and she had stood before him, {1:29} the king swore and said: "As the Lord lives, who has rescued my soul from all distress, {1:30} just as I swore to you by the Lord God of Israel, saying: 'Your son Solomon shall reign after me, and he himself shall sit upon my throne in my place,' so shall I do this day." {1:31} And Bathsheba, having lowered her face to the ground, revered the king, saying, "May my lord David live forever." {1:32} And king David said, "Summon to me Zadok, the priest, and Nathan, the prophet, and Benaiyah, the son of Jehoiada." And when they had entered before the king, {1:33} he said to them: "Take with you the servants of your lord, and place my son Solomon upon my mule. And lead him to Gihon. {1:34} And let Zadok, the priest, and Nathan, the prophet, anoint him in that place as the king over Israel. And you shall sound the trumpet, and you shall say, 'As king Solomon lives.' {1:35} And you shall ascend after him, and he shall arrive and shall sit upon my throne. And he himself shall reign in my place. And I will command that he be the ruler over Israel and over Judah." {1:36} And Benaiah, the son of Jehoiada, responded to the king, saying: "Amen. So says the Lord, the God of my lord the king. {1:37} In the same way that the Lord has been with my lord the king, so may he be with Solomon. And may he make his throne more sublime than the throne of my lord, king David." {1:38} Then Zadok, the priest, and Nathan, the prophet, descended, with Benaiyah, the son of Jehoiada, and the Cherethites and Pelethites. And they placed Solomon on the mule of king David, and they led him to Gihon. {1:39} And Zadok, the priest, took the horn of oil from the tabernacle, and he anointed Solomon. And they sounded the trumpet. And all the people said, "As king Solomon lives." {1:40} And the entire multitude ascended after him. And the people were playing on pipes, and rejoicing with great joy. And the earth resounded before the noise of them. {1:41} Then Adonijah, and all who had been summoned by him, heard it. And now the feast had ended. Then, too, Joab, hearing the voice of the trumpet, said, "Speak." And he said: {1:42} "What is the meaning of this clamor from the tumultuous city?" {1:43} And Jonathan, the son of Abiaiathar the priest, arrived. And Adonijah said to him, "Enter, for you are a valiant man, and you report good news." {1:44} And Jonathan answered Adonijah: "By no means. For our lord king David has appointed Solomon as king. {1:45} And he has sent with him Zadok, the priest, and Nathan, the prophet, and Benaiyah, the son of Jehoiada, and the Cherethites and Pelethites. And they have placed him on the mule of the king. {1:46} And Zadok, the priest, and Nathan, the prophet, have anointed him king, at Gihon. And they are ascending from there, rejoicing, and so the city resounds. This is the noise that you have heard. {1:47} But also, Solomon sits upon the throne of the kingdom. {1:48} And the servants of the king, entering, have blessed our lord king David, saying: 'May God amplify the name of Solomon above your name, and may he magnify his throne above your throne.' And the king reverenced from his bed. {1:49} Therefore, all those who had been summoned by Adonijah were terrified. And they all rose up, and each one went his own way. {1:50} Then Adonijah, fearing Solomon, rose up and went away. And he took hold of the horn of the altar. {1:51} And they reported to Solomon, saying: "Behold, Adonijah, fearing king Solomon, has taken hold of the horn of the altar, saying: 'May king Solomon swear to me this day that he will not put to death his servant with the sword.' " {1:52} And Solomon said: "If he is a good man, not so much as one hair of his head shall fall to the ground. But if evil is found in him, he shall die." {1:53} Therefore, king Solomon sent and brought him from the altar. And entering, he reverenced king Solomon. And Solomon said to him, "Go to your own house."
was mine, and that all of Israel had preferred me for themselves as king. But the kingdom was transferred, and has become my brother's. For it was appointed to him by the Lord. {2:16} Now therefore, I beg of you one petition. May you not confound my face.” And she said to him, “Speak.” {2:17} And he said: “I beg that you may speak to king Solomon, for he is not able to refuse anything to you, so that he may give Abishag the Shunammite to me as wife.” {2:18} And Bathsheba said: “It is well. I will speak to the king on your behalf.” {2:19} Then Bathsheba went to king Solomon, so that she might speak to him on behalf of Adonijah. And the king rose up to meet her, and he reverenced her, and he sat down upon his throne. And a throne was stationed for the mother of the king, and she sat at his right hand. {2:20} And she said to him: “I petition one small request from you. May you not confound my face.” And the king said to her: “Ask, my mother. For it is not right that I turn away your face.” {2:21} And she said, “Let Abishag the Shunammite be given to Adonijah, your brother, as wife.” {2:22} And king Solomon responded, and he said to his mother: “Why do you request Abishag the Shunammite for Adonijah? Why not request the kingdom for him! For he is your older brother, and he has Abiathar, the priest, and Joab, the son of Zeruiah.” {2:23} And so king Solomon swore by the Lord, saying: “May God do these things to me, and may he add these other things! For Adonijah has spoken this word against his own life. {2:24} And now, as the Lord lives, who has confirmed me and placed me upon the throne of my father David, and who, just as he said, has made a house for me: Adonijah shall be put to death this day.” {2:25} And king Solomon sent by the hand of Benaiah, the son of Jehoiada, who put him to death, and so he died. {2:26} Also, the king said to Abiathar the priest: “Go into Anathoth, to your own land, for you are a man worthy of death. But I will not put you to death this day, since you carried the ark of the Lord God before David, my father, and since you have endured hardship in all the things, for which my father labored.” {2:27} Therefore, Solomon cast out Abiathar, so that he would not be the priest of the Lord, so that the word of the Lord might be fulfilled, which he spoke over the house of Eli at Shiloh. {2:28} And the news came to Joab, for Joab had turned aside after Adonijah, and he had not turned aside after Solomon. And so, Joab fled into the tabernacle of the Lord, and he took hold of the horn of the altar. {2:29} And it was reported to king Solomon that Joab had fled into the tabernacle of the Lord, and that he was beside the altar. And Solomon sent Benaiah, the son of Jehoiada, who put him to death, and so he died. {2:30} And sending, he summoned Benaiah, the son of Jehoiada, and he appointed Zadok, the priest, in place of Abiathar. {2:31} And the Lord said to king Solomon: “You have shown great mercy to your servant David, my father, and you have given him a son offspring forever. But as for David, and his offspring and house, and his throne, may there be peace from the Lord, even unto eternity.” {2:33} And so Bathsheba, the son of Jehoiada, went up and, attacking him, put him to death. And he was buried in his own house in the desert. {2:35} And the king appointed Benaiah, the son of Jehoiada, in his place over the army. And he appointed Zadok, the priest, in place of Abiathar. {2:36} Also, the king sent for and summoned Shimei, and he said to him: “Build a house for yourself in Jerusalem, and live there. And do not depart from that place to here or to there. {2:37} For on whatever day you will have departed and crossed the torrent Kidron, know that you shall be put to death. Your blood will be upon your own head.” {2:38} And Shimei said to the king: “The word is good. Just as my lord the king has said, so will your servant do.” And so Shimei lived in Jerusalem for many days. {2:39} But it happened that, after three years, the servants of Shimei fled to Achish, the son of Maacah, the king of Gath. And it was reported to Shimei that his servants had gone away to Gath. {2:40} And Shimei rose up, and he saddled his donkey. And went away to Achish in Gath, in order to seek his servants. And he led them away from Gath. {2:41} And it was reported to Solomon that Shimei had gone away from Jerusalem to Gath, and had returned. {2:42} And sending, he summoned him, and he said to him: “Did I not testify to you by the Lord, and warn you in advance, ‘On whatever day, having departed, you go forth to here or to there, know that you shall die?’ And you responded to me, ‘The word that I have heard is good.’ {2:43} Then why have you not kept the oath to the Lord, and the commandment which I instructed you to?” {2:44} And the king said to Shimei: “You know all the evil, of which your heart is conscious, which you did to David, my father. The Lord has repaid your wickedness upon your own head.” {2:45} And king Solomon shall be blessed, and the throne of David shall be established before the Lord, even forever. {2:46} And so the king commanded Benaiah, the son of Jehoiada. And going out, he struck him down, and he died.

[1 Kings 3] {3:1} And so the kingdom was confirmed in the hand of Solomon, and he was joined with Pharaoh, the king of Egypt, by affinity. For he took his daughter, and he led her into the city of David, until he completed building his own house, and the house of the Lord, and the wall of Jerusalem all around. {3:2} But still the people immolated in the high places. For no temple had been built to the name of the Lord, even to that day. {3:3} Now Solomon loved the Lord, walking in the precepts of David, his father, except that he immolated in the high places, and he burned incense. {3:4} And so, he went away to Gibeon, so that he might immolate there; for that was the greatest high place. Solomon offered upon that altar, at Gibeon, one thousand victims as holocausts. {3:5} Then the Lord appeared to Solomon, through a dream in the night, saying, “Request whatever you wish, so that I may give it to you.” {3:6} And Solomon said: “You have shown great mercy to your servant David, my father, because he walked in your sight in truth and justice, and with an upright heart before you. And you have kept your great mercy for him, and you have given him a son sitting upon his throne, just as it is this day. {3:7} And now, O Lord God, you have caused your servant to reign in place of David, my father. But I am a small child, and I am ignorant of my entrance and departure. {3:8} And your servant is in the midst of the people that you have chosen, an immense people, who are not able to be numbered or counted because of their multitude. {3:9} Therefore, give to your servant a teachable heart, so that he may be able to judge your people, and to discern between good and evil. For who will be able to judge this people, your people, who are so many?" {3:10} And the word was pleasing before the Lord, that Solomon had requested this kind of thing. {3:11} And the Lord said to Solomon: "Since you have requested this word, and you have not asked for many days or for wealth for yourself, nor for the lives of your enemies, but instead you have requested for yourself wisdom in order to discern judgment: {3:12} behold, I have done for you according to your words, and I have given you a wise and understanding heart, so much so that there has been no one like you before you, nor anyone who will rise up after you. {3:13} But also the things for which you did not ask, I have given to you, namely wealth and glory, so that no one has been like you among the kings in the all days before. {3:14} And if you will walk in my ways, and keep my precepts and my commandments, just as your father walked, I will lengthen your days." {3:15} Then Solomon awakened, and he understood that it was a dream. And when he had arrived in Jerusalem, he stood before the ark of the covenant of the Lord, and he offered holocausts and made victims of peace offerings, and he held a great feast for all his servants. {3:16} Then two women harlots went to the king, and they stood before him. {3:17} And one of them said: "I beg you, my lord, I and this woman were living in one house, and I gave birth, with her in the room. {3:18} Then, on the third day after I gave birth, she also gave birth. And we were together, with no other person with us in the house, only the two of us. {3:19} Then this woman's son died in the night. For while sleeping, she smothered him. {3:20} And rising up in the silent depths of the night, she took my son from my side, while I, your handmaid, was sleeping, and she set him in her bosom. Then she placed her dead son in my bosom. {3:21} And when I had arisen in the morning, so that I might give milk to my son, he appeared to be dead. But gazing upon him more diligently in the light of day, I realized that he was not mine, whom I had born." {3:22} And the other woman responded: "It is not such as you say. Instead, your son is dead, but mine is alive." To the contrary, she said: "You are lying. For my son lives, and your son is dead." And in this manner, they were contending before the king. {3:23} Then the king said: "This one says, 'My son is alive, and your son is dead.' And the other responds, 'No, instead your son is dead, but mine lives.' " {3:24} Therefore the king said, "Bring a sword to me." And when they had brought a sword before the king, {3:25} he said, "Divide the living infant in two parts, and give a half part to the one and a half part to the other." {3:26} But the woman, whose son was alive, said to the king, for her heart was moved concerning her son, "I beg you, my lord, give the living infant to her, and do not kill him." To the contrary, the other said, "Let it be neither for me, nor for you, instead divide it." {3:27} The king responded and said: "Give the living infant to this woman, and do not kill it. For she is his mother." {3:28} Then all of Israel heard about the judgment that the king had judged, and they feared the king, seeing that the wisdom of God was in him to accomplish judgment. [1 Kings 4] {4:1} Now king Solomon was reigning over all of Israel. {4:2} And these were the leaders that he had: Azariah, the son of Zadok, the priest; {4:3} Eliphoreph and Ahijah, the sons of Shisha, the scribes; Jehoshaphat, the son of Ahilud, the keeper of records; {4:4} Benaiah, the son of Jehoiada, over the army; and Zadok, and Abiathar, priests; {4:5} Azariah, the son of Nathan, over those who were assisting the king; Zabud, the son of Nathan, the priest, the friend of the king; {4:6} and Ahishar, first ruler of the house; and Adoniram, the son of Abda, over the tribute. {4:7} And Solomon had twelve commanders over all of Israel, who offered yearly provisions for the king and his house. For each was ministering the necessities, by each month of the year. {4:8} And these are their names: Benhur, on mount Ephraim; {4:9} Bendeker, in Makaz, and in Shaalbim, and in Beth-shemesh, and in Elon, and in Beth-hanan; {4:10} Benhesed, in Arubboth: his was Sooch and the entire land of Heper; {4:11} Benabinadab, to whom was all of Naphath-Dor, who had Taphath, the daughter of Solomon, as wife; {4:12} Baana, the son of Ahilud, who was reigning in Taanach, and Megiddo, and all of Bethshean, which is beside Zarethan and below Jezerel, from Bethshean as far as Abelmeholah, opposite Jokmeam; {4:13} Bengeber, in Ramoth Gilead, who had the town of Jair, the son of Manasseh, in Gilead; the same was first in the entire region of Arglob; which is in Bashan, sixty great cities with walls that had bronze bars; {4:14} Ahinadab, the son of Iddo, who was first in Mahanaim; {4:15} Ahimaaz, in Naphthali, and he also had Basemath, the daughter of Solomon, in marriage; {4:16} Baana, the son of Hushai, in Asher and in Bealoth; {4:17} Jehoshaphat, the son of Paruah, in Issachar; {4:18} Shimei, the son of Ela, in Benjamin; {4:19} Gerber, the son of Uri, in the land of Gilead, in the land of Sihon, king of the Amorites, and of Og, king of Bashan, over all who were in that land. {4:20} And Judah and Israel were innumerable, like the sand of the sea in multitude: eating and drinking, and rejoicing. {4:21} Now Solomon had, in his dominion, all the kingdoms, from the river to the land of the Philistines, even to the border of Egypt. And they offered gifts to him, and they served him all the days of his life. {4:22} And the provisions of Solomon, for each day, were thirty cor of fine wheat flour, and sixty cor of meal, {4:23} ten fattened oxen, and twenty oxen from the pastures, and one hundred rams, aside from the venison of stags, roe deer, and gazelles, and fattened poultry. {4:24} For he had obtained the entire region which was beyond the river, from Tiphah as far as Gaza, and all the kings of those regions. And he had peace on every side all around. {4:25} And so, Judah and Israel were living without any fear, each one under his own vine and under his own fig tree, from Dan as far as Beersheba, during all the days of Solomon. {4:26} And Solomon had forty thousand stalls of chariot horses, and twelve thousand riding horses. {4:27} And the above-stated commanders of the king nourished these. And they also offered the necessities for the table of king Solomon, with immense diligence, each in his time. {4:28} Also, they brought barley and straw for the horses and beasts of burden, to the place where the king was, just as it was appointed to them. {4:29} And God gave wisdom to Solomon, and an exceedingly great prudence, and a spacious heart, like the sand which is on the shore of the sea. {4:30} And the wisdom of Solomon surpassed the wisdom of all the East, and of the Egyptians. {4:31} And he was wiser than all men: wiser than Ethan, the Ezrahite, and Heman, and Calcol, and Darda, the sons of Mahol. And he was renowned in all the nations on every side. {4:32} Solomon also spoke three thousand parables. And his verses were one thousand and five. {4:33} And he discoursed about trees, from the cedar which is in Lebanon, to the hyssop which grows out from the wall. And he explained about beasts, and birds, and reptiles, and fish. {4:34} And they came from all the peoples in order to hear the wisdom of Solomon, and from all the kings of the earth, who were hearing about his wisdom.

[1 Kings 5] {5:1} Hiram, the king of Tyre, also sent his servants to Solomon. For he heard that they had anointed him king in place of his father. Now Hiram had been a friend to David the entire time. {5:2} Then Solomon sent to Hiram, saying: {5:3} “You know the will of my father David, and that he was not able to build a house to the name of the Lord his God, because of the wars that were imminent all around him, until the Lord set them under the steps of his feet. {5:4} But now the Lord my God has given rest to me on all sides. And there is no adversary, nor occurrence of evil. {5:5} For this reason, I intend to build a temple to the name of the Lord my God, just as the Lord spoke to my father David, saying: ‘Your son, whom I will set in your place, upon your throne, he himself shall build a house to my name.’” {5:6} Therefore, order that your servants may cut down for me cedars from Lebanon. And let my servants be with your servants. Then I will give to you, for the wages of your servants, whatever you will ask. For you know that there is not a man among my people who knows how to cut wood as well as the Sidonians.” {5:7} Therefore, when Hiram had heard the words of Solomon, he rejoiced greatly, and he said, “Blessed be the Lord God this day, who gave to David a very wise son over this numerous people!” {5:8} And Hiram sent to Solomon, saying: “I have heard the things that you would entrust to me. And I will do your whole will concerning the cedar trees and spruce trees. {5:9} My servants shall bring them down from Lebanon to the sea. And I will arrange them together as rafts on the sea, as far as the place that you will indicate to me. And I will land them there, and you will take them. And you shall offer to me what is necessary to give food to my house.” {5:10} And so, Hiram gave to Solomon cedar trees and spruce trees, in accord with his whole will. {5:11} Then Solomon offered to Hiram twenty thousand cor of wheat, as food for his house, and twenty cor of the purest oil. These things Solomon gave as a tribute to Hiram every year. {5:12} And the Lord gave wisdom to Solomon, just as he said to him. And there was peace between Hiram and Solomon, and the two struck a pact. {5:13} And king Solomon chose workers from all of Israel, and the conscription was of thirty thousand men. {5:14} And he sent them into Lebanon, ten thousand each month, in turns, so that for two months they were in their own houses. And Adoniram was over this type of conscription. {5:15} And Solomon had seventy thousand of those who were carrying burdens, and eighty thousand of those who cut stones from the mountain, {5:16} aside from the commanders who were over each work, in number three thousand and three hundred, who gave orders to the people and to those who were doing the work. {5:17} And the king ordered them to bring great stones, precious stones, for the foundation of the temple, and to square them. {5:18} And these were shaped by the stoneworkers of Solomon and the stoneworkers of Hiram. And the men of Gebal also prepared the wood and the stones in order to build the house.

[1 Kings 6] {6:1} Then it happened that, in the four hundred and eightieth year after the sons of Israel departed from the land of Egypt, in the fourth year of the reign of Solomon over Israel, in the month of Ziv, which is the second month, the house of the Lord began to be built. {6:2} Now the house, which king Solomon was building to the Lord, was sixty cubits in length, and twenty cubits in width, and thirty cubits in height. {6:3} And a portico was before the temple, of twenty cubits in length, in accord with the measure of the width of the temple. And it had ten cubits of width before the face of the temple. {6:4} And he made oblique windows in the temple. {6:5} And upon the wall of the temple, he built panels on all sides, in the walls of the house around the temple and the oracle. And he made side chambers all around. {6:6} The flooring on the bottom level held five cubits in width, and the middle floor was six cubits in width, and the third floor held seven cubits in width. Then he positioned beams on the house all around the outside, in such a way that they would not be fastened to the walls of the temple. {6:7} Now the house, while it was being built, was made from cut and finished stones. And so, neither mallet, nor chisel, nor any tool of iron was heard in the house while it was being built. {6:8} The door at the side of the middle section was to the right of the house. And they would ascend along winding stairs to the middle level, and from the middle level to the third level. {6:9} And he built the house, and finished it. And he overlaid the house with boards of cedar. {6:10} And he built a paneling over the entire house, five cubits in height, and he covered the house with cedar wood. {6:11} And the word of the Lord came to Solomon, saying: {6:12} “Concerning this house, which you are building: if you will walk in my precepts, and carry out my judgments, and keep all my commandments, advancing by them, I will confirm my word to you, which I spoke to your father David. {6:13} And I will dwell in the midst of the sons of Israel, and I will not forsake my people Israel.” {6:14} And so, Solomon built the house, and finished it. {6:15} And he built the walls of the house, on the interior, with panels of cedar, from the floor of the house, to the top of the walls, and even to the ceiling. He covered it with cedar wood on the interior. And he overlaid the floor of the house with panels of spruce. {6:16} And he built panels of cedar, of twenty cubits, at the back part of the temple, from the floor even to the top. And he made the inner house of the oracle as the Holy of Holies. {6:17} And the temple itself, before the doors of the oracle, was forty cubits. {6:18} And the entire house was clothed with cedar on the interior, having its turnings and junctures artfully wrought, with carvings projecting outward. Everything was clothed with panels of cedar. And no stone at all was able to be seen in the wall. {6:19} Now he made the oracle in the middle of the house, in the inner part, so that he might station the ark of the covenant of the Lord there. {6:20} And the oracle held twenty cubits in length, and twenty cubits in width, and twenty cubits in height. And he covered and clothed it with the purest gold. Then, too, he cubits in length, and fifty cubits in width, and thirty cubits in height. {7:24} One wing of a cherub was five cubits, and the other wing of a cherub was five cubits, that is, having ten cubits from the summit of one wing even to the summit of the other wing. {7:25} Likewise, the second cherub was ten cubits. And the measure was equal and the work was one, in the two cherubim, {6:26} that is, one cherub had a height of ten cubits, and similarly the second cherub. {6:27} And he stationed the cherubim in the middle of the inner temple. And the cherubim extended their wings, and the wing of the one was touching the wall, and the wing of the second cherub was touching the other wall. But the other wings, in the middle of the temple, were touching each other. {6:28} He also overlaid the cherubim with gold. {6:29} And all the walls of the temple all around he engraved with diverse carvings and turnings. And he made in them cherubim, and palm trees, and various images, as if these were projecting out, and going forth from, the wall. {6:30} Then, too, the floor of the house he overlaid with gold within and without. {6:31} And at the entrance of the oracle, he made little doors, from wood of the olive tree, with posts of five corners. {6:32} And there were two doors, from wood of the olive tree. And he carved upon them pictures of cherubim, and images of palm trees, and very prominent figures. And he overlaid these with gold. And he covered the cherubim, as well as the palm trees and the other things, with gold. {6:33} And he made, at the entrance of the temple, posts from wood of the olive tree, with four corners, {6:34} and two doors, from wood of the spruce tree, on the other side. And each door was double, and so it opened by folding upon itself. {6:35} And he carved cherubim, and palm trees, and very prominent engravings. And he covered everything with gold plates, worked to be perfectly square. {6:36} And he built the inner atrium with three rows of polished stones, and one row of cedar wood. {6:37} In the fourth year, the house of the Lord was founded, in the month of Ziv. {6:38} And in the eleventh year, in the month Bul, which is the eighth month, the house was perfected in all its works and in all its equipment. And he built it for seven years.

[1 Kings 7] {7:1} Now Solomon built his own house for thirteen years, and he brought it to perfection. {7:2} And he built the house from the forest of Lebanon: one hundred cubits in length, and fifty cubits in width, and thirty cubits in height, with four walkways between columns of cedar. For he had hewn the cedar trees into columns. {7:3} And he clothed the entire vaulted room with panels of cedar. And it was supported by forty-five columns. Now one row held fifteen columns, {7:4} each positioned opposite another, {7:5} and looking toward one another, with equal spacing between the columns. And above the columns there were square beams equal in all things. {7:6} And he made a portico of columns, fifty cubits in length and thirty cubits in width, and another portico, facing the greater portico, with columns and with crossbeams upon the columns. {7:7} He also made the portico of the throne, in which is the tribunal. And he overlaid it with cedar wood, from the floor even to the summit. {7:8} And in the midst of the portico, there was a small house, where he would sit in judgment, similar in workmanship. He also made a house for the daughter of Pharaoh (whom Solomon had taken as wife) of the same work and type as this portico. {7:9} All was of precious stones, which had been sawed by a particular standard and measure, as much within as without, from the foundation even to the summit of the walls, and outside even to the great atrium. {7:10} Now the foundations were of precious stones: great stones of eight or ten cubits. {7:11} And above these, there were precious stones, of equal measure, which had been cut in a manner similar to boards of cedar. {7:12} And the great atrium was round, with three rows of cut stones and one row of cut cedar, even as it also was in the interior atrium of the house of the Lord, and in the portico of the house. {7:13} And king Solomon sent and brought Hiram of Tyre, {7:14} the son of a widowed woman, from the tribe of Naphtali, whose father was a Tyrian, an artisan in brass, and full of wisdom, and understanding, and knowledge in order to form every work of brass. And when he had gone to king Solomon, he wrought all his work. {7:15} And he cast two columns of brass. Each column was eighteen cubits in height, and a line of twelve cubits encompassed both columns. {7:16} Also, he made two heads of molten brass, which would be set upon the tops of the columns: one head was five cubits in height, and the other head was five cubits in height. {7:17} And there was something like a network of chains, woven together in a wonderful manner. Both heads of the columns were cast, and seven rows of little nets traversed one head, and seven little nets were on the other head. {7:18} And he finished the columns with two rows all around each network, so that these covered the heads, which were at the top, with pomegranates. And he did in like manner to the second head. {7:19} Now the heads that were at the top of the columns, in the portico of four cubits, had been fabricated with a work of lilies. {7:20} And again, there were other heads at the tops of the columns above, in accord with the measure of the column opposite the netting. And there were two hundred of the pomegranates, in rows around the second head. {7:21} And he stationed the two columns in the portico of the temple. And when he had stationed the column on the right, he called its name Jachin. Similarly, he erected the second column, and he called its name Boaz. {7:22} And above the tops of the columns, he set a work in the manner of lilies. And the work of the columns was perfected. {7:23} He also made a molten sea, of ten cubits from brim to brim, rounded on all sides. Its height was five cubits, and a thin rope of thirty cubits wrapped it all around. {7:24} And a sculpted work under the brim encircled it for ten cubits going around the sea. There were two rows cast of striated sculptures. {7:25} And it was standing upon twelve oxen, of which three were looking toward the north, and three toward the west, and three toward the south, and three toward the east. And the sea above was over them. And their posteriors were entirely hidden within. {7:26} And the basin was the thickness of three twelfths. And its brim was like the brim of a chalice, or like the outturned petal of a lily. It contained two thousand baths. {7:27} And he made ten bases of brass: each base was four cubits in length, and four cubits in width, and three cubits in height. {7:28} And the work itself of the bases was engraved; and there were sculptures between the junctures. {7:29} And between the little crowns and the edges, there were lions, and oxen, and cherubim; and similarly in the junctures above. And under the lions and oxen were something like bands of brass hanging down. {7:30} And each base had four wheels, with axels of brass. And at the four sides were something like little arms, under the cast basin, facing away from one another. {7:31} Also, the mouth of the interior of the basin was at the top of the head. And what was visible outside was of one cubit all around, and altogether it had one cubit and a half. Now at the corners of the columns were diverse engravings. And the spaces between the columns were square, not round. {7:32} And the four wheels, which were at the four corners of the base, were joined to one another under the base. The height of one wheel held one cubit and a half. {7:33} Now these were the kind of wheels such as are often made for a chariot. And their axels, and spokes, and tires, and centers were all cast. {7:34} And the four little arms, which were at each corner of a base, were cast and joined together as part of the base itself. {7:35} And at the summit of the base, there was a round stand of one half cubit, fabricated so that the basin could be placed upon it, having its engravings, and various sculptures of its own. {7:36} He also engraved those plates, which were of brass. And at the corners were cherubim, and lions, and palm trees, standing out, as if in the likeness of a man, so that they seemed not to be engraved, but placed adjacent on all sides. {7:37} In this manner, he made ten bases with the same casting and measure, and very similar engravings. {7:38} He also made ten hand basins of brass. One hand basin contained four baths, and was of four cubits. And each basin he set upon a base, which is ten bases. {7:39} And he stationed the ten bases, five to the right side of the temple, and five to the left. And the sea he placed to the right side of the temple, opposite the east, toward the south. {7:40} Then Hiram made cooking pots, and trays, and small hooks. And he completed all the work of king Solomon in the temple of the Lord: {7:41} the two columns, and the two cords of the heads over the tops of the columns, and the two networks which covered the two cords that were above the tops of the columns; {7:42} and the four hundred pomegranates for the two networks, two turnings of pomegranates for each network, in order to cover the cords of the heads, which were above the tops of the columns; {7:43} and the ten bases, and the ten basins on the bases; {7:44} and the one sea, and the twelve oxen under the sea; {7:45} and the cooking pots, and the trays, and the small hooks. All of the items that Hiram made for king Solomon, for the house of the Lord, were of golden brass. {7:46} In the open regions near the Jordan, the king cast these, in the clay soil between Succoth and Zarethan. {7:47} And Solomon positioned all the items. But because of its exceedingly great amount, the brass was not weighed. {7:48} And Solomon made all the furniture for the house of the Lord: the altar of gold, and the table of gold, upon which the bread of the presence would be placed; {7:49} and the gold lampstands, five to the right, and five to the left, opposite the oracle, of pure gold; and likenesses of lily blossoms, with lamps above them, of gold; and gold tongs; {7:50} and waters pots, and little forks, and bowls, and little mortars, and censers, of the purest gold; and the hinges of the doors, for the interior house of the Holy of Holies and for the doors of the house of the temple, which were of gold. {7:51} And Solomon perfected all the work that he was doing in the house of the Lord. And he brought in the things that his father David had sanctified: the silver, and the gold, and the vessels. And he stored these in the treasuries of the house of the Lord.

[1 Kings 8] {8:1} Then all those greater by birth of Israel, with the leaders of the tribes and the rulers of the families of the sons of Israel, gathered together before king Solomon at Jerusalem, so that they might carry the ark of the covenant of the Lord, from the city of David, that is, from Zion. {8:2} And all of Israel assembled before king Solomon, on the solemn day in the month of Ethanim, which is the seventh month. {8:3} And all the elders of Israel arrived, and the priests took up the ark. {8:4} And they carried the ark of the Lord, and the tabernacle of the covenant, and all the vessels of the Sanctuary, which were in the tabernacle; and the priests and the Levites carried these. {8:5} Then king Solomon, and the entire multitude of Israel, who had assembled before him, advanced with him before the ark. And they immolated sheep and oxen, which could not be numbered or estimated. {8:6} And the priests brought in the ark of the covenant of the Lord to its place, into the oracle of the temple, in the Holy of Holies, under the wings of the cherubim. {8:7} For indeed, the cherubim extended their wings over the place of the ark, and they protected the ark and its bars from above. {8:8} And since the bars projected outward, their ends were visible from without, in the Sanctuary before the oracle; but they were not visible farther outward. And they have been in that place even to the present day. {8:9} Now inside the ark, there was nothing other than the two tablets of stone, which Moses had placed in it at Horeb, when the Lord formed a covenant with the sons of Israel, when they departed from the land of Egypt. {8:10} Then it happened that, when the priests had exited from the Sanctuary, a cloud filled the house of the Lord. {8:11} And the priests were unable to stand and minister, because of the cloud. For the glory of the Lord had filled the house of the Lord. {8:12} Then Solomon said: “The Lord has said that he would dwell in a cloud. {8:13} Building, I have built a house as your dwelling place, your most firm throne forever.” {8:14} And the king turned his face, and he blessed the entire assembly of Israel. For the entire assembly of Israel was standing. {8:15} And Solomon said: ‘Blessed is the Lord, the God of Israel, who spoke with his mouth to my father David, and who, with his own hands, has perfected it, saying: {8:16} ‘From the day when I led my people Israel away from Egypt, I did not choose any city out of all the tribes of Israel, so that a house would be built, and so that my name might be there. Instead, I chose David to be over my people Israel.’ {8:17} And my father David wanted to build a house to the name of the Lord, the God of Israel. {8:18} But the Lord said to my father David: ‘Since you have planned in your heart to build a house to my name, you have done well by considering this plan in your mind. {8:19} Yet truly, you shall not build a house for me. Instead, your son, who shall go forth from your loins, he himself shall build a house to my name.’ {8:20} The Lord has confirmed his word which he spoke. And so I stand in place of my father David, and I sit upon the throne of Israel, just as the Lord said. And I have built a house to the name of the Lord, the God of Israel. {8:21} And there I have appointed a place for the ark, in which is the covenant of the Lord that he struck with our fathers, when they went forth from the land of Egypt.”
{8:22} Then Solomon stood before the altar of the Lord, in the sight of the assembly of Israel, and he extended his hands toward heaven. {8:23} And he said: “Lord God of Israel, there is no God like you, in heaven above, nor on the earth below. You preserve covenant and mercy with your servants, who walk before you with all their heart. {8:24} You have fulfilled, for your servant David, my father, that which you said to him. With your mouth, you spoke; and with your hands, you completed; just this day proves. {8:25} Now therefore, O Lord God of Israel, fulfill, for your servant David, my father, that which you spoke to him, saying, 'There shall not be taken away from you a man before me, who may sit upon the throne of Israel, if only your sons will guard their way, so that they walk before me, just as you have walked in my sight.’ {8:26} And now, O Lord God of Israel, establish your words, which you spoke to your servant David, my father. {8:27} Is it, then, to be understood that truly God would dwell upon the earth? For if heaven, and the heavens of heavens, are not able to contain you, how much less this house, which I have built? {8:28} Yet look with favor upon the prayer of your servant and upon his petitions, O Lord, my God. Listen to the hymn and the prayer, which your servant prays before you this day, {8:29} so that your eyes may be open over this house, night and day, over the house about which you said, ‘My name shall be there,’ so that you may heed the prayer that your servant is praying in this place to you. {8:30} So may you heed the supplication of your servant and of your people Israel, whatever they will pray for in this place, and so may you heed them in your dwelling place in heaven. And when you heed, you will be gracious. {8:31} But if any man sins against his neighbor, and he has any kind of an oath by which he is bound, and he arrives because of the oath, before your altar in your house, {8:32} you will hear in heaven, and you will act and judge your servants, condemning the impious, and repaying his own way upon his own head, but justifying the just, and rewarding him in accord with his justice. {8:33} And if your people Israel will have fled from their enemies, because they have sinned against you, and doing penance and confessing to your name, shall arrive and pray and petition you in this house, {8:34} listen in heaven, and forgive the sin of your people Israel, and lead them back to the land, which you gave to their fathers. {8:35} And if the heavens have closed, so that there is no rain, because of their sins, and they, praying in this place, shall do penance to your name, and shall be converted from their sins, by occasion of their afflictions, {8:36} hear them from heaven, and forgive the sins of your servants and of your people Israel. And reveal to them the good way, along which they should walk, and grant rain upon your land, which you have given to your people as a possession. {8:37} Then, if famine rises over the land, or pestilence, or corrupt air, or blight, or locust, or mildew, or if their enemy afflicts them, besieging the gates, or any harm or infirmity, {8:38} or whatever curse or divine intervention may happen to any man among your people Israel, if anyone understands, having been wounded in his heart, and if he will have extended his hands in this house, {8:39} you will hear in heaven, in your dwelling place, and you will forgive. And you will act so that you give to each one in accord with his own ways, just as you see in his heart, for you alone know the heart of all the sons of men. {8:40} So may they fear you, all the days that they live upon the face of the land, which you have given to our fathers. {8:41} Moreover, the foreigner too, who is not of your people Israel, when he will have arrived from a distant land because of your name, for they shall hear about your great name, and your strong hand, {8:42} and your outstretched arm everywhere: so when he arrives and prays in this place, {8:43} you will listen in heaven, in the firmament of your dwelling place. And you will do all the things, for which that foreigner will have called upon you. So may all the peoples of the earth learn to fear your name, just as your people Israel do. And so may they show that your name has been invoked over this house, which I have built. {8:44} And if your people have gone out to war against their enemies, along whatever way you will send them, they shall pray to you in the direction of the city, which you have chosen, and toward the house, which I have built to your name. {8:45} And you will hear in heaven their prayers and their petitions. And you will accomplish judgment for them. {8:46} But if they sin against you, for there is no man who does not sin, and you, being angry, deliver them to their enemies, and they will have been led away as captives to the land of their enemies, whether far or near, {8:47} and if they do penance in their heart, in the place of captivity, and having been converted, make supplication to you in their captivity, saying, 'We have sinned; we acted unjustly; we committed impiety,’ {8:48} and they return to you with all their heart and all their soul, in the land of their enemies, to which they have been led away as captives, and if they pray to you in the direction of their land, which you gave to their fathers, and of the city, which you have chosen, and of the temple, which I have built to your name: {8:49} you will hear in heaven, in the firmament of your throne, their prayers and their petitions. And you will accomplish their judgment. {8:50} And you will forgive your people, who have sinned against you, and all their iniquities, by which they have transgressed against you. And you will grant to them mercy in the sight of those who have made them captives, so that they may take pity on them. {8:51} For they are your people and your inheritance, whom you have led away from the land of Egypt, from the midst of the furnace of iron. {8:52} So may your eyes be open to the supplication of your servant and of your people Israel. And so may you heed them in all the things about which they will call upon you. {8:53} For you have separated them to yourself as an inheritance, from among all the peoples of the earth, just as you spoke by Moses, your servant, when you led our fathers away from Egypt, O Lord God.” {8:54} And it happened that, when Solomon had completed praying this entire prayer and supplication to the Lord, he rose up from the sight of the altar of the Lord. For he had fixed both knees upon the ground, and he had extended his hands toward heaven. {8:55} Then he stood and blessed the entire assembly of Israel in a great voice, saying: {8:56} “Blessed is the Lord, who has given rest to his people Israel, in accord with all that he said. Not even one word, out of all the good things that he spoke by his servant Moses, has fallen away. {8:57} May the Lord our God be with us, just as he was with our fathers, not abandoning us, and not rejecting us. {8:58} But may he incline our hearts to himself, so that we may walk in all his ways, and keep his commandments, and his ceremonies, and whatever judgments he commanded to our fathers. {8:59} And may these my words, by which I have prayed before the Lord, be near to the Lord our God, day and night, so that he may accomplish judgment for his servant and for his people Israel, throughout each day. [8:60] So may all the peoples of the earth know that the Lord himself is God, and there is no other beside him. [8:61] Also, may our hearts be perfect with the Lord our God, so that we may walk in his decrees, and keep his commandments, as also on this day."

[8:62] Then the king, and all of Israel with him, immolated victims before the Lord. [8:63] And Solomon slew sacrifices of peace offerings, which he immolated to the Lord: twenty-two thousand oxen, and twenty thousand one hundred sheep. And the king and all the sons of Israel dedicated the temple of the Lord. [8:64] On that day, the king sanctified the middle of the atrium, which was before the house of the Lord. For in that place, he offered holocaust, and sacrifice, and the fat of peace offerings. For the bronze altar, which was before the Lord, was too small and was not able to hold the holocaust, and the sacrifice, and the fat of the peace offerings.

[8:65] Then Solomon made, at that time, a celebratory festival, and all of Israel with him, a great multitude, from the entrance of Hamath to the river of Egypt, in the sight of the Lord our God, for seven days plus seven days, that is, fourteen days. [8:66] And on the eighth day, he dismissed the people. And blessing the king, they set out for their tents, rejoicing and cheerful in heart over all the good things that the Lord had done for his servant David and for his people Israel.

[1 Kings 9] [9:1] Now it happened that, when Solomon had perfected the building of the house of the Lord, and the king's house, and all that he had desired and had willed to do, [9:2] the Lord appeared to him a second time, just as he had appeared to him at Gibeon. [9:3] And the Lord said to him: "I have heard your prayer and your petition, which you prayed before me. I have sanctified this house, which you have built, so that I may place my name there forever, and so that my eyes and my heart will be there for all days. [9:4] Also, if you will walk before me, just as your father walked, in simplicity of heart and in equity, and you do all that I have instructed to you, and you keep my laws and my judgments, [9:5] then I will set the throne of your kingdom over Israel forever, just as I promised your father David, saying: 'A man from your stock shall not be taken away from the throne of Israel.' [9:6] But if you and your sons, wandering, will have turned away, not following me, and not keeping my commandments and my ceremonies, which I have proposed to you, but instead you go away, and you serve strange gods and adore them, [9:7] then I will take away Israel from the face of the land, which I have given to them. And the temple, which I have sanctified to my name, I will cast out from my sight. And Israel will be a proverb and a parable among all the peoples. [9:8] And this house will become an example: anyone who passes by it will be stupefied, and he will hiss and say, 'Why has the Lord acted in this way to this land and to this house?'" [9:9] And they will respond: 'Because they abandoned the Lord their God, who led their fathers away from the land of Egypt, and they followed strange gods, and they adored them and served them. For this reason, the Lord led all this evil over them.'

[9:10] Then, when twenty years were fulfilled, after Solomon had built the two houses, that is, the house of the Lord, and the house of the king, [9:11] Hiram, the king of Tyre, having supplied Solomon with cedar wood, and spruce wood, and gold, in accord with all that he needed, then Solomon gave Hiram twenty towns in the land of Galilee. [9:12] And Hiram went out of Tyre, so that he might view the towns that Solomon had given to him. And they did not please him. [9:13] And he said, "Are these the cities that you have given to me, brother?" And he called them the land of Cabul, even to this day. [9:14] And Hiram sent to king Solomon one hundred twenty talents of gold. [9:15] This is the sum of the expenses that king Solomon offered for the building of the house of the Lord, and his own house, and for Millo, and the wall of Jerusalem, and Hazor, and Megiddo, and Gezer. [9:16] Pharaoh, the king of Egypt, ascended and seized Gezer, and he burned it with fire. And he put to death the Canaanite who was living in the city, and he gave it as a dowry for his daughter, the wife of Solomon. [9:17] Therefore, Solomon built up Gezer, and lower Bethhoron, [9:18] and Baalath, and Palmira in the land of the wilderness. [9:19] And all the towns which belonged to him, and which were without walls, he walled, along with the cities of the chariots, and the cities of the horsemen, and whatever was pleasing to him that he might build in Jerusalem, and in Lebanon, and in the entire land of his dominion. [9:20] All the people who had remained of the Amorites, and the Hittites, and the Perizzites, and the Hivites, and the Jebusites, who were not of the sons of Israel, [9:21] their sons, who had remained in the land, namely, those whom the sons of Israel had not been able to destroy, Solomon made tributary, even to this day. [9:22] But from the sons of Israel, Solomon did not appoint anyone at all to serve, except the men of war, and his ministers, and leaders, and commanders, and the overseers of the chariots and the horses. [9:23] Now there were five hundred fifty leaders in the first place over all the works of Solomon, and they had people subject to them, and these were given orders for the appointed works. [9:24] And the daughter of Pharaoh went up from the city of David to her house, which Solomon had built for her. Then he built up Millo. [9:25] Also, three times each year, Solomon offered holocausts and victims of peace offerings, upon the altar that he had built to the Lord, and he burned incense before the Lord. And the temple was perfected. [9:26] And king Solomon made a navy at Ezion Geber, which is beside Ethol, on the shores of the Red Sea, in the land of Idumea. [9:27] And Hiram sent his servants to that navy, the sailors and those knowledgeable about the sea, with the servants of Solomon. [9:28] And when they had gone to Ophir, taking from there four hundred twenty talents of gold, they brought it to king Solomon.
cupbearers, and the holocausts that he was offering in the house of the Lord, she had no longer any spirit in her. {10:6} And she said to the king: “The word is true, which I have heard in my own land, {10:7} about your words and your wisdom. But I did not believe those who explained it to me, until I went myself and saw it with my own eyes. And I have discovered that the half of it has not been told to me: your wisdom and works are greater than the report that I have heard. {10:8} Blessed are your men, and blessed are your servants, who stand before you always, and who hear your wisdom. {10:9} Blessed is the Lord your God, whom you have greatly pleased, and who has placed you upon the throne of Israel. For the Lord loves Israel forever, and he has appointed you as king, so that you may accomplish judgment and justice.” {10:10} Then she gave the king one hundred twenty talents of gold, and an exceedingly great amount of aromatics and precious stones. No greater quantity of aromatics was ever again brought forth as these, which the queen of Sheba gave to king Solomon. {10:11} Then, too, the navy of Hiram, which carried gold from Ophir, brought an exceedingly great quantity of thyme wood and precious stones from Ophir. {10:12} And the king made, from the thyme wood, the posts of the house of the Lord, and of the house of the king, and citharas and lyres for the musicians. No thyme trees of this kind were ever again brought forth or seen, even to the present day. {10:13} Then king Solomon gave the queen of Sheba all that she desired and requested of him, aside from what he himself had offered to her from his royal bounty. And she returned and went away to her own land, with her servants. {10:14} Now the weight of the gold that was brought to Solomon each year was six hundred sixty-six talents of gold, {10:15} aside from what was brought to him by the men who were over the tribute, and by the merchants, and by those selling every kind of small item, and by all the kings of Arabia, and by the rulers of the land. {10:16} Also, king Solomon made two hundred large shields from the purest gold. He dispensed six hundred shekels of gold for the layers of one shield. {10:17} And for the three hundred crescent-shaped shields of tested gold, there were three hundred minas of gold covering one shield. And the king placed these in the house of the forest of Lebanon. {10:18} Also, king Solomon made a great throne from ivory. And he clothed it with a great quantity of red gold. {10:19} The throne had six steps, and the summit of the throne was rounded in the back section. And there were two hands, on one side and the other, holding the seat. And two lions were standing beside each hand, {10:20} with twelve little lions standing upon the six steps, on one side and the other. No similar work has been made, ever in any kingdom. {10:21} Moreover, all the vessels from which king Solomon would drink were of gold. And all the items in the house of the forest of Lebanon were of the purest gold. There was no silver, nor was any accounting made of silver in the days of Solomon. {10:22} For the navy of the king, once every three years, went with the navy of Hiram by sea to Tarshish, bringing from there gold, and silver, and elephant tusks, and primates, and peacocks. {10:23} And so, king Solomon was magnified above all the kings of the earth in riches and in wisdom. {10:24} And all the earth desired to see the face of Solomon, so as to hear his wisdom, which God had granted to his heart. {10:25} And each one brought him gifts, vessels of silver and of gold, clothing and weapons of war, as well as aromatics, and horses, and mules, throughout each year. {10:26} And Solomon gathered together the chariots and horsemen. And he had one thousand four hundred chariots, and twelve thousand horsemen. And he placed them in the walled cities, and with the king at Jerusalem. {10:27} And he caused silver to be as abundant in Jerusalem as stones, and he supplied a multitude of cedars like the sycamores that grow in the plains. {10:28} And horses were brought for Solomon from Egypt and from Kue. For the merchants of the king were buying these from Kue. And they paid out the established price. {10:29} Now a four-horse chariot would be sent from Egypt for six hundred shekels of silver, and a horse for one hundred and fifty. And in this manner, all the kings of the Hittites and of Syria were selling horses.

[1 Kings 11] {11:1} But king Solomon loved many foreign women, including the daughter of Pharaoh, and women of Moab, and of Ammon, and of Idumea, and of Sidon, and of the Hittites. {11:2} These were of the nations about whom the Lord said to the sons of Israel: “You shall not enter to them, and none of them shall enter to anyone of yours. For they will most certainly turn aside your hearts, so that you follow their gods.” And yet, to these Solomon was joined with a greatly enflamed love. {11:3} And for him, there were seven hundred wives, as if they were queens, and three hundred concubines. And the women turned aside his heart. {11:4} And when now he was old, his heart was perverted by the women, so that he followed strange gods. And his heart was not perfect with the Lord his God, as was the heart of his father David. {11:5} For Solomon worshipped Ashtoreth, the goddess of the Sidonians, and Milcom, the idol of the Ammonites. {11:6} And Solomon did what was not pleasing in the sight of the Lord. And he did not continue to follow the Lord, as his father David did. {11:7} Then Solomon built a shrine for Chemosh, the idol of Moab, on the mount that is opposite Jerusalem, and for Milcom, the idol of the sons of Ammon. {11:8} And he acted in this manner for all his foreign wives, who were burning incense and immolating to their gods. {11:9} And so, the Lord became angry with Solomon, because his mind had been turned away from the Lord, the God of Israel, who had appeared to him twice, {11:10} and who had instructed him about this matter, lest he follow strange gods. But he did not observe what the Lord commanded to him. {11:11} And so, the Lord said to Solomon: “Because you have this with you, and because you have not kept my covenant and my precepts, which I commanded to you, I will tear apart your kingdom, and I will give it to your servant. {11:12} Yet truly, I will not do it in your days, for the sake of your father David. From the hand of your son, I will tear it away. {11:13} Neither will I take away the whole kingdom. Instead, I will grant one tribe to your son, for the sake of David, my servant, and Jerusalem, which I have chosen.” {11:14} Then the Lord raised up an adversary to Solomon, Hadad of Idumea, from an offspring of the king who was in Idumea. {11:15} For when David was in Idumea, Joab, the leader of the military, had ascended to bury those who had been killed, and he had killed every male in Idumea. {11:16} And Joab remained in that place for six months, with all of Israel, until he had put to death every male in Idumea. {11:17} Then Hadad fled, he and some men of Idumea from among the servants of his father with him, so that he might enter into Egypt. But Hadad was then a little boy. {11:18} And when they had risen up from Midian, they went into Paran, and they took with them some men from Paran. And they went into Egypt, to Pharaoh, the king of Egypt. And he gave him a house, and he appointed food for him, and he assigned land to him. {11:19} And Hadad found great favor before Pharaoh, so much so that he gave to him as wife, the sister of his own wife, queen Tahpenes. {11:20} And the sister of Tahpenes bore to him a son, Genumath. And Tahpenes raised him in the house of Pharaoh. And Genumath was living with Pharaoh and his sons. {11:21} And when Hadad had heard in Egypt that David had slept with his fathers, and that Joab, the leader of the military, had died, he said to Pharaoh, “Release me, so that I may go to my own land.” {11:22} And Pharaoh said to him, “But what is lacking to you with me, so that you would seek to go to your own land?” But he responded: “Nothing. Yet I beg you that you may release me.” {12:23} Also, God raised up against him an adversary, Rezon, the son of Eliada, who had fled from his lord, Hadad-Ezer, the king of Zobah. {11:24} And he gathered together men against him. And when David put those of Zobah to death, he became a leader of robbers. And they went away to Damascus, and they lived there. And they appointed him to be king of Damascus. {11:25} And he was an adversary to Israel during all the days of Solomon. And such is the evil of Hadad and of his hatred against Israel. And he reigned in Syria. {11:26} Also, there was Jeroboam, the son of Nebat, an Ephraimite from Zeredah, a servant of Solomon, whose mother was named Zeruah, a widowed woman. He lifted up his hand against the king. {11:27} And this is the reason for his rebellion against him: that Solomon built up Millo, and that he filled in a deep hole in the city of David, his father. {11:28} Now Jeroboam was a valiant and powerful man. And perceiving the young man to be ingenious and industrious, Solomon appointed him as first ruler over the tributes of the entire house of Joseph. {11:29} And it happened, in that time, that Jeroboam departed from Jerusalem. And the prophet Ahijah, the Shilonite, wearing with a new cloak, found him on the way. And the two were alone in the field. {11:30} And taking his new cloak, with which he was covered, Ahijah tore it into twelve parts. {11:31} And he said to Jeroboam: “Take ten pieces for yourself. For thus says the Lord, the God of Israel: ‘Behold, I will tear the kingdom from the hand of Solomon, and I will give to you ten tribes. {11:32} Yet one tribe shall remain with him, for the sake of my servant, David, as well as Jerusalem, the city which I have chosen out of all the tribes of Israel. {11:33} For he has abandoned me, and he has adored Ashthoreth, the goddess of the Sidonians, and Chemosh, the god of Moab, and Milcom, the god of the sons of Ammon. And he has not walked in my ways, so that he would do justice before me, and so that he would carry out my precepts and judgments, as his father David did. {11:34} But I will not take the entire kingdom from his hand. Instead, I will establish him as the ruler during all the days of his life, for the sake of my servant David, whom I chose, who kept my commandments and my precepts. {11:35} But I will take away the kingdom from the hand of his son, and I will give to you ten tribes. {11:36} Then, to his son, I will give one tribe, so that there may remain a lamp for my servant David before me, for all days, in Jerusalem, the city which I have chosen, so that my name would be there. {11:37} And I will take you up, and you shall reign over all that your soul desires. And you shall be king over Israel. {11:38} Therefore, if you will listen to all that I will command you, and if you will walk in my ways, and do what is right in my sight, keeping my commandments and my precepts, just as my servant David did, then I will be with you, and I will build for you a faithful house, in the way that I built a house for David, and I will deliver Israel to you. {11:39} And I will afflict the offspring of David over this, but truly not for all days.’ ” {11:40} Therefore, Solomon wanted to kill Jeroboam. But he rose up and fled away to Egypt, to Shishak, the king of Egypt. And he was in Egypt until the death of Solomon. {11:41} Now the rest of the words of Solomon, and all that he did, and his wisdom: behold, these are all written in the book of the words of the days of Solomon. {11:42} And the days that Solomon reigned in Jerusalem, over all of Israel, were forty years. {11:43} And Solomon slept with his fathers, and he was buried in the city of David, his father. And Rehoboam, his son, reigned in his place.
so that he might raise up his word, which he had spoken by the hand of Ahijah, the Shilonite, to Jeroboam, the son of Nebat. {12:16} And so the people, seeing that the king had not been willing to listen to them, responded to him, saying: “What part do we have in David? Or what inheritance do we have in the son of Jesse? Go to your own tents, O Israel. Now David, see to your own house.” And Israel went away to their own tents. {12:17} But over all the sons of Israel who were living in the cities of Judah, Rehoboam reigned.

{12:18} Then king Rehoboam sent Adoram, who was over the tribute, and all of Israel stoned him, and he died. Therefore, king Rehoboam hurrying, climbed into the chariot, and fled to Jerusalem. {12:19} And Israel drew away from the house of David, even to the present day. {12:20} And it happened that, when all of Israel had heard that Jeroboam had returned, gathering an assembly, they sent and called him, and they appointed him as king over all of Israel. And no one followed the house of David, except the tribe of Judah alone. {12:21} Then Rehoboam went to Jerusalem, and he gathered together the entire house of Judah, and the tribe of Benjamin, one hundred and eighty thousand elect men of war, so that they might fight against the house of Israel, and might bring the kingdom back to Rehoboam, the son of Solomon.

{12:22} But the word of the Lord came to Shemaiah, the man of God, saying: {12:23} “Speak to Rehoboam, the son of Solomon, the king of Judah, and to all the house of Judah, and to Benjamin, and to the rest of the people, saying: {12:24} ‘Thus says the Lord: You shall not go up, and you shall not make war against your brothers, the sons of Israel. Let each man return to his own house. For this word came from me.’ ” And they listened to the word of the Lord, and they returned from the journey, as the Lord had instructed them. {12:25} Then Jeroboam built up Shechem, on mount Ephraim, and he lived there. And departing from there, he built up Penuel. {12:26} And Jeroboam said in his heart: “Now the kingdom will return to the house of David, if this people ascend to offer sacrifices in the house of the Lord at Jerusalem. And the heart of this people will be converted to their lord Rehoboam, the king of Judah, and they will put me to death, and return to him.” {12:28} And devising a plan, he made two golden calves. And he said to them: “No longer choose to ascend to Jerusalem. Behold, these are your gods, O Israel, who led you away from the land of Egypt!” {12:29} And he stationed one in Bethel, and the other in Dan. {12:30} And this word became an occasion of sin. For the people went to adore the calf, even to Dan. {12:31} And he made shrines on the high places, and he made priests out of the lowest people, who were not of the sons of Levi. {12:32} And he appointed a solemn day in the eighth month, on the fifteenth day of the month, in imitation of the solemnity that was celebrated in Judah. And ascending to the altar, he acted similarly in Bethel, so that he immolated to the calves, which he had made. And in Bethel, he appointed priests of the high places, which he had made.

{12:33} And he ascended to the altar, which he had raised up in Bethel, on the fifteenth day of the eighth month, the day that he had decided in his own heart. And he made a solemnity to the sons of Israel, and he ascended to the altar, so that he might burn incense.

[1 Kings 13] {13:1} And behold, by the word of the Lord, a man of God went from Judah to Bethel, when Jeroboam was standing over the altar, and burning incense. {13:2} And by the word of the Lord, he cried out against the altar. And he said: “O altar, O altar! Thus says the Lord: ‘Behold, a son will be born to the house of David, Josiah by name. And upon you, he will immolate the priests of the high places, who now burn incense upon you. And upon you, he will burn up the bones of men.’ ” {13:3} And he gave a sign on the same day, saying: “This will be the sign that the Lord has spoken. Behold, the altar shall be torn apart, and the ashes that are upon it shall be poured out.” {13:4} And when the king had heard the word of the man of God, which he had cried out against the altar at Bethel, he extended his hand from the altar, saying, “Apprehend him!” But his hand, which he had extended against him, withered. And he was unable to draw it back to himself. {13:5} Also, the altar was torn apart, and the ashes were poured out from the altar, in accord with the sign that the man of God had predicted by the word of the Lord. {13:6} And the king said to the man of God, “Entreat the face of the Lord your God, and pray for me, so that my hand may be restored to me.” And the man of God prayed before the face of the Lord, and the hand of the king was restored to him, and it became as it had been before.

{13:7} Then the king said to the man of God: “Come home with me, so that you may dine. And I will give you gifts.” {13:8} And the man of God responded to the king: “Even if you will give me one half part of your house, I will not go with you, nor eat bread, nor drink water in this place.

{13:9} For so it was commanded to me by the word of the Lord, ordering: ‘You shall not eat bread, and you shall not drink water, nor shall you return by the way that you came.’ ” {13:10} Then he departed by another way, and he did not return along the way that he had traveled to Bethel. {13:11} Now a certain elderly prophet was living in Bethel. His sons went to him, and they described to him all the works which the man of God had accomplished on that day in Bethel. And they described to their father the words that he had spoken to the king. {13:12} And their father said to them, “By which way did he depart?” His sons showed him the way by which the man of God, who had come from Judah, had departed. {13:13} And he said to his sons, “Saddle the donkey for me.” And when they had saddled it, he climbed on, {13:14} and he went away after the man of God. And he found him sitting under a terebinth tree. And he said to him, “Are you the man of God who came from Judah?” And he responded, “I am.” {13:15} And he said to him, “Come home with me, so that you may eat bread.” {13:16} But he said: “I am not able to turn back, nor to go with you. Neither will I eat bread, or drink water in this place.

{13:17} For the Lord has spoken to me, by the word of the Lord, saying: ‘You shall not eat bread, and you shall not drink water in that place, nor shall you return by the way that you arrived.’ ” {13:18} And he said to him: “I, too, am a prophet like you. And an Angel spoke to me, by the word of the Lord, saying, ‘Lead him back with you to your house, so that he may eat bread, and drink water.’ ” And so he deceived him.

{13:19} And he led him back with him. Then he ate bread and drank water in his house. {13:20} And while they were sitting at table, the word of the Lord came to the prophet who had led him back. {13:21} And he cried out to the man of God who had arrived from Judah, saying: “Thus says the Lord: Because you were not obedient to the mouth of the Lord, and you did not keep the commandment that the Lord your God instructed to you, {13:22} and you turned back, and ate bread, and drank water in the place where he commanded you that you should not eat bread, nor drink water: your dead body shall not be carried back to the sepulcher of your fathers.” {13:23} And when he had eaten and had drunk, he saddled his donkey for the prophet whom he had led back. {13:24} And when he had departed, a lion found him along the way, and it killed him, and his dead body was left upon the road. Now the donkey was standing beside him. And the lion was standing beside the dead body. {13:25} And behold, men who were passing by saw the dead body lying in the road, with the lion standing beside the body. And they went and made it widely known in the city where that elderly prophet was living. {13:26} And when that prophet, who had led him back from the way, had heard it, he said: “It is the man of God, who was disobedient to the mouth of the Lord. And the Lord has delivered him to the lion. And it has torn him apart and killed him, in accord with the word of the Lord, which he spoke to him.” {13:27} And he said to his sons, “Saddle a donkey for me.” And when they had saddled it, {13:28} and he had departed, he found the dead body lying on the road, with the donkey and the lion standing beside the dead body. The lion did not eat from the dead body, nor did it harm the donkey. {13:29} Then the prophet took the dead body of the man of God, and he placed it upon the donkey, and returning, he brought it into the city of the elderly prophet, so that he might mourn for him. {13:30} And he placed his dead body in his own sepulcher. And they mourned for him, saying: “Alas! Alas! My brother!” {13:31} And when they had mourned over him, he said to his sons: “When I will have died, bury me in the sepulcher in which the man of God was buried. Place my bones beside his bones. {13:32} For certainly, the word will arrive, which he predicted by the word of the Lord, against the altar, which is in Bethel, and against all the shrines of the high places, which are in the cities of Samaria.” {13:33} After these words, Jeroboam did not turn back from his very evil way. Instead, to the contrary, he made priests for the high places out of the least of the people. Whosoever was willing, he filled his hand, and he became a priest of the high places. {13:34} And for this reason, the house of Jeroboam sinned, and was uprooted, and was wiped from the face of the earth.

[1 Kings 14] {14:1} In that time Abijah, the son of Jeroboam, became ill. {14:2} And Jeroboam said to his wife: “Rise up, and change clothing, so that you will not be recognized to be the wife of Jeroboam. And go to Shiloh, where the prophet Ahijah is, who said to me that I should reign over this people. {14:3} Also, take in your hand ten loaves, and dried bread, and a container of honey, and go to him. For he will reveal to you what will happen to this boy.” {14:4} The wife of Jeroboam did just as he had said. And rising up, she went away to Shiloh. And she arrived at the house of Ahijah. But he was unable to see, because his eyes had dimmed due to old age. {14:5} Then the Lord said to Ahijah: “Behold, the wife of Jeroboam enters, so that she may consult you over her son, who is ill. You shall say one thing and another to her.” Therefore, as she was entering, not presenting herself to be who she was, {14:6} Ahijah heard the sound of her feet, entering through the door. And he said: “Enter, O wife of Jeroboam. Why do you pretend to be someone you are not? But I have been sent to you with harsh news. {14:7} Go, and tell Jeroboam: ‘Thus says the Lord, the God of Israel: Although I exalted you from the midst of the people, and I granted to you to be the leader over my people Israel, {14:8} and I tore the kingdom away from the house of David, and I gave it to you, yet you have not been like David, my servant, who kept my commandments, and who followed me with his whole heart, doing what was pleasing in my sight. {14:9} Instead, you have worked evil beyond all those who were before you. And you have made for yourself strange gods and molten images, so that you provoke me to anger. And you have cast me behind your back. {14:10} For this reason, behold, I will lead evils over the house of Jeroboam, and I will strike down from Jeroboam that which urinates against a wall, and that which is lame, and that which is last in Israel. And I will cleanse that which remains of the house of Jeroboam in the city, the dogs will devour them. And those who will have died in the field, the birds of the heavens will devour them. For the Lord has spoken.” {14:12} Therefore, you must rise up, and go to your house. And in the city, at the very entrance of your feet, the boy will die. {14:13} And all of Israel will mourn him, and will bury him. For he alone of Jeroboam shall be brought into a sepulcher. For concerning him, there has been found a good word from the Lord, the God of Israel, in the house of Jeroboam. {14:14} But the Lord has appointed for himself a king over Israel, who will strike down the house of Jeroboam, in this day and in this time. {14:15} And the Lord God shall strike Israel, just as a reed is usually shaken in the water. And he will uproot Israel from this good land, which he gave to their fathers. And he will winnow them beyond the river. For they have made for themselves sacred groves, so that they have provoked the Lord. {14:16} And the Lord will hand over Israel, because of the sins of Jeroboam, who has sinned and caused Israel to sin.” {14:17} And so, the wife of Jeroboam rose up, and she went away. And she arrived at Tirzah. And as she was entering the threshold of the house, the boy died. {14:18} And they buried him, and all of Israel mourned for him, in accord with the word of the Lord, which he spoke by the hand of his servant Ahijah, the prophet. {14:19} Now the rest of the words of Jeroboam, the manner in which he fought, and the manner in which he reigned, behold, these were written in the book of the words of the days of the kings of Israel. {14:20} And the days during which Jeroboam reigned were twenty-two years. And he slept with his fathers. And Nadab, his son, reigned in his place. {14:21} Now Rehoboam, the son of Solomon, reigned in Judah. Rehoboam was forty-one years old when he had begun to reign. And he reigned for seventeen years in Jerusalem, the city that the Lord chose, out of all the tribes of Israel, so that he might place his name there. And the name of his mother was Naamah, an Ammonite. {14:22} And Judah did evil in the sight of the Lord, and they provoked him beyond all that their fathers had done, by their sins that they committed. {14:23} For they, too, built for themselves altars, and statues, and sacred groves, upon every high hill and under every leafy tree. {14:24} Moreover, the effeminate were in the land, and they committed all the abominations of the peoples that the Lord had destroyed before the face of the sons of Israel. {14:25} Then, in the fifth year of the reign of Rehoboam, Shishak, the king of Egypt, ascended against Jerusalem.
[1 Kings 15] {15:1} Then, in the eighteenth year of the reign of Jeroboam, the son of Nebat, Abijam reigned over Judah.

{15:2} He reigned for three years in Jerusalem. The name of his mother was Maacah, the daughter of Abishalom.

{15:3} And he walked in all the sins of his father, which he had done before him. Neither was his heart perfect with the Lord his God, as was the heart of David, his father.

{15:4} But for the sake of David, the Lord God gave to him a lamp in Jerusalem, so that he might raise up his son after him, and so that he might establish Jerusalem.

{15:5} For David had done what was right in the eyes of the Lord, and he had not declined from all of the things that he had instructed him, during all the days of his life, except the matter of Uriah, the Hittite.

{15:6} Now there was war between Rehoboam and Jeroboam during the entire time of his life. {15:7} And the rest of the words of Abijam, and all that he did, were these not written in the book of the words of the days of the kings of Judah? And there was fighting between Abijam and Jeroboam. {15:8} And Abijam slept with his fathers, and they buried him in the city of David. And Asa, his son, reigned in his place.

{15:9} Then, in the twentieth year of Jeroboam, the king of Israel, Asa reigned as king of Judah. {15:10} And he reigned for forty-one years in Jerusalem. The name of his mother was Maacah, the daughter of Abishalom. {15:11} And Asa did what was right before the sight of the Lord, just as his father David did.

{15:12} And he took away the treasures of the house of the Lord, and the royal treasures, and he plundered everything, including the shields of gold that Solomon had made.

{15:13} And he also made shields of brass, and he delivered them into the hand of the commanders of the shield bearers, and of those who were keeping the night watch before the gate of the king's house.

{15:14} And when the king entered into the house of the Lord, these were carried by those who held the office to go before him. And afterward, they carried them back to the armory of the shield bearers. {15:15} Now the rest of the words of Abijam, and all that he did, behold, these were written in the book of the words of the days of the kings of Judah.

{15:16} And Asa took all the silver and the gold which had remained in the treasuries of the house of the Lord, and in the treasuries of the house of the king, and he gave it into the hands of his servants. And he sent them to Benhadad, the son of Tabrimmon, the son of Hezir, the king of Syria, who was living in Damascus, saying: {15:17} “There is a pact between me and you, and between my father and your father. For this reason, I have sent to you gifts of silver and of gold. And I ask you to go and break your pact with Baasha, the king of Israel, so that he may withdraw from me.” {15:18} And so, Asa took all the silver and the gold which had remained in the treasuries of the house of the Lord, and in the treasuries of the house of the king, and he gave it into the hands of his servants. And he sent them to Benhadad, the son of Tabrimmon, the son of Hezir, the king of Syria, who was living in Damascus, saying: {15:19} “There is a pact between me and you, and between my father and your father. For this reason, I have sent to you gifts of silver and of gold. And I ask you to go and break your pact with Baasha, the king of Israel, so that he may withdraw from me.” {15:20} And so, Asa took all the silver and the gold which had remained in the treasuries of the house of the Lord, and in the treasuries of the house of the king, and he gave it into the hands of his servants. And he sent them to Benhadad, the son of Tabrimmon, the son of Hezir, the king of Syria, who was living in Damascus, saying: {15:21} “There is a pact between me and you, and between my father and your father. For this reason, I have sent to you gifts of silver and of gold. And I ask you to go and break your pact with Baasha, the king of Israel, so that he may withdraw from me.” {15:22} And so, Asa took all the silver and the gold which had remained in the treasuries of the house of the Lord, and in the treasuries of the house of the king, and he gave it into the hands of his servants. And he sent them to Benhadad, the son of Tabrimmon, the son of Hezir, the king of Syria, who was living in Damascus, saying: {15:23} “There is a pact between me and you, and between my father and your father. For this reason, I have sent to you gifts of silver and of gold. And I ask you to go and break your pact with Baasha, the king of Israel, so that he may withdraw from me.” {15:24} And so, Asa took all the silver and the gold which had remained in the treasuries of the house of the Lord, and in the treasuries of the house of the king, and he gave it into the hands of his servants. And he sent them to Benhadad, the son of Tabrimmon, the son of Hezir, the king of Syria, who was living in Damascus, saying: {15:25} “There is a pact between me and you, and between my father and your father. For this reason, I have sent to you gifts of silver and of gold. And I ask you to go and break your pact with Baasha, the king of Israel, so that he may withdraw from me.” {15:26} And so, Asa took all the silver and the gold which had remained in the treasuries of the house of the Lord, and in the treasuries of the house of the king, and he gave it into the hands of his servants. And he sent them to Benhadad, the son of Tabrimmon, the son of Hezir, the king of Syria, who was living in Damascus, saying: {15:27} “There is a pact between me and you, and between my father and your father. For this reason, I have sent to you gifts of silver and of gold. And I ask you to go and break your pact with Baasha, the king of Israel, so that he may withdraw from me.” {15:28} And so, Asa took all the silver and the gold which had remained in the treasuries of the house of the Lord, and in the treasuries of the house of the king, and he gave it into the hands of his servants. And he sent them to Benhadad, the son of Tabrimmon, the son of Hezir, the king of Syria, who was living in Damascus, saying: {15:29} “There is a pact between me and you, and between my father and your father. For this reason, I have sent to you gifts of silver and of gold. And I ask you to go and break your pact with Baasha, the king of Israel, so that he may withdraw from me.” {15:30} And so, Asa took all the silver and the gold which had remained in the treasuries of the house of the Lord, and in the treasuries of the house of the king, and he gave it into the hands of his servants. And he sent them to Benhadad, the son of Tabrimmon, the son of Hezir, the king of Syria, who was living in Damascus, saying: {15:31} “There is a pact between me and you, and between my father and your father. For this reason, I have sent to you gifts of silver and of gold. And I ask you to go and break your pact with Baasha, the king of Israel, so that he may withdraw from me.” {15:32} And so, Asa took all the silver and the gold which had remained in the treasuries of the house of the Lord, and in the treasuries of the house of the king, and he gave it into the hands of his servants. And he sent them to Benhadad, the son of Tabrimmon, the son of Hezir, the king of Syria, who was living in Damascus, saying: {15:33} “There is a pact between me and you, and between my father and your father. For this reason, I have sent to you gifts of silver and of gold. And I ask you to go and break your pact with Baasha, the king of Israel, so that he may withdraw from me.” {15:34} And so, Asa took all the silver and the gold which had remained in the treasuries of the house of the Lord, and in the treasuries of the house of the king, and he gave it into the hands of his servants. And he sent them to Benhadad, the son of Tabrimmon, the son of Hezir, the king of Syria, who was living in Damascus, saying: {15:35} “There is a pact between me and you, and between my father and your father. For this reason, I have sent to you gifts of silver and of gold. And I ask you to go and break your pact with Baasha, the king of Israel, so that he may withdraw from me.” {15:36} And so, Asa took all the silver and the gold which had remained in the treasuries of the house of the Lord, and in the treasuries of the house of the king, and he gave it into the hands of his servants. And he sent them to Benhadad, the son of Tabrimmon, the son of Hezir, the king of Syria, who was living in Damascus, saying: {15:37} “There is a pact between me and you, and between my father and your father. For this reason, I have sent to you gifts of silver and of gold. And I ask you to go and break your pact with Baasha, the king of Israel, so that he may withdraw from me.”
Jeroboam, the son of Nebat. {16:4} Whoever will have died of Baasha in the city, the dogs will consume him. And whoever will have died of him in the countryside, the birds of the air will consume him." {16:5} Now the rest of the words of Baasha, and whatever he did, and his battles, were these not written in the book of the words of the days of the kings of Israel? {16:6} Then Baasha slept with his fathers, and he was buried at Tirzah. And Elah, his son, reigned in his place. {16:7} And when the word of the Lord had arrived by the hand of the prophet Jehu, the son of Hanani, against Baasha, and against his house, and against every evil that he had done before the Lord, so that he provoked him by the works of his hands, so that he became like the house of Jeroboam: for this reason, he killed him, that is, the prophet Jehu, the son of Hanani. {16:8} In the twenty-sixth year of Asa, the king of Judah, Elah, the son of Baasha, reigned over Israel, at Tirzah, for two years. {16:9} And his servant Zimri, the commander of one half part the horsemen, rebelled against him. Now Elah was drinking at Tirzah, and he became inebriated in the house of Arza, the prefect of Tirzah. {16:10} Then Zimri, rushing in, struck him and killed him, in the twenty-seventh year of Asa, the king of Judah. And he reigned in his place. {16:11} And when he had reigned and had sat upon his throne, he struck down the entire house of Baasha. And he did not leave behind of them anything that urinates against a wall, among both close relatives and his friends. {16:12} And so, Zimri destroyed the entire house of Baasha, in accord with the word of the Lord, which he had spoken to Baasha, by the hand the prophet of Jehu, {16:13} because of all the sins of Baasha, and the sins of Elah, his son, who sinned and caused Israel to sin, provoking the Lord, the God of Israel, with their vanities. {16:14} But the rest of the words of Elah, and all that he did, were these not written in the book of the words of the days of the kings of Israel? {16:15} In the twenty-seventh year of Asa, the king of Judah, Zimri reigned for seven days in Tirzah. For the army was besieging Gibbethon, a city of the Philistines. {16:16} And when they had heard that Zimri had rebelled, and that he had killed the king, all of Israel made Omri as a king for themselves; he was the leader of the military over Israel in the encampment in that day. {16:17} Therefore, Omri ascended, and all of Israel with him, from Gibbethon, and they besieged Tirzah. {16:18} Then Zimri, seeing that the city was about to be taken, entered the palace, and he set fire to himself along with the royal house. And he died {16:19} in his sins, which he had sinned, doing evil before the Lord, and walking in the way of Jeroboam, and in his sin, by which he caused Israel to sin. {16:20} But the rest of the words of Zimri, and of his treachery and tyranny, were these not written in the book of the words of the days of the kings of Israel? {16:21} Then the people of Israel were divided into two parts: one half part of the people followed Tibni, the son of Ginath, having appointed him as king, and one half part followed Omri. {16:22} But the people who were with Omri prevailed over the people who were following Tibni, the son of Ginath. And Tibni died, and Omri reigned. {16:23} In the thirty-first year of Asa, the king of Judah, Omri reigned over Israel for twelve years; he reigned for six years at Tirzah. {16:24} And he bought the mount of Samaria from Shemer for two talents of silver. And he built upon it, and he called the name of the city that he had built, Samaria, after the name of Shemer, the owner of the mount. {16:25} But Omri did evil in the sight of the Lord, and he wrought wickedness, beyond all who had been before him. {16:26} And he walked in all the ways of Jeroboam, the son of Nebat, and in his sins, by which he had caused Israel to sin, so that he provoked the Lord, the God of Israel, by their vanities. {16:27} Now the rest of the words of Omri, and his battles that he carried out, were these not written in the book of the words of the days of the kings of Israel? {16:28} And Omri slept with his fathers, and he was buried in Samaria. And Ahab, his son, reigned in his place. {16:29} Truly, Ahab, the son of Omri, reigned over Israel in the thirty-eighth year of Asa, the king of Judah. And Ahab, the son of Omri, reigned over Israel at Samaria for twenty-two years. {16:30} And Ahab, the son of Omri, did evil in the sight of the Lord, beyond all who had been before him. {16:31} And it was not enough for him to walk in the sins of Jeroboam, the son of Nebat. In addition, he took as a wife Jezebel, the daughter of Eth-baal, the king of the Sidonians. And he went astray, and he served Baal, and adored him. {16:32} And he set up an altar for Baal, in the temple of Baal, which he had built at Samaria. {16:33} And he planted a sacred grove. And Ahab added to his works, provoking the Lord, the God of Israel, beyond all the kings of Israel who had been before him. {16:34} In his days, Hiel from Bethel built up Jericho. With Abiram, his firstborn, he founded it, and with Segub, his youngest son, he set up its gates, in accord with the word of the Lord, which he had spoken by the hand of Joshua, the son of Nun.

[1 Kings 17] {17:1} And Elijah the Tishbite, from the inhabitants of Gilead, said to Ahab, “As the Lord lives, the God of Israel, in whose sight I stand, there shall not be dew or rain during these years, except by the words of my mouth.” {17:2} And the word of the Lord came to him, saying: {17:3} “Withdraw from here, and go toward the east, and hide at the torrent Cherith, which is opposite the Jordan. {17:4} And there you shall drink from the torrent. And I have instructed the ravens to feed you there.” {17:5} Therefore, he went and acted in accord with the word of the Lord. And going away, he settled by the torrent Cherith, which is opposite the Jordan. {17:6} And the ravens carried bread and flesh to him in the morning, and likewise bread and flesh in the evening. And he drank from the torrent. {17:7} But after some days, the torrent dried up. For it had not rained upon the earth. {17:8} Then the word of the Lord came to him, saying: {17:9} “Rise up, and go to Zarephath of the Sidonians, and dwell there. For I have instructed a widowed woman there to feed you.” {17:10} He rose up and went away to Zarephath. And when he had arrived at the gate of the city, he saw the widowed woman collecting wood, and he called to her. And he said to her, “Give me a little water in a vessel, so that I may drink.” {17:11} And as she was going to bring it, he called out after her, saying, “Bring me also, I beg you, a morsel of bread in your hand.” {17:12} And she responded: “As the Lord your God lives, I have no bread, except a handful of flour in a jar, and a little oil in a bottle. See, I am collecting a couple of sticks, so that I may go in and make it for myself and my son, so that we may eat it and die.” {17:13} And Elijah said to her: “Do not be afraid. And I will provide for you and bring you to me. Then afterward, make some for yourself and for your son. {17:14} For thus says the Lord, the God of Israel: ‘The jar of flour will not fail, nor the bottle of oil be diminished, until the day when the Lord will grant rain upon the face of the earth." {17:15} She went and acted in accord with the word of Elijah. And he ate, and she and her household ate. And from that day, {17:16} the jar of flour did not fail, and the bottle of oil was not diminished, in accord with the word of the Lord, which he had spoken by the hand of Elijah. {17:17} Now it happened that, after these things, the son of the woman who was the mother of the family became ill. And the sickness was very powerful, so that no breath remained in him. {17:18} Therefore, she said to Elijah: "What is there between you and me, O man of God? Have you entered to me, so that my iniquities would be remembered, and so that you would put to death my son?" {17:11} And Elijah said to her, "Give your son to me." And he took him from her bosom, and he carried him to an upper room, where he himself was staying. And he placed him on his own bed. {17:20} And he cried out to the Lord, and he said, "O Lord, my God, have you even afflicted the widow by whom I am, in a sense, sustained, so that you would put to death her son?" {17:21} And he stretched himself out beside the boy three times. And he cried out to the Lord and said, "O Lord, my God, let the soul of this boy, I beg you, return to his body." {17:22} And the Lord heeded the voice of Elijah. And the soul of the boy returned to him, and he revived. {17:23} And Elijah took the boy, and he brought him down from the upper room to the lower part of the house. And he gave him to his mother. And he said to her, "See, your son lives." {17:24} And the woman said to Elijah: "By this, I now realize that you are a man of God, and that the word of the Lord in your mouth is true."

[1 Kings 18] {18:1} After many days, the word of the Lord came to Elijah, in the third year, saying, "Go and show yourself to Ahab, so that I may grant rain upon the face of the earth." {18:2} Therefore, Elijah went to show himself to Ahab. For there was a severe famine in Samaria. {18:3} And Ahab called Obadiah, the manager of his household. Now Obadiah feared the Lord greatly. {18:4} For when Jezebel was killing the prophets of the Lord, he took one hundred prophets, and concealed them, fifty and fifty, in caves. And he fed them with bread and water. {18:5} Then Ahab said to Obadiah, "Go into the land, to all fountains of water, and to all the valleys, for perhaps we will be able to find plants, and save the horses and mules, so that the beasts of burden may not perish entirely." {18:6} And they divided the regions among themselves, so that they might travel through them. Ahab went one way alone, and Obadiah went another way by himself. {18:7} And while Obadiah was on the way, Elijah met him. And when he had recognized him, he fell on his face, and he said, "Are you not my lord Elijah?" {18:8} And he responded to him: "I am. Go and tell your lord that Elijah is here." {18:9} And he said: "How have I sinned that you would deliver me, your servant, into the hand of Ahab, so that he would put me to death? {18:10} As the Lord your God lives, there is no nation or kingdom to which my lord has not sent, seeking you. And when all responded, 'He is not here,' he swore each fifty and fifty, in caves, and how I fed them with bread and water? {18:14} And now you say: 'Go and tell your lord that Elijah is here,' so that he may kill me!" {18:15} And Elijah said, "As the Lord of hosts lives, before whose face I stand, this day I will appear to him." {18:16} Therefore, Obadiah went away to meet Ahab, and he reported to him. And Ahab went to meet Elijah. {18:17} And when he had seen him, he said, "Are you the one who is disturbing Israel?" {18:18} And he said: "I have not troubled Israel. But it is you, and the house of your father, who have abandoned the commandments of the Lord, and have followed the Baals. {18:19} Yet truly now, send and gather to me all of Israel, on Mount Carmel, with the four hundred and fifty prophets of Baal, and the four hundred prophets of the sacred groves, who eat from the table of Jezebel." {18:20} Ahab sent to all the sons of Israel, and he gathered together the prophets on mount Carmel. {18:21} Then Elijah, drawing near to all the people, said: "How long will you waver between two sides? If the Lord is God, follow him. But if Baal is, then follow him." And the people did not respond a word to him. {18:22} And Elijah said again to the people: "I alone remain as a prophet of the Lord. But the prophets of Baal are four hundred and fifty men. {18:23} Let two oxen be given to us. And let them choose one ox for themselves, and, cutting it into pieces, let them set it on the wood. But they may not place fire under it. And I will prepare the other ox, and set it on the wood. But I will not place fire under it. {18:24} Call upon the names of your gods. And I will call on the name of my Lord. And the God who will have heeded with fire, let him be God." And in response, all the people said, "Excellent proposition." {18:25} Then Elijah said to the prophets of Baal: "Choose for yourselves one ox, and prepare it first. For you are many. And call on the names of your gods, but do not place fire under it." {18:26} And when they had taken an ox, which he had given to them, they prepared it. And they called on the name of Baal, from morning even until midday, saying, "O Baal, heed us." And there was no voice, nor did anyone respond. And so they leaped upon the altar that they had made. {18:27} And when it was now midday, Elijah ridiculed them, saying: "Cry out with a louder voice. For he is a god, and perhaps he is talking, or at an inn, or on a journey, or certainly he may be asleep, and must be awakened." {18:28} Then they cried out with a loud voice, and they cut themselves, in accord with their ritual, with knives and lancets, until they were entirely covered in blood. {18:29} Then, after midday had passed, and they were prophesying, the time had arrived when the sacrifice is usually offered. And there was no voice heard, neither did anyone heed or respond to the praying. {18:30} Elijah said to all the people, "Draw near to me." And as the people were drawing near to him, he repaired the altar of the Lord, which had been torn down. {18:31} And he took twelve stones, in accord with the number of the tribes of the sons of Jacob, to whom the word of the Lord came, saying, "Israel shall be your name." {18:32} And he built from the stones an altar to the name of the Lord. And he made a trench for water, like two furrows of plowed land, all around the altar.
{18:33} And he arranged the wood, and he cut the ox into pieces, and he placed it on the wood. {18:34} And he said, “Fill four containers with water, and pour it over the holocaust, and over the wood.” And again, he said, “Do this a second time.” And when they had done it a second time, he said, “Do it also a third time.” And they did so a third time. {18:35} And the water was running down around the altar, and the pit of the trench was filled with water. {18:36} And when it was now time for the holocaust to be offered, the prophet Elijah, drawing near, said: “O Lord, God of Abraham, and Isaac, and Israel, reveal this day that you are the God of Israel, and that I am your servant, and that I have acted, in all these things, in accord with your precept. {18:37} Heed me, O Lord, heed me, so that this people may learn that you are the Lord God, and that you have converted their heart again.” {18:38} Then the fire of the Lord fell down and devoured the holocaust, and the wood, and the stones, and even the dust, and it absorbed the water that was in the trench. {18:39} And when all the people had seen it, they fell upon their face, and they said: “The Lord himself is God! The Lord himself is God!” {18:40} And Elijah said to them, “Apprehend the prophets of Baal, and do not let even one of them escape.” And when they had apprehended them, Elijah led them down to the torrent Kishon, and he put them to death there. {18:41} And Elijah said to Ahab “Ascend; eat and drink. For there is the sound of an abundance of rain.” {18:42} Ahab ascended, so that he might eat and drink. But Elijah ascended to the top of Carmel, and bending down to the ground, he placed his face between his knees. {18:43} And he said to his servant, “Ascend, and gaze out toward the sea.” And when he had ascended, and had contemplated, he said, “There is nothing.” And again, he said to him, “Return seven times.” {18:44} And at the seventh time, behold, a little cloud ascended from the sea like the footstep of a man. And he said: “Ascend, and say to Ahab, ‘Yoke your chariot, and descend; otherwise, the rain may prevent you.’ ” {18:45} And as he was turning himself this way and that, behold, the heavens were darkened, and there were clouds and wind, and a great rainstorm occurred. And so Ahab, going up, went away to Jezerel. {18:46} And the hand of the Lord was upon Elijah. And cinching his waist, he ran before Ahab, until he arrived at Jezerel.

[1 Kings 19] {19:1} Then Ahab reported to Jezebel all that Elijah had done, and how he had killed all the prophets with the sword. {19:2} And so Jezebel sent a messenger to Elijah, saying, “May the gods to these things, and may they add these other things, if by this hour tomorrow I will not have made your life like the life of one of them.” {19:3} Therefore, Elijah was afraid. And rising up, he went away to wherever his will would carry him. And he arrived in Beersheba of Judah. And he dismissed his servant there. {19:4} And he continued on, into the desert, for one day’s journey. And when he had arrived, and was sitting under a juniper tree, he requested for his soul that he might die. And he said: “It is enough for me, O Lord. Take my soul. For I am no better than my fathers.” {19:5} And he stretched himself out, and he slept deeply in the shadow of the juniper tree. And behold, an Angel of the Lord touched him, and said to him, “Rise up and eat.” {19:6} He looked, and behold, at his head was bread baked under ashes, and a container of water. Then he ate and drank, and again he slept deeply. {19:7} And the Angel of the Lord returned a second time, and touched him, and said to him: “Rise up, eat. For a great journey again stands before you.” {19:8} And he when he had risen up, he ate and drank. And he walked by the strength of that food for forty days and forty nights, as far as the mountain of God, Horeb. {19:9} And when he had arrived there, he stayed in a cave. And behold, the word of the Lord came to him, and said to him, “What are you doing here, Elijah?” {19:10} And he responded: “I have been very zealous on behalf of the Lord, the God of hosts. For the sons of Israel have forsaken your covenant. They have torn down your altars. They have killed your prophets with the sword. I alone remain. And they are seeking my life, so that they may take it away.” {19:11} And he said to him, “Go out and stand on the mount before the Lord.” And behold, the Lord passed by. And there was a great and strong wind, tearing apart the mountains, and crushing the rocks before the Lord. But the Lord was not in the wind. And after the wind, there was an earthquake. But the Lord was not in the earthquake. {19:12} And after the earthquake, there was a fire. But the Lord was not in the fire. And after the fire, there was the whisper of a gentle breeze. {19:13} And when Elijah had heard it, he covered his face with his cloak, and going out, he stood at the entrance of the cave. And behold, there was a voice to him, saying: “What are you doing here, Elijah?” And he responded: {19:14} “I have been very zealous on behalf of the Lord, the God of hosts. For the sons of Israel have forsaken your covenant. They have torn down your altars. They have killed your prophets with the sword. I alone remain. And they are seeking my life, so that they may take it away.” {19:15} And the Lord said to him: “Go, and return on your way, through the desert, to Damascus. And when you have arrived there, you shall anoint Hazael as king over Syria. {19:16} And you shall anoint Jehu, the son of Nimshi, as king over Israel. But Elisha, the son of Shaphat, who is from Abelmeelahol, you shall anoint to be a prophet in your place. {19:17} And this shall be: whoever will have escaped from the sword of Hazael, will be slain by Jehu. And whoever will have escaped from the sword of Jehu, will be put to death by Elisha. {19:18} And I will leave for myself seven thousand men in Israel, whose knees have not been bent before Baal, and every mouth that has not adored him, kissing hands.” {19:19} Therefore, Elijah, setting out from there, found Elisha, the son of Shaphat, plowing with twelve yoke of oxen. And he himself was one of those who were plowing with the twelve yoke of oxen. And when Elijah had gone to him, he cast his mantle over him. {19:20} And immediately, leaving behind the oxen, he ran after Elijah. And he said, “I beg you to let me kiss my father and my mother, and then I will follow you.” And he said to him: “Go, and turn back. For what was mine to do, I have done concerning you.” {19:21} Then, turning back from him, he took a pair of oxen, and he slew them. And he cooked the flesh with the plow of the oxen. And he gave it to the people, and they ate. And rising up, he went and followed Elijah, and he ministered to him.

[1 Kings 20] {20:1} Then Benhadad, the king of Syria, gathered together his entire army. And there were thirty-two kings with him, with horses and chariots. And ascending, he fought against Samaria, and he besieged it. {20:2} And sending messengers into the city, to Ahab, the king of Israel,
1 Kings 20:3 he said: “Thus says Benhadad: Your silver and your gold is mine. And your wives and your best sons are mine.”

1 Kings 20:4 And the king of Israel responded, “In agreement with your word, my lord the king, I am yours, with all that is mine.”

1 Kings 20:5 And the messengers, returning, said: “Thus says Benhadad, who sent us to you: Your silver and your gold, and your wives and your sons, you shall give to me.

1 Kings 20:6 Therefore, tomorrow, at this same hour, I will send my servants to you, and they will search your house and the houses of your servants. And all that pleases them, they will put in their hands and take away.”

1 Kings 20:7 Then the king of Israel called all the elders of the land, and he said: “Let your souls take heed, and see that he commits treachery against us. For he sent to me for my wives and sons, and for silver and gold. And I did not refuse.”

1 Kings 20:8 And all those greater by birth, with all the people, said to him, “You should neither listen, nor acquiesce to him.”

1 Kings 20:9 And so, he responded to the messengers of Benhadad: “Tell my lord the king: Everything about which you sent to me in the beginning, I your servant will do. But this thing, I am not able to do.”

1 Kings 20:10 And returning, the messengers took this to him, and he sent again and said, “May the gods do these things to me, and may they add these other things, if the dust of Samaria is enough to fill the hands of all the people who follow me.”

1 Kings 20:11 And responding, the king of Israel said, “Tell him that one who is girded should not boast the same as one who is ungirded.”

1 Kings 20:12 Then it happened that, when Benhadad had heard this word, he and the kings were drinking in a pavilion. And he said to his servants, “Encircle the city.” And they encircled it.

1 Kings 20:13 And behold, one prophet, drawing near to Ahab, the king of Israel, said to him: “Thus says the Lord: Certainly, you have seen this entire exceedingly great multitude? Behold, I will deliver them into your hand today, so that you may know that I am the Lord.”

1 Kings 20:14 And Ahab said, “By whom?” And he said to him: “Thus says the Lord: By the footmen of the leaders of the provinces.” And he said, “Who should begin to do battle?” And he said, “You should.”

1 Kings 20:15 Therefore, he took a count of the servants of the leaders of the provinces. And he found the number to be two hundred thirty-two. And he set them in order after the people, all the sons of Israel, who were seven thousand.

1 Kings 20:16 And they went out at midday. But Benhadad was drinking; he was inebriated in his pavilion, and the thirty-two kings with him, who had arrived in order to assist him.

1 Kings 20:17 Then the servants of the leaders of the provinces went out to the first place, at the front. And so, Benhadad sent, and they reported to him, saying: “Men have gone out from Samaria.”

1 Kings 20:18 And he said: “If they have arrived for peace, apprehend them alive; if to do battle, capture them alive.”

1 Kings 20:19 Therefore, the servants of the leaders of the provinces went out, and the remainder of the army was following.

1 Kings 20:20 And each one struck down the man who came against him. And the Syrians fled, and Israel pursued them. Also, Benhadad, the king of Syria, fled on a horse, with his horsemen.

1 Kings 20:21 But the king of Israel, going out, struck the horses and the chariots, and he struck the Syrians with a great slaughter.

1 Kings 20:22 Then a prophet, drawing near to the king of Israel, said to him: “Go and be strengthened. And know and see what you are doing. For in the following year, the king of Syria will rise up against you.”

1 Kings 20:23 Then truly, the servants of the king of Syria said to him: “Their gods are the gods of the mountains; because of this, they have overwhelmed us. But it is better that we fight against them in the plains, and then we will prevail over them.”

1 Kings 20:24 Therefore, you should do this word: Remove each of the kings from your army, and set commanders in their place.

1 Kings 20:25 And replace the number of soldiers who have been cut down of yours, and the horses, in accord with the earlier number of horses, and the chariots, in accord with the number of chariots that you had before. And we will fight against them in the plains, and you will see that we will prevail over them.” And he trusted in their counsel, and he did so.

1 Kings 20:26 Therefore, after the passing of the year, Benhadad took a count of the Syrians, and he ascended to Aphek, so that he might fight against Israel. Then the sons of Israel were numbered, and taking provisions, they set out to the opposite side. And they stretched out the camp facing them, like two little flocks of goats. But the Syrians filled the land.

1 Kings 20:28 And one man of God, drawing near, said to the king of Israel: “Thus says the Lord: Because the Syrians have said, ‘The Lord is the God of the mountains, but he is not the God of the valleys,’ I will deliver this entire great multitude into your hand, and you shall know that I am the Lord.”

1 Kings 20:29 And for seven days, both sides arranged each of their battle lines. Then, on the seventh day, the war was undertaken. And the sons of Israel struck down, from the Syrians, one hundred thousand foot soldiers in one day.

1 Kings 20:30 Then those who had remained fled to Aphek, into the city. And the wall fell upon twenty-seven thousand men of those who had remained. Then Benhadad, fleeing, entered the city, into a room that was inside another room.

1 Kings 20:31 And his servants said to him: “Behold, we have heard that the kings of the house of Israel show clemency. And so, let us put sackcloth around our waists, and ropes on our heads, and let us go out to the king of Israel. Perhaps he will save our lives.”

1 Kings 20:32 So they wrapped sackcloth around their waists, and they placed ropes on their heads. And they went to the king of Israel, and they said to him: “Your servant, Benhadad, says: ‘I beg you to let my soul live.’ ” And he replied, “If he is still alive, he is my brother.”

1 Kings 20:33 The men accepted this as a good sign. And hastily, they took up the word from his mouth, and they said, “Benhadad is your brother.” And he said to them, “Go, and bring him to me.” Therefore, Benhadad went out to him, and he lifted him onto his chariot.

1 Kings 20:34 And he said to him: “The cities that my father took from your father, I will return. And you may make streets for yourself in Damascus, just as my father made in Samaria. And after we have made a pact, I will withdraw from you.” Therefore, he formed a pact with him, and he released him.

1 Kings 20:35 Then a certain man from the sons of the prophets said to his associate, by the word of the Lord, “Strike me.” But he was not willing to strike. And he said to him: “Because you were not willing to heed the voice of the Lord, behold, you will depart from me, and a lion will slay you. And when he had departed a short distance from him, a lion found him, and slew him.

1 Kings 20:37 But upon finding another man, he said to him, “Strike me.” And he struck him, and wounded him.

1 Kings 20:38 Then the prophet departed. And he met the king along the way, and he changed his appearance by sprinkling dust around his mouth and eyes.

1 Kings 20:39 And when the king had passed by, he cried out to the king, and he said: “Your servant went out to do battle in close quarters. And when one man had fled, a certain person brought him to me, and he said: ‘Guard this man. For if he slips away, your life will take the place of his life, or you will weigh out one talent of silver.’ {20:40} And while I was distracted, turning one way and another, suddenly, he was not to be seen.” And the king of Israel said to him, “This is your judgment, that which you yourself have decreed.” {20:41} Then immediately, he wiped away the dust from his face, and the king of Israel recognized him, that he was one of the prophets. {20:42} And he said to him: “Thus says the Lord: Because you have released from your hand a man worthy of death, your life will take the place of his life, and your people will take the place of his people.” {20:43} And so the king of Israel returned to his house, unwilling to listen, and a fury entered into Samaria.

[1 Kings 21] {21:1} And after these things, in that time, there was a vineyard of Naboth, the Jezreelite, who was in Jezreel, beside the palace of Ahab, the king of Samaria. {21:2} Therefore,Ahab spoke to Naboth, saying: “Give your vineyard to me, so that I may make for myself a garden of herbs. For it is nearby and is beside my house. And I will give to you, in place of it, a better vineyard. Or if you consider it to be more convenient for you, I will give you the price in silver, whatever it is worth.” {21:3} Naboth responded to him, “May the Lord be gracious to me, lest I give to you the inheritance of my fathers.” {21:4} Then Ahab went into his house, angry and gnashing his teeth over the word that Naboth, the Jezreelite, had spoken to him, saying, “I will not give you the inheritance of my fathers.” And casting himself on his bed, he turned away his face to the wall, and he would not eat bread. {21:5} Then Jezebel, his wife, entered to him, and she said to him: “What is this matter, by which your soul has been saddened? And why do you not eat bread?” {21:6} And he responded to her: “I spoke to Naboth, the Jezreelite, and I said to him: ‘Give your vineyard to me, and accept money. Or if it pleases you, I will give to you a better vineyard, in place of it.’ And he said, ‘I will not give my vineyard to you.’ ” {21:7} Then Jezebel, his wife, said to him:
“You are of great authority, and you rule well in the kingdom of Israel. Rise up and eat bread, and be even-tempered. I will give the vineyard of Naboth, the Jezreelite, to you.” {21:8} And so, she wrote letters in the name of Ahab, and she sealed these with his ring. And she sent to those greater by birth, and to the nobles who were in his city and living with Naboth. {21:9} And this was the judgment of the letters: “Proclaim a fast, and cause Naboth to sit among the first rulers of the people. {21:10} And send out two men, sons of Belial, against him. And let them speak the false testimony:
‘He has blasphemed God and king.’ And then lead him away, and stone him, and so let him die.” {21:11} Then his fellow citizens, those greater by birth and the nobles who were living with him in the city, did just as Jezebel had instructed them, and just as it was written in the letters that she had sent to them. {21:12} They proclaimed a fast, and they caused Naboth to sit among the first rulers of the people.
{21:13} And bringing forward two men, sons of the devil, they caused them to sit opposite him. And they, acting indeed like diabolical men, spoke testimony against him before the multitude: “Naboth has blasphemed God and king.” For this reason, they led him away, beyond the city, and they put him to death by stoning. {21:14} And they sent to Jezebel, saying, “Naboth has been stoned, and he has died.” {21:15} Then it happened that, when Jezebel had heard that Naboth was stoned and was dead, she said to Ahab: ‘Rise up and take possession of the vineyard of Naboth, the Jezreelite, who was not willing to acquiesce to you, and to give it to you in exchange for money. For Naboth is not alive, but dead.” {21:16} And when Ahab had heard this, namely, that Naboth was dead, he rose up and descended to the vineyard of Naboth, the Jezreelite, so that he might take possession of it. {21:17} Then the word of the Lord came to Elijah, the Tishbite, saying: {21:18} “Rise up, and descend to meet Ahab, the king of Israel, who is in Samaria. Behold, he is descending to the vineyard of Naboth, so that he may take possession of it. {21:19} And you shall speak to him, saying: ‘Thus says the Lord: You have killed.
Moreover you have also taken possession.’ And after this, you shall add: ‘Thus says the Lord: In this place, where the dogs have licked the blood of Naboth, they shall also lick your blood.’ ” {21:20} And Ahab said to Elijah, “Have you discovered me to be your enemy?” And he said: “I have discovered you to have been sold, so that you would do evil in the sight of the Lord: {21:21} ‘Behold, I will lead evil over you. And I will cut down your posterity. And I will put to death of Ahab whatever urinates against a wall, and whatever is lame, and whatever is last in Israel. {21:22} And I will cause your house to be like the house of Jeroboam, the son of Nebat, and like the house of Baasha, the son of Ahijah.
For you have acted so that you provoked me to anger, and so that you caused Israel to sin.” {21:23} And about Jezebel also, the Lord spoke, saying: ‘The dogs shall consume Jezebel in the field of Jezreel. {21:24} If Ahab will have died in the city, the dogs will consume him. But if he will have died in the field, the birds of the air will consume him.’ ”
{21:25} And so,
there was no other person similar to Ahab, who was sold so that he did evil in the sight of the Lord. For his wife, Jezebel, urged him on. {21:26} And he became abominable, so much so that he followed the idols that the Amorites had made, whom the Lord consumed before the face of the sons of Israel.
{21:27} Then, when Ahab had heard these words, he tore his garments, and he put haircloth on his body, and he fasted, and he slept in sackcloth, and he walked with his head downcast. {21:28} And the word of the Lord came to Elijah, the Tishbite, saying: {21:29} “Have you not seen how Ahab has humbled himself before me? Therefore, since he has humbled himself because of me, I will not lead in the evil during his days. Instead, during the days of his son, I will bring in the evil to his house.”

[1 Kings 22] {22:1} Then three years passed without war between Syria and Israel. {22:2} But in the third year, Jehoshaphat, the king of Judah, descended to the king of Israel. {22:3} And the king of Israel said to his servants, “Are you ignorant that Ramoth Gilead is ours, and that we have neglected to take it from the hand of the king of Syria?” {22:4} And so he said to Jehoshaphat, “Will you come to the battle with me at Ramoth Gilead?” {22:5} And Jehoshaphat said to the king of Israel: “As I am, so also are you. My people and your people are one. And my horsemen are your horsemen.” And Jehoshaphat said to the king of Israel, “I beg you to inquire today of the word of the Lord.”
{22:6} Therefore, the king of Israel gathered together
the prophets, about four hundred men, and he said to them, “Should I go to Ramoth Gilead to make war, or should I be at peace?” They responded, “Ascend, and the Lord will give it into the hand of the king." {22:7} Then Jehoshaphat said, "Is there not here a particular prophet of the Lord, so that we may inquire by him?" {22:8} And the king of Israel said to Jehoshaphat: "One man remains, by whom we may be able to inquire of the Lord: Micaiah, the son of Imlah. But I hate him. For he does not prophecy good to me, but evil." And Jehoshaphat said, "You should not speak in this way, O king." {22:9} Therefore, the king of Israel called a certain eunuch, and he said to him, "Hurry to bring here Micaiah, the son of Imlah." {22:10} Now the king of Israel, and Jehoshaphat, the king of Judah, were each sitting upon his own throne, clothed in the habit of royal vestments, in a courtyard beside the entrance of the gate of Samaria. And all the prophets were prophesying in their sight. {22:11} Also, Zedekiah, the son of Chenaanah, made for himself horns of iron, and he said, "Thus says the Lord: With these, you shall threaten Syria, until you destroy it." {22:12} And all the prophets were prophesying similarly, saying: "Ascend to Ramoth Gilead, and go forth to success. For the Lord will deliver it into the hands of the king." {22:13} Then truly, the messenger who had gone to summon Micaiah spoke to him, saying: "Behold, the words of the prophets, as if with one mouth, are predicting good to the king. Therefore, let your word be like theirs, and speak what is good." {22:14} But Micaiah said to him, "As the Lord lives, whatever the Lord will have said to me, this shall I speak." {22:15} And so he went to the king. And the king said to him, "Micaiah, should we go to Ramoth Gilead to do battle, or should we cease?" And he responded to him, "Ascend, and go forth to success, and the Lord will deliver it into the hands of the king." {22:16} But the king said to him, "I require you under oath, again and again, that you not say to me anything except what is true, in the name of the Lord." {22:17} And he said: "I saw all of Israel scattered among the hills, like sheep that have no shepherd. And the Lord said: 'These have no master. Let each of them return to his own house in peace.'" {22:18} Therefore, the king of Israel said to Jehoshaphat: "Did I not tell you that he prophesies nothing good to me, but always evil?" {22:19} Yet truly, continuing, he said: "Because of his, listen to the word of the Lord. I saw the Lord sitting upon his throne. And the entire army of heaven was standing beside him, to the right and to the left. {22:20} And the Lord said, 'Who will mislead Ahab, the king of Israel, so that he may ascend and fall at Ramoth Gilead?' And one spoke words in this manner, and another spoke otherwise. {22:21} But then a spirit went out and stood before the Lord. And he said, 'I will mislead him.' And the Lord said to him, 'By what means?' {22:22} And he said, 'I will go forth, and I will be a lying spirit in the mouth of all his prophets.' And the Lord said: 'You will deceive him, and you will prevail. Go forth, and do so.' {22:23} So now, behold: the Lord has given a lying spirit into the mouth of all your prophets who are here. And the Lord has spoken evil against you." {22:24} Then Zedekiah, the son of Chenaanah, drew near and struck Micaiah on the jaw, and he said, "So then, has the Spirit of the Lord left me, and spoken to you?" {22:25} And Micaiah said, "You shall see in the day when you will enter into a room within a room, so that you may conceal yourself." {22:26} And the king of Israel said: "Take Micaiah, and let him dwell with Amon, the ruler of the city, and with Joash, the son of Amalech. {22:27} And tell them: 'Thus says the king: Put this man in prison, and sustain him with the bread of affliction, and with the water of distress, until I return in peace.'" {22:28} And Micaiah said, "If you will have returned in peace, the Lord has not spoken through me." And he said, "May all the people hear it." {22:29} And so, the king of Israel, and Jehoshaphat, the king of Judah, ascended to Ramoth Gilead. {22:30} Then the king of Israel said to Jehoshaphat: "Take up your armor, and enter the battle. And be clothed in your own garments." But the king of Israel changed his clothing, and he entered the war. {22:31} Now the king of Syria had instructed the thirty-two commanders of the chariots, saying, "You shall not fight against anyone, small or great, except against the king of Israel alone." {22:32} Therefore, when the commanders of the chariots saw Jehoshaphat, they suspected that he was the king of Israel. And making a violent assault, they fought against him. And Jehoshaphat cried out. {22:33} And the commanders of the chariots understood that he was not the king of Israel, and so they turned away from him. {22:34} But a certain man bent his bow, aiming the arrow without certitude, and by chance he struck the king of Israel, between the lungs and the stomach. Then he said to the driver of his chariot, "Turn your hand, and carry me away from the army, for I have been grievously wounded." {22:35} Then the battle was undertaken throughout that day. And the king of Israel was standing on his chariot opposite the Syrians, and he died in the evening. For the blood was flowing from the wound into the joints of the chariot. {22:36} And a herald proclaimed throughout the entire army, before the setting of the sun, saying: "Let each one return to his own city, and to his own land." {22:37} Then the king died, and he was carried into Samaria. And they buried the king in Samaria. {22:38} And they washed his chariot in the pool of Samaria. And the dogs licked up his blood. And they washed the reins, in accord with the word of the Lord which he had spoken. {22:39} But the rest of the words of Ahab, and all that he did, and the house of ivory that he built, and all the cities that he constructed, were these not written in the book of the words of the days of the kings of Israel? {22:40} And so, Ahab slept with his fathers. And Ahaziah, his son, reigned in his place. {22:41} Yet truly, Jehoshaphat, the son of Asa, had begun to reign over Judah in the fourth year of Ahab, the king of Israel. {22:42} He was thirty-five years old when he had begun to reign, and he reigned for twenty-five years in Jerusalem. The name of his mother was Azubah, the daughter of Shilhi. {22:43} And he walked in the entire way of Asa, his father, and he did not decline from it. And he did what was right in the sight of the Lord. {22:44} Yet truly, he did not take away the high places. For still the people were sacrificing and burning incense in the high places. {22:45} And Jehoshaphat had peace with the king of Israel. {22:46} But the rest of the words of Jehoshaphat, and his works that he did, and the battles, were these not written in the book of the words of the days of the kings of Judah? {22:47} Then, too, the remnant of the effeminate, who had remained in the days of Asa, his father, he took away from the land. {22:48} At that time, there was no king appointed in Idumea. {22:49} Yet truly, king Jehoshaphat had made a navy on the sea, which would sail to Ophir for gold. But they were unable to go, because the ships were broken down at Eziongeber. {22:50} Then Ahaziah, the son of Ahab, said to Jehoshaphat, "Let my servants go with your servants on the ships." But Jehoshaphat was not willing. {22:51} And Jehoshaphat slept with his fathers, and he was buried with them in the city of David, his father. And Jehoram, his son, reigned in his place. {22:52} Then Ahaziah, the son of Ahab, began to reign over Israel, in Samaria, in the seventeenth year of Jehoshaphat, the king of Judah. And he reigned over Israel for two years. {22:53} And he did evil in the sight of the Lord. And he walked in the way of his father and his mother, and in the way of Jeroboam, the son of Nebat, who caused Israel to sin. {22:54} Also, he served Baal, and he adored him, and he provoked the Lord, the God of Israel, in accord with all that his father had done.

 The Second Book of Kings **

[2 Kings 1] {1:1} Then, after the death of Ahab, Moab transgressed against Israel. {1:2} And Ahaziah fell down through the lattices of his upper room, which he had in Samaria, and he was injured. And he sent messengers, saying to them, “Go, consult Beelzebub, the god of Ekron, as to whether I may be able to survive this infirmity of mine.” {1:3} And an Angel of the Lord spoke to Elijah, the Tishbite, saying: “Rise up, and ascend to meet the messengers of the king of Samaria. And you shall say to them: ‘Is there not a God in Israel, so that you would go to consult Beelzebub, the god of Ekron?’ {1:4} For this reason, says the Lord: From the bed to which you have ascended, you shall not descend. Instead, dying you shall die.’ ” And Elijah went away. {1:5} And the messengers returned to Ahaziah. And he said to them, “Why have you returned?” {1:6} But they responded to him: “A man met us, and he said to us: ‘Go, and return to the king who sent you. And you shall say to him: Thus says the Lord: Is it because there was no God in Israel that you are sending to consult Beelzebub, the god of Ekron? Therefore, from the bed to which you have ascended, you shall not descend. Instead, dying you shall die.’ ” {1:7} And he said to them: “What was the appearance and dress of that man, who met you and who spoke these words?” {1:8} So they said, “A hairy man, with a belt of leather wrapping his waist.” And he said, “It is Elijah, the Tishbite.” {1:9} And he sent to him a leader of fifty, with the fifty who were under him. And he ascended to him, sitting at the top of a hill, and he said, “Man of God, the king commanded that you should descend.” {1:10} And responding, Elijah said to the leader of fifty, “If I am a man of God, let fire from heaven descend and devour you and your fifty.” And then fire from heaven descended and devoured him and the fifty who were with him. {1:11} And again, he sent to him another leader of fifty, and the fifty with him. And he said to him, “Man of God, thus says the king: Hurry, descend.” {1:12} Responding, Elijah said, “If I am a man of God, let fire from heaven descend and devour you and your fifty.” And fire from heaven descended and devoured him and his fifty. {1:13} Again, he sent a third leader of fifty men and the fifty who were with him. And when he had arrived, he bent his knees before Elijah, and he pleaded with him, and said: “Man of God, do not choose to despise my life and the lives of your servants who are with me. {1:14} Behold, fire from heaven descended and devoured the two previous leaders of fifty and the fifties who were with them. But now I beg you to take pity on my life.” {1:15} Then the Angel of the Lord spoke to Elijah, saying, “Descend with him; fear not.” And so, he arose and descended with him to the king. {1:16} And he said to him: “Thus says the Lord: Because you sent messengers to consult Beelzebub, the god of Ekron, as if there were no God in Israel, from whom you would be able to seek a word, therefore, from the bed to which you have ascended, you shall not descend. Instead, dying you shall die.” {1:17} And so he died, in accord with the word of the Lord, which Elijah spoke. And Jehoram, his brother, reigned in his place, in the second year of Jehoram, the son of Jehoshaphat, the king of Judah. For he had no son. {1:18} But the rest of the words of Ahaziah that he worked, have these not been written in the book of the words of the days of the kings of Israel?

[2 Kings 2] {2:1} Now it happened that, when the Lord willed to lift up Elijah into heaven by a whirlwind, Elijah and Elisha were going out of Gilgal. {2:2} And Elijah said to Elisha: “Remain here. For the Lord has sent me as far as Bethel.” And Elisha said to him, “As the Lord lives, and as your soul lives, I will not forsake you.” And when they had descended to Bethel, {2:3} the sons of the prophets, who were at Bethel, went out to Elisha. And they said to him, “Do you not know that today the Lord will take away your lord from you?” And he responded: “I know it. Be silent.” {2:4} Then Elijah said to Elisha: “Remain here. For the Lord has sent me to Jericho.” And he said, “As the Lord lives, and as your soul lives, I will not forsake you.” And when they had arrived at Jericho, {2:5} the sons of the prophets, who were at Jericho, drew near to Elisha. And they said to him, “Do you not know that today the Lord will take away your lord from you?” And he said: “I know it. Be silent.” {2:6} Then Elijah said to him: “Remain here. For the Lord has sent me as far as the Jordan.” And he said, “As the Lord lives, and as your soul lives, I will not forsake you.” And so, the two of them continued on together. {2:7} And fifty men from the sons of the prophets followed them, and they stood opposite them, at a distance. But the two of them were standing above the Jordan. {2:8} And Elijah took his cloak, and he rolled it up, and he struck the waters, which were divided into two parts. And they both went across on dry ground. {2:9} And when they had gone across, Elijah said to Elisha, “Ask what you wish that I may do for you, before I am taken from you.” And Elisha said, “I beg you, that twice your spirit may be accomplished in me.” {2:10} And he responded: “You have requested a difficult thing. Nevertheless, if you see me when I am taken from you, you will have what you requested. But if you do not see, it shall not be.” {2:11} And as they continued on, they were conversing while walking. And behold, a fiery chariot with fiery horses divided the two. And Elijah ascended by a whirlwind into heaven. {2:12} Then Elisha saw it, and he cried out: “My father, my father! The chariot of Israel with its driver!” And he saw him no more. And he took hold of his mantle! And he撕 up the cloak of Elijah, which had fallen from him. And turning back, he stood above the bank of the Jordan. {2:14} And he struck the waters with the cloak of Elijah, which had fallen from him, and they were not divided. And he said, “Where is the God of Elijah, even now?” And he struck the waters, and they were divided here and there. And Elisha went across. {2:15} Then the sons of the prophets, who were at Jericho, watching from a distance, said, “The spirit of Elijah has rested upon Elisha.” And approaching to meet him, they reverenced him prone on the ground. {2:16} And they said to him, “Behold, with your servants there are fifty strong men, who are able to go forth and to seek your lord. For perhaps, the Spirit of the Lord has taken him up and cast him upon some mountain, or into some valley.” But he said, “Do not send them.” {2:17} And they urged him, until he acquiesced and said, “Send them.” And they sent fifty men. And after they had searched for three days, they did not find him. {2:18} And they returned to him, for he was living in Jericho. And he said to them: “Did I not say to you, ‘Do not send them?’ ” {2:19} Also, the men of the city said to Elisha: “Behold, this city is a very good habitation, as you yourself perceive, O lord. But the waters are very bad, and the ground is barren.” {2:20} And so he said, “Bring a new vessel to me, and place salt in it.” And when they had brought it, {2:21} he went out to the source of the waters, and he cast the salt into it. And he said: “Thus says the Lord: I have healed these waters, and no longer shall there be death or barrenness in them.” {2:22} Then the waters were healed, even to this day, in accord with the word of Elisha, which he spoke. {2:23} Then he went up from there into Bethel. And as he was ascending along the way, little boys departed from the city. And they were mocking him, saying: “Go up, bald head! Go up, bald head!” {2:24} And when he had looked back, he saw them, and he cursed them in the name of the Lord. And two bears went out from the forest, and they wounded forty-two boys among them. {2:25} Then he went away from there to mount Carmel. And he returned from there into Samaria.

[2 Kings 3] {3:1} Truly, Joram, the son of Ahab, reigned over Israel, in Samaria, in the eighteenth year of Jehoshaphat, the king of Judah. And he reigned for twelve years. {3:2} And he did evil in the sight of the Lord, but not as his father and mother did. For he took away the statues of Baal, which his father had made. {3:3} Yet truly, he did adhere to the sins of Jeroboam, the son of Nebat, who caused Israel to sin; neither did he withdraw from these. {3:4} Now Mesha, the king of Moab, raised many sheep. And he repaid to the king of Israel one hundred thousand lambs, and one hundred thousand rams, with their fleece. {3:5} And when Ahab had died, he transgressed the pact that he had with the king of Israel. {3:6} Therefore, king Joram departed on that day from Samaria, and he took a count of all of Israel. {3:7} And he sent to Jehoshaphat, the king of Judah, saying: “The king of Moab was withdrawn from me. Come to battle with me against him.” And he responded: “I will go up. What is mine, is yours. My people are your people. And my horses are your horses.” {3:8} And he said, “Along which way shall we ascend?” So he responded, “Along the desert of Idumea.” {3:9} Therefore, the king of Israel, and the king of Judah, and the king of Idumea, traveled, and they went by a circuitous path for seven days. But there was no water for the army or for the beasts of burden which were following them. {3:10} And the king of Israel said: “Alas, alas, alas! The Lord has gathered we three kings, so that he might deliver us into the hands of Moab.” {3:11} And Jehoshaphat said, “Is there not a prophet of the Lord here, so that we may appeal to the Lord through him?” And one of the servants of the king of Israel responded, “Elisha, the son of Shaphat, is here, who poured water upon the hands of Elijah.” {3:12} And Jehoshaphat said, “The word of the Lord is with him.” And so, the king of Israel, with Jehoshaphat, the king of Judah, and with the king of Idumea, descended to him. {3:13} Then Elisha said to the king of Israel: “What is there between you and me? Go to the prophets of your father and your mother.” And the king of Israel said to him, “Why has the Lord gathered these three kings, so that he might deliver them into the hands of Moab?” {3:14} And Elisha said to him: “As the Lord of hosts lives, in whose sight I stand, if I was not humbled by the face of Jehoshaphat, the king of Judah, certainly I would neither have listened to you, nor have looked upon you. {3:15} But now, bring a musician to me.” And while the musician was playing, the hand of the Lord fell upon him, and he said: {3:16} “Thus says the Lord: Make, in the channel of this torrent, pit after pit. {3:17} For thus says the Lord: You shall not see wind or rain. And yet this channel shall be filled with water. And you shall drink, you and your families, and your beasts of burden. {3:18} And this is small in the sight of the Lord. So, in addition, he will also deliver Moab into your hands. {3:19} And you shall strike every fortified town and every elect city. And you shall cut down every fruitful tree. And you shall obstruct all the sources of water. And you shall cover every excellent field with stones.” {3:20} Then it happened that, in the morning, when the sacrifices were usually to be offered, behold, water was arriving along the way of Idumea, and the land was filled with water. {3:21} Then all the Moabites, hearing that the kings had ascended so that they might fight against them, gathered all who had been girded with a belt around them, and they stood at the borders. {3:22} And rising up in early morning, and when the sun was now rising before the waters, the Moabites saw the waters opposite them, which were red like blood. {3:23} And they said: “It is the blood of the sword! The kings have fought among themselves, and they have slain one another. Go now, Moab, to the spoils!” {3:24} And they went into the camp of Israel. But Israel, rising up, struck Moab, and they fled before them. And since they had prevailed, they went and struck down Moab. {3:25} And they destroyed the cities. And they filled up every excellent field, each one casting stones. And they obstructed all the sources of water. And they cut down all the fruitful trees, to such an extent that only brick walls remained. And the city was encircled by the slingers of stones. And a great part of it was struck down. {3:26} And when the king of Moab had seen this, specifically, that the enemies had prevailed, he took with him seven hundred men who draw the sword, so that he might break through to the king of Idumea. But they were unable. {3:27} And taking his firstborn son, who would have reigned in his place, he offered him as a holocaust upon the wall. And there was great indignation in Israel. And they promptly withdrew from him, and they turned back to their own land.

[2 Kings 4] {4:1} Now a certain woman, from the wives of the prophets, cried out to Elisha, saying: “My husband, your servant, is dead. And you know that your servant was one who fears the Lord. And behold, a creditor has arrived, so that he may take away my two sons to serve him.” {4:2} And Elisha said to her: “What do you want me to do for you? Tell me, what do you have in your house?” And she responded, “I, your handmaid, do not have anything in my house, except a little oil, with which I may be anointed." {4:3} And he said to her: "Go, ask to borrow from all your neighbors empty vessels, more than a few. {4:4} And enter and close your door. And when you are inside with your sons, pour from the oil into all those vessels. And when they are full, take them away." {4:5} And so, the woman went and closed the door upon herself and her sons. They were bringing her the vessels, and she was pouring into them. {4:6} And when the vessels had been filled, she said to her son, "Bring me another a vessel." And he responded, "I have none." And there was oil remaining. {4:7} Then she went and told the man of God. And he said: "Go, sell the oil, and repay your creditor. Then you and your sons may live on what remains."

{4:8} Now it happened that, on a certain day, Elisha passed by Shunem. And there was a great woman there, who took him to eat bread. And since he frequently passed by there, he turned aside to her house, so that he might eat bread. {4:9} And she said to her husband: "I have noticed that he is a holy man of God, who passes by us frequently. {4:10} Therefore, let us prepare a small upper room for him, and place a bed in it for him, and a table, and a chair, and a lampstand, so that when he comes to us, he may stay there." {4:11} Then it happened that, on a certain day, arriving, he turned aside into the upper room, and he rested there. {4:12} And he said to his servant Gehazi, "Call this Shunammite woman." And when he had called her, and she stood before him, {4:13} he said to his servant: "Say to her: Behold, you have ministered to us attentively in all things. What do you want, that I might do for you? Do you have any business, or do you want me to speak to the king, or to the leader of the military?" And she responded, "I live in the midst of my own people." {4:14} And he said, "Then what does she want, that I might do for her?" And Gehazi said: "You need not ask. For she has no son, and her husband is elderly." {4:15} And so, he instructed him to call her. And when she had been called, and was standing before the door, {4:16} he said to her, "At this time, and at this same hour, with life as a companion, you will have a son in your womb." But she responded, "Do not, I ask you, my lord, a man of God, do not be willing to lie to your handmaid." {4:17} And the woman conceived. And she bore a son, in the time and at the same hour as Elisha had said. {4:18} And the boy grew. And on a certain day, when he had gone out to his father, to the harvesters, {4:19} he said to his father: "I have a pain in my head. I have a pain in my head." But he said to his servant, "Take him, and lead him to his mother." {4:20} But when he had taken him, and he had led him to his mother, she placed him upon her knees, until midday, and then he died. {4:21} Then she went up and laid him out on the bed of his mother. And when he leaned himself over him, and the body of the boy grew warm. {4:22} Then she went and told the man of God. And he said to his servant Gehazi, "Call this Shunammite woman." And having been called, she entered to him. And he said, "Take up your son." And Gehazi returned to Gilgal. Now there was a famine in the land, and the sons of the prophets were living in his sight. And he said to one of his servants, "Set out a large cooking pot, and boil a soup for the sons of the prophets." {4:39} And one went out into the field, so that he might collect wild herbs. And he found something like a wild vine, and he gathered from it bitter fruits of the field, and he filled his cloak. And returning, he cut these up for the pot of soup. But he did not know what it was. {4:40} Then they poured it out for their companions to eat. And when they had tasted the mixture, they cried out, saying, "Death is in the cooking pot, O man of God!" And they were unable to eat. {4:41} But he said, "Bring some flour." And when they had brought it, he cast it into the cooking pot, and he said, "Pour it out for the group, so that they may eat." And there was no longer any bitterness in the cooking pot. {4:42} Now a certain man arrived from Baal-Shalishah, carrying, for the man of God, bread from the first-fruits, twenty loaves of barley, and new grain in his satchel. But he said, "Give it to the people, so that they may eat." {4:43} And his servant responded to him, "What amount is this, that I should set it before a hundred men?" But he said again: "Give it to the people, so that they may eat. For thus says the Lord, 'They shall eat, and there shall be still more.' " {4:44} And so, he set it before them. And they ate, and there was still more, in accord with the word of the Lord.

For through him the Lord gave salvation to Syria. And he was a strong and rich man, but a leper. {5:2} Now robbers had gone out from Syria, and they had led away captive, from the land of Israel, a little girl. And she was in the service of the wife of Naaman. {5:3} And she said to her lady: “I wish that my lord had been with the prophet who is in Samaria. Certainly, he would have cured him of the leprosy that he has.” {5:4} And so, Naaman entered to his lord, and he reported to him, saying: “The girl from the land of Israel spoke in such a manner.” {5:5} And the king of Syria said to him, “Go, and I will send a letter to the king of Israel.” And when he had set out, he had taken with him ten talents of silver, and six thousand gold coins, and ten changes of fine clothing. {5:6} And he brought the letter to the king of Israel, in these words: “When you will receive this letter, know that I have sent to you my servant, Naaman, so that you may heal him of his leprosy.” {5:7} And when the king of Israel had read the letter, he tore his garments, and he said: “Am I God, so that I could take or give life, or so that this man would send to me to cure a man from his leprosy? Take notice and see that he is seeking occasions against me.” {5:8} And when Elisha, the man of God, had heard this, specifically, that the king of Israel had torn his garments, he sent to him, saying: “Why have you torn your garments? Let him come to me, and let him know that there is a prophet in Israel.” {5:9} Therefore, Naaman arrived with his horses and chariots, and he stood at the door of the house of Elisha. {5:10} And Elisha sent a messenger to him, saying, “Go, and wash seven times the Jordan, and your flesh will receive health, and you will be clean.” {5:11} And becoming angry, Naaman went away, saying: “I thought that he would have come out to me, and, standing, would have invoked the name of the Lord, his God, and that he would have touched the place of the leprosy with his hand, and so have healed me. {5:12} Are not the Abana and the Pharpar, the rivers of Damascus, better than all the waters of Israel, so that I might wash in them and be cleansed?” But then, after he had turned himself away and was leaving with indignation, {5:13} his servants approached him, and they said to him: “If the prophet had told you, father, to do something great, certainly you ought to have done it. How much more so, now that he has said to you: ‘Wash, and you will be clean?’ ” {5:14} So he descended and washed in the Jordan seven times, in accord with the word of the man of God. And his flesh was restored, like the flesh of a little child. And he was made clean. {5:15} And returning to the man of God, with his entire retinue, he arrived, and stood before him, and he said: “Truly, I know there is no other God, in all the earth, except in Israel. And so I beg you to accept a blessing from your servant.” {5:16} But he responded, “As the Lord lives, before whom I stand, I will not accept it.” And though he urged him strongly, he did not agree at all. {5:17} And Naaman said: “As you wish. But I beg you to grant to me, your servant, that I may take from here the burden of two mules from the ground. For your servant will no longer offer holocaust or victim to other gods, except to the Lord. {5:18} But there is still this matter, for which you will entreat the Lord on behalf of your servant: when my lord enters the temple of Rimmon, so that he may adore there, and he leans on my hand, if I will bow down in the temple of Rimmon, while he is adoring in the same place, that the Lord may ignore me, your servant, concerning this matter.” {5:19} And he said to him, “Go in peace.” Then he went away from him, in the elect time of the earth. {5:20} And Gehazi, the servant of the man of God, said: “My lord has spared Naaman, this Syrian, by not receiving from him what he brought. As the Lord lives, I will run after him, and take something from him.” {5:21} And so, Gehazi followed after the back of Naaman. And when he had seen him running toward him, he leaped down from his chariot to meet him, and he said, “Is all well?” {5:22} And he said: “It is well. My lord has sent me to you, saying: ‘Just now two youths from the sons of the prophets have come to me from mount Ephraim. Give them a talent of silver, and two changes of clothing.’ ” {5:23} And Naaman said, “It is better that you accept two talents.” And he urged him, and he bound the two talents of silver in two bags, with two changes of clothing. And he set them upon two of his servants, who carried them before him. {5:24} And when now he had arrived in the evening, he took them from their hands, and he stored them in the house. And he dismissed the men, and they went away. {5:25} Then, having entered, he stood before his lord. And Elisha said, “Where are you coming from, Gehazi?” He responded, “Your servant did not go anywhere.” {5:26} But he said: “Was my heart not present, when the man turned back from his chariot to meet you? And now you have received money, and you have received garments, so that you might buy olive groves, and vineyards, and sheep, and oxen, and men and women servants. {5:27} So then, the leprosy of Naaman shall adhere to you, and to your offspring forever.” And he departed from him a leper, as white as snow.

[2 Kings 6] {6:1} Now the sons of the prophets said to Elisha: “Behold, the place in which we live before you is too narrow for us. {6:2} Let us go as far as the Jordan, and let us each take from the forest a piece of timber, so that we may build for ourselves a place to live there.” And he said, “Go.” {6:3} And one of them said, “Then you, too, should go with your servants.” And he answered, “I will go.” {6:4} And he went with them. And when they had arrived at the Jordan, they were cutting down wood. {6:5} Then it happened that, while someone was cutting timber, the iron of the ax fell into the water. And he cried out and said: “Alas, alas, alas, my lord! For this thing was borrowed.” {6:6} Then the man of God said, “Where did it fall?” And he indicated to him the place. Then he cut off a piece of wood, and he threw it in. And the iron floated up. {6:7} And he said, “Take it.” And he extended his hand, and took it. {6:8} Now the king of Syria was fighting against Israel, and he took counsel with his servants, saying, “In this and that place, let us set up an ambush.” {6:9} And so the man of God sent to the king of Israel, saying: “Take care not to pass by that place. For the Syrians are there in ambush.” {6:10} And so the king of Israel sent to the place which the man of God had told him, and he prevented it. And he preserved himself, concerning that place, not merely once or twice. {6:11} And the heart of the king of Syria was disturbed over this matter. And calling together his servants, he said, “Why have you not revealed to me the one who is betraying me to the king of Israel?” {6:12} And one of his servants said: “By no means, my lord the king! Rather it is the prophet Elisha, who is in Israel, who is revealing to the king of Israel every word whatsoever that you will speak in your conclave.” {6:13} And he said to them, “Go, and see where he is, so that I may send and capture him.” And they reported to him, saying, “Behold, he is in Dothan.” {6:14} Therefore, he sent horses, and chariots, and experienced soldiers to that place. And when they had arrived in the night, they encircled the city. {6:15} Now the servant of the man of God, arising at first light, went out and saw the army all around the city, with horses and chariots. And he reported it to him, saying: “Alas, alas, alas, my lord! What shall we do?” {6:16} But he responded: “Do not be afraid. For there are more with us than with them.” {6:17} And when Elisha had prayed, he said, “O Lord, open the eyes of this one, so that he may see.” And the Lord opened the eyes of the servant, and he saw. And behold, the mountain was full of horses and chariots of fire, all around Elisha. {6:18} Then truly, the enemies descended to him. But Elisha prayed to the Lord, saying: “Strike, I beg you, this people with blindness.” And the Lord struck them, so that they would not see, in accord with the word of Elisha. {6:19} Then Elisha said to them: “This is not the way, and this is not the city. Follow me, and I will reveal to you the man whom you are seeking.” Then he led them into Samaria. {6:20} And when they had entered into Samaria, Elisha said, “O Lord, open the eyes of these ones, so that they may see.” And the Lord opened their eyes, and they saw themselves to be in the midst of Samaria. {6:21} And the king of Israel, when he had seen them, said to Elisha, “My father, should I not strike them?” {6:22} And he said: “You should not strike them. For you did not capture them with your sword or bow, so that you might strike them. Instead, set bread and water before them, so that they may eat and drink, and then go to their lord.” {6:23} And a great preparation of foods was placed before them. And they ate and drank. And he dismissed them. And they went away to their lord. And the robbers of Syria no longer came into the land of Israel. {6:24} Now it happened that, after these things, Benhadad, the king of Syria, gathered together his entire army, and he ascended and was besieging Samaria. {6:25} And a great famine occurred in Samaria. And it was blockaded for a long time, until the head of a donkey was sold for eighty pieces of silver, and one fourth part of a pint of pigeons’ dung sold for five silver coins. {6:26} And as the king of Israel was passing by the wall, a certain woman cried out to him, saying, “Save me, my lord the king!” {6:27} And he said: “If the Lord does not save you, how am I able to save you? From the grain floor, or from the wine press?” And the king said to her, “What is the matter with you?” And she responded: {6:28} “This woman said to me: ‘Give your son, so that we may eat him today, and we will eat my son tomorrow.’ ” {6:29} Therefore, we cooked my son, and we ate him. And I said to her on the next day, ‘Give your son, so that we may eat him.’ But she concealed her son.” {6:30} When the king had heard this, he tore his garments, and he passed along the wall. And all the people saw the haircloth that he had worn underneath, beside his flesh. {6:31} And the king said, “May God do these things to me, and may he add these other things, if the head of Elisha, the son of Shaphat, will remain on him this day!” {6:32} Now Elisha was sitting in his house, and the elders were sitting with him. And so he sent a man ahead. And before that messenger arrived, he said to the elders: “Do you not know that this son of a murderer is sending someone to cut off my head? Therefore, watch, and when the messenger arrives, close the door. And you shall not permit him to enter. For behold, the sound of his lord’s feet is behind him.” {6:33} While he was still speaking to them, the messenger appeared who was sent to him. And he said: “Behold, such a great evil is from the Lord! What more should I expect from the Lord?”

[2 Kings 7] {7:1} Then Elisha said: “Listen to the word of the Lord. Thus says the Lord: Tomorrow, at this time, one measure of fine wheat flour will be one silver coin, and two measures of barley will be one silver coin, at the gate of Samaria.” {7:2} And one of the leaders, upon whose hand the king leaned, responding to the man of God, said, “Even if the Lord will open the floodgates of heaven, how can what you say possibly be?” And he said, “You will see it with your own eyes, and you will not eat from it.” {7:3} Now there were four lepers beside the entrance of the gate. And they said one to another: “Should we choose to stay here until we die? {7:4} If we choose to enter the city, we will die from the famine. And if we remain here, we also will die. Therefore, come and let us flee over to the camp of the Syrians. If they spare us, we will live. But if they choose to kill us, we will die anyway.” {7:5} Therefore, they rose up in the evening, so that they might go to the camp of the Syrians. And when they had arrived at the beginning of the camp of the Syrians, they found no one in that place. {7:6} For indeed, the Lord had caused them to hear, in the camp of Syria, the sound of chariots and horses, and a very numerous army. And they said one to another: “Behold, the king of Israel has paid wages to the kings of the Hittites and of the Egyptians against us. And they will overwhelm us.” {7:7} Therefore, they rose up and fled away in the dark. And they left behind their tents and horses and donkeys in the camp. And they fled, desiring to save so much as their own lives. {7:8} And so, when these lepers had arrived at the beginning of the camp, they entered one tent, and they ate and drank. And they took from there silver, and gold, and clothing. And they went away and hid it. And they returned again to another tent, and similarly, carrying away from there, they hid it. {7:9} Then they said one to another: “We are not doing the right thing. For this is a day of good news. If we remain silent and refuse to report it until morning, we will be charged with a crime. Come, let us go and report it in the court of the king.” {7:10} And when they had arrived at the gate of the city, they explained to them, saying: “We went into the camp of the Syrians, and we found no one in that place, except horses and donkeys tied, and the tents still standing.” {7:11} Therefore, the gatekeepers went and reported it in the palace of the king. {7:12} And he rose up in the night, and he said to his servants: “I tell you what the Syrians have done to us. They know that we are suffering from famine, and therefore they have gone out from the camp, and they lie hidden in the fields, saying: ‘When they will have gone out from the city, we will capture them alive, and then we will be able to enter the city.’ ” {7:13} But one of his servants responded: “Let us take the five horses that remain in the city (for there were no more amid the entire multitude of Israel, since the rest had been consumed), and sending, we will be able to explore.” {7:14} Therefore, they brought two horses. And the king sent them into the camp of the Syrians, saying, “Go, and see.” {7:15} And they went away after them, as far as the Jordan. But behold, the entire way was filled with clothing and vessels, which the Syrians had thrown aside when they were disturbed. And the messengers returned and told the king.
And the people, going out, pillaged the camp of the Syrians. And one measure of fine wheat flour went for one silver coin, and two measures of barley went for one silver coin, in accord with the word of the Lord. Then the king stationed that leader, on whose hand he leaned, at the gate. And the crowd trampled him at the entrance of the gate. And he died, in accord with what the man of God had said when the king had descended to him. And this happened in accord with the word of the man of God, which he had spoken to the king, when he said: “Two measures of barley will be one silver coin, and one measure of fine wheat flour will be one silver coin, at this same time tomorrow, at the gate of Samaria.” Then that leader had responded to the man of God, and he had said, “Even if the Lord will open the floodgates of heaven, how can what you say possibly happen?” And he said to him, “You will see it with your own eyes, and you will not eat from it.” Therefore, it happened to him just as it had been predicted. For the people trampled him at the gate, and he died.

[2 Kings 8] {8:1} Now Elisha spoke to the woman, whose son he had caused to live, saying: “Rise up. Go, you and your household, and sojourn in whatever place you can find. For the Lord has called forth a famine, and it shall overwhelm the land for seven years.” {8:2} And she rose up, and she acted in accord with the word of the man of God. And going with her household, she sojourned in the land of the Philistines for many days. {8:3} And when the seven years had ended, the woman returned from the land of the Philistines. And she departed, so that she might petition the king on behalf of her house and on behalf of her fields. {8:4} Now the king was speaking with Gehazi, the servant of the man of God, saying, “Describe for me all the great deeds that Elisha has done.” {8:5} And as he was describing for the king the manner in which he had raised the dead, the woman appeared, whose son he had restored to life, crying out to the king on behalf of her house and on behalf of her fields. And Gehazi said, “My lord the king, this is the woman, and this is her son, whom Elisha raised up.” {8:6} And the king questioned the woman. And she explained it to him. And the king appointed a eunuch to her, saying, “Restore to her all that is hers, with all the proceeds of the fields, from the day that she left the land until the present.” {8:7} Also, Elisha arrived in Damascus, and Benhadad, the king of Syria, was ill. And they reported to him, saying, “The man of God has arrived here.” {8:8} And the king said to Hazael: “Take with you gifts. And go to meet the man of God. And consult the Lord through him, saying: ‘Will I be able to escape from this, my infirmity?’ ” {8:9} And so, Hazael went to meet him, having with him gifts, and all the goods of Damascus, the burdens of forty camels. And when he had stood before him, he said: “Your son, Benhadad, the king of Syria, sent me to you, saying: ‘Will I be able to be healed from this, my infirmity?’ ” {8:10} And Elisha said to him: “Go, tell him: ‘You will be healed.’” But the Lord has revealed to me that, dying he shall die.” {8:11} And he stood beside him, and he was so troubled that his face became flushed. And the man of God wept. {8:12} And Hazael said to him, “Why is my lord weeping?” And he said: “Because I know the evil that you will do to the sons of Israel. Their fortified cities you will burn with fire. And their young men you will kill with the sword. And you will destroy their little ones, and tear open the pregnant women.” {8:13} And Hazael said, “But what am I, your servant, a dog, that I would do this great thing?” And Elisha said, “The Lord has revealed to me that you will be the king of Syria.” {8:14} And when he had departed from Elisha, he went to his lord, who said to him, “What did Elisha say to you?” And he responded: “He said to me, ‘You shall receive health.’ ” {8:15} And when the next day had arrived, he took a small covering, and poured water on it, and he spread it over his face. And when he died, Hazael reigned in his place. {8:16} In the fifth year of Joram, the son of Ahab, the king of Israel, and of Jehoshaphat, the king of Judah: Jehoram, the son of Jehoshaphat, reigned as the king of Judah. {8:17} He was thirty-two years old when he had begun to reign, and he reigned for eight years in Jerusalem. {8:18} And he walked in the ways of the kings of Israel, just as the house of Ahab had walked. For the daughter of Ahab was his wife. And he did what was evil in the sight of the Lord. {8:19} But the Lord was not willing to destroy Judah, because of David, his servant, just as he had promised him, so that he might grant a light to him and to his sons, for all days. {8:20} In his days, Idumea drew apart, so as not to be under Judah, and they appointed a king for themselves. {8:21} And so, Jehoram went to Zair, and all the chariots with him. And he rose up in the night, and he struck down the Idumeans who had surrounded him, and the leaders of the chariots. But the people fled to their tents. {8:22} And Idumea drew apart, so as not to be under Judah, even to this day. Then Libnah also drew apart, at the same time. {8:23} Now the rest of the words of Jehoram, and all that he did, have these not been written in the book of the words of the days of the kings of Judah? {8:24} And Jehoram slept with his fathers, and he was buried with them in the city of David. And Ahaziah, his son, reigned in his place. {8:25} In the twelfth year of Joram, the son of Ahab, the king of Israel: Ahaziah, the son of Jehoram, the king of Judah, reigned. {8:26} Ahaziah was twenty-two years old when he had begun to reign, and he reigned for one year in Jerusalem. The name of his mother was Athaliah, the daughter of Omri, the king of Israel. {8:27} And he walked in the ways of the house of Ahab. And he did what is evil before the Lord, just as the house of Ahab did. For he was the son-in-law of the house of Ahab. {8:28} Also, he went with Joram, the son of Ahab, in order to fight against Hazael, the king of Syria, at Ramoth Gilead. And the Syrians had wounded Joram. {8:29} And he turned back, so that he might be cured at Jezreel. For the Syrians had wounded him at Ramoth, fighting against Hazael, the king of Syria. Then Ahaziah, the son of Jehoram, the king of Judah, descended to visit Joram, the son of Ahab, at Jezreel, because he was sick there.
{9:4} Therefore, the young man, a servant of the prophet, went away to Ramoth Gilead. {9:5} And he entered that place, and behold, the leaders of the army were sitting there, and he said, “I have a word for you, O prince.” And Jehu said, “For which one among us all?” And he said, “For you, O prince.” {9:6} And he rose up and entered into the room. And he poured the oil on his head, and he said: “Thus says the Lord, the God of Israel: ‘I have anointed you as king over Israel, the people of the Lord.’ ” {9:7} And you shall witness the house of Ahab, your lord. And I will avenge the blood of my servants, the prophets, and the blood of all the servants of the Lord, from the hand of Jezebel. {9:8} And I will destroy the entire house of Ahab. And I will cause to pass away from Ahab, whatever urinates against a wall, and whatever is lame, and whatever is least in Israel. {9:9} And I will make the house of Ahab like the house of Jeroboam, the son of Nebat, and like the house of Baasha, the son of Ahijah. {9:10} Also, the dogs will consume Jezebel, in the field of Jezreel. Neither will there be anyone who may bury her.” And then he opened the door, and he fled. {9:11} Then Jehu went out to the servants of his lord. And they said to him: “Is everything well? Why has this insane man come to you?” And he said to them, “You know the man, and what he said.” {9:12} But they responded, “That is false; instead, you should tell us.” And he said to them, “He said to me these certain things, and he said, ‘Thus says the Lord: I have anointed you as king over Israel.’ ” {9:13} And so they hurried away. And each one, taking his cloak, placed it under his feet, in the manner of a seat for judgment. And they sounded the trumpet, and they said: “Jehu reigns!” {9:14} Then Jehu, the son of Jehoshaphat, the son of Nimshi, conspired against Joram. Now Joram had besieged Ramoth Gilead, and he and all of Israel, against Hazael, the king of Syria. {9:15} And he had returned, so that he might be cured at Jezreel, because of his wounds. For the Syrians had struck him, while he was fighting against Hazael, the king of Syria. And Jehu said, “If it pleases you, let no one depart, fleeing from the city; otherwise he may go and give a report in Jezreel.” {9:16} And he climbed up and set out for Jezreel, because Joram was sick there, and Ahaziah, the king of Judah, had gone down to visit Joram. {9:17} And so the watchman, who was standing upon the tower of Jezreel, saw the crowd of Jehu arriving, and he said, “I see a crowd.” And Joram said: “Take a chariot, and send to meet them. And those who go should say, ‘Is everything well?’ ” {9:18} Therefore, he who had climbed into the chariot went away to meet him, and he said, “The king says this: ‘Is everything peaceful?’ ” And Jehu said: “What peace is there for you? Pass by and follow me.” Also the watchman gave a report, saying, “The messenger went to them, but he did not return.” {9:19} And then he sent a second chariot of horses. And he went to them, and he said, “The king says this: ‘Is there peace?’ ” And Jehu said: “What peace is there for you? Pass by and follow me.” {9:20} Then the watchman gave a report, saying: “He went all the way to them, but he did not return. But their advance is like the advance of Jehu, the son of Nimshi. For he advances precipitously.” {9:21} And Joram said, “Yoke the chariot.” And they yoked his chariot. And Joram, the king of Israel, and Ahaziah, the king of Judah, departed, each in his chariot. And they went out to meet Jehu. And they met him in the field of Naboth, the Jezreelite. {9:22} And when Joram had seen Jehu, he said, “Is there peace, Jehu?” And he responded: “What is peace? For still the fornications of your mother, Jezebel, and her many poisons, are thriving.” {9:23} Then Joram turned his hand, and, fleeing, he said to Ahaziah, “Treachery, Ahaziah!” {9:24} But Jehu bent his bow with his hand, and he struck Joram between the shoulders. And the arrow went through his heart, and immediately he fell in his chariot. {9:25} And Jehu said to Bidkar, his commander: “Take and cast him into the field of Naboth, the Jezreelite. For I remember, when you and I, sitting in a chariot, were following Ahab, this man’s father, that the Lord lifted this burden upon him, saying: {9:26} ‘Certainly, I will repay you in this field, says the Lord, for the blood of Naboth, and for the blood of his sons, which I saw yesterday, says the Lord.’ Therefore, take him now, and cast him into the field, in accord with the word of the Lord.” {9:27} But Ahaziah, the king of Judah, seeing this, fled along the way of the garden house. And Jehu pursued him, and he said, “Strike this one also in his chariot.” And they struck him on the ascent to Gur, which is beside Ibleam. But he fled into Megiddo, and he died there. {9:28} And his servants placed him upon his chariot, and they took him to Jerusalem. And they buried him in the sepulcher with his fathers, in the city of David. {9:29} In the eleventh year of Joram, the son of Ahab, Ahaziah reigned over Judah. {9:30} And Jehu went into Jezreel. But Jezebel, hearing of his arrival, painted her eyes with cosmetics, and adorned her head. And she watched through a window, {9:31} as Jehu was entering through the gate. And she said, “Is it possible for there to be peace for Zimri, who killed his lord?” {9:32} And Jehu lifted up his face to the window, and he said, “Who is this woman?” And two or three eunuchs bowed down before him. {9:33} And he said to them, “Throw her down with force.” And they threw her forcefully, and the wall was splattered with her blood, and the hoofs of the horses trampled her. {9:34} And when he had entered, so that he might eat and drink, he said: “Go, and see to that cursed woman, and bury her. For she is the daughter of a king.” {9:35} But when they had gone, so that they might bury her, they found nothing but the skull, and the feet, and the ends of her hands. {9:36} And returning, they reported to him. And Jehu said: “It is the word of the Lord, which he spoke though his servant, Elijah the Tishbite, saying: ‘In the field of Jezreel, the dogs will consume the flesh of Jezebel.’ ” {9:37} And the flesh of Jezebel will be like dung upon the face of the earth, in the field of Jezreel, so that those who pass by may say: ‘Is this that same Jezebel?’ ”

[2 Kings 10] {10:1} Now Ahab had seventy sons in Samaria. And so Jehu wrote letters, and he sent to Samaria, to the nobles of the city, and to those greater by birth, and to those who had raised Ahab’s sons, saying: {10:2} “Immediately when you receive these letters, you who have your lord’s sons, and chariots, and horses, and reinforced cities, and weapons, {10:3} choose him who is better and who pleases you from among the sons of your lord, and set him on the throne of his father, and fight for the house of your lord.” {10:4} But they were vehemently afraid, and they said: “Behold, two kings were not able to stand before him. So how will we be able to withstand him?” {10:5} Therefore, those who were in charge of the house, and the prefects of the city, and those greater by birth, and those who raised the sons, sent to Jehu, saying: “We are your servants. Whatever you will order, we will do.
Rechab, said to the worshippers of Baal, “Inquire and see entering the temple of Baal with Jehonadab, the son of... if anyone will have entered the precinct of the temple, let him be killed. And you shall be with the king, entering and departing." {11:9} And the centurions acted in accord with all the things that Jehoiada, the priest, had instructed them. And taking each one of their men who would enter on the Sabbath, with those who would depart on the Sabbath, they went to Jehoiada, the priest. {11:10} And he gave to them the Sabbath, with those who would depart on the Sabbath, they and the priests, according to their ranks, take and use it in order to repair the surfaces of the temple. {12:7} And king Jehoash called the high priest, Jehoiada, and the priests, saying to them: “Why have you not repaired the surfaces of the temple? Therefore, you may no longer accept money according to your ranks. Instead, return it in order that the temple may be repaired.” {12:8} And so the priests were prohibited from accepting any more money from the people to repair the surfaces of the house. {12:9} And the high priest, Jehoiada, took a certain chest, and he opened a hole in the top, and he placed it beside the altar, to the right of those who were entering the house of the Lord. And the priests who kept the doors put all the money in it which was being brought into the temple of the Lord. {12:10} And when they saw that there was a great amount of money in the chest, the scribe of the king and the high priest went up and poured it out. And they counted the money that was found in the house of the Lord. {12:11} And they gave it out, by number and measure, to the hands of those who were over the precincts of the house of the Lord. And they weighed it out to the carpenters and masons, to those who were working in the house of the Lord {12:12} and restoring the surfaces, and to those who were cutting stones, and buying timber and stones to be cut, so that the repairs to the house of the Lord might be finished: for all that was needed toward the expenses in order to strengthen the house. {12:13} Yet truly, from the same money, they did not make for the temple of the Lord water pitchers, or small hooks, or censers, or trumpets, or any vessel of gold or silver, such as hooks, or censers, or trumpets, or any vessel of gold or silver, for the temple of the Lord was enraged against Israel, and he delivered them to custom, and the singers and trumpets near him, and all the people who would enter, and to the crowd outside the temple of the Lord. {11:14} she saw the king standing upon a tribunal, according to custom, and the singers and trumpets near him, and all the people of the land rejoicing and sounding the trumpets. And she tore her garments, and she cried out: “Conspiracy! Conspiracy!” {11:15} But Jehoiada gave orders to the people of the land rejoicing and sounding the trumpets. And she tore her garments, and she cried out: “Conspiracy! Conspiracy!” {11:16} And they laid hands on her. And they pushed her through the way by which horses enter, beside the palace. And she was killed there. {11:17} Then Jehoiada formed a covenant between the Lord, and the king and the people, so that they would be the people of the Lord; and between the king and the people. {11:18} And all the people of the land entered the temple of Baal, and they tore down his altars, and they thoroughly crushed the statues. Also, they killed Mattan, the priest of Baal, before the altar. And the priest placed guards in the house of the Lord. {11:19} And he took the centurions, and the legions of the Cherethites and Pelethites, and all the people of the land, and together they led the king from the house of the Lord. And they went by way of the gate of the shield bearers into the palace. And he sat upon the throne of the kings. {11:20} And all the people of the land rejoiced. And the city was quieted. But Athaliah was slain with the sword at the house of the king. {11:21} Now Jehoash was seven years old when he had begun to reign.

[2 Kings 12] {12:1} In the seventh year of Jehu, Jehoash reigned. And he reigned for forty years in Jerusalem. The name of his mother was Zebiah from Beersheba. {12:2} And Jehoash did what was right in the sight of the Lord, during all the days that Jehoiada, the priest, taught him. {12:3} Yet still he did not take away the high places. For the people were still immolating, and burning incense, in the high places. {12:4} And Jehoash said to the priests: “All of the money for the holy things, which has been brought into the temple of the Lord from those who pass by, which is offered for the price of a soul, and which they bring into the temple of the Lord willingly, from their own free heart: {12:5} let the priests, according to their ranks, take and use it in order to repair the surfaces of the house, wherever they see anything in need of repair.” {12:6} And yet, even until the twenty-third year of king Jehoash, the priests did not repair the into the hand of Haza-el, the king of Syria, and into the hand of Ben-hadad, the son of Haza-el, during all the days. {13:4} But Jehoahaz petitioned the face of the Lord, and the Lord heeded him. For he saw the anguish of Israel, because the king of Syria had oppressed them. {13:5} And the Lord gave a savior to Israel. And they were freed from the hand of the king of Syria. And the sons of Israel lived in their tabernacles, just as yesterday and the day before. {13:6} Yet truly, they did not withdraw from the sins of the house of Jeroboam, who had caused Israel to sin. Instead, they walked by them. And there was even a sacred grove still remaining in Samaria. {13:7} And there was left to Jehoahaz from the people nothing but fifty horsemen, and ten chariots, and ten thousand foot soldiers. For the king of Syria had killed them, and he had reduced them to become like dust on a threshing floor. {13:8} But the rest of the words of Jehoahaz, and all that he did, and his strength, have these not been written in the book of the words of the days of the kings of Israel? {13:9} And Jehoahaz slept with his fathers, and they buried him in Samaria. And Joash, his son, reigned in his place. {13:10} In the thirty-seventh year of Jehoahaz, the king of Judah, Joash, the son of Jehoahaz, reigned over Israel, in Samaria, for sixteen years. {13:11} And he did what is evil in the sight of the Lord. He did not turn aside from all the sins of Jeroboam, the son of Nebat, who caused Israel to sin. Instead, he walked by them. {13:12} But the rest of the words of Joash, and all that he did, and his strength, the manner in which he fought against Amaziah, the king of Judah, have these not been written in the book of the words of the days of the kings of Israel? {13:13} And Joash slept with his fathers. Then Jeroboam sat upon his throne. And Joash was buried in Samaria, with the kings of Israel. {13:14} Now Elisha was sick of the infirmity from which he also died. And Joash, the king of Israel, descended to him. And he was weeping before him, and saying: “My father, my father! The chariot of Israel and its driver!” {13:15} And Elisha said to him, “Bring a bow and arrows.” And when he had brought a bow and arrows to him, {13:16} he said to the king of Israel, “Place your hand upon the bow.” And when he had placed his hand, Elisha place his own hands over the hands of the king. {13:17} And he said, “Open the window toward the east.” And when he had opened it, Elisha said, “Shoot an arrow.” And he shot it. And Elisha said: “It is the arrow of the salvation of the Lord, and the arrow of salvation against Syria. And you shall strike the Syrians at Aphel, until you consume them.” {13:18} And he said, “Take the arrows.” And when he had taken them, he then said to him, “Strike an arrow against the ground.” And when he had struck three times, and he had stood still, {13:19} the man of God became angry against him. And he said: “If you had struck five or six or seven times, you would have struck down Syria, even until it was consumed. But now you will strike it three times.” {13:20} Then Elisha died, and they buried him. And the robbers from Moab came into the land in the same year. {13:21} But certain ones who were burying a man saw the robbers, and they cast the dead body into the sepulcher of Elisha. But when it had touched the bones of Elisha, the man revived, and he stood upon his feet. {13:22} Now Haza-el, the king of Syria, afflicted Israel during all the days of Haza-haz. {13:23} But the Lord took pity on them, and he returned to them, because of his covenant, which he had made with Abraham, and Isaac, and Jacob. And he was not willing to destroy them, nor to cast them out completely, even to the present time. {13:24} Then Haza-el, the king of Syria, died. And Ben-hadad, his son, reigned in his place. {13:25} Now Jehoash, the son of Haza-haz, by a just war, took the cities from the hand of Ben-hadad, the son of Haza-el, which he had taken from the hand of Haza-haz, his father. Jehoash struck him three times, and he restored the cities to Israel.

[2 Kings 14] {14:1} In the second year of Jehoahaz, the king of Israel: Amaziah, the son of Jehoahaz, reigned as king of Judah. {14:2} He was twenty-five years old when he had begun to reign. And he reigned for twenty-nine years in Jerusalem. The name of his mother was Jehoaddan from Jerusalem. {14:3} And he did what is right before the Lord, yet truly, not like David, his father. He acted in accord with all the things that his father Jehoahaz did, {14:4} except for this alone: he did not take away the high places. For still the people were immolating, and burning incense, in the high places. {14:5} And when he had obtained the kingdom, he struck down those of his servants who had killed his father, the king. {14:6} But the sons of those who had been killed he did not put to death, in accord with what was written in the book of the law of Moses, just as the Lord instructed, saying: “The fathers shall not die for the sons, and the sons shall not die for the fathers. Instead, each one shall die for his own sin.” {14:7} He struck down ten thousand men of Idumea, in the Valley of the Salt Pits. And he captured ‘the Rock’ in battle, and he called its name ‘Subdued by God,’ even to the present day. {14:8} Then Amaziah sent messengers to Jehoash, the son of Jehoahaz, the son of Jehu, the king of Israel, saying: “Come, and let us see one another.” {14:9} And Jehoash, the king of Israel, sent a reply to Amaziah, the king of Judah, saying: “A thistle of Lebanon sent to a cedar, which is in Lebanon, saying: ‘Give your daughter as wife to my son.’ And the beasts of the forest, which are in Lebanon, passed by and trampled the thistle. {14:10} You have struck and prevailed over Idumea. And your heart has lifted you up. Be content with your own glory, and be seated your own house. Why would you provoke evil, so that you would fall, and Judah with you?” {14:11} But Amaziah was not quieted. And so Jehoash, the king of Israel, went up. And he and Amaziah, the king of Judah, saw one another at Beth-shemesh, a town in Judah. {14:12} And Judah was struck down before Israel, and they fled, each to their own tents. {14:13} And truly, Jehoash, the king of Israel, captured Amaziah, the king of Judah, the son of Jehoash, the son of Ahaziah, at Beth-shemesh. And he brought him to Jerusalem. And he breached the wall of Jerusalem, from the gate of Ephraim as far as the gate of the Corner, four hundred cubits. {14:14} And he took away all the gold and silver, and all the vessels, which were found in the house of the Lord and in the treasuries of the king, and he returned to Samaria with hostages. {14:15} But the rest of the words of Jehoash, which he accomplished, and his strength, with which he fought against Amaziah, the king of Judah, have these not been written in the book of the words of the days of the kings of Israel? {14:16} And Jehoash slept with his fathers, and he was buried in Samaria, with the kings of Israel. And Jeroboam, his son, reigned in his place. {14:17} Now Amaziah, the son of Jehoash, the king of Judah, lived for fifteen years after the death of Jehoash, the son of Jehoahaz, the king of Israel. {14:18} And the rest of the words of Amaziah, have these not been written in the book of the words of the days of the kings of Judah? {14:19} And they made a conspiracy against him in Jerusalem. And he fled to Lachish. And they sent after him, to Lachish, and they killed him there. {14:20} And they carried him away on horses. And he was buried in Jerusalem with his fathers, in the city of David. {14:21} Then all the people of Judah took Azariah, at sixteen years from birth, and they appointed him as king in place of his father, Amaziah. {14:22} He built up Elath, and he restored it to Judah, after which the king slept with his fathers. {14:23} In the fifteenth year of Amaziah, the son of Jehoash, the king of Judah: Jeroboam, the son of Jehoash, the king of Israel, reigned, in Samaria, for forty-one years. {14:24} And he did what is evil before the Lord. He did not withdraw from all the sins of Jeroboam, the son of Nebat, who caused Israel to sin. {14:25} He restored the borders of Israel, from the entrance of Hamath as far as the Sea of the Wilderness, in accord with the word of the Lord, the God of Israel, which he spoke through his servant, the prophet Jonah, the son of Amittai, who was from Gath, which is in Hepher. {14:26} For the Lord saw the exceedingly bitter affliction of Israel, and that they were being consumed, even to those who were enclosed in prison, and even to the least ones, and that there was no one who would help Israel. {14:27} But the Lord did not say that he would wipe away the name of Israel from under heaven. So instead, he saved them by the hand of Jeroboam, the son of Jehoash. {14:28} But the rest of the words of Jeroboam, and all that he did, and his strength, with which he went to battle, and the manner in which he restored Damascus and Hamath to Judah, in Israel, have these not been written in the book of the words of the days of the kings of Israel? {14:29} And Jeroboam slept with his fathers, the kings of Israel. And Zechariah, his son, reigned in his place.

[2 Kings 15] {15:1} In the twenty-seventh year of Jeroboam, the king of Israel: Azariah, the son of Amaziah, reigned as king of Judah. {15:2} He was sixteen years old when he had begun to reign, and he reigned for fifty-two years in Jerusalem. The name of his mother was Jecoliah of Jerusalem. The name of his mother was Jecoliah of Jerusalem. {15:3} And he did what was pleasing before the Lord, in accord with all that his father, Amaziah, did. {15:4} Yet truly, he did not demolish the high places. And still the people were sacrificing, and burning incense, in the high places. {15:5} Now the Lord struck the king, and he became a leper, even until the day of his death. And he was living in a separate house by himself. And truly, Jotham, the son of the king, governed the palace, and he judged the people of the land. {15:6} Now the rest of the words of Azariah, and all that he did, have these not been written in the book of the words of the days of the kings of Judah? {15:7} And Azariah slept with his fathers, and they buried him with his ancestors in the city of David. And Jotham, his son, reigned in his place. {15:8} In the thirty-eighth year of Azariah, the king of Judah: Zechariah, the son of Jeroboam, reigned over Israel, in Samaria, for six months. {15:9} And he did what is evil before the Lord, just as his fathers had done. He did not withdraw from the sins of Jeroboam, the son of Nebat, who caused Israel to sin. {15:10} Then Shallum, the son of Jabesh, conspired against him. And he struck him openly, and killed him. And he reigned in his place. {15:11} Now the rest of the words of Zechariah, have these not been written in the book of the words of the days of the kings of Israel? {15:12} This was the word of the Lord, which he spoke to Jehu, saying: “Your sons, even to the fourth generation, shall sit upon the throne of Israel.” And so it happened. {15:13} Shallum, the son of Jabesh, reigned in the thirty-ninth year of Azariah, the king of Judah. And he reigned for one month, in Samaria. {15:14} And Menahem, the son of Gadi, ascended from Tirzah. And he went into Samaria, and he struck Shallum, the son of Jabesh, in Samaria. And he killed him, and reigned in his place. {15:15} Now the rest of the words of Shallum, and his conspiracy, by which he carried out treachery, have these not been written in the book of the words of the days of the kings of Israel? {15:16} Then Menahem struck Tirzah, and all who were in it, and its borders around Tirzah. For they were not willing to open to him. And he killed all of its pregnant women, and he tore them open. {15:17} In the thirty-ninth year of Azariah, the king of Judah: Menahem, son of Gadi, reigned over Israel for ten years, in Samaria. {15:18} And he did what was evil before the Lord. He did not withdraw from the sins of Jeroboam, the son of Nebat, who caused Israel to sin, during all his days. {15:19} Then Pul, the king of the Assyrians, came into the land. And Menahem gave Pul one thousand talents of silver, so that he would be a help to him, and so that he might strengthen his kingdom. {15:20} And Menahem proclaimed a tax upon Israel, on all who were powerful and wealthy, so that each one would give to the king of the Assyrians fifty shekels of silver. Then the king of the Assyrians turned back, and he did not remain in the land. {15:21} Now the rest of the words of Menahem, and all that he did, have these not been written in the book of the words of the days of the kings of Israel? {15:22} And Menahem slept with his fathers. And Pekahiah, his son, reigned in his place. {15:23} In the fiftieth year of Azariah, the king of Judah: Pekahiah, the son of Menahem, reigned over Israel, in Samaria, for two years. {15:24} And he did what was evil before the Lord. He did not withdraw from the sins of Jeroboam, the son of Nebat, who caused Israel to sin. {15:25} Then Pekah, the son of Remaliah, his commander, conspired against him. And he struck him in Samaria, in the tower of the king’s house, near Argob and Arieh, and with him fifty men from the sons of the Gileadites. And he killed him, and reigned in his place. {15:26} Now the rest of the words of Pekahiah, and all that he did, have these not been written in the book of the words of the days of the kings of Israel? {15:27} In the fifty-second year of Azariah, the king of Judah: Pekah, the son of Remaliah, reigned over Israel, in Samaria, for twenty years. {15:28} And he did what was evil before the Lord. He did not withdraw from the sins of Jeroboam, the son of Nebat, who caused Israel to sin. {15:29} In the days of Pekah, the king of Israel, Tiglath-pileser, the king of Assyria, arrived and captured Ijon, and Abel Bethmaacah, and Janoah, and Kedesh, and Hazor, and Gilead, and Galilee, and the entire land of Naphtali. And he took them away into Assyria. {15:30} Then Hoshea, the son of Elah, conspired and carried out treachery against Pekah, the son of Remaliah. And he struck him, and killed him. And he reigned in his place, in the twentieth year of Jotham, the son of Uzziyah. {15:31} Now the rest of the words of Pekah, and all that he did, have these not been written in the book of the words of the days of the kings of Israel? {15:32} In the second year of Pekah, the son of Remaliah, the king of Israel: Jotham, son of Uzziah, reigned as king of Judah. {15:33} He was twenty-five years old when he had begun to reign, and he reigned for sixteen years in Jerusalem. The name of his mother was Jerusha, the daughter of Zadok. {15:34} And he did what was pleasing before the Lord. In accord with all that his father, Uzziah, had done, so he did. {15:35} Yet truly, he did not take away the high places. And still the people were immolating, and burning incense, in the high places. But he edified the gate of the house of the Lord to be very sublune.

{15:36} Now the rest of the words of Jotham, and all that he did, have these not been written in the book of the words of the days of the kings of Judah? {15:37} In those days, the Lord began to send, into Judah, Rezin, the king of Syria, and Pekah, the son of Remaliah. {15:38} And Jotham slept with his fathers, and he was buried with them in the city of David, his father. And Ahaz, his son, reigned in his place.

[2 Kings 16] {16:1} In the seventeenth year of Pekah, the son of Remaliah: Ahaz, the son of Jotham, reigned as king of Judah. {16:2} Ahaz was twenty years old when he had begun to reign, and he reigned for sixteen years in Jerusalem. He did not do what was pleasing in the sight of the Lord, his God, as his father David did. {16:3} Instead, he walked in the way of the kings of Israel. Moreover, he even consecrated his son, making him pass through fire, in accord with the idols of the nations that the Lord destroyed before the sons of Israel. {16:4} Also, he was immolating victims, and burning incense, in the high places, and on the hills, and under every leafy tree. {16:5} Then Rezin, the king of Syria, and Pekah, the son of Remaliah, the king of Israel, ascended to do battle against Jerusalem. And they besieged Ahaz, but they were not able to overcome him. {16:6} At that time, Rezin, the king of Syria, restored Elath to Syria, and he expelled the Judeans from Elath. And the Idumeans went into Elath, and they have lived there, even to this day. {16:7} Then Ahaz sent messengers to Tiglath-pileser, the king of the Assyrians, saying: “I am your servant, and I am your son. Ascend and accomplish my salvation from the hand of the king of Syria, and from the hand of the king of Israel, who have risen up together against me.” {16:8} And when he had collected the silver and the gold that could be found in the house of the Lord, and in the treasuries of the king, he sent it as a gift to Tiglath-pileser, the king of the Assyrians, saying: “I am your servant, and I am your son. Ascend and accomplish my salvation from the hand of the king of Syria, and from the hand of the king of Israel, who have risen up together against me.” {16:9} And when he had collected the silver and the gold that could be found in the house of the Lord, and in the treasuries of the king, he sent it as a gift to Tiglath-pileser, the king of the Assyrians, saying: “I am your servant, and I am your son. Ascend and accomplish my salvation from the hand of the king of Syria, and from the hand of the king of Israel, who have risen up together against me.” {16:10} And when he had arrived from Damascus, king Ahaz sent to Uriah, the priest, its pattern and likeness, according to all of its work. {16:11} And Uriah, the priest, constructed an altar in accord with all that king Ahaz had commanded from Damascus. Uriah, the priest, did so, until king Ahaz arrived from Damascus. {16:12} And when the king had arrived from Damascus, he saw the altar, and he venerated it. And he went up and immolated holocausts, with his own sacrifice. {16:13} And he offered libations, and he poured out the blood of the peace offerings, which he had offered, upon the altar. {16:14} But the altar of brass, which was before the Lord, he took away from the face of the temple, and from the place of the altar, and from the place of the temple of the Lord. And he positioned it at the side of the altar, toward the north. {16:15} Also, king Ahaz instructed Uriah, the priest, saying: “Upon the great altar, offer the morning holocaust, and the evening sacrifice, and the holocaust of the king, and his sacrifice, and the holocaust of the entire people of the land, and their sacrifices. But their libations, and all the blood of the holocaust, and all the blood of the victim, you shall pour out upon it. Then truly, the altar of brass shall be prepared for use at my will.” {16:16} And so Uriah, the priest, acted in accord with all that king Ahaz had instructed to him. {16:17} Then king Ahaz took away the engraved bases, and the basin that was upon them. And he took down the sea from the bronze oxen, which were holding it up. And he positioned it upon a layer of pavement stone. {16:18} Also, the canopy for the Sabbath, which he had built in the temple, and the exterior entrance of the king, he converted into the temple of the Lord, because of the king of the Assyrians. {16:19} Now the rest of the words of Ahaz that he did, have these not been written in the book of the words of the days of the kings of Judah? {16:20} And Ahaz slept with his fathers, and he was buried with them in the city of David. And Hezekiah, his son, reigned in his place.

[2 Kings 17] {17:1} In the twelfth year of Ahaz: Hoshea, the son of Elah, reigned over Israel, in Samaria, for nine years. {17:2} And he did evil before the Lord, but not like the kings of Israel who had been before him. {17:3} Shalmaneser, the king of the Assyrians, ascended against him. And Hoshea became a servant to him, and he paid him tribute. {17:4} And when the king of the Assyrians discovered that Hoshea, striving to rebel, had sent messengers to Sais, to the king of Egypt, so as not to present the tribute to the king of the Assyrians, as he had been accustomed to do each year, he besieged him. And having been bound, he cast him into prison. {17:5} And he wandered through the entire land. And ascending to Samaria, he besieged it for three years. {17:6} And in the ninth year of Hoshea, the king of the Assyrians captured Samaria, and he carried away Israel to Assyria. And he stationed them in Halah and in Habor, beside the river of Gozan, in the cities of the Medes. {17:7} For it happened that, when the sons of Israel had sinned against the Lord, their God, who had led them away from the land of Egypt, from the hand of Pharaoh, the king of Egypt, they worshipped strange gods. {17:8} And they walked according to the rituals of the nations that the Lord had consumed in the sight of the sons of Israel, and of the kings of Israel. For they had acted similarly. {17:9} And the sons of Israel offended the Lord, their God, with deeds that were not upright. And they built for themselves high places in all their cities, from the tower of the watchmen to the fortified city. {17:10} And they made for themselves statues and sacred groves, on every high hill and under every leafy tree. {17:11} And they were burning incense there, upon altars, in the manner of the nations that the Lord had removed from their face. And they did wicked deeds, provoking the Lord. {17:12} And they worshipped impurities, concerning which the Lord instructed them that they should not do this word. {17:13} And the Lord testified to them, in Israel and in Judah, through the hand of all the prophets and seers, saying: “Return from your wicked ways, and keep my precepts and ceremonies, in accord with the entire law, which I instructed to your fathers, and just as I sent to you by the hand of my servants, the prophets.” {17:14} But they did not listen. Instead, they hardened their necks to be like the neck of their fathers, who were not willing to obey the Lord, their God.
And they cast aside his ordinances, and the covenant that he formed with their fathers, and the testimonies which he testified to them. And they pursued vanities and acted vainly. And they followed the nations that were all around them, concerning the things which the Lord had commanded them not to do, and which they did. And they abandoned all the precepts of the Lord, their God. And they made for themselves two molten calves and sacred groves. And they adored the entire celestial army. And they served Baal. And they consecrated their sons and their daughters through fire. And they devoted themselves into the doing of evil before the Lord, so that they provoked him. And the Lord became vehemently angry with Israel, and he took them away from his sight. And there remained no one, except the tribe of Judah alone.

But even Judah did not keep the commandments of the Lord, their God. Instead, they walked in the errors of Israel, which they had wrought. And the Lord cast aside all of the offspring of Israel. And he afflicted them, and he delivered them into the hand of despoilers, until he drove them away from his face. Even from that time when Israel was torn away from the house of David, and they appointed for themselves Jeroboam, the son of Nebat, as king. For Jeroboam separated Israel from the Lord, and he caused them to sin a great sin. And the sons of Israel walked in all the sins of Jeroboam, which he had done. And they did not withdraw from these, even when the Lord carried away Israel from his face, just as he had said by the hand of all his servants, the prophets. And Israel was carried away from their land into Assyria, even to this day.

Then the king of the Assyrians brought some from Babylon, and from Cuthah, and from Avva, and from Hamath, and from Sepharvaim. And he located them in the cities of Samaria, in place of the sons of Israel. And they possessed Samaria, and they lived in its cities. And when they had begun to live there, they did not fear the Lord. And the Lord sent lions among them, which were killing them. And this was reported to the king of the Assyrians, and it was said: “The peoples that you transferred and caused to live in the cities of Samaria, they are ignorant of the ordinances of the God of the land. And so the Lord has sent lions among them. And behold, they have killed them, because they were ignorant of the rituals of the God of the land.” Then the king of the Assyrians commanded, saying: “Lead to that place one of the priests, whom you brought as a captive from there. And let him go and live with them. And let him teach them the ordinances of the God of the land.” And so, when one of the priests, who had been led away captive from Samaria, had arrived, he lived in Bethel. And he taught them how they should worship the Lord. And each of the nations made gods of their own, and they placed them in the shrines of the high places, which the Samaritans had made: nation after nation, in their cities in which they were living. So the men of Babylon made Soccoth-benoth; and the men of Cuth made Nergal; and the men of Hamath made Ashima; and the Avvites made Nibhaz and Tartak. Then those who were from Sepharvaim burned up their children with fire, for the gods of Sepharvaim: Adram-melech and Anam-melech.

But nevertheless, they worshipped the Lord. Then they made for themselves, from the least of the people, priests of the high places. And they placed them in the shrines of the high places. And though they worshipped the Lord, they also served their own gods, according to the custom of the nations from which they had been transferred into Samaria. Even to the present day, they follow the ancient customs; they do not fear the Lord, and they do not keep his ceremonies, and judgments, and law, and commandment, which the Lord had instructed to the sons of Jacob, whom he named Israel. And he had struck a covenant with them, and he had commanded them, saying: “You shall not fear foreign gods, and you shall not adore them, and you shall not worship them, and you shall not sacrifice to them. But the Lord, your God, who led you away from the land of Egypt, with great strength and with an outstretched arm, him shall you fear, and him shall you adore, and to him shall you sacrifice.” Also, the ceremonies, and judgments, and law, and commandment, which he wrote for you, you shall keep so that you do them for all days. And you shall not fear strange gods. And the covenant, which he struck with you, you shall not forget; neither shall you worship strange gods. But you shall fear the Lord, your God. And he will rescue you from the hand of all your enemies.” Yet truly, they did not listen to this. Instead, they acted in accord with their earlier custom. And such were these nations: to some extent fearing the Lord, yet nevertheless also serving their idols. As for their sons and grandsons, just as their fathers acted, so also did they act, even to the present day.

In the third year of Hoshea, the son of Elah, the king of Israel: Hezekiah, the son of Ahaz, reigned as king of Judah. He was twenty-five years old when he had begun to reign, and he reigned for twenty-nine years in Jerusalem. The name of his mother was Abi, the daughter of Zechariah. And he did what was good before the Lord, in accord with all that his father David had done. He destroyed the high places, and he crushed the statues, and he cut down the sacred groves. And he broke apart the bronze serpent, which Moses had made. For even until that time, the sons of Israel were burning incense to it. And he called its name Nehushtan. He hoped in the Lord, the God of Israel. And after him, there was no one similar to him, among all the kings of Judah, nor even among any of those who were before him. And he clung to the Lord, and he did not withdraw from his footsteps, and he carried out his commandments, which the Lord had instructed to Moses. Therefore, the Lord was also with him. And he conducted himself wisely in all the things to which he went forth. Also, he rebelled against the king of the Assyrians, and he did not serve him.

He struck the Philistines as far as Gaza, and in all their borders, from the tower of the watchmen to the fortified city. In the fourth year of king Hezekiah, which was the seventh year of Hoshea, the son of Elah, the king of Israel: Shalmaneser, the king of the Assyrians, ascended to Samaria, and he did not serve him. And he rebelled against the king of the Assyrians, and he did not serve him. He struck the Philistines as far as Gaza, and in all their borders, from the tower of the watchmen to the fortified city. The name of his mother was Abi, the daughter of Zechariah.
they transgressed his covenant. All that Moses, the servant of the Lord, had instructed, they would neither hear, nor do. {18:13} In the fourteenth year of king Hezekiah, Sennacherib, the king of the Assyrians, went up to all the fortified cities of Judah, and he captured them. {18:14} Then Hezekiah, the king of Judah, sent messengers to the king of the Assyrians at Lachish, saying: “I have offended. Withdraw from me, and all that you will impose upon me, I will bear.” And so the king of the Assyrians levied a tax upon Hezekiah, the king of Judah, of three hundred talents of silver and thirty talents of gold. {18:15} And Hezekiah gave all the silver that had been found in the house of the Lord, and in the treasuries of the king. {18:16} At that time, Hezekiah broke apart the doors of the temple of the Lord, with the plates of gold which he had affixed to them. And he gave these to the king of the Assyrians. {18:17} Then the king of the Assyrians sent Tartan, and Rabsaris, and Rabshakeh, from Lachish, to king Hezekiah, with a powerful hand, to Jerusalem. And when they had ascended, they arrived in Jerusalem, and they stood beside the aqueduct of the upper pool, which is along the way of the fuller’s field. {18:18} And they called for the king. But there went out to them Eliakim, the son of Hilkiah, the first ruler of the house, and Shebnah, the scribe, and Joah, the son of Asaph, the keeper of records. {18:19} And Rabshakeh said to them: “Speak to Hezekiah: Thus says the great king, the king of the Assyrians: What is this faith, in which you strive? {18:20} Perhaps, you have taken counsel, so that you would dare to rebel? {18:21} Do you hope in Egypt, that staff of a broken reed, which, if a man would lean upon it, breaking, it would pierce his hand? Such is Pharaoh, the king of Egypt, to all who would trust in him. {18:22} But if you say to me: ‘We have faith in the Lord, our God.’ Is it not he, whose high places and altars Hezekiah has taken away? And did he not instruct Judah and Jerusalem: ‘You shall adore before this altar in Jerusalem?’ {18:23} Now therefore, cross over to my lord, the king of the Assyrians, and I will give to you two thousand horses, and we will see if you even have enough riders for them. {18:24} So how can you resist one prince from the least of my lord’s servants? Do you have faith in Egypt because of the chariots and horsemen? {18:25} Is it not by the will of the Lord that I have chosen to ascend to this place, so that I may destroy it? The Lord said to me: ‘Ascend to this land, and destroy it.’ ” {18:26} Then Eliakim, the son of Hilkiah, and Shebnah, and Joah, said to Rabshakeh: “We beseech you, that you may speak to us, your servants, in Syriac. For we understand that language to some extent. And do not speak to us in the Jews’ language, in the hearing of the people, who are upon the wall.” {18:27} And Rabshakeh responded to them, saying: “Has my lord sent me to your lord and to you, so that I may speak these words, and not instead to the men who are sitting upon the wall, so that they may eat their own dung, and drink their own urine with you?” {18:28} And so, Rabshakeh stood up, and he exclaimed in a great voice, in the Jews’ language, and he said: “Listen to the words of the great king, the king of the Assyrians. {18:29} Thus says the king: Let not Hezekiah lead you astray. For he will not be able to rescue you from my hand. {18:30} And do not let him give you faith in the Lord, saying: ‘The Lord will rescue and free us, and this city will not be delivered into the hand of the king of the Assyrians.’ {18:31} Do not choose to listen to Hezekiah. For thus says the king of the Assyrians: Do with me what is for your own good, and come out to me. And each one of you will eat from his own vine, and from his own fig tree. And you shall drink water from your own wells, until I arrive and transfer you into a land, similar to your own land, a fruitful and fertile land of wine, a land of bread and vineyards, a land of olives and oil and honey. And you will live, and not die. Do not choose to listen to Hezekiah, who deceives you, saying: ‘The Lord will free us.’ {18:33} Have any of the gods of the nations freed their land from the hand of the king of Assyria? {18:34} Where is the god of Hamath, and of Arpad? Where is the god of Sepharvaim, of Hena, and of Avva? Have they freed Samaria from my hand? {18:35} Which ones among all the gods of the lands have rescued their region from my hand, so that the Lord would be able to rescue Jerusalem from my hand?” {18:36} But the people were silent, and they did not respond at all to him. For indeed, they had received an instruction from the king that they should not respond to him. {18:37} And Eliakim, the son of Hilkiah, the first ruler of the house, and Shebnah, the scribe, and Joah, the son of Asaph, the keeper of records, went to Hezekiah with their garments torn. And they reported to him the words of Rabshakeh. [2 Kings 19] {19:1} And when king Hezekiah had heard this, he tore his garments, and he covered himself with sackcloth, and he entered the house of the Lord. {19:2} And he sent Eliakim, the first ruler of the house, and Shebnah, the scribe, and the elders from the priests, covered with sackcloth, to the prophet Isaiah, the son of Amoz. {19:3} And they said to him: “Thus says Hezekiah: This day is a day of tribulation, and of rebuke, and of blasphemy. The sons are ready to be born, but the woman in labor does not have the strength. {19:4} Perhaps the Lord, your God, may hear all the words of Rabshakeh, whom the king of the Assyrians, his lord, sent so that he would reproach the living God, and rebuke with words, which the Lord, your God, has heard. And so, offer a prayer on behalf of the remnant that has been found.” {19:5} And the servants of king Hezekiah went to Isaiah. {19:6} And Isaiah said to them: “So shall you say to your lord. Thus says the Lord: Do not be afraid before the face of the words that you have heard, by which the servants of the king of the Assyrians have blasphemed me. {19:7} Behold, I will send a spirit to him, and he will hear a report, and he will return to his own land. And I will bring him down by the sword in his own land.” {19:8} Then Rabshakeh returned, and he found the king of the Assyrians fighting against Libnah. For he had heard that he had withdrawn from Lachish. {19:9} And when he had heard from Tirhakah, the king of Ethiopia, saying, “Behold, he has gone out so that he may fight against you,” and when he went forth against him, he sent messengers to Hezekiah, saying: {19:10} “So shall you say to Hezekiah, the king of Judah: Let not your God, in whom you trust, lead you astray. And you should not say, ‘Jerusalem will not be delivered into the hands of the king of the Assyrians.’ {19:11} For you yourself have heard what the kings of the Assyrians have done to all the lands, the manner in which they have laid waste to them. Therefore, how would you alone be able to be freed? {19:12} Have the gods of the nations freed any of those whom my fathers have destroyed, such as Gozan, and Haran, and Rezeph, and the sons of Eden, who were at Telassar? {19:13} Where is the king of Hamath, and the king of Arpad, and the king of the city of

He shall not enter into this city, nor shoot an arrow into it, for I know what may be saved shall go forth from mount Zion. The zeal of the Lord of hosts will perform this. And I will protect this city, and I will save it for my

And I will lead you back along the way by which you came. And for the sake of my servant David.” And so it happened that, in the same night, an Angel of the Lord went and struck down, in the camp of the Assyrians, one hundred and eighty-five thousand. And when he had risen up, at first light, he saw all the bodies of the dead. And withdrawing, he went away. And Sennacherib, the king of the Assyrians, returned and dwelled in Nineveh. And while he was worshipping in the temple of his god, Nisroch, his sons, Adram-melech and Sharezer, struck him with the sword. And they fled into the land of the Armenians. And Esarhaddon, his son, reigned in his place.

In those days, Hezekiah was sick unto death. And the prophet Isaiah, the son of Amoz, came and said to him: “Thus says the Lord God: Instruct your house, for you will die, and not live.” And he turned his face to the wall, and he prayed to the Lord, saying: “I beg you, O Lord, save me. For I know that you alone are the Lord God.” Then Isaiah, the son of Amoz, sent to Hezekiah, saying: “Thus says the Lord God: I have heard what you beseeched from me, concerning Sennacherib, the king of the Assyrians. This is the word that the Lord has spoken about him: The virgin daughter of Zion has spurned and ridiculed you. The daughter of Jerusalem has shaken her head behind your back. Whom have you reproached, and whom have you blasphemed? Against whom have you exalted your voice, and lifted up your eyes on high? Against the Holy One of Israel! By the hand of your servants, you have reproached the Lord, and you have said: ‘By the multitude of my chariots I have ascended to the heights of the mountains, to the summit of Lebanon. And I have cut down its sublime cedars, and its elect spruce trees. And I have entered even to its limits. And its forest of Carmel, I have cut down. And I drank foreign waters, and I dried up all the enclosed waters with the steps of my feet.’ But have you not heard what I have done from the beginning? From the days of antiquity, I have formed it, and now I have brought it to be. And fortified cities of fighting men will become piles of ruins. And whoever may settle in these, they have trembled, with a weak hand, and they have been confounded. They have become like the hay of the field, and like weeds sprouting on the rooftops, which dry up before they reached maturity. Your habitation, and your exit, and your entrance, and your way, I knew beforehand, along with your fury against me. You have been made against me, and your arrogance has ascended to my ears. And so, I will place a ring in your nose, and a bit between your lips. And I will lead you back along the way by which you came. But as for you, Hezekiah, this shall be a sign: Eat this year whatever you will find, and in the second year, whatever may spring up of itself. But in the third year, sow and reap; plant vineyards, and eat from their fruit. And whatever will have been left behind, from the house of Judah, shall send a root downward, and shall bear fruit upward. Indeed, a remnant shall go forth from Jerusalem, and what may be saved shall go forth from mount Zion. The zeal of the Lord of hosts shall accomplish this. For this reason, thus says the Lord about the king of the Assyrians: He shall not enter into this city, nor shoot an arrow into it, nor overtake it with the shield, nor encircle it with fortifications. By the way that he came, so shall he return. And he shall not enter this city, says the Lord. And I will protect this city, and I will save it for my own sake, and for the sake of my servant David.” And I drank foreign waters, and I dried up all the enclosed waters with the steps of my feet.’ But have you not heard what I have done from the beginning? Behold, the days are coming when all that is in your house, and all that your fathers have stored up even to this day, will be carried away to Babylon. Nothing at all shall remain, says the Lord. Then too, they will take from your sons, who will go forth from you, whom you will conceive. And they will be eunuchs in the palace of the king of Babylon.”

Hezekiah said to Isaiah: “The word of the Lord, which you have spoken, is good. Let peace and truth be in my days.”

Now the rest of the words of Hezekiah, and all his strength, and how he made a pool, and an aqueduct, and how he brought waters into the city, have these not been written in the book of the words of the days of the kings of Judah?

And Hezekiah slept with his fathers. And Manasseh, his son, reigned in his place.

Manasseh was twelve years old when he had begun to reign, and he reigned for fifty-five years in Jerusalem. The name of his mother was Hephzibah.

And he did evil in the sight of the Lord, in accord with the idols of the nations that the Lord destroyed before the face of the sons of Israel. And he turned away. And he built up the high places that his father, Hezekiah, had destroyed. And he erected altars to Baal, and he made sacred groves, just as Ahab, the king of Israel, had done. And he adored the entire army of heaven, and he served them.

And he constructed altars in the house of the Lord, about which the Lord said: “In Jerusalem, I will place my name.”

And he constructed altars, for the entire army of heaven, within the two courts of the temple of the Lord.

And he led his son through fire. And he used divinations, and observed omens, and appointed soothsayers, and multiplied diviners, so that he did evil before the Lord, and provoked him.

Also, he set up an idol, of the sacred grove that he had made, in the temple of the Lord, about which the Lord said to David, and to his son Solomon: “In this temple, and in Jerusalem, which I have chosen out of all the tribes of Israel, I will place my name forever.

And I will no longer cause the feet of Israel to be moved from the land that I gave to their fathers: if only they will take care to do all that I have instructed them, and the entire law that my servant Moses commanded to them.”

Yet truly, they did not listen. Instead, they were seduced by Manasseh, so that they did evil, more so than the nations that the Lord crushed before the face of the sons of Israel.

And so the Lord spoke, by the hand of his servants, the prophets, saying: “Since Manasseh, the king of Judah, has committed these wicked abominations, beyond all that the Amorites before him have done, and also has caused Judah to sin by his defilements, because of this, thus says the Lord, the God of Israel: Behold, I will lead evils over Jerusalem and over Judah, such that, whoever will hear of these things, both his ears will ring.

And I will extend the measuring line of Samaria over Jerusalem, with the scale of the house of Ahab. And I will erase Jerusalem, just as writing tablets are usually erased. And after erasing, I will turn it and repeatedly drag a stylus over its surface. And truly, I will send away the remnants of my inheritance, and I will deliver them into the hands of their enemies. And they will be devastated and plundered by all their adversaries. For they have done evil before me, and they have persevered in provoking me, from the day when their fathers departed from Egypt, even to this day.

Moreover, Manasseh also has shed an exceedingly great amount of innocent blood, until he filled Jerusalem even to the mouth, aside from his sins by which he caused Judah to sin, so that they did evil before the Lord.”

Now the rest of the words of Manasseh, and all that he did, and his sin that he sinned, have these not been written in the book of the words of the days of the kings of Judah?

And Manasseh slept with his fathers, and he was buried in the garden of his own house, in the garden of Uzza. And Amon, his son, reigned in his place.

Amon was twenty-two years old when he had begun to reign, and he reigned for two years in Jerusalem. The name of his mother was Meshullemeth, the daughter of Haruz, from Jotbah.

And he did evil in the sight of the Lord, just as his father, Manasseh, had done.

And he walked in all the ways in which his father had walked. And he served the unclean things that his father had served, and he adored them.

And he abandoned the Lord, the God of his fathers, and he did not walk in the way of the Lord.

And his servants undertook treachery against him. And they killed the king in his own house. But the people of the land slew all those who had conspired against king Amon. And they appointed for themselves Josiah, his son, as king in his place.

But the rest of the words of Ammon, which he did, have these not been written in the book of the words of the days of the kings of Judah?

And they buried him in his sepulcher, in the garden of Uzza. And his son, Josiah, reigned in his place.

Josiah was eight years old when he had begun to reign. He reigned for thirty-one years in Jerusalem. The name of his mother was Jedidah, the daughter of Adaiah, from Bozkath.

And he did what was pleasing before the Lord, and he walked in all the ways of his father David. He did not turn aside to the right, or to the left.

Then, in the eighteenth year of king Josiah, the king sent Shaphan, the son of Azaliah, the son of Meshullam, the scribe of the temple of the Lord, saying to him:

“Go to Hilkiah, the high priest, so that the money may be put together which has been brought into the temple of the Lord, which the doorkeepers of the temple have collected from the people.

And let it be given, by those in charge of the house of the Lord, to the workers. And let them distribute it to those who are working in the temple of the Lord in order to repair the surfaces of the temple, specifically, to carpenters and masons, and to those who mend gaps, and so that wood may be purchased, and stones from the quarries, in order to repair the temple of the Lord.

Yet truly, let no account be given by them of the money that they receive. Instead, let them have it within their power and trust.”

Then Hilkiah, the high priest, said to Shaphan, the scribe, “I have found the book of the law in the house of the Lord.” And Hilkiah gave the volume to Shaphan, and he read it.

Also, Shaphan, the scribe, went to the king, and reported to him what he had instructed. And he said: “Your servants have brought together the money which was found in the house of the Lord. And they have given it so that it would be distributed to the workers by the overseers of the works of the temple of the Lord.”

Also, Shaphan, the scribe, explained to the king, saying, “Hilkiah, the priest, gave the book to me.” And when Shaphan had read it before the king, and the king had heard the words of the book of the law of the Lord, he tore his garments.

{22:12} And he instructed Hilkiah, the priest, and Ahikam, the son of Shaphan, and Achbor, the son of Micaiah, and Shaphan, the scribe, and Asaiah, the servant of the king, saying: {22:13} “Go and consult the Lord concerning me, and the people, and all of Judah, about the words of this volume which has been found. For the great wrath of the Lord has been kindled against us because our fathers did not listen to the words of this book, so that they would do all that has been written for us.”

{22:14} Therefore, Hilkiah, the priest, and Ahikam, and Achbor, and Shaphan, and Asaiah, went to Huldah, the prophetess, the wife of Shallum, the son of Tikvah, the son of Harhas, the keeper of the vestments, who was living in Jerusalem, in the second part. And they spoke with her. {22:15} And she responded to them: “Thus says the Lord, the God of Israel: Tell the man who sent you to me: {22:16} Thus says the Lord: Behold, I will lead evils over this place, and over its inhabitants, all the words of the law that the king of Judah has read. {22:17} For they have abandoned me, and they have sacrificed to foreign gods, provoking me by all the works of their hands. And so my indignation will be kindled against this place. And it will not be extinguished. {22:18} But to the king of Judah, who sent you so that you would consult the Lord, so shall you say: Thus says the Lord, the God of Israel: In so far as you have heard the words of the volume, {22:19} and your heart was terrified, and you humbled yourself before the Lord, listening to the words against this place and its inhabitants, specifically, that they would become an astonishment and a curse, and because you have torn your garments, and have wept before me: I also have heard you, says the Lord. {22:20} For this reason, I will gather you to your fathers, and you will be gathered to your sepulcher in peace, so that your eyes may not see all the evils that I will bring over this place.”

[2 Kings 23] {23:1} And they reported to the king what she had said. And he sent, and all the elders of Judah and Jerusalem were gathered to him. {23:2} And the king ascended to the temple of the Lord. And with him were all the men of Judah and all who were living in Jerusalem: the priests, and the prophets, and all the people, from the small to the great. And in the hearing of everyone, he read all the words of the book of the covenant, which was found in the house of the Lord. {23:3} And the king stood upon the step. And he struck a covenant before the Lord, so that they would walk after the Lord, and keep his precepts and testimonies and ceremonies, with all their heart and with all their soul, and so that they would carry out the words of this covenant, which had been written in that book. And the people agreed to the covenant. {23:4} And the king instructed Hilkiah, the high priest, and the priests of the second order, and the doorkeepers, so that they would cast out of the temple of the Lord all the vessels which had been made for Baal, and for the sacred grove, and for the entire army of heaven. And he burned them outside of Jerusalem, in the steep valley of Kidron. And he carried their dust into Bethel. {23:5} And he destroyed the soothsayers, whom the kings of Judah had appointed to sacrifice in the high places throughout the cities of Judah, and all around Jerusalem, along with those who were burning incense to Baal, and to the Sun, and to the Moon, and to the twelve signs, and to the entire army of heaven. {23:6} And he caused the sacred grove to be carried away from the house of the Lord, outside of Jerusalem, to the steep valley of Kidron. And he burned it there, and reduced it to dust. And he cast the dust over the graves of the common people. {23:7} Also, he destroyed the small places of the effeminate, which were in the house of the Lord, for which the women were weaving something like little houses in the sacred grove. {23:8} And he gathered together all the priests from the cities of Judah. And he defiled the high places, where the priests were sacrificing, from Geba as far as Beersheba. And he tore down the altars of the gates at the entrance to the gate of Joshua, the leader of the city, which was to the left of the gate of the city. {23:9} Yet truly, the priests of the high places did not ascend to the altar of the Lord in Jerusalem. For they would only eat from the unleavened bread in the midst of their brothers. {23:10} Also, he defiled Topheth, which is in the steep valley of the son of Hinnom, so that no one would consecrate his son or his daughter, through fire, to Molech. {23:11} Also, he took away the horses that the kings of Judah had given to the Sun, at the entrance to the temple of the Lord, beside the hallway of Nathan-melech, the eunuch, who was in Pharurim. And he burned the chariots of the Sun with fire. {23:12} Also, the altars which were upon the roof of the upper room of Ahaz, of which the kings of Judah had made, and the altars which Manasseh had made in the two courts of the temple of the Lord, the king destroyed. And he hurried from there, and he scattered their ashes into the torrent Kidron. {23:13} Also, the high places which were in Jerusalem, to the right side of the Mount of Offense, which Solomon, the king of Israel, had built to Ashtoreth, the idol of the Sidonians, and to Chemosh, the offense of Moab, and to Milcom, the abomination of the sons of Ammon, the king defiled. {23:14} And he crushed the statues, and he cut down the sacred groves. And he filled their places with the bones of the dead. {23:15} Then too, the altar which was in Bethel, and the high place which Jeroboam, the son of Nebat, who caused Israel to sin, had made: both that altar and the high place he tore down, and burned, and reduced to dust. And then he also set fire to the sacred grove. {23:16} And in that place Josiah, turning, saw the sepulchers which were on the mount. And he sent and took the bones from the sepulchers. And he burned them upon the altar, and he defiled it in accord with the word of the Lord, which was spoken by the man of God, who had predicted these events. {23:17} And he said, “What is that monument that I see?” And the citizens of that city responded to him: “It is the sepulcher of the man of God, who came from Judah, and who predicted these events, which you have carried out concerning the altar of Bethel.” {23:18} And he said: “Permit him. Let no one move his bones.” And his bones have remained untouched, with the bones of the prophet who had arrived from Samaria. {23:19} Then too, all the shinges of the high places, which were in the cities of Samaria, which the kings of Israel had made to provoke the Lord, Josiah took away. And he acted toward them according to all the works that he had done in Bethel. {23:20} And all the priests of the high places, who were in that place, he killed upon the altars. And he burned the bones of the men upon them. And he returned to Jerusalem. {23:21} And he instructed all the people, saying: “Keep the Passover to the Lord your God, according to what has been written in the book of this covenant.” {23:22} Now no similar Passover was kept, from the days of the judges, who judged Israel, and from all the days of the kings of Israel and the kings of Judah, {23:23} as this Passover, which was kept to the Lord in Jerusalem, in the eighteenth year of king Josiah. {23:24} Then too, Josiah took away those who divined by spirits, and the soothsayers, and the images of the idols, and the defilements, and the abominations, which had been in the land of Judah and Jerusalem, so that he might establish the words of the law, which were written in the book, which Hilkiah, the priest, found in the temple of the Lord. {23:25} There was no king before him similar to him, who returned to the Lord with all his heart, and with all his soul, and with all his strength, in accord with the entire law of Moses. And after him, there rose up no one similar to him. {23:26} Yet truly, the Lord did not turn away from the wrath of his great fury, his fury which was enraged against Judah because of the provocations by which Manasseh had provoked him. {23:27} And so the Lord said: “And now I will remove Judah from my face, just as I removed Israel. And I will cast aside this city, Jerusalem, which I have chosen, and the house, about which I said: My name shall be there.” {23:28} Now the rest of the words of Josiah, and all that he did, have these not been written in the book of the words of the days of the kings of Judah? {23:29} During his days, Pharaoh Neco, the king of Egypt, ascended against the king of the Assyrians to the river Euphrates. And king Josiah, as king in place of Josiah his father. And he changed his name to Jehoiakim. Then he took Jehoahaz, the son of Josiah. And they anointed him, and made him king in place of his father. {23:31} Jehoahaz was twenty-three years old when he had begun to reign, and he reigned for three months in Jerusalem. The name of his mother was Hamutal, the daughter of Jeremiah, from Libnah. {23:32} And he did evil before the Lord, according to all that his fathers had done. {23:33} And Pharaoh Neco bound him at Riblah, which is in the land of Hamath, so that he would not reign in Jerusalem. And he imposed a penalty on the land: one hundred talents of silver, and one talent of gold. {23:34} And Pharaoh Neco appointed Eliakim, the son of Josiah, as king in place of Josiah his father. And he changed his name to Jehoiakim. Then he took Jehoahaz away, and he brought him into Egypt, and there he died. {23:35} Now Jehoiakim gave silver and gold to Pharaoh, when he had taxed the land, according to each one who would contribute by the command of Pharaoh. And he exacted both silver and gold from the people of the land, from each one according to his reason, the Lord was not willing to be appeased. {23:36} But the rest of the words of Jehoiakim, and all that he did, have these not been written in the book of the words of the days of the kings of Judah? And Jehoiakim slept with his fathers. {24:6} And Jehoiachin, his son, reigned in his place. {24:7} And the king of Egypt no longer continued to go out from his own land. For the king of Babylon had taken all that had belonged to the king of Egypt, from the river of Egypt as far as the river Euphrates. {24:8} Jehoiachin was eighteen years old when he had begun to reign, and he reigned for three months in Jerusalem. The name of his mother was Nehushta, the daughter of Elnathan, from Jerusalem. {24:9} And he did evil before the Lord, in accord with all that his father had done. {24:10} At that time, the servants of Nebuchadnezzar, the king of Babylon, ascended against Jerusalem. And the city was encircled with fortifications. {24:11} And Nebuchadnezzar, the king of Babylon, went to the city, with his servants, so that he might fight against it. {24:12} And Jehoiachin, the king of Judah, went out to the king of Babylon, he, and his mother, and his servants, and his leaders, and his eunuchs. And the king of Babylon received him, in the eighth year of his reign. {24:13} And he took from there all the treasures of the house of the Lord, and the treasures of the house of the king. And he cut up all the gold vessels which Solomon, the king of Israel, had made for the temple of the Lord, in accord with the word of the Lord. {24:14} And he carried away all of Jerusalem, and all the leaders, and all the strong men of the army, ten thousand, into captivity, with every artisan and craftsman. And no one was left behind, except the poor among the people of the land. {24:15} Also, he carried away Jehoiachin into Babylon, and the mother of the king, and the wives of the king, and his eunuchs. And he led into captivity the judges of the land, from Jerusalem to Babylon, {24:16} and all the robust men, seven thousand, and the artisans and craftsmen, one thousand: all who were strong men and fit for war. And the king of Babylon led them away as captives, into Babylon. {24:17} And he appointed Mattaniah, his uncle, in his place. And he imposed the name Zedekiah upon him. {24:18} Zedekiah held twenty-one years of life when he had begun to reign. And he reigned for eleven years in Jerusalem. The name of his mother was Hamutal, the daughter of Jeremiah, from Libnah. {24:19} And he did evil before the Lord, in accord with all that Jehoiakim had done. {24:20} For the Lord was angry against Jerusalem and against Judah, until he cast them away from his face. And so Zedekiah withdrew from the king of Babylon.

[2 Kings 24] {24:1} During his days, Nebuchadnezzar, the king of Babylon, ascended, and Jehoiakim became his servant for three years. And again he rebelled against him. {24:2} And the Lord sent to him the robbers of the Chaldeans, and the robbers of Syria, and the robbers of Moab, and the robbers of the sons of Ammon. And he sent them into Judah, so that they might destroy it, in accord with the word of the Lord, which he had spoken through his servants, the prophets. {24:3} Then this occurred, by the word of the Lord against Judah, that he took him away from before himself because of all the sins of Manasseh which he did, {24:4} and because of the innocent blood which he shed, and because he filled Jerusalem with the slaughter of the innocent. And for this reason, the Lord was not willing to be appeased. {24:5} But the city was breached. And they constructed fortifications all around it. {25:2} And the city was enclosed and besieged, even until the eleventh year of king Zedekiah, {25:3} on the ninth day of the month. And a famine prevailed in the city; neither was there bread for the people of the land. {25:4} And the city was breached.
And all the men of war fled in the night along the way of the gate which is between the double wall at the garden of the king. Now the Chaldeans were besieging the city on all sides. And so Zedekiah fled along the way which leads to the plains of the wilderness. {25:5} And the army of the Chaldeans pursued the king, and they overtook him in the plains of Jericho. And all the warriors who were with him were dispersed, and they abandoned him. {25:6} Therefore, having apprehended him, they led the king to the king of Babylon at Riblah. And he was speaking with him in judgment. {25:7} Then he killed the sons of Zedekiah before him, and he dug out his eyes, and he bound him with chains, and he led him away to Babylon. {25:8} In the fifth month, on the seventh day of the month, the same is the nineteenth year of the king of Babylon, Nebuzaradan, the leader of the army, a servant of the king of Babylon, went into Jerusalem. {25:9} And he set fire to the house of the Lord, and to the house of the king. And the houses of Jerusalem, and every great house, he burned with fire. {25:10} And the entire army of the Chaldeans, which was with the leader of the military, tore down the walls of Jerusalem all around. {25:11} Then Nebuzaradan, the leader of the military, carried away the rest of the people, who had remained in the city, and the fugitives, who had fled over to the king of Babylon, and the remnant of the common people. {25:12} But he left behind some vine dressers and farmers from the poor of the land. {25:13} Now the pillars of brass which were in the temple of the Lord, and the bases, and the sea of brass, which was in the house of the Lord, the Chaldeans broke apart. And they took all the brass to Babylon. {25:14} Also, they took away the cooking pots of brass, and the scoops, and the forks, and the cups, and the little mortars, and all the articles of brass with which they were ministering. {25:15} And the leader of the military even took away the censers and the bowls, whatever was of gold for the gold, and whatever was of silver for the silver, {25:16} and also the two pillars, the one sea, and the bases which Solomon had made for the temple of the Lord. The brass of all these items was beyond measure. {25:17} One pillar had eighteen cubits in height. And the head of brass upon it was three cubits in height. And the network and pomegranates upon the head of the pillar were all of brass. And the second pillar had a similar adornment. {25:18} Also, the leader of the military took away Seraiah, the chief priest, and Zephaniah, the second priest, and three doorkeepers, {25:19} and from the city, one eunuch, who was in charge of the men of war, and five men out of those who had stood before the king, whom he found in the city, and Sopher, the leader of the army who trained the young soldiers from the people of the land, and sixty men from the common people, who had been found in the city. {25:20} Taking them, Nebuzaradan, the leader of the military, led them to the king of Babylon at Riblah. {25:21} And the king of Babylon struck them and killed them at Riblah, in the land of Hamath. And Judah was taken away from his land. {25:22} But over the people who had remained in the land of Judah, whom Nebuchadnezzar, the king of Babylon, had permitted, he appointed as ruler Gedaliah, the son of Ahikam, the son of Shaphan. {25:23} And when all the commanders of the military had heard this, they and the men who were with them, specifically, that the king of Babylon had appointed Gedaliah, they went to Gedaliah at Mizpah: Ishmael, the son of Nethaniah, and Johanan, the son of Kareah, and Seraiah, the son of Tanhumeth, the Netophathite, and Jaazaniah, the son of a Maacathite, they and their companions. {25:24} And Gedaliah swore to them and to their companions, saying: “Do not be afraid to serve the Chaldeans. Remain in the land, and serve the king of Babylon, and it shall be well with you.” {25:25} But it happened that, in the seventh month, Ishmael, the son of Nethaniah, the son of Elishama, of royal offspring, and ten men with him, went and struck Gedaliah, who then died, along with the Jews and the Chaldeans who were with him at Mizpah. {25:26} And all the people, from small to great, and the leaders of the military, rising up, went away to Egypt, fearing the Chaldeans. {25:27} Truly, it happened that, in the thirty-seventh year of the transmigration of Jehoiachin, the king of Judah, in the twelfth month, on the twenty-seventh day of the month, Evilmerodach, the king of Babylon, in the year when he had begun to reign, lifted up the head of Jehoiachin, the king of Judah, from prison. {25:28} And he spoke kindly to him. And he set his throne above the throne of the kings who were with him at Babylon. {25:29} And he changed his garments that he had worn in prison. And he ate bread before him always, during all the days of his life. {25:30} Also, he appointed to him an allowance without ceasing, which also was given to him by the king, for each day, during all the days of his life.

 The First Book of Chronicles **

And these are their generations: the firstborn of Ishmael, Nebaioth, and then Kedar, and Adbeel, and Mibsam, {1:30} and Mishma, and Dumah, Massa, Hadad, and Tema, {1:31} Jetur, Naphish, Kedemah. These are the sons of Ishmael. {1:32} And the sons of Keturah, the concubine of Abraham, whom she conceived: Zimran, Jokshan, Medan, Midian, Ishbak, and Shuah. And the sons of Jokshan: Sheba and Dedan. And the sons of Dedan: Asshurim, and Letushim, and Leumim. {1:33} And the sons of Midian: Ephah, and Epher, and Hanoch, and Abida, and Eldaah. All these are the sons of Keturah. {1:34} Now Abraham conceived Isaac, whose sons were Esau and Israel. {1:35} The sons of Esau: Eliphaz, Reuel, Jeush, Jalam, and Korah. {1:36} The sons of Eliphaz: Teman, Omar, Zepho, Gatam, Kenaz, and by Timna, Amalek. {1:37} The sons of Reuel: Nahath, Zerah, Shammah, Mizzah. {1:38} The sons of Seir: Lotan, Shobal, Zibeon, Anah, Dishon, Ezer, Dishan. {1:39} The sons of Lotan: Hori, Heman. Now the sister of Lotan was Timna. {1:40} The sons of Shobal: Alian, and Manahath, and Ebal, Shephi, and Onam. The sons of Zibeon: Aiah and Anah. The sons of Anah: Dishon. {1:41} The sons of Dishon: Hamran, and Eshban, and Ithran, and Cheran. {1:42} The sons of Ezer: Bilhan, and Zaven, and Akan. The sons of Dishan: Uz and Aran. {1:43} Now these are the kings who reigned in the land of Edom, before there was a king over the sons of Israel: Bela, the son of Beor; and the name of his city was Dinhabah. {1:44} Then Bela died, and Jobab, the son of Zerah, from Bozrah, reigned in his place. {1:45} And when Jobab also had died, Husham, from the land of the Temanites, reigned in his place. {1:46} Then Husham also passed away, and Hadad, the son of Bedad, reigned in his place. And he struck the Midianites in the land of Moab. The name of his city was Avith. {1:47} And when Hadad also had died, Samlah from Masrekah reigned in his place. {1:48} Then Samlah also died, and Shaul from Rehoboth, which is situated beside a river, reigned in his place. {1:49} Shaul also having died, Baal-hanan, the son of Achbor, reigned in his place. {1:50} Then he too died, and Hador reigned in his place. And the name of his city was Dinhabah. {1:51} And Hador having died, there began to be commanders in Edom in place of kings: commander Thamna, commander Alrah, commander Jetheth, {1:52} commander Oholibamah, commander Elah, commander Pinon, {1:53} commander Kaniez, commander Teman, commander Mibzar, {1:54} commander Magdiel, commander Iram. These are the commanders of Edom.

And these are their generations: the firstborn of Judah, Er, Onan, and Shammai. These three were born to him from the daughter of Shua, the Canaanite. But Er, the firstborn of Judah, was evil in the sight of the Lord, and so he killed him. {2:4} Now Tamar, his daughter-in-law, bore to him Perez and Zerah. Therefore, all the sons of Judah were five. {2:5} And the sons of Perez: Hezron and Hamul. {2:6} Also, the sons of Zerah: Zimri, and Ethan, and Heman, as well as Calcol and Dara, five altogether. {2:7} The sons of Carmi: Achar, who disturbed Israel and sinned by the theft of what was anathema. {2:8} The sons of Ethan: Azariah. {2:9} And the sons of Hezron who were born to him: Jerahmeel, and Ram, and Chelubai. {2:10} Then Ram conceived Amminadab. And Amminadab conceived Nahshon, a leader of the sons of Judah. {2:11} Also, Nahshon conceived Salma, from whom Boaz rose up. {2:12} Truly, Boaz conceived Obed, who also himself conceived Jesse. {2:13} Now Jesse conceived the firstborn Eliab, the second Abinadab, the third Shammah, {2:14} the fourth Nathan, the fifth Raddai, {2:15} the sixth Ozem, the seventh David. {2:16} Their sisters were Zeruiah and Abigail. The sons of Zeruiah: Abishai, Joab, and Asahel, three. {2:17} And Abigail conceived Amasa, whose father was Jether, the Ishmaelite. {2:18} Truly, Caleb, the son of Hezron, took a wife named Azubah, of whom he conceived Jerioth. And her sons were Jesher, and Shobab, and Ardon. {2:19} And when Azubah had died, Caleb took as wife Ephratha, who bore to him Hur. {2:20} Now Hur conceived Uri. And Uri conceived Bezalel. {2:21} And afterwards, Hezron entered to the daughter of Machir, father of Gilead. And he took her when he was sixty years old. And she bore to him Segub. {2:22} And then Segub conceived Jair, and he possessed twenty-three cities in the land of Gilead. {2:23} And he seized Geshur and Aram, towns of Jair, and Kenath and its villages, sixty cities. All these were sons of Machir, father of Gilead. {2:24} Then, when Hezron had died, Caleb entered to Ephratha. Also, Hezron had as wife Abia, who bore to him Ashhur, the father of Tekoa. {2:25} Now sons were born to Jerahmeel, the firstborn of Hezron: Ram, his firstborn, and Bunah, and Oren, and Ozem, and Ahijah. {2:26} Jerahmeel also married another wife, named Atarah, who was the mother of Onam. {2:27} Then too, the sons of Ram, the firstborn of Jerahmeel, were Maaz, Jamin, and Eker. {2:28} And Onam had sons: Shammai and Jada. And the sons of Shammai: Nadab and Abishur. {2:29} Truly, the name of the wife of Abishur was Abihail, who bore to him Ahban and Molid. {2:30} Now the sons of Nadab were Seled and Appaim. And Seled died without children. {2:31} Truly, the son of Appaim was Ishi. And Ishi conceived Sheshan. Then Sheshan conceived Ahlai. {2:32} But the sons of Jada, the brother of Shammai, were Jether and Jonathan. Then Jether also died without children. {2:33} And Jonathan conceived Peleth and Zaza. These were the sons of Jerahmeel. {2:34} Now Sheshan did not have sons, but only daughters, and an Egyptian servant named Jarha. {2:35} And so he gave to him his daughter as wife, who bore to him Attai. {2:36} Then Attai conceived Nathan, and Nathan conceived Zabad. {2:37} Also, Zabad conceived Ephlal, and Ephlal conceived Obed. {2:38} Obed conceived Jehu; Jehu conceived Azariah. {2:39} Azariah conceived Helez, and Helez conceived Eleasah. {2:40} Eleasah conceived Sismai; Sismai conceived Shallum. {2:41} Shallum conceived Jekamiah; then Jekamiah conceived Elshama. {2:42} And the sons of Caleb, the brother of Jerahmeel, were Mesha, his firstborn, who was the father of Ziph, and the sons of Mesha, the father of Hebron. {2:43} Now the sons of Hebron were Korah, and Tappaun, and Rekem, and Shema. {2:44} Then Shema conceived Raham, the father of Jorkeam. And Rekem conceived Shammai. {2:45} The son of Shammai was Maon, and Maon was the father of Bethzur. {2:46} Now Ephah, the concubine of Caleb, bore Haran, and Moza, and Gazez. And Haran conceived Gazez. {2:47} And the sons of Jahdai: Regem, and Jotham, and Geshan, and Pelet, and Ephah, and Shaaph. {2:48} And Maacah, the [1 Chronicles 4] [4:1] The sons of Judah: Perez, Hezron, and Carmi, and Hur, and Shobal. [4:2] Truly, Reiah, the son of Shobal, conceived Jahath; from him were born Ahumai and Lahad. These are the kindred of the Zorathites. [4:3] And this is the stock of Etam: Jezreel, and Ishma, and Idash. And the name of their sister was Hazzeléponi. [4:4] Now Peninu was the father of Gedor, and Ezer was the father of Hushah. These are the sons of Hur, the firstborn of Ephratha, the father of Bethlehem. [4:5] Truly, for Ashhur, the father of Tekoa, there were two wives: Helah and Naarah. [4:6] And Naarah bore to him: Ahuzzam, and Hepher, and Tenemi, and Haahasstari. These are the sons of Naarah. [4:7] And the sons of Helah were Zereth, Izhar, and Ethan. [4:8] Now Koz conceived Anub, and Zobebah, and the kindred of Aharhel, the son of Harum. [4:9] But Jabez was renown, more so than his brothers, and his mother called his name Jabez, saying, “For I bore him in sorrow.” [4:10] Truly, Jabez called upon the God of Israel, saying, “If only, when blessing, you will bless me, and will broaden my borders, and your hand will be with me, and you will cause me not to be oppressed by evil.” And God granted to him the things for which he prayed. [4:11] Now Chelub, the brother of Shuhah, conceived Mehir, who was the father of Eshton. [4:12] Then Eshton conceived Bethrapha, and Paseah, and Tehinnah, the father of the city of Nahash. These are the men of Recah. [4:13] Now the sons of Kenaz were Othniel and Seraiah. And the sons of Othniel were Hathath and Zippor. [4:14] Meonothai conceived Ophrah, but Seraiah conceived Joab, the father of the Valley of Artisans. For indeed, there were artisans there. [4:15] Truly, the sons of Chelub, the son of Jephunneh, were Iru, and Elah, and Naam. And the sons of Elah: Kenaz. [4:16] Also, the sons of Jehallelel: Ziph and Zippah, Tiria and Asarele. [4:17] And the sons of Ehren: Jether, and Mered, and Ephra, and Jalon; and he conceived Miriam, and Shammia, and Ishbah, the father of Eshtemoa. [4:18] And then his wife, Judaia, bore Jered, the father of Gedor, and Heber, the father of Soco, and Jekuthiel, the father of Zanoah. Now there were sons of Bithiah, the daughter of Pharaoh, whom Mered married, [4:19] and sons of his wife Hodia, the sister of Naham, the father of Keilah the Garmite, and of Eshtemoa, who was from Maacath. [4:20] And the sons of Shimon: Amnon, and Rinnah, son of Hanan, and Tilon. And the sons of Ishi: Zoheth and Benzoith. [4:21] The sons of Shelah, the son of Judah: Er, the father of Lecah, and Laadah, the father of the sons of Judah. [4:22] And he who caused the sun to stand still, and the men of Lying, and Secure, and Burning, who were leaders in Moab, and who returned into Lehem. Now these words are ancient. [4:23] These are the potters living in the Plantations and in the Hedges, with a king in his works, and they were dwelling there. [4:24] The sons of Simeon: Nemuel and Jamin, Jarib, Zerah, Shaul; [4:25] Shallam his son, Mibsam his son, Mishma his son. [4:26] The sons of Mishma: Hammuel his son, Zaccur his son, Shimei his son. [4:27] The sons of Shimei were six, and there were six daughters. But his brothers did not have many sons, and the entire kindred was not equal to the sum of the sons of Judah. [4:28] Now they lived in Beersheba, and Moladah, and Hazarshuaal, and Bilhah, and in Ezem, and in Tolad, and in Bethuel, and in Hormah, and in Zikaq, {4:31} and in Beth-marcaboth, and in Hazarsusim, and in Bethbiri, and in Shaaraim. These were their cities until king David. {4:32} And their towns were Etam, and Ain, Rimmon, and Tochen, and Ashan, five cities, {4:33} with all their villages, on every side of these cities, as far as Baal. This is their habitation and the distribution of the settlements. {4:34} And there were Meshobab and Jamlech, and Joshah, the son of Amaziah, {4:35} and Joel, and Jehu, the son of Joshibiah, the son of Seraiah, the son of Asiel, {4:36} and Elieoenai, and Jaakobah, and Jeshohaiah, and Asaiah, and Adiel, and Jesimiel, and Benaijah, {4:37} as well as Ziza, the son of Shiphi, the son of Allon, the son of Jedaijah, the son of Shimi, the son of Semaiah. {4:38} These were the names of the leaders in their kindred. And they were multiplied greatly within the houses of their marriages. {4:39} And they set out, so that they might enter into Gezer, as far as the eastern valley, and so that they might seek pastures for their flocks. {4:40} And they found fat and very good pastures, and a very wide and quiet and fruitful land, in which some from the stock of Ham had lived before. {4:41} So then, those whose names have been written above, went forth in the days of Hezekiah, the king of Judah. And they struck down the inhabitants who had been found there with their dwellings. And they wiped them out, even to the present day. And they lived in place of them, because they found very fat pastures there. {4:42} Also, some of the sons of Simeon, five hundred men, went away to mount Seir, having as leaders Pelatiah and Neariah and Raphiah and Uzziel, the sons of Ishi. {4:43} And they struck down the remnant of the Amalekites, those who had been able to escape, and they lived there in place of them, even to this day.

[1 Chronicles 5] {5:1} Also, there were the sons of Reuben, the firstborn of Israel. For indeed, he was his firstborn, but when he had violated the bed of his father, his right as firstborn was given to the sons of Joseph, the son of Israel, and he was not reputed as firstborn. {5:2} Moreover, Judah, who was strongest among his brothers, from his stock leaders sprung up, but the right of firstborn was reputed to Joseph. {5:3} So then, the sons of Reuben, the firstborn of Israel, were Hanoch and Pallu, Hezron and Carmi. {5:4} The sons of Joel: Shemaiah his son, Gog his son, Shimei his son, {5:5} Micah his son, Reiah his son, Baal his son, {5:6} Beerah his son, whom Tilgath-pilneser, the king of the Assyrians, led away captive, and he was a leader in the tribe of Reuben. {5:7} Now his brothers and all his kindred, when they were being numbered according to their families, had as leaders Jeiel and Zechariah. {5:8} Now Bela, the son of Azaz, the son of Shema, the son of Joel, lived in Aroer, as far as Nebo and Baalmeon. {5:9} And he lived toward the eastern region, as far as the entrance to the wilderness and the river Euphrates. For indeed, they possessed a great number of cattle in the land of Gilead. {5:10} Then, in the days of Saul, they battled against the Hagarites and put them to death. And they lived in place of them, in their dwellings, throughout the entire region that looks to the east of Gilead. {5:11} Truly, the sons of Gad lived in the opposite region from them, in the land of Bashan, as far as Salechah: {5:12} Joel the head, and Shapham the second, then Janai and Shaphat, in Bashan. {5:13} Truly, their brothers, according to the houses of their kindred, were: Michael, and Meshullam, and Sheba, and Jorai, and Jacan, and Zia, and Eber, seven. {5:14} These were the sons of Abihail, the son of Huri, the son of Jaroa, the son of Gilead, the son of Michael, the son of Jesseshai, the son of Jahdo, the son of Buz, {5:15} along with their brothers, the sons of Abdiel, the son of Guni, the leader of the house, in their families. {5:16} And they lived in Gilead, and in Bashan and its towns, and in all the suburbs of Sharon, as far as the borders. {5:17} All these were numbered in the days of Joatham, the king of Judah, and in the days of Jeroboam, the king of Israel: {5:18} the sons of Reuben, and of Gad, and the one half tribe of Manasseh, men of war, carrying shields and swords, and bending the bow, and trained for battle, forty-four thousand and seven hundred sixty, advancing to the fight. {5:19} They struggled against the Hagarites, yet truly the Jetureans, and Naphish, and Nadab offered assistance to them. {5:20} And the Hagrites were delivered into their hands, and all who were with them. For they called upon God while they did battle. And he heeded them, because they had trusted in him. {5:21} And they seized all that they possessed, of camels fifty thousand, and of sheep two hundred fifty thousand, and of donkeys two thousand, and of men one hundred thousand lives. {5:22} And many fell down wounded. For it was a war of the Lord. And they lived in place of them, until the transmigration. {5:23} Also, the sons of the one half tribe of Manasseh possessed the land, from the parts of Bashan as far as Baal, Hermon, and Sanir, and Mount Hermon. For certainly, their number was immense. {5:24} And these were leaders of the house of their kindred: Ephar, and Ishi, and Eliel, and Azriel, and Jeremiah, and Hodaviah, and Jahdiel, very valiant and powerful men, and renown leaders in their families. {5:25} But they abandoned the God of their fathers, and they fornicated after the gods of the peoples of the land, whom God took away before them. {5:26} And so the God of Israel stirred up the spirit of Pul, the king of the Assyrians, and the spirit of Tilgath-pilneser, the king of Assur. And he took away Reuben, and Gad, and the one half tribe of Manasseh. And he led them to Halah, and to Habor, and to Harah, and to the river of Gozan, even to this day.

[1 Chronicles 6] {6:1} The sons of Levi: Gershom, Kohath, and Merari. {6:2} The sons of Kohath: Amram, Izhar, Hebron, and Uzziel. {6:3} The sons of Amram: Aaron, Moses, and Miriam. The sons of Aaron: Nadab and Abihu, Eleazar and Ithamar. {6:4} Eleazar conceived Phinehas, and Phinehas conceived Abishua. {6:5} Truly, Abishua conceived Bukki, and Bukki conceived Uzzi. {6:6} Uzzi conceived Zerahiah, and Zerahiah conceived Meraioth. {6:7} Then Meraioth conceived Amariah, and Amariah conceived Abihut. {6:8} Abihut conceived Zadok, and Zadok conceived Ahimaaz. {6:9} Ahimaaz conceived Azariah; Azariah conceived Johanan. {6:10} Johanan conceived Azariah. He is the one who executed the priestly office in the house that Solomon built in Jerusalem. {6:11} Now Azariah conceived Amariah, and Amariah conceived Ahabut. {6:12} Ahabut conceived Zadok, and Zadok conceived Shallum. {6:13} Shallum conceived Hilkiah, and Hilkiah conceived Azariah. {6:14} Azariah conceived Seraiah, and Seraiah conceived Jehozadak. {6:15} Now Jehozadak departed, when the Lord took away Judah and Jerusalem, by the hands of Nebuchadnezzar. {6:16} So the sons of Levi were Gershom, Kohath, and Merari. {6:17} And these are the names of the sons of Gershom: Libni and Shimei.
The sons of Kohath: Amram, and Izhar, and Hebron, and Uzziel. {6:19} The sons of Merari: Mahli and Mushli. And so these are the kindred of Levi, according to their families. {6:20} Of Gershom: Libni his son, Jahath his son, Zimmah his son, {6:21} Joel his son, Iddo his son, Zerah his son, Jeaterai his son. {6:22} The sons of Kohath: Amminadab his son, Korah his son, Assir his son, {6:23} Elkanah his son, Ebiasaph his son, Assir his son, {6:24} Tahath his son, Uriel his son, Uzziah his son, Shaul his son. {6:25} The sons of Elkanah: Amasai and Ahimoth {6:26} and Elkanah. The sons of Elkanah: Zophai his son, Nahath his son, {6:27} Eliab his son, Jeroham his son, Elkanah his son. {6:28} The sons of Samuel: Vasseni the firstborn, and Abijah. {6:29} Now the sons of Merari were: Mahli, Libni his son, Shimei his son, Uzziah his son, {6:30} Shimea his son, Haggiah his son, Asiaiah his son. {6:31} These are the ones whom David appointed over the singing men in the house of the Lord, in the place where the ark was located. {6:32} And they ministered before the tabernacle of the testimony with singing, until Solomon built the house of the Lord in Jerusalem. And they would stand according to their order in the ministry. {6:33} Truly, these are the ones who were assisting, with their sons, from the sons of Kohath: the singer Heman, the son of Joel, the son of Samuel, {6:34} the son of Elkanah, the son of Jeroham, the son of Eliel, the son of Toah, {6:35} the son of Zuph, the son of Elkanah, the son of Mahath, the son of Amasai, {6:36} the son of Elkanah, the son of Joel, the son of Azariah, the son of Zephaniah, {6:37} the son of Tahath, the son of Assir, the son of Ebiasaph, the son of Korah, {6:38} the son of Izhar, the son of Kohath, the son of Levi, the son of Israel. {6:39} And there was also his brother, Asaph, who was standing at his right, Asaph, the son of Berechiah, the son of Shimea, {6:40} the son of Michael, the son of Baaseiah, the son of Malchijah, {6:41} the son of Ethni, the son of Zerah, the son of Adaiah, {6:42} the son of Ethan, the son of Zimmah, the son of Shimei, {6:43} the son of Jahath, the son of Gershom, the son of Levi. {6:44} Now the sons of Merari, their brothers, were on the left: Ethan, the son of Kishi, the son of Abdi, the son of Malluch, {6:45} the son of Hashabiah, the son of Amaziah, the son of Hilkiah, {6:46} the son of Amzi, the son of Boni, the son of Shemer, {6:47} the son of Mahli, the son of Mushli, the son of Merari, the son of Levi. {6:48} There were also their brothers, Levites who were appointed for every ministry of the tabernacle of the house of the Lord. {6:49} Truly, Aaron and his sons were burning incense, for the entire work of the Holy of Holies, and to pray upon behalf of Israel, in accord with all the things that Moses, the servant of God, had instructed. {6:50} Now these are the sons of Aaron: Eleazar his son, Phinehas his son, Abishua his son, {6:51} Bukki his son, Uzzi his son, Zerahiah his son, {6:52} Merarioth his son, Amariah his son, Ahitub his son, {6:53} Zadok his son, Ahimaaz his son. {6:54} And these are their habitation according to the villages and confines, specifically of the sons of Aaron, according to the kindred of the Kohathites. For it fell to them by lot. {6:55} And so, they gave Hebron, in the land of Judah, and its suburbs all around, to them, {6:56} but they gave the fields of the city, and the villages, to Caleb, the son of Jephunneh. {6:57} Then, to the sons of Aaron, they gave the cities of refuge: Hebron, and Libnah with its suburbs, {6:58} also Jattir and Eshtemoa with their suburbs, then also Hilen and Debir with their suburbs, {6:59} as well as Ashan and Beth-shemesh with their suburbs. {6:60} And from the tribe of Benjamin: Geba with its suburbs, and Alemeth with its suburbs, as well as Anathoth with its suburbs. All the cities throughout their kindred were thirteen. {6:61} Now to the sons of Kohath, those remaining from their kindred, they gave ten cities, from the one half tribe of Manasseh, as a possession; {6:62} and to the sons of Gershom, according to their families, from the tribe of Issachar, and from the tribe of Asher, and from the tribe of Naphtali, and from the tribe Manasseh in Bashan: thirteen cities. {6:63} Then to the sons of Merari, according to their families, from the tribe of Reuben, and from the tribe of Gad, and from the tribe of Zebulun, they gave by lot twelve cities. {6:64} Also, the sons of Israel gave, to the Levites, cities and their suburbs, {6:65} and they gave them by lot, out of the tribe of the sons of Judah, and out of the tribe of the sons of Simeon, and out of the tribe of the sons of Benjamin, these cities, which they called by their names. {6:66} And for those who were from the kindred of the sons of Kohath, the cities with their borders were from the tribe of Ephraim. {6:67} Then they gave to them the cities of refuge: Shechem with its suburbs on mount Ephraim, and Gezer with its suburbs, {6:68} as well as Jokmeam with its suburbs, and Beth-horon similarly, {6:69} and indeed Hilen with its suburbs, and Gath Rimmon in the same manner. {6:70} Then too, out of the one half tribe of Manasseh: Aner and its suburbs, Bileam and its suburbs; these in particular went to those who were remaining from the kindred of the sons of Kohath. {6:71} And to the sons of Gershom, from the kindred of the one half tribe of Manasseh: Golan, in Bashan, and its suburbs, and Ashtaroth with its suburbs; {6:72} from the tribe of Issachar: Kedesh and its suburbs, and Daberath with its suburbs, {6:73} as well as Ramoth and its suburbs, and Anem with its suburbs; {6:74} truly, from the tribe of Asher: Mashal with its suburbs, and Abdon similarly; {6:75} as well as Hukkok and its suburbs, and Rehob with its suburbs; {6:76} moreover, from the tribe of Naphtali: Kedes in Galilee and its suburbs, Hammon with its suburbs, and Kiriathaim and its suburbs. {6:77} Then to the remaining sons of Merari, from the tribe of Zebulun: Rimmono and its suburbs, and Tabor with its suburbs; {6:78} and also, across the Jordan opposite Jericho, facing the east of the Jordan, from the tribe of Reuben: Bezer in the wilderness with its suburbs, and Jahazah with its suburbs; {6:79} as well as Kedemoth and its suburbs, and Mephaath with its suburbs; {6:80} indeed also, from the tribe of Gad: Ramoth in Gilead and its suburbs, and Mahanaim with its suburbs; {6:81} then too, Heshbon with its suburbs, and Jazer with its suburbs.

[1 Chronicles 7] {7:1} Now the sons of Issachar were Tola and Puah, Jashub and Shimron, four. {7:2} The sons of Tola: Uzzi, and Rephaiah, and Jeriel, and Jahmai, and Ibshi, and Shamuel, leaders according to the houses of their kindred. From the stock of Tola, there were numbered, in the days of David, twenty-two thousand six hundred very strong men. {7:3} The sons of Uzzi: Izrahiah, from whom were born: Michael, and Obadiah, and Joel, and Isshiah; all five were leaders. {7:4} And with them, by their families and peoples, there were thirty-six thousand very strong men, girded for battle. And they had many wives and children. {7:5} Also, their brothers, throughout all the kindred of Issachar, were numbered as eighty-seven thousand, very fit for battle. (7:6) The sons of Benjamin: Bela, and Becher, and Jediael, three. (7:7) The sons of Bela: Ezbon, and Uzzai, and Uziel, and Jerimoth and Iri, five leaders of families, also very fit for battle; and their number was twenty-two thousand thirty-four. (7:8) The sons of Becher: Zemirah, and Joash, and Arist and Sheva, and Ishvi, and Beriah, and Serah their sister. (7:9) And the sons of the family of Asher, the leaders of families, elect and very strong rulers among rulers. And the number of those who were of an age that was fit for warfare was twenty-six thousand.

[1 Chronicles 8] (8:1) Now Benjamin conceived Bela as his firstborn, Ashbel the second, Aharah the third, (8:2) Nohah the fourth, and Rapha the fifth. (8:3) And the sons of Bela were: Addar, and Gera, and Abihud, (8:4) as well as Abishua, and Naaman, and Ahoh, and Azaiah, (8:5) then also Gera, and Shaphuh, and Huram. (8:6) These are the sons of Ehud, leaders of the kindred living in Geba, who were moved away to Manahath. (8:7) And Naaman, and Ahijah, and Gera, he also moved them away; and he conceived Uzza and Ahihud. (8:8) Then Shaharaim conceived, in the region of Moab, after he sent away Hushim and Baara, his wives; (8:9) and so, of his wife Hodesh, he conceived Jobab, and Zibia, and Mesha, and Malcam, (8:10) and also Jeuz and Sachia, and Mirmah. These were his sons, the leaders of their families. (8:11) Truly, of Hushim he conceived Abitub and Elpaal. (8:12) And the sons of Elpaal were Eber, and Misham, and Shemed, who built Ono and Lod and its daughters. (8:13) Now Beriah and Shema were leaders of their families living in Aijalon; these put to flight the inhabitants of Gath. (8:14) And Ahio, and Shashak, and Zereth, and Shothai, (8:15) and Zebadiah, and Arad, and Eder, (8:16) as well as Michael, and Ishpah, and Micah, and Shilah, and Ahihud, (8:17) Then Zebadiah, and Meshullam, and Hizki, and Heber, (8:18) and Ishmerai, and Izliah, and Jobab, and Hadad, and Shiphshah, and Jeuel, and Eliezer, and Shemaiah, and Ithobaal, (8:19) and Jeiel and Shemaiah, and Ithera, and Zabdi, (8:20) and Eliezer, and Shaalbon, and Azel, and Jekenuh, and Zimri. And Zimri conceived Moza. (8:21) And Moza conceived Binea, whose son was Raphah, (8:22) and Resheph, and Telah, from whom was born Tahan, (8:23) And she conceived Ladan. And his son was Ammihud, who conceived Elishama, (8:24) from whom was born Nun, who had Joshua as a son. (8:25) Now their possessions and habitats were: Bethel with her daughters, and toward the east, Naaran, and toward the western region, Gezer and her daughters, as well as Shechem with her daughters, as far as Ayyah with her daughters; (8:26) also, beside the sons of Manasseh, Bethshean and her daughters, Taanach and her daughters, Megiddo and her daughters, Dor and her daughters. In these places, there lived the sons of Joseph, the son of Israel. (8:27) The sons of Asher: Imnah, and Ishvah, and Ishvi, and Beriah, and Serah their sister. (8:28) These were the patriarchs and leaders of the families who were living in Jerusalem. (8:29) Now in Gibeah, there lived Jeiel, the father of Gibeon; and the name of his wife was Maacah. (8:30) And his firstborn son was Abdon, and then Zur, and Kish, and Baal, and Nadab, (8:31) and Gedor, and Ahio, and Gedor, and Abiel, and Shashak, and Ahiah, and Mibhar, and Micah. (8:32) And Micloth conceived Shimeah. And they lived opposite their brothers in Jerusalem, with their brothers. (8:33) Now Ner conceived Kish, and Kish conceived Saul. Then Saul conceived Jonathan, and Malchishua, and Abinadab, and Eshbaal. (8:34) And the son of Jonathan was Meribbaal; and Meribbaal conceived Micah. (8:35) The sons of Micah were Pithon, and Melech, and Tarea, and Ahaz. (8:36) And Ahaz conceived Jehodeah. And Jehodeah conceived Alexemeth, and Azmaveth, and Zimri. And Zimri conceived Moza. (8:37) And Moza conceived Binea, whose son was Raphah, of whom was born Eleasah, who conceived Azel. (8:38) Now there were six sons for Azel, whose names were...
Azrikam, Bocheru, Ishmael, Sheariah, Obadiah, and Hanan. All these were the sons of Azel. {8:39} Then the sons of Eshek, his brother, were Ulam the firstborn, and Jeush the second, and Eliphelet the third. {8:40} And the sons of Ulam were very robust men, drawing the bow with great strength. And they had many sons and grandsons, even to one hundred fifty. All these were sons of Benjamin.

[1 Chronicles 9] {9:1} And so, all of Israel was numbered. And the sum of them was written in the book of the kings of Israel and of Judah. And they were taken away to Babylon because of their transgression. {9:2} Now the first who lived in their possessions and in their cities were Israel, and the priests, and the Levites, and the temple servants. {9:3} Staying in Jerusalem were some from the sons of Judah, and from the sons of Benjamin, and also from the sons of Ephraim and of Manasseh: {9:4} Uthai, the son of Ammihud, the son of Omri, the son of Imri, the son of Bani, from the sons of Perez, the son of Judah. {9:5} And from Shiloni: Asaiah the firstborn, and his sons. {9:6} Then from the sons of Zerah: Jeuel, and their brothers, six hundred ninety. {9:7} And from the sons of Benjamin: Sallu, the son of Meshullam, the son of Hodaviah, the son of Hassenuah; {9:8} and Ibneiah, the son of Jeroham; and Elah, the son of Uzzi, the son of Michri; and Meshullam, the son of Shephathiah, the son of Reuel, the son of Ibnijah; {9:9} and their brothers according to their families, nine hundred fifty-six. All these were leaders of their kindred, according to the houses of their fathers. {9:10} And from the priests: Jedaiyah, Jehoiarib, and Jachin; {9:11} and also Azariah, the son of Hilkiah, the son of Meshullam, the son of Zadok, the son of Ahitub, the high priest of the house of God; {9:12} then Adaiah, the son of Jeroham, the son of Adiel, the son of Zerah, the father of Jeaterai; and Obadiah, the son of Sechariah, the son of Micah, the son of Zadok, the son of Ahitub, the high priest of the house of God; {9:13} and also their brothers, leaders according to their families, one thousand seven hundred sixty, very strong experience men, for the work in the ministry in the house of God. {9:14} Then from the Levites: Shemaiah, the son of Hashub, the son of Azrikam, the son of Hashhabiah, of the sons of Merari; {9:15} and also Bakbakkar the carpenter; and Galal; and Mattaniah, the son of Mica, the son of Zichri, the son of Asaph; {9:16} and Obadiah, the son of Shemaiah, the son of Galal, the son of Jeduthun; and Berechiah, the son of Asa, the son of Elkanah, who lived at the entrance to Netophah. {9:17} Now the gatekeepers were Shallum, and Akkub, and Talmon, and Ahiman; and their brother Shallum was the leader. {9:18} For unto that time, at the gate of the king to the east, the sons of Levi served in their turns. {9:19} Truly, Shallum, the son of Kore, the son of Ebiasaph, the son of Korah, with his brothers and his father’s house, these Korahites, were over the works of the ministry of keeping the vestibules of the tabernacle. And their families, in turns, were keepers of the entrance to the camp of the Lord. {9:20} Now Phinehas, the son of Eleazar, was their ruler before the Lord. {9:21} But Zechariah, the son of Meshelemiah, was the keeper of the gate of the tabernacle of the testimony. {9:22} All these, chosen as porters for the gates, were two hundred twelve. And they were recorded in their own towns, those whom David, and the seer Samuel, appointed, in their faith, {9:23} as with them, so also with their sons, at the gates of the house of the Lord and the tabernacle, by their turns. {9:24} At the four directions, there were gatekeepers, that is, at the east, and at the west, and at the north, and at the south. {9:25} Now their brothers were staying in the villages, and they arrived on their Sabbaths, from time to time. {9:26} To these four Levites were entrusted the entire number of the gatekeepers, and they were over the chambers and storehouses of the house of the Lord. {9:27} And they remained in their watches, on all sides of the temple of the Lord, so that, when the time had arrived, they might open the gates in the morning. {9:28} Some from their kindred were also over the vessels of the ministry. For the vessels were both carried in and carried out according to number. {9:29} Some of them also were entrusted with the equipment of the sanctuary; they were in charge of the fine wheat flour, and the wine, and the oil, and the frankincense, and the aromatics. {9:30} Now the sons of the priests composed the ointments from the aromatics. {9:31} And Mattithiah, a Levite, the firstborn of Shallum the Korahite, was in charge of those things that were cooked in a frying pan. {9:32} Now some of the sons of Kohath, their brothers, were over the bread of the presence, so that they might continually prepare it new for each Sabbath. {9:33} These are the leaders of the singing men, according to the families of the Levites, who were dwelling in the chambers, so that they might carry out their ministry continually, day and night. {9:34} The heads of the Levites, leaders according to their families, abode in Jerusalem. {9:35} Now in Gibeon, there lived Jeiel, the father of Gibeon, and the name of his wife was Maacah. {9:36} His firstborn son was Abdon, and then Zur, and Kish, and Baal, and Ner, andnd Nadab, {9:37} as well as Gedor, and Ahio, and Zechariah, and Mikloth. {9:38} Then Mikloth conceived Shim'eam. These lived opposite their brothers in Jerusalem, with their brothers. {9:39} Now Ner conceived Kish, and Kish conceived Saul. And Saul conceived Jonathan, and Malchishua, and Abinadab, and Eshbaal. {9:40} And the son of Jonathan was Meribbaal. And Meribbaal conceived Micah. {9:41} Now the sons of Micah were Pithon, and Melech, and Tahrea, and Ahaz. {9:42} And Ahaz conceived Jahar. And Jahar conceived Alexeth, and Azmaveth, and Zimri. Then Zimri conceived Moza. {9:43} Truly, Moza conceived Binea, whose son, Rephahia, conceived Eleashah, from of whom was born Azel. {9:44} Now Azel had six sons, whose names are: Azrikam, Bocheru, Ishmael, Sheariah, Obadiah, Hanan. These are the sons of Azel.

[1 Chronicles 10] {10:1} Now the Philistines were fighting against Israel, and the men of Israel fled from the Philistines, and they fell down wounded on mount Gilboa. {10:2} And when the Philistines had draw near, pursuing Saul and his sons, they struck down Jonathan, and Abinadab, and Malchishua, the sons of Saul. {10:3} And the battle grew heavy against Saul. And the archers found him, and they wounded him with arrows. {10:4} And Saul said to his armor bearer: “Unsheathe your sword and kill me. Otherwise, these uncircumcised men may arrive and mock me.” But his armor bearer was not willing, having been struck with fear. And so, Saul took hold of his sword, and he fell upon it. {10:5} And when his armor bearer had seen this, specifically, that Saul was dead, he now fell on his sword also, and he died. {10:6} Therefore, Saul died, and his three sons passed away, and his entire house fell, together. {10:7} And when the men of Israel who were living in the plains had seen this, they fled. And since Saul and his sons were dead, they abandoned their cities and were dispersed, here and there. And the Philistines arrived and lived among them. \{10:8\} Then, on the next day, when the Philistines were taking away the spoils of the slain, they found Saul and his sons, lying on mount Gilboa. \{10:9\} And when they had despoiled him, and had cut off his head, and had striped his armor, they sent these things into their land, so that they would be carried around and displayed in the temples of the idols and to the people. \{10:10\} But his armor they consecrated in the shrine of their god, and his head they affixed in the temple of Dagon. \{10:11\} When the men of Jabesh Gilead had heard this, specifically, all that the Philistines had done concerning Saul, \{10:12\} each one of the valiant men rose up, and they took the bodies of Saul and of his sons. And they brought them to Jabesh. And they buried their bones under the oak that was in Jabesh. And they fasted for seven days. \{10:13\} Thus did Saul die for his iniquities, because he betrayed the commandment of the Lord which he had instructed, and did not keep it. And moreover, he even consulted a woman diviner; \{10:14\} for he did not trust in the Lord. Because of this, he caused his death, and he transferred his kingdom to David, the son of Jesse.

[1 Chronicles 11] \{11:1\} Then all of Israel was gathered to David at Hebron, saying: “We are your bone and your flesh. \{11:2\} Also, yesterday and the day before, when Saul still reigned, you were the one who led out and brought in Israel. For the Lord your God said to you: ‘You shall pasture my people Israel, and you shall be the leader over them.’ ” \{11:3\} Therefore, all those greater by birth of Israel went to the king at Hebron. And David formed a pact with them before the Lord. And they anointed him king over Israel, in accord with the word of the Lord, which he spoke by the hand of Samuel. \{11:4\} Then David and all of Israel went to Jerusalem. The same is Jebus, where the Jebusites, the inhabitants of the land, were. \{11:5\} And those who were living in Jebus said to David: “You shall not enter here.” But David seized the stronghold of Zion, which is the city of David. \{11:6\} And he said, “Whoever shall strike the Jebusites first, shall be ruler and commander.” And so Joab, the son of Zeruiah, ascended first, and he was made the leader. \{11:7\} Then David lived in the stronghold, and for this reason it was called the City of David. \{11:8\} And he built up the city all around, from Millo even to every side. But Joab built the rest of the city. \{11:9\} And David continued advancing and increasing, and the Lord of hosts was with him. \{11:10\} These are the leaders of the strong men of David, who assisted him, so that he would become king over all of Israel, in accord with the word of the Lord, which he spoke to Israel. \{11:11\} And this is the number of the robust of David: Jashobeam, the son of a Hachmonite, leader among the thirty. He lifted up his spear over three hundred, who were wounded at one time. \{11:12\} And after him, there was Eleazar, the son of his uncle, an Ahohite, who was among the three powerful ones. \{11:13\} He was with David in Pasdammim, when the Philistines were gathered to that place for battle. Now the field of that region was full of barley, but the people had fled from the face of the Philistines. \{11:14\} These men stood in the midst of the field, and they defended it. And when they had struck down the Philistines, the Lord gave a great salvation to his people. \{11:15\} Then three from the thirty leaders descended to the rock where David was, to the cave of Adullam, when the Philistines had made camp in the Valley of the Rephaim. \{11:16\} Now David was in a stronghold, and a garrison of the Philistines was in Bethel. \{11:17\} And then David desired and said, “O if only someone would give me water from the well of Bethelhem, which is at the gate!” \{11:18\} Therefore, these three broke through to the midst of the camp of the Philistines, and they drew water from the well of Bethelhem, which was at the gate. And they took it to David, so that he might drink. But he was not willing; and instead, he offered it as a libation to the Lord, \{11:19\} saying: “Far be it from me, that I would do this in the sight of my God, and that I would drink the blood of these men. For at the peril of their own lives, they brought the water to me.” And for this reason, he was not willing to drink. The three most powerful accomplished these things. \{11:20\} Also, Abishai, the brother of Joab, was the leader of the three, and he lifted up his spear against three hundred, who were wounded. And he was most renown among the three, \{11:21\} and he was famous among the second three and their leader. Yet truly, he did not reach as far as the first three. \{11:22\} Beniaiah, the son of Jehoiada, from Kabzeel, was a very mature man, who had accomplished many deeds. He struck down the two lions of God from Moab. And he descended and killed a lion in the middle of a pit, in the time of snow. \{11:23\} And he struck down an Egyptian man, whose stature was five cubits, and who had a spear like a weaver’s beam. And yet he descended to him with a staff. And he seized the spear that he was holding in his hand. And he killed him with his own spear. \{11:24\} These things were done by Beniaiah, the son of Jehoiada, who was most renowned among the three robust ones, \{11:25\} the first among the thirty. Yet truly, he did not reach as far as the three. Then David placed him beside his ear. \{11:26\} Moreover, the strongest men of the army were Asahel, the brother of Joab; and Elhanan, the son of his uncle, from Bethlehem; \{11:27\} Shammoth, a Harorite; Helez, a Pelonite; \{11:28\} Ira, the son of Ikkesh, a Tekoite; Abiezre, an Anathothite; \{11:29\} Sibbecai, a Hushathite; Ilai, an Ahohite; \{11:30\} Maharai, a Netophathite; Heled, the son of Baanah, a Netophathite; \{11:31\} Ithai, the son of Ribai, from Gibeah, of the sons of Benjamin; Beniaiah, a Pirathonite; \{11:32\} Hurai, from the torrent Gaash; Abiel, an Arbathite; Azmaveth, a Baharumite; Eliahba, a Shaalbonite. \{11:33\} The sons of Hashem, a Gizonite: Jonathan, the son of Shagee, a Hararite; \{11:34\} Ahiam, the son of Sachar, a Hararite; \{11:35\} Eliphal, the son of Ur; \{11:36\} Hepher, a Mercherathite; Ahijah, a Pelonite; \{11:37\} Hezro, a Carmelite; Naharai, the son of Ezbai; \{11:38\} Joel, the brother of Nathan; Mibhar, the son of Hagri; \{11:39\} Zelek, an Ammonite; Naarai, a Beerothite, the armor bearer of Joab, the son of Zeruiah; \{11:40\} Ira, an Ithrite; Gareb, an Ithrite; \{11:41\} Uriah, a Hittite; Zabad, the son of Ahlai; \{11:42\} Adina, the son of Shiza, a Reubenite, the leader of the Reubenites, and thirty who were with him; \{11:43\} Hanan, the son of Maacah; and Josaphat, a Mithneth; \{11:44\} Uzzia, an Ashterathite; Shama and Jeiel, the sons of Hotham, an Aroerite; \{11:45\} Jediah, the son of Shimri; and Joha, his brother, a Tizite; \{11:46\} Eliel, a Mahavite; and Jeribai and Josiahvah, the sons of Elnaam;
and Ithmah, a Moabite; Eliel, and Obed, and Jaasiel from Mezobaite.

[1 Chronicles 12] {12:1} Also, these went to David at Ziklag, while he was still fleeing from Saul, the son of Kish. And they were very strong and distinguished fighters, {12:2} bending the bow, and using either hand in casting stones with slings, and shooting arrows. From the brothers of Saul, out of Benjamin: {12:3} the leader was Ahiezer, with Joash, sons of Semaah from Gibeah, and Zeziel and Pelet, sons of Azmaveth, and Beracah and Jehu, from Ananetho. {12:4} Also, there was Ishmaiah, from Gibeon, the strongest among the thirty and over the thirty; Jeremiah, and Jahaziel, and Johanan, and Jozabad, from Gederah; {12:5} and Eluzai, and Jerimoth, and Bealiah, and Shemariah, and Shephatiah, the Haruphites; {12:6} Elkanah, and Isshiah, and Azarel, and Joezer, and Jashobeam, from Careahim; {12:7} and also Joelah and Zabadiah, sons of Jeroham, from Gedor. {12:8} Then too, from Gad, there went over to David, when he was hiding in the desert, very robust men, who were excellent fighters, taking hold of shield and spear; their faces were like the faces of a lion, and they were swift like the roe deer upon the mountains. {12:9} Ezer was the leader, Obadiah the second, Eliab the third, {12:10} Mishmannah the fourth, Jeremiah the fifth, {12:11} Attai the sixth, Eliel the seventh, {12:12} Johanan the eighth, Elzabad the ninth, {12:13} Jeremiah the tenth, Machbannai the eleventh. {12:14} These were from the sons of Gad, leaders of the army. The least was in charge of one hundred soldiers, and the greatest was in charge of one thousand. {12:15} These are the ones who crossed over the Jordan in the first month, when it is accustomed to overflow its banks. And they put to flight all those who were staying in the valleys, to the eastern region and to the west. {12:16} Then some from Benjamin and from Judah also arrived at the stronghold where David was staying. {12:17} And David went out to meet them, and he said: “If you have arrived peacefully, so as to be a help to me, may my heart be joined to you; but if to betray me to my adversaries, though I have no iniquity in my hands, may the God of our fathers see and judge.” {12:18} Truly, the Spirit clothed Amasai, the leader among the thirty, and he said: “O David, we are yours! O son of Jesse, we are for you! Peace, peace to you, and peace to your helpers. For your God helps you.” Therefore, David received them, and he appointed them as leaders of troops. {12:19} Moreover, some from Manasseh crossed over to David, when he went forth with the Philistines against Saul, so that he might fight. But he did not fight with them. For the leaders of the Philistines, taking counsel, sent him back, saying, “To the peril of our own lives, we will return to him, lord Saul.” {12:20} And so, when he returned to Ziklag, some fled over to him from Manasseh: Adnah, and Jozabad, and Jediea, and Michael, and Adnah, and Jozabad, and Elihu, and Zillethai, leaders of thousands in Manasseh. {12:21} These offered assistance to David against the robbers. For all were very strong men, and they became leaders in the army. {12:22} Then, too, some came to David throughout each day, in order to help him, until they became a great number, like the army of God. {12:23} Now this is the number of the leaders of the army who went to David when he was at Hebron, so that they might transfer the kingdom of Saul to him, in accord with the word of the Lord: {12:24} the sons of Judah, carrying shield and spear, six thousand eight hundred, equipped for battle; {12:25} from the sons of Simeon, very strong men for the fight, seven thousand one hundred; {12:26} from the sons of Levi, four thousand six hundred; {12:27} as well as Jehoiada, a leader from the stock of Aaron, and with him three thousand seven hundred; {12:28} and then Zadok, a youth of distinguished qualities, and the house of his father, twenty-two leaders; {12:29} and from the sons of Benjamin, brothers of Saul, three thousand, for still a great part of them were following the house of Saul. {12:30} Then from the sons of Ephraim, there were twenty thousand eight hundred, very strong and robust men, renowned among their kindred. {12:31} And out of the one half tribe of Manasseh, eighteen thousand, each by their names, went forth so that they might appoint David as king. {12:32} Also, from the sons of Issachar, there were learned men, who knew each of the times, in order to anticipate what Israel ought to do, two hundred leaders. And all the remainder of the tribe were following their counsel. {12:33} Then, from Zebulun, there were those who went forth to battle, and who were standing in a battle line, prepared with the weapons of warfare; these fifty thousand arrived to assist, without duplicity of heart. {12:34} And from Naphtali, there were one thousand leaders; and with them were thirty-seven thousand, prepared with shield and spear. {12:35} And then from Dan, there were twenty-eight thousand six hundred, ready for battle. {12:36} And from Asher, there were forty thousand, going forth to fight, and summoned to the battle line. {12:37} Then, across the Jordan, there were, from the sons of Reuben, and from Gad, and from the one half tribe of Manasseh, one hundred twenty thousand, prepared with the weapons of warfare. {12:38} All these men of war, equipped for the fight, went with a perfect heart to Hebron, so that they might appoint David as king over all of Israel. Then, too, all the remainder of Israel were of one heart, so that they might make David king. {12:39} And they were in that place with David for three days, eating and drinking. For their brothers had made preparations for them. {12:40} Moreover, those who were near to them, even as far as Issachar, and Zebulun, and Naphtali, were bringing, on donkeys and camels and mules and oxen, bread for their provisions, with grain, dried figs, dried grapes, wine, oil, and oxen and sheep, with all abundance. For indeed, there was joy in Israel.
Uzzah and his brother drove the cart. {13:8} Now David and all of Israel were playing before God, with all of their ability, in songs, and with harps, and psalteries, and timbrels, and cymbals, and trumpets. {13:9} And when they had arrived at the threshing floor of Chidon, Uzzah reached out his hand, so that he might support the ark. For indeed, the ox being wanton had caused it to incline a little. {13:10} And so the Lord became angry against Uzzah. And he struck him down because he had touched the ark. And he died there before the Lord. {13:11} And David was greatly saddened because the Lord had divided Uzzah. And he called that place ‘the Division of Uzzah,’ even to the present day. {13:12} And for this reason, he did not bring it to himself, that is, into the City of David. Instead, he turned aside to the house of Obededom, the Gittite. {13:14} Therefore, the ark of God dwelt in the house of Obededom for three months. And the Lord blessed his house and all that he had.

[1 Chronicles 14] {14:1} Also, Hiram, the king of Tyre, sent messengers to David, and cedar wood, and artisans of walls and of wood, so that they might build a house for him. {14:2} And David realized that the Lord had confirmed him as king over Israel, and that his kingdom had been lifted up over his people Israel. {14:3} Also, David took other wives in Jerusalem. And he conceived sons and daughters. {14:4} And these are the names of those who were born to him in Jerusalem: Shammua and Shobab, Nathan and Solomon, {14:5} Ibhar, and Elishua, and Elpelet, {14:6} as well as Noah, and Nepheg, and Japhia, {14:7} Eliashima, and Beeliada, and Eliphelet. {14:8} Then, hearing that David had been anointed as king over all of Israel, all the Philistines ascended so that they might seek him. But when David had heard of it, he went out to meet them. {14:9} Now the Philistines, arriving, spread out in the Valley of the Rephaim. {14:10} And so David consulted the Lord, saying, “Shall I ascend to the Philistines, and will you deliver them into my hand?” And the Lord said to him, “Ascend, and I will deliver them into your hand.” {14:11} And when they had ascended to Baal-perazim, David struck them there, and he said: “God has divided my enemies by my hand, just as waters are divided.” And therefore the name of that place was called Baal-perazim. {14:12} And they left behind their gods in that place, and so David ordered them to be burned. {14:13} And then, at another time, the Philistines invaded, and they spread out in the valley. {14:14} And again, David consulted God. And God said to him: “You shall not ascend after them. Draw away from them. And you shall come against them opposite the balsam trees. {14:15} And when you hear a sound approaching in the tops of the balsam trees, then you shall go forth to war. For God has gone forth before you, so that he may strike down the army of the Philistines.” {14:16} Therefore, David did just as God had instructed him. And he struck down the army of the Philistines, from Gibeon as far as Gazera. {14:17} And the name of David became well-known in all the regions. And the Lord placed the fear of him over all the nations.

[1 Chronicles 15] {15:1} Also, he made houses for himself in the City of David. And built a place for the ark of God, and he set up a tent for it. {15:2} Then David said: “It is illicit for anyone to carry the ark of God except the Levites, whom the Lord chose to carry it and to minister to himself, even unto eternity.” {15:3} And he gathered all of Israel in Jerusalem, so that the ark of God might be brought into its place, which he had prepared for it. {15:4} Certainly, there were both the sons of Aaron and the Levites: {15:5} From the sons of Kohath, Uriel was the leader, and his brothers were one hundred twenty. {15:6} From the sons of Merari: Asaiah was the leader, and his brothers were two hundred twenty. {15:7} From the sons of Gershom: Joel was the leader, and his brothers were one hundred thirty. {15:8} From the sons of Elizaphan: Shemaiah was the leader, and his brothers were two hundred. {15:9} From the sons of Hebron: Eliezer was the leader, and his brothers were eighty. {15:10} From the sons of Uzziel: Amminadab was the leader, and his brothers were one hundred twelve. {15:11} And David summoned the priests, Zadok and Abiathar, and the Levites: Uriel, Asaiah, Joel, Shemaiah, Elie, and Amminadab. {15:12} And he said to them: “You who are the leaders of the Levitical families, be sanctified with your brothers, and bring the ark of the Lord God of Israel to the place that has been prepared for it. {15:13} Otherwise, as it was before, when the Lord struck us because you were not present, so also it might be now, if we do what is illicit.” {15:14} Therefore, the priests and the Levites were sanctified, so that they might carry the ark of the Lord God of Israel. {15:15} And the sons of Levi took the ark of God, just as Moses had instructed, in accord with the word of the Lord, upon their shoulders by the bars. {15:16} And David spoke to the leaders of the Levites, so that they might appoint, from their brothers, singers with musical instruments, specifically, psalteries, and harps, and cymbals, so that a joyful noise might resound on high. {15:17} And they appointed from the Levites: Heman, the son of Joel; and from his brothers, Asaph, the son of Berechiah; and truly, from their brothers, the sons of Merari: Ethan, the son of Kushaiah. {15:18} And with them were their brothers in the second rank: Zechariah, and Ben, and Jaaziel, and Shemiramoth, and Jehiel, and Unni, and Eliab, and Benai, and Maaseiah, and Mattithiah, and Eliphelehu, and Mikneiah, and Obededom, and Jeiel, who were gatekeepers. {15:19} Now the singers, Heman, Asaph, and Ethan, were sounding out with cymbals of brass. {15:20} And Zechariah, and Azriel, and Shemiramoth, and Jehiel, and Unni, and Eliab, and Maaseiah, and Benaiah were singing mysteries with the psalteries. {15:21} Then Mattithiah, and Eliphelehu, and Mikneiah and Obededom, and Jeiel and Azaziah were singing a song of victory with the harps, for the octave. {15:22} Now Chenaniah, the leader of the Levites, was foremost over the prophecies, in order to mark out in advance the melodies. For indeed, he was very skillful. {15:23} And Berechiah and Elkanah were porters of the ark. {15:24} And the priests, Shebaniah, and Josiahphat, and Nethanel, and Amasai, and Zechariah, and Benaiah, and Eliezer, were sounding the trumpets before the ark of God. And Obededom and Jehiah were porters of the ark. {15:25} Therefore, David, and all those greater by birth of Israel, and the tribunes, went to carry the ark of the covenant of the Lord from the house of Obededom with rejoicing. {15:26} And when God had assisted the Levites, who were carrying the ark of the covenant of the Lord, they immolated seven bulls and seven rams. {15:27} Now David was clothed with a robe of fine linen, as were all the Levites who were carrying the ark, and the singers, and Chenaniah, the leader of the prophecies among the singers. But David was also clothed with a linen ephod. {15:28} And all of Israel were leading back the ark of the covenant of the Lord with jubilation, sounding out with the noise of horns, and trumpets, and cymbals, and psalteries, and harps. {15:29} And when the ark of the covenant of the Lord had arrived in the City of David, Michal, the daughter of Saul, gazing through a window, saw king David dancing and playing, and she despised him in her heart.

[1 Chronicles 16] {16:1} And so they took the ark of God, and they set it in the midst of the tabernacle, which David had pitched for it. And they offered holocausts and peace offerings before God. {16:2} And when David had completed offering holocausts and peace offerings, he blessed the people in the name of the Lord. {16:3} And he divided to every single one, from men even to women, a twist of bread, and a piece of roasted beef, and fine wheat flour fried with oil. {16:4} And he appointed some from the Levites who would minister before the ark of the Lord, and commemorate his works, and glorify and praise the Lord, the God of Israel. {16:5} Asaph was the leader, and second to him was Zebadiah. In addition, there were Jeiel, and Shemiramoth, and Jehiel, and Mattithiah, and Eliab, and Benaiah, and Obededom. And Jeiel was over the instruments of the psaltery and the harps. But Asaph sounded out with the cymbals. {16:6} Truly, the priests, Benaiah and Jahaziel, were to sound the trumpet continually before the ark of the covenant of the Lord. {16:7} In that day, David made Asaph the leader, in order to confess to the Lord with his brothers: {16:8} “Confess to the Lord, and invoke his name. Make known his endeavors among the peoples. {16:9} Sing to him, and sing psalms to him, and describe all his miracles. {16:10} Praise his holy name! Let the heart of those who seek the Lord rejoice! {16:11} Seek the Lord and his virtue. Seek his face always. {16:12} Remember his miracles, which he has accomplished, his signs, and the judgments of his mouth. {16:13} O offspring of Israel, his servants! O sons of Jacob, his elect! {16:14} He is the Lord our God. His judgments are throughout all the earth. {16:15} Remember forever his covenant, the word that he instructed unto a thousand generations, {16:16} the covenant that he formed with Abraham, and his oath with Isaac. {16:17} And he appointed the same to Jacob as a precept, and to Israel as an everlasting pact, {16:18} saying: ‘To you, I will give the land of Canaan, the lot of your inheritance.’ {16:19} At that time, they were small in number, they were few and were settlers there. {16:20} And they passed through, from nation to nation, and from one kingdom to another people. {16:21} He did not permit anyone to falsely accuse them. Instead, he reproved kings on their behalf: {16:22} ‘Do not touch my Christ. And do not malign my prophets.’ {16:23} Sing to the Lord, all the earth! Announce his salvation, from day to day. {16:24} Describe his glory among the Gentiles, his miracles among all the peoples. {16:25} For the Lord is great and exceedingly praiseworthy. And he is terrible, above all gods. {16:26} For all the gods of the peoples are idols. But the Lord made the heavens. {16:27} Confession and magnificence are before him. Strength and gladness are in his place. {16:28} Bring to the Lord, O families of the peoples, bring to the Lord glory and dominion. {16:29} Give glory to the Lord, to his name. Lift up sacrifice, and approach before his sight. And adore the Lord in holy attire. {16:30} Let all the earth be moved before his face. For he founded the globe immovable. {16:31} Let the heavens rejoice, and let the earth exult. And let them say among the nations, ‘The Lord has reigned.’ {16:32} Let the sea roar, with all its plenitude. Let the fields exult, with all that is in them. {16:33} Then the trees of the forest will give praise before the Lord. For he comes to judge the earth. {16:34} Confess to the Lord, for he is good. For his mercy is eternal. {16:35} And say: ‘Save us, O God our savior! And gather us together, and rescue us from the nations, so that we may confess to your holy name, and may exult in your songs. {16:36} Blessed be the Lord, the God of Israel, from eternity to eternity.’ And let all the people say, ‘Amen,’ and let them sing a hymn to the Lord.” {16:37} And so, there before the ark of the covenant of the Lord, he left Asaph and his brothers, so that they might minister in the sight of the ark continually, throughout each day, and in their turns. {16:38} Now Obededom and his brothers were sixty-eight. And he appointed Obededom, the son of Jeduthun, and Hosah to be porters. {16:39} But Zadok the priest, and his brothers the priests, were before the tabernacle of the Lord in the high place, which was in Gibeon, that they could offer holocausts to the Lord upon the altar of holocausts continually, morning and evening, according to all that was written in the law of the Lord, which he instructed to Israel. {16:41} And after him, Heman, and Jeduthun, and the remainder of the elect, each one by his name, were appointed to confess to the Lord: “For his mercy endures forever.” {16:42} Also Heman and Jeduthun sounded the trumpet, and they played upon the cymbals, and upon every kind of musical instrument, in order to sing praises to God. But the sons of Jeduthun he made to be porters. {16:43} And all the people returned to their houses, and David also, so that he might bless his own house too.

[1 Chronicles 17] {17:1} Now when David was living in his house, he said to the prophet Nathan: “Behold, I live in a house of cedar. But the ark of the covenant of the Lord is under tent skins.” {17:2} And Nathan said to David: “Do all that is in your heart. For God is with you.” {17:3} And yet, that night the word of God came to Nathan, saying: {17:4} “Go, and speak to my servant David: Thus says the Lord: You shall not build a house for me as a dwelling place. {17:5} For I have not stayed in a house from the time when I led out Israel, even to this day. Instead, I have been continually changing places, in a tabernacle and tent, dwelling with all of Israel. When did I ever speak to any one at all, among the judges of Israel whom I placed in charge so that they might pasture my people, saying: ‘Why have you not built a house of cedar for me?’” {17:7} And so, now you shall say this to my servant David: Thus says the Lord of hosts: I took you when you were following the flock in the pastures, so that you would be the leader of my people Israel. {17:8} And I have been with you wherever you have gone. And I have slain all your enemies before you, and I have made a name for you like one of the great ones who are celebrated upon the earth. {17:9} And I have given a place to your feet upon the peoples of Israel. They shall be planted, and they shall live in it, and they shall no longer be moved. Neither shall the sons of iniquity wear them away, as in the beginning. {17:10} From the days when I gave judges to my people Israel, and I humbled all your enemies. Therefore, I announce to you that the Lord will build a house for you. {17:11} And when you will have completed your days, so that you go to your fathers, I will raise up your offspring after you, who shall be from your sons. And I will establish his kingdom.

{17:12} He shall build a house for me, and I will make firm his throne, even unto eternity. {17:13} I will be a father to him, and he shall be a son to me. And I will not take away my mercy from him, as I took it away from the one who was before you. {17:14} And I will station him in my house and in my kingdom, even forever. And his throne will be very firm, in perpetuity.” {17:15} According to all these words, and according to this entire vision, so did Nathan speak to David.

{17:16} And when king David had departed, and had sat down before the Lord, he said: “Who am I, O Lord God, and what is my house, that you would grant such things to me? {17:17} But even this has seemed little in your sight, and therefore you have also spoken about the house of your servant even for the future. And you have made me a spectacle above all men, O Lord God. {17:18} What more can David add, since you have so glorified your servant, and have known him? {17:19} O Lord, because of your servant, in accord with your own heart, you have brought about all this magnificence, and you have willed all these great things to be known.

{17:20} O Lord, there is no one like you. And there is no other God apart from you, out of all whom we have heard about with our ears. {17:21} For what other single nation upon earth is like your people Israel, to whom God reached out, so that he might free them, and might make a people for himself, and by his greatness and terribleness cast out the nations before the face of those whom he had freed from Egypt? {17:22} And you have set your people Israel to be your people, even unto eternity. And you, O Lord, have become their God. {17:23} Now therefore, O Lord, let the word that you have spoken to your servant, and over his house, be confirmed in perpetuity, and do just as you have spoken. {17:24} And may your name remain and be magnified even for all time. And let it be said: ‘The Lord of hosts is the God of Israel. And the house of his servant David remains forever before him.’

{17:25} For you, O Lord my God, have revealed to the ear of your servant that you will build a house for him. And therefore your servant has found faith so that he might pray before you. {17:26} Now then, O Lord, you are God. And you have spoken to your servant such great benefits. {17:27} And you have begun to bless the house of your servant, so that it may be always before you. For since it is you who is blessing, O Lord, it shall be blessed forever.”

[1 Chronicles 19] {19:1} Now it happened that Nahash, the king of the sons of Ammon, died, and his son reigned in his place. {19:2} And David said: “I will act with mercy toward Hanun, the son of Nahash. For his father was gracious to me.” And so David sent messengers to console him over the death of his father. But when they had reached the land of the sons of Ammon, so that they might console Hanun, {19:3} the leaders of the sons of Ammon said to Hanun: “Do you think that perhaps David has sent them to console you in order to honor your father? Have you not noticed that his servants came to you so that they might explore, and investigate, and examine your land?” {19:4} And so Hanun shaved the heads and beards of the servants of David, and he cut away their tunics from the buttocks to the feet, and he sent them away. {19:5} And when they had gone, and had sent word to David, (for they had suffered a great disgrace,) he sent to meet them, and he instructed them that they should remain at Jericho until their beards grew, and then they should return. {19:6} Then, when the sons of Ammon realized that they had committed an injury against David, both Hanun and the rest of the people sent one thousand talents of silver, so that they might hire for themselves chariots and horsemen from Mesopotamia, and from Syrian Maacah, and from Zobah.

{19:7} And they hired thirty-two thousand chariots, and the king of Maacah with his people. When these had arrived, they made camp in the region opposite Medeba. Also, the sons of Ammon, gathering from their cities, went to war. {19:8} And when David had heard this, he sent Joab and the entire army of strong men. {19:9} And the sons of Ammon, going out, set up a battle line before the gate of the city. But the kings who had come to their aid stood separately in the field. {19:10} And so Joab, understanding the war to be set facing him and behind his back, chose the strongest men from all of Israel, and he went out against the Syrians. {19:11} But the remaining portion of the people he placed under the hand of his brother Abishai. And they went out against the sons of Ammon. {19:12} And he said: “If the Syrians prevail over me, then you shall be a help to me. But if the sons of Ammon prevail over you, I will be a safeguard for you.” {19:13} Be strengthened, and let us act manfully on behalf of our people, and on behalf of the cities of our God. And the Lord will do what is good in his own sight.” {19:14} Therefore, Joab, and the people who were with him, went out to battle against the Syrians. And he put them to flight. {19:15} Then the sons of Ammon, seeing that the Syrians had fled, also themselves fled from Abishai, his brother, and they entered into the city. And now Joab returned to Jerusalem. {19:16} But the Syrians, seeing that they had fallen before Israel, sent messengers, and they brought the Syrians who were across the river. And Shophach, the leader of the military of Hadadezer, was their commander. {19:17} When this had been reported to David, he gathered together all of Israel, and he crossed the Jordan. And he rushed toward them. And he set up a battle line facing them. And they fought against him. {19:18} But the Syrians fled from Israel. And David killed of the Syrians seven thousand chariots, and forty thousand men on foot, and Shophach, the leader of the army. {19:19} Then the servants of Hadadezer, seeing themselves to be overwhelmed by Israel, crossed over to David, and they served him. And Syria was no longer willing to offer aid to the sons of Ammon.

[1 Chronicles 20] {20:1} Now it happened that, after the course of a year, in the time when kings usually go forth to war, Joab gathered an army with experienced soldiers, and he laid waste to the land of the sons of Ammon. And he continued on and besieged Rabbah. But David was staying in Jerusalem when Joab struck Rabbah and destroyed it. {20:2} Then David took the crown of Milcom from his head, and he found in it the weight of one talent of gold, and very precious gems. And he made for himself a diadem from it. Also, he took the best spoils of the city, which were very many. {20:3} Then he led away the people who were in it. And he caused plows, and sleds, and iron chariots to go over them, so much so that they were cut apart and crushed. So did David treat all the cities of the sons of Ammon. And he returned with all his people to Jerusalem. {20:4} After these things, a war was begun at Gezer against the Philistines, in which Sibbecai the Hushathite struck Sippai from the race of the Rephaim, and he humbled them. {20:5} Also, another war was undertaken against the Philistines, in which Adeodatus, a son of the forest, a Bethlehemite, struck the brother of Goliath the Gittite, the wood of whose spear was like a weaver’s beam. {20:6} Then too, another war occurred in Gath, in which there was a very tall man, having six digits, that is, all together twenty-four. This man too was born from the stock of the Rephaim. {20:7} He blasphemed Israel. And Jonathan, the son of Shimea, the brother of David, struck him down. These were the sons of the Rephaim in Gath, who fell by the hand of David and his servants.
up and seen the Angel, he and his four sons hid themselves. For at that time, he was threshing wheat upon the floor. (21:21) Then, as David was approaching Ornan, Ornan saw him, and he went out from the threshing floor to meet him. And he reverenced him prone on the ground. (21:22) And David said to him: "Give this place of your threshing floor to me, so that I may build an altar to the Lord upon it. And you shall accept from me as much money as it is worth, so that the plague may cease from the people." (21:23) But Ornan said to David: "Take it, and may my lord the king do whatever pleases him. Moreover, I give the oxen also as a holocaust, and the plow for wood, and the wheat for a sacrifice. I will offer all freely." (21:24) And king David said to him: "By no means shall it be so. Instead, I will give money to you, as much as it is worth. For I must not take it from you, and thereby offer to the Lord holocausts that cost nothing." (21:25) Therefore, David gave Ornan, for the place, the very just weight of six hundred shekels of gold. (21:26) And he built an altar to the Lord there. And he offered holocausts and peace offerings, and he called upon the Lord. And he heeded him by sending fire from heaven upon the altar of the holocaust. (21:27) And the Lord instructed the Angel, and he turned his sword back into its sheath. (21:28) Then, seeing that the Lord had heeded him at the threshing floor of Ornan the Jebusite, David immediately immolated victims there. (21:29) But the tabernacle of the Lord, which Moses had made in the desert, and the altar of holocausts, were at that time on the high place of Gibeon. (21:30) And David was unable to go to the altar, so that he might pray to God there. For he had been struck with an exceedingly great fear, seeing the sword of the Angel of the Lord.

[1 Chronicles 22] (22:1) And David said, "This is the house of God, and this is the altar for the holocaust of Israel." (22:2) And he instructed them to gather all the new converts from the land of Israel. And from these he appointed stoneworkers, to Hew stones and to polish them, so that he might build the house of God. (22:3) Also, David prepared very much iron to use for the nails of the gates, and for the seams and joints, as well as an immeasurable weight of brass. (22:4) Also, the cedar trees, which the Sidonians and Tyrians had transported to David, were not able to be counted. (22:5) And David said: "My son Solomon is a young and tender boy. But the house that I desire to be built to the Lord ought to be so great that it is renowned in every region. Therefore, I will prepare what will be necessary for him." And for this reason, before his death, he prepared all the expenses. (22:6) And he called for Solomon, his son. And he instructed him to build a house to the Lord, the God of Israel. (22:7) And David said to Solomon: "My son, it was my will that I build a house to the name of the Lord my God. (22:8) But the word of the Lord came to me, saying: 'You have shed much blood, and you have battled in many wars. You are not able to build a house to my name, so great was the shedding of blood before me.' (22:9) The son who shall be born to you will be a very quiet man. For I will cause him to have rest from all his enemies on every side. And for this reason, he shall be called Peaceful. And I will grant peace and tranquility to Israel during all his days. (22:10) He shall build a house to my name. And he shall be a son to me, and I will be a father to him. And I will establish the throne of his kingdom over Israel unto eternity.' (22:11) Now then, my son, may the Lord be with you, and may you prosper and build a house to the Lord your God, just as he has spoken concerning you. (22:12) Also, may the Lord give you prudence and understanding, so that you may be able to rule Israel and to guard the law of the Lord your God. (22:13) For then you will be able to advance, if you keep the commandments and judgments that the Lord instructed Moses to teach to Israel. Be strengthened and act manfully. You should not fear, and you should not dread. (22:14) Behold, in my poverty I have prepared the expenses for the house of the Lord: one hundred thousand talents of gold, and one million of talents of silver. Yet truly, there is no measuring the brass and the iron. For their magnitude is beyond numbering. And I have prepared the timber and the stones for the entire project. (22:15) Also, you have very many artisans: stoneworkers, and builders of walls, and craftsmen of wood, and those most prudent in doing the work of every art, (22:16) with gold and silver, and with brass and iron, of which there is no number. Therefore, rise up and act. And the Lord will be with you." (22:17) Also, David instructed all the leaders of Israel, so that they would assist his son Solomon, (22:18) saying: "You discern that the Lord your God is with you, and that he has given you rest on all sides, and that he has delivered all your enemies into your hands, and that the land has been subdued before the Lord and before his people. (22:19) Therefore, offer your hearts and your souls, so that you seek the Lord your God. And rise up and build a sanctuary to the Lord God, so that the ark of the covenant of the Lord, and the vessels consecrated to the Lord, may be brought into the house that is built to the name of the Lord."

[1 Chronicles 23] (23:1) Then David, being old and full of days, appointed his son Solomon as king over Israel. (23:2) And he gathered together all the leaders of Israel, with the priests as well as the Levites. (23:3) And the Levites were numbered from the age of thirty years and upward. And there were found thirty-eight thousand men. (23:4) Of these, twenty-four thousand were chosen and distributed to the ministry of the house of the Lord. Then six thousand were overseers and judges. (23:5) Moreover, four thousand were porters. And the same number were the singers of psalms to the Lord, with the musical instruments which he had made for the music. (23:6) And David distributed them into courses according to the sons of Levi, specifically, Gershom, and Kohath, and Merari. (23:7) The sons of Gershom: Ladan and Shimei. (23:8) The sons of Ladan: the leader Jahiel, and Zetham, and Joel, three. (23:9) The sons of Shimei: Shelomoth, and Haziel, and Haran, three. These were the leaders of the families of Ladan. (23:10) Then the sons of Shimei: Jahath, and Zizah, and Jeush, and Beriah. These were the sons of Shimei, four. (23:11) Now Jahath was first, Zizah second, but Jeush and Beriah did not have many sons, and for this reason they were reckoned as one family and one house. (23:12) The sons of Kohath: Amram and Izhar, Hebron and Uzziel, four. (23:13) The sons of Amram: Aaron and Moses. Now Aaron was separated so that he might minister in the Holy of Holies, he and his sons forever, and so that he might burn incense to the Lord, according to his rite, and so that he might bless his name in perpetuity. (23:14) The sons of Moses, the man of God, were also numbered in the tribe of Levi. [23:15] The sons of Moses: Gershom and Eliezer. [23:16] The sons of Gershom: Shebuel the first. [23:17] Now the sons of Eliezer were Rehabiah the first. And there were no other sons for Eliezer. But the sons of Rehabiah were multiplied exceedingly. [23:18] The sons of Izhar: Shelomith the first. [23:19] The sons of Hebron: Jeriah the first, Amariah the second, Jahaziel the third, Jekameam the fourth. [23:20] The sons of Uzzziel: Micah the first, Ishshiah the second. [23:21] The sons of Merari: Mahli and Mushi. The sons of Mahli: Eleazar and Kish. [23:22] Then Eleazar died, and had no sons, but only daughters. And so the sons of Kish, their brothers, married them. [23:23] The sons of Mushi: Mahli, and Eder, and Jeremoth, three. [23:24] These are the sons of Levi, in their kindred and families, leaders in turns, and the number of each of the heads who were doing the works of the ministry of the house of the Lord, from twenty years of age and upward. [23:25] For David said: "The Lord, the God of Israel, has given rest to his people, and a habitation in Jerusalem even unto eternity." [23:26] Neither shall it be the office of the Levites any more to carry the tabernacle with all its equipment for use in the ministry." [23:27] Also, according to the last precepts of David, the sons of Levi shall be counted by number from twenty years of age and upward. [23:28] And they shall be under the hand of the sons of Aaron, in the care of the house of the Lord, in the vestibule, and in the chambers, and in the place of purification, and in the sanctuary, and in all the works of the ministry of the temple of the Lord. [23:29] But the priests shall be over the bread of the presence, and the sacrifice of fine wheat flour, and the unleavened cakes, and the roasting, and over every weight and measure. [23:30] Yet truly, the Levites shall stand to confess and to sing to the Lord, in the morning, and similarly in the evening, as in the Sabbaths and new moons and other solemnities, according to the number and ceremonies for each and every matter, perpetually before the Lord. [23:32] And let them keep the observances of the tabernacle of the covenant, and the rituals of the sanctuary, and the observance of the sons of Aaron, their brothers, so that they may minister in the house of the Lord.

[1 Chronicles 24] [24:1] Now these were the divisions of the sons of Aaron. The sons of Aaron: Nadab, and Abihu, and Eleazar, and Ithamar. [24:2] But Nadab and Abihu died before their father, and without children. And so Eleazar and Ithamar exercised the priestly office. [24:3] And David distributed them, that is, Zadok of the sons of Eleazar, and Ahimelech of the sons of Ithamar, according to their courses and ministry. [24:4] And there were found many more of the sons of Eleazar among the leading men, than of the sons of Ithamar. Therefore, he divided them so that there were, of the sons of Eleazar, sixteen leaders by their families, and of the sons of Ithamar eight by their families and houses. [24:5] Then he divided among them, in both families, by lot. For there were leaders of the sanctuary and leaders of God, as much from the sons of Eleazar as from the sons of Ithamar. [24:6] And the scribe Shemaiah, the son of Nethanel, a Levite, wrote these down before the king and the leaders, with Zadok, the priest, and Ahimelech, the son of Abiathar, and also the leaders of the priestly and Levitical families. And there was one house, which was preeminent over the others, that of Eleazar; and there was another house, which had the others under it, that of Ithamar. [24:7] Now the first lot went forth to Jehoiarib, the second to Jedaiah, the third to Harim, the fourth to Seorim, the fifth to Malchijah, the sixth to Mijamin, the seventh to Hakkoz, the eighth to Abijah, the ninth to Jeshua, the tenth to Shecaniah, the eleventh to Eliashib, the twelfth to Jakim, the thirteenth to Huppah, the fourteenth to Jeshebeab, the fifteenth to Bilgah, the sixteenth to Immer, the seventeenth to Hezir, the eighteenth to Happizez, the nineteenth to Pethahiah, the twentieth to Hezekzel, the twenty-first to Jachin, the twenty-second to Gamul, the twenty-third to Delaiah, the twenty-fourth to Maaziah. [24:19] These were their courses according to their ministries, so that they would enter into the house of the Lord in accord with their practice, under the hand of Aaron, their father, just as the Lord, the God of Israel, had instructed. [24:20] Now of the sons of Levi who were remaining, there were Shubael, from the sons of Amram, and Jehdeiah, from the sons of Shubael. [24:21] Also, there were Isshiah, the leader from the sons of Rehabiah, and truly Shelemoth, the son of Izhar, and Jahath, the son of Shelemoth, the son of Jerahmeel, and his son, Jeriah the first, Amariah the second, Jahaziel the third, Jekameam the fourth. [24:24] The son of Uzziel was Micah. The son of Micah was Shamir. [24:25] The brother of Micah was Isshiah. And the son of Isshiah was Zechariah. [24:26] The sons of Merari were Mahli and Mushi. The son of Uzziah was Beno. [24:27] Also, the son of Merari: Uzziah, and Shoham, and Zaccur, and Hebri. [24:28] In addition, the son of Mahli was Eleazar, who had no children. [24:29] Truly, the son of Kish was Jerahmeel. [24:30] The sons of Mushi were Mahli, Eder, and Jeremoth. These were the sons of Levi according to the houses of their families. [24:31] And they also cast lots concerning their brothers, the sons of Aaron, before David the king, and Zadok, and Ahimelech, and the leaders of the priestly and Levitical families, as much concerning the elder as the younger. The lot divided all things equitably.

[1 Chronicles 25] [25:1] Then David and the magistrates of the army set apart, for the ministry, the sons of Asaph, and of Heman, and of Jeduthun, who were to prophesy with harps and psalteries and cymbals, in accord with their number, having been dedicated to their appointed office. [25:2] From the sons of Asaph: Zaccur, and Joseph, and Nethaniah, and Asahelah, the sons of Asaph, under the hand of Asaph, prophesying beside the king. [25:3] Then of Jeduthun, the sons of Jeduthun: Gedaliah, Zeri, Jeshaiah, and Hashabiah, and Mattithiah, six, under the hand of their father Jeduthun, who was prophesying with stringed instruments, while confessing and praising the Lord. [25:4] Also, of Heman, the sons of Heman: Bukkiah, Mattaniah, Uzziel, Shebuel, and Jeremoth, Hananiah, Hanani, Eliathah, Giddalti, and Romamtiezer, and Joshbekashah, Mallothi, Hothir, Mahazioth. [25:5] All these were the sons of Heman, the seer of the king in the words of God, in order to lift up the horn. And God gave to Heman fourteen sons and three daughters. [25:6] All these, under their father's hand, were distributed in order to sing in the temple of the Lord, with cymbals and psalteries and harps, in the ministry of the house of the Lord beside the king, specifically, Asaph, and Jeduthun, and Heman. {25:7} Now the number of these, with their brothers, who were instructing in the song of the Lord, all the teachers, were two hundred eighty-eight. {25:8} And they cast lots in their turns, the elder equally with the younger, the learned together with the unlearned. {25:9} And the first lot went forth to Joseph, who was of Asaph; the second went forth to Gedaliah, to him and his sons and his brothers, twelve. {25:10} The third went to Zaccur, to his sons and brothers, twelve. {25:11} The fourth went to Izri, to his sons and brothers, twelve. {25:12} The fifth went to Nethaniah, to his sons and brothers, twelve. {25:13} The sixth went to Bukkiah, to his sons and brothers, twelve. {25:14} The seventh went to Jesharelah, to his sons and brothers, twelve. {25:15} The eighth went to Jeshaiah, to his sons and brothers, twelve. {25:16} The ninth went to Mattaniah, to his sons and brothers, twelve. {25:17} The tenth went to Shimei, to his sons and brothers, twelve. {25:18} The eleventh went to Azarel, to his sons and brothers, twelve. {25:19} The twelfth went to Hashabiah, to his sons and brothers, twelve. {25:20} The thirteenth went to Shubael, to his sons and brothers, twelve. {25:21} The fourteenth went to Mattithiah, to his sons and brothers, twelve. {25:22} The fifteenth went to Jeremoth, to his sons and brothers, twelve. {25:23} The sixteenth went to Hananiah, to his sons and brothers, twelve. {25:24} The seventeenth went to Joshbekashah, to his sons and brothers, twelve. {25:25} The eighteenth went to Hanani, to his sons and brothers, twelve. {25:26} The nineteenth went to Mallothi, to his sons and brothers, twelve. {25:27} The twentieth went to Eliathah, to his sons and brothers, twelve. {25:28} The twenty-first went to Hothir, to his sons and brothers, twelve. {25:29} The twenty-second went to Giddalti, to his sons and brothers, twelve. {25:30} The twenty-third went to Mahazioth, to his sons and brothers, twelve. {25:31} The twenty-fourth went to Romamthiezer, to his sons and brothers, twelve.

[1 Chronicles 26] {26:1} Now the divisions of the porters were, from the Korahites: Meshelemiah, the son of Kore, of the sons of Asaph. {26:2} The sons of Meshelemiah: Zechariah the firstborn, Jededia the second, Zebadiah the third, Jathniel the fourth, {26:3} Elam the fifth, Jehohanan the sixth, Eliehoenai the seventh. {26:4} Then the sons of Obededom: Shemaiah the firstborn, Jehozabad the second, Joah the third, Sachar the fourth, Nethanel the fifth, {26:5} Ammiel the sixth, Issachar the seventh, Peulthai the eighth. For the Lord had blessed him. {26:6} Now to his son Shemaiah, there were born sons, rulers of their families. For they were very strong men. {26:7} Then the sons of Shemaiah were Othni, and Raphael, and Obed, Elizabad and his brothers, very strong men, as well as Elihu and Semachiah. {26:8} All these were from the sons of Obededom: they and their sons and brothers, very fit for the ministry, sixty-two from Obededom. {26:9} Then there were the sons of Meshelemiah and their brothers, very robust men, eighteen. {26:10} Now, from Hosah, that is, from the sons of Merari: Shimi the leader, for he had not had a firstborn son, and so, because of this, his father had appointed him as the leader, {26:11} Hilkiah the second, Tebaliah the third, Zechariah the fourth. All these, the sons and brothers of Hosah, were thirteen. {26:12} These were distributed as porters, so that the leaders of the posts, as well as their brothers, were ministering continually in the house of the Lord. {26:13} Then they cast lots equally, for both the small and the great, by their families, concerning each one of the gates. {26:14} And the lot of the east fell out to Shelemiah. But to his son Zechariah, a very prudent and learned man, the northern section was obtained by lot. {26:15} Truly, Obededom and his sons obtained that to the south, in the part of the house where the council of elders was. {26:16} Shuppim and Hosah obtained that toward the west, beside the gate that leads to the way of the ascent, one post facing the other. {26:17} Truly, toward the east there were six Levites, and toward the north there were four per day, and then toward the south similarly there were four each day. And where the council was, there were two and two. {26:18} Also, in the cells of the porters toward the west, there were four along the way, and two at every cell. {26:19} These are the divisions of the porters of the sons of Kohath and of Merari. {26:20} Now Ahijah was over the treasuries of the house of God, and the holy vessels. {26:21} The sons of Gad, sons of Gershon: from Gad, leaders of the families of Gad and of Gershon: Jehieli. {26:22} The sons of Jehieli: Zetham and Joel; his brothers were over the treasuries of the house of the Lord, {26:23} with the Amramites, and Izharites, and Hebronites, and Uzzielites. {26:24} Now, Shelub, the son of Gershom, the son of Moses, was in the first place over the treasuries, {26:25} along with his brothers, Eliezer, and his son Rehabiah, and his son Jeshaiah, and his son Joram, and also his son Zichri, and his son Shelomoth. {26:26} The same Shelomoth and his brothers were over the treasuries of the holy things, which king David sanctified, with the leaders of the families, and the tribes, and the centurions, and the commanders of the army. {26:27} These things were from the wars and from the best spoils of the battles, which they had consecrated for the repair and the furnishing of the temple of the Lord. {26:28} Now all these things were sanctified by Samuel, the seer, and by Saul, the son of Kish, and by Abner, the son of Ner, and by Joab, the son of Zeruiah. All those who had sanctified these were under the hand of Shelomoth and his brothers. {26:29} Yet truly, Chenaniah and his sons were over the Izharites, for the exterior works concerning Israel, in order to teach and to judge them. {26:30} Now from the Hebronites, Hashabiah and his brothers, one thousand seven hundred very strong men, were in charge of Israel across the Jordan toward the west, in all the works of the Lord, and in the ministry of the king. {26:31} And the leader of the Hebronites was Jerijah, according to their families and kindred. In the fortieth year of the reign of David, they were numbered, and there were found very strong men in Jazer Gilead. {26:32} And his brothers of a mature age were two thousand seven hundred leaders of families. Then king David placed them in charge of the Reubenites, and the Gadites, and the one half tribe of Manasseh, in all of the ministries of God and of the king.

[1 Chronicles 27] {27:1} Now the sons of Israel, according to their number, the leaders of the families, the tribes, and the centurions, and the chiefs, who were ministering to the king by their companies, entering and departing in each month of the year as they were in charge, were twenty-four thousand. {27:2} Jashobeam, the son of Zabdiel, was in charge of the first company in the first month; and under him were twenty-four thousand. {27:3} He was from the sons of Perez, and he was the leader of all the other leaders in the army, in the first month. {27:4} The company of the second month had Dodai, an Ahohite; and after him there was another, named Mikloth, who ruled over a portion of the army of the twenty-four thousand. {27:5} Also, the commander of the third company, in the third month, was Benaiyah, the son of Jehoiada the priest; and in his division there were twenty-four thousand. {27:6} The same is the Benaiyah who was strongest among the thirty, and was above the thirty. But his son, Ammizabad, was in charge of his company. {27:7} The fourth, for the fourth month, was Asahel, the brother of Joab, and his son Zebediah after him; and in his company there were twenty-four thousand. {27:8} The fifth leader, for the fifth month, was Shamhuth, an Izrahite; and in his company there were twenty-four thousand. {27:9} The sixth, for the sixth month, was Ira, the son of Ikkesh, a Tekoite; and in his company there were twenty-four thousand. {27:10} The seventh, for the seventh month, was Helez, a Pelonite from the sons of Ephraim; and in his company there were twenty-four thousand. {27:11} The eighth, for the eighth month, was Sibbecai, a Hushathite from the stock of the Zerahites; and in his company there were twenty-four thousand. {27:12} The ninth, for the ninth month, was Abiezer, an Anathothite from the sons of Benjamin; and in his company there were twenty-four thousand. {27:13} The tenth, for the tenth month, was Maharai, and he was a Netophathite from the stock of the Zerahites; and in his company there were twenty-four thousand. {27:14} The eleventh, for the eleventh month, was Benaiyah, a Pirathonite from the sons of Ephraim; and in his company there were twenty-four thousand. {27:15} The twelfth, for the twelfth month, was Heldai, a Netophathite from the stock of Othniel; and in his company there were twenty-four thousand. {27:16} Now those who were first over the tribes of Israel were these: over the Reubenites, Elizur, the son of Shedeur; over the Simeonites, Shephatiyah, the son of Maacah; over the Leviites, Hashabiah, the son of Kemuel; over the Aaronites, Zadok; over Judah, Elihu, the brother of David; over Issachar, Omri, the son of Michael; over the Zebulunites, Ishmaiah, the son of Obadiah; over the Naphtalites, Jeremoth, the son of Azriel; over the sons of Ephraim, Hoshea, the son of Azaziah; over the half tribe of Manasseh, Joel, the son of Pedaiah; over the half tribe of Manasseh in Gilead, Iddo, the son of Zechariah; then over Benjamin, Jaasiel, the son of Abner; yet truly, Azarel, the son of Jeroham, was over Dan. These were the leaders of the sons of Israel. {27:23} But David was not willing to number them from twenty years old and under. For the Lord had said that he would multiply Israel like the stars of heaven. {27:24} Joab, the son of Zeruiah, had begun to number, but he did not finish. For because of this, wrath had fallen upon Israel. And therefore the number of those who had been counted was not related in the official records of king David. {27:25} Now over the storerooms of the king was Azmaveth, the son of Adiel. But Jonathan, the son of Uzziah, was over those storerooms that were in the cities, and in the villages, and in the towers. {27:26} And over the farmlands and the farmers, those who worked the ground, was Ezri, the son of Chelub. {27:27} And over the cultivators of vineyards was Shimei, a Ramathite; then over the wine cellars was Zabdi, an Aphonite. {27:28} Now over the olive groves and the fig groves, which were in the plains, was Baal-hanan, a Gederite; and over the oil cellars was Joash. {27:29} Now over the herds that were pastured in Sharon, Shitrai, a Sharonite, was in the first place; and over the oxen in the valleys, there was Shaphat, the son of Adlai. {27:30} Truly, over the camels was Obil, an Ishmaelite; and over the donkeys was Jehdeiah, a Meronothite. {27:31} And over the sheep was Jaziz, a Hagarene. All these were leaders over the substance of king David. {27:32} Now Jonathan, the uncle of David, was a counselor, a prudent and scholarly man; he and Jehiel, the son of Sachmoni, were with the sons of the king. {27:33} Now Ahithophel was the counselor of the king; and Hushai, the Archite, was the king's friend. {27:34} After Ahithophel was Jehoiada, the son of Benaiyah, and Abiathar. But the leader of the army of the king was Joab.
was gold by weight for every vessel of the ministry, and also silver by weight for the diversity of vessels and equipment. {28:15} Then too, he distributed gold for the lampstands and their lamps, according to the measure of each of the lampstands with their lamps. Similarly also, he distributed silver by weight for the silver lampstands with their lamps, according to the diversity of their measure. {28:16} Also, he gave gold for the tables of the presence, according to the diversity of the tables; similarly too, he gave silver for the other tables of silver. {28:17} Also, he distributed from the purest gold for the small hooks and the bowls and the censors, as well as for the little lions of gold, in accord with the precise measure of the weight, for lion after lion. Similarly too, for the lions of silver, he set aside a different weight of silver. {28:18} Then, for the altar on which the incense was burned, he gave the purest gold. And from the same he made the likeness of the chariot of the Cherubim, with extended wings, which is veiling the ark of the covenant of the Lord. {28:19} “All these things,” he said, “came to me written by the hand of the Lord, so that I would understand all the works of the pattern.” {28:20} David also said to his son Solomon: “Act manfully, and be strengthened, and carry it out. You should not be afraid, and you should not be dismayed. For the Lord my God will be with you, and he will not send you away, nor will he abandon you, until you have perfected the entire work of the ministry of the house of the Lord. {28:21} Behold, the divisions of the priests and the Levites, for every ministry of the house of the Lord, are standing before you. And they have been prepared, and so they know, both the leaders and the people, how to carry out all your precepts.”

[1 Chronicles 29] {29:1} And king David spoke to the entire assembly: “My son Solomon, the one God has chosen, is still a tender boy. And yet the work is great, for a habitation is being prepared, not for man, but for God. {29:2} Now with all my ability, I have prepared the expenses for the house of my God: gold for items of gold, and silver for those of silver, brass for those of brass, iron for those of iron, and wood for those of wood, and stones of onyx, and stones like alabaster, and stones of diverse colors, and every kind of precious stone, and marble from Paros in great abundance. {29:3} And in addition to these things that I have offered into the house of my God, I give, from my own belongings, gold and silver for the temple of my God, aside from those things that I have prepared for the holy shrine: {29:4} three thousand talents of gold, from the gold of Ophir, and seven thousand talents of highly-refined silver, for the gilding of the walls of the temple; {29:5} and gold for wherever there is need of gold, and silver for wherever there is need of silver, for the works to be done by the hands of the artisans. And if anyone freely offers, let him fill his hand this day, and let him offer whatever he wishes to the Lord.” {29:6} And so the leaders of the families, and the nobles of the tribes of Israel, as well as the tribunes and the centurions and the overseers of the king’s possessions, promised {29:7} and gave, for the works of the house of the Lord, five thousand talents and ten thousand pieces of gold, ten thousand talents of silver, and eighteen thousand talents of brass, and also one hundred thousand talents of iron. {29:8} And whoever found precious stones among their belongings gave them to the treasuries of the house of the Lord, by the hand of Jehiel the Gershonite. {29:9} And the people rejoiced, since they were promising their votive offerings willingly. For they were offering these to the Lord with all their heart. And king David also rejoiced with great gladness. {29:10} And he blessed the Lord before the entire multitude, and he said: “Blessed are you, O Lord God of Israel, our Father from eternity to eternity. {29:11} Yours, O Lord, is magnificence and power and glory, and also victory; and to you is praise. For all the things that are in heaven and on earth are yours. Yours is the kingdom, O Lord, and you are above all rulers. {29:12} Yours is wealth, and yours is glory. You have dominion over all things. In your hand is virtue and power. In your hand is greatness and authority over all things. {29:13} Now therefore, we confess to you, our God, and we praise your famous name. {29:14} Who am I, and what is my people, that we should be able to promise all these things to you? All is yours. And so the things that we received from your hand, we have given to you. {29:15} For we are sojourners and new arrivals before you, as all our fathers were. Our days upon the earth are like a shadow, and there is no delay. {29:16} O Lord our God, all this abundance, which we have prepared so that a house may be built to your holy name, is from your hand, and all things are yours. {29:17} I know, my God, that you test hearts, and that you love simplicity. Therefore, in the simplicity of my heart, I also have offered all these things joyfully. And I have seen, with immense gladness, your people, who have been found here, offering their donations to you. {29:18} O Lord, the God of our fathers Abraham and Isaac and Israel, preserve unto eternity this desire of their heart, and let this purpose remain forever, for the worship of you. {29:19} Also, I give to my son Solomon a perfect heart, so that he may keep your commandments, your testimonies, and your ceremonies, and so that he may accomplish all things, and may build the temple, for which I have prepared the expenses.” {29:20} Then David instructed the entire assembly: “Bless the Lord our God.” And the entire assembly blessed the Lord, the God of their fathers. And they bowed themselves, and they adored God, and next they reverenced the king. {29:21} And they immolated victims to the Lord. And they offered holocausts on the following day: one thousand bulls, one thousand rams, one thousand lambs, with their libations and with every ritual, very abundantly, for all of Israel. {29:22} And they ate and drank before the Lord on that day, with great rejoicing. And they anointed Solomon, the son of David, a second time. And they anointed him to the Lord as the ruler, and Zadok as the high priest. {29:23} And Solomon sat upon the throne of the Lord as king, in place of his father David, and it pleased everyone. And all of Israel obeyed him. {29:24} Moreover, all the leaders, and the powerful, and all the sons of king David pledged with their hand, and they became subject to king Solomon. {29:25} Then the Lord magnified Solomon over all of Israel. And he gave to him a glorious reign, of a kind such as no one has had before him, as king of Israel. {29:26} Now David, the son of Jesse, reigned over all of Israel. {29:27} And the days during which he reigned over Israel were forty years. He reigned seven years in Hebron, and thirty-three years in Jerusalem. {29:28} And he died at a good old age, full of days and wealth and glory. And his son Solomon reigned in his place. {29:29} Now the acts of king David, from the first to the last, have been written in the book of Samuel the seer, and in the book of Nathan the prophet, and in the book of Gad the seer,
{2:4} Then Solomon resolved to build a house to the name of the Lord, and a palace for himself. {2:5} For the house that I desire to build is great. For our God is great, above all gods. {2:6} So then, who will be able to build a worthy house for him? If our God is great, above all gods, then who is able to prevail, so that he may build a worthy house for him? If heaven and the heavens of heavens cannot contain him, what am I that I would be able to build a house to him? But let it be for this only, so that incense may be burned before him. {2:7} Therefore, send to me a learned man, who knows how to work with gold and silver, with brass and iron, with purple, scarlet, and hyacinth, and who knows how to carve engravings, along with these artisans that I have with me in Judea and Jerusalem, whom my father David has prepared. {2:8} Then too, send to me cedar wood, and juniper, and pine from Lebanon. For I know that your servants know how to cut timber from Lebanon, and my servants will be with your servants, {2:9} so that very much wood may be prepared for me. For the house that I desire to build is exceedingly great and glorious. {2:10} In addition, I will give to your servants, the workers who will cut down the trees, for provisions: twenty thousand cor of wheat, and the same amount of barley and oil and wine, which you, my lord, have promised, {2:11} as well as with purple, and hyacinth, and fine linen, and scarlet. And he knows how to carve every kind of engraving, and how to devise prudently whatever may be necessary to the work, with your artisans and with the artisans of my lord David, your father. {2:12} And he added, saying: “Blessed is the Lord, the God of Israel, who made heaven and earth, who gave to king David a son who is wise, and learned, and intelligent as well as prudent, so that he may build a house to the Lord, and a palace for himself. {2:13} Therefore, I have sent my father Hiram to you; he is a prudent and very knowledgeable man, {2:14} the son of a woman from the daughters of Dan, whose father was a Tyrian, who knows how to work with gold and silver, with brass and iron, and with marble and timber, as well as with purple, and hyacinth, and fine linen, and scarlet. And he knows how to carve every kind of engraving, and how to devise prudently whatever may be necessary to the work, with your artisans and with the artisans of my lord David, your father. {2:15} Therefore, send the wheat and barley and oil and wine, which you, my lord, have promised, to your own servants. {2:16} Then we will cut down as much wood from Lebanon as you will need, and we will convey them as rafts by sea to Joppa. Then it will be for you to transfer them to Jerusalem.” {2:17} And so Solomon numbered all the new converts who were in the land of Israel, after the numbering that David his father had done, and they were found to be one hundred fifty thousand and three thousand six hundred. {2:18} And he appointed seventy thousand of them, who would carry burdens on shoulders, and eighty thousand who would hew stones in the mountains, then three thousand and six hundred as overseers of the work of the people.

[2 Chronicles 3]  {3:1} And Solomon began to build the house of the Lord, in Jerusalem on mount Moriah, as it had been shown to David his father, at the place which David had prepared on the threshing floor of Ornan the Jebusite.  {3:2} Now he began to build in the second month, in the fourth year of his reign.  {3:3} And these are the foundations, which Solomon set forth so that he might build the house of God: the length in cubits by the first measure sixty, the width in cubits twenty.  {3:4} Truly, at the front, the portico, which was extended in length according to the measure of the width of the house, was of twenty cubits. Then the height was of one hundred twenty cubits. And he overlaid it on the interior with the purest gold.  {3:5} Also, he covered the greater house with wooden panels of spruce, and he affixed layers of refined gold through it all. And he engraved in them palm trees, and the likeness of little chains interlaced with one another.  {3:6} Also, he paved the floor of the temple with the most precious marble, of great beauty.  {3:7} Now the gold, with which he covered in layers the house and its beams and posts and walls and doors, was highly refined. And he engraved cherubim on the walls.  {3:8} Also, he made the house of the Holy of Holies. Its length, in accord with the width of the temple, was of twenty cubits. And its width, similarly, was of twenty cubits. And he covered it with layers of gold, of about six hundred talents.  {3:9} Then he also made nails of gold, such that each nail weighed fifty shekels.  {3:10} Now he also made, in the house of the Holy of Holies, two cherubim as a work of statues. And he covered them with gold.  {3:11} The wings of the cherubim extended for twenty cubits, such that one wing had five cubits and it touched the wall of the house, and the other, having five cubits, touched the wing of the other cherub.  {3:12} Similarly, the wing of the other cherub was five cubits, and it touched the wall, and his other wing of five cubits also touched the wing of the other cherub.  {3:13} And so the wings of both cherubim were stretched out and extended for twenty cubits. Now they were standing upright on their feet, and their faces were turned toward the exterior house.  {3:14} Also, he made a veil from hyacinth, purple, scarlet, and fine linen. And he wove within it cherubim.  {3:15} And also, before the doors of the temple, there were two pillars, having a height of thirty-five cubits. But their heads were of five cubits.  {3:16} Then too, there were something like little chains on the oracle, and he placed these upon the heads of the pillars. And there were one hundred pomegranates, which he placed between the little chains.  {3:17} Also, he placed these pillars in the vestibule of the temple, one to the right, and the other to the left. The one that was on the right, he called Jachin; and the one that was on the left, Boaz.

[2 Chronicles 4]  {4:1} Also, he made a brass altar of twenty cubits in length, and of twenty cubits in width, and of ten cubits in height, as well as a molten sea of ten cubits from brim to brim, round in its circumference. It had five cubits in height, and a line of thirty cubits went around it on all sides.  {4:2} Also, under it there was the likeness of oxen. And certain engravings encircled the cavity of the sea, along ten cubits of the outside, as if in two rows. Now the oxen were molten.  {4:3} And the sea itself was placed upon the twelve oxen, three of which were looking toward the north, and another three toward the west, then another three toward the south, and the three that remained toward the east, having the sea imposed upon them. But the posteriors of the oxen were toward the interior, under the sea.  {4:4} Now its thickness had the measure of the palm of a hand, and its brim was like the lip of a cup, or like the outturned petal of a lily. And it held three thousand measures.  {4:6} Also, he made ten basins. And he placed five on the right, and five on the left, so that they might wash in them all the things that they were to offer as holocausts. But the priests were to be washed in the sea.  {4:7} Then he also made ten gold lampstands, according to the form by which they had been ordered to be made. And he set them in the temple, five on the right, and five on the left.  {4:8} Moreover, there were also ten tables. And he placed them in the temple, five on the right, and five on the left. Also, there were one hundred gold bowls.  {4:9} Then too, he made the court of the priests, and a great hall, and doors in the hall, which he covered with brass.  {4:10} Now he placed the sea on the right side, facing the east, toward the south.  {4:11} Then Hiram made cooking pots and hooks and bowls. And he completed every work of the king in the house of God,  {4:12} that is, the two pillars, and the crossbeams, and the heads, and something like a little net, which would cover the heads above the crossbeams, and four hundred pomegranates, and two little nets, so that two rows of pomegranates were joined to each net, which would cover the crossbeams and the heads of the pillars.  {4:13} He also made bases; and basins that he placed upon the bases;  {4:14} one sea, and twelve oxen under the sea;  {4:15} and cooking pots and hooks and bowls. Hiram, his father, made all the vessels for Solomon, in the house of the Lord, from the purest brass.  {4:17} The king cast these in the region near the Jordan, in the clay soil between Succoth and Zeredah.  {4:18} Now the multitude of the vessels was innumerable, so much so that the weight of the brass was unknown.  {4:19} And Solomon made all the vessels for the house of God, and the gold altar, and the tables upon which were the bread of the presence;  {4:20} and also, of the purest gold, the lampstands with their lamps, to shine before the oracles, according to the rite;  {4:21} and certain flowers, and lamps, and gold tongs. All these were made from the purest gold.  {4:22} Also, the vessels for the perfumes, and the censers, and the bowls, and the little mortars were from the purest gold. And he engraved the doors of the inner temple, that is, for the Holy of Holies. And the doors of the outer temple were of gold. And so, every work was completed that Solomon made in the house of the Lord.

[2 Chronicles 5]  {5:1} Then Solomon brought in all the things that David his father had vowed, the silver, and the gold, and all the vessels, which he placed in the treasuries of the house of God.  {5:2} After this, he gathered together those greater by birth of Israel, and all the leaders of the tribes, and the heads of the families, from the sons of Israel, to Jerusalem, so that they might bring the ark of the covenant of the Lord from the City of David, which is Zion.  {5:3} And so, all the men of Israel went to the king, on the solemn day of the seventh month.  {5:4} And when all the elders of Israel had arrived, the Levites carried the ark, and they brought it in, along with all the equipment of the tabernacle. Then too, the priests with the Levites carried the vessels of the sanctuary, which were in the tabernacle. {5:6} Now king Solomon, and the entire assembly of Israel, and all who had gathered together before the ark, were immolating rams and oxen without any number, for so great was the multitude of the victims. {5:7} And the priests brought in the ark of the covenant of the Lord to its place, that is, to the oracle of the temple, in the Holy of Holies, under the wings of the cherubim, {5:8} so that the cherubim extended their wings over the place where the ark was positioned, and they covered the ark itself and its bars. {5:9} But concerning the bars by which the ark was carried, because they were a little longer, the ends were able to be seen before the oracle. Yet truly, if anyone were a little ways toward the exterior, he would not be able to see them. And so the ark has been in that place, even to the present day. {5:10} And there was nothing else in the ark, except the two tablets, which Moses had placed there at Horeb when the Lord gave the law to the sons of Israel, at the departure from Egypt. {5:11} And having gone out from the Sanctuary, the priests (for all the priests who were able to be found there were sanctified, and in that time the turns and orders of the ministries had not yet been divided among them) {5:12} with both the Levites and the singing men, that is, those who were under Asaph, and those who were under Heman, and those who were under Jeduthun, with their sons and brothers, clothed in fine linen, sounded out with cymbals, and psalteries, and harps, standing toward the eastern side of the altar. And with them were one hundred twenty priests, sounding out with trumpets. {5:13} And when they all sounded out together, with trumpets, and voice, and cymbals, and pipes, and with various kinds of musical instruments, lifting their voice on high, the sound was heard from far away, so that when they had begun to praise the Lord, and to say, "Confess to the Lord, for he is good; for his mercy is eternal," the house of God was filled with a cloud. {5:14} Neither were the priests able to stand and to minister, because of the cloud. For the glory of the Lord had filled the house of God.

[2 Chronicles 6] {6:1} Then Solomon said: "The Lord has promised that he would dwell in a cloud. {6:2} But I have built a house to his name, so that he may dwell there forever." {6:3} And the king turned his face, and he blessed the entire multitude of Israel, (for the whole crowd was standing and attentive) and he said: {6:4} "Blessed is the Lord, the God of Israel, who has completed the work that he spoke to David my father, saying: {6:5} 'From the day when I led my people away from the land of Egypt, I did not choose a city from all the tribes of Israel, so that a house would be built in it to my name. And I did not choose any other man, so that he would be the ruler of my people Israel. {6:6} But I chose Jerusalem, so that my name would be in it. And I chose David, so that I might appoint him over my people Israel.' {6:7} And though David, my father, had decided that he would build a house to the name of the Lord God of Israel, {6:8} the Lord said to him: 'In so far as it was your will that you build a house to my name, certainly you have done well in having such a will. {6:9} But you shall not build the house. Truly, your son, who will go forth from your loins, shall build a house to my name.' {6:10} Therefore, the Lord has accomplished his word, which he had spoken. And I have risen up in place of my father David, and I sit upon the throne of Israel, just as the Lord spoke. And I have built a house to the name of the Lord, the God of Israel. {6:11} And I have placed in it the ark, in which is the covenant of the Lord that he formed with the sons of Israel." {6:12} Then he stood before the altar of the Lord, facing the entire multitude of Israel, and he extended his hands. {6:13} For indeed, Solomon had made a bronze base, and he had positioned it in the midst of the hall; it held five cubits in length, and five cubits in width, and three cubits in height. And he stood upon it. And next, kneeling down while facing the entire multitude of Israel, and lifting up his palms towards heaven, {6:14} he said: "O Lord God of Israel, there is no god like you in heaven or on earth. You preserve covenant and mercy with your servants, who walk before you with all their hearts. {6:15} You fulfilled for your servant David, my father, whatsoever you had said to him. And you carried out the deed that you promised with your mouth, just as the present time proves. {6:16} Now then, O Lord God of Israel, fulfill for your servant David, my father, whatsoever you said to him, saying: 'There shall not fail to be a man from you before me, who will sit upon the throne of Israel, yet only if your sons will guard their ways, and will walk in my law, just as you also have walked before me.' {6:17} And now, O Lord God of Israel, let your word be confirmed that you spoke to your servant David. {6:18} How then is it to be believe that God would dwell with men upon the earth? If heaven and the heavens of the heavens do not contain you, how much less this house that I have built? {6:19} But it has been done for this only, so that you may look with favor upon the prayer of your servant, and on his supplication, O Lord my God, and so that you may hear the prayers which your servant pours out before you, {6:20} and so that you may open your eyes over this house, day and night, over the place where you promised that your name would be invoked, {6:21} and so that you may heed the prayer which your servant is praying within it, and so that you may heed the prayers of your servant and of your people Israel. Whoever will pray in this place, listen from your habitation, that is, from heaven, and forgive. {6:22} If anyone will have sinned against his neighbor, and he arrives to swear against him, and to bind him, saying: 'There shall not fail to be a man from you before me, who will sit upon the throne of Israel, yet only if your sons will guard their ways, and will walk in my law, just as you also have walked before me.' {6:23} You will hear him from heaven, and you will execute justice for your servants, so that you return, to the iniquitous man, his own way upon his own head, and so that you vindicate the just man, repaying him according to his own justice. {6:24} If your people Israel will have been overwhelmed by their enemies, (for they will sin against you) and having been converted will do penance, and if they will have beseeched your name, and will have prayed in this place, {6:25} you will heed them from heaven, and you will forgive the sin of your people Israel, and you will lead them back into the land that you gave to them and to their fathers. {6:26} If the heavens have been closed, so that rain does not fall, because of the sin of the people, and if they will petition you in this place, and confess to your name, and be converted from their sins when you will afflict them, {6:27} heed them from heaven, O Lord, and forgive the sins of your servants and of your people Israel, and teach them the good way, by which they may advance, and give rain to the land that you gave to your people as a possession. {6:28} If a famine will have risen up in the land, or pestilence, or fungus, or mildew, or locusts, or beetles, or if enemies will have laid waste to the countryside and will have besieged the gates of the cities, or whatever scourge or infirmity will have pressed upon them, {6:29} if anyone from your people Israel, knowing his own scourge and infirmity, will have made supplication and will have extended his hands in this house, {6:30} you will heed him from heaven, indeed from your sublime habitation, and you will forgive, and you will repay each one according to his ways, which you know him to hold in his heart. For you alone know the hearts of the sons of men. {6:31} So may they fear you, and so may they walk in your ways, during all the days that they live upon the face of the land, which you gave to our fathers. {6:32} Also, if the outsider, who is not from your people Israel, will have arrived from a far away land, because of your great name, and because of your robust hand and your outstretched arm, and if he will adore in this place, {6:33} you will heed him from heaven, your most firm habitation, and you will accomplish all the things about which this sojourner will have called out to you, so that all the people of the earth may know your name, and may fear you, just as your people Israel do, and so that they may know that your name is invoked over this house, which I have built. {6:34} If, having gone out to war against their adversaries along the way that you will send them, your people adore you facing in the direction of this city, which you have chosen, and of this house, which I have built to your name, {6:35} you will heed their prayers from heaven, and their supplications, and you will vindicate them. {6:36} But if they will have sinned against you (for there is no man who does not sin) and you will have become angry against them, and if you will have delivered them to their enemies, and so they lead them away as captives to a far away land, or even to one that is near, {6:37} and if, having been converted in their heart in the land to which they had been led as captives, they will do penance, and beseech you in the land of their captivity, saying, ‘We have sinned; we have committed iniquity; we have acted unjustly,’ {6:38} and if they will have returned to you, with their whole heart and with their whole soul, in the land of their captivity to which they were led away, and if they will adore you in the direction of their own land, which you gave to their fathers, and of the city, which you have chosen, and of the house, which I have built to your name, {6:39} from heaven, that is, from your firm habitation, you will heed their prayers, and you will accomplish judgment, and you will forgive your people, even though they are sinners. {6:40} For you are my God. Let your eyes be open, I beg you, and let your ears be attentive to the prayer that is made in this place. {6:41} Now therefore, rise up, O Lord God, to your resting place, you and the ark of your strength. Let your priests, O Lord God, be clothed with salvation, and let your holy ones rejoice in what is good. {6:42} O Lord God, may you not turn away from the face of your Christ. Remember the mercies of your servant, David.’

[2 Chronicles 7] {7:1} And when Solomon had completed pouring out his prayers, fire descended from heaven, and it devoured the holocausts and the victims. And the majesty of the Lord filled the house. {7:2} Neither were the priests able to enter into the temple of the Lord, because the majesty of the Lord had filled the temple of the Lord. {7:3} Moreover, all the sons of Israel saw the fire descending, and the glory of the Lord upon the house. And falling prone upon the ground, on the layer of pavement stones, they adored and praised the Lord: “For he is good. For his mercy is everlasting.” {7:4} Then the king and all the people were immolating victims before the Lord. {7:5} And so, king Solomon slaughtered victims: twenty-two thousand oxen, and one hundred twenty thousand rams. And the king and the entire people dedicated the house of God. {7:6} Then the priests and the Levites were standing in their offices, with the instruments of music for the Lord, which king David made in order to praise the Lord: “For his mercy is eternal.” And they were playing the hymns of David with their hands. And the priests were sounding out with trumpets before them, and all of Israel was standing. {7:7} Also, Solomon sanctified the middle of the atrium in front of the temple of the Lord. For he had offered the holocausts and the fat of peace offerings in that place because the bronze altar, which he had made, had not been able to support the holocausts and the sacrifices and the fat. {7:8} Therefore, Solomon kept the solemnity, at that time, for seven days, and all of Israel with him, a very great assembly, from the entrance of Hamath, even to the torrent of Egypt. {7:9} And on the eighth day, he held a solemn gathering, because he had dedicated the altar over seven days, and he had celebrated the solemnity over seven days. {7:10} And so, on the twenty-third day of the seventh month, he dismissed the people to their dwellings, joyful and glad over the good that the Lord had done for David, and for Solomon, and for his people Israel. {7:11} And Solomon completed the house of the Lord, and the house of the king, and all that he had resolved in his heart to do for the house of the Lord, and for his own house. And he prospered. {7:12} Then the Lord appeared to him by night, and said: “I have heard your prayer, and I have chosen this place for myself as a house of sacrifice. {7:13} If I close up heaven, so that no rain will fall, or if I order and instruct the locust to devour the land, or if I send a pestilence among my people, {7:14} and if my people, over whom my name has been invoked, being converted, will have petitioned me and sought my face, and will have done penance for their wicked ways, then I will heed them from heaven, and I will forgive their sins, and I will heal their land. {7:15} Also, my eyes will be open, and my ears will be attentive, to the prayer of him who invokes my name, {7:16} for I will listen to the prayer that is made in this place. {7:17} And as for you, if you will walk before me, just as your father David walked, and if you will act in accord with all that I have instructed you, and if you will observe my justices and judgments, {7:18} I will raise up the throne of your kingdom, just as I promised to your father David, saying: ‘There shall not be taken away a man from your stock who will be ruler in Israel.’ {7:19} But if you will have turned away, and will have forsaken my justices and my precepts, which I have set before you, and going astray, you serve strange gods, and you adore them, {7:20} I will uproot you from my land, which I gave to you, and from this house, which I sanctified to my name, and I will cast it away from before my face, and I will deliver it to be a parable and an example for all the peoples. {7:21} And this house will be like a proverb to all who pass by. And being astonished, they shall say: ‘Why has the Lord acted this way toward this land and toward this house?’ {7:22} And they shall respond: ‘Because they abandoned the Lord, the God of their fathers, who led them away from the land of Egypt, and they took hold of

[2 Chronicles 8] {8:1} Then, twenty years having passed since Solomon built the house of the Lord and his own house, {8:2} he built the cities that Hiram had given to Solomon, and he caused the sons of Israel to live there. {8:3} Also, he went to Hamath Zobah, and he obtained it. {8:4} And he built Palmira in the desert, and he built very fortified cities in Hamath. {8:5} And he built upper Beth-horon and lower Beth-horon, as walled cities, having gates and bars and locks, {8:6} as well as Baalath, and all the very strong cities which were of Solomon, and all the cities of the chariots, and the cities of the horsemen. Everything whatsoever that Solomon willed and decided, he built in Jerusalem, and in Lebanon, and throughout the entire land of his authority. {8:7} All the people who had been left from the Hittites, and the Amorites, and the Perizzites, and the Hivites, and the Jebusites, those who were not from the stock of Israel, {8:8} those of their sons and their posterity whom the sons of Israel had not put to death, Solomon subjugated as tributaries, even to this day. {8:9} But he did not appoint anyone from the sons of Israel to serve in the works of the king. For they were men of war, and first rulers, and commanders of his chariots and horsemen. {8:10} Now all the leaders of the army of king Solomon were two hundred fifty, who were instructing the people. {8:11} Truly, he transferred the daughter of Pharaoh, from the City of David, to the house that he had built for her. For the king said: “My wife shall not live in the house of David, king of Israel, for it has been sanctified. For the ark of the Lord has entered into it.” {8:12} Then Solomon offered holocausts to the Lord on the altar of the Lord, which he had constructed before the portico, {8:13} so that every day there would be an offering on it, in accord with precept of Moses, on the Sabbaths, and on the new moons, and three times a year on the feast days, that is, on the solemnity of unleavened bread, and on the solemnity of weeks, and in the solemnity of tabernacles. {8:14} And he appointed, in accord with the plan of his father David, the offices of the priests in their ministries; and those of the Levites, in their orders, so that they might praise and minister before the priests according to the ritual of each day; and the porters, in their divisions, from gate to gate. For so had David, the man of God, instructed. {8:15} Neither the priests, nor the Levites, transgressed against the commands of the king, in all that he had instructed, and in the keeping of the treasuries. {8:16} Solomon had all the expenses prepared, from the day on which he founded the house of the Lord, even until the day when he perfected it. {8:17} Then Solomon went away to Eziongeber, and to Ethol, on the coast of the Red Sea, which is in the land of Edom. {8:18} And Hiram sent to him ships, by the hands of his servants, sailors and skillful navigators of the sea, and they went away with the servants of Solomon to Ophir. And they took from there four hundred fifty talents of gold, and they brought it to king Solomon. {8:19} Moreover, there were twelve additional little lions standing upon the six steps on both sides. There was no similar throne in all the kingdoms. {8:20} Also, all the vessels for the feasts of the king were of gold, and the vessels of the forest house of Lebanon were from the purest gold. For silver in those days was considered as nothing. {8:21} For indeed, the ships of the king went to Tarshish, with the servants of Hiram, once every three years. And they brought from there gold, and silver, and ivory, and primates, and peacocks. {8:22} And so, Solomon was magnified above all the kings of the earth in wealth and glory. {8:23} And all the kings of the lands were desiring to see the face of Solomon, so that they might hear the wisdom that God had granted to his heart. {9:24} And they were bringing to him gifts, vessels of silver and of gold, and garments, and armor, and aromatics, and horses, and mules, throughout each year. {9:25} Also, Solomon had forty thousand horses in the stables, and twelve thousand chariots and horsemen, and he appointed them to the cities of the chariots, and where the king was in Jerusalem. {9:26} Now he also exercised authority over all the kings from the river Euphrates as far as the land of the Philistines, and as far as the borders of Egypt. {9:27} And he brought forth so much silver that it was as plentiful in Jerusalem as stones. And cedar trees were as great in number as the sycamores that spring up in the plains. {9:28} And horses were brought to him from Egypt and from every region. {9:29} Now the rest of the works of Solomon, the first and the last, have been written in the words of Nathan, the prophet, and in the books of Ahijah, the Shilonite, as well as in the vision of Iddo, the seer, against Jeroboam, the son of Nabat. {9:30} And Solomon reigned in Jerusalem, over all of Israel, for forty years. {9:31} And he slept with his fathers. And they buried him in the City of David. And his son, Rehoboam, reigned in his place.

[2 Chronicles 10] {10:1} Now Rehoboam set out for Shechem. For in that place all of Israel had convened, so that they might appoint him as king. {10:2} But when Jeroboam, the son of Nabat, who was in Egypt, (indeed he had fled to that place from Solomon) had heard it, he promptly returned. {10:3} And they summoned him, and he arrived with all of Israel. And they spoke to Rehoboam, saying: {10:4} “Your father pressed upon us a very difficult yoke. You should govern us more lightly than your father, who imposed on us a heavy servitude, and so lift up some of the burden, so that we may serve you.” {10:5} But he said, “Return to me after three days.” And when the people had gone away, {10:6} he took counsel with the elders, who had stood before his father Solomon while he was still living, saying, “What counsel would you give to me, so that I may respond to the people?” {10:7} And they said to him, “If you please this people, and if you soothe them with words of clemency, they will be your servants for all days.” {10:8} But he set aside the counsel of the elders, and he began to have discussion with the youth, who had been raised with him and who were among his companions. {10:9} And he said to them: “How does it seem to you? Or how should I respond to this people, who have said to me, ‘Lift up the yoke that your father imposed upon us?’ ” {10:10} But they responded like youths, having been raised with him in luxury, and they said: “So shall you speak to the people, who said to you, ‘Your father made our yoke heavy; you should lighten it,’ and so shall you respond to them: ‘My little finger is thicker than the back of my father. {10:11} My father imposed a heavy yoke upon you, and I will place more weight upon it. My father cut you with whips; truly, I will beat you with scorpions.’ ” {10:12} Then Jeroboam, and the entire people, went to Rehoboam on the third day, just as he had instructed them. {10:13} And the king responded harshly, abandoning the counsel of the elders. {10:14} And he spoke according to the will of the youths: “My father imposed a heavy yoke upon you, which I will make heavier. My father cut you with whips; truly, I will beat you with scorpions.” {10:15} And he did not acquiesce to the pleadings of the people. For it was the will of God that his word be fulfilled, which he had spoken by the hand of Ahijah, the Shilonite, to Jeroboam, the son of Nabat. {10:16} Then the entire people, speaking more harshly to the king, spoke to him in this way: “There is no portion for us in David, and there is no inheritance in the son of Jesse. Return to your dwellings, O Israel. Then you, O David, shall pasture your own house.” And Israel went away to their dwellings. {10:17} But Rehoboam reigned over the sons of Israel who were living in the cities of Judah. {10:18} And king Rehoboam sent Aduram, who was in charge of the tributes. And the sons of Israel stoned him, and he died. And so king Rehoboam hurried to climb into the chariot, and he fled to Jerusalem. {10:19} And Israel withdrew from the house of David, even to this day.

[2 Chronicles 11] {11:1} Then Rehoboam went to Jerusalem, and he called together the entire house of Judah and of Benjamin, one hundred eighty thousand elect men of war, so that he might contend against Israel, and turn back his kingdom to himself. {11:2} And the word of the Lord came to Shemaiah, the man of God, saying: {11:3} “Speak to Rehoboam, the son of Solomon, the king of Judah, and to all of Israel who are of Judah, or of Benjamin: {11:4} Thus says the Lord: You shall not ascend and fight against your brothers. Let each one return to his own house. For it is by my will that this has happened.” And when they had heard the word of the Lord, they turned back, and they did not continue on against Jeroboam. {11:5} Then Rehoboam lived in Jerusalem, and he built fortified cities in Judah. {11:6} And he built up Bethlehem, and Etam, and Tekoa, {11:7} and also Bethzur, and Soco, and Adullam, {11:8} indeed also Gath, and Mareshah, and Ziph, {11:9} then too Adoram, and Lachish, and Azekah, {11:10} as well as Zorah, and Aijalon, and Hebron, which were very fortified cities in Judah and in Benjamin. {11:11} And when he had enclosed them with walls, he placed in them rulers, and storerores of provisions, that is, of oil and wine. {11:12} Moreover, in each city he made an armory of shields and spears, and he strengthened them with the utmost diligence. And he ruled over Judah and Benjamin. {11:13} Then the priests and Levites, who were in all of Israel, came to him from all their settlements, {11:14} leaving behind their suburbs and possessions, and crossing over to Judah and to Jerusalem. For Jeroboam and his followers had cast them out, so that they could not exercise the priestly office to the Lord. {11:15} And he appointed for himself priests of high places, and of demons, and of calves that he had made. {11:16} Moreover, out of all the tribes of Israel, whosoever would give their heart so that they sought the Lord God of Israel, they went to Jerusalem to immolate their victims before the Lord, the God of their fathers. {11:17} And they strengthened the kingdom of Judah, and they confirmed Rehoboam, the son of Solomon, for three years. For they walked in the ways of David and of Solomon, but only for three years. {11:18} Then Rehoboam took as wife Mahalath, the daughter of Jerimoth, son of David, and also Abihail, the daughter of Eliab, son of Jesse. {11:19} They bore sons for him: Jeush, and Shemariah, and Zaham. {11:20} And also after her, he married Maacah, the daughter of Absalom, who bore for him Abijah, and Attai, and Ziza, and Shelomith. {11:21} But Rehoboam loved Maacah, the daughter of Absalom, above all his wives and concubines. For he had taken eighteen wives and sixty concubines. And he conceived twenty-eight sons and sixty daughters. {11:22} Truly, he appointed as the head, Abijah, the son of Maacah, to be the ruler over all his brothers. For he thought to make him king, {11:23} since he was wiser and more powerful than all his sons, even in all the regions of Judah and Benjamin, and in all the fortified cities. And he provided them with very much food, and he sought many wives.

[2 Chronicles 12] {12:1} And when the kingdom of Rehoboam had been strengthened and fortified, he abandoned the law of the Lord, and all of Israel with him. {12:2} Then, in the fifth year of the reign of Rehoboam, Shishak, the king of Egypt, ascended against Jerusalem (for they had sinned against the Lord) {12:3} with one thousand two hundred chariots and sixty thousand horsemen. And the common people could not be numbered who had arrived with him from Egypt, namely, the Libyans, and the Troglydotes, and the Ethiopians. {12:4} And he seized the most fortified cities in Judah, and he went even to Jerusalem. {12:5} Then Shemaiah, the prophet, entered to Rehoboam, and to the leaders of Judah who had gathered together in Jerusalem while fleeing from Shishak, and he said to them: “Thus says the Lord: You have abandoned me, and so I have abandoned you into the hand of Shishak.” {12:6} And the leaders of Israel, and the king, being in consternation, said, “The Lord is just.” {12:7} And when the Lord had seen that they were humbled, the word of the Lord came to Shemaiah, saying: “Because they have been humbled, I will not disperse them. And I will give to them a little help, and my fury will not rain down upon Jerusalem by the hand of Shishak. {12:8} Yet truly, they shall serve him, so that they may know the difference between my servitude, and the servitude of a kingdom of the lands.” {12:9} And so Shishak, the king of Egypt, withdrew from Jerusalem, taking up the treasures of the house of the Lord and of the house of the king. And he took away everything with him, even the gold shields that Solomon had made. {12:10} In place of these, the king made bronze ones, and he delivered them to the leaders of the shield bearers, who were guarding the vestibule of the palace. {12:11} And when the king would enter into the house of the Lord, the shield bearers would arrive and take them, and they would carry them back to their armory. {12:12} Yet truly, because they were humbled, the wrath of the Lord turned away from them, and so they were not utterly destroyed. And indeed, good works were also found in Judah. {12:13} Therefore, king Rehoboam was strengthened in Jerusalem, and he reigned. He was forty-one years old when he had begun to reign, and he reigned for seventeen years in Jerusalem, the city that the Lord chose out of all the tribes of Israel, so that he might confirm his name there. Now the name of his mother was Naamah, an Ammonite. {12:14} But he did evil, and he did not prepare his heart so as to seek the Lord. {12:15} Truly, the works of Rehoboam, the first and the last, have been written in the books of Shemaiah, the prophet, and of Iddo, the seer, and diligently set forth. And Rehoboam and Jeroboam fought against one another during all their days. {12:16} And Rehoboam slept with his fathers, and he was buried in the City of David. And his son, Abijah, reigned in his place.
Then Abijah slept with his fathers, and they buried him in the City of David. And his son, Asa, reigned in his place. During his days, the land was quiet for ten years. Now Asa did what was good in the sight of God. And he overturned the altars of foreign worship, and the high places. And he broke apart the statues, and he cut down the sacred groves. And he instructed Judah that they should seek the Lord, the God of their fathers, and that they should carry out the law and all the commandments. And he took away, from all the cities of Judah, the altars and the shrines. And he reigned in peace. Also, he built fortified cities in Judah. For it was quiet, and in his time no wars had arisen. For the Lord was generously granting peace. Then he said to Judah: “Let us build these cities, and strengthen them with walls, and fortify them with towers and gates and bars, while all things are at rest from wars. For we have sought the Lord, the God of our fathers, and he has granted to us peace on every side.” And so they built, and there was nothing to impede them from building. Now Asa had in his army three hundred thousand men of Judah, carrying shields and spears, and truly, of Benjamin, two hundred eighty thousand men with shields and bows. All of these were very valiant men. Then Zerah, the Ethiopian, went forth against them with his army of one million men, and three hundred chariots. And he approached as far as Mareshah. And Asa traveled to meet him, and he set up a battle line for the war in the Valley of Zephathah, which is near Mareshah. And he called upon the Lord God, and he said: “O Lord, there is no difference to you, whether you assist by few, or by many. Help us, O Lord our God. For having faith in you and in your name, we have gone forth against this multitude. O Lord, you are our God. Do not allow man to prevail against you.” And so the Lord terrified the Ethiopians before Asa and Judah. And the Ethiopians fled. And Asa, and the people who were with him, pursued them as far as Gerar. And the Ethiopians fell, even unto utter destruction, for the Lord was striking, and his army was battling, and they were destroyed. Therefore, they took many spoils. And they struck all the cities surrounding Gerar. For indeed, a great fear had overwhelmed everyone. And they despoiled the cities, and they carried away much plunder. Then too, destroying the fencing for the sheep, they took an innumerable multitude of cattle and camels. And they returned to Jerusalem.

Then in the thirty-sixth year of his reign, Baasha, the king of Israel, ascended against Judah. And he encircled Ramah with a wall, so that no one could safely depart or enter from the kingdom of Asa. Therefore, Asa brought forth silver and gold from the treasuries of the house of the Lord, and from the treasuries of the king. And he sent to Benhadad, the king of Syria, who was living in Damascus, saying: “There is a pact between me and you. Also, my father and your father had an agreement. For this reason, I have sent silver and gold to you, so that you may break the pact that you have with Baasha, the king of Israel, and so that you may cause him to withdraw from me.” And when he verified this, Benhadad sent the leaders of his armies to the cities of Israel. And they struck Ahion, and Dan, and Abelmaim, and all the walled cities of Naphtali. And when Baasha had heard from a learned priest, and apart from the law.
of it, he ceased to build around Ramah, and he interrupted his work. {16:6} Then king Asa took all of Judah, and they carried away from Ramah the stones and the wood that Baasha had prepared for the things to be built. And he built up Gibeah and Mizpah with them. {16:7} In that time, the prophet Hanani went to Asa, the king of Judah, and he said to him: “Because you have faith in the king of Syria, and not in the Lord your God, therefore the army of the king of Syria has escaped from your hand. {16:8} Were not the Ethiopians and the Libyans much more numerous in chariots, and horsemen, and an exceedingly great multitude? Yet when you believed in the Lord, he delivered them into your hand. {16:9} For the eyes of the Lord contemplate the entire earth, and offer fortitude to those who believe in him with a perfect heart. And so, you acted foolishly. And so, because of this, from the present time wars shall rise up against you.” {16:10} And Asa was angry against the seer, and he ordered him to be sent into prison. For indeed, he had been very indignant over this. And in that time, he put to death very many of the people. {16:11} But the works of Asa, the first and the last, have been written in the book of the kings of Judah and Israel. {16:12} And now Asa became ill, in the thirty-ninth year of his reign, with a very severe pain in his feet. And yet, in his infirmity, he did not seek the Lord. Instead, he trusted more in the skill of physicians. {16:13} And he slept with his fathers. And he died in the forty-first year of his reign. {16:14} And they buried him in his own sepulcher, which he had made for himself in the City of David. And they placed him upon his bed, full of the aromatics and ointments of courtesans, which were composed with the skill of the perfumers. And they burned these over him with very great ostentation.

[2 Chronicles 17] {17:1} Then Jehoshaphat, his son, reigned in his place. And he grew strong against Israel. {17:2} And he appointed numbers of soldiers in all the cities of Judah that had been fortified with walls. And he placed garrisons in the land of Judah, and in the cities of Ephraim that his father Asa had seized. {17:3} And the Lord was with Jehoshaphat, because he walked in the first ways of his father, David. And he did not trust in the Baals, {17:4} but in the God of his father. And he advanced in his precepts, and not according to the sins of Israel. {17:5} And the Lord confirmed the kingdom in his hand. And all of Judah gave gifts to Jehoshaphat. And innumerable riches were brought to him, and much glory. {17:6} And when his heart had taken courage because of the ways of the Lord, he now also took away the high places and the sacred groves from Judah. {17:7} Then, in the third year of his reign, he sent Benhail, and Obadiah, and Zechariah, and Nethanel, and Micaiah, from among his leaders, so that they might teach in the cities of Judah. {17:8} And with them were the Levites Shemaiah and Nethaniah and Zebadiah, and also Asahel and Shemiramoth and Jehonathan, and the Levites Adonijah and Tobijah and Tobadonijah. And with them were the priests Elishama and Jehoram. {17:9} And they were teaching the people in Judah, having with them the book of the law of the Lord. And they were traveling through all the cities of Judah, and were instructing the people. {17:10} And so, the fear of the Lord fell upon all the kingdoms of the lands which were around Judah. And they did not dare to make war against Jehoshaphat. {17:11} Moreover, the Philistines carried gifts to Jehoshaphat, and a tribute in silver. Also, the Arabians brought cattle: seven thousand seven hundred rams, and the same number of he-goats. {17:12} Therefore, Jehoshaphat increased and was magnified, even on high. And in Judah, he built houses in the likeness of towers, and walled cities. {17:13} And he prepared many works in the cities of Judah. Also, there were men experienced in warfare in Jerusalem, {17:14} and this is the number of them, by each of the houses and families. In Judah, the leader of the army was Adnah, the commander; and with him were three hundred thousand very experienced men. {17:15} After him, Jehohanan was the leader; and with him were two hundred eighty thousand. {17:16} Also after him, there was Amasiah, the son of Zichri, who was consecrated to the Lord; and with him were two hundred thousand strong men. {17:17} Following him, there was Eliada, who was experienced in battle; and with him were two hundred thousand, holding bow and shield. {17:18} Then too, after him, there was Jehozabad; and with him were one hundred eighty thousand lightly-armed soldiers. {17:19} All these were at the hand of the king, aside from the others, whom he had positioned in the walled cities, in all of Judah.

[2 Chronicles 18] {18:1} Therefore, Jehoshaphat was wealthy and very famous, and he was joined by affinity to Ahab. {18:2} And after some years, he descended to him in Samaria. And upon his arrival, Ahab slaughtered very many sheep and oxen, for him and for the people who had arrived with him. And he persuaded him that he should ascend against Ramoth Gilead. {18:3} And Ahab, the king of Israel, said to Jehoshaphat, the king of Judah, “Come with me to Ramoth Gilead.” And he answered him: “As I am, so also are you. As your people are, so also are my people. And we will be with you in war.” {18:4} And Jehoshaphat said to the king of Israel, “Consult, I beg you, the word of the Lord for the present circumstances.” {18:5} And so the king of Israel gathered together four hundred men of the prophets, and he said to them: “Should we go to war against Ramoth Gilead, or should we be quieted?” But they said, “Ascend, and God will deliver into the hand of the king.” {18:6} And Jehoshaphat said, “Is there not a prophet of the Lord here, so that we may inquire of him as well?” {18:7} And the king of Israel said to Jehoshaphat: “There is one man, from whom we would be able to ask the will of the Lord. But I hate him, for he never prophesies good to me, but at all times evil. And it is Micaiah, the son of Imlah.” And Jehoshaphat said, “You should not speak in this manner, O king.” {18:8} Therefore, the king of Israel called one of the eunuchs, and said to him: “Quickly, summon Micaiah, the son of Imlah.” {18:9} Now the king of Israel, and Jehoshaphat, the king of Judah, were both sitting upon their thrones, clothed in royal vestments. And they were sitting in an open area, beside the gate of Samaria. And all the prophets were prophesying before them. {18:10} Truly, Zedekiah, the son of Chenaanah, made for himself horns of iron, and he said: “Thus says the Lord: With these, you shall threaten Syria, until you crush it.” {18:11} And all the prophets prophesied similarly, and they said: “Ascend against Ramoth Gilead, and you shall prosper, and the Lord will deliver them into the hand of the king.” {18:12} Then the messenger who had gone to summon Micaiah said to him: “Lo, the words of all the prophets, with one mouth, announce good to the king. Therefore, I ask you that you not dissent from them in your word, and that you speak prosperity." {18:13} And Micaiah responded to him, "As the Lord lives, whatever my God will say to me, the same shall I speak." {18:14} Therefore, he went to the king. And the king said to him, "Micaiah, should we go to war against Ramoth Gilead, or should we be quieted?" And he responded to him: "Ascend. For everything will come to prosperity, and the enemies will be delivered into your hands." {18:15} And the king said, "Again and again, I bind you by an oath, so that you will not speak to me except what is true in the name of the Lord!" {18:16} Then he said: "I saw all of Israel scattered amid the mountains, like sheep without a shepherd. And the Lord said: 'These have no masters. Let each one return in peace to his own house.' " {18:17} And the king of Israel said to Jehoshaphat: "Did I not tell you that this one would not prophesy to me anything good, but only what is evil?" {18:18} Then he said: "Therefore, listen to the word of the Lord. I saw the Lord sitting upon his throne, and the entire army of heaven was standing beside him, on the right and on the left. {18:19} And the Lord said: 'Who will deceive Ahab, the king of Israel, so that he may ascend and fall at Ramoth Gilead?' And when one spoke in one way, and another in another way, {18:20} there came forward a spirit, and he stood before the Lord and said, 'I will deceive him.' And the Lord said to him, 'In what way will you deceive him?' {18:21} And he responded, 'I will go forth, and I will be a lying spirit in the mouth of all his prophets.' And the Lord said: 'You will deceive and prevail. Go forth and do so.' {18:22} Therefore now, behold: the Lord gave a lying spirit to the mouth of all your prophets, and the Lord has spoken evil about you." {18:23} Then Zedekiah, the son of Chenaanah, approached, and he struck Micaiah on the jaw, and he said: "In what way did the Spirit of the Lord depart from me, so that he would speak to you?" {18:24} And Micaiah said: "You yourself shall see it, in that day, when you will enter a room within a room, so that you may be hidden." {18:25} Then the king of Israel instructed, saying: "Take Micaiah, and lead him to Amon, the leader of the city, and to Joash, the son of Amalech. {18:26} And you shall say: 'Thus says the king: Send this man to prison, and give to him a little bread and a little water, until I return in peace.' " {18:27} And Micaiah said, "If you will have returned in peace, the Lord has not spoken by me." {18:28} And so, the king of Israel and Jehoshaphat, the king of Judah, ascended against Ramoth Gilead. {18:29} And the king of Israel said to Jehoshaphat: "I will change my clothing, and in this way I will go into battle. But you should be clothed in your own garments." And the king of Israel, having changed his clothing, went to war. {18:30} Now the king of Syria had instructed the commanders of his horsemen, saying, "You shall not fight against the least or the greatest, but only against the king of Israel." {18:31} And so, when the leaders of the horsemen had seen Jehoshaphat, they said, "This one is the king of Israel." And while fighting, they surrounded him. But he cried out to the Lord, and he assisted him, and he turned them away from him. {18:32} For when the commanders of the horsemen had seen that he was not the king of Israel, they left him. {18:33} Then it happened that one of the people shot an arrow indiscriminately, and it struck the king of Israel between the neck and the shoulder. And so he said to his chariot driver: "Turn your hand, and lead me away from the battle line. For I have been wounded." {18:34} And the fight ended on that day. But the king of Israel was standing in his chariot facing the Syrians, even until evening. And he died when the sun set.

[2 Chronicles 19] {19:1} Then Jehoshaphat, the king of Judah, returned in peace to his house in Jerusalem. {19:2} And the seer Jehu, the son of Hanani, met him, and said to him: "You offer assistance to the impious, and you are joined in friendship with those who hate the Lord. And for this reason, you certainly deserve the wrath of the Lord. {19:3} But good works have been found in you. For you have taken away the sacred groves from the land of Judah. And you have prepared your heart, so as to seek the Lord, the God of your fathers." {19:4} Then Jehoshaphat lived in Jerusalem. And again he went out to the people, from Beersheba as far as mount Ephraim. And he called them back to the Lord, the God of their fathers. {19:5} And he appointed judges of the land, in all the fortified cities of Judah, in each place. {19:6} And instructing the judges, he said: "Pay attention to what you are doing. For you exercise judgment, not of man, but of the Lord. And whatever you will have judged, it will come back to you. {19:7} Let the fear of the Lord be with you, and do all things with diligence. For there is no iniquity with the Lord our God, nor respect of persons, nor desire for gifts." {19:8} Jehoshaphat also appointed Levites and priests and leaders of families, out of Israel, in Jerusalem, so that they might judge the judgment and purpose of the Lord for its inhabitants. {19:9} And he instructed them, saying, "So shall you act: faithfully, in the fear of the Lord, and with a perfect heart. {19:10} Every case that will come to you from your brothers, who live in their cities, between kindred and kindred, wherever there is a question concerning law, commandment, ceremonies, or justifications, reveal it to them, so that they may not sin against the Lord, and so that wrath may not overwhelm you and your brothers. Then, by acting in this way, you will not sin. {19:11} But Amariah, a priest and your high priest, shall preside over those things which pertain to God. Then Zebadiah, the son of Ishmael, who is a ruler in the house of Judah, shall be over those works that pertain to the office of the king. And you have before you the Levites as teachers. Be strengthened and act diligently, and the Lord will be with you for what is good."

[2 Chronicles 20] {20:1} After these things, the sons of Moab, and the sons of Ammon, and with them some from the Ammonites, gathered together so that they might fight against him. {20:2} And messengers arrived and reported to Jehoshaphat, saying: "A great multitude has arrived against you, from those places that are across the sea, and from Syria. And behold, they are standing together at Hazazon-tamar, which is Engedi." {20:3} Then Jehoshaphat, being terrified with fear, gave himself entirely to petitioning the Lord, and he proclaimed a fast for all of Judah. {20:4} And Judah gathered together to pray to the Lord. Moreover, everyone from their cities came to beseech him. {20:5} And when Jehoshaphat had stood up in the midst of the assembly of Judah and Jerusalem, in the house of the Lord, before the new atrium, {20:6} he said: "O Lord, God of our fathers, you are God in heaven, and you rule over all the kingdoms of the Gentiles. In your hand is strength and power, and no one is able to withstand you. {20:7} Did not you, our God, put to death all the inhabitants of this land before your people Israel? And you gave it to the offspring of your friend Abraham, for all time. {20:8} And they lived in it. And they built a Sanctuary to your name in it, saying: {20:9} 'If evils will have fallen upon us, the sword of judgment, or pestilence, or famine, we will stand in your sight before this house, in which your name is invoked, and we will cry out to you in our tribulations. And you will heed us and accomplish our salvation.' {20:10} Now therefore, behold the sons of Ammon, and of Moab, and mount Seir, through whose lands you did not permit Israel to cross when they were departing from Egypt. Instead, they turned aside from them, and they did not put them to death. {20:11} They are doing the contrary, and they are striving to cast us from the possession which you delivered to us. {20:12} Therefore, will you, our God, not judge them? Certainly, in us there is not enough strength so that we would be able to withstand this multitude, which rushes against us. But although we do not know what we ought to do, we have this alone remaining, that we direct our eyes to you.” {20:13} Truly, all of Judah was standing before the Lord with their little ones and wives and children. {20:14} But there was Jahaziel, the son of Zechariah, the son of Benaiah, the son of Jehiel, the son of Mattaniah, a Levite from the sons of Asaph, upon whom the Spirit of the Lord went, in the midst of the crowd. {20:15} And he said: “Pay attention, all of Judah, and you who live in Jerusalem, and you, king Jehoshaphat. Thus says the Lord to you: Do not be afraid. Neither should you be dismayed by this multitude. For the fight is not yours, but God’s. {20:16} Tomorrow, you shall descend against them. For they will ascend along the incline named Ziz, and will find them at the summit of the torrent, which is opposite the wilderness of Jeruel. {20:17} It will not be you who will fight. Instead, only stand with confidence, and you will see the help of the Lord over you, O Judah and Jerusalem. Do not be afraid. Neither should you be dismayed. Tomorrow you shall go forth against them, and the Lord will be with you.” {20:18} Then Jehoshaphat, and Judah, and all the inhabitants of Jerusalem fell prone on the ground before the Lord, and they adored him. {20:19} And the Levites from the sons of Kohath, and from the sons of Korah, were praising the Lord, the God of Israel, with a great voice, on high. {20:20} And when they had risen up in the morning, they went out through the desert of Tekoa. And as they were setting out, Jehoshaphat, standing in their midst, said: “Listen to me, men of Judah and all inhabitants of Jerusalem. Believe in the Lord your God, and you will be secure. Believe in his prophets, and everything will come to prosperity.” {20:21} And he gave counsel to the people. And he appointed the singing men of the Lord, so that they would praise him by their companies, and so that they would go before the army, and with one voice say: “Confess to the Lord. For his mercy is eternal.” {20:22} And when they had begun to sing praises, the Lord turned their ambushes upon themselves, that is, those of the sons of Ammon, and of Moab, and of mount Seir, who had gone forth so that they might fight against Judah. And they were struck down. {20:23} For the sons of Ammon and of Moab rose up against the inhabitants of mount Seir, so that they might slay and destroy them. And when they had perpetrated this work, now also turning upon themselves, they cut one another with wounds. {20:24} Then, when Judah had gone to the high point that looks out toward the desert, they saw, from far away, the entire wide region filled with dead bodies. Neither was there anyone who was left alive and had been able to escape death. {20:25} Therefore, Jehoshaphat went, and all the people with him, in order to take away the spoils of the dead. And they found, among the dead bodies, diverse equipment, and also garments, and very precious vessels. And they despoiled these, to such an extent that they were unable to carry everything. Neither could they, over three days, take away the spoils because of the multitude of the plunder. {20:26} Then, on the fourth day, they were gathered together in the Valley of Blessing. For they had blessed the Lord there, and therefore they called that place the Valley of Blessing, even to the present day. {20:27} And every man of Judah, and the inhabitants of Jerusalem, returned, with Jehoshaphat before them, to Jerusalem, with great rejoicing. For the Lord had granted to them gladness concerning their enemies. {20:28} And they entered into Jerusalem with psalteries, and harps, and trumpets, into the house of the Lord. {20:29} Then the fear of the Lord fell upon all the kingdoms of the lands, when they had heard that the Lord had fought against the enemies of Israel. {20:30} And the kingdom of Jehoshaphat was quiet. And God granted to him peace on all sides. {20:31} And so Jehoshaphat reigned over Judah. And he was thirty-five years old when he had begun to reign. Then he reigned for twenty-five years in Jerusalem. And the name of his mother was Azubah, the daughter of Shilhi. {20:32} And he walked in the way of his father, Asa, and he did not decline from it, doing the things that were pleasing before the Lord. {20:33} Yet truly, he did not take away the high places, and the people still had not directed their heart to the Lord, the God of their fathers. {20:34} But the rest of the acts of Jehoshaphat, the first and the last, have been written in the words of Jehu, the son of Hanani, which he digested into the books of the kings of Israel. {20:35} After these things, Jehoshaphat, the king of Judah, formed a friendship with Ahaziah, the king of Israel, whose works were very impious. {20:36} And he was a partner in the making of ships, which would go to Tarshish. And they made the fleet at Eziongeber. {20:37} Then Eliezer, the son of Dodavahu, from Mareshah, prophesied to Jehoshaphat, saying: “Because you have made a pact with Ahaziah, the Lord has struck your works, and the ships have been broken, and they have not been able to go to Tarshish.”

[2 Chronicles 21] {21:1} Then Jehoshaphat slept with his fathers, and he was buried with them in the City of David. And his son, Jehoram, reigned in his place. {21:2} And he had brothers, sons of Jehoshaphat: Azariah, and Jehiel, and Zechariah, and Azariah, and Michael, and Shephatiah. All these were sons of Jehoshaphat, the king of Judah. {21:3} And their father gave to them many gifts of silver, and gold, and valuables, with very fortified cities in Judah. But the kingdom he handed on to Jehoram, because he was the firstborn. {21:4} Therefore, Jehoram rose up over the kingdom of his father. And when he had established himself, he killed with the sword all his brothers, and certain ones from the leaders of Israel. {21:5} Jehoram was thirty-two years old when he had begun to reign. And he reigned for eight years in Jerusalem. {21:6} And he walked in the ways of the kings of Israel, just as the house of Ahab had done. For his wife was a daughter of Ahab, and he did evil in the sight of the Lord. {21:7} But the Lord was not willing to destroy the house of David, because of the covenant that he had formed with him, and because he had promised that he would provide a lamp to him, and to his sons, for all time. {21:8} In those days, Edom rebelled, so as not to be subject to Judah, and they appointed for themselves a king. {21:9} And when Jehoram had gone across with his leaders, and all the horsemen who were with him, he arose in the night, and struck the Edomites (who had surrounded him), and all the commanders of his horsemen. {21:10} Even so, Edom rebelled, so as not to be under the authority of Judah, even to this day. Also at that time, Libnah withdrew, so as not to be under his hand. For he had forsaken the Lord, the God of his fathers. {21:11} Moreover, he also constructed high places in the cities of Judah. And he caused the inhabitants of Jerusalem to fornicate, and Judah to prevaricate. {21:12} Then letters were conveyed to him from the prophet Elijah, in which it was written: “Thus says the Lord, the God of Israel, to Jehoram, the son of Ahab, the king of Israel, to war against Hazael, the king of Syria, at Ramoth Gilead. And the Syrians wounded Joram. {22:6} And he returned, so that he might be cured at Jezreel. For he had received many wounds in the above-stated battle. And so Ahaziah, the son of Jehoram, the king of Judah, descended, so that he might visit Joram, the son of Ahab, at Jezreel, while he was ill. {22:7} Indeed, it was the will of God against Ahaziah that he would go to Joram, and when he had gone, that he also would go out with him against Jehu, the son of Nimshi, whom the Lord had anointed to destroy the house of Ahab. {22:8} Therefore, when Jehu was overthrowing the house of Ahab, he found the leaders of Judah, with the sons of the brothers of Ahaziah, who were ministering to him, and he put them to death. {22:9} Also, while he himself was seeking Ahaziah, he found him to be hiding in Samaria. And having been led to him, he killed him. And they buried him, because he was the son of Jehoshaphat, who had sought the Lord with all his heart. But there was no longer any hope that someone from the stock of Ahaziah would reign. {22:10} For indeed, his mother, Athaliah, seeing that her son had died, rose up and killed the entire royal stock of the house of Jehoram. {22:11} But Jehosheba, the daughter of the king, took Joash, the son of Ahaziah, and stole him from the midst the king’s sons when they were being slain. And she hid him with his nurse in a bedroom. Now Jehosheba, the one who had hidden him, was the daughter of king Jehoram, and the wife of the high priest Jehoiada, and the sister of Ahaziah. And because of this, Athaliah did not kill him. {22:12} Therefore, he was with them, hidden in the house of God, for six years, while Athaliah reigned over the land.

[2 Chronicles 22] {22:1} Then in the seventh year, Jehoiada having been strengthened, he took the centurions, namely, Azariah, the son of Jeroham, and Ishmael, the son of Jehohanan, and also Azariah, the son of Obed, and Maaseiah, the son of Adaiah, and Elishaphat, the son of Zichri, and he formed a pact with them. {23:2} And traveling through Judah, they gathered together the Levites from all of the cities of Judah, and the leaders of the families of Israel, and they went to Jerusalem. {23:3} Then the entire multitude formed a pact with the king, in the house of God. And Jehoiada said to them: “Behold, the son of the king shall reign, just as the Lord has said concerning the sons of David. {23:4} Therefore, this is the word that you shall do: {23:5} One third part of you who arrive on the Sabbath, priests, and Levites, and porters, shall be at the gates. Truly, one third part shall be at the house of the king. And one third shall be at the gate which is called the Foundation. Yet truly, let all the remainder of the common people be in the courts of the house of the Lord. {23:6} Let no one else enter into the house of the Lord, except the priests, and those from the Levites who are ministering. These alone may enter, for they have been sanctified. And let all the remainder of the common people observe the watches of the Lord. {23:7} Then let the Levites encircle the king, each one having his weapons. And if anyone else will have entered into the temple, let him be slain. And may they be with the king, both entering and departing.” {23:8} Then the Levites, and all of Judah, acted just as the house of Ahab did. For after the death of his father, they were counselors to him, to his destruction. {22:5} And he walked in their counsels. And he went with Joram, the son of Ahab, the king of Israel, to war against Hazael, the king of Syria, at Ramoth Gilead. And the Syrians wounded Joram.
in accord with all that the high priest Jehoiada had instructed. And each of them took the men who were under him, and who were arriving by the course of the Sabbath, with those who had fulfilled the Sabbath and who were about to depart. For indeed the high priest Jehoiada had not permitted the companies to depart, which were accustomed to replace one another each week. {23:9} And Jehoiada, the priest, gave to the centurions the lances and round shields and crescent shields of king David, which he had dedicated in the house of the Lord. {23:10} And he positioned all the people, holding short swords, from the right part of the temple to the left part of the temple, before the altar and the temple, all around the king. {23:11} And they led out the son of the king. And they imposed the diadem on him, and the testimony. And they gave him the law to hold in his hand. And they appointed him as king. Also, the high priest Jehoiada and his sons anointed him. And they prayed for him, and said, “May the king live!” {23:12} And when Athaliah had heard it, specifically the sound of running and the praising of the king, she entered to the people in the temple of the Lord. {23:13} And when she had seen the king standing upon the step at the entrance, and the leaders and companies around him, and all the people of the land rejoicing, and sounding the trumpets, and playing on instruments of various kinds, and the voice of those who were praising, she tore her garments, and she said: “Treason! Treason!” {23:14} Then the high priest Jehoiada, going out to the centurions and to the leaders of the army, said to them: “Lead her away, beyond the borders of the temple. And let her be put to death outside, with the sword.” And the priest instructed that she should not be killed in the house of the Lord. {23:15} And they laid hands on her neck. And when she had entered the gate for the horses at the king’s house, they put her to death there. {23:16} Then Jehoiada formed a covenant between himself and the entire people, and the king, so that they would be the people of the Lord. {23:17} And so, all the people entered into the house of Baal, and they destroyed it. And they broke apart his altars and idols. Also, they put to death Mattan, the priest of Baal, before the altars. {23:18} Then Jehoiada appointed overseers in the house of the Lord, under the hands of the priests and Levites, whom David had distributed to the house of the Lord so that they might offer holocausts to the Lord, just as it was written in the law of Moses, with gladness and singing, in accord with the disposition of David. {23:19} Also, he appointed porters at the gates of the house of the Lord, so that whoever was unclean for any reason would not enter. {23:20} And he took the centurions, and the most valiant men, and the leaders of the people, and all the common people of the land, and they set out to descend to the king, from the house of the Lord, and to enter through the middle of the upper gate, to the house of the king. And they placed him on the royal throne. {23:21} And all the people of the land were rejoicing, and the city was quieted. But Athaliah was slain with the sword.

[2 Chronicles 24] {24:1} Joash was seven years old when he had begun to reign. And he reigned for forty years in Jerusalem. The name of his mother was Zibiah, from Beersheba. {24:2} And he did what is good before the Lord during all the days of Jehoiada, the priest. {24:3} Now Jehoiada gave to him two wives, from whom he conceived sons and daughters. {24:4} After these things, it pleased Joash to repair the house of the Lord. {24:5} And he gathered together the priests and Levites, and he said to them: “Go out to the cities of Judah, and collect from all of Israel money to repair the surfaces of the temple of your God, throughout each year. And do this promptly.” But the Levites acted negligently. {24:6} And the king summoned Jehoiada, the leader, and he said to him: “Why was there no concern with you, so that you would compel the Levites to bring, from Judah and from Jerusalem, the money that was appointed by Moses, the servant of the Lord, so as to bring it, from the entire multitude of Israel, to the tabernacle of the testimony? {24:7} For that very impious woman Athaliah and her sons have destroyed the house of God, and they have adorned the shrine of Baal from all the things that had been sanctified in the temple of the Lord.” {24:8} Therefore, the king instructed, and they made an ark. And they placed it beside the gate of the house of the Lord, on the outside. {24:9} And they proclaimed, in Judah and Jerusalem, that each one should bring to the Lord the money that Moses, the servant of God, appointed in the desert, concerning all of Israel. {24:10} And all the leaders and all the people rejoiced. And upon entering, they together took and placed so much into the ark of the Lord that it was filled. {24:11} And when it was time for them to bring the ark before the king by the hands of the Levites, for they saw that there was much money, the scribe of the king, and the one whom the high priest had appointed, entered. And they poured out the money that was in the ark. Then they carried the ark back to its place. And they did this on each day. And an immense sum of money was gathered. {24:12} And the king and Jehoiada gave it to those who were in charge of the works of the house of the Lord. Then with it they hired hewers of stone, and artisans of every kind, so that they might repair the house of the Lord, and also so that the works of iron and of brass, which had begun to fall, would be reinforced. {24:13} And those who were hired were working industriously. And the breach in the walls was healed by their hands. And they returned the house of the Lord to a pristine state. And they caused it stand firm. {24:14} And when they had completed all the works, they brought the remaining part of the money before the king and Jehoiada. And from it, the vessels of the temple were made, for the ministry and for the holocausts, including bowls and other vessels of gold and silver. And holocausts were being offered in the house of the Lord continually, during all the days of Jehoiada. {24:15} But Jehoiada was old and full of days. And he died when he was one hundred thirty years old. {24:16} And they buried him in the City of David, with the kings, because he had done good to Israel and to his house. {24:17} Then, after Jehoiada passed away, the leaders of Judah entered and reverenced the king. And he was enticed by their obsequiousness, and so he acquiesced to them. {24:18} And they abandoned the temple of the Lord, the God of their fathers, and they served sacred groves and graven images. And wrath came upon Judah and Jerusalem because of this sin. {24:19} And he sent prophets to them, so that they might return to the Lord. And though they were offering testimony, they were not willing to listen to them. {24:20} And so the Spirit of God clothed Zechariah, the son of Jehoiada the priest. And he stood in the sight of the people, and he said to them: “Thus says the Lord God: Why have you transgressed the precept of the Lord, though it was not to your benefit, and why have you abandoned the Lord, so that he would then abandon you?" {24:21} And gathering together against him, they stoned him, beside the place of the king, in the atrium of the house of the Lord. {24:22} And king Joash did not remember the mercy with which Jehoiada, his father, had treated him; instead he put to death his son. And as he was dying, he said: "May the Lord see and take account." {24:23} And when a year had turned, the army of Syria ascended against him. And they went to Judah and Jerusalem. And they put to death all the leaders of the people. And they sent all the spoils to the king of Damascus. {24:24} And although certainly there had arrived a very small number of Syrians, the Lord delivered into their hands an immense multitude. For they had forsaken the Lord, the God of their fathers. Also, against Joash they executed disgraceful judgments. {24:25} And upon departing, they left him greatly debilitated. Then his servants rose up against him, in vengeance for the blood of the son of Jehoiada the priest. And they killed him on his bed, and he died. And they buried him in the City of David, but not in the sepulchers of the kings. {24:26} Truly, those who ambushed him were Zabad, the son of an Ammonite woman named Shimeath, and Jehozabad, the son of a Moabite woman named Shimmith. {24:27} But concerning his sons, and the sum of money that had been amassed under him, and the repairing of the house of God, these things have been written more diligently in the book of kings. Then his son, Amaziah, reigned in his place.

[2 Chronicles 25] {25:1} Amaziah was twenty-five years old when he had begun to reign. And he reigned for twenty-nine years in Jerusalem. The name of his mother was Jehoaddan, from Jerusalem. {25:2} And he accomplished good in the sight of the Lord. Yet truly, not with a perfect heart. {25:3} And when he saw himself to be strengthened in his rule, he cut the throats of the servants who had killed his father, the king. {25:4} But he did not put to death their sons, just as it was written in the book of the law of Moses, where the Lord instructed, saying: "The fathers shall not be slain because of the sons, nor the sons because of their fathers. Instead, each one shall die for his own sin." {25:5} And then Amaziah gathered together Judah, and he organized them by families, and tribes, and centurions, throughout all of Judah and Benjamin. And he numbered them from twenty years old and upward. And he found three hundred thousand young men, who could go forth to battle, and who could hold spear and shield. {25:6} Also, he hired for pay from Israel one hundred thousand experienced men, for one hundred talents of silver. {25:7} Then a man of God came to him, and he said: "O king, let not the army of Israel go forth with you. For the Lord is not with Israel, nor with all the sons of Ephraim. {25:8} But if you think that a war stands by the strength of the army, God will cause you to be overwhelmed by the enemies. For indeed, it belongs to God to assist, and to put to flight." {25:9} And Amaziah said to the man of God, "Then what will become of the one hundred talents, which I gave to the soldiers of Israel?" And the man of God responded to him, "The Lord has that from which he is able to give much more than this to you." {25:10} And so, Amaziah separated the army, which had come to him from Ephraim, so that they would return to their place. But having become very angry against Judah, they returned to their own region. {25:11} Then Amaziah confidently led forth his people. And he went away to the Valley of the Salt Pits, and he struck down ten thousand of the sons of Seir. {25:12} And the sons of Judah captured another ten thousand of the men. And they led them to the precipice of a certain rock. And they threw them from the summit, and they were all broken apart. {25:13} But the army that Amaziah had sent away, so that they would not go with him into battle, spread out among the cities of Judah, from Samaria as far as Beth-horon. And having killed three thousand, they took away much plunder. {25:14} Truly, after the slaughter of the Edomites, and when the gods of the sons of Seir were brought, Amaziah chose them as gods for himself. And he was adoring them, and burning incense to them. {25:15} For this reason, the Lord became angry against Amaziah, and he sent a prophet to him, who would say to him, "Why have you adored gods who did not free their own people from your hand?" {25:16} And after he spoke these things, he responded to him: "Are you the counselor of the king? Be quiet! Otherwise I will put you to death." And departing, the prophet said, "I know that God has decided to kill you, because you have done this evil, and also because you have not agreed to my counsel." {25:17} And so Amaziah, the king of Judah, undertaking a very wicked counsel, sent to Joash, the son of Jehoahaz, the son of Jehu, the king of Israel, saying: "Come, let us see one another." {25:18} But he sent back messengers, saying, "The thistle which is in Lebanon sent to the cedar of Lebanon, saying: 'Give your daughter to my son as wife.' And behold, the beasts that were in the forest of Lebanon passed through, and they trampled the thistle. {25:19} You said, 'I struck down Edom.' And for this reason, your heart is lifted up with pride. Settle in your own house. Why do you provoke evil against yourself, so that you may fall, and then Judah with you?" {25:20} Amaziah was not willing to listen to him, because it was the will of the Lord that he be delivered into the hands of the enemies, because of the gods of Edom. {25:21} And so Joash, the king of Israel, ascended, and they presented themselves within the sight of one another. Now Amaziah, the king of Judah, was in Beth-shemesh of Judah. {25:22} And Judah fell before Israel. And each one fled to his own tent. {25:23} Then Joash, the king of Israel, captured Amaziah, the king of Judah, the son of Joash, the son of Jehoahaz, at Beth-shemesh, and he led him to Jerusalem. And he destroyed its walls, from the gate of Ephraim as far as the gate of the corner, four hundred cubits. {25:24} Also, he brought back to Samaria all the gold and silver, and all the vessels, which he had found in the house of God, and with Obededom in the treasuries of the king's house, as well as sons for hostages. {25:25} Then Amaziah, the son of Joash, the king of Judah, lived for fifteen years after the death of Joash, the son of Jehoahaz, the king of Israel. {25:26} Now the rest of the words of Amaziah, the first and the last, have been written in the book of the kings of Judah and Israel. {25:27} And after he withdrew from the Lord, they set up an ambush against him in Jerusalem. But since he had fled into Lachish, they sent and killed him in that place. {25:28} And having carried him back upon horses, they buried him with his fathers in the City of David.

[2 Chronicles 26] {26:1} Then all the people of Judah appointed his son, Uzziah, who was sixteen years old, as king in place of his father, Amaziah. {26:2} He built up Eloth, and he restored it to the dominion of Judah. After this, the king slept with his fathers. {26:3} Uzziah was sixteen years old when he had begun to reign. And he reigned for fifty-two years in Jerusalem. The name of his mother was Jecoliah, from Jerusalem. {26:4} And he did what was right in the eyes of the Lord, in accord with all that his father, Amaziah, had done. {26:5} And he sought the Lord, during the days of Zechariah, who understood and saw God. And while he was seeking the Lord, he directed him in all things. {26:6} Indeed, he went out and fought against the Philistines. And he destroyed the wall of Gath, and the wall of Jabneh, and the wall of Ashdod. Also, he built towns in Ashdod, and among the Philistines. {26:7} And God helped him against the Philistines, and against the Arabians, who were living in Gurbaal, and against the Ammonites. {26:8} And the Ammonites weighed out gifts to Uzziah. And his name became widely known, even to the entrance of Egypt, because of his frequent victories. {26:9} And Uzziah built towers in Jerusalem, above the gate of the corner, and above the gate of the valley, and others on the same side of the wall, and he fortified them. {26:10} Then he also constructed towers in the wilderness, and dug many cisterns, because he had much cattle, both in the plains and in the starkness of the wilderness. Also, he had vineyards and dressers of vines in the mountains and at Carmel. Certainly, he was a man devoted to agriculture. {26:11} Now the army of his warriors, who would go forth to battle, was under the hand of Jeiel, the scribe, and Maaseiah, the teacher, and under the hand of Hananiah, who was among the king’s commanders. {26:12} And the entire number of the leaders, by the families of strong men, was two thousand six hundred. {26:13} And the entire army under them was three hundred and seven thousand five hundred, who were fit for war, and who fought on behalf of the king against the adversaries. {26:14} Also, Uzziah prepared for them, that is, for the entire army, shields, and spears, and helmets, and breastplates, and bows, as well as slings for the casting of stones. {26:15} And in Jerusalem, he made various kinds of machines, which he placed in the towers, and at the corners of the walls, so as to shoot arrows and large stones. And his name went forth to far away places, for the Lord was helping him and had strengthened him. {26:16} But when he had become strong, his heart was lifted up, even to his own destruction. And he neglected the Lord his God. And entering into the temple of the Lord, he intended to burn incense upon the altar of incense. {26:17} And entering immediately after him, Azariah the priest, and with him eighty priests of the Lord, very valiant men, {26:18} withstood the king, and they said: “It is not your office, Uzziah, to burn incense to the Lord; rather, it is the office of the priests, that is, of the sons of Aaron, who have been consecrated for this same ministry. Depart from the sanctuary, otherwise you will be in contempt. For this act will not be reputed to you for your glory by the Lord God.” {26:19} And Uzziah, having become angry, while holding in his hand the censer so that he might burn incense, threatened the priests. And immediately a leprosy arose on his forehead, in the sight of the priests, in the house of the Lord, at the altar of incense. {26:20} And when the high priest Azariah, and all the rest of the priests, had gazed upon him, they saw the leprosy on his forehead, and they hurried to expel him. Then too, he himself, becoming terrified, rushed to depart, because immediately he had become aware of the wound of the Lord. {26:21} And so, king Uzziah was a leper, even until the day of his death. And he lived in a separate house, being full of leprosy, because of which he had been ejected from the house of the Lord. Then Jotham, his son, directed the house of the king, and he was judging the people of the land. {26:22} But the rest of the words of Uzziah, the first and the last, were written by the prophet Isaiah, the son of Amoz. {26:23} And Uzziah slept with his fathers. And they buried him in the field of the royal sepulchers, because he was a leper. And Jotham, his son, reigned in his place.

[2 Chronicles 27] {27:1} Jotham was twenty-five years old when he had begun to reign, and he reigned for sixteen years in Jerusalem. The name of his mother was Jerusha, the daughter of Zadok. {27:2} And he did what was right before the Lord, in accord with all that his father, Uzziah, had done, except that he did not enter into the temple of the Lord, and still the people were transgressing. {27:3} He improved the high gate of the house of the Lord. And he built many things upon the wall of Ophel. {27:4} Also, he built cities in the mountains of Judah, and fortresses and towers in the forests. {27:5} He fought against the king of the sons of Ammon, and he defeated them. And at that time, the sons of Ammon gave to him one hundred talents of silver, and ten thousand cor of wheat, and the same number of cor of barley. These things the sons of Ammon offered to him in the second and third year. {27:6} And Jotham was strengthened, because he had directed his way before the Lord his God. {27:7} Now the rest of the words of Jotham, and all his battles and works, have been written in the book of the kings of Israel and Judah. {27:8} He was twenty-five years old when he had begun to reign, and he reigned for sixteen years in Jerusalem. {27:9} And Jotham slept with his fathers, and they buried him in the City of David. And his son, Ahaz, reigned in his place.

[2 Chronicles 28] {28:1} Ahaz was twenty years old when he had begun to reign, and he reigned for sixteen years in Jerusalem. He did not do what is right in the sight of the Lord, as his father David did. {28:2} Instead, he walked in the ways of the kings of Israel. Moreover, he also cast statues for the Baals. {28:3} It is he who burned incense in the Valley of the sons of Hinnom. And he purified his sons by fire, in accord with the ritual of the nations that the Lord put to death at the advent of the sons of Israel. {28:4} Also, he was sacrificing and burning incense in the high places, and on the hills, and under every leafy tree. {28:5} And so the Lord, his God, delivered him into the hands of the king of Syria, who struck him and took great plunder from his kingdom. And he carried it away to Damascus. Also, he was delivered into the hands of the king of Israel, and he struck him with great affliction. {28:6} And Pekah, the son of Remaliah, killed, on one day, one hundred twenty thousand, all of them men of war from Judah, because they had forsaken the Lord, the God of their fathers. {28:7} In the same time, Zichri, a powerful man of Ephraim, killed Maaseiah, the son of the king, and Azrikam, the governor of his house, and also Elkanah, who was second to the king. {28:8} And the sons of Israel seized, from their brothers, two hundred thousand women, boys, and girls, and immense plunder. And they took it away to Samaria. {28:9} At that time, there was a prophet of the Lord there, named Oded. And going out to meet the army arriving in Samaria, he said to them: “Behold, the Lord, the God of your fathers, having become angry against Judah, has delivered them into your hands. But you have killed them by atrocities, so that your cruelty has reached up to heaven. {28:10} Moreover, you wanted to subjugate the sons of Judah and Jerusalem as your men and women servants, which is a work that should never be done. And so you sinned in this matter against the Lord your God. {28:11} But listen to my counsel, and release the captives, whom you have brought from your brothers. For a great fury of the Lord is hanging over you.” {28:12} And so, some of the leaders of the sons of Ephraim, Azariah, the son of Johanan, Berechiah, the son of Meshillemoth, Jehizkiah, the son of Shallum, and Amasa, the son of Hadlai, stood up against those who were arriving from the battle. {28:13} And they said to them: “You shall not lead back captives to here, lest we sin against the Lord. Why are you willing to add to our sins, and to build upon our old offenses? For indeed, the sin is great, and the furious anger of the Lord is hanging over Israel.” {28:14} And the warriors released the spoils and all that they had seized, in the sight of the leaders and the entire multitude. {28:15} And the men, whom we mentioned above, rose up and took the captives. All those who were naked, they clothed from the spoils. And when they had clothed them, and had given them shoes, and had refreshed them with food and drink, and had anointed them because of the hardship, and had cared for them, whoever was not able to walk and whoever was feeble in body, they set them upon beasts of burden, and they led them to Jericho, the city of palm trees, to their brothers, and they themselves returned to Samaria. {28:16} In that time, king Ahaz sent to the king of the Assyrians, requesting assistance. {28:17} And the Edomites arrived and struck down many of Judah, and they seized great plunder. {28:18} Also, the Philistines spread out among the cities of the plains, and to the south of Judah. And they seized Beth-shemesh, and Ajalon, and Gederoth, and also Socoh, and Timnah, and Gimzo, with their villages, and they lived in them. {28:19} For the Lord had humbled Judah because of Ahaz, the king of Judah, since he had stripped it of help, and had shown contempt for the Lord. {28:20} And he led against him Tilgath-pilneser, the king of the Assyrians, who also afflicted him and laid waste to him, without resistance. {28:21} And so Ahaz, despoiling the house of the Lord, and the house of the kings and the leaders, gave gifts to the king of the Assyrians, and yet it profited him nothing. {28:22} Moreover, in the time of his anguish, he also added to his contempt against the Lord. King Ahaz himself, by himself, {28:23} immolated victims to the gods of Damascus, those who had struck him. And he said: “The gods of the kings of Syria assist them, and so I will please them with victims, and they will help me.” But to the contrary, they had been the ruin of him and of all Israel. {28:24} And so, Ahaz, having despoiled and broken apart all the vessels of the house of God, closed up the doors of the temple of God, and made for himself altars in all the corners of Jerusalem. {28:25} Also, he constructed altars in all the cities of Judah, in order to burn frankincense, and so he provoked the Lord, the God of his fathers, to wrath. {28:26} But the rest of his words, and all his works, the first and the last, have been written in the book of the kings of Judah and Israel. {28:27} And Ahaz slept with his fathers. And they buried him in the city of Jerusalem. And they did not allow him to be in the sepulchers of the kings of Israel. And his son, Hezekiah, reigned in his place.

[2 Chronicles 29] {29:1} And so Hezekiah began to reign when he was twenty-five years old. And he reigned for twenty-nine years in Jerusalem. The name of his mother was Abijah, the daughter of Zechariah. {29:2} And he did what was pleasing in the sight of the Lord, in accord with all that his father David had done. {29:3} In the first year and month of his reign, he opened the double doors of the house of the Lord, and he repaired them. {29:4} And he brought together the priests and Levites. And he gathered them in the wide eastern street. {29:5} And he said to them: “Listen to me, O Levites, and be sanctified. Cleanse the house of the Lord, the God of your fathers, and take away every uncleanness from the sanctuary. {29:6} Our fathers sinned and did evil in the sight of the Lord our God, abandoning him. They turned their faces away from the tabernacle of the Lord, and they presented their backs. {29:7} They closed up the doors which were in the portico, and they extinguished the lamps. And they did not burn incense, and they did not offer holocausts, in the sanctuary of the God of Israel. {29:8} And so the fury of the Lord was stirred up against Judah and Jerusalem, and he handed them over to turmoil, and to destruction, and to hissing, just as you discern with your own eyes. {29:9} Lo, our fathers have fallen by the sword. Our sons, and our daughters and wives have been led away as captives because of this wickedness. {29:10} Now therefore, it is pleasing to me that we should enter into a covenant with the Lord, the God of Israel. And he will turn away the fury of his indignation from us. {29:11} My sons, do not choose to be negligent. The Lord has chosen you so that you would stand before him, and minister to him, and worship him, and burn incense to him.” {29:12} Therefore, the Levites rose up, Mahath, the son of Amasai, and Joel, the son of Azariah, from the sons of Kohath; then, from the sons of Merari, Kish, the son of Abdi, and Azariah, the son of Jehallelel; and from the sons of Gershon, Joah, the son of Zimmah, and Eden, the son of Joh; {29:13} and truly, from the sons of Elizaphan, Shimri and Jeuel; also, from the sons of Asaph, Zechariah and Mattaniah; {29:14} indeed also, from the sons of Heman, Jehuel and Shimei; then too, from the sons of Jeduthun, Shemaiyah and Uzziel. {29:15} And they gathered together their brothers. And they were sanctified. And they entered in accord with the command of the king and the order of the Lord, so that they might expiate the house of God. {29:16} And the priests, entering the temple of the Lord so that they might sanctify it, took every uncleanness, which they had found inside, out to the vestibule of the house of the Lord; and the Levites took it away and transported it outside, to the torrent Kidron. {29:17} Now they began to cleanse on the first day of the first month. And on the eighth day of the same month, they entered the portico of the temple of the Lord. And then they expiated the temple over eight days. And on the sixteenth day of the same month, they finished what they had begun. {29:18} Also, they entered to king Hezekiah, and they said to him: “We have sanctified the entire house of the Lord, and the altar of holocaust, and its vessels, indeed also the table of the presence, with all its vessels, {29:19} and all the equipment of the temple, which king Ahaz, during his reign, had polluted after his transgression. And behold, these have all been set forth before the altar of the Lord.” 29:20 And rising up at first light, king Hezekiah joined as one all the leaders of the city, and they ascended to the house of the Lord. 29:21 And together they offered seven bulls and seven rams, seven lambs and seven he-goats, for sin, for the kingdom, for the Sanctuary, for Judah. And he spoke to the priests, the sons of Aaron, so that they would offer these upon the altar of the Lord. 29:22 And so they slaughtered the bulls. And the priests took up the blood, and they poured it upon the altar. Then they also slaughtered the rams, and they poured their blood upon the altar. 29:23 They brought the he-goats for sin before the king and the entire multitude. And they laid their hands upon them. 29:24 And the priests immolated them, and they sprinkled their blood before the altar, for the expiation of all Israel. For certainly the king had instructed that the holocaust and the sin offering should be made on behalf of all Israel. 29:25 Also, he situated the Levites in the house of the Lord, with cymbals, and psaltaries, and harps, according to the disposition of king David, and of the seer Gad, and of the prophet Nathan. For indeed, this was the precept of the Lord, by the hand of his prophets. 29:26 And the Levites stood, holding the musical instruments of David, and the priests held the trumpets. 29:27 And Hezekiah ordered that they should offer holocausts upon the altar. And when the holocausts were being offered, they began to sing praises to the Lord, and to sound the trumpets, and to play various musical instruments, which David, the king of Israel, had prepared. 29:28 Then the entire crowd was adoring, and the singers and those who were holding the trumpeters were exercising their office, until the holocaust was completed. 29:29 And when the oblation was finished, the king, and all who were with him, bowed down and adored. 29:30 And Hezekiah and the rulers instructed the Levites to praise the Lord with the words of David, and of Asaph, the seer. And they praised him with great joy, and kneeling down, they adored. 29:31 And now Hezekiah also added: “You have filled your hands for the Lord. Draw near, and offer victims and praises in the house of the Lord.” Therefore, the entire multitude offered victims and praises and holocausts, with devout intention. 29:32 Now the number of the holocausts that the multitude offered was seventy bulls, one hundred rams, two hundred lambs. 29:33 And they sanctified to the Lord six hundred oxen and three thousand sheep. 29:34 Truly, the priests were few; neither were they sufficient to remove the pelts from the holocausts. Therefore, the Levites, their brothers, also assisted them, until the work was completed, and the priests, who were of higher rank, were sanctified. For indeed, the Levites are sanctified with an easier ritual than the priests. 29:35 Thus, there were very numerous holocausts, with the fat of the peace offerings and the libations of the holocausts. And the service of the house of the Lord was completed. 29:36 And Hezekiah and all the people were joyful because the ministry of the Lord was accomplished. For certainly, it had pleased them to do this suddenly.

[2 Chronicles 30] 30:1 Also, Hezekiah sent to all of Israel and Judah. And he wrote letters to Ephraim and Manasseh, so that they would come to the house of the Lord in Jerusalem, and so that they would keep the Passover to the Lord, the God of Israel. 30:2 Therefore, having taken counsel, the king and the rulers, and the entire assembly of Jerusalem, resolved that they would keep the Passover, in the second month. 30:3 For they had not been able to keep it at its proper time. For the priests, who were unable to suffice, had not been sanctified. And the people had not yet been gathered together in Jerusalem. 30:4 And the word was pleasing to the king, and to the entire multitude. 30:5 And they resolved that they would send messengers to all of Israel, from Beersheba even to Dan, so that they might come and keep the Passover to the Lord, the God of Israel, at Jerusalem. For many had not kept it, just as it was prescribed by the law. 30:6 And carriers traveled with the letters, by order of the king and his rulers, to all of Israel and Judah, proclaiming, in accord with what the king had ordered: “O sons of Israel, return to the Lord, the God of Abraham, and Isaac, and Israel. And he will return to the remnant who escaped from the hand of the king of the Assyrians. 30:7 Do not choose to be like your fathers and brothers, who withdrew from the Lord, the God of their fathers. And so he delivered them over to destruction, as you yourselves discern. 30:8 Do not choose to harden your necks, as your fathers did. Surrender to the hands of the Lord. And go to his Sanctuary, which he has sanctified unto eternity. Serve the Lord, the God of your fathers, and the fury of his wrath will be turned away from you. 30:9 For if you will return to the Lord, your brothers and sons will find mercy before their masters, who led them away as captives, and they will be returned to this land. For the Lord your God is compassionate and lenient, and he will not avert his face from you, if you will return to him.” 30:10 And so, the carriers were traveling quickly from city to city, throughout the land of Ephraim and Manasseh, as far as Zebulun, though they were ridiculing and mocking them. 30:11 Even so, certain men from Asher, and from Manasseh, and from Zebulun, acquiescing to this counsel, went to Jerusalem. 30:12 Truly, the hand of God was working in Judah, to give them one heart, so that they would accomplish the word of the Lord, according to the precept of the king and of the rulers. 30:13 And many people gathered together in Jerusalem, so that they could keep the solemnity of unleavened bread, in the second month. 30:14 And rising up, they destroyed the altars which were in Jerusalem, and all the things in which incense was burned to idols. Overturning these things, they cast them into the torrent Kidron. 30:15 Then they immolated the Passover on the fourteenth day of the second month. Also, the priests and Levites, at length having been sanctified, offered the holocausts in the house of the Lord. 30:16 And they stood in their order, according to the disposition and law of Moses, the man of God. Yet truly, the priests took up the blood, which was to be poured out, from the hands of the Levites, 30:17 because a great number were not sanctified. And therefore, the Levites immolated the Passover for those who had not been sanctified to the Lord in time. 30:18 And now a great portion of the people from Ephraim, and Manasseh, and Issachar, and Zebulun, who had not been sanctified, ate the Passover, which is not in accord with what was written. And Hezekiah prayed for them, saying: “The good Lord will be forgiving to all who, with their whole heart, seek the Lord, the God of their fathers. And he will not impute it to them, though they have not been sanctified.” 30:20 And the Lord heeded him, and was reconciled to the people. 30:21 And the sons of Israel who were found at Jerusalem kept the solemnity of unleavened bread for seven days with great rejoicing, praising the Lord throughout each day, with the Levites and the priests, accompanied by the musical instruments corresponding to their office. {30:22} And Hezekiah spoke to the heart of all the Levites, who had a good understanding concerning the Lord. And they ate during the seven days of the solemnity, immolating victims of peace offerings, and praising the Lord, the God of their fathers. {30:23} And it pleased the entire multitude that they should celebrate, even for another seven days. And they did this with enormous gladness. {30:24} For Hezekiah, the king of Judah, had offered to the multitude one thousand bulls and seven thousand sheep. Truly, the rulers had given the people one thousand bulls and ten thousand sheep. Then a great multitude of priests was sanctified. {30:25} And the whole multitude of Judah, as much the priests and Levites as the entire crowd that had arrived from Israel, and also the converts from the land of Israel, and those with a habitation in Judah, was overflowing with cheerfulness. {30:26} And there was a great celebration in Jerusalem, to such an extent as had not been in that city since the days of Solomon, the son of David, the king of Israel. {30:27} Then the priests and Levites rose up and blessed the people. And their voice was heeded. And their prayer reached the holy habitation of heaven.

[2 Chronicles 31] {31:1} And when these things had been celebrated according to ritual, all of Israel who had been found in the cities of Judah went forth, and they broke apart the idols and cut down the sacred groves. They demolished the high places and destroyed the altars, not only out of all Judah and Benjamin, but also out of Ephraim as well as Manasseh, until they utterly destroyed them. And all the sons of Israel returned to their possessions and cities. {31:2} Then Hezekiah appointed the companies of the priests and Levites by their divisions, each man in his proper office, certainly as much for the priests as for the Levites, for the sake of holocausts and peace offerings, so that they might minister and confess and sing, at the gates of the camp of the Lord. {31:3} Now the portion of the king, from his own substance, was such that they could offer a holocaust always, in morning and in evening, also on the Sabbaths, and the new moons, and the other solemnities, just as it was written in the law of Moses. {31:4} And now he instructed the people living in Jerusalem that they were to give portions to the priests and Levites, so that they would be able to attend to the law of the Lord. {31:5} And when this had reached the ears of the multitude, the sons of Israel brought an abundance of first-fruits of grain, wine, and oil, and also honey. And they offered a tenth part of all that the soil brings forth. {31:6} Then too, the sons of Israel and Judah, who were living in the cities of Judah, brought tithes of oxen and sheep, and tithes of the holy things that they had vowed to the Lord their God. And carrying all these things, they made many stacks. {31:7} In the third month, they began to lay out the foundations of the stacks. And in the seventh month, they finished them. {31:8} And when Hezekiah and his rulers had entered, they saw the stacks, and they blessed the Lord and the people of Israel. {31:9} And Hezekiah questioned the priests and Levites, as to why the stacks were laid out in this way. {31:10} Azariah, the high priest from the stock of Zadok, answered him, saying: “Since the first-fruits began to be offered in the house of the Lord, we have eaten and been satisfied, and much remains. For the Lord has blessed his people. Then what was left over is this great abundance, which you see.” {31:11} And so Hezekiah instructed that they should prepare storage places for the house of the Lord. And when they had done so, {31:12} they faithfully brought in the first-fruits, as well as the tithes and all that they had vowed. Now the overseer of these things was Conaniah, a Levite; and his brother, Shimei, was second. {31:13} And after him, there was Jehiel, and Azariah, and Nahath, and Asaahel, and Jerimoth, and also Jozabad, and Eliel, and Ismachiah, and Mahath, and Beniaiah, who were overseers under the hands of Conaniah, and his brother, Shimei, by the authority of Hezekiah, the king, and Azariah, the high priest of the house of God, to whom all these things belonged. {31:14} Yet truly, Kore, the son of Immah, a Levite and the porter of the eastern gate, was the overseer of the things that were being offered freely to the Lord, and of the first-fruits, and of the things consecrated for the Holy of Holies. {31:15} And under his charge were Eden, and Benjamin, Jeshua, and Shemaiah, and also Amariah, and Shecaniah, in the cities of the priests, so that they would distribute faithfully to their brothers, the small as well as the great, their portions {31:16} (except for the males from three years old and upward) for all who were entering the temple of the Lord, and for whatever was needed for the ministry, throughout each day, as well as for the observances according to their divisions. {31:17} And so, for the priests, by their families, and for the Levites, from the twentieth year and upward, by their orders and companies, {31:18} and for the entire multitude, as much for the wives as for their children of both sexes, provisions were offered faithfully from whatever had been sanctified. {31:19} Then too, men were appointed of the sons of Aaron, throughout the fields and the suburbs of each city, who would distribute portions to all the males among the priests and Levites. {31:20} Therefore, Hezekiah did all these things (which we have said) in all of Judah. And he worked what is good and upright and true before the Lord his God, {31:21} for the whole service of the ministry of the house of the Lord, in accord with the law and the ceremonies, desiring to seek his God with his whole heart. And he did so, and he prospered.

[2 Chronicles 32] {32:1} After these things, and after this manner of truth, Sennacherib, the king of the Assyrians arrived. And entering Judah, he besieged the fortified cities, desiring to seize them. {32:2} And when Hezekiah had seen this, specifically that Sennacherib had arrived, and that the entire force of the war was turning against Jerusalem, {32:3} he took counsel with the rulers and with the most valiant men, so that they might obstruct the heads of the springs which were beyond the city. And with everyone discerning the same judgment about this, {32:4} he gathered together a great multitude, and they obstructed all the springs, and the brook which was flowing through the midst of the land, saying: “Otherwise, the kings of the Assyrians might arrive and find an abundance of water.” {32:5} Also, acting industriously, he built up the entire wall that had been broken apart. And he constructed towers upon it, and another wall outside it. And he repaired Millo, in the City of David. And he made all kinds of weapons and shields. {32:6} And he appointed leaders of the warriors within the army. And he summoned them all to the wide street of the gate of the city. And he spoke to their heart, saying: {32:7} “Act manfully and be strengthened. Do not be afraid. Neither should you dread the king of the Assyrians and the entire multitude that is with him. For many more are with us than with him. {32:8} For with him is an arm of flesh; with us is the Lord our God, who is our helper, and who fights for us.” And the people were strengthened by this type of words from Hezekiah, the king of Judah. {32:9} After these things, Sennacherib, the king of the Assyrians, sent his servants to Jerusalem, (for he and his entire army were besieging Lachish) to Hezekiah, the king of Judah, and to all the people who were in the city, saying: {32:10} “Thus says Sennacherib, the king of the Assyrians: In whom do you have faith, as you sit besieged in Jerusalem? {32:11} Does not Hezekiah deceive you, so that he would deliver you to die from hunger and thirst, by affirming that the Lord your God will free you from the hand of the king of the Assyrians? {32:12} Is this not the same Hezekiah who destroyed his own high places and altars, and who instructed Judah and Jerusalem, saying: ‘You shall worship before one altar, and you shall burn incense upon it?’ {32:13} Do you not know what I and my fathers have done to all the peoples of the lands? Have the gods of the nations and all the lands prevailed so as to free their region from my hand? {32:14} Who is there, out of all the gods of the nations that my fathers destroyed, who is able to rescue his people from my hand, so that now also your God would be able to rescue you from this hand? {32:15} Therefore, let not Hezekiah deceive or delude you with vain persuasion. And you should not believe him. For if no god out of all the nations and kingdoms was able to free his people from my hand, and from the hand of my fathers, consequently neither will your God be able to rescue you from my hand.” {32:16} Then too, his servants were speaking many other things against the Lord God, and against his servant Hezekiah. {32:17} Also, he wrote letters full of blasphemy against the Lord God of Israel. And against him he said: “Just as the gods of other nations were unable to free their people from my hand, so also is the God of Hezekiah unable to rescue his people from this hand.” {32:18} Moreover, he also shouted with a great clamor, in the language of the Jews, toward the people who were sitting upon the walls of Jerusalem, so that he might frighten them and so seize the city. {32:19} And he was speaking against the God of Jerusalem, just as against the gods of the peoples of the earth, which are works of the hands of men. {32:20} And Hezekiah the king, and Isaiah the prophet, the son of Amoz, prayed against this blasphemy, and they cried out to heaven. {32:21} And the Lord sent an Angel, who struck all the experienced men and warriors, and the leaders of the army of the king of the Assyrians. And he returned in disgrace to his own land. And when he had entered the house of his god, the sons who had gone forth from his loins killed him with the sword. {32:22} And the Lord saved Hezekiah and the inhabitants of Jerusalem from the hand of Sennacherib, the king of the Assyrians, and from the hand of all. And he presented to them peace on every side. {32:23} And now many were bringing victims and sacrifices to the Lord in Jerusalem, and gifts to Hezekiah, the king of Judah. And after these things, he was exalted before all the nations. {32:24} In those days, Hezekiah was sick, even unto death, and he prayed to the Lord. And he heeded him, and gave to him a sign. {32:25} But he did not repay according to the benefits which he had received, for his heart was lifted up. And so wrath was brought against him, and against Judah and Jerusalem. {32:26} And after this, he was humbled, because he had exalted his heart, both he and the inhabitants of Jerusalem. And therefore the wrath of the Lord did not overwhelm them in the days of Hezekiah. {32:27} Now Hezekiah was wealthy and very famous. And he gathered for himself many treasures of silver and gold and precious stones, of aromatics, and all kinds of weapons, and vessels of great price, {32:28} and also repositories of grain, wine, and oil, and stalls for every beast of burden, and fencing for cattle. {32:29} And he built for himself cities. For indeed, he had innumerable herds and flocks of sheep. For the Lord had given to him an exceedingly great substance. {32:30} This same Hezekiah was the one who blocked the upper font of the waters of Gihon, and who diverted them down to the western part of the City of David. In all his works, he prosperously accomplished whatever he willed. {32:31} Yet still, concerning the legates from the leaders of Babylon, who had been sent to him so that they might inquire about the portent which had happened upon the earth, God permitted him to be tempted, so that everything might be made known which was in his heart. {32:32} Now the rest of the words of Hezekiah, and his mercies, have been written in the vision of the prophet Isaiah, the son of Amos, and in the book of the kings of Judah and Israel. {32:33} And Hezekiah slept with his fathers. And they buried him above the sepulchers of the sons of David. And all of Judah, and all the inhabitants of Jerusalem, celebrated his funeral. And his son, Manasseh, reigned in his place.

[2 Chronicles 33] {33:1} Manasseh was twelve years old when he had begun to reign, and he reigned for fifty-five years in Jerusalem. {33:2} But he did evil before the Lord, in accord with all the abominations of the nations which the Lord overthrew before the sons of Israel. {33:3} And turning away, he repaired the high places, which had been demolished by his father, Hezekiah. And he constructed altars to the Baals, and made sacred groves. And he adored the entire army of heaven, and he served them. {33:4} Also, he built altars in the house of the Lord, about which the Lord had said, “My name shall be in Jerusalem forever.” {33:5} But he built these for the entire army of heaven, in the two courts of the house of the Lord. {33:6} And he caused his sons to pass through fire in the Valley of the son of Hinnom. He observed dreams, followed divinations, served the occult arts, had with him magicians and enchanters, and worked many evils before the Lord, so that he provoked him. {33:7} Also, he set up a graven image and molten statue in the house of God, about which God said to David, and to his son Solomon: “In this house, and in Jerusalem, which I have chosen from all the tribes of Israel, I will place my name forever. {33:8} And I will not cause the foot of Israel to be moved from the land which I delivered to their fathers. Yet this is so, only if they will take care to do what I have instructed them, by the hand of Moses, with the entire law and the ceremonies and the judgments.” {33:9} And so Manasseh seduced Judah and the inhabitants of Jerusalem, so that they did evil, more so than all the nations which the Lord had overthrown before the face of the sons of Israel. {33:10} And the Lord spoke to him and to his people, but they were not willing to pay attention. {33:11} Therefore, he led over them the leaders of the army of the king of the Assyrians. And they captured Manasseh, and they led him, bound with chains and fetters, to Babylon. {33:12} And after this, being in great anguish, he prayed to the Lord his God. And he did penance greatly before the God of his fathers. {33:13} And he petitioned and begged him intently. And he heeded his prayer, and led him back to Jerusalem, into his kingdom. And Manasseh realized that the Lord himself was God. {33:14} After these things, he built a wall outside the kingdom. And Manasseh did penance greatly before the Lord, his God. And he did penance greatly before the God of his fathers. And he raised it up greatly. And he appointed leaders of the army in all the fortified cities of Judah. {33:15} And he took away the foreign gods, and the idol from the house of the Lord, and also the altars which he had made on the mount of the house of the Lord and in Jerusalem. And he cast all these things outside the city. {33:16} Then he repaired the altar of the Lord, and he immolated upon it victims, and peace offerings, with praise. And he instructed Judah to serve the Lord, the God of Israel. {33:17} Yet still the people were immolating on the high places, to the Lord their God. {33:18} But the rest of the deeds of Manasseh, and his prayer to his God, and also the words of the seers who were speaking to him in the name of the Lord, the God of Israel, are contained in the words of the kings of Israel. {33:19} Also, his prayer and its heeding, and all his sins and contempt, and the sites on which he built high places and made sacred groves and statues, before he repented, have been written in the words of Hozai. {33:20} Then Manasseh slept with his fathers. And they buried him in his own house. And his son, Amon, reigned in his place. {33:21} Amon was twenty-two years old when he had begun to reign, and he reigned for two years in Jerusalem. {33:22} And he did evil in the sight of the Lord, just as his father Manasseh had done. And he immolated to all the idols that Manasseh had fabricated, and he served them. {33:23} But he did not turn his face to the Lord, as his father Manasseh had turned himself. And he sinned much more grievously. {33:24} And when his servants had conspired against him, they killed him in his own house. {33:25} But the rest of the multitude of the people, having slain those who had struck down Amon, appointed his son, Josiah, as king in his place.

[2 Chronicles 34] {34:1} Josiah was eight years old when he had begun to reign, and he reigned for thirty-one years in Jerusalem. {34:2} And he did what was right in the sight of the Lord, and he walked in the ways of his father David. He did not turn away, neither to the right, nor to the left. {34:3} Now in the eighth year of his reign, when he was still a boy, he began to seek the God of his father David. And in the twelfth year after he had begun to reign, he cleansed Judah and Jerusalem from the high places, and the sacred groves, and the idols, and the graven images. {34:4} And in his sight, they destroyed the altars of the Baals, and they demolished the idols which had been set upon them. And then he cut down the sacred groves and crushed the graven images. And he scattered the fragments upon the tombs of those who had been accustomed to immolate to them. {34:5} And after that, he burned the bones of the priests upon the altars of the idols. And so did he cleanse Judah and Jerusalem. {34:6} Then too, in the cities of Manasseh, and of Ephraim, and of Simeon, even to Naphtali, he overturned everything. {34:7} And when he had destroyed the altars and the sacred groves, and had broken the idols to pieces, and when all the profane shrines had been demolished from the entire land of Israel, he returned to Jerusalem. {34:8} And so, in the eighteenth year of his reign, having now cleansed the land and the temple of the Lord, he sent Shaphan, the son of Azaliah, and Maaseiah, the ruler of the city, and Joah, the son of Joahaz, the historian, to repair the house of the Lord his God. {34:9} And they went to Hilkiah, the high priest. And having accepted from him the money which had been brought into the house of the Lord, and which the Levites and porters had gathered together from Manasseh, and Ephraim, and the entire remnant of Israel, and also from all of Judah, and Benjamin, and the inhabitants of Jerusalem, {34:10} they delivered it into the hands of those who were in charge of the workers in the house of the Lord, so that they might repair the temple, and restore whatever was weak. {34:11} And they gave it to the artisans and the stoneworkers, so that they might buy stones from the quarries, and wood for the joints of the building and for the upper floors the houses, which the kings of Judah had destroyed. {34:12} And they did everything faithfully. Now the overseers of the workers were Jahath and Obadiah, from the sons of Merari, and Zechariah and Meshullam, from the sons of Kohath, who were supervising the work. All were Levites who knew how to play musical instruments. {34:13} Truly, scribes and teachers, from among the Levites who were porters, were over those who were carrying burdens for various uses. {34:14} And when they carried out the money that had been brought into the temple of the Lord, Hilkiah the priest found the book of the law of the Lord by the hand of Moses. {34:15} And he said to Shaphan, the scribe: “I have found the book of the law in the house of the Lord.” And he delivered it to him. {34:16} Then he took the volume to the king, and he reported to him, saying: “Behold, everything that you entrusted to your servants is completed. {34:17} They have melted together the silver that was found in the house of the Lord. And it has been given to the king, and he reported to him, saying: “Behold, everything that you entrusted to your servants is completed.

{34:18} After this, Hilkiah the priest gave me this book.” And when he had read it in the presence of the king, {34:19} and he had heard the words of the law, he tore his garments. {34:20} And he instructed Hilkiah, and Ahikam, the son of Shaphan, and Abdon, the son of Micah, and also Shaphan, the scribe, and Asaiah, the servant of the king, saying: {34:21} “Go, and pray to the Lord for me, and for the remnant of Israel and Judah, concerning all the words of this book, which has been found. For the great fury of the Lord has rained down upon us, because our fathers did not keep the words of the Lord, to do all that has been written in this volume.” {34:22} Therefore, Hilkiah, and those who had been sent with him by the king, went to Huldah, the prophetess, the wife of Shallum, the son of Tokhath, the son of Hasrah, the keeper of the vestments. She was living in Jerusalem, in the second part. And they spoke to her the words which we explained above. {34:23} And she responded to them: “Thus says the Lord, the God of Israel: Tell the man who sent you to me: {34:24} Thus says the Lord: Behold, I will lead in evils over this place, and over its inhabitants, with all the curses that have been written in this book, which they have read before the king of Judah.
For they have abandoned me, and they have sacrificed to foreign gods, so that they provoked me to wrath by all the works of their hands. Therefore, my fury will rain down upon this place, and it will not be extinguished.

To the king of Judah, who sent you to petition before the Lord, so shall you speak: Thus says the Lord, the God of Israel: Since you listened to the words of this volume, and your heart was softened, and you humbled yourself in the sight of God concerning these things which have been said against this place and against the inhabitants of Jerusalem, and since, revering my face, you have torn your garments, and have wept before me: I also have heeded you, says the Lord. For now I will gather you to your fathers, and you will be brought into your sepulcher in peace. Neither shall your eyes see all the evil that I will lead in, over this place and over its inhabitants.” And so they took back to the king all that she had said. And he, calling together all those greater by birth of Judah and Jerusalem, ascended to the house of the Lord, united with all the men of Judah, and the inhabitants of Jerusalem, the priests and the Levites, and all the people, from the least even to the greatest. And in their hearing, in the house of the Lord, the king read all the words of the volume. And standing up at his tribunal, he struck a covenant before the Lord, so that he would walk after him, and would keep his precepts and testimonies and justifications, with his whole heart and with his whole soul, and so that he would do the things that were written in that volume, which he had read. Also, concerning this, he bound by oath all who had been found in Jerusalem and Benjamin. And the inhabitants of Jerusalem acted in accord with the covenant of the Lord, the God of their fathers. Therefore, Josiah took away all the abominations from all the regions of the sons of Israel. And he caused all who were remaining in Israel to serve the Lord their God. During all his days, they did not withdraw from the Lord, the God of their fathers.

Now Josiah kept the Passover to the Lord in Jerusalem, and it was immolated on the fourteenth day of the first month. And he appointed the priests in their offices, and he exhorted them to minister in the house of the Lord. Also, he spoke with the Levites, by whose instruction all of Israel was sanctified to the Lord, saying: “Place the ark in the sanctuary of the temple, which Solomon, the son of David, the king of Israel, built. For never again shall you carry it. Instead, now you shall minister to the Lord your God, and to his people Israel. And prepare yourselves by your houses and families, within each division, just as David, the king of Israel, instructed, and just as his son Solomon has written. And minister in the sanctuary, by the Levitical families and companies. And having been sanctified, immolate the Passover. And then prepare your brothers, so that they may be able to act in accord with the words which the Lord has spoken by the hand of Moses.” After this, Josiah gave to all the people, those who had been found there at the solemnity of the Passover, thirty thousand lambs and young goats from the flocks, and other kinds of small cattle, and also three thousand oxen. All these were from the substance of the king. Also, his rulers offered what they had vowed freely, as much for the people as for the priests and Levites. Moreover, Hilkiah, and Zechariah, and Jehiel, rulers of the house of the Lord, gave to the priests, in order to observe the Passover, two thousand six hundred small cattle, and three hundred oxen. And Conaniah, with Shemaiah and Nethanel, his brothers, indeed also Hashabiah and Jeiel and Jozabad, rulers of the Levites, gave to the rest of the Levites, in order to celebrate the Passover, five thousand small cattle, and five hundred oxen. And the ministry was prepared. And the priests stood in their office, and the Levites also stood in their companies, according to the order of the king. And the Passover was immolated. And the priests sprinkled the blood with their hand, and the Levites drew away the pelts of the holocausts. And they put these aside, so that they might give them to each one, by their houses and families, and so that they might be offered to the Lord, just as it was written in the book of Moses. And with the oxen, they acted similarly. And they roasted the Passover above fire, in accord with what was written in the law. Yet truly, the victims of peace offerings they boiled in cauldrons and kettles and pots. And they promptly distributed these to all the common people. Then afterward, they made preparations for themselves and for the priests. Indeed, the priests had been occupied in the oblations of the holocausts and the fat offerings, even until night. Therefore, the Levites made preparations for themselves and for the priests, the sons of Aaron, last. Now the singers, the sons of Asaph, were standing in their order, according to the instruction of David, and of Asaph and Heman and Jeduthun, the prophets of the king. Truly, the porters kept watch at each gate, so as not to depart from their ministry even for one moment. And for this reason, their brothers, the Levites, prepared foods for them. And so, the entire worship ritual of the Lord was completed on that day, so that they observed the Passover and offered holocausts upon the altar of the Lord, in accord with the precept of king Josiah. And the sons of Israel, who had been found there, kept the Passover at that time, with the solemnity of unleavened bread, for seven days. There was no Passover similar to this one in Israel, from the days of Samuel the prophet. And neither did anyone, out of all the kings of Israel, keep such a Passover as did Josiah, the priests and Levites, and all those of Judah and Israel who had been found, and the inhabitants of Jerusalem. In the eighteenth year of the reign of Josiah, this Passover was celebrated. After Josiah had repaired the temple, Neco, the king of Egypt, ascended to fight at Carchemish, beside the Euphrates. And Josiah went out to meet him. But he sent messengers to him, saying: “What is there between me and you, O king of Judah? I have not come against you today. Instead, I am fighting against another house, to which God instructed me to go promptly. Refrain from acting against God, who is with me, otherwise he may kill you.” Josiah was not willing to return. Instead, he prepared for war against him. Neither would he agree to the words of Neco from the mouth of God. In truth, he traveled so that he might do battle in the field of Megiddo. And there, having been wounded by archers, he said to his servants: “Lead me away from the battle. For I have been severely wounded.” And they took him from the chariot, into another chariot which was following him, as was the custom of kings. And they transported him to Jerusalem. And he died, and he was buried in the mausoleum of his fathers. And all of Judah and Jerusalem mourned for him, {35:25} most of all Jeremiah. All the men and women repeat his lamentations over Josiah, even to the present day. And this has become like a law in Israel. Behold, it is written in the Lamentations. {35:26} Now the rest of the words of Josiah, and his mercies, which were instructed by the law of the Lord, {35:27} and also his works, the first and the last, have been written in the book of the kings of Judah and Israel.

[2 Chronicles 36] {36:1} Then the people of the land took Jehoahaz, the son of Josiah, and they appointed him king in place of his father, in Jerusalem. {36:2} Jehoahaz was twenty-three years old when he had begun to reign, and he reigned for three months in Jerusalem. {36:3} Then the king of Egypt, when he had arrived in Jerusalem, removed him, and condemned the land to one hundred talents of silver and one talent of gold. {36:4} And he appointed Eliakim, his brother, as king in his place, over Judah and Jerusalem. And he changed his name to Jehoiakim. Truly, he took Jehoahaz with him, and he led him away to Egypt. {36:5} Jehoiakim was twenty-five years old when he had begun to reign, and he reigned for eleven years in Jerusalem. And he did evil before the Lord his God. {36:6} Nebuchadnezzar, the king of the Chaldeans, ascended against him, and led him bound in chains to Babylon. {36:7} And to there, he also took away the vessels of the Lord, and he placed them in his temple. {36:8} But the rest of the words of Jehoiakim, and his abominations that he worked, and the things that were found in him, are contained in the book of the kings of Judah and Israel. Then his son, Jehoiachin, reigned in his place. {36:9} Jehoiachin was eight years old when he had begun to reign, and he reigned for three months and ten days in Jerusalem. And he did evil in the sight of the Lord. {36:10} And when the course of a year had turned, king Nebuchadnezzar sent and brought him to Babylon, carrying away, at the same time, the most precious vessels of the house of the Lord. Truly, he appointed his uncle, Zedekiah, as king over Judah and Jerusalem. {36:11} Zedekiah was twenty-one years old when he had begun to reign. And he reigned for eleven years in Jerusalem. {36:12} And he did evil in the eyes of the Lord his God. And he did not show remorse before the face of the prophet Jeremiah, who was speaking to him from the mouth of the Lord. {36:13} Also, he withdrew from king Nebuchadnezzar, who had bound him by an oath to God, and he hardened his own neck and his own heart, so that he did not return to the Lord, the God of Israel. {36:14} Then too, all the leaders of the priests, with the people, transgressed iniquitously, in accord with all the abominations of the Gentiles. And they polluted the house of the Lord, which he had sanctified to himself in Jerusalem. {36:15} Then the Lord, the God of their fathers, sent to them, by the hand of his messengers, rising in the night and daily admonishing them. For he was lenient to his people and to his habitation. {36:16} But they ridiculed the messengers of God, and they gave little weight to his words, and they mocked the prophets, until the fury of the Lord ascended against his people, and there was no remedy. {36:17} For he led over them the king of the Chaldeans. And he put to death their young men by the sword, in the house of his sanctuary. There was no pity for adolescents, nor virgins, nor the elderly, nor even for the disabled. Instead, he delivered them all into his hands. {36:18} And all the vessels of the house of Lord, as much the greater as the lesser, and the treasures of the temple, and of the king and the rulers, he carried away to Babylon. {36:19} The enemies set fire to the house of God, and they destroyed the wall of Jerusalem. They burned down all the towers. And whatever was precious, they demolished. {36:20} If anyone had escaped from the sword, he was led into Babylon. And he served the king and his sons, until the king of Persia would command, {36:21} and the word of the Lord by the mouth of Jeremiah would be fulfilled, and the land would celebrate her Sabbaths. For during all the days of the desolation, she kept a Sabbath, until the seventy years were completed. {36:22} Then, in the first year of Cyrus, the king of the Persians, in order to fulfill the word of the Lord, which he had spoken by the mouth of Jeremiah, the Lord stirred up the heart of Cyrus, the king of the Persians, who commanded this to be proclaimed throughout his entire kingdom, and also in writing, saying: {36:23} “Thus says Cyrus, the king of the Persians: The Lord, the God of heaven, has given to me all the kingdoms of the earth. And he has instructed me that I should build for him a house in Jerusalem, which is in Judea. Who among you is from his entire people? May the Lord his God be with him, and let him ascend.”

 The Book of Ezra **

[Ezra 1] {1:1} In the first year of Cyrus, king of the Persians, the Lord stirred up the spirit of Cyrus, king of the Persians, so that the word of the Lord from the mouth of Jeremiah would be fulfilled. And he sent out a voice, throughout his entire kingdom, and also in writing, saying: {1:2} “Thus says Cyrus, the king of the Persians: The Lord, the God of heaven, has given all the kingdoms of the earth to me, and he himself has instructed me that I should build a house for him in Jerusalem, which is in Judea. {1:3} Who among you is from his entire people? May his God be with him. Let him ascend to Jerusalem, which is in Judea, and let him build the house of the Lord, the God of Israel. He is the God who is in Jerusalem. {1:4} And let all who remain, in all the places wherever they may live, assist him, each man from his place, with silver and gold, and goods and cattle, in addition to whatever they may offer voluntarily to the temple of God, which is in Jerusalem.” {1:5} And the leaders of the fathers from Judah and from Benjamin, with the priests, and the Levites, and all those whose spirit was stirred by God, rose up, so that they might ascend to build the temple of the Lord, which was in Jerusalem. {1:6} And all those who were all around assisted their hands with vessels of silver and gold, with goods and cattle, with equipment, in addition to whatever they had offered freely. {1:7} Likewise, king Cyrus offered the vessels of the temple of the Lord, which Nebuchadnezzar had taken from Jerusalem and had placed in the temple of his god. {1:8} Now Cyrus, king of Persia, offered these by the hand of Mithredath, the son of the treasurer, and he counted these out to Sheshbazzar, the leader of Judah. {1:9} And this is their number: thirty gold bowls, one thousand silver bowls, twenty-nine knives, thirty gold cups, {1:10} four hundred ten of a second kind of silver cup, one thousand other vessels. {1:11} All the vessels of gold and silver were five thousand four hundred. Sheshbazzar brought all these, with those who ascended from the transmigration of Babylon, into Jerusalem.

[Ezra 2] {2:1} Now these are the sons of the province, who ascended from the captivity, whom Nebuchadnezzar, king of Babylon, had transferred to Babylon, and who were returned to Jerusalem and to Judah, each one to his own city. {2:2} They arrived with Zerubbabel, Jeshua, Nehemiah, Seraiah, Reelaiah, Mordecai, Bilsham, Mispar, Bigvai, Rehum, Baanah. The number of the men of the people of Israel: {2:3} The sons of Parosh, two thousand one hundred seventy-two. {2:4} The sons of Shephatiah, three hundred seventy-two. {2:5} The sons of Ahiah, seven hundred seventy-five. {2:6} The sons of Pahath-moab, of the sons of Jeshua and Joab, two thousand eight hundred twelve. {2:7} The sons of Elam, one thousand two hundred fifty-four. {2:8} The sons of Zattu, nine hundred forty-five. {2:9} The sons of Zaccai, seven hundred sixty. {2:10} The sons of Bani, six hundred forty-two. {2:11} The sons of Bebai, six hundred twenty-three. {2:12} The sons of Azgad, one thousand two hundred twenty-two. {2:13} The sons of Adonikam, six hundred sixty-six. {2:14} The sons of Bigvai, two thousand fifty-six. {2:15} The sons of Adin, four hundred fifty-four. {2:16} The sons of Ater, who were of Hezekiah, ninety-eight. {2:17} The sons of Bezai, three hundred twenty-three. {2:18} The sons of Bani, three hundred twelve. {2:19} The sons of Hashum, two hundred twenty-three. {2:20} The sons of Giddel, one hundred sixty-nine. {2:21} The sons of Bethlehem, one hundred twenty-two. {2:22} The men of Netophah, fifty-six. {2:23} The men of Anathoth, one hundred eighty. {2:24} The men of Azmaveth, forty-two. {2:25} The sons of Kiriathaim, Chephirah, and Beeroth, seven hundred forty-three. {2:26} The sons of Ramah and Geba, six hundred twenty-one. {2:27} The men of Michmas, one hundred twenty-two. {2:28} The men of Bethel and Ai, two hundred twenty-three. {2:29} The sons of Nob, fifty-two. {2:30} The sons of Magbish, one hundred fifty-six. {2:31} The sons of the other Elam, one thousand two hundred fifty-five. {2:32} The sons of Harim, three hundred twenty. {2:33} The sons of Lod, Hadid, and Ono, seven hundred twenty-five. {2:34} The sons of Jericho, three hundred forty-five. {2:35} The sons of Seraiah, three thousand six hundred thirty. {2:36} The priests: the sons of Jedediah of the house of Jeshua, nine hundred seventy-three. {2:37} The sons of Immmer, one thousand fifty-two. {2:38} The sons of Pashhur, one thousand two hundred forty-seven. {2:39} The sons of Harim, one thousand seventeen. {2:40} The Levites: the sons of Jeshua and Kadmiel, of the sons of Hodaviah, seventy-four. {2:41} The singing men: the sons of Asaph, one hundred twenty-eight. {2:42} The sons of the gatekeepers: the sons of Shallum, the sons of Ater, the sons of Talmon, the sons of Akkub, the sons of Hatita, the sons of Shobai: altogether one hundred thirty-nine. {2:43} The temple servants: the sons of Ziha, the sons of Hasupha, the sons of Tabbaoth, the sons of Keros, the sons of Siaha, the sons of Padon, the sons of Lebanah, the sons of Hagabah, the sons of Akkub, the sons of Hagab, the sons of Shammai, the sons of Hanan, the sons of Giddel, the sons of Kahah, the sons of Shammuelle, the sons of Azarel, the sons of Jeremoth, the sons of Bebai, the sons of Jehudiel, the sons of Benaiah, the sons of Shallum, the sons of Amor, the sons of Gashem, the sons of B如何去...
temple of God had not yet been founded. {3:7} And so they gave money to those who cut and laid stones. Similarly, they gave food, and drink, and oil to the Sidonians and the Tyrians, so that they would bring cedar wood, from Lebanon to the sea at Joppa, in accord with what had been commanded of them by Cyrus, the king of the Persians. {3:8} Then, in the second year of their advent to the temple of God in Jerusalem, in the second month, Zerubbabel, the son of Shealtiel, and Jeshua, the son of Jozadak, and the remainder of their brothers, the priests, and the Levites, and all who had arrived from the captivity to Jerusalem, began, and they appointed Levites, from twenty years and over, to hasten the work of the Lord. {3:9} And Jeshua and his sons and his brothers, Kadmiel and his sons, and the sons of Judah, like one man, stood so that they might have charge over those who did the work in the temple of God: the sons of Henadad, and their sons, and their brothers, the Levites. {3:10} And when the builders had founded the temple of the Lord, the priests stood in their adornment with trumpets, and the Levites, the sons of Asaph, stood with cymbals, so that they might praise God by the hand of David, the king of Israel. {3:11} And they sung together with hymns and confession to the Lord: “For he is good. For his mercy is over Israel unto eternity.” And likewise, all the people shouted with a great clamor in praise to the Lord, because the temple of the Lord had been founded. {3:12} And many of the priests and the Levites, and the leaders of the fathers and of the elders, who had seen the former temple, when now this temple was founded and was before their eyes, wept with a great voice. And many of them, shouting for joy, lifted up their voice. {3:13} Neither could anyone distinguish between the voice of clamor of joy, and a voice of weeping of the people. For the shouting of the people mixed into a great clamor, and the voice was heard from far away.

[Ezra 4] {4:1} Now the enemies of Judah and of Benjamin heard that the sons of the captivity were building a temple to the Lord, the God of Israel. {4:2} And so, drawing near to Zerubbabel and to the leaders of the fathers, they said to them: “Let us build with you, for we seek your God just as you do. Behold, we have immolated victims to him from the days of Esarhaddon, king of Assyria, who brought us here.” {4:3} And Zerubbabel, and Jeshua, and the rest of the leaders of the fathers of Israel said to them: “It is not for you to build the house of our God with us. Instead, we alone shall build to the Lord our God, just as Cyrus, the king of the Persians, has commanded us.” {4:4} Therefore, it happened that the people of the land impeded the hands of the people of Judah, and they troubled them in building. {4:5} Then they hired counselors against them, so that they might argue against their plan during all the days of Cyrus, king of Persia, even until the reign of Darius, king of the Persians. {4:6} And so, during the reign of Ahasuerus, at the beginning of his reign, they wrote an accusation against the inhabitants of Judah and of Jerusalem. {4:7} And so, in the days of Artaxerxes, Bishlam, Mithredath, and Tabeel, and the others who were in their council wrote to Artaxerxes, king of the Persians. Now the letter of accusation was written in Syriac, and was being read in the Syrian language. {4:8} Rehum, the commander, and Shimshai, the scribe, wrote one letter from Jerusalem to king Artaxerxes, in this manner: {4:9} “Rehum, the commander, and Shimshai, the scribe, and the rest of their counselors, the judges, and rulers, the officials, those from Persia, from Erech, from Babylonia, from Susa, the Dehavites, and the Elamites, {4:10} and the rest of the nations, whom the great and glorious Osnappar transferred and caused to live in the cities of Samaria and in the rest of the regions across the river in peace: {4:11} to king Artaxerxes. (This is a copy of the letter, which they sent to him.) Your servants, the men who are across the river, send a greeting. {4:12} Let it be known to the king, that the Jews, who ascended from you to us, have arrived in Jerusalem, a rebellious and most wicked city, which they are building, constructing its ramparts and repairing the walls. {4:13} And now let be it known to the king, that if this city will have been built up, and its walls repaired, they will not pay tribute, nor tax, nor yearly revenues, and this loss will affect even the kings. {4:14} But, remembering the salt that we have eaten in the palace, and because we are led to believe that it a crime to see the king harmed, we have therefore sent and reported to the king, {4:15} so that you may search in the books of the histories of your fathers, and you may find written in the records, and you may know that this city is a rebellious city, and that it is harmful to the kings and the provinces, and that wars were incited within it from the days of antiquity. For which reason also, the city itself was destroyed. {4:16} We report to the king that if this city will have been built, and its walls repaired, you will have no possession across the river.” {4:17} The king sent word to Rehum, the commander, and to Shimshai, the scribe, and to the rest who were in their council, to the inhabitants of Samaria, and to the others across the river, offering a greeting and peace. {4:18} “The accusation, which you have sent to us, has been read aloud before me. {4:19} And it was commanded by me, and they searched and found that this city, from the days of antiquity, has rebelled against the kings, and that seditions and battles have been incited within it. {4:20} Then too, there have been very strong kings in Jerusalem, who also ruled over the entire region which is across the river. They have also taken tribute, and tax, and revenues. {4:21} Now therefore, hear the sentence: Prohibit those men, so that this city may be not built, until perhaps there may be further orders from me. {4:22} See to it that you are not negligent in fulfilling this, otherwise, little by little, the evil may increase against the kings.” {4:23} And so a copy of the edict of king Artaxerxes was read before Rehum, the commander, and Shimshai, the scribe, and their counselors. And they went away hurriedly to Jerusalem, to the Jews. And they prohibited them by force and by strength. {4:24} Then the work of the house of the Lord in Jerusalem was interrupted, and it did not resume until the second year of the reign of Darius, the king of the Persians.

[Ezra 5] {5:1} Now Haggai, the prophet, and Zechariah, the son of Iddo, prophesying to the Jews who were in Judea and Jerusalem, prophesied in the name of the God of Israel. {5:2} Then Zerubbabel, the son of Shealtiel, and Jeshua, the son of Jozadak, rose up and began to build the temple of God in Jerusalem. And the prophets of God were with them, assisting them. {5:3} Then, at the same time, Tattenai, who was the governor beyond the river, and Shetharbozenai, and their counselors came to them. And they spoke in this way to them: “Who has given you counsel, so that you would build this house and repair its walls?” {5:4} We responded to this by giving them the names of the men who were the founders of that building. {5:5} But the eye of their God was set over the elders of the Jews, and so they were unable to hinder them. And it was agreed that the matter should be referred to Darius, and then they would give a reply against that accusation. {5:6} A copy of the letter that Tattenai, the governor of the region beyond the river, and Shetharbozenai, and his counselors, the rulers who were beyond the river, sent to Darius the king. {5:7} The word that they sent him was written in this way: "To Darius, the king of all peace. {5:8} Let it be known to the king, that we went to the province of Judea, to the house of the great God, which they are building with rough stones, and with timber set into the walls. And this work is being built up diligently, and it increases by their hands. {5:9} Therefore, we questioned those elders, and we spoke to them in this way: 'Who has given authority to you, so that you would build this house and repair these walls?' {5:10} But we also required of them their names, so that we might report to you. And we have written down the names of their men, those who are leaders among them. {5:11} Then they responded a word to us in this manner, saying: 'We are the servants of the God of heaven and earth. And we are building the temple that was constructed these many years before, and which a great king of Israel had built and constructed. {5:12} But afterward, our fathers had provoked the God of heaven to wrath, so he delivered them into the hands of Nebuchadnezzar, the king of Babylon, the Chaldean. And he destroyed this house, and he transferred its people to Babylon. {5:13} Then, in the first year of Cyrus, the king of Babylon, king Cyrus issued a decree, so that this house of God would be built. {5:14} And now the vessels of gold and silver from the temple of God, which Nebuchadnezzar had taken from the temple that was in Jerusalem, and which he had carried away to the temple of Babylon, king Cyrus brought out of the temple of Babylon, and they were given to one called Sheshbazzar, whom he also appointed as governor. {5:15} And he said to him: “Take these vessels, and go, and set them in the temple that is in Jerusalem. And let the house of God be built in its place.” {5:16} And so this same Sheshbazzar then came and set the foundations of the temple of God in Jerusalem. And from that time, even until now, it is being built, and it is not yet completed.’ {5:17} Now then, if it seems good to the king, let him search in the king’s library, which is in Babylon, to see whether it was ordered by king Cyrus, that the house of God in Jerusalem should be built. And may the will of the king be sent to us about this matter."

[Ezra 6] {6:1} Then king Darius instructed, and they searched in the library of books that were deposited in Babylon. {6:2} And there was found at Ecbatana, which is a fortified place in the province of Media, one volume, and this record was written in it: {6:3} "In the first year of king Cyrus, Cyrus the king decreed that the house of God, which is in Jerusalem, shall be built in the place where they immolate victims, and that they should set the foundations so as to support a height of sixty cubits and a width of sixty cubits, {6:4} with three rows of rough stones, and so as to have rows of new timber, and that the expenses shall be given from the house of the king. {6:5} But also, let the gold and silver vessels of the temple of God, which Nebuchadnezzar took from the temple of Jerusalem, and which he carried away to Babylon, be restored and be carried back to the temple of Jerusalem, to their place, just as they had been placed in the temple of God. {6:6} Now therefore, let Tattenai, the governor of the region which is beyond the river, Shetharbozenai, and your counselors, the rulers who are beyond the river, withdraw far away from them, {6:7} and let this temple of God be released to the governor of the Jews and to their elders, so that they may build that house of God in its place. {6:8} Moreover, it has been instructed by me as to what ought to be done by those priests of the Jews, so that the house of God may be built, specifically, that from the king’s treasury, that is, from the tribute which is taken from the region beyond the river, the expenses shall be scrupulously given to those men, so that the work may not be impeded. {6:9} But if it may be necessary, let also calves, and lambs, and young goats for holocausts to the God of heaven, with grain, salt, wine, and oil, according to the rite of the priests who are in Jerusalem, be given to them for each day, so that there may be no complaint in anything. {6:10} And let them offer oblations to the God of heaven, and let them pray for the life of the king and for the lives of his sons. {6:11} Therefore, the decree has been set forth by me, so that, if there be any man who will change this order, a beam shall be taken from his own house, and it shall be set up, and he shall be nailed to it. Then his house shall be confiscated. {6:12} So then, may the God who has caused his name to live there destroy any kingdoms or people who would extend their hand to fight against or to destroy that house of God, which is in Jerusalem. I, Darius, have established the decree, which I wish to be fulfilled scrupulously." {6:13} Therefore, Tattenai, the governor of the region beyond the river, and Shetharbozenai, and his counselors, in accord with what king Darius had instructed, diligently executed the same. {6:14} Then the elders of the Jews were building and prospering, in accord with the prophecy of Haggai, the prophet, and Zechariah, the son of Iddo. And they built and constructed by the order of the God of Israel, and by the order of Cyrus and Darius, as well as Artaxerxes, the kings of the Persians. {6:15} And they completed this house of God on the third day of the month of Adar, which was in the sixth year of the reign of king Darius. {6:16} Then the sons of Israel, the priests, and the Levites, and the remainder of the sons of the transmigration celebrated the dedication of the house of God with gladness. {6:17} And they offered, for the dedication of the house of God, one hundred calves, two hundred rams, four hundred lambs, and, as a sin offering for all of Israel, twelve he-goats from among the goats, according to the number of the tribes of Israel. {6:18} And they appointed the priests into their divisions, and the Levites into their turns, over the works of God in Jerusalem, just as it was written in the book of Moses. {6:19} Then the sons of Israel of the transmigration kept the Passover, on the fourteenth day of the first month. {6:20} For the priests and Levites had been purified as one. All were cleansed in order to immolate the Passover for all the sons of the transmigration, and for their brothers, the priests, and for themselves. {6:21} And the sons of Israel, who had been returned from the transmigration, and all those who had separated themselves from the defilement of the Gentiles of the earth to them, so that they might seek the Lord, the God of Israel, ate {6:22} and kept the solemnity of unleavened bread for seven days with joy. For the Lord had made them joyful, and he had converted the heart of the king of Assur to them, so that he would assist their hands in the work of the house of the Lord, the God of Israel.

[Ezra 7] {7:1} Now after these things, during the reign of Artaxerxes, the king of the Persians, Ezra, the son of Seraiah, the son of Azariah, the son of Hilkiah, {7:2} the son of Shallum, the son of Zadok, the son of Ahitub, {7:3} the son of Amariah, the son of Azariah, the son of Merioth, {7:4} the son of Zeriahiah, the son of Uzzi, the son of Bukki, {7:5} the son of Abishua, the son of Phinehas, the son of Eleazar, the son of Aaron, priest from the beginning, {7:6} this same Ezra, ascended from Babylon; and he was a proficient scribe in the law of Moses, which the Lord God gave to Israel. And the king granted to him his every petition. For the hand of the Lord, his God, was over him. {7:7} And some from the sons of Israel, and from the sons of the priests, and from the sons of the Levites, and from the singing men, and from the gatekeepers, and from the temple servants ascended to Jerusalem, in the seventh year of king Artaxerxes. {7:8} And they arrived at Jerusalem in the fifth month, in the same seventh year of the king. {7:9} For on the first day of the first month, he began to ascend from Babylon, and on the first day of the fifth month, he arrived at Jerusalem. For the good hand of his God was over him. {7:10} For Ezra prepared his heart, so that he might search the law of the Lord, and so that he might keep and teach precept and judgment in Israel. {7:11} Now this is a copy of the letter of the edict, which king Artaxerxes gave to Ezra, the priest, a scribe well-taught in the words and precepts of the Lord and in his ceremonies in Israel: {7:12} “Artaxerxes, king of kings, to Ezra, the priest, a very learned scribe of the law of the God of heaven: a greeting. {7:13} It has been decreed by me, that whosoever wishes, among the people of Israel and their priests and Levites within my kingdom, to go to Jerusalem, may go with you. {7:14} For you have been sent from the face of the king and his seven counselors, so that you may visit Judea and Jerusalem by the law of your God, which is in your hand, {7:15} and so that you may carry the silver and gold, which the king and his counselors have freely offered to the God of Israel, whose tabernacle is in Jerusalem. {7:16} And all the silver and gold, as much as you will find in the entire province of Babylon, and which the people will wish to offer, and which some of the priests will offer freely to the house of their God, which is in Jerusalem, {7:17} accept it freely. And with this money, carefully purchase calves, rams, lambs, and their sacrifices and libations, and offer these upon the altar of the temple of your God, which is in Jerusalem. {7:18} But also, whatever it will please you and your brothers to do with the remainder of the silver and gold, do so in accord with the will of your God. {7:19} Likewise, the vessels that have been given to you for the ministry of the house of your God, deliver these to the sight of God in Jerusalem. {7:20} Then, whatever more will be needed for the house of your God, as much as is necessary for you to spend, it shall be given from the treasury, and from the king’s finances, {7:21} and by me. I, king Artaxerxes, have appointed and decreed to all the keepers of the public treasury, those who are beyond the river, that whatever Ezra, the priest, a scribe of the law of the God of heaven, shall ask of you, you shall provide it without delay, {7:22} even up to one hundred talents of silver, and up to one hundred corys of within the place of Casiphia. And I placed in their mouth the words that they should speak to Iddo and his brothers, the temple servants, in the place of Casiphia, so that they would lead us ministers for the house of our God. {8:18} And because the good hand of our God was over us, they led us to a very learned man from the sons of Mahli, the son of Levi, the son of Israel, with Sherebiah, and his sons, and his eighteen brothers, {8:19} and Hashabiah, and with him Jeshaiah, of the sons of Merari, and his brothers, and his sons, numbering twenty. {8:20} And from the temple servants, whom David, and the leaders had provided for the ministry of the Levites, there were two hundred twenty temple servants. All these were called by their names. {8:21} And I proclaimed a fast in that place, beside the river Ahava, so that we might afflict ourselves in the sight of the Lord our God, and so that we might request of him the right way for us, and for our sons, and for all our substance. {8:22} For I was ashamed to petition the king for assistance and for horsemen, who would defend us from the enemy along the way. For we had said to the king: “The hand of our God is over all those who seek him in goodness. And his authority, and his strength and fury, is over all those who forsake him.” {8:23} And so we fasted and begged our God for this; and as a result, we prospered. {8:24} And I separated twelve from among the leaders of the priests: Sherebiah, and Hashabiah, and with them ten of their brothers. {8:25} And I weighed out to them the silver and the gold, and the vessels consecrated to the house of our God, which had been offered by the king, and by his counselors and his leaders, and by all those of Israel who had been found. {8:26} And I weighed out to their hands six hundred fifty talents of silver, and one hundred vessels of silver, and one hundred talents of gold, {8:27} and twenty gold bowls which had the weight of one thousand coins, and two vessels of the finest shining brass, as beautiful as gold. {8:28} And I said to them: “You are the holy ones of the Lord, and the vessels are holy, with the silver and the gold, which has been offered freely to the Lord, the holy ones of the Lord, and the vessels are holy, with the silver and the gold, which has been offered freely to the Lord, the God of our fathers. {8:29} Watch and guard them, until you carry these to the house of our God. {8:30} Then the priests and the Levites received the weight of the silver, and the gold, and the vessels, so that they might carry these to Jerusalem, into the house of our God. {8:31} Therefore, we set out from the river Ahava, on the twelfth day of the first month, so that we might travel to Jerusalem. And the hand of our God was over us, and he freed us from the hand of the enemy and of those who lay in ambush along the way. {8:32} And we arrived at Jerusalem, and we stayed there for three days. {8:33} Then, on the fourth day, the silver and the gold and the vessels were weighed out in the house of our God, by the hand of Meremoth, the son of Uriah, the priest; and with him was Eleazar, the son of Phinehas, and with them were the Levites, Jozabad, the son of Jeshua, and Noadiah, the son of Binnui. {8:34} This was done according to the number and weight of everything; and every weight was written down at that time. {8:35} Moreover, those who came from the captivity, the sons of the transmigration, offered holocausts to the God of Israel: twelve calves on behalf of all the people of Israel, ninety-six rams, seventy-seven lambs, and twelve he-goats for sin. All these were a holocaust to the Lord. {8:36} Then they gave the edicts of the king to the rulers who served in the sight of the king, and to the governors beyond the river, and they exalted the people and the house of God.
the God of Israel, you are just. For we have been left behind to be saved, just as it is this day. Behold, we are before your sight in our offense. And it is not possible to withstand you in this matter."

[Ezra 10] {10:1} Therefore, as Ezra was praying, and imploring, and weeping in this way, and was prostrate before the temple of God, an exceedingly great assembly of men and women and children was gathered to him from Israel. And the people wept with a great weeping. {10:2} And Shecaniah, the son of Jehiel, from the sons of Elam, responded and said to Ezra: "We have sinned against our God, and have taken foreign wives from the peoples of the land. And now, if there is repentance within Israel over this, {10:3} let us strike a pact in this matter. And Ezra was praying, and imploring, and weeping in this way, and was prostrate before the temple of God, an exceedingly great assembly of men and women and children was gathered to him from Israel. And the people wept with a great weeping. {10:4} Rise up. It is for you to discern, and we shall be with you. Be strengthened and act."

{10:5} Therefore, Ezra rose up, and he caused the leaders of the priests and the Levites, and all of Israel, to swear that they would act in accord with this word. And they swore it. {10:6} And Ezra rose up before the house of God, and he went away to the chamber of Jehohanan, the son of Eliashib, and he entered into it. He did not eat bread, and he did not drink water. For he was mourning the transgression of those who had arrived from the captivity. {10:7} And a voice was sent into Judah and Jerusalem, to all the sons of the transmigration, so that they would gather together in Jerusalem. {10:8} And all those who would not arrive within three days, in accord with the counsel of the leaders and the elders, would have all his substance taken away, and he would be cast out of the assembly of the transmigration. {10:9} And so, all the men of Judah and of Benjamin convened in Jerusalem within three days. This was in the ninth month, on the twentieth day of the month. And all the people sat in the street of the house of God, trembling because of the sin and the rain. {10:10} And Ezra, the priest, rose up, and he said to them: "You have transgressed, and you have taken foreign wives, so that you added to the offenses of Israel. {10:11} And now, make confession to the Lord, the God of your fathers, and do what pleases him, and separate yourselves from the peoples of the land, and from your foreign wives."

{10:12} And the entire multitude responded, and they said with a great voice: "In accord with your word to us, so let it be done. {10:13} Yet truly, since the people are many, and it is the time of rain, and we cannot endure standing outside, and this is not a task for one or two days, (for certainly we have sinned greatly in this matter,) {10:14} let leaders be appointed among the entire multitude. And in all our cities, let those who have taken foreign wives arrive at appointed times, and with them the elders from city to city, and the judges, until the wrath of our God has been averted from us over this sin."

The Book of Nehemiah

[Nehemiah 1] {1:1} The words of Nehemiah, the son of Hacaliah. And it happened that, in the month of Chislev, in the twentieth year, I was in the capital city of Susa. {1:2} And Hanani, one of my brothers, arrived, he and some men of Judah. And I questioned them about the Jews who had remained and were left behind from the captivity, and about Jerusalem. {1:3} And they said to me: "Those who have remained and have been left behind from the captivity, there in the province, are in great affliction and in disgrace. And the wall of Jerusalem has been broken apart, and its gates have been burned with fire."

{1:4} And when I had heard this manner of words, I sat down, and I wept and mourned for many days. I fasted and prayed before the face of the God of heaven. {1:5} And I said: "I beg you, O Lord, God of heaven, strong, great, and terrible, who keeps covenant and mercy with those who love you and who keep..." your commandments: {1:6} may your ears be attentive, and may your eyes be open, so that you may hear the prayer of your servant, which I am praying before you today, night and day, for the sons of Israel, your servants. And I am confessing the sins of the sons of Israel, which they have sinned against you. We have sinned, I and my father’s house. {1:7} We have been seduced by vanity. And we have not kept your commandments and ceremonies and judgments, which you have instructed to your servant Moses. {1:8} Remember the word which you commanded to your servant Moses, saying: ‘When you will have transgressed, I will dispense you among the nations. {1:9} But if you will return to me, and keep my precepts, and do them, even if you will have been led away to the furthest reaches of the heavens, I will gather you from there, and I will lead you back to the place that I have chosen so that my name would dwell there.’ {1:10} And these same are your servants and your people, whom you have redeemed by your great strength and by your powerful hand. {1:11} I beg you, O Lord, may your ear be attentive to the prayer of your servant, and to the prayer of your servants who are willing to fear your name. And so, guide your servant today, and grant to him mercy before this man.” For I was the cupbearer of the king.

[Nehemiah 2] {2:1} Now it happened that, in the month of Nisan, in the twentieth year of king Artaxerxes, wine was before him; and I lifted up the wine, and I gave it to the king. And I was like someone languishing before his face. {2:2} And the king said to me: “Why is your expression sad, though you do not appear to be sick? This is not without cause, but some evil, I know not what, is in your heart.” And I was struck with an exceedingly great fear. {2:3} And I said to the king: “O king, live forever. Why should my expression not be mournful, since the city of the house of the sepulchers of my father is desolate, and its gates have been burned with fire?” {2:4} And the king said to me: “What would you request?” And I prayed to the God of heaven. {2:5} And I said to the king: “If it seems good to the king, and if your servant is pleasing before your face: that you would send me into Judea, to the city of the sepulchers of my father. And I will rebuild it.” {2:6} And the king said to me, with the queen who was sitting beside him: “Until what time will your journey be, and when will you return?” And it was pleasing before the countenance of the king, and so he sent me. And I established a time for him. {2:7} And I said to the king: “If it seems good to the king, may he give me letters to the governors of the region beyond the river, so that they may lead me through, until I arrive in Judea, {2:8} and a letter to Asaph, the keeper of the king’s forest, so that he may give me timber, in order that I may be able to cover the gates of the tower of the house, and the walls of the city, and the house that I will enter.” And the king granted to me in accord with the good hand of my God, who is with me. {2:9} And I went to the governors of the region beyond the river, and I gave them the letters of the king. Now the king had sent with me military leaders and horsemen. {2:10} And Sanballat, a Horonite, and the servant Tobiah, an Ammonite, heard this. And they were saddened, with a great affliction, that a man had arrived who was seeking the prosperity of the sons of Israel. {2:11} And I arrived at Jerusalem, and I was there for three days. {2:12} And I got up in the night, I and a few men with me. And I did not reveal to anyone what God had placed in my heart to do in Jerusalem. And there was no animal with me, except the animal on which I was sitting. {2:13} And I departed in the night through the gate of the valley, and before the fountain of the dragon, and toward the dung gate. And I considered the wall of Jerusalem, which was broken apart, and its gates, which had been consumed by fire. {2:14} And I continued on to the gate of the fountain, and to the aqueduct of the king. And there was no room for the beast on which I was sitting to pass through. {2:15} And so I climbed up in the night along the torrent, and I considered the wall. And turning back, I went by the gate of the valley, and I returned. {2:16} Now the magistrates did not know where I had gone, or what I had done. For I had revealed nothing, even to that point in time, to the Jews, or to the priests, or to the nobles, or to the magistrates, or to the others who were doing the work. {2:17} And so I said to them: “You know the affliction in which we are, because Jerusalem is desolate, and its gates have been consumed by fire. Come, and let us rebuild the walls of Jerusalem, and let us no longer be in disgrace.” {2:18} And I revealed to them how the hand of my God was with me for good, and the words of the king, which he had spoken to me. And I said: “Let us rise up, and build.” And their hands were strengthened for good. {2:19} But Sanballat, a Horonite, and the servant Tobiah, an Ammonite, and Geshem, an Arab, heard of it. And they ridiculed and disparaged us, and they said: “What is this thing that you are doing? Could you be rebelling against the king?” {2:20} And I replied to them a word, and I said to them: “The God of heaven himself is helping us, and we are his servants. Let us rise up and build. But there is no portion, or justice, or remembrance in Jerusalem for you.”

[Nehemiah 3] {3:1} And Eliashib, the great priest, rose up, with his brothers, the priests, and they built the gate of the flock. They sanctified it, and they set up its double doors, and as far as the tower of one hundred cubits, they sanctified it, even to the tower of Hananel. {3:2} And beside him, the men of Jericho built. And beside them, Zaccur, the son of Imri, built. {3:3} But the sons of Hassenaah built the fish gate. They covered it, and they set up its double doors and locks and bars. And beside them, Meremoth, the son of Uriah, the son of Hakkoz, built. {3:4} And beside him, Meshullam, the son of Berechiah, the son of Meshezabel, built. And beside them, Zadok, the son of Baana, built. {3:5} And beside them, the Tekoites built. But the nobles among them did not put their necks to the work of their Lord. {3:6} And Joiada, the son of Paseah, and Meshullam, the son of Besodeiah, built the old gate. They covered it, and they set up its double doors and locks and bars. {3:7} And beside them, Melatiah, a Gibeonite, and Jadon, a Meronothite, men from Gibeon and Mizpah, built, on behalf of the governor who was in the region across the river. {3:8} And beside him, Uzziel, the son of Harhaiah the goldsmith, built. And beside him, Hananiah, the son of the perfumer, built. And they left aside Jerusalem as far as the wall of the broad street. {3:9} And beside him, Rephaiah, the son of Hur, leader of a street of Jerusalem, built. {3:10} And beside him, Jedajah, the son of Harumaph, built, opposite his own house. And beside him, Hattush, the son of Hashabneiah, built. {3:11} Malchijah, the son of Harim, and Hasshub, the son of Pahath-moab, built one half part of the street and the tower of the furnaces. {3:12} And
And having been moved exceedingly, he ridiculed the Jews.

And he said, before his brothers and a crowd of the Samaritans: “What are the foolish Jews doing? Can it be that the Gentiles will allow them? Will they sacrifice and finish in one day? Do they have the ability to make stones out of piles of dust that have been burned up?”

Then too, Tobiah, an Ammonite, his assistant, said: “Let them build. When the fox climbs, he will leap over their stone wall.”

Listen, O our God, for we have become an object of contempt. Turn their reproach upon their own head, and grant that they may be despised in a land of captivity.

May you not conceal their iniquity, and may their sin not be wiped away, before your face, for they have ridiculed those who are building.

And so we built the wall, and we joined it together, even to the unfinished portion. And the heart of the people was stirred up for the work.

Now it happened that, when Sanballat, and Tobiah, and the Arabs, and the Ammonites, and the Ashdodites had heard that the walls of Jerusalem had been closed, and that the breaches had begun to be repaired, they were exceedingly angry.

And they all gathered together, so that they might go forth and fight against Jerusalem, and so that they might prepare ambushes.

And we prayed to our God, and we stationed guards upon the wall, day and night, against them.

Then Judah said: “The strength of those who carry has diminished, and the amount of material is very great, and so we will not be able to build the wall.”

And our enemies said: “Let them neither know, nor realize, until we arrive in their midst, and kill them, and cause the work to cease.”

Now it happened that, on ten occasions, some Jews arrived who were living near them, from all the places from which they came to us, and they told us this.

So I stationed the people in order, in places behind the wall, all around it, with their swords, and lances, and bows.

And I gazed around, and I rose up. And I said to the nobles, and to the magistrates, and to the rest of the common people: “Do not be afraid before their face. Remember the great and terrible Lord, and fight on behalf of your brothers, your sons and your daughters, and your wives and your households.”

Then it happened that, when our enemies had heard that it had been reported to us, God defeated their counsel. And we all returned to the walls, each one to his own work.

And it happened that, from that day, half of their young men were doing the work, and half were prepared for war with lances, and shields, and bows, and armor. And the leaders were behind them in all the house of Judah.

As for those building the wall, and carrying the burdens, and setting things in place: one of his hands was doing the work, and the other was holding a sword.

For each one of the builders was girded with a sword at the waist. And they were building, and they were sounding a trumpet beside me.

And I said to the nobles, and to the magistrates, and to the rest of the common people: “The work is great and wide, and we are separated on the wall far from one another.

At whatever place you hear the sound of the trumpet, rush to that place for us. Our God will fight on our behalf.”

And let one half part of us hold spears, from the ascent of dawn until the stars come out.”

Also at that time, I said to the people: “Let each one with his servant remain in the midst of Jerusalem. And let us take turns, throughout the night and day, in doing the work.”

But I and my brothers, and my servants, and the guards who were behind me, we did not take off our clothes; each one only removed his clothes to wash.

[Nehemiah 5] 5:1 And there occurred a great outcry of the people and their wives against their brothers, the Jews. 5:2 And there were those who were saying: “Our sons and our daughters are very many. Let us receive grain as a price for them, and then we may eat and live.” 5:3 And there were those who were saying: “Let us offer up our fields and vineyards, and our houses, and then we may receive grain during the famine.” 5:4 And others were saying: “Let us borrow money for the tribute of the king, and let us surrender our fields and vineyards.” 5:5 “And now, as is the flesh of our brothers, so is our flesh; and as are their sons, so also are our sons. Behold, we have subjugated our sons and our daughters into servitude, and some of our daughters are slaves, nor do we have the ability to redeem them, for others possess our fields and our vineyards.” 5:6 And when I had heard their outcry in these words, I was exceedingly angry. 5:7 And my heart considered within me. And I rebuked the nobles and the magistrates, and I said to them, “Have you each been exacting usury from your brothers?” And I gathered together a great assembly against them. 5:8 And I said to them: “As you know, in accord with what was possible for us, we have redeemed our brothers, the Jews, who had been sold to the Gentiles. And yet you now sell your brothers, and we must redeem them?” And they were silent, nor did they find anything to answer. 5:9 And I said to them: “The thing that you are doing is not good. Why are you not walking in the fear of our God, so that there may be no reproach against us from our enemies, the Gentiles? 5:10 Both I and my brothers, with my servants, have lent money and grain to many. Let us agree not to ask for its return. Let us forgive the other money that is owed to us. 5:11 On this day, restore their fields, and their vineyards, and their olive groves, and their houses to them. Then, too, the hundredth part of the money, and of the grain, wine, and oil, which you usually exact from them, give it to them.” 5:12 And they said: “We will restore it, and we will require nothing from them. And we will do just as you say.” And I called the priests, and I had them swear an oath, so that they would act in accord with what I had said. 5:13 Moreover, I shook out my lap, and I said: “So may God shake out every man, who does not fulfill this word. From his house and from his labors, so may he be shaken out and become empty.” And the entire multitude said, “Amen.” And they praised God. Therefore, the people acted in accord with what was said. 5:14 Now from that day, on which the king had ordered me to be governor in the land of Judah, from the twentieth year even to the thirty-second year of king Artaxerxes, for twelve years, I and my brothers did not eat the yearly allowance that was owed to the governors. 5:15 But the former governors, the ones who had been before me, were a burden to the people, and they took from them bread and wine, and forty shekels of money each day. And their officials also oppressed the people. But I did not do so, out of fear of God. 5:16 In fact, I preferred to build in the work of the wall, and I bought no land, and all my servants were gathered to do the work. 5:17 Likewise, the Jews and the magistrates, one hundred and fifty men, were at my table, with those who came to us from among the Gentiles that are around us. 5:18 Now there was prepared for me, on each day, one ox and six choice rams, along with poultry. And once every ten days, I distributed diverse wines and many other things. Yet I did not require my yearly allowance as governor. For the people were greatly impoverished. 5:19 Remember me, O my God, for good, in accord with all that I have done for this people.

[Nehemiah 6] 6:1 Now it happened that, when Sanballat, and Tobiah, and Geshem, an Arab, and our other enemies, had heard that I had built the wall, and that there was no interruption remaining in it, (even though, at that time, I had not set up the double doors at the gates,) 6:2 Sanballat and Geshem sent to me, saying: “Come, and let us strike a pact together in the villages, on the plain of Ono.” But they were thinking that they would do me harm. 6:3 Therefore, I sent messengers to them, saying: “I am doing a great work, and I cannot descend, lest perhaps it may be neglected when I go out and descend to you.” 6:4 Then they sent to me, with this same word, four times. And I responded to them with the same word as before. 6:5 And Sanballat sent his servant to me a fifth time, with the former word, and he had a letter in his hand written in this manner: 6:6 “It has been heard among the Gentiles, and Geshem has said it, that you and the Jews are planning to rebel, and because of this, you are building the wall and thinking to raise yourself as a king over them. For this reason, 6:7 you also have stationed prophets, who preach about you in Jerusalem, saying: ‘There is a king in Judea!’ But the king will hear about these words. Therefore, come now, so that we may go to counsel together.” 6:8 And I sent to them, saying: “There has been nothing done according to these words, which you have spoken. For you are inventing these things from your own heart.” 6:9 For all these men wished to frighten us, thinking that our hands would cease from the work, and that we would cease. For this reason, I strengthened my hands all the more. 6:10 And I entered into the house of Shemaiah, the son of Delaiah, the son of Mehetabel, in secret. And he said: “Let us consult together in the house of God, in the midst of the temple. And let us close the doors of the temple. For they will come to kill you, and they will arrive in the night to put you to death.” 6:11 And I said: “How could anyone like me flee? And who like me should enter the temple, so that he may live? I will not enter.” 6:12 And I understood that God had not sent him, but he had spoken to me as if he were prophesying, and that Tobiah and Sanballat had hired him. 6:13 For he had accepted money, so that I would be afraid, and would sin, and so that they would have some evil with which to rebuke me. 6:14 Remember me, O Lord, because of Tobiah and Sanballat, because of their works of this kind. Then, too, Noadiah, a prophetess, and the rest of the prophets, would have made me afraid. 6:15 Now the wall was completed on the twenty-fifth day of the month of Elul, in fifty-two days. 6:16 Then it happened that, when all our enemies had heard of it, all the nations that were around us were afraid, and they were downcast within themselves. For they knew that this work had been accomplished by God. 6:17 But also, in those days, many letters were being sent by the nobles of the Jews to Tobiah, and were arriving from Tobiah to them. 6:18 For there were many in Judea who had sworn an oath to him, because he was the son-in-law of Shecaniah, the son of Arach, and because Jehohanan, his son, had married the daughter of Meshullam, the son of Berechiah.
Moreover, they reported to him, and they made me afraid. And Tobiah sent letters, so that he might make me afraid.

[Nehemiah 7] 7:1 Then, after the wall was built, and I set up the double doors, and I enrolled the gatekeepers, and the singing men, and the Levites. 7:2 I instructed Hanani, my brother, and Hananiah, the leader of the house of Jerusalem, (for he seemed to be a truthful man, fearing God more than the others.) 7:3 and I said to them: “Let not the gates of Jerusalem be opened until the sun is hot.” And while they were standing there, the gates were closed and barred. And I stationed guards from the inhabitants of Jerusalem, each one in his turn, and each one opposite his own house. 7:4 Now the city was great and very wide, and the people in its midst were few, and the houses were not yet built. 7:5 But God had given to my heart, and I gathered the nobles, and the magistrates, and the common people, so that I might enroll them. And I found a book of the census of those who first went up, and in it there was found written: 7:6 These are the sons of the province, who ascended from the captivity of Babylon, had taken away, and who returned into Jerusalem and Judea, each one to his own city. 7:7 They arrived with Zerubbabel, Jeshua, Nehemiah, Azariah, Raamiah, Nahamani, Mordecai, Bilshan, Mispar, Bigvai, Nehum, Baanah. The number of the men of the people of Israel:

7:8 The sons of Parosh, two thousand one hundred seventy-two. 7:9 The sons of Shephatiah, three hundred seventy-two. 7:10 The sons of Arah, six hundred fifty-two. 7:11 The sons of Pahath-moab of the sons of Jeshua and of Joab, two thousand eight hundred eighteen. 7:12 The sons of Elam, one thousand two hundred fifty-four. 7:13 The sons of Zattu, eight hundred forty-five. 7:14 The sons of Zaccai, seven hundred sixty. 7:15 The sons of Binnui, six hundred forty-eight. 7:16 The sons of Bebai, six hundred twenty-eight. 7:17 The sons of Azgad, two thousand three hundred twenty-two. 7:18 The sons of Adonikam, six hundred sixty-seven. 7:19 The sons of Bigvai, two thousand sixty-seven. 7:20 The sons of Adin, six hundred fifty-five. 7:21 The sons of Ater, sons of Hezekiah, ninety-eight. 7:22 The sons of Hashum, three hundred twenty-eight. 7:23 The sons of Bebai, three hundred twenty-four. 7:24 The sons of Hariph, one hundred twelve. 7:25 The sons of Gibeon, ninety-five. 7:26 The sons of Seraiah, one thousand eight hundred sixty. 7:27 The sons of Jehonadab of the sons of Jeshua the son of Zadok, seven hundred forty-eight. 7:28 The men of Beth-shemesh, five hundred twenty. 7:29 The men of Kirjath-jearim, Chephirah, and Beeroth, seven hundred forty-three. 7:30 The men of Ramah and Geba, six hundred twenty-one. 7:31 The men of Michmas, one thousand two hundred. 7:32 The men of Bethel and Ai, one hundred twenty-three. 7:33 The men of the other Nebo, fifty-two. 7:34 The men of the other Elam, one thousand two hundred fifty-four. 7:35 The sons of Harim, three hundred twenty. 7:36 The sons of Jericho, three hundred forty-five. 7:37 The sons of Lod, Hadid, and Ono, seven hundred twenty-one. 7:38 The sons of Senaah, three thousand nine hundred thirty. 7:39 The priests: the sons of Jediah in the house of Jeshua, nine hundred seventy-three. 7:40 The sons of Immer, one thousand fifty-two. 7:41 The sons of Pashur, one thousand two hundred forty-seven. 7:42 The sons of Harim, one thousand three hundred. 7:43 The Levites: the sons of Jeshua and Kadmiel, the sons of the sons of Asaph, seventy-four. The singing men: 7:45 The sons of Asaph, one hundred forty-eight. 7:46 The gatekeepers: the sons of Shallum, the sons of Ater, the sons of Talmon, the sons of Akkub, the sons of Hatita, the sons of Shobai, one hundred thirty-eight. 7:47 The temple servants: the sons of Ziha, the sons of Hasupha, the sons of Tabbaoth, 7:48 the sons of Keros, the sons of Siaha, the sons of Padon, the sons of Lebanah, the sons of Hagahab, the sons of Shalmai, 7:49 the sons of Hanan, the sons of Giddel, the sons of Gahar, 7:50 the sons of Reaiah, the sons of Rezin, the sons of Nekoda, 7:51 the sons of Gazzam, the sons of Uzza, the sons of Paseah, 7:52 the sons of Besai, the sons of Meunim, the sons of Nephusim, 7:53 the sons of Bakbuk, the sons of Hakupha, the sons of Harur, 7:54 the sons of Bazluth, the sons of Mehida, the sons of Harsha, 7:55 the sons of Barkos, the sons of Sisera, the sons of Temah, 7:56 the sons of Neziah, the sons of Hatipa. 7:57 The sons of the servants of Solomon: the sons of Sotai, the sons of Sophereth, the sons of Perida, 7:58 the sons of Jaalah, the sons of Darkon, the sons of Giddel, 7:59 the sons of Shephathiah, the sons of Hattil, the sons of Pochereth, who was born from Hazzebaim, the son of Amon. 7:60 All the temple servants and the sons of the servants of Solomon, three hundred ninety-two. 7:61 Now these are the ones who ascended from Telmelah, Telharsha, Cherub, Addon, and Immer; and they were not able to indicate the house of their fathers and their offspring, whether they were of Israel: 7:62 the sons of Delaiah, the sons of Tobiah, the sons of Nekoda, six hundred forty-two; 7:63 and among the priests: the sons of Hobai, the sons of Hakkoz, the sons of Barzillai, who took a wife from the daughters of Barzillai, a Gileadite, and he was called by their name. 7:64 These sought their writing in the census, and they did not find it, and so they were cast out of the priesthood. 7:65 And the cupbearer said to them that they should not eat from the Holy of Holies, until a priest had been designated for them.

[8:1] And the seventh month had arrived. Now the sons of Israel were in their cities. And all the people were gathered together, like one man, in the street which is before the water gate. And they spoke to Ezra the scribe, so that he would bring the book of the law of Moses, which the Lord had instructed to Israel. 8:2 Therefore, Ezra the priest brought the law before the multitude of men and women, and all those who were able to understand, on the first day of the seventh month. 8:3 And he read it openly in the street which was before the water gate, from morning even until midday, in the sight of the men and women, and those who understood. And the ears of all the people were attentive to the book. 8:4 Then Ezra the scribe stood upon a step of wood, which he had made for speaking. And standing beside him were Mattithiah, and Shemaiah, and Anaiah, and Uriah, and Hilkiah, and Maaseiah, on his right. And on the left were Pedaiah, Mishael, and Malchijah, and Hashum, and Hashbaddanah, Zechariah, and Meshullam. 8:5 And Ezra opened the book before all the people. For he stood out above all the people. And when he had opened it, all the people stood up. 8:6 And Ezra blessed the Lord, the great God. And all the people responded, “Amen, Amen,” lifting up their hands. And they bowed down, and they adored God, facing the ground. 8:7 Then Jeshua, and Bani, and Sherebiah, Jamin, Akkub, Shabbethai, Hodiah, Maaseiah, Kelita, Azariah, Jozabad, Hanan, Pelaiah, the Levites, caused the people to be silent in order to hear the law. And the people were standing on their feet. 8:8 And they read from the book of the law of God, distinctly and plainly, so as to be understood. And when it was read, they did understand. 8:9 Then Nehemiah (the same is the cupbearer) and Ezra, the priest and scribe, and the Levites, who were interpreting for all the people, said: “This day has been sanctified to the Lord our God. Do not mourn, and do not weep.” For all the people were weeping, as they were listening to the words of the law. 8:10 And he said to them: “Go, eat fat foods, and drink sweet drinks, and send portions to those who have not prepared for themselves. For it is the holy day of the Lord. And do not be sad. For the joy of the Lord is also our strength.” 8:11 Then the Levites caused the people to be silent, saying: “Be quiet. For the day is holy. And do not be sorrowful.” 8:12 And so all the people went forth, so that they might eat and drink, and so that they might send portions, and so that they might make a great rejoicing. For they understood the words that he had taught to them. 8:13 And on the second day, the leaders of the families of all the people, the priests, and the Levites were gathered together to Ezra the scribe, so that he might interpret for them the words of the law. 8:14 And they found written in the law, which the Lord had instructed by the hand of Moses, that the sons of Israel should live in tabernacles on the day of solemnity in the seventh month, 8:15 and that they should proclaim and send out a voice in all their cities and in Jerusalem, saying: “Go forth to the mount, and bring olive branches, and the branches of beautiful trees, myrtle branches, and palm branches, and the branches of thick trees,” so that they might make tabernacles, just as it was written. 8:16 And the people went forth and brought. And they made for themselves tabernacles, each one at his own dwelling, and in their courts, and in the courts of the house of God, and in the street of the water gate, and in the street of the gate of Ephraim. 8:17 Therefore, the entire assembly of those who had returned from the captivity made tabernacles and lived in tabernacles. For from the days of Jeshua, the son of Nun, even to that day, the sons of Israel had not done so. And there was exceedingly great rejoicing. 8:18 Now he read in the book of the law of God, throughout each day, from the first day even to the very last day. And they kept the solemnity for seven days. And on the eighth day, there was a gathering according to the ritual.

[Nehemiah 9] 9:1 Then, on the twenty-fourth day of the same month, the sons of Israel came together in fasting and in sackcloth, and with soil upon them. 9:2 And the offspring of the sons of Israel were separated from all the sons of foreigners. And they stood up, and they confessed their sins and the iniquities of their fathers. 9:3 And they arose to stand. And they read in the volume of the law of the Lord their God, four times in the day, and four times they confessed. And they adored the Lord their God. 9:4 Then, upon the step of the Levites, Jeshua, and Bani, and Kadmiel, Shebaniah, Bunni, Sherebiah, Bani, and Chenani rose up. And they cried out in a great voice to the Lord their God. 9:5 And the Levites, Jeshua and Kadmiel, Bunni, Hashabneiah, Sherebiah, Hodiah, Shebaniah, and Pethahiah said: “Rise up. Bless the Lord your God, from eternity even to eternity! And blessed be the exalted name of your glory, with all blessing and praise. 9:6 You yourself alone, O Lord, made heaven, and the heaven of the heavens, and all their host, the earth and all things that are in it, the seas and all things that are in them. And you gave life to all these things. And the host of heaven adores you. 9:7 You yourself, O Lord God, are the One who chose Abram. And you led him away from the fire of the Chaldeans, and you gave him the name Abraham. 9:8 And you found his heart to be faithful before you. And you formed a covenant with him, so that you might give to him the land of the Canaanite, of the Hittite, and of the Amorite, and of the Perizzite, and of the Jebusite, and of the Girgashite, so that you might give it to his offspring. And you have fulfilled your words, for you are just. 9:9 And you saw the affliction of our fathers in Egypt. And you heard their outcry beside the Red Sea. 9:10 And you gave signs and portents to Pharaoh, and to all his servants, and to the people of his land. For you knew that they acted arrogantly against them. And you made a name for yourself, just as it is in this day. 9:11 And you divided the sea before them, and they crossed through the midst of the sea on dry land. But their pursuers you cast into the depths, like a stone into great waters. 9:12 And in the pillar of cloud, you were their leader by day, and in the pillar of fire, by night, so that they might see the way along which they might advance. 9:13 You also descended to mount Sinai, and you spoke with them from heaven. And you gave them upright judgments, and the law of truth, and ceremonies, and good precepts. 9:14 You revealed to them your sanctified Sabbath, and you instructed them in commandments, and ceremonies, and the law, by the hand of Moses, your servant. 9:15 You also gave them bread from heaven in their hunger, and you brought forth water from the rock for them in their thirst. And you said to them that they should enter and possess the land, over which you lifted up your hand so that you might give it to them. 9:16 Yet truly, they and our fathers acted arrogantly, and they hardened their necks, and they did not listen to your commandments. 9:17 And they were not willing to hear, and they did not remember, your miracles which you had accomplished for them. And they hardened their necks, and they offered their head, so that they would return to their servitude, as if in contention. But you, a forgiving God, lenient and merciful, long-suffering and full of compassion, did not abandon them. {9:18} Indeed, even when they had made for themselves a molten calf, and they had said, ‘This is your God, who led you away from Egypt!’ and had committed great blasphemies, {9:19} even so, in the multitude of your mercies, you did not send them away in the desert. The pillar of cloud did not withdraw from them by day, so that it might lead them on the way, nor the pillar of fire by night, so that it might show them the way along which they might advance. {9:20} And you gave them your good Spirit, so that he might teach them, and you did not withhold your manna from their mouth, and you gave them water in their thirst. {9:21} For forty years, you fed them in the desert, and nothing was lacking to them; their garments did not grow old, and their feet were not worn down. {9:22} And you gave them kingdoms and peoples, and you distributed to them by lot. And they possessed the land of Sihon, and the land of the king of Heshbon, and the land of Og, the king of Bashan. {9:23} And you multiplied their sons like the stars of heaven. And you led them into the land, about which you had said to their fathers that they would enter and possess it. {9:24} And the sons arrived and possessed the land. And you humbled the inhabitants of the land, the Canaanites, before them. And you delivered them into their hands, with their kings, and the people of the land, so that they might do with them just as it was pleasing to them. {9:25} And so they seized fortified cities and fat soil. And they possessed houses filled with all kinds of goods, cisterns made by others, vineyards, and olive groves, and fruit trees in abundance. And they ate and were satisfied. And they were fattened, and they abounded with delights from your great goodness. {9:26} But they provoked you to wrath, and they withdrew from you, and they cast your law behind their backs. And they killed your prophets, who contended with them so that they might return to you. And they committed great blasphemies. {9:27} And so you gave them into the hand of their enemies, and they afflicted them. And in the time of their tribulation, they cried out to you, and from heaven you heard them. And in accord with your great compassion, you gave to them saviors, who might save them from the hand of their enemies. {9:28} But after they had rested, they turned back, so that they did evil in your sight. And you abandoned them to the hand of their enemies, and they possessed them. And they converted, and they cried out to you. And from heaven you heeded them, and you freed them many times, by your mercies. {9:29} And you contended with them, so that they might return to your law. Yet truly, they acted in arrogance, and they did not listen to your commandments, and they sinned against your judgments, which, if a man does them, he shall live by them. And they withdrew from offering their shoulder, and they hardened their neck; neither would they listen. {9:30} And you continued to forbear them for many years. And you contended with them by your Spirit, through the hand of your prophets. And they did not listen, and so you delivered them into the hand of the peoples of the lands. {9:31} Yet in your very many mercies, you did not cause them to be consumed, nor did you abandon them. For you are a compassionate and lenient God. {9:32} Now therefore, our great God, strong and terrible, who keeps covenant and mercy, may you not avert your face from all the hardship that has found us, we and our kings, and our leaders, and our priests, and our prophets, and our fathers, and all the people, from the days of king Assur, even to this day. {9:33} For you are just, concerning all things that have overwhelmed us. For you have done truth, but we have acted impiously. {9:34} Our kings, our leaders, our priests, and our fathers have not done your law, and they have not been attentive to your commandments and your testimonies, to which you have testified among them. {9:35} And they have not served you, in their kingdoms and with your many good things, which you gave to them, and in the very wide and fat land, which you delivered into their sight, nor did they return from their most wicked pursuits. {9:36} Behold, we ourselves this day are servants. And the land, which you gave to our fathers so that they might eat its bread and have its good things, we ourselves are servants within it. {9:37} And its fruits are multiplied for the kings, whom you have set over us because of our sins. And they rule over our bodies, and over our cattle, according to their will. And we are in great tribulation. {9:38} Therefore, concerning all of these things, we ourselves are forming and writing a covenant, and our leaders, our Levites, and our priests are signing it.”

[Nehemiah 10] {10:1} And the signatories were: Nehemiah, the cupbearer, the son of Hacaliah, and Zedekiah, {10:2} Seraiah, Azariah, Jeremiah, {10:3} Pashhur, Amariah, Malchijah, {10:4} Hattush, Shebaniah, Mulluch, {10:5} Harim, Meremoth, Obadiah, {10:6} Daniel, Ginnethon, Baruch, {10:7} Meshullam, Abijah, Mijamin, {10:8} Maaziah, Bilgai, Shemaiah; these were the priests. {10:9} And the Levites were: Jeshua, the son of Azaniah, Binnui of the sons of Henadad, Kadmiel, {10:10} and their brothers, Shebaniah, Hodiah, Kelita, Pelaia, Hanan, {10:11} Mica, Rehob, Hashabiah, {10:12} Zaccur, Sherebiah, Shebaniah, {10:13} Hodiah, Bani, Beninu. {10:14} The heads of the people were: Parosh, Pahath-moab, Elam, Zattu, Bani, {10:15} Bunni, Azgad, Bебai, {10:16} Adonijah, Bigvai, Adin, {10:17} Ater, Hezekiah, Azzur, {10:18} Hodiah, Hashum, Bezai, {10:19} Hariph, Anathoth, Nebai, {10:20} Maggiash, Meshullam, Hazir, {10:21} Meshezabel, Zadok, Judda, {10:22} Pelatiah, Hanan, Anaiah, {10:23} Hoshea, Hananiah, Hasshub, {10:24} Hallohash, Pilha, Shobek, {10:25} Rehum, Hashabnah, Maaseiah, {10:26} Ahiah, Hanan, Anan, {10:27} Malluch, Harim, Baanah. {10:28} And the rest of the people were the priests, the Levites, the gatekeepers, and the singers, the temple servants, and all who had separated themselves, from the peoples of the lands, to the law of God, with their wives, their sons, and their daughters. {10:29} All who were able to understand, pledged on behalf of their brothers, with their nobles, and they came forward to promise and to swear that they would walk in the law of God, which he had given to the hand of Moses, the servant of God, that they would do and keep all the commandments of the Lord our God, and his judgments and his ceremonies, {10:30} and that we would not give our daughters to the people of the land, and that we would not accept their daughters for our sons, {10:31} also that, if the people of the land carry in goods for sale or any useful things, so that they might sell them on the day of the Sabbath, that we would not buy them on the Sabbath, nor on a sanctified day, and that we would release the seventh year and the collection of debt from every hand. {10:32} And we established precepts over ourselves, so that we would give one third part of a shekel each year for the work of the house of our God, {10:33} for the bread of the presence, and for the continual sacrifice, and for a continual holocaust on the Sabbaths, on the new moons, on the solemnities, and for the holy things, and for the sin offering, so that atonement would be made for Israel, and for every use within the house of our God. {10:34} Then we cast lots concerning the oblation of the wood among the priests, and the Levites, and the people, so that it would be carried into the house of our God, by the households of our fathers, at set times, from the times of one year to another, so that they might burn upon the altar of the Lord our God, just as it was written in the law of Moses, {10:35} and so that we might bring in the first-fruits of our land, and the first-fruits of all the produce from every tree, from year to year, in the house of our Lord, {10:36} and the firstborn of our sons, and of our cattle, just as it was written in the law, and the firstborn of our oxen and our sheep, so that they might be offered in the house of our God, to the priests who minister in the house of our God, {10:37} and so that we might bring in the first-fruits of our foods, and of our libations, and the fruits of every tree, also of the vintage and of the oil, to the priests, to the storehouse of our God, with the tithes of our land for the Levites. The Levites also shall receive tithes from our works out of all the cities. {10:38} Now the priest, the son of Aaron, shall be with the Levites in the tithes of the Levites, and the Levites shall offer a tenth part of their tithes in the house of God, to the storeroom in the house of the treasury. {10:39} For the sons of Israel and the sons of Levi shall carry the storehouse the first-fruits of the grain, of the wine, and of the oil. And the sanctified vessels shall be there, and the priests, and the singing men, and the gatekeepers, and the ministers. And we shall not forsake the house of our God.

[Nehemiah 11] {11:1} Now the leaders of the people lived in Jerusalem. Yet truly, the remainder of the people cast lots, so that they might choose one part in ten who were to live in Jerusalem, the holy city, and nine parts for the other cities. {11:2} Then the people blessed all the men who freely offered themselves to live in Jerusalem. {11:3} And so these are the leaders of the province, who were living in Jerusalem, and in the cities of Judah. Now each one lived in his possession, in their cities: Israel, the priests, the Levites, the temple servants, and the sons of the servants of Solomon. {11:4} And in Jerusalem, there lived some of the sons of Judah, and some of the sons of Benjamin: of the sons of Judah, Athaiah, the son of Aziam, the son of Zechariah, the son of Amariah, the son of Shephatiah, the son of Mahalalel, of the sons of Perez; {11:5} Maaseiah, the son of Baruch, the son of Colhozeah, the son of Hazaiah, the son of Adiaiah, the son of Joiarib, the son of Zechariah, the son of a Silonite. {11:6} All these sons of Perez lived in Jerusalem, four hundred sixty-eight strong men. {11:7} Now these are the sons of Benjamin: Sallu, the son of Meshullam, the son of Joed, the son of Pedahiah, the son of Kolaiah, the son of Maaseiah, the son of Ithiel, the son of Jeshuaiah; {11:8} and after him Gabbai, Sallai. These were nine hundred twenty-eight. {11:9} And Joel, the son of Zichri, was their foremost leader. And Judah, the son of Hassenuah, was second over the city. {11:10} And from the priests, there were Jedaiah, the son of Joiarib, Jachin, {11:11} Seraiah, the son of Meraioth, the son of Ahitub, the ruler of the house of God, {11:12} and their brothers, who were doing the works of the temple: eight hundred twenty-two. And Adaiah, the son of Jeroham, the son of Pelaliah, the son of Amzi, the son of Zachariah, the son of Pashhur, the son of Malchijah, {11:13} and his brothers, the leaders among the fathers: two hundred forty-two. And Amassai, the son of Azarel, the son of Ahzai, the son of Meshillemoth, the son of Immer, {11:14} and their brothers, who were very powerful: one hundred twenty-eight. And their foremost leader was Zabdiel, the son of the powerful. {11:15} And from the Levites, there were Shemaiah, the son of Hasshub, the son of Azrikam, the son of Hashabiah, the son of Bunni, {11:16} and Shabbethai and Joazabad, who were over all the works which were exterior to the house of God, from among the leaders of the Levites. {11:17} And Mattaniah, the son of Mica, the son of Zabdi, the son of Asaph, was the leader of praise and confession in prayer, with Bakukiah, second among his brothers, and Abda, the son of Shammua, the son of Galal, the son of Jeduthun. {11:18} All the Levites in the holy city were two hundred eighty-four. {11:19} And the gatekeepers, Akkub, Talmon, and their brothers, who guarded the doorways, were one hundred seventy-two. {11:20} And the remainder of Israel, the priests and the Levites, were in all the cities of Judah, each one in his own possession. {11:21} And the temple servants were living at Ophel, with Ziha and Gishpa, of the temple servants. {11:22} And the director of the Levites in Jerusalem was Uzzi, the son of Bani, the son of Hashabiah, the son of Mattaniah, the son of Mica. The singing men in the ministry of the house of God were from the sons of Asaph. {11:23} In fact, there was a precept of the king about them, and an order among the singing men, throughout each day. {11:24} And Pethahiah, the son of Meshezabel, from the sons of Zerah, the son of Judah, was at the hand of the king concerning every word of the people, {11:25} and in the houses throughout all their regions. Some of the sons of Judah lived at Kiriatharba and in its daughter villages, and at Dibon and in its daughter villages, and at Jekabzeel and in its vicinity, {11:26} and at Jeshua, and at Moladah, and at Bethpelet, {11:27} and at Hazarshual, and at Beersheba and in its daughter villages, {11:28} and at Zaklak, and at Meconah and in its daughter villages, {11:29} and at Enrimmon, and at Zorah, and at Jarmuth, {11:30} Zanoah, Adullam, and in their villages, at Lachish and its regions, and at Azekah and in its daughter villages. And they dwelt from Beersheba as far as the valley of Hinnom. {11:31} But the sons of Benjamin lived from Geba, at Michmas, and Aija, and Bethel and in its daughter villages, {11:32} to Anathoth, Nob, Ananiah, {11:33} Hazor, Ramah, Gittaim, {11:34} Hadid, Zeboim, and Neballat, Lod, {11:35} and Ono, the valley of craftsmen. {11:36} And some of the Levites were apportioned with Judah and Benjamin.

[Nehemiah 12] {12:1} Now these are the priests and the Levites who ascended with Zerubbabel, the son of Shealtiel, and Jeshua: Seraiah, Jeremiah, Ezra, {12:2} Amariah, Malluch, Hattush, {12:3} Shecaniah, Rehum, Meremoth, {12:4} Iddo, Ginnethon, Abijah, {12:5} Mijamin, Maadiah, Bilgah, {12:6} Shemaiah, and Joiarib, Jedaiah, Sallo, Amok, Hilkiah, Jedaiah. {12:7} These were the leaders of the priests and of their brothers, in the days of Jeshua. {12:8} And the Levites, Jeshua, Binnui, Kadmiel, Sherebiah, Judah, Mattaniah, they and their brothers were over the hymns, {12:9} with Bakbukiah, as well as Hannai, and their brothers, each one in his office. {12:10} Now Jeshua conceived Joiakim, and Joiakim conceived Eliashib, and Eliashib conceived Joiada, {12:11} and Joiada conceived Jonathan, and Jonathan conceived Jaddua. {12:12} And in the days of Joiakim, the priests and the leaders of the families were:
of Seraiah, Meraiah; of Jeremiah, Hananiah; {12:13} of Ezra, Meshullam; of Amariah, Jehohanan; {12:14} of Maluchi, Jonathan; of Shebaniah, Joseph; {12:15} of Harim, Adna;
of Meraioth, Helkai; {12:16} of Adaiah, Zechariah; of Ginnethon, Meshullam; {12:17} of Abijah, Zichri; of Mijamin and Moadiah, Piltai; {12:18} of Bilgah, Shammaa; of Shemaiah, Jehonathan; {12:19} of Joiarib, Mattenai; of Jedaiah, Uzzi; {12:20} of Sallai, Kallai; of Amok, Eber;
{12:21} of Hilkiah, Hashabiah; of Jedaiah, Nethanel.
{12:22} The Levites, in the days of Eliashib, and Joia, and Johanan, and Jaddua, and the priests, were written according to the leaders of the families, during the reign of Darius the Persian. {12:23} The sons of Levi, according to the leaders of the families, were written in the book of the words of those days, even to the days of Johanan, the son of Eliashib.
{12:24} Now the leaders of the Levites were Hashabiah, Sherebiah, and Jeshua, the son of Kadmiel, and their brothers,
in their turns, so that they would praise and confess, according to the precept of David, the man of God. And they served equally and in order. {12:25} Mattaniah, and Bakbukiah, Obadiah, Meshullam, Talmon, Akkub, were keepers of the gates and of the vestibules before the gates.
{12:26} These were in the days of Joiakim, the son of Jeshua, the son of Jozadak, and in the days of Nehemiah, the governor, and of Ezra, the priest and scribe. {12:27} Now at the dedication of the wall of Jerusalem, they sought the Levites from all their places, so that they might bring them to Jerusalem, and so that they might keep the dedication, and rejoice with thanksgiving, and with singing, and with cymbals, psalteries, and lyres. {12:28} Now the sons of the singing men were gathered from the plains surrounding Jerusalem, and from the villages of Netophati, {12:29} and from the house of Gilgal, and from the regions of Geba and Azmaveth. For the singing men had built villages for themselves around Jerusalem. {12:30} And the priests and the Levites were cleansed, and they cleansed the people, and the gates, and the wall. {12:31} Then I caused the leaders of Judah to ascend the wall, and I appointed two great choirs to give praise. And they went to the right upon the wall, toward the dung gate. {12:32} And after them went Hoshiaiah, and one half part of the leadership of Judah, {12:33} and Azariah, Ezra, and Meshullam, Judah, and Benjamin, and Shemaiah, and Jeremiah. {12:34} And some of the sons of the priests went forth with trumpets: Zachariah, the son of Jonathan, the son of Shemaiah, the son of Mattaniah, the son of Micaiah, the son of Zacccur, the son of Asaph. {12:35} And his brothers, Shemaiah, and Azarel, Milalai, Gilalai, Maai, Nethanel, and Judah, and Hanani, went forth with the canticles of David, the man of God. And Ezra, the scribe, was before them at the fountain gate. {12:36} And opposite them, they ascended by the steps of the city of David, at the ascent of the wall above the house of David, and as far as the water gate to the east. {12:37} And the second choir of those who gave thanks went forth on the opposite side, and I went after them, and one half part of the people were upon the wall, and upon the tower of the furnaces, as far as the widest wall, {12:38} and above the gate of Ephraim, and above the ancient gate, and above the fish gate, and the tower of Hananel, and the tower of Hamath, and as far as the flock gate. And they stood still at the watch gate. {12:39} And the two choirs of those who gave praise stood still at the house of God, with myself and one half part of the magistrates who were with me. {12:40} And the priests, Eliakim, Maaseiah, Mijamin, Micaiah, Elioenai, Zechariah, Hananiah, went forth with trumpets, {12:41} with Maaseiah, and Shemaiah, and Eleazar, and Uzzi, and Jehohanan, and Malchijah, and Elam, and Ezer. And the singers were singing clearly, and Jezrahiah was their foremost leader. {12:42} And on that day, they immolated great sacrifices, and they rejoiced. For God had caused them to rejoice with great joy. And their wives and children also were glad. And the rejoicing of Jerusalem was heard from far away. {12:43} On that day also, they enrolled men over the storehouses of the treasury, for the libations, and for the first-fruits, and for the tithes, so that the leaders of the city might bring these in, by them, with proper thanksgiving, for the priests and the Levites. For Judah was rejoicing in the priests and the Levites who were assisting.
{12:44} And they kept the vigil of their God, and the vigil of expiation, with the singing men and the gatekeepers, in accord with the precept of David, and of Solomon, his son.
{12:45} For in the days of David and Asaph, from the beginning, there were leaders appointed over the singers, to give praise in verses, and to confess to God. {12:46} And all of Israel, in the days of Zerubbabel, and in the days of Nehemiah, gave portions to the singing men and to the gatekeepers, for each day, and they sanctified the Levites, and the Levites sanctified the sons of Aaron.

[Nehemiah 13] {13:1} Now on that day, they read from the book of Moses in the hearing of the people. And in it, there was found written that the Ammonites and the Moabites must not enter the church of God, even for all time, {13:2} because they did not meet the sons of Israel with bread and water, and they hired Balaam against them, to curse them. But our God turned the curse into a blessing.
{13:3} Now it happened that, when they had heard the law, they separated every foreigner from Israel. {13:4} And Eliashib, the priest, was over this task; he had been given delegate of the charge of the treasury of the house of our God, and he was a close relative of Tobiah. {13:5} Then he made for himself a large storeroom, and in that place, there was laid before him gifts, and frankincense, and vessels, and the tithes of grain, wine, and oil, the portions of the Levites, and of the singing men, and of the gatekeepers, and the first-fruits of the priests.
{13:6} But during all this, I was not in Jerusalem, because in the thirty-second year of Artaxerxes, the king of Babylon, I went to the king, and at the end of some days, I petitioned the king. {13:7} And I went to Jerusalem, and I understood the evil that Eliashib had done for Tobiah, such that he would make him a storeroom in the vestibules of the house of God.
{13:8} And it seemed to me very evil. And I cast the vessels of the house of Tobiah outside of the storeroom. {13:9} And I gave instructions, and they cleansed again the storeroom.
And I brought back, into that place, the vessels of the house of God, the sacrifice, and the frankincense. {13:10} And I realized that the portions of the Levites had not been given to them, and that each one had fled into his own region, from the Levites, and from the singing men, and from those who were ministering. {13:11} And I brought the case before the magistrates, and I said, “Why have we forsaken the house of God?” And I gathered them together, and I caused them to stand at their stations. {13:12} And all of Judah brought the tithes of the grain, and the wine, and the oil into the storehouses. {13:13} And we appointed over the storehouses, Shelemiah, the priest, and Zadok, the scribe, and Pedaiah from the Levites, and next to them Hanan, the son of Zaccur, the son of Mattaniah. For they had proven to be faithful. And so the portions of their brothers were entrusted to them. {13:14} Remember me, O my God, because of this, and may you not wipe away my acts of compassion, which I have done for the house of my God and for his ceremonies. {13:15} In those days, I saw, in Judah, some who were treading the presses on the Sabbath, and who were carrying sheaves, and placing on donkeys burdens of wine, and of grapes, and of figs, and all manner of burdens, and who were bringing these into Jerusalem on the day of the Sabbath. And I contended with them, so that they would sell on a day when it was permitted to sell. {13:16} And some Tyrians dwelt within, who were bringing fish and all kinds of items for sale. And they were selling on the Sabbaths to the sons of Judah in Jerusalem. {13:17} And I put the nobles of Judah under oath, and I said to them: “What is this evil thing that you are doing, profaning the Sabbath day? {13:18} Did not our fathers do these things, and so our God brought all this evil upon us and upon this city? And you are adding more wrath upon Israel by violating the Sabbath!” {13:19} And it happened that, when the gates of Jerusalem had rested on the day of the Sabbath, I spoke, and they closed the gates. And I instructed that they should not open them until after the Sabbath. And I appointed some of my servants over the gates, so that no one would carry in a burden on the day of the Sabbath. {13:20} And so the merchants and those who sold all kinds of items remained just outside of Jerusalem, once and again. {13:21} And I contended with them, and I said to them: “Why are you remaining just beyond the wall? If you do this again, I will send hands upon you.” And so, from that time, they no longer came on the Sabbath. {13:22} I also spoke to the Levites, so that they would be cleansed, and would arrive that they would not come on the Sabbath. {13:23} But also in those days, I saw some Jews taking wives from the Ashodites, and the Ammonites, and the Moabites. {13:24} And their sons spoke partly in the speech of Ashdod, and they did not know how to speak the Jewish language, and they were speaking according to the language of one people or another. {13:25} And I put them under oath, and I cursed them. And I struck some of their men, and I shaved off their hair, and I made them swear to God that they would not give their daughters to their sons, nor take their daughters for their sons, nor for themselves, saying: {13:26} “Did not Solomon, king of Israel, sin in this kind of thing? And certainly, among many nations, there was no king similar to him, and he was beloved of his God, and God set him as king over all of Israel. And yet foreign women led even him into sin! {13:27} So how could we disobey and do all this great evil, so that we would transgress against our God, and take foreign wives?” {13:28} Now one of the sons of Joiada, the son of Eliashib, the high priest, was a son-in-law to Sanballat, a Horonite, and I made him flee from me. {13:29} O Lord, my God, remember against those who defile the priesthood and the law of the priests and the Levites! {13:30} And so I cleansed them from all foreigners, and I established the orders of the priests and the Levites, each one in his ministry. {13:31} O my God, remember me also, for good, because of the offering of wood, at the appointed times, and because of the first-fruits. Amen.

 The Book of Tobit **

 Tobit 1  {1:1} Tobit was from the tribe and city of Naphtali (which is in the upper parts of Galilee above Asher, after the way, which leads to the west, that has on its left the city of Sephet). {1:2} Although he had been taken captive in the days of Shalmaneser, the king of the Assyrians, even in such a situation as captivity, he did not desert the way of truth. {1:3} So then, every day, all that he was able to obtain, he bestowed on his fellow captive brothers, who were from his kindred. {1:4} And, when he was among the youngest of any in the tribe of Naphtali, he showed not so much as any childish behavior in his work. {1:5} And then, when all went to the golden calves which Jeroboam, king of Israel, had made, he alone fled from the company of them all. {1:6} Yet he continued on to Jerusalem, to the temple of the Lord, and there he adored the Lord God of Israel, offering faithfully all his first-fruits and his tithes. {1:7} So then, in the third year, he administered all his tithes to new converts and to new arrivals. {1:8} These and similar such things, even as a boy, he observed according to the law of God. {1:9} Truly, when he had become a man, he received as wife Anna of his own tribe, and he conceived a son by her, to whom he assigned his own name. {1:10} From his infancy, he taught him to fear God and to abstain from all sin. {1:11} Therefore, when, during the captivity, he had arrived with his wife and son at the city of Nineveh, with all his tribe, {1:12} (even though they all ate from the foods of the Gentiles,) he guarded his soul and never was contaminated with their foods. {1:13} And because he was mindful of the Lord with his whole heart, God gave him favor in the sight of Shalmaneser the king. {1:14} And he gave him the power to go wherever he would want, having the freedom to do whatever he wished. {1:15} Therefore, he continued on to all who were in captivity, and he gave them helpful advice. {1:16} But when he had arrived at Rages, a city of the Medes, he had ten talents of silver, from that which he had been given in honor by the king. {1:17} And when, in the midst of the great tumult of his kindred, he saw the destitution of Gabael, who was from his tribe, he loaned him, under a written agreement, the aforementioned weight of silver. {1:18} In truth, after a long time, Shalmaneser the king died, while Sennacherib his son reigned in his place, and he held a hatred for the sons of Israel. {1:19} Every day, Tobit traveled though all his own people, and he comforted them, and he distributed to each one as much as he could from his resources. {1:20} He nourished the hungry, and he supplied clothes to the naked, and he showed concern for the burial of the dead and of the slain. {1:21} And then, when king Sennacherib had returned from Judea, fleeing the scourge which God had caused all around him because of his blasphemy, and, being angry, he was slaughtering many from the sons of Israel, Tobit buried their bodies. {1:22} And when it was reported to the king, he ordered him to be slain, and he took away all his belongings. {1:23} In truth, Tobit, fleeing with nothing but his son and his wife, was able to remain hidden because many loved him. {1:24} In truth, after forty-five days, the king was slain by his own sons, {1:25} and Tobit was able to return to his house, and all his resources were restored to him.

[Tobit 2] {2:1} In truth, after this, when there was a feast day of the Lord, and a good dinner had been prepared in the house of Tobit, {2:2} he said to his son: “Go, and bring some others who fear God from our tribe to feast with us.” {2:3} And after he had gone, returning, he reported to him that one of the sons of Israel, with his throat cut, was lying in the street. And immediately, he leapt from his place reclining at table, left behind his dinner, and went forth with fasting to the body. {2:4} And taking it up, he carried it in secret to his house, so that, after the sun had set, he might bury him cautiously. {2:5} And after he had hidden the body, he chewed his bread with mourning and fear, {2:6} remembering the word that the Lord spoke through the prophet Amos: “Your feast days shall be turned into lamentation and mourning.” {2:7} Truly, when the sun had set, he went out, and he buried him. {2:8} Yet all his neighbors argued with him, saying: “Now, an order was given to execute you because of this matter, and you barely escaped a death sentence, and again you are burying the dead?” {2:9} But Tobit, fearing God more than the king, stole away the bodies of the slain and concealed them in his house, and in the middle of the night, he buried them. {2:10} But it happened one day, being tired from burying the dead, he came into his house, and he threw himself down next to the wall, and he slept. {2:11} And, as he was sleeping, warm droppings from a swallow’s nest fell upon his eyes, and he was made blind. {2:12} And so the Lord permitted this trial to befall him, in order that an example might be given to posterity of his patience, which is even like that of holy Job.

{2:13} For, even from his infancy, he had always feared God and kept his commandments, so he was not discouraged before God because of the scourge of blindness that had befallen him. {2:14} But he remained immovable in the fear of God, giving thanks to God all the days of his life.

{2:15} For just as kings have mocked blessed Job, so also his relatives and acquaintances ridiculed his life, saying: {2:16} “Where is your hope, on behalf of which you gave alms and buried the dead?” {2:17} In truth, Tobit corrected them, saying: “Do not speak in this way, {2:18} for we are the sons of the holy ones, and we look forward to that life which God will give to those who never change in their faith before him.” {2:19} In truth, his wife Anna went out to weaving work daily, and she brought back the provisions that she was able to obtain by the labor of her hands.

{2:20} Whereupon it happened that, having received a young goat, she brought it home. {2:21} When her husband heard the sound of its bleating, he said, “Look, so that it might not be stolen, return it to its owners, for it is not lawful for us either to eat, or to touch, anything stolen.” {2:22} At this, his wife, being angry, answered, “Clearly, your hope has become vanity, and the manner of your almsgiving has become apparent.” {2:23} And with these and other similar such words, she reproached him.
in your heart. {4:3} When God will receive my soul, bury my body. And you shall honor your mother, all the days of her life. {4:4} For you are obliged to be mindful of what great perils she suffered because of you in her womb. {4:5} But when she too will have completed the time of her life, bury her near me. {4:6} Yet, for all the days of your life, have God in your mind. And be careful that you never consent to sin, nor overlook the precepts of the Lord our God. {4:7} Give alms from your substance, and do not turn away your face from any pauper. For so it shall be that neither will the face of the Lord be turned away from you. {4:8} In whatever way that you are able, so shall you be merciful. {4:9} If you have much, distribute abundantly. If you have little, nevertheless strive to bestow a little freely. {4:10} For you store up for yourself a good reward for the day of necessity. {4:11} For almsgiving liberates from every sin and from death, and it will not suffer the soul to go into darkness. {4:12} Almsgiving will be a great act of faith before the most High God, for all those who practice it. {4:13} Take care to keep yourself, my son, from all fornication, and, except for your wife, never permit yourself to know such an offense. {4:14} Never permit arrogance to rule in your mind or in your words. For in it, all perdition had its beginning. {4:15} And whoever has done any kind of work for you, immediately pay him his wages, and do not let the wages of your hired hand remain with you at all. {4:16} Whatever you would hate to have done to you by another, see that you never do so to another. {4:17} Eat your bread with the hungry and the needy, and cover the naked with your own garments. {4:18} Set out your bread and your wine at the burial of a just man, and do not eat and drink from it with sinners. {4:19} Always seek the counsel of a wise man. {4:20} Bless God at all times. And petition him that he direct your ways and that all your counsels may remain in him. {4:21} And now, I reveal to you, my son, that I lent ten talents of silver, while you were still a young child, to Gabael, in Rages, a city of the Medes, and I have his written agreement with me. {4:22} And so, inquire how you may travel to him and receive from him the aforementioned weight of silver, and return to him the written agreement. {4:23} Do not be afraid, my son. We do indeed lead a poor life, but we will have many good things: if we fear God, and withdraw from all sin, and do what is good.

[Tobit 5] {5:1} Then Tobias responded to his father, and he said: “I will do everything just as you have instructed me, father. {5:2} But I do not know how to obtain this money. He does not know me, and I do not know him. What proof shall I give to him? And I do not know any part of the way, which leads to that place.” {5:3} Then his father answered him, and he said: “Indeed, I have a written agreement about that in my possession, which, when you show it to him, he will immediately repay it. {5:4} But go out now, and inquire after some faithful man, who would go with you to keep you safe in return for his wages, so that you may receive it while I am still alive.” {5:5} Then Tobias, departing, found a splendid young man, standing girded and seemingly ready for travel. {5:6} And not knowing that he was an Angel of God, he greeted him, and he said, “Where are you from, good young man?” {5:7} And so he answered, “From the sons of Israel.” And Tobias said to him, “Do you know the way that leads to the region of the Medes?” {5:8} And he answered: “I know it. And I have frequently walked through all its paths, and I stayed with Gabael, our brother, who lives in Rages, a city of the Medes, which is situated at the mount of Ecbatan.” {5:9} Tobias said to him, “I implore you, wait here for me, until I tell these same things to my father.” {5:10} Then Tobias, entering, revealed all these things to his father. Upon which, his father, in admiration, asked that he would enter to him. {5:11} And so, entering, he greeted him, and he said, “May gladness be always with you.” {5:12} And Tobit said, “What kind of gladness will be for me, since I sit in darkness and do not see the light of heaven?” {5:13} And the young man said to him, “Be steadfast in soul. Your cure from God is near.” {5:14} And so Tobit said to him, “Are you able to lead my son to Gabael in Rages, a city of the Medes? And when you return, I will pay you your wages.” {5:15} And the Angel said to him, “I will lead him, and I will bring him back to you.” {5:16} And Tobit responded to him, “I ask you to tell me: which family or which tribe are you from?” {5:17} And Raphael the Angel said, “Do you seek the family of the one you hire, or else the hired hand himself, to go with your son? {5:18} But, lest perhaps I cause you to worry: I am Azariah, the son of Hananiah the great.” {5:19} And Tobit responded, “You are from a great family. But I ask you, do not be angry that I wanted to know your family.” {5:20} But the Angel said to him, “I will lead your son safely, and I will bring him back safely to you.” {5:21} And so Tobit, answering, said, “May you walk well, and may God be with you on your journey, and may his Angel accompany you.” {5:22} Then, when all things were ready which were to be carried on their journey, Tobias said farewell to his father, and to his mother, and the two of them walked together. {5:23} And when they had set out, his mother began to weep, and to say: “You have taken the staff of our old age, and you have sent him away from us.” {5:24} I wish that the money, for which you sent him, had never been. {5:25} For our poverty has been sufficient for us, so that we might count it as riches that we saw our son.” {5:26} And Tobit said to her: “Do not weep. Our son will arrive safely, and he will return safely to us, and your eyes shall see him. {5:27} For I believe that the good Angel of God accompanies him and that he orders all things well which occur around him, such that he will be returned to us with gladness.” {5:28} At these words, his mother ceased weeping, and she was silent.

[Tobit 6] {6:1} And so Tobias continued on, and the dog was following him, and he stayed at the first stopping point, near the river Tigris. {6:2} And he went out to wash his feet, and behold, an immense fish came out to devour him. {6:3} And Tobias, being frightened of it, cried out with a loud voice, saying, “Sir, it is attacking me!” {6:4} And the Angel said to him, “Catch it by the gills, and draw it to you.” And when he had done so, he pulled it onto dry land, and it began to thrash before his feet. {6:5} Then the Angel said to him: “Disembowel this fish, and put aside his heart, and his gall, and his liver for yourself. For these things are necessary as useful medicines.” {6:6} And when he had done so, he roasted its flesh, and they took it with them on the way. The rest they salted, so that it might be sufficient for them, until they would arrive at Rages, a city of the Medes. {6:7} Then Tobias questioned the Angel, and he said to him, “I implore you, brother Azariah, to tell me what remedies these things hold, which you have told me to retain from the fish?”
{7:1} And so they went to Raguel, and Raguel received them with gladness. {7:2} And Raguel, gazing upon Tobias, said to Anna his wife, “How much like my cousin is this young man!” {7:3} And when he had spoken this, he said, “Which of our brethren are you from, young men?” {7:4} But they said, “We are from the tribe of Naphtali, from the captivity of Nineveh.” {7:5} And Raguel said to them, “Do you know my brother Tobit?” They said to him, “We know him.” {7:6} And since he was saying many good things about him, the Angel said to Raguel, “The Tobit about whom you inquire is the father of this young man.” {7:7} And Raguel threw himself towards him and kissed him with tears and weeping upon his neck, saying, “May a blessing be upon you, my son, because you are the son of a good and most noble man.” {7:8} And his wife Anna, and their daughter Sarah, were weeping. {7:9} And so, after they had spoken, Raguel instructed a sheep to be killed, and a feast to be prepared. And when he exorted them to recline for dinner, {7:10} Tobias said, “Here, today, I will not eat or drink, unless you first confirm my petition, and promise to give Sarah your daughter to me.” {7:11} When Raguel heard this word, he became afraid, knowing what had befallen those seven men, who had approached her. And he began to fear, lest it might happen to him also in the same way. And, since he wavered and gave no further response to the petition, {7:12} the Angel said to him: “Do not be afraid to give her to this one, because this one fears God. He is obliged to be joined to your daughter. Because of this, no other one could have her.” {7:13} Then Raguel said: “I do not doubt that God has admitted my prayers and tears before his sight. {7:14} And I believe, therefore, that he has caused you to come to me, so that this one might be joined in marriage to one of her own kindred, according to the law of Moses. And now, do not continue to doubt that I will give her to you.” {7:15} And taking the right hand of his daughter, he gave it into the right hand of Tobias, saying, “May the God of Abraham, and the God of Isaac, and the God of Jacob be with you. And may he join you together in marriage and fulfill his blessing in you.” {7:16} And taking paper, they made a written record of the marriage. {7:17} And after this, they feasted, blessing God. {7:18} And Raguel called his wife Anna to him, and he instructed her to prepare another bedroom. {7:19} And she brought her daughter Sarah into it, and she was weeping. {7:20} And she said to her, “Be steadfast in spirit, my daughter. May the Lord of heaven give you gladness in place of the grief that you have had to endure.”

[{Tobit 8}] {8:1} In truth, after they had dined, they introduced the young man to her. {8:2} And so, Tobias, remembering the word of the Angel, took part of the liver from his bag, and he placed it over the live coals. {8:3} Then the Angel Raphael caught the demon, and bound him in the desert of upper Egypt. {8:4} Then Tobias exhorted the virgin, and he said to her: “Sarah, get up and let us pray to God this day, and tomorrow, and the following day. For, during these three nights, we are being joined to God. And then, when the third night has passed, we ourselves will be joined together. {8:5} For certainly, we are the children of the saints, and we must not be joined together in such a manner as the heathens, who are ignorant of God.” {8:6} And so, rising up together, they both prayed earnestly, at the same time, that health might be given to them. {8:7} And Tobias said: “Lord, the God of our fathers, may the heavens and the earth bless you, and the sea, and the fountains, and the rivers, and all your creatures that are in them. {8:8} You formed Adam from the mud of the earth, and you gave Eve to him as a helper. {8:9} And now, O Lord, you know that I take my sister in conjugal union, not by reason of worldly pleasure, but solely for the love of posterity, in which your name may be blessed forever and ever.” {8:10} Sarah likewise said, “Be merciful to us, O Lord, be merciful to us. And let us both grow old together in health.” {8:11} And it happened, about the time of the rooster’s crowing, that Raguel ordered his servants to be summoned, and they went out with him together to dig a grave. {8:12} For he said, “Lest perhaps, in the same way, it may have happened to him, as it did also to the other seven men who approached her.” {8:13} And when they had prepared the pit, Raguel returned to his wife, and he said to her, {8:14} “Send one of your maids, and let her see if he is dead, so that I may bury him before the dawn of day.” {8:15} And so, she sent one of her maidservants, who entered the bedroom and discovered them safe and unharmed, slepping both together. {8:16} And returning, she reported the good news. And they blessed the Lord: Raguel, especially, and his wife Anna. {8:17} And they said: “We bless you, Lord God of Israel, because it has not happened in the way that we thought it might. {8:18} For you have acted in your mercy toward us, and you have excluded from us the enemy who pursued us. {8:19} Moreover, you have had compassion on two only children. Make them, O Lord, able to bless you more fully and to offer you a sacrifice of your praise and of their health, so that all peoples everywhere may know that you alone are God in all the earth.” {8:20} And immediately Raguel instructed his servants to refill the pit, which they had made, before daylight. {8:21} And then he told his wife to make ready a feast, and to prepare all the provisions that are necessary for those who undertake a journey. {8:22} Likewise, he caused two fat cows and four rams to be killed, and a banquet to be prepared for all his neighbors and every one of his friends. {8:23} And Raguel pleaded with Tobias to delay with him for two weeks. {8:24} Moreover, of all the things that Raguel possessed, he gave one half part to Tobias, and he made a writing, so that the half that remained should also pass into the ownership of Tobias, after their deaths.

[Tobit 9] {9:1} Then Tobias called the Angel to him, whom he indeed considered to be a man, and he said to him: “Brother Azariah, I implore you to listen to my words: {9:2} If I should give myself to be your servant, I would not be equally worthy of your providence. {9:3} Even so, I beg you to take with you beasts or even servants, and to go to Gabael in Rages, the city of the Medes, and restore to him his handwritten note, and receive from him the money, and petition him to come to my wedding celebration. {9:4} For you know that my father numbers the days. And if I delay one day more, his soul will be afflicted. {9:5} And surely you see how Raguel has obtained my oath, an oath that I am not able to spurn.” {9:6} Then Raphael borrowed four of the servants of Raguel, and two camels, and he traveled to Rages, the city of the Medes. And upon finding Gabael, he gave him his handwritten note, and he received from him all the money. {9:7} And he revealed to him, concerning Tobias the son of Tobit, all that had been done. And he made him come with him to the wedding celebration. {9:8} And when he had entered into the house of Raguel, he discovered Tobias reclining at table. And leaping up, they kissed each other. And Gabael wept, and he blessed God. {9:9} And he said: “May the God of Israel bless you, for you are the son of a man most noble and just, fearing God and performing almsgiving. {9:10} And may a blessing be spoken over your wife and over your parents. {9:11} And may you see your sons, and the sons of your sons, even to the third and fourth generation. And may your offspring be blessed by the God of Israel, who reigns forever and ever.” {9:12} And when all had said, “Amen,” they approached the feast. But they also celebrated the marriage feast with the fear of the Lord.

[Tobit 10] {10:1} In truth, when Tobias was delayed because of the marriage celebration, his father Tobit was worried, saying: “Why do you think my son is delayed, or why has he been detained there? {10:2} Do you think that Gabael has died, and that no one will repay him the money?” {10:3} And so he began to be exceedingly sad, both he and his wife Anna with him. And they both began to weep together, because their son did not at least return to them on the appointed day. {10:4} But his mother wept inconsolable tears, and also said: “Woe, woe to me, O my son. Why did we send you to journey far away, you: the light of our eyes, the staff of our old age, the solace of our life, the hope of our posterity? {10:5} Having all things together as one in you, we ought not to have dismissed you from us.” {10:6} And Tobit was saying to her: “Be calm, and do not be troubled. Our son is safe. That man, with whom we sent him, is faithful enough.” {10:7} Yet she was by no means able to be consoled. But, leaping up every day, she looked all round, and traveled around all the ways, by which there seemed any hope that he might return, so that she might possibly see him coming from afar. {10:8} In truth, Raguel said to his son-in-law, “Remain here, and I will send a message of your health to your father Tobit.” {10:9} And Tobias said to him, “I know that my father and my mother have now counted the days, and their spirit must be tortured within them.” {10:10} And when Raguel had repeatedly petitioned Tobias, and he was by no means willing to listen to him, he delivered Sarah to him, and half of all his substance: with men and women servants, with sheep, camels, and cows, and with much money. And he dismissed him away, in safety and gladness, from him, [10:11] saying: “May the holy Angel of the Lord be with your journey, and may he lead you through unharmed, and may you discover that all is right concerning your parents, and may my eyes see your sons before I die.” {10:12} And the parents, taking hold of their daughter, kissed her and let her go: {10:13} admonishing her to honor her father-in-law, to love her husband, to guide the family, to govern the household, and to behave irreproachably herself.

[Tobit 11] {11:1} And as they were returning, they came through to Haran, which is in the middle of the journey, opposite Nineveh, on the eleventh day. {11:2} And the Angel said: “Brother Tobias, you know how you left behind your father. {11:3} And so, if it pleases you, let us go on ahead, and let the family follow after us with a slower step, together with your bride, and with the animals.” {11:4} And since it pleased him to go on in this way, Raphael said to Tobias, “Take with you from the gall of the fish, for it will be necessary.” And so, Tobias took from its gall, and he went ahead. {11:5} But Anna sat beside the way every day, on the top of a hill, from where she would be able to see for a long distance. {11:6} And while she was watching for his arrival from that place, she looked far off, and soon she realized that her son was approaching. And running, she reported it to her husband, saying: “Behold, your son arrives.” {11:7} And Raphael said to Tobias: “As soon as you enter into your house, immediately adore the Lord your God. And, giving thanks to him, approach your father, and kiss him. {11:8} And immediately anoint his eyes from this gall of the fish, which you carry with you. For you should know that his eyes will soon be opened, and your father will see the light of heaven, and he will rejoice at the sight of you.” {11:9} Then the dog, which had been with them in the way, ran ahead, and, arriving like a messenger, he showed his joy by fawning and wagging his tail. {11:10} And rising up, his blind father began to run, stumbling with his feet. And giving his hand to a servant, he ran on to meet his son. {11:11} And receiving him, he kissed him, as did his wife, and they both began to wept for joy. [11:12] And when they had adored God and had given thanks, they sat down together. [11:13] Then Tobias, taking from the gall of the fish, anointed his father's eyes. [11:14] And about half an hour passed, and then a white film came to be cast out of his eyes, like the membrane of an egg. [11:15] So, taking hold of it, Tobias pulled it away from his eyes, and immediately he received his sight. [11:16] And they glorified God: Tobit especially, and his wife, and all those who knew him. [11:17] And Tobit said, "I bless you, O Lord God of Israel, because you have chastised me, and you have saved me, and behold, I see my son Tobias." [11:18] And then, after seven days, Sarah, the wife of his son, and all the family arrived safely, along with the sheep, and the camels, and much money from his wife, but also with that money which he had received from Gabael. [11:19] And he explained to his parents all the benefits from God, which he had produced all around him, by means of the man who had led him. [11:20] And then Ahikar and Nadab arrived, the maternal first cousins of Tobias, rejoicing for Tobias, and congratulating with him for all the good things that God had revealed all around him. [11:21] And for seven days they feasted, and all were rejoicing with great joy.

[Tobit 12] [12:1] Then Tobit called his son to him, and he said to him, "What are we able to give to this holy man, who accompanied you?" [12:2] Tobias, answering, said to his father: "Father, what wages shall we give him? And what could be worthy of his benefits? [12:3] He led me and he brought me back safely. He received the money from Gabael. He caused me to have my wife. And he confined the demon away from her. He caused joy to her parents. Myself, he rescued from being devoured by the fish. As for you, he also caused you to see the light of heaven. And so, we have been filled with all good things through him. What could we possibly give to him that would be worthy of these things? [12:4] But I implore you, my father, to ask him if he would perhaps deign to take for himself half of all the things that have been brought." [12:5] And calling him, the father especially, and the son, they took him aside. And they began to petition him, so that he would deign to accept ownership of one half part of all things that they had brought. [12:6] Then he said to them privately: "Bless the God of heaven, and confess to him in the sight of all who live, for he has acted in his mercy toward you. [12:7] For it is good to conceal the secret of a king, just as it is also honorable to reveal and to confess the works of God. [12:8] Prayer with fasting is good, and almsgiving is better than hiding away gold in storage. [12:9] For almsgiving delivers from death, and makes one able to find mercy and everlasting life. [12:10] But those who commit sin and iniquity are enemies to their own soul. [12:11] Therefore, I reveal the truth to you, and I will not hide the explanation from you. [12:12] When you prayed with tears, and buried the dead, and left behind your dinner, and hid the dead by day in your house, and buried them by night: I offered your prayer to the Lord. [12:13] And because you were acceptable to God, it was necessary for you to be tested by trials. [12:14] And now, the Lord has sent me to cure you, and to free Sarah, your son's wife, from the demon. [12:15] For I am the Angel Raphael, one of seven, who stand before the Lord." [12:16] And when they had heard these things, they were troubled, and being seized with fear, they fell upon the ground on their face. [12:17] And the Angel said to them: "Peace be to you. Fear not. [12:18] For when I was with you, I was there by the will of God. Bless him, and sing to him. [12:19] Indeed, I seemed to eat and drink with you, but I make use of an invisible food and drink, which cannot be seen by men. [12:20] Therefore, it is time that I return to him who sent me. But as for you, bless God, and describe all his wonders." [12:21] And when he had said these things, he was taken from their sight, and they were not able to see him any longer. [12:22] Then, lying prostrate for three hours upon their face, they blessed God. And rising up, they described all his wonders.

[Tobit 13] [13:1] And so, the elder Tobit, opening his mouth, blessed the Lord, and he said: "O Lord, you are great in eternity and your kingdom is with all ages. [13:2] For you scourge, and you save. You lead down to the grave, and you bring up again. And there is no one who can escape from your hand. [13:3] Confess to the Lord, O sons of Israel, and praise him in the sight of the nations. [13:4] For, indeed, he has dispersed you among the Gentiles, who are ignorant of him, that you may proclaim his wonders, and that you may cause them to know that there is no other almighty God, except him. [13:5] He has chastised us because of our iniquities, and he will save us because of his mercy. [13:6] Therefore, look upon what he has done for us, and, with fear and trembling, confess to him. And extol the King of all ages with your works. [13:7] But as for me, I will confess him in the land of my captivity. For he has revealed his majesty within a sinful nation. [13:8] And so, be converted, you sinners, and do justice in the presence of God, believing that he will act in his mercy toward you. [13:9] But I and my soul will rejoice in him. [13:10] Bless the Lord, all you his elect. Keep days of rejoicing, and confess to him. [13:11] O Jerusalem, the city of God, the Lord has chastised you for the works of your hands. [13:12] Confess to the Lord with your good things, and bless the God of all ages, so that he may rebuild his tabernacle in you, and he may recall all the captives to you, and you may be glad in all ages and forever. [13:13] You will shine with a splendid light, and all the ends of the earth will adore by you. [13:14] Nations from far away will come to you, bringing gifts. And in you, they shall adore the Lord, and they will hold your land in sanctification. [13:15] For they will invoke the Great Name in you. [13:16] Those who despise you will be cursed, and all those who blaspheme by you will be condemned, and those who build you up will be blessed. [13:17] But you will rejoice in your sons, because they will all be blessed, and they will be gathered together for the Lord. [13:18] Blessed are all those who love you and who rejoice in your peace. [13:19] Bless the Lord, O my soul, for the Lord our God has freed Jerusalem, his city, from every one of her tribulations. [13:20] Happy will I be, if any of my offspring will be left to see the brightness of Jerusalem. [13:21] The gates of Jerusalem will be built from sapphire and emerald, and all its walls will be surrounded with precious stones. [13:22] All its streets will be paved with stones, white and clean, and 'Alleluia' will be sung throughout its neighborhoods. [13:23] Blessed be the Lord, who has exalted it, and may he reign over it, forever and ever. Amen."
And so Arphaxad, king of the Medes, subjugated many nations under his authority, and he built a very powerful city, which he called Ecbatana.

From stones, cut and squared, he made its walls: seventy cubits in height and thirty cubits in breadth. And, in truth, he set its towers one hundred cubits in height. In fact, at its corners, each side was extended for the space of twenty feet. And he set its gates according to the height of the towers.

And he glorified it, in its power, with the force of his army and with the glory of his chariots. Thereafter, in the twelfth year of his reign, Nebuchadnezzar, king of the Assyrians, who reigned in Nineveh the great city, fought against Arphaxad and prevailed over him: in the great plain, which is called Ragae, near the Euphrates, and the Tigris, and the Hydaspes, at the encampment of Arioch, king of the Elymaeans.

Then the kingdom of Nebuchadnezzar was exalted, and his heart was elevated. And he sent to all who dwelt in Cilicia, and Damascus, and Lebanon, and to the nations that are in Carmel and Kedar, and to the inhabitants of Galilee, in the great plain of Esdrelon, and to all who were in Samaria and across the river Jordan, even to Jerusalem and to all the land of Jesse, until one passes through to the borders of Ethiopia.

To all these, Nebuchadnezzar, king of the Assyrians, sent messengers: whom they all with one mind contradicted, and they sent them back empty, and they rejected them without honor. Then king Nebuchadnezzar, being indignant against all that land, swore by his throne and his kingdom that he would defend himself against all those regions.

In the thirteenth year of the reign of Nebuchadnezzar, on the twenty-second day of the first month, the word went forth from the house of Nebuchadnezzar, king of the Assyrians, that he would defend himself. And he called all the native leaders, and all the commanders, and his officers of war, and he met with them in his secret council. And he said to them that his thoughts were to subjugate all the earth to his authority.

And when this saying pleased them all, king Nebuchadnezzar called Holofernes, the leader of his military. And he said to him: “Go out against all the kingdoms of the west, and against those in particular who showed contempt for my authority. Your eye must not spare any kingdom, and all the fortified cities you will subjugate to me.” Then Holofernes called the commanders and the magistrates of the army of the Assyrians. And he numbered men for the expedition, just as the king had instructed him: one hundred and twenty thousand foot-soldiers, and twelve thousand archers on horseback. And he caused his entire expeditionary force to go ahead with an innumerable multitude of camels, with whatever was needed in abundance for the armies, and with herds of cattle, and flocks of sheep, which could not be numbered.

He appointed grain to be prepared from all of Syria, as he passed through it. In fact, he took up gold and silver from the house of the king in great abundance. And he set out, he and all the army, with the four-horse chariots, and horsemen, and archers. And they covered the face of the earth like locusts.

And when he had crossed over the borders of the Assyrians, he came to the great mountains of Ange, which are on the left of Cilicia. And he ascended to all their castles, and he prevailed over all the fortifications. Moreover, he broke open the renowned city of Melothus, and he pillaged all the sons of Tarshish, and the sons of Ishmael, who were opposite the face of the desert and to the south of the land of Cellon.

And he crossed over the Euphrates and came into Mesopotamia. And he crushed all the lofty cities that were there, from the torrent of Mambre, even until one passes through to the sea. And he occupied its furthest regions, from Cilicia all the way to the coastlines of Japheth, which are towards the south.

And he carried away all the sons of Midian, and he plundered them in all their wealthy regions. And all who resisted him, he slew with the edge of the sword. And after these things, he descended to the plains of Damascus, in the days of the harvest, and he set fire to all the crops, and he caused all the trees and the vineyards to be cut down. {2:18} And the fear of them fell upon all the inhabitants of the land.

[Judith 3] {3:1} Then the kings as well as the princes of the provinces sent their emissaries from all of the cities: from Syria, particularly Mesopotamia, and Syria Sobal, and Libya as well as Cilicia. These, upon coming to Holofernes, said: {3:2} “Let your indignation concerning us cease. For it is better for us to live in service to Nebuchadnezzar, the great king, and to become subject to you, rather than to die, even though we may have to suffer our condemnation into the annihilation of slavery. {3:3} All our cities and all our possessions, all mountains, and hills, and fields, and herds of cattle, and flocks of sheep, and goats, and horses, and camels, and all our resources and families are in your sight. {3:4} Let all that we have be subject to your law. {3:5} We, and our sons, are your servants. {3:6} Come to us as a peaceful lord, and use our service, just as it pleases you.” {3:7} Then he descended from the mountains with horsemen, in great power, and he took charge of every city and of every inhabitant of the land. {3:8} And, from all the cities, he took for himself auxiliaries: strong men and well-chosen for war. {3:9} And such a dread lay upon those provinces, that the leading and honored inhabitants of all the cities, together with the people, went out to meet him at his arrival. {3:10} They received him with garlands and lamps; they were led by choirs with timbrels and flutes. {3:11} Yet, not even by doing these things were they able to mitigate the ferocity of his chest. {3:12} For he both destroyed their cities and cut down their sacred groves. {3:13} For king Nebuchadnezzar had instructed him to exterminate all the gods of the earth, evidently so that he alone might be called ‘god’ by those nations which were able to be subjugated by the power of Holofernes. {3:14} But when he had passed through Syria Sobal, and all of Apamea, and all Mesopotamia, he came to the Idumeans in the land of Gibeah. {3:15} And he took their cities, and he sat there for thirty days, during which days he instructed all the troops of his army to regroup.

[Judith 4] {4:1} Then, upon hearing these things, the sons of Israel, who dwelt in the land of Judah, were very afraid before his face. {4:2} Trembling and horror invaded their senses, lest he should do the same thing to Jerusalem and to the temple of the Lord that he had done to other cities and their temples. {4:3} And they sent into all of Samaria, and by an indirect route even to Jericho, and they seized in advance all the tops of the mountains. {4:4} And they surrounded their villages with walls, and they gathered together grain in preparation for the fight. {4:5} And then Eliachim the priest wrote to all who were opposite Esdrelon, which is opposite the face of the great plain near Dothan, and to all whom he would be able to reach through a passable way: {4:6} that they should hold the ascents of the mountains, through which there might be any passage able to reach Jerusalem, and that they should keep watch where the passage was narrow, wherever possible, between the mountains. {4:7} And the sons of Israel did just as Eliachim, the priest of the Lord, had appointed them. {4:8} And all the people cried out to the Lord with great urgency, and they humbled their souls with fastings, and prayers, both they and their wives. {4:9} And the priests clothed themselves with haircloths, and they prostrated the little children opposite the face of the temple of the Lord, and they covered the altar of the Lord with haircloth. {4:10} And they cried out to the Lord God of Israel with one accord, lest their children should be given over as prey, and their wives into distribution, and their cities into extermination, and their holy things into defilement, and so that they might not become the disgrace of the Gentiles. {4:11} Then Eliachim, the high priest of the Lord, traveled all around Israel, and he was talking to them, {4:12} saying: “Know that the Lord will heed your prayers, if you continue to persevere in fastings and prayers in the sight of the Lord. {4:13} Recall that Moses, the servant of the Lord, overcame Amalek, who trusted in his own strength, and in his power, and in his army, and in his bronze shields, and in his swift chariots, and in his horsemen. He overcame him, not by fighting with iron, but by pleading with holy prayers. {4:14} So will it be with all the enemies of Israel, if you persevere in this work that you have begun.” {4:15} Therefore, by this exhortation and his prayer to the Lord, they continued in the sight of the Lord, {4:16} so that even those who offered holocausts to the Lord, offered the sacrifices to the Lord girded with haircloths, and there were ashes upon their heads. {4:17} And they all begged God with their whole heart, that he would visit his people Israel.

[Judith 5] {5:1} And it was reported to Holofernes, the leader of the military of the Assyrians, that the sons of Israel were preparing themselves to resist, and also that they had closed the mountain passes. {5:2} And he was enraged with extreme fury and great indignation, and he called together all the leaders of Moab and the leaders of Ammon. {5:3} And he said to them: “Tell me who this people may be, who obstruct the mountains. And which are their cities, and of what kind, and how many? And then, what may be their power, and what may be their number, and who is king over their military? {5:4} And why have these, more than all who dwell in the east,shown contempt for us, and have not gone out to meet us, so that they might receive us with peace?” {5:5} Then Achior, commander of all the sons of Ammon, responding, said: “If you would deign to listen, my lord, I will tell the truth in your sight about this people, who dwell in the mountains, and not a false word will go forth from my mouth. {5:6} This people is from the progeny of the Chaldeans. {5:7} These dwelt at first in Mesopotamia, because they were not willing to follow the gods of their fathers, who were in the land of the Chaldeans. {5:8} And so, forsaking the ceremonies of their fathers, which were with a multitude of gods, {5:9} they worshipped one God of heaven, who also instructed them to go forth from that place and to dwell in Canaan. And when a famine covered the whole land, they went down into Egypt, and there, through four hundred years, they were so multiplied, that the army of them could not be numbered. {5:10} And when the king of Egypt oppressed them, and also subjugated them to labor with clay and brick in the building of his cities, they cried out to their Lord, and he struck the entire land of Egypt with various plagues. {5:11} And when the Egyptians had cast them away from them, and the plague had ceased from them, and they were willing to seize them again and recall them to their servitude: {5:12} the God of heaven opened the sea to these as they fled, so that the waters were made to stand firm like a wall on either side, and these walked across the bottom of the sea and passed through with dry feet. {5:13} In that place, when an innumerable army of the Egyptians pursued after them, they were so overwhelmed with the waters, that not even one remained to report to posterity what had happened. {5:14} In truth, going forth from the Red Sea, they occupied the deserts of mount Sinai, in which man could never dwell, nor a son of man take rest. {5:15} In that place, bitter fountains became sweet for them to drink, and, through forty years, they continued to receive provisions from heaven. {5:16} And, although they had entered without bow and arrow, and without shield and sword, their God fought on their behalf and was victorious. {5:17} And there was no one who could attack this people, except when they withdrew from the worship of the Lord their God. {5:18} But as often as they worshipped any other, except their own God, they were delivered to plunder, and to the sword, and into reproach. {5:19} But as often as they were repentant for having withdrawn from the worship of their God, the God of heaven gave them the power to resist. {5:20} And, indeed, they overthrew the king of the Canaanites, and of the Jebusites, and of the Perizzites, and of the Hethites, and of the Amorrhites, and all the powerful ones in Hesebon, and these same possessed their lands and their cities. {5:21} And, as long as they did not sin in the sight of their God, it was well with them. For their God hates iniquity. {5:22} And even some years ago, when they had withdrawn from the way that their God had given them to walk, they were destroyed in battles by many nations and very many of them were led away captive into a land not their own. {5:23} But, more recently, returning to the Lord their God, from the dispersion in which they had been scattered, they have united and have ascended into all these mountains, and they again possess Jerusalem, where their holy things are. {5:24} Therefore, now my lord, inquire if there may be any iniquity of theirs in the sight of their God. If so, let us ascend to them, because their God will surely deliver them to you, and they will be subjugated under the yoke of your power. {5:25} But if, in truth, there may be no offense of this people before their God, we will not be able to resist them, because their God will defend them, and we will become a disgrace to the whole earth.” {5:26} And it happened, when Achior had ceased to speak these words, all the great men of Holofernes were angry, and they intended to execute him, saying to each other: {5:27} “Who is this, that says the sons of Israel are able to resist king Nebuchadnezzar and his armies: unarmed men, and without strength, and without skill in the art of fighting? {5:28} Therefore, so that Achior may know that he has failed us, let us ascend to the mountains. And, when the most powerful among them have been taken, then, with them, he will be impaled with the sword. {5:29} So may every people know that Nebuchadnezzar is god of the earth, and there is no other, except him.”

[Judith 6] {6:1} But when they had ceased speaking, it happened that Holofernes, being very indignant, said to Achior: {6:2} “Because you have prophesied to us, saying that the people of Israel may be defended by their God, and so as to reveal to you that there is no God, except Nebuchadnezzar: {6:3} when we will have struck them all as one man, then you also will pass away with them by the sword of the Assyrians, and all Israel will perish into perdition with you. {6:4} And you will be shown that Nebuchadnezzar is the lord of the whole earth. And then, the sword of my army will pass through your sides, and, being stabbed, you will fall among the wounded of Israel, and you will breathe no longer, when you have been destroyed with them. {6:5} And furthermore, if you consider your prophecy to be true, do not let your countenance fall, and let the paleness that has taken hold of your face depart from you, if you claim that these my words cannot be fulfilled. {6:6} But so that you may know that you will experience these things together with them, behold, from this hour you will be associated with their people, so that, when they receive the punishment that they deserve from my sword, you will fall under the same vengeance.” {6:7} Then Holofernes instructed his servants to apprehend Achior, and to lead him through to Bethulia, and to deliver him into the hands of the sons of Israel. {6:8} And, taking him, the servants of Holofernes traveled through the plains. But when they approached close to the mountains, the slingers of stones went forth against them. {6:9} Then, diverting by the side of the mountain, they tied Achior, hands and feet, to a tree, and so they abandoned him, bound with ropes, and they returned to their lord. {6:10} Thereafter, the sons of Israel, descending from Bethulia, came to him. Releasing him, they brought him to Bethulia. And so, standing him in the midst of the people, they interrogated him as to what event caused the Assyrians to abandon him, bound. {6:11} In those days, the rulers of that place were Uzziah, the son of Micah of the tribe of Simeon, and Chabris, also called Gothaniel. {6:12} And so, in the midst of the elders and in the sight of everyone, Achior explained all that he had said in reply to the questioning of Holofernes, and in what manner the people of Holofernes wanted to have him killed because of this word, {6:13} and how Holofernes himself, being angry, had ordered him to be handed over to the Israelites, for this reason: so that when he would prevail over the sons of Israel, then he would also command Achior himself to be executed by diverse torments, because he had said that the God of heaven is their defender. {6:14} And when Achior had declared all these things, all the people fell on their faces, adoring the Lord, and, communing together with mourning and weeping, they poured out their prayers with one mind to the Lord, {6:15} saying: “O Lord, God of heaven and earth, behold their arrogance, and gaze upon our humility, and attend to the face of your holy ones, and reveal that you do not abandon those who rely on you, and that those who rely on themselves and who glory in their own strength, you humble.” {6:16} And so, when their weeping was ended, and the prayer of the people throughout the entire day was completed, they comforted Achior, {6:17} saying: “The God of our fathers, whose power you have predicted, will give to you this in return: that you, instead, will see the destruction of them. {6:18} Truly, when the Lord our God will give this freedom to his servants, may God also be with you in our midst, so that, just as it pleases you, everyone who is with you may keep company with us.” {6:19} Then Uzziah, after the council was ended, received him into his own house, and he made him a great supper. {6:20} And all the elders were invited; together they refreshed themselves at the completion of their fast. {6:21} In truth, after this, all the people were called together, and they prayed throughout the entire night within the assembly, petitioning help from the God of Israel.
[Judith 7] {7:1} But Holofernes, on another day, instructed his army to ascend against Bethulia. {7:2} Moreover, there were one hundred and twenty thousand foot-soldiers, and twenty-two thousand horsemen, besides the contingents of those men who had been taken captive, and all the youths who had been abducted from the provinces and the cities. {7:3} All these prepared themselves together to fight against the sons of Israel, and they came through the foothills of the mountain, even to the apex, which looks down upon Dothain, from the place which is called Belma, up to Chelmon, which is opposite Esdrelon. {7:4} But the sons of Israel, when they saw the multitude of them, prostrated themselves upon the ground, scattering ashes over their heads, praying with one accord that the God of Israel would show his mercy upon his people. {7:5} And, taking up their arms of war, they set up positions at the places that lead along a narrow footpath between the mountains, and they guarded them all day and night. {7:6} Now Holofernes, while circling around, discovered that the fountain that flowed in to them, led directly through an aqueduct on the south side, beyond the city. And he instructed their aqueduct to be cut off. {7:7} Even so, there were springs not far from the walls, from which they were seen to draw water secretly, to refresh themselves a little rather than to drink theirfill. {7:8} But the sons of Ammon and Moab approached Holofernes, saying: “The sons of Israel do not trust in their lances, nor in their arrows, but the mountains are their defense, and the steep hills and precipices constitute their fortifications. {7:9} Therefore, so that you may be able to overcome them without joining battle, set guards at the springs so that they may not draw water from them, and you will put them to death without the sword, or at least, being weary, they will hand over their city, which they suppose to be, by its position in the mountains, unable to be conquered.” {7:10} And these words were pleasing before Holofernes and before his attendants, and so he stationed a hundred men around every spring. {7:11} And when they had kept this watch through twenty full days, the cisterns and collections of waters failed among all the inhabitants of Bethulia, so that there was within the city not enough to satisfy them for even one day, because water was given out to the people daily by measure. {7:12} Then, all the men and women, youths and little ones, gathering together before Uzziah, all with one voice together, {7:13} said: “May God be judge between us and you, for you have done evil with us, in not being willing to speak peacefully with the Assyrians, and because of this, God has sold us into their hands. {7:14} And therefore, there is no one to help us, while we are prostrated before their eyes with thirst and great destruction. {7:15} And now, gather together all who are in the city, so that we may willingly deliver everyone of us to the people of Holofernes. {7:16} For it is better that as captives, being alive, we should bless the Lord, than that we should die and become a disgrace to all flesh, after we have seen our wives and our children die before our eyes. {7:17} We call to witness this day heaven and earth, and the God of our fathers, who takes vengeance upon us according to our sins, so that now you may deliver the city into the hand of the military of Holofernes. And may our end be brief, by the edge of the sword, that would be made longer by the dryness of thirst.” {7:18} And when they had said these things, there happened a great weeping and a loud lamentation within the assembly. From everyone and for many hours, with one voice, they cried out to God, saying: {7:19} “We have sinned like our fathers, we have acted unjustly, we have committed iniquity. {7:20} May you have mercy on us, for you are pious, or with your own scourges avenge our iniquities, but do not be willing to deliver those trusting in you to a people who are ignorant of you, so that they may not say among the Gentiles, ‘Where is their God?’” {7:21} And when, being weary from these outrages, and tired from these weepings, they became silent, {7:22} Uzziah, rising up covered in tears, said: “Be steadfast in soul, brothers, and let us wait these five days for mercy from the Lord. {7:24} For perhaps he will break off his indignation and give glory to his own name. {7:25} But if, with five days passing, help does not arrive, we will accomplish the words that you have spoken.”

[Judith 8] {8:1} And it happened that these words were heard by Judith, a widow who was the daughter of Merari, the son of Idox, the son of Joseph, the son of Oziel, the son of Elai, the son of Jannor, the son of Gideon, the son of Raphaim, the son of Ahitub, the son of Melchiel, the son of Enan, the son of Nathaniel, the son of Salathiel, the son of Simeon, the son of Ruben. {8:2} And her husband was Manasseh, who died in the days of the barley harvest. {8:3} For he was standing over those who bound sheaves in the field, and the heat overcame his head, and he died in Bethulia, his own city, and he was buried there with his fathers. {8:4} But Judith, his bereaved, was a widow now for three years and six months. {8:5} And she made herself a private chamber in the upper part of her house, in which she stayed enclosed with her handmaids. {8:6} And she had haircloth around her waist, and she fasted all the days of her life, except Sabbaths, and new moons, and the feasts of the house of Israel. {8:7} Moreover, she was exceedingly elegant in appearance, and her husband left her many riches, and an abundant household, as well as the ownership of plentiful herds of oxen and flocks of sheep. {8:8} And she was greatly renowned among all, because she feared the Lord very much, nor was there anyone who spoke an ill word about her. {8:9} And so, when she heard that Uzziah had promised that he would hand over the city with the passing of five days, she sent to the elders Chabris and Charmis. {8:10} And they came to her, and she said to them: “What is this word, by which Uzziah has consented to hand over the city to the Assyrians, if within five days no help arrives for us? {8:11} And who are you to test the Lord? {8:12} This is not a word that will provoke mercy, but rather one that may excite wrath and enkindle fury. {8:13} You have set a time limit for the mercy of the Lord, and you have established a day for him, according to your choice. {8:14} But, since the Lord is patient, let us be repentant about this same matter, and let us beg his indulgence with many tears. {8:15} For God will not threaten like man, nor will he be inflamed to anger like a son of man. {8:16} And, for this reason, let us humble our souls before him, and, continuing to serve him in a spirit of humility, {8:17} let us speak to the Lord with tears, so that he may act according to his will in his mercy toward us. So then, just as our heart is disturbed by their arrogance, so also may we glory in our humility. {8:18} For we have not followed the sins of our fathers, who abandoned their God in order to worship strange gods. {8:19} Because of this crime, they were given over to their enemies: to the sword, and to pillaging, and to confusion. But we know no other God except him. {8:20} Let us wait with humility for his consolation, and the Lord our God will requite our blood by the afflictions of our enemies, and he will humble all the nations that will rise up against us, and he will cause them to be without honor. {8:21} And now, brothers, because you are the elders among the people of God, and their very soul hangs upon you, rescue their hearts by your eloquence, so that they may remember that our fathers were tested in order to prove whether or not they truly worshiped their God. {8:22} They are obliged to remember how our father Abraham was tested, and being proved by many tribulations, he was made the friend of God. {8:23} So Isaac, so Jacob, so Moses, and all that have pleased God, passed through many tribulations, remaining faithful. {8:24} But those who did not accept the trials with the fear of the Lord, and who brought forward their impatience and the disgrace of their murmuring against the Lord, {8:25} were exterminated by the exterminator, and they perished by serpents. {8:26} And as for us, therefore, let us not revenge ourselves for these things that we suffer. {8:27} But, in considering these same sufferings to be less than our sins deserve, let us believe that the scourges of the Lord, by which we are corrected like servants, have occurred for our improvement and not for our destruction.” {8:28} And Uzziah and the elders said to her: “All the things that you have spoken are true, and there is nothing reprehensible in your words. {8:29} Now, therefore, pray for us, because you are a holy woman, and one fearing God.” {8:30} And Judith said to them: “You know that what I have been able to say is of God. {8:31} So, concerning that which I propose to do, examine whether or not it is from God, and pray that God may act to strengthen my plan. {8:32} You will stand at the gate this night, and I will go forth with my handmaid. And pray that, just as you have said, within five days the Lord may look kindly on his people Israel. {8:33} But I am not willing to have you examine my actions, and, until I report to you, let nothing else be done, except to pray for me to the Lord our God.” {8:34} And Uzziah, the leader of Judah, said to her, “Go in peace, and may the Lord be with you to take revenge among our enemies.” So, turning back, they departed.

[Judith 9] {9:1} And when they were gone, Judith entered her place of prayer. And clothing herself with haircloth, she placed ashes on her head. And prostrating herself to the Lord, she cried out to the Lord, saying: {9:2} “O Lord, God of my father Simeon, you gave him a sword to defend against foreigners, who stood out as violators by their defilement, and who uncovered the thigh of the virgin unto shame. {9:3} And you gave their wives into plunder, and their daughters into captivity, and all their spoils to be divided to the servants, who were zealous with your zeal. Bring help, I ask you, O Lord my God, to me, a widow. {9:4} For you have acted in the past, and you have decided one thing after another. And what you have willed, this too has happened. {9:5} For all your ways have been prepared, and you have placed your judgments within your providence. {9:6} Look upon the camp of the Assyrians now, just as you deigned to look upon the camp of the Egyptians, when their weapons rushed after your servants, trusting in their four-horse chariots, and in their horsemen, and in a multitude of warriors. {9:7} But you gazed upon their camp, and darkness woreied them. {9:8} The abyss took hold of their feet, and the waters covered them. {9:9} So may it be with these also, O Lord, who trust in their multitude, and in their swift chariots, and in their pikes, and in their shields, and in their arrows, and the glory in their lan ces. {9:10} And they do not know that you are our God, who crushes wars from the beginning, and the Lord is your name. {9:11} Raise up your arm, just as from the beginning, and throw down their power by your power. Let their power fall, in their anger, for they promise themselves to violate your sanctuary, and to pollute the tabernacle of your name, and to cut down by their sword the horn of your altar. {9:12} Act, O Lord, so that his arrogance may be cut off with his own sword. {9:13} Let him be seized by the snare of his own eyes in my regard, and may you strike him by the attraction of my lips. {9:14} Give me constancy in my soul, so that I may hold him in contempt, and give me virtue, so that I may overthrow him. {9:15} For this will be a memorial to your name, when he will be overthrown by the hand of a woman. {9:16} For your power, O Lord, is not in numbers, nor is your will with the strength of horses, nor from the beginning have the arrogant been pleasing to you. But the pleas of the humble and the meek have always pleased you. {9:17} O God of the heavens, Creator of the waters, and Lord of all creation, heed me, a miserable thing, pleading you and depending on your mercy. {9:18} Remember, O Lord, your covenant, and put your words in my mouth, and reinforce the plan in my heart, so that your house may continue with your sanctification, {9:19} and so that all the nations may acknowledge that you are God, and there is no other beside you.”

[Judith 10] {10:1} And it happened that, when she had ceased to cry out to the Lord, she arose from the place where she lay prostrate before the Lord. {10:2} And she called her handmaid, and descending into her house, she took away from herself the haircloth, and she put on herself the garments of her widowhood, {10:3} and she washed her body, and she anointed herself with the best ointment, and she put sandals on her feet, and she put on her garments of her widowhood, {10:4} And also, the Lord conferred upon her a splendid. For all this dressing up did not proceed from sensuality, but from virtue. And therefore, the Lord increased this, her beauty, so that she appeared with incomparable honor before the eyes of all. {10:5} And so, she appointed to her handmaid a wineskin, and a vessel of oil, and parched grain, and dried figs, and bread, and cheese, and they departed. {10:6} And when they came to the gate of the city, they found Uzziah and the elders of the city waiting. {10:7} And when they saw her, being astounded, they wondered at her surpassing beauty. {10:8} So, not questioning her at all, they dismissed her to go forth, saying: “May the God of our fathers give you grace, and may he strengthen all the advice of your heart with his virtue, so that Jerusalem may glory over you, and your name may be counted among the holy and the just.” {10:9} And those who were there, all with one voice, said: “Amen. Amen.” {10:10} In truth, Judith was praying to the Lord as she crossed through the gates, she and her handmaid. {10:11} But it happened that, when she descended the mountain at about the break of day, the scouts of the Assyrians met her, and they stopped her, saying, “Where are you coming from? And where are you going?” {10:12} And she answered: “I am a daughter of the Hebrews. This is why I have fled from their face: because I realized that in the future they would be given over to you with pillaging, for they hold you in contempt, and they would never be willing to surrender themselves, so that they might find mercy in your sight. {10:13} For this reason, I thought to myself, saying: I will go to the face of the leader Holofernes, so that I may reveal to him their secrets, and show him by what means he may be able to prevail over them, without one man of his army being slain.” {10:14} And when the men had heard her words, they beheld her face, and their eyes were astounded, because they wondered exceedingly at her beauty. {10:15} And they said to her: “You have preserved your life by following such an excellent plan, to descend to our lord. {10:16} But know this, that when you will stand in his sight, he will treat you well, and you will be very pleasing to his heart.” And they led her to the tabernacle of Holofernes, announcing her. {10:17} And when she had entered before his face, immediately Holofernes was captivated by his eyes. {10:18} And his attendants said to him, “Who can hold the people of the Hebrews in contempt, who have such beautiful women? So, we ought to think it not worthwhile, for their sakes, to fight against them.” {10:19} And so, Judith looked upon Holofernes, sitting under a canopy, which was woven from purple and gold, with emeralds and precious stones. {10:20} And, after she had gazed into his face, she showed reverence for him, prostrating herself to the ground. And the servants of Holofernes lifted her up, at the command of their lord.

[Judith 11] {11:1} Then Holofernes said to her: “Be steadfast in soul, and do not be terrified in your heart. For I have never harmed a man who was willing to serve king Nebuchadnezzar. {11:2} But if your people had not despised me, I would not have lifted up my lance over them. {11:3} But now, tell me, for what reason have you withdrawn from them, and why has it pleased you to come to us?” {11:4} And Judith said to him: “Receive the words of your maidservant. For, if you will follow the words of your maidservant, the Lord will accomplish an excellent thing by you. {11:5} For, as Nebuchadnezzar the king of the earth lives, and as his power lives, which is with you for the chastising of all straying souls: not only men serve him through you, but also the beasts of the field are submissive to him. {11:6} For the diligence of your mind is being reported to all nations, and it has been revealed to all of this age that you alone are good and powerful in all his kingdom, and your discipline is being announced beforehand in all the provinces. {11:7} This is not hidden, what Achior has said, nor are we ignorant of what you have ordered to befall him. {11:8} For it is agreed that our God is so offended with sins that he has commanded, through his prophets to the people, that he will deliver them up for their sins. {11:9} And since the sons of Israel know that they have offended their God, your treasuring is upon them. {11:10} Moreover, now also a famine has assailed them, and, by drought of water, they are already counted among the dead. {11:11} And finally, they have a plan to put to death their herds, and to drink their blood. {11:12} And the sacred things of the Lord their God, which God instructed them not to touch, among the grain, wine, and oil, these they have decided to expend, and they are willing to consume the things that they ought not to touch with their hands. Therefore, because they do these things, it is certain that they will be given over to perdition. {11:13} And I, your maidservant, knowing this, have fled from them, and the Lord has sent me to report to you these same things. {11:14} For I, your maidservant, worship God even now that I am with you, and your maidservant will go out, and I will pray to God. {11:15} And he will tell me when he will repay them for their sins, and I will return and announce it to you, so that I may bring you through the midst of Jerusalem, and you will hold all the people of Israel, like sheep that have no shepherd, and there will not be so much as one dog that barks against you. {11:16} For these things have been told to me through the providence of God. {11:17} And because God has been angry with them, I have been sent to report these same things to you.” {11:18} And so, all these words were pleasing before Holofernes, and before his servants, and they wondered at her wisdom, and they said to one another: {11:19} “There is not another woman so great upon the earth: in appearance, in beauty, and in charming words.” {11:20} And Holofernes said to her: “God has done well, who sent you ahead of the people, so that you may give them into our hands. {11:21} And if your promise is good, if your God will do this for me, he will also be my God, and you will be great in the house of Nebuchadnezzar, and your name will be renowned through all the earth.”

[Judith 12] {12:1} Then he ordered her to enter where his valuables were stored, and he ordered her wait there, and he appointed what should be given to her from his own feast. {12:2} And Judith responded to him, and she said: “Now, I am not able to eat from these things which you instructed to be allotted to me, lest an offense come upon me. But I will eat from that which I have brought.” {12:3} And Holofernes said to her, “If these things that you have brought with you should fail you, what shall we do for you?” {12:4} And Judith said, “As your soul lives, my lord, your maidservant will not expend all these things, until God accomplishes by my hand what I have in mind.” And his servants led her into the tabernacle, as he instructed. {12:5} And, as she was entering, she requested that it be permitted to her to go outside at night, before daylight, in order to pray and to petition the Lord. {12:6} And he instructed his chamberlains that she may exit and enter, just as it may please her, to adore her God, for three days. {12:7} And she went out in the nights into the valley of Bethulia, and she washed herself in a fountain of water. {12:8} And, as she climbed up, she prayed to the Lord God of Israel that he would direct her way, to the liberation of his people. {12:9} And entering, she remained pure in the tabernacle, until she received her own food in the evening. {12:10} And it happened on the fourth day that Holofernes made a supper for his servants, and he said to Vagao his eunuch: “Go, and persuade that Hebrew woman to willingly consent to live with me. {12:11} For it is disgraceful among the Assyrians, if a woman mocks a man, acting so as to pass through with immunity from him.” {12:12} Then Vagao entered toward Judith, and he said, “May she not dread, my good young woman, to enter to my lord, so that she may be honored before his face, so that she may eat with him and drink wine with cheerfulness.” {12:13} Judith answered him:
“Who am I, that I should contradict my lord? {12:14} All that will be good and best before his eyes, I will do. Moreover, whatever will please him, to me, that will be what is best, all the days of my life.” {12:15} And she arose and dressed herself with her garments, and entering, she stood before his face. {12:16} But the heart of Holofernes was struck. For he was burning with desire for her. {12:17} And Holofernes said to her, “Drink now, and recline with cheerfulness, for you have found favor before me.” {12:18} And Judith said, “I will drink, my lord, because my soul has been magnified this day, beyond all my days.” {12:19} And she accepted and ate and drank in his sight what her handmaid had prepared for her. {12:20} And Holofernes became pleased with her, and he drank very much wine, more than he had ever drunk in his life.

[Judith 13] {13:1} So then, when it had become late, his servants hurried to their lodgings, and Vagao closed the chamber doors, and he went away. {13:2} But they were all drowsy from the wine. {13:3} And Judith was alone in the chamber. {13:4} Moreover, Holofernes, being very inebriated, was fast asleep, reclining on his bed. {13:5} And Judith told her handmaid to stand outside before the chamber, and to watch. {13:6} And Judith stood in front of the bed, praying with tears, and her lips moved in silence, {13:7} saying: “Confirm me, O Lord God of Israel, and in this hour look kindly upon the works of my hands, so that, just as you promised, you may raise up Jerusalem, your city, and so that, believing through you that this plan is able to be accomplished, I may succeed.” {13:8} And when she had said this, she approached the pillar, which was at the head of the bed, and she released his blade, which was hanging tied to it. {13:9} And when she had unsheathed it, she grabbed him by the hair of his head, and she said, “Confirm me, O Lord God, in this hour.” {13:10} And she struck him twice on his neck, and she cut off his head, and she took off his body. {13:11} And after a little while, she went out, and she delivered the head of Holofernes to her handmaid, and she ordered her to put it in her bag. {13:12} And the two went out, according to their custom, as if to prayer, and they passed through the camp, and having circled around the valley, they came to the gate of the city. {13:13} And Judith, from a distance, spoke to the watchmen on the walls, “Open the gates, for God is with us, and he has acted with his power in Israel.” {13:14} And it happened that, when the men had heard her voice, they called the elders of the city. {13:15} And all rushed toward her, from the least to the greatest. For, until then, they held no hope that she would return. {13:16} And, enflaming the lights, they gathered all around her. But she climbed up to a higher place, and she ordered them to be made silent. And when all had quieted down, {13:17} Judith said: “Praise the Lord our God, who has not abandoned those who hope in him. {13:18} And by me, his handmaid, he has fulfilled his mercy, which he promised to the house of Israel. And he has killed the enemy of his people, by my hand this night.” {13:19} Then, taking the head of Holofernes from the bag, she displayed it to them, saying: “Behold, the head of Holofernes the leader of the military of the Assyrians, and behold his canopy, under which he reclined in his drunkenness, where the Lord our God struck him by the hand of a woman. {13:20} But, as the Lord himself lives, his angel has been my guardian both from my departure, and while staying there, and when returning from there. And the Lord has not permitted me, his handmaid, to be defiled, but he has called me back to you without the pollution of sin, rejoicing in his victory, in my escape, and in your liberation. {13:21} Confess everything to him, for he is good, for his mercy is with every generation.” {13:22} Then everyone adored the Lord, and they said to her, “The Lord has blessed you by his power, because, through you, he has reduced our enemies to nothing.” {13:23} Furthermore, Uzziah, the leader of the people of Israel, said to her: “O daughter, you have been blessed by the Lord, the most high God, above all the women on earth. {13:24} Blessed is the Lord, who made heaven and earth, who has guided you in harming the head of the leader of our enemies. {13:25} For he has so magnified your name this day, that your praise will not retire from the mouth of men, who will be mindful of the power of the Lord forever, because you have risked your life for the sake of the distress and tribulation of your people, and you have prevented our ruin before the sight of our God.” {13:26} And all the people said: “Amen. Amen.” {13:27} And so, Achior was called, and he drew near, and Judith said to him: “The God of Israel, to whom you gave testimony, has avenged himself on his enemies. He has cut down the head of all unbelievers, by my hand this night. {13:28} And, so that you may determine that this is so, behold, the head of Holofernes, who, in the contempt of his pride, despised the God of Israel and threatened Israel with ruin, saying, ‘When the people of Israel have been captured, I will instruct your sides to be pierced through with a sword.’ ” {13:29} Then Achior, seeing the head of Holofernes, and being distressed by fear, fell upon his face on the ground, and his soul became agitated. {13:30} In truth, after this, when he had recovered his breath, he fell down before her feet, and he showed reverence for her, and he said: {13:31} “Blessed are you by your God, in every tabernacle of Jacob, for in every nation that will hear of your name, the God of Israel will be magnified over you.”

[Judith 14] {14:1} Then Judith said to all the people: “Hear me, brothers. Suspend this head over our walls. {14:2} And, as soon as the sun rises, let everyone take up his weapons and go out to attack, not going down all the way, but only to see if as if making an assault. {14:3} Then the scouts will have to hurry to awaken their leader for the fight. {14:4} And when their commanders rush into the tabernacle of Holofernes, and they find his headless body wallowing in his blood, fear will fall over them. {14:5} And when you realize that they are fleeing, go after them in security, for the Lord will crush them under your feet.” {14:6} Then Achior, seeing the power that the God of Israel had wrought, left behind the rituals of the Gentiles. He believed in God, and he circumcised the flesh of his foreskin, and he was placed among the people of Israel, and so were all the succession of his kindred, even until this present day. {14:7} And soon, at the rising of day, they suspended the head of Holofernes above the walls, and every man took up his weapons, and they went out with a great uproar and howling. {14:8} When the scouts saw this, they rushed to the tent of Holofernes. {14:9} Moreover, those who were in the tent came and made a loud noise before the entrance to the bedchamber, hoping to awaken him by an attempt at skillful noise-making, not by intruding on him, so that Holofernes might be roused from sleep. [14:10] For no one dared to knock, or to open and enter, the bedchamber of the powerful leader of the Assyrians. [14:11] But when his commanders and tribunes had arrived, with all the chiefs of the army of the king of the Assyrians, they said to the chamberlains: [14:12] “Enter and awaken him, for the mice have come out of their holes, intending to challenge us to fight.” [14:13] Then Vagao, entering his bedchamber, stood before the curtain, and he made a clapping noise with his hands. For he suspected that he was sleeping with Judith. [14:14] But when, with attentiveness, he perceived no motion of anyone reclining, he approached the curtain. And lifting it up, he saw the dead body of Holofernes, without a head, lying on the ground, soaked in his own blood. He cried out with a loud voice and weeping, and he tore his garments. [14:15] And he entered the tent of Judith and did not find her. And he ran out to the people, [14:16] and he said: “One Hebrew woman has caused confusion in the house of Nebuchadnezzar the king. For behold, Holofernes lies on the ground, and his head is not with him.” [14:17] Now when the leaders of the army of the Assyrians had heard this, they all tore their garments, and an intolerable fear and trembling fell over them, and their minds were greatly disturbed. [14:18] And there was an unprecedented outcry in the midst of their camp.

[Judith 15] [15:1] And when the entire army had heard that Holofernes was beheaded, reason and resolution fled from them, and, being moved by trembling and fear alone, they thought only to flee to safety. [15:2] So then, no one spoke with his neighbor, but hanging their heads and leaving everything behind, they hurried to escape from the Hebrews, who, as they had heard, were advancing against them well-armed. And they fled through the ways of the fields and the paths of the hills. [15:3] And so, the sons of Israel, seeing them fleeing, pursued them. And they went down after them, sounding the trumpets and howling. [15:4] And, since the Assyrians were not united, they rushed headlong in their flight. But the sons of Israel, pursuing like one unit, struck down all they were able to find. [15:5] And so, Uzziah sent messengers through all the cities and regions of Israel. [15:6] And then, every region and every city sent their chosen young men with weapons after them, and they pursued them with the edge of the sword, until they passed through to the extremities of their borders. [15:7] But the remainder, who were in Bethulia, entered the camp of the Assyrians and took away the plunder that the Assyrians, in their flight, had left behind, and they were exceedingly burdened. [15:8] In truth, those who returned victorious to Bethulia brought with them everything that was theirs. So there was no numbering their cattle, and beasts, and everything they could carry, so much so that, from the least to the greatest, all were made rich by their spoils. [15:9] But Joachim, the high priest, came from Jerusalem to Bethulia with all his elders to see Judith. [15:10] And when she had gone out to him, they all blessed her with one voice, saying: “You are the glory of Jerusalem, you are the joy of Israel, you are the honor of our people. [15:11] For you have acted manfully, and your heart has been strengthened. For you loved chastity, and, after your husband, you have not known any other. Therefore, also the hand of the Lord has strengthened you, and, therefore, you will be blessed for all eternity.” [15:12] And all the people said: “Amen. Amen.” [15:13] But all of thirty days were scarcely enough for the people of Israel to collect the spoils of the Assyrians. [15:14] But moreover, all of those things that were clearly the particular possessions of Holofernes they gave to Judith: with gold, and silver, and garments, and gems, and furniture. And these were all delivered to her by the people. [15:15] And all the people rejoiced, with the women, and the virgins, and the young men, playing on wind instruments and stringed instruments.

[Judith 16] [16:1] Then Judith sang this canticle to the Lord, saying: [16:2] “Call to the Lord with drums, sing to the Lord with cymbals, play for him a new psalm, exalt and invoke his name. [16:3] The Lord crushes wars; the Lord is his name. [16:4] He has set up his camp in the midst of his people, to rescue us from the hand of all our enemies. [16:5] Assur came from the mountains, from the North, with the multitude of his strength. His multitude blockaded the torrents, and their horses covered the valleys. [16:6] He told himself that he would set fire to my borders, and kill my young men with the sword, to give my children into plunder and my virgins into captivity. [16:7] But the almighty Lord has harmed him, and he has delivered him into the hands of a woman, and he has pierced him through. [16:8] For their powerful one did not fall by young men, nor did the sons of Titan strike him, nor did lofty giants set themselves against him, but Judith, the daughter of Merari, dissolved him with the splendor of her face. [16:9] For she put away from herself the garments of widowhood, and she clothed herself with the garments of rejoicing, for the sake of the exultation of the sons of Israel. [16:10] She anointed her face with ointment, and she gathered the locks of her hair with a headdress; she accepted a new dress in order to deceive him. [16:11] Her sandals ravished his eyes; her beauty made his soul her captive; with a blade, she cut off his head. [16:12] The Persians were horrified at her constancy, and the Medes at her boldness. [16:13] Then the camp of the Assyrians howled, when my humble ones appeared, parched with thirst. [16:14] The sons of the servant girls have pierced them through, and, like fleeing servants, they have killed them. They perished in battle before the face of the Lord, my God. [16:15] Let us sing a canticle to the Lord; let us sing a new hymn to our God. [16:16] O Adonai, O Lord, you are great, and splendor is in your virtue, and no one is able to overcome you. [16:17] Let all your creatures serve you. For you spoke, and they became. You sent forth your Spirit, and they were created. And there is no one who can withstand your voice. [16:18] The mountains will be moved from the foundations by the waters. The rocks, like wax, will liquefy before your face. [16:19] But those who fear you will be great with you, throughout all things. [16:20] Woe to the people that rises up against my people. For the Lord almighty will be vindicated against them; in the day of judgment, he will visit them. [16:21] For he will bestow fire and worms on their flesh, so that they may burn and have sensations without ceasing.” [16:22] And it happened that, after these things, all the people came to Jerusalem after the victory, to adore the Lord. And as soon as they were purified, they all offered holocausts, and vows, and their promises. [16:23] Moreover, Judith offered all the implements of war from Holofernes, which the people gave to her, and the canopy that she had taken away.
from his chamber, as an anathema unto oblivion. {16:24} But the people were cheerful before the face of the sanctuary, and for three months the gladness of this victory was celebrated with Judith. {16:25} And after those days, each one returned to his own house, and Judith became great in Bethulia, and she had great splendor in all the land of Israel. {16:26} For chastity was one with her virtue, so that she did not know man all the days of her life, after the passing away of her husband, Manasseh. {16:27} And then, on feast days, she came forth with great glory. {16:28} But she remained in her husband’s house for one hundred and five years, and she set her handmaid free. And she passed away and was buried with her husband in Bethulia. {16:29} And all the people mourned her, for seven days. {16:30} And, during all the time of her life, there was no one who disturbed Israel, nor for many years after her death. {16:31} Moreover, the day of the festivity of this victory was accepted by the Hebrews in the numbering of holy days, and it was religiously observed by the Jews, from that time, even to the present day.

 The Book of Esther **

[Esther 1] {1:1} In the second year of the reign of Artaxerxes the great, on the first day of the month of Nisan, Mordecai the son of Jair, the son of Shimei, the son of Kish, of the tribe of Benjamin, {1:2} a Jewish man who lived in the city of Susa, a great gentleman, and among the first ones of the king’s court, saw a dream. {1:3} Now he was one of a number of captives, whom Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon had carried away from Jerusalem with Jeconiah king of Judah. {1:4} And this was his dream: voices appeared, and confusion, and thunders, and earthquakes, and a disturbance upon the earth. {1:5} And behold, there were two great dragons making preparations against one another for battle. {1:6} And at their cry all peoples rushed forth to fight against the nation of the just. {1:7} And that was a day of darkness and division, of tribulation and anguish, and there was an unnatural dread over the earth. {1:8} And the nation of the just was disturbed, fearing their own evils, and was prepared for death. {1:9} And they cried out to God, and from their loud crying, a little fountain grew into a very great river and overflowed into many waters. {1:10} The light and the sun rose up, and the humble were exalted, and they devoured the illustrious. {1:11} When Mordecai had seen this, and he arose from bed, he was considering what God might want to do, and he kept it fixed in his soul, desiring to know what the dream might signify.

[Esther 2] {2:1} Now he was staying at that time in the king’s court with Bagatha and Thara the king’s eunuchs, who were porters of the palace. {2:2} And when he realized their thoughts, and had diligently paid close attention, he learned that they were attempting to cast their hand against king Artaxerxes, and he reported this to the king. {2:3} Then the king had both of them questioned, and when they confessed, he ordered a sentence of death. {2:4} But the king had what had happened written in the commentaries. And even Mordecai handed over the memory of these things into writing. {2:5} And the king instructed him to remain in the court of the palace, having given him this position for the information. {2:6} In truth, Haman the son of Hammedatha the Bougaean had great honor in the eyes of the king, and he wanted to harm Mordecai and his people because of the two eunuchs of the king who had been executed.

[Esther 3] {3:1} In the days of Artaxerxes, who reigned from India to Ethiopia over one hundred twenty-seven provinces, {3:2} when he sat on the throne of his kingdom, the city of Susa was the root of his kingdom. {3:3} And so, in the third year of his reign, he made a great feast for all the leaders and his servants, for the most powerful among the Persians and the distinguished among the Medes, and for the rulers of the provinces before him, {3:4} so that he might show the glorious riches of his kingdom, as well as its greatness, and so boast of his power, for a long time, namely, one hundred and eighty days. {3:5} And when the days of the feast were nearly completed, he invited all the people, who had been found in Susa, from the greatest even to the least, and he commanded a feast to be prepared, for seven days, in the court of the garden and the arboretum, which had been planted by the care and by the hand of the king. {3:6} And, in every direction, tents the color of the sky and of flax as well as hyacinth were hung up, suspended by cords of linen and even purple, which had been placed through rings of ivory and were held up with marble columns. The couches also, of gold and silver, had been arranged over a pavement of emerald-green, bearing scattered jewels, which was decorated with a wonderful variety of images. {3:7} Moreover, those who had been invited drank from golden cups, and dishes of foods had been brought in one after another. Likewise, choice wine was presented in abundance, as was worthy of royal magnificence. {3:8} Nor was anyone compelled to drink who was unwilling, but, just as the king had appointed, one of his nobles was set over each table, so that each one might select what he wanted. {3:9} Likewise, Vashti the queen made a feast for the women, in the palace where king Artaxerxes was accustomed to stay the night. {3:10} And so, on the seventh day, when the king was more cheerful, and, after excessive drinking, had become warmed with wine, he ordered Meehumon, and Biztha, and Harbona, and Bigtha, and Abagtha, and Zethar, and Charkas, seven eunuchs who served in his presence, {3:11} to bring in queen Vashti before the king, with the crown set upon her head, to show her beauty to the whole people and to the leaders, for she was very beautiful. {3:12} She refused, and she showed contempt towards the king’s command, which he had delivered to her by the eunuchs. Whereupon the king, being angry and inflamed with a very great fury, {3:13} questioned the wise men, who, according to royal custom were always near him and all he did was by their counsel, who knew the laws as well as the judgments of their ancestors, {3:14} (but first and foremost were Carshena, and Shethar, and Admatha, and Tarshish, and Meres, and Marsena, and Memucan, seven rulers of the Persians as well as the Medes, who saw the face of the king and who were accustomed to sitting down first after him,) {3:15} as to what sentence should fall upon Vashti the queen, who had refused to do the commandment of king Artaxerxes, which he had delivered to her by the eunuchs. {3:16} And Memucan answered, in the hearing of the king as well as the rulers, “Queen Vashti has wounded not only the king, but also all the people and the leaders, who are in all the provinces of king Artaxerxes. {3:17} For word about the queen will go out to all the women, so that they will show contempt for they...
husbands, and they will say, ‘King Artaxerxes ordered that queen Vashti should enter before him, and she would not.’

{3:18} And so, by this example all the wives of the leaders of the Persians and the Medes will belittle the authority of their husbands; therefore, the indignation of the king is just.

{3:19} If it pleases you, let an edict be sent out from your presence, and let it be written according to the law of the Persians and the Medes, which it is forbidden to disregard, that Vashti shall no longer enter before the king, but let another, who is better than her, receive her queenship.

{3:20} And let this be published in all the provinces of your empire, (which is very wide,) and let all wives, the greater as much as the lesser, give honor to their husbands.” {3:21} His counsel pleased the king and the rulers, and the king acted according to the counsel of Memucan, {3:22} and he sent letters to all the provinces of his kingdom, so that every nation was able to hear and to read, in various languages and letters, that husbands are to be the greater rulers in their own houses, and that this should be published to every people.

[Esther 4] {4:1} And so, after this had been carried out, and the indignation of king Artaxerxes had subsided, he remembered Vashti, and what she had done, and what had happened to her. {4:2} And the servants of the king, and his ministers, said, “Let young women be sought for the king, virgins and beautiful, {4:3} and let investigators be sent throughout all the provinces for young women, beautiful and virgins. And let them bring them to the city of Susa, and deliver them to the house of the women under the hand of Hegai the eunuch, who is the overseer and keeper of the king's women. And let them receive feminine ornaments, and other things necessary for their use. {4:4} And whoever among them all will please the king's eyes, let her reign instead of Vashti.” The idea pleased the king, and so he ordered it to be done as they had suggested. {4:5} There was a Jewish man in the city of Susa, by the name of Mordecai, son of Jair, son of Shimei, son of Kish, of the house of Benjamin, {4:6} who had been carried away from Jerusalem at the time that Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon carried away Jeconiah king of Judah, {4:7} who had raised his brother's daughter Hadassah, who by another name was called Esther. And she had lost both her parents. She was very beautiful, with a graceful appearance. Since her father and mother had both died, Mordecai adopted her as his own daughter. {4:8} And when the king's command became very well-known, in accordance with his command, many beautiful virgins were brought to Susa, and were delivered to Hegai the eunuch. Likewise, Esther, along with the other young women, was delivered to him, to be protected with the assembled women. {4:9} She was pleasing to him, and she found favor in his sight. And he commanded a eunuch to hasten the women's ornaments, and to deliver her share to her, along with seven of the most beautiful young women of the king's house, so as to both adorn and honor her and her handmaids. {4:10} She was not willing to reveal to him her people or her native land. For Mordecai had instructed her that she should keep silent about all these things. {4:11} He went for a walk every day, in the front courtyard of the house in which the chosen virgins were kept, having concern for Esther's welfare and wanting to know what would happen to her. {4:12} But, when the time came for each in the line of young women to go in to the king, after everything had been completed concerning feminine grooming, the twelfth month had been reached, to the extent that for six months they were anointed with oil of myrrh, and for another six months they used certain types of makeup and perfumes. {4:13} And when they were going in to the king, whatever they requested to adorn themselves, they received, and when each was pleased with herself, having been prepared in the chamber of the women, she passed on to the king's chamber. {4:14} And whoever entered at evening, departed in the morning, and then from there she was led to the second house, which was under the hand of Shaashgaz the eunuch, who presided over the king's concubines. Nor did she have the power to return again to the king, unless the king desired it and had summoned her by name. {4:15} But, as the order continued to progress, the day arrived when Esther, the daughter of Abihail the brother of Mordecai, whom he had adopted as his daughter, was required to go in to the king. She did not seek feminine ornaments, except that whatever Hegai the eunuch and keeper of the virgins chose, he gave her to adorn her. For she was very attractive, and her incredible beauty made her appear gracious and amiable in the eyes of all. {4:16} And so she was led to the chamber of king Artaxerxes, in the tenth month, which is called Tebeth, in the seventh year of his reign. {4:17} And the king loved her more than all the women, and she had favor and mercy in his eyes above all the women, and he set the royal crown on her head, and he made her queen instead of Vashti. {4:18} And he ordered a magnificent feast to be prepared for all the rulers, and for his servants, because of the union and wedding of Esther. And he gave a holiday to all the provinces, and he bestowed gifts befitting of princely generosity. {4:19} And when the virgins were sought for the second time and gathered together, Mordecai remained at the king's gate. {4:20} Esther had not yet declared her native land and her people, according to his command. For whatever he instructed, Esther observed. And so she did all things as she had become accustomed in the time when he raised her from early childhood.

{4:21} Therefore, at that time, when Mordecai was staying at the king's gate, Bagatha and Thara, two of the king's eunuchs, who were gatekeepers and who presided over the first entryway of the palace, were angry, and they decided to rise up against the king and kill him. {4:22} But Mordecai did not keep this secret, and immediately he reported it to queen Esther, and she reported it to the king in Mordecai's name, who had brought the matter to her. {4:23} It was inquired into and discovered, and they were both hanged on a gallows. And it was committed to the histories and the chronicles which are delivered in the sight of the king.

[Esther 5] {5:1} After this, king Artaxerxes exalted Haman, the son of Hammedatha, who was of Agag lineage, and he set his throne above all the rulers whom he had. {5:2} And all the king's servants, who passed by the doors of the palace, bent their knees and adored Haman, for so the ruler had instructed them. Only Mordecai did not bend his knee, nor adore him. {5:3} The king's servants, who presided over the doors of the palace, said to him, “Why do you, more than the others, not observe the king's command?” {5:4} And when they were saying this frequently, and he would not listen to them, they reported it to Haman, desiring to know whether he would continue in his resolution, for he had told them that he was a Jew. {5:5} Now when Haman had heard this, and had proved by a test that Mordecai did not bend his knee to him, nor adore him, he was very angry. {5:6} And he considered it pointless to lay his hands on Mordecai alone, for he had heard that he was part of the Jewish people. And so he wanted more: to destroy the entire nation of the Jews, who were in the kingdom of Artaxerxes. {5:7} In the first month, which is called Nisan, in the twelfth year of the reign of Artaxerxes, the lot was cast into an urn, which in Hebrew is called Pur, in the presence of Haman, to determine on what day and in which month the Jewish people should be destroyed. And it turned out to be the twelfth month, which is called Adar. {5:8} And Haman said to king Artaxerxes, “There is a people dispersed throughout all the provinces of your kingdom and separated one from another, who make use of unusual laws and ceremonies, and who, in addition, show contempt for the king’s ordinances. And you know very well that it is not expedient for your kingdom that they should become insolent through independence. {5:9} If it pleases you, declare that they may be destroyed, and I will weigh out ten thousand talents to the keepers of your treasury.” {5:10} And so the king took the ring that he used, from his own hand, and gave it to Haman, the son of Hammedatha, of Agag lineage, enemy of the Jews. {5:11} And he said to him, “Let the silver, which you promise, be for yourself. As for the people, do with them as it pleases you.” {5:12} And the scribes of the king were summoned, in the first month Nisan, on the thirteenth day of the same month. And it was written, as Haman had commanded, to all the king’s governors, and to the judges of the provinces, and to various peoples, so that each people could read and hear according to their various languages, in the name of king Artaxerxes. And the letters were sealed with his ring. {5:13} These were sent by the king’s messengers to all the provinces, so as to kill and destroy all the Jews, from children all the way to the elderly, even little children and women, on one day, that is, on the thirteenth of the twelfth month, which is called Adar, and to plunder their goods, even their necessities.

[Esther 6] {6:1} And this was the text of the letter: “Artaxerxes, the great king from India all the way to Ethiopia, to the leaders and generals of the one hundred twenty-seven provinces, which are subject to his authority, greetings. {6:2} Although I have reigned over many nations and subjugated the whole world under my realm, I was by no means willing to abuse the greatness of this power, but to govern my subjects with clemency and leniency, so that they would settle into a quiet life, apart from any terror, and delight in peace, as all mortals would choose to do. {6:3} Yet, in asking my counselors how this might be able to be accomplished, one who excelled the others in wisdom and fidelity, and who was second after the king, named Haman, {6:4} explained to me that there was a people, scattered throughout the whole world, that used strange laws, and, acting against the customs of all peoples, despised the commandments of kings and violated the harmony of all nations with their dissension. {6:5} When we had learned this, seeing one nation rebellious against all mankind, having overthrown the usefulness of laws, and going against our orders, and disturbing the peace and harmony of the provinces subject to us, {6:6} we commanded that whomever Haman, who is chief over all the provinces, and second after the king, and whom we honor in the place of a father, whomever he would point out should be destroyed by their enemies, with their wives and children, and that no one may take pity on them, on the fourteenth day of the twelfth month Adar of this present year, {6:7} so that these guilty men, all on one day, may go down to the underworld, restoring to our empire the peace that they had disturbed.” {6:8} And the effect of the letters was this: that all provinces would know and prepare for the prescribed day. {6:9} The couriers, who had been sent, hurried to complete the king’s command, but the edict was hung up in Susa immediately. And the king and Haman celebrated a feast, while all the Jews in the city were weeping.

[Esther 7] {7:1} When Mordecai had heard this, he tore his garments and put on sackcloth, strewing ashes on his head, and he cried out with a loud voice in the main street of the city, revealing the anguish of his soul. {7:2} And he continued with this lamenting, even up to the gate of the palace, for no one clothed with sackcloth is permitted to enter the king’s court. {7:3} Likewise, in all provinces, towns, and places where the king’s cruel decision arrived, there was extraordinary mourning among the Jews with fasting, wailing, and weeping, with many using sackcloth and ashes for their bed. {7:4} Then Esther’s maidens and eunuchs went in and informed her. When she heard it, she was shocked, and she sent a garment to clothe him and to take away the sackcloth, but he would not accept it. {7:5} And she sent for Hathach the eunuch, whom the king had appointed to minister to her, and she instructed him to go to Mordecai and to discern from him why he was doing this. {7:6} And departing, Hathach went to Mordecai, who was standing in the street of the city, in front of the palace entrance. {7:7} He told him everything that had happened, how Haman had promised to transfer silver into the king’s treasury for the death of the Jews. {7:8} Also, he gave him a copy of the edict that was hanging up in Susa, so that he would show it to the queen and advise her to go in to the king and beg him on behalf of her people. {7:9} And Hathach returned and informed Esther of all that Mordecai had said. {7:10} “Remember,” he said, “the days of your lowliness, how you were nurtured as if in my hand, because Haman, who is second after the king, has spoken against us to death. {7:11} And you must call upon the Lord, and speak with the king on our behalf, and free us from death.” {7:12} She answered him, and ordered him say to Mordecai: {7:13} “All the servants of the king and all the provinces that are under his realm understand that anyone, whether man or woman, who enters the king’s inner court, who has not been summoned, is immediately to be put to death without any delay, unless the king should happen to extend the golden scepter to him, as a sign of clemency, so that he will be able to live. How then can I go in to the king, when, for thirty days now, I have not been called to him?” {7:14} And when Mordecai had heard this, he again sent word to Esther, saying, “Do not think that you will save so much as your own soul, just because you are in the king’s house and are above all the Jews. {7:15} For, if you remain silent now, the Jews will be delivered through some other opportunity, but you and your father’s house will perish. And who knows whether you have come to the kingdom for this reason, so that you would be prepared for such a time as this?” {7:16} And he entrusted her (there was no question but that it was Mordecai) to go in to the king, and to petition on behalf of her people and her native land. {7:17} And again Esther sent to Mordecai in these words: {7:18} “Go and gather together all the Jews whom you will find in Susa, and pray for me. Neither eat nor drink for three days and three nights, and I will fast with my handmaids similarly, and then I will go in to the king, doing what is against the law, not having been called, and so expose myself to mortal danger.” {7:19} And so Mordecai went, and he did everything that Esther had instructed him. {7:20} Now Mordecai beseeched the Lord, remembering all his works, {7:21} and he said, “O Lord, Lord, almighty King, truly all things are possible for you, and there is no one who is able to resist your will, if you would determine to save Israel. {7:22} You have created heaven and earth, and everything that is contained under the cycle of heaven. {7:23} You are Lord of all, and there is no one who can resist your majesty. {7:24} You know everything, and you know that it was not out of arrogance or indignation or some desire for glory that I did this, so that I refused to adore the very proud Haman. {7:25} (For I was freely prepared, for the sake of the salvation of Israel, to have willingly kissed even the footsteps of his feet.) {7:26} But I feared, lest I should transfer the honor of my God to a man, and lest I should adore anyone except my God. {7:27} And now Lord, King, God of Abraham, may you have mercy on your people because our enemies want to destroy us and to erase your inheritance. {7:28} Do not despise your portion, which you have redeemed for yourself out of Egypt. {7:29} Listen to my supplication, and be gracious to your lot which you have redeemed for yourself out of Egypt. {7:30} Likewise, all Israel cried out to the Lord with the same intention and supplication because certain death was hanging over them.

Esther 8 {8:1} Queen Esther also, fearing the danger that was imminent, fled to the Lord. {8:2} And when she had put aside her royal apparel, she took up garments suitable for weeping and mourning, and instead of various ointments, she covered her head with ashes from burnt dung, and she humbled her body with fasting, and all the aspects of her beauty, she covered with her torn hair. {8:3} And she begged the Lord God of Israel, saying, “My Lord, who alone is our beauty, she covered with her torn hair. {8:3} And she begged

Alternate text from the Hebrew, verses 17-18. {9:17} And so, on the third day, Esther had put on her royal apparel and was standing in the atrium of the king’s house, which was inside, opposite the king’s hall, while he was sitting on his throne in the council room of the palace, opposite the entrance of the house. {9:18} And when he saw Esther the queen standing... there, she pleased his eyes, and he extended toward her the golden scepter, which he held in his hand, and she approached and kissed the top of his scepter.

[9:19] And the king said to her, “What do you wish, queen Esther? What is your request? Even if you ask for half of the kingdom, it will be given to you.” [9:20] But she responded, “If it pleases the king, I beg you to come with me today, and Haman with you, to the feast that I have prepared.” [9:21] And immediately the king said, “Call Haman quickly, so that he may obey Esther’s will. And so the king and Haman came to the feast, which the queen had prepared for them. [9:22] And the king said to her, after he had drunk wine abundantly, “What are you asking for that should be given to you? And which things do you require? Even if you request half of my kingdom, you will obtain it.” [9:23] Esther answered him, “My petition and prayer is this: [9:24] If I have found favor in the sight of the king, and if it pleases the king to give me what I ask, and to fulfill my petition, let the king and Haman come to the feast which I have prepared for them, and tomorrow I will open my mind to the king.” [9:25] And so Haman went out that day joyful and cheerful. And when he saw that Mordecai was sitting in front of the gate of the palace, and that he alone did not get up for him, but did not so much as move from the place where he sat, he was very indignant. [9:26] But, concealing his anger and returning into his house, he gathered to him his friends and Zeresh, his wife. [9:27] And he explained to them the greatness of his riches, and the influence of his sons, and how, with such glory, the king had elevated him above all his rulers and servants. [9:28] And after this, he said, “Also, queen Esther has called no one else to the feast with me.” [9:29] And though I have all these things, I have not found favor in your eyes, O king, and if it pleases you, spare my soul, I ask you, and spare my people, I beg you. [9:30] And Zeresh his wife and his other friends answered him, “Order a great beam to be prepared, having a height of fifty cubits, and in the morning speak to the king, so that Mordecai may be hanged from it, and so you will go joyfully with the king to the feast.” This advice pleased him, and so he ordered a high cross to be prepared.

[Esther 10] [10:1] The king passed that night without sleep, and so he ordered the histories and chronicles of former times to be brought to him. And when they were reading them before him, [10:2] they came to that place where it had been written, how Mordecai had reported the treachery of Bigthan and Teresh the eunuchs, who desired to cut the throat of king Artaxerxes. [10:3] When the king had heard this, he said, “What honor and reward has Mordecai been given for this fidelity?” His servants and ministers said to him, “He has received no compensation at all.” [10:4] And immediately the king said, “Who is in the atrium?” For, you see, Haman was entering the inner atrium of the king’s house to suggest to the king that he should order Mordecai to be hanged on the gallows, which had been prepared for him. [10:5] The servants answered, “Haman is standing in the atrium.” And the king said, “Let him enter.” [10:6] And when he had entered, he said to him, “What ought to be done for the man whom the king wishes to honor?” But Haman, thinking in his heart and supposing that the king would honor no one else but himself, [10:7] answered, “The man whom the king wishes to honor, [10:8] ought to be clothed with the king’s apparel, and be set upon the horse that the king rides, and receive the royal crown upon his head. [10:9] And let the first of the king’s rulers and sovereigns hold his horse, and, as they advance through the street of the city, proclaim before him and say, ‘Thus shall he be honored, whom the king decides to honor.’ ” [10:10] And the king said to him, “Hurry, take the robe and the horse, and do as you have said to Mordecai the Jew, who sits in front of the gate of the palace. Be careful not to omit any of those things which you have mentioned.” [10:11] And so Haman took the robe and the horse, and arraying Mordecai in the street of the city, and setting him on the horse, he went before him and cried out, “He is worthy of this honor, whom the king has decided to honor.” [10:12] And Mordecai returned to the palace door. And Haman hurried to go to his house, mourning and hiding his head. [10:13] And he explained to Zeresh his wife and to his friends all that had happened to him. And the wise men, whom he held in counsel, and his wife, answered him, “If Mordecai, before whom you have begun to fall, is from the offspring of the Jews, you will not be able to withstand him, but you will fall in his sight.” [10:14] As they were still speaking, the king’s eunuchs arrived and compelled him to go quickly to the feast, which the queen had prepared.

[Esther 11] [11:1] And so the king and Haman entered to drink with the queen. [11:2] And the king said to her again on the second day, after he was warmed with wine, “What is your request, Esther, so that it may be given to you? And what do you want done? Even if you ask for half of my kingdom, you will obtain it.” [11:3] She answered him, “If I have found favor in your eyes, O king, and if it pleases you, spare my soul, I ask you, and spare my people, I beg you. [11:4] For I and my people have been handed over to be crushed, to be slain, and to perish. And if we were only being sold as servants and slaves, the evil might be tolerable, and I would have mourned in silence. But now our enemy is one whose cruelty overflows upon the king.” [11:5] And king Artaxerxes answered and said, “Who is this, and of what power, that he would dare to do these things?” [11:6] And Esther said, “This is our most wicked enemy and foe: Haman!” Hearing this, Haman was suddenly dumbfounded, unable to bear the faces of the king and the queen. [11:7] But the king, being angry, rose up and, from the place of the feast, entered into the arboretum of the garden. Haman likewise rose up to entreat Esther the queen for his soul, for he understood that evil was prepared for him by the king. [11:8] When the king returned from the arboretum of the garden and entered into the place of the feast, he found Haman collapsed on the couch on which Esther lay, and he said, “And now he wishes to oppress the queen, in my presence, in my house!” The word had not yet gone out of the king’s mouth, and immediately they covered his face. [11:9] And Harbona, one of the eunuchs who stood in ministry to the king, said, “Behold the wood, which he had prepared for Mordecai, who spoke up on behalf of the king, stands in Haman’s house, having a height of fifty cubits.” The king said to him, “Hang him from it.” [11:10] And so Haman was hanged on the gallows, which he had prepared for Mordecai, and the king’s anger was quieted.
[Esther 12]  {12:1} On that day king Artaxerxes gave the house of Haman, the adversary of the Jews, to queen Esther, and Mordecai entered before the king. For Esther had confessed to him that he was her paternal uncle. {12:2} And the king took the ring, which he had ordered to be taken from Haman, and he handed it to Mordecai. And Esther appointed Mordecai over her house. {12:3} Not content with these things, she threw herself down at the king's feet and wept, and, speaking to him, pleaded that he would give orders that the malice of Haman the Agagite, and his most wicked schemes, which he had contrived against the Jews, would be made ineffective. {12:4} But he, as was the custom, extended the golden scepter with his hand, which was the sign of clemency, and she rose up and stood before him. {12:5} And she said, “If it pleases the king, and if I have found favor in his eyes, and my request is not seen to be disagreeable to him, I beg you that the former letters of Haman, the traitor and enemy of the Jews, by which he instructed them to be destroyed in all the king's provinces, may be corrected by new letters. {12:6} For how will I be able to endure the murder and execution of my people?” {12:7} And king Artaxerxes answered Esther the queen and Mordecai the Jew, “I have granted Haman's house to Esther, and I have ordered him to be fastened to a cross, because he dared to lay hands on the Jews. {12:8} Therefore, write to the Jews, just as it pleases you, in the king's name, sealing the letters with my ring.” For this was the custom, that letters which were sent in the king's name and were sealed with his ring, no one would dare to contradict. {12:9} Then the scribes and copyists were brought in, (now it was the time of the third month which is called Sivan,) on the twenty-third day of the month, and letters were written, as Mordecai wanted, to the Jews, and to the governors, and procurators, and judges, who presided over the one hundred twenty-seven provinces, from India all the way to Ethiopia: to one province and another, to one people and another, in accordance with their languages and letters, and to the Jews, exactly as they were able to read and hear. {12:10} And these letters, which were sent in the king's name, had been signed with his ring, and were sent by swift couriers who were to rush in every direction, through all the provinces, so as to prevent the former letters with new messages. {12:11} The king commanded them to bring together the Jews throughout each city, and to instruct them to join together, so as to make a stand for their lives, and to execute and destroy all their enemies, with their wives and children and their entire houses, and to plunder their spoil. {12:12} And one day of retribution was established throughout all the provinces, namely, the thirteenth of the twelfth month Adar.

[Esther 13]  {13:1} “Artaxerxes, the great king from India all the way to Ethiopia, to the generals and leaders of the one hundred twenty-seven provinces that obey our command: greetings, he says. {13:2} In arrogance, many have abused the goodness of leaders and the honor that has been bestowed on them, {13:3} and they strive, not only to oppress the king's subjects, but, not acting according to the glory given to them, set in motion a plan to ambush those very ones who gave it. {13:4} Neither are they content to withhold thanks for benefits and to violate in themselves the laws of humanity, but they also think they are able to escape from every sentence of the sifting judgment of God. {13:5} And they rush forth in such insanity that they attempt to subvert by filthy lies those who carefully fulfill the offices delegated to them and so perform everything that is deserving of the praise of all. {13:6} Meanwhile, they craftily deceive by fraud the ears of single-minded leaders, and they judge others according to their own nature. {13:7} These things are proven both from the ancient histories and from those things which happen daily: how the zeal of kings can be corrupted by the evil suggestions of such persons. {13:8} Therefore, we will make provision for the peace of all the provinces. {13:9} Neither should you think, if we change our orders, that they come from a fickle mind, but that we draw conclusions from the quality and necessity of the times, just as the expediency of the public good demands. {13:10} And, so that you may more clearly understand what we are saying: Haman the son of Hammedatha, a Macedonian both in mind and ancestry, and foreign to Persian blood, and with his cruelty contaminating our piety, was accepted by us as a sojourner. {13:11} And our humanity proved to be so great towards him that he was called our father and was adored by all as second only to the king. {13:12} But he was so filled with arrogance as to strive to deprive us of our kingdom and our life. {13:13} For example, with certain strange and unheard of machinations, he sought the death of Mordecai, whose faith and kindness kept us alive, and Esther, the partner of our kingdom, and all their people. {13:14} This he planned so that, after they were executed, he might work treason against us in our solitude and transfer the kingdom of the Persians to the Macedonians. {13:15} But we, having been resolved to ruin in death the mortal Jews, discovered no fault within them, but on the contrary, they use just laws {13:16} and are sons of the highest and greatest and everlasting God, by whose kindness the kingdom was handed down both to our fathers and to us, and is cared for even unto this day. {13:17} Therefore, you should understand to be null and void those letters that he administered under our name. {13:18} For this crime, before the gates of this city, that is, Susa, both he who devised it, and all his associates, hang on gallows: not we, but God repaying him as he deserved. {13:19} But this edict, which we now send, shall be displayed in all cities so that the Jews may be allowed to use their own laws. {13:20} You must be a support to them, so that they may be able to execute those, who themselves had prepared to kill them, on the thirteenth day of the twelfth month, which is called Adar. {13:21} For the almighty God has turned this day of grief and sorrow into joy for them. {13:22} Therefore, you too will keep this day, along with the other festival days, and celebrate it with all joy, so that it may be known even by future generations. {13:23} All those who faithfully obey the Persians deserve, for their fidelity, to receive a reward, but those who are traitors to their kingdom deserve to be destroyed for their crime. {13:24} But every province and city, which is not willing to participate in this solemnity, must perish by the sword and by fire, and be destroyed in this way so that they will be forever an indisputable example of contempt and disobedience, not only to humans, but even to wild animals.” {13:25} And such was the content of the letter, so that it would be made known in all lands and nations, which are subject to the authority of king Artaxerxes, that the Jews have been made ready to be vindicated of their enemies. {13:26} And so the swift couriers departed in haste, carrying through the announcement, and the king's edict was hung up in Susa. {13:27} But Mordecai, going forth from the palace and from the king's presence, shone in royal apparel the color of hyacinth and of the sky, wearing a golden crown on his head, and clothed with a cloak of silk and purple. And all the city rejoiced and was joyful. {13:28} But for the Jews, a new light seemed to rise; there was joy, honor, and dancing. {13:29} With all the peoples, cities, and provinces, wherever the king's orders arrived, there was wonderful rejoicing, banquets and feasts, and a solemn holy day, so much so that many of the other nations joined themselves to their religious practices and ceremonies. For a great fear of the name of the Jews had overcome them all.

[Esther 14] {14:1} Therefore, on the thirteenth day of the twelfth month, which as we have said before is called Adar, when all the Jews were prepared to be executed and their enemies were greedy for their blood, the situation turned around, and the Jews began to have the upper hand and to vindicate themselves of their adversaries. {14:2} And they gathered together throughout each city, and town, and place, so as to extend their hands against their enemies and their persecutors. And no one dared to resist them, because their great power had pierced all the peoples. {14:3} For even the judges of the provinces, and the rulers, and the procurators, and everyone of dignity, who presided over every place and work, extolled the Jews for fear of Mordecai. {14:4} For they knew him to be the leader of the palace and to have much power. Likewise, the fame of his name increased daily and flew everywhere through word of mouth. {14:5} And so the Jews struck their enemies like a great plague and killed them, repaying according to what they had prepared to do to them, {14:6} so much so that even in Susa they executed five hundred men, besides the ten sons of Haman the Agagite, the enemy of the Jews, and their names are these: {14:7} Parshandatha, and Dalphon, and Apatha, and Poratha, and Adalia, and Aridatha, and Arisai, and Aridai, and Vaizatha. {14:10} When they had slain them, they were unwilling to touch the spoils of their belongings. {14:11} And immediately the number of those who had been killed in Susa was reported to the king. {14:12} He said to the queen, “In the city of Susa, the Jews have executed five hundred men, and also the ten sons of Haman. How many executions do you think that they have carried out in all the provinces? What more do you ask, and what do you wish, so that I may order it to be done?” {14:13} And she answered, “If it pleases the king, may power be granted to the Jews, so as to do tomorrow in Susa just as they have done today, and that the ten sons of Haman may be hung up the gallows.” {14:14} And the king instructed that it should be so done. And immediately the edict was hung up in Susa, and the ten sons of Haman were hung up. {14:15} On the fourteenth day of the month Adar, the Jews gathered themselves together, and they executed in Susa three hundred men, but they did not seize their belongings from them. {14:16} Moreover, throughout all the provinces which were subject to the king's dominion, the Jews made a stand for their lives, and they executed their enemies and their persecutors, so much so that the number of those who were killed amounted to seventy-five thousand, and yet no one touched any of their belongings. {14:17} Now the thirteenth day of the month Adar was the first day with all of the executions, and on the fourteenth day they ceased the killing. This day they established to be sacred, so that in all times hereafter they would be free for feasting, joyfulness, and celebration. {14:18} But, as for those who were carrying out the killings in the city of Susa, they turned to killing on the thirteenth and fourteenth day of the same month. But on the fifteenth day they ceased to attack. And for that reason they established that day as sacred, with feasting and with gladness. {14:19} But in truth, those Jews who were staying in unwalled towns and villages, appointed the fourteenth day of the month Adar for celebration and gladness, so as to rejoice on that day and send one another portions of their feasts and their meals. {14:20} And so Mordecai wrote down all these things and sent them, composed in letters, to the Jews who were staying in all the king's provinces, as much to those in nearby places as to those far away, {14:21} so that they would accept the fourteenth and fifteenth day of the month Adar for holy days, and always, at the return of the year, would celebrate them with sacred esteem. {14:22} For on those days, the Jews vindicated themselves of their enemies, and their mourning and sorrow were turned into mirth and joy, so that these would be days of feasting and gladness, in which they would send one another portions of their feasts, and would grant gifts to the poor. {14:23} And the Jews accepted as a solemn ritual all the things which they had begun to do at that time, which Mordecai had commanded with letters to be done. {14:24} For Haman, the son of Hammedatha of Agag lineage, the enemy and adversary of the Jews, had devised evil against them, to kill them and to destroy them. And he had cast Pur, which in our language means the lot. {14:25} And after this, Esther had entered before the king, begging him that his efforts might be made ineffective by the king's letters, and that the evil he intended against the Jews might return upon his own head. Finally, both he and his sons were fastened to a cross. {14:26} And so, from that time, these days are called Purim, that is, of the lots, because Pur, that is, the lot, was cast into the urn. And all things that had been carried out are contained in the volume of this epistle, that is, of this book. {14:27} And whatever they suffered, and whatever was altered afterwards, the Jews received for themselves and their offspring and for all who were willing to be joined to their religion, so that none would be permitted to transgress the solemnity of these two days, to which the writing testifies, and which certain times require, as the years continually succeed one another. {14:28} These are the days which no one ever will erase into oblivion, and which every province in the whole world, throughout each generation, shall celebrate. Neither is there any city wherein the days of Purim, that is, of lots, may not be observed by the Jews, and by their posterity, which has been obligated to these ceremonies. {14:29} And Esther the queen, the daughter of Abihail, and Mordecai the Jew, also wrote a second letter, so that with all zealfulness this day would be confirmed as customary for future generations. {14:30} And they sent to all the Jews, who had been stirred up in the one hundred twenty-seven provinces of king Artaxerxes, that they should have peace and receive truth, {14:31} and observe the days of lots, and celebrate them with joy at their proper time, just as Mordecai and Esther had established. And they accepted these to be observed by themselves and by their offspring: fasting, and crying out, and the days of lots, {14:32} and all things which are contained in the history of this book, which is called Esther.

[Esther 15] {15:1} Truly, king Artaxerxes made all the land, and all the islands of the sea, tributaries. {15:2} And his strength and his authority, and the dignity and supremacy with which he exalted Mordecai, have been written in the books of the Medes and the Persians, {15:3} and how Mordecai of Jewish birth, was second after king Artaxerxes, and great among the Jews, and acceptable to the people of his brethren, seeking the good of his people, and speaking about things which pertained to peace for their descendants. {15:4} And Mordecai said, “By God have these things been done. {15:5} I remember a dream that I saw, which signified these same things, and nothing of this whatsoever has failed to occur. {15:6} The little fountain which grew into a river, and had turned into light and into the sun, and overflowed into many waters, is Esther, whom the king received as wife and whom he preferred to be queen. {15:7} But the two dragons are I and Haman. {15:8} The peoples who gathered together are those who had attempted to erase the name of the Jews. {15:9} And my people is Israel, who cried out to the Lord, and the Lord brought salvation to his people, and he freed us from all evils, and he created great signs and portents among the nations. {15:10} And he commanded there to be two lots, one for the people of God and the other for all the nations. {15:11} And both lots arrived at the day appointed before God, even from that past time, for all peoples. {15:12} And the Lord remembered his people and had mercy on his inheritance. {15:13} And these days shall be observed in the month of Adar, on the fourteenth and fifteenth day of the same month, with all zealousness and joy, by the people gathered together into one union, throughout all the generations hereafter of the people of Israel.” {15:14} In the fourth year of the reigns of Ptolemy and Cleopatra, Dositheus, who was himself a priest and born of the Levites, and Ptolemy his son, brought this epistle of Purim, which they said was a translation by Lysimachus the son of Ptolemy in Jerusalem.

 The Book of Job **

[Job 1] {1:1} There was a man in the land of Uz named Job, and he was a simple and honest man, fearing God and withdrawing from evil. {1:2} And there had been born to him seven sons and three daughters. {1:3} And his possession was seven thousand sheep, and three thousand camels, along with five hundred pairs of oxen and five hundred she-donkeys, and also a very large family. And this man was great among all the people of the east. {1:4} And his sons went and made a feast by houses, each one on his day. And sending, they called their three sisters to eat and drink with them. {1:5} And when the days of their feasting had been completed, Job sent to them and sanctified them, and, getting up at dawn, he offered holocausts for each one. For he said, “Perhaps my sons have sinned and have not praised God in their hearts.” So Job did all the days. {1:6} But on a certain day, when the sons of God came to attend in the presence of the Lord, Satan also arrived among them. {1:7} The Lord said to him, “Where do you come from?” Answering, he said, “I have circled the land, and walked around in it.” {1:8} And the Lord said to him, “Have you not considered my servant, Job? For there is no one like him in the land, a simple and honest man, fearing God and withdrawing from evil.” {1:9} Answering him, Satan said, “Does Job fear God to no purpose? {1:10} Have you not fortified him, as well as his house and every one of his belongings around him, blessed the works of his hands, and his possession has increased in the land? {1:11} But extend your hand a little, and touch all that he possesses, and see if he still praises you to your face.” {1:12} Therefore, the Lord said to Satan, “Behold, everything that he has is in your hand, only do not extend your hand against him.” And Satan departed from the face of the Lord. {1:13} So, on a certain day, when his sons and daughters were eating and drinking wine, in the house of their first-born brother, {1:14} a messenger came to Job, who said, “The oxen were plowing, and the donkeys were grazing beside them, {1:15} and the Sabeans rushed in and carried away everything, and they struck the servants with the sword; and I alone evaded them to tell you.” {1:16} And while he was still speaking, another arrived, and he said, “The fire of God fell from heaven, and, having struck the sheep and the servants, it consumed them; and I alone escaped to tell you.” {1:17} And while he also was still speaking, another arrived, and he said, “The Chaldeans organized three attacks, and advanced on the camels and took them; and not only that, but they have struck the servants with the sword; and I alone fled to tell you.” {1:18} He was still speaking, and behold, another entered, and he said, “Your sons and daughters were feasting and drinking wine in the house of their first-born brother, {1:19} when suddenly a severe wind rushed forth from a region of the desert and shook the four corners of the house, which collapsed and crushed your children, and they are dead; and I alone escaped to tell you.” {1:20} Then Job got up and tore his garments, and, having shaved his head, he collapsed on the ground, and worshipped, {1:21} and he said, “Naked I departed from my mother’s womb, and naked I shall return. The Lord gave, and the Lord has taken away. Just as it pleased the Lord, so has it been done. Blessed be the name of the Lord.” {1:22} In all this, Job did not sin by his lips, nor did he speak any foolish thing against God.

[Job 2] {2:1} But it happened that, on a certain day, when the sons of God had arrived and they stood before the Lord, Satan likewise arrived among them, and he stood in his sight. {2:2} So the Lord said to Satan, “Where do you come from?” Answering, he said, “I have circled the land, and walked around in it.” {2:3} And the Lord said to Satan, “Have you not considered my servant, Job, that there is no one like him in the land, a simple and honest man, fearing God and withdrawing from evil, and still retaining his innocence? Yet you have stirred me against him, so that I would afflict him with no purpose.” {2:4} Answering him, Satan said, “Skin for skin; and everything that a man has, he will give for his life. {2:5} Yet send your hand and touch his bone and his flesh, and then you will see whether or not he blesses you to your face.” {2:6} Therefore, the Lord said to Satan, “Behold, he is in your hand, but even so, spare his life.” {2:7} And so, Satan departed from the face of the Lord and he struck Job with a very serious ulcer from the sole of the foot all the way to the crown of his head. {2:8} So he took a shard of earthenware and scraped the discharge, while sitting on a heap of refuse. {2:9} But his wife said to him, “Do you still continue in your simplicity? Bless God and die." {2:10} He said to her, “You have spoken things like one of the foolish wives. If we accepted good things from the hand of God, why should we not accept bad things?” In all this, Job did not sin with his lips. {2:11} And so, three friends of Job, hearing about all the evil that had befallen him, arrived, each one from his own place, Eliphaz the Themanite, and Baldad the Suhite, and Zophar the Naamathite. For they had agreed to come together to visit and console him. {2:12} And when they had raised up their eyes from a distance, they did not recognize him, and, crying out, they wept, and, tearing their garments, they scattered dust over their heads into the sky. {2:13} And they sat with him on the ground for seven day and seven nights, and no one spoke a word to him, for they saw that his sorrow was very great.

[Job 3] {3:1} After this, Job opened his mouth and cursed his day, {3:2} and this is what he said: {3:3} May the day perish on which I was born, and the night, in which it was said, “A man has been conceived.” {3:4} May that day be turned into darkness, may God not seek it from above, and may light not illuminate it. {3:5} Let darkness and the shadow of death obscure it, let a fog overtake it, and let it be enveloped in bitterness. {3:6} Let a whirlwind of darkness take hold of that night, let it not be counted in the days of the year, nor numbered in the months. {3:7} May that night be alone and unworthy of praise. {3:8} May they curse it, who curse the day, who are prepared to awake a leviathan. {3:9} Let the stars be concealed with its darkness. Let it expect light, and not see it, nor the rising of the dawn in the East. {3:10} For it did not close the doors of the womb that bore me, nor take away evils from my eyes. {3:11} Why did I not die in the womb? Having left the womb, why did I not immediately perish? {3:12} Why was I received upon the knees? Why was I suckled at the breasts? {3:13} For by now, I should have been sleeping silently, and taking rest in my sleep {3:14} with the kings and consuls of the earth, who build themselves solitudes, {3:15} either with princes, who possess gold and fill their houses with silver, {3:16} or, like a hidden miscarriage, I should not have continued, just like those who, being conceived, have not seen the light. {3:17} There the impious cease from rebellion, and there the wearied in strength take rest. {3:18} And at such times, having been bound together without difficulty, they have not heard the voice of the bailiff. {3:19} The small and great are there, and the servant is free from his master. {3:20} Why is light given to the miserable, and life to those who are in bitterness of soul, {3:21} who expect death, and it does not arrive, like those who dig for treasure {3:22} and who rejoice greatly when they have found the grave, {3:23} to a man whose way is hidden and whom God has surrounded with darkness? {3:24} Before I eat, I sigh; and like overflowing waters, so is my howl, {3:25} for the terror that I feared has happened to me, and so has the dread befallen me. {3:26} Have I not remained hidden? Have I not kept silence? Have I not remained calm? Yet indignation has overcome me.

[Job 4] {4:1} But Eliphaz the Themanite, answering, said: {4:2} If we start to speak to you, perhaps you will take it badly, but who can hold back the words he has conceived? {4:3} Behold, you have taught many, and you have strengthened weary hands. {4:4} Your words have reassured the wavering, and you have fortified the trembling knees. {4:5} But now the scourge has overcome you, and you falter. It has touched you, and you are disturbed. {4:6} Where is your reverence, your fortitude, your patience, and the perfection of your ways? {4:7} Consider this, I beg you: who ever perished being innocent? Or when have the righteous been destroyed? {4:8} In fact, I have instead seen those who work iniquity and who sow resentments, reap them, {4:9} perishing by the breath of God, and being consumed by the wrath of his spirit. {4:10} The roaring of the lion, and the voice of the lioness, and the teeth of young lions have been worn away. {4:11} The tiger has perished because it does not have prey, and the young lions have been scattered. {4:12} Furthermore, a word was spoken to me in secret, and, as if by theft, my ears received the pulse of its whisper. {4:13} In the horror of a vision by night, when men are accustomed to be overtaken by a deep sleep, {4:14} fear and trembling seized me and all my bones were terrified. {4:15} And when a spirit passed before me, the hair on my body stood up. {4:16} There appeared an image before my eyes, someone whose face I did not recognize, and I heard a voice like a gentle breeze. {4:17} Should man be justified in relation to God, or will a man be more pure than his Maker? {4:18} Behold, those who serve him are not steadfast, and in his angels he finds imperfection. {4:19} How much more will those who live in houses of clay, which have an earthly foundation, be consumed like the moth? {4:20} From morning all the way to evening, they will be cut down, and because no one understands, they will be destroyed without ceasing. {4:21} But those who are left behind will be taken away from them; they will die, and not in wisdom.
he will rescue you from death, and during war, from the hand of the sword. {5:21} You will be hidden from the scourge of the tongue, and you will not fear calamity when it arrives. {5:22} In desolation and in famine, you will laugh, and you will not dread the beasts of the earth. {5:23} For you are in harmony with the stones of the land, and the beasts of the earth will make peace with you. {5:24} And you will know that your home has peace, and, concerning your appearance, you will not sin. {5:25} Likewise, you will know that your offspring will be manifold and your progeny will be like the grass of the earth. {5:26} You will enter the grave with abundance, just as a crop of wheat is gathered in its time. {5:27} Behold, this is just as we have found it, which you have heard; walk it through your mind.

[Job 6] {6:1} But Job, responding, said: {6:2} I wish that my sins, for which I deserve wrath, and the calamity that I endure, were weighed out on a balance. {6:3} Compared to the sand of the sea, they would appear heavier, and so my words are full of sorrow. {6:4} For the arrows of the Lord are in me, my spirit drinks of their indignation, and the terrors of the Lord are soldiers against me. {6:5} Will the wild ass bray when he has grass? Or will the ox bellow when he stands before a full manger? {6:6} Or can one eat bland food, which is not seasoned with salt? Or can anyone taste that which, if tasted, causes death? {6:7} The things that my soul was unwilling to touch before, now, because of anguish, are my foods. {6:8} Who will grant that my petition may arrive and that God may bestow on me what I expect, {6:9} and that he who, at first, had crushed me, will let loose his hand and cut me down? {6:10} And may this be my consolation, that in afflicting me with sorrow, although he might not be lenient with me, I still do not contradict the words of the Holy One. {6:11} For what is my strength, that I may continue? Or what is my goal, so that I may act patiently? {6:12} My strength is not the strength of stones, nor is my flesh made of bronze. {6:13} Behold, there is no help for me in myself, and my loved ones also have withdrawn from me. {6:14} He who takes away mercy from his friend, abandons the fear of the Lord. {6:15} My brethren have disregarded me, like a torrent that passes swiftly through the steep valleys. {6:16} Those who fear frost, snow will rush over them. {6:17} At that time, when they are scattered, they will perish, and when it becomes hot, they will be freed from their place. {6:18} The paths of their steps are entangled; they will walk in vain and will perish. {6:19} Consider the paths of them, the ways of Saba, and wait a little while. {6:20} They have been thrown into confusion, just as I had hoped; they have even come to me and are overwhelmed with shame. {6:21} Now you have arrived, and merely by seeing my affliction, you are afraid. {6:22} Did I say: “Bring to me and give to me from your necessities?” {6:23} or, “Free me from the hand of the enemy and rescue me from the hand of the strong?” {6:24} Teach me, and I will be silent, and if by chance I have been ignorant of anything, instruct me. {6:25} Why have you diminished the words of truth, when there is none of you who is able to offer proof against me? {6:26} You prepare speeches as so much noise, and you offer words into the wind. {6:27} You encroach upon the orphan, and you strive to undermine your friend. {6:28} Such is true, so finish what you have begun. Listen closely, and see if I lie. {6:29} Respond, I beg you, without contention, and, speaking what is just, pass judgment. {6:30} And you will not find iniquity on my tongue, nor will foolishness resound in my throat.

[Job 7] {7:1} The life of a man on the earth is a battle, and his days are like the days of a hired hand. {7:2} Just as a servant desires the shade, and just as the hired hand looks forward to the end of his work, {7:3} so also have I had empty months and have counted my burdensome nights. {7:4} If I lie down to sleep, I will say, “When will I rise?” And next I will hope for the evening and will be filled with sorrows even until darkness. {7:5} My flesh is clothed with particles of rottenness and filth; my skin is dried up and tightened. {7:6} My days have passed by more quickly than threads are cut by a weaver, and they have been consumed without any hope. {7:7} Remember that my life is wind, and my eye will not return to see good things. {7:8} Neither will the sight of man gaze upon me; your eyes are upon me, and I will not endure. {7:9} Just as a cloud is consumed and passes away, so he who descends to hell will not ascend. {7:10} He will not return again to his house, nor will his own place know him any longer. {7:11} And because of this, I will not restrain my mouth. I will speak in the affliction of my spirit. I will converse from the bitterness of my soul. {7:12} Am I an ocean or a whale, that you have encircled me in a prison? {7:13} If I say, “My bed will comfort me, and I will find rest, speaking with myself on my blanket,” {7:14} then you will frighten me with dreams, and strike dread through visions, {7:15} so that, because of these things, my soul would choose hanging, and my bones, death. {7:16} I despair; by no means will I live any longer. Spare me, for my days are nothing. {7:17} What is man, that you should praise him? Or why do you place your heart near him? {7:18} You visit him at dawn, and you test him unexpectedly. {7:19} How long will you not spare me, nor release me to ingest my saliva? {7:20} I have sinned; what should I do for you, O keeper of men? Why have you set me against you, so that I have become burdensome even to myself? {7:21} Why do you not steal away my sin, and why do you not sweep away my iniquity? Behold, now I will sleep in the dust, and if you seek me in the morning, I will not remain.

[Job 8] {8:1} But Baldad the Suhite, responding, said: {8:2} How long will you speak this way, so that the words of your mouth are like a changeable wind? {8:3} Does God supplant judgment, or does the Almighty subvert that which is just? {8:4} And if now your children have sinned against him, and he has dismissed them into the power of their iniquity, {8:5} even so, you should arise early to God, so as to beseech the Almighty. {8:6} If you approach with purity and honesty, he will quickly be attentive to you, and a peaceful life will repay your righteousness, {8:7} so much so that, if your former things were small, your latter things would be multiplied greatly. {8:8} For inquire of the earliest generation, and investigate diligently the history of the fathers, {8:9} (of course, we are but of yesterday and are ignorant that our days on earth are like a shadow,) {8:10} and they will teach you; they will speak with you and will offer you the eloquence of their hearts. {8:11} Can the marsh plant live without moisture? Or can sedges grow without water? {8:12} When it is still in flower, and has not been pulled up by hand, it withers before all other plants. {8:13} Just so are the ways of all who forget God, and the hope of the hypocrite will perish. {8:14} His frenzy will not please him, and his faith will be like a spider's web. {8:15} He will lean on his house, and it will not stand; he will prop it up, but it will not rise. {8:16} He seems to have moisture before the sun arrives; and at sunrise, his sprout shoots forth. {8:17} His roots will crowd together over a heap of stones, and among the stones he will remain. {8:18} If someone is devoted right beside him, he will deny him and will say: "I do not know you."
{8:19} For this is the benefit of his way, that others in turn may spring up from the earth. {8:20} God will not discard the simple, nor will he extend his hand to the spiteful, {8:21} even until your mouth is filled with laughter and your lips with rejoicing. {8:22} Those who hate you, will be clothed with confusion, and the tabernacle of the impious will not continue.

[Job 9] {9:1} And Job, responding, said: {9:2} Truly, I know that it is so, and that man cannot be justified compared with God. {9:3} If he chooses to contend with him, he is not able to respond to him once out of a thousand times. {9:4} He is understanding in heart and mighty in strength; who has resisted him and yet had peace? {9:5} He has moved mountains, and those whom he overthrew in his fury did not know it. {9:6} He shakes the earth out of its place and its pillars tremble. {9:7} He commands the sun and it does not rise, and he closes the stars as if under a seal. {9:8} He alone extends the heavens, and he walks upon the waves of the sea.
{9:9} He fashions Arcturus, and Orion, and Hyades, and the interior of the south. {9:10} He accomplishes great and incomprehensible and miraculous things, which cannot be numbered. {9:11} If he approaches me, I will not see him; if he departs, I will not understand. {9:12} If he suddenly should question, who will answer him? Or who can say,
"Why did you do so?" {9:13} God, whose wrath no one is able to resist, and under whom they bend who carry the world, {9:14} what am I then, that I should answer him and exchange words with him? {9:15} And if I now have any justice, I will not respond, but will beseech my judge.
{9:16} And if he should listen to me when I call, I would not believe that he had heard my voice. {9:17} For he will crush me in a whirlwind and multiply my wounds, even without cause. {9:18} He does not permit my spirit to rest, and he fills me with bitterness. {9:19} If strength is sought, he is most strong; if equity in judgment, no one would dare to give testimony for me. {9:20} If I wanted to justify myself, my own mouth will condemn me; if I would reveal my innocence, he would prove me depraved. {9:21} And if I now became simple, my soul would be ignorant even of this, and my life would weary me. {9:22} There is one thing that I have said:
both the innocent and the impious he consumes. {9:23} If he scourges, let him kill all at once, and not laugh at the punishment of the innocent. {9:24} Since the earth has been given into the hand of the impious, he covers the face of its judges; for if it is not him, then who is it? {9:25} My days have been swifter than a messenger; they have fled and have not seen goodness. {9:26} They have passed by like ships carrying fruits, just like an eagle flying to food. {9:27} If I say:
"By no means will I speak this way." I change my face and I am tortured with sorrow. {9:28} I have dreaded all my works, knowing that you did not spare the offender. {9:29} Yet, if I am also just as impious, why have I labored in vain? {9:30} If I had been washed with snow-like waters, and my hands were shining like the cleanest thing, {9:31} yet you would plunge me in filth, and my own garments would abhor me.
